Great Waves on Either Side of the Steamship Rise to Crow's Nest, Unite in a Pyramid and Crush Down on Vessel—Only One Man Saw It.

(Canadian Press.) Halifax, N. S., April 2.—The White Star liner Pittsburg, Capt. Thomas Jones, her bridge and officers, deck quarters a mass of wreckage and telegraph system completely disorganized, docked here this morning, reporting a most unusual experience. Six hundred miles off Sable Island early on Good Friday morning, when in a moderate sea, two huge waves boarded the liner on either hand, and forming a huge pyramid above her decks, washed away everything movable amidships. So great was the damage that the bridge and officers' quarters will have to be rebuilt.

FASHION SHOW
AT PARIS TRACK

Tutankhamen Hat and Glove Shoe Featured

(Canadian Press.) Paris, April 2.—The Tutankhamen hat and the glove shoe made their appearance at the track during the running of the President de la République stakes. From the viewpoint of fashion the race has always been regarded as the first move in the dressmaker's offensive in launching these new spring styles.

The "Tutankhamen hat" is a bonnet-shaped head gear of medium size which has the large picture hat and the skull-fitting toque. In it the Egyptian colors, blue and red, are predominant. The hat has a brim varying from an inch and a half to three inches wide, turned up at the ends. The material used, and a thin garment of multi-colored flowers is its only trimming. The large hat, by reason of its absence, seems to have been ousted.

The shoes, in the manufacture of which hard leather pieces practically disappeared, were another innovation of the opening of the 1923 spring season. The vamp is made of soft sheepskin or very thin leather, and the sole consists of a thin flexible leather which appears to be made of stretch like wood, covered with enameled cloth or hard leather. The sole is the only solid part of the new footwear. Suede in grey and black, with a floral pattern, is also being featured in the glove, in addition to giving them flexibility.

It was a dark, chilly day and the new styles in frocks, if there were any, were hidden under the furs of the women. Four models, however, displayed, and silver embroidered skirts, their full effect, marking a decided reversion to the past. Hats among the men have disappeared. No more than a score of men were visible among the crowd of 5,000 at the race course. The top hat attracted attention by its scarcity.

Swathed from ankles to chest in her winter garments, Mladly exhibited visibly only spring head dress and foot-wear, and except in occasional instances did not have a trailing skirt edge give a hint of what is to be prevailing mode.

Colors predominated in all attire, not hidden by winter coats and the effect of Tutankhamen was apparent. Hats were smaller, and the Egyptian influence brought back the turban of multi-colored decorated with scarabs, hieroglyphics and whatnots. But, on the whole, small colored straw, highly adorned with flowers and fruits of riotous colors were the most apparent. Red seemed to be the prevailing color for hats, although the mixture was bewildering.

Colored shoes also seemed the mode, with hose to match. What was visible of milled's frocks and skirts displayed a return to long, ankle-length skirts. Side panels seemed to give the most striking effects from the Egyptian styles, while the skirts were much more full than during the past season.

One of the most striking costumes was a fawn-colored suit, ankle length, a turban of the Tutankhamen fashion, combined with a short caracul coat, blue chiffon and blue kid slippers. Another was a flowered cotton crepe dress with a girdle dangling on one side, a short jacket, straw hat of cream with reds, shoes ankle-length of cream color.

CANADA AND U. S. PUBLICATIONS

New York, April 2.—(Canadian Press).—Commenting on alarm expressed by Canadian writers relative to the circulation of U. S. periodicals throughout the Dominion and to a recent debate in Ottawa on this subject, the Herald today asserts that those who fear the "Americanization of Canada," have no cause for perturbation.

It says: "At no time in the Dominion's history has loyalty to the British Empire been more steadfast than it is now. At no time has Canadian national sentiment been stronger than it is now. This is not because of the war. It is not because of the self-consciousness of a strong quality of Canadian individualism that the great conflict brought into deserved prominence. The loyalty and the national sentiment were outstanding traits of Canadian character before the war, just as they are today. All the war did was to emphasize their presence and translate them from latent to active forces."

It seems curious that those who are alarmed lest American periodicals threaten in large volume in Canadian homes and on Canadian news stands, undermine this fine Canadian sentiment, do not pause to think for a moment on the very shabby compliment they are, by implication, paying to their countrymen. It would be a poor loyalty indeed, which did not withstand this paper assault, of which some of the parliament orators seemed to be in so much dread."

THE HOSPITAL AND INFIRMARY BOTH FILLED

More patients were treated at the General Public Hospital in March than in any other month in the history of the hospital. This statement was made this morning by R. H. Gale, superintendent of the institution. He said that at present the rooms in the hospital were full and there was not the space available for new patients that there should be. On one day 163 patients had been treated.

Asked to what he attributed the large number of people in hospital, Mr. Gale replied, "Education." He said that people used to think that a hospital was a place to die in, and now they were recognizing it as a place to go to get better. While overseas many of the hospital's soldiers had come into a knowledge of the value of the hospital as an agency for good health and they were carrying out this principle still. He said that this had been a bad winter. There had been a great many colds and a light form of influenza had been evident. There had not been a great many cases of pneumonia this winter. Operative work had increased, C. M. Brown, was a host in himself. The steamship checkers propose holding another social gathering before the close of the Winter Port work and due notice will be given.

Medieval Times For Fashion Hints

New York Importer Speaks of Parisian Style Ideas After Visit to French Capital.

New York, April 2.—While the present pronounced interest in things Egyptian has greatly influenced Paris fashion, the creators there have now taken another step forward and one finds the medieval influence the predominant feature of the moment, according to T. J. Simpson, a New York importer, who has just returned after a stay of several weeks in Paris obtaining the latest fashion ideas. He says that the coming season there promises to be a gay one and that the festivities in the restaurants as before the war.

"The Egyptian has helped the women's black," said Mr. Simpson, "the black gown now is scarcely seen. Where one saw two dozen black gowns one of color last season, one finds just the reverse this season. All colors are popular and there are very interesting combinations. Paris has never shown the marked interest in the Egyptian style that has been shown here. You find a hint of it here and there, of course, but for the most part the designers studied it, took the best in it and based on the more imaginative medieval goings for inspiration."

"Once again real, original ideas can be found in Paris. The designers there are again coming into their own, but the best of the best ideas are sometimes found in the smaller shops. Those of us who go to Paris for models must be everywhere for them. It is not the simple matter it once was. Paris realizes that she must reduce heretofore prewar supremacy and as prosperity increases new shops open and competition becomes more and more keen all the time."

"One marked concession to King Louis XIV. this season is the silhouette which has as its chief note the front drape of the skirt, leaving the back tight and clinging to the body. I found very popular the tiered skirts which had several variations. Satin is favored for evening and of course chiffon and lace are extremely popular for the Summer frocks."

SERIOUS IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople, April 2.—The serious situation here is becoming so serious that the American Chamber of Commerce has called the American Red Cross and the Near East Relief urging funds to permit the evacuation of the 28,000 Greeks and Russian refugees crowded into the refugee quarters.

The mortality among the refugees is a present condition and there seems to be no possibility of checking the epidemic among them so long as they are crowded into the quarters. Meanwhile there are continual cases of individuals among the refugees, who are mingling with the city's population, threatening the spread of disease here and menacing all Europe with the influenza epidemic.

LEB NOT A GOOD PLUMBER. Brantford, Ont., April 2.—The water pipes in the laundry of Leo Kim, West Brantford, froze on Saturday night. Leo poured coal oil on them and touched it off. Neighbors sent in a fire alarm. Leo, scared, barricaded the door and the firemen had to smash their way in. The damage was nominal but the neighbors' activity probably saved Leo's life.

CHURCHES URGE U.S. TO CALL NEW WORLD PARLEY

American Intervention is Needed to Avert Moral Disaster and Economic Ruin, Says Federal Council.

Washington, April 2.—Expressing fear that the world is drifting toward war, economic ruin and moral disaster that may possibly cause the collapse of civilization for centuries, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America has addressed a message to the 150,000 Protestant churches of thirty communions making up its membership, urging them to call upon the government to adopt a policy of co-operation with foreign nations and take a larger part in international problems.

The council's administrative committee, in issuing the appeal on the recommendation of the organization's commission on international justice and good will, especially urges that the government "renounce the policy of aloofness in international affairs" and "take the initiative in calling an international conference to consider the whole economic and political situation in Europe, including reparations, debts and armaments."

The message insists that the question of debts be included for discussion at the economic conference it proposes, expressing the opinion that the "United States should declare, 'as it is at the opening of the Conference on the Reduction of Armament, that we are ready to make, in common with other nations whatever necessary financial or otherwise, may be necessary to bring about an ordered international life.'"

The message, copies of which have been addressed to President Harding, Congress, the League of Nations and members of Congress declares: "Growing unrest, political intrigues, physical distress and suffering, a disordered economic life, increasing distrust, suspicions and hatreds all point to a general disaster."

An attitude of aloofness exposes our foreign policy to the charge of timidity and ineffectiveness.

In 1911 the inmates of prisons and reformatories averaged 13.6 per 10,000 population, as against 8.3 at the present time.

Luxury Trains Out in London. Runs 600,000 Miles.

The managers of the London underground railways are experimenting with several new trains of luxurious palace cars, with a view to placing their subway system far ahead of anything in the world, according to W. O. Senock of St. Louis, in New York, after a short business trip to London.

He says that tube travelers recently rubbed their eyes in astonishment as two splendidly appointed scarlet and white trains traveled from station to station and then disappeared.

They were the experimental trains now being tested with a view to relieving the increased pressure of traffic and adding to the comfort of the passengers. Each train consisted of coaches manufactured by five firms and after a final test a contract will go to the most successful company. More luxurious trains for a purely local service have never been seen. They are "fool proof," Mr. Senock says, with light and ventilation brought to a fine art, and are almost noiseless. They have been run 600,000 miles in the tests.

Anton Long, who plays the role of Christ in the Passion Play, received enough money from his work to buy seventy pounds of flour.

The expenses of Harvard University are $8,000,000 a year.

ACCEPT TENDER FOR ORNAMENTAL LIGHTING WORK

The tender of the Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., for the complete installation of the ornamental street lighting system for the city at a price of $28,137 including sales tax, was accepted by the Civic Power Commission in session Saturday afternoon.

There is a guarantee with the tender that the work will be completed within twelve weeks of the placing of the order. It will be necessary for the approval of this acceptance by the Common Council.

The tender from the St. John Iron Works of $3,594.50 for the material for the steel superstructure at the civic sub-station was accepted with the approval of the Commission.

The Commission engineers felt that the tender made on the erection of the material were too high and that the Commission could do the work itself for about $1,200. This phase of the work will be placed before the Common Council.

As the prices quoted on switching equipment were felt to be too high by the engineers, no recommendations were made for the consideration of the meeting.

A. M. Rowan, reporting for himself and W. L. Harding on the matter of the purchase of the Canada Permanent Mortgage Building, said that it could be bought for $50,000, payment to be made in city bonds with 5% per cent. interest.

The net revenue from the building last year was $18,147.

The idea of purchasing the building met with some opposition. Several of the members took the stand that the Commission should go easy the first few years and Mayor Fisher pointed out that the Commission would be unable to live rent free, it was finally decided on motion that action be deferred for a time.

Mr. Rowan, reporting for himself, James Lewis and F. S. A. McMullin regarding a pole yard and warehouse for a small construction gang that the Commission could rent a large strip of land near the railroad tracks in City Road for $25 per month. The Commission also could rent a warehouse in Smythe street for about $40 per month. After discussion, the matter was referred back to the committee for further information.

A decision regarding church rates was reached at the meeting. This rate, which will be just half the commercial rate, applies not only to churches but all religious bodies.

It was also decided to notify the Common Council at a later date when definite information can be obtained regarding the plans of the Commission for a small construction gang that will operate directly under the commission. Barry Wilson explained that in this way a great deal of time and expense could be saved.

A recommendation from the engineer that tenders for removing the three big transformers to the sub-station from the railway yard be invited was adopted.

The meeting also discussed briefly the action of the Common Council on Thursday last in giving an adverse vote on an important bond issue in connection with the purchase of transformers and copper wire when Commissioner Thornton's vote blocked progress of their plans for the civic distribution system. It was decided to inform the Council that the Commission greatly regretted this delay.

At one period of the meeting, A. M. Rowan predicted that by next Wednesday there would be no obstruction to the plans of the Power Commission. Commissioner Thornton, he said, had assured him on his word of honor that if no satisfactory offer was forthcoming from the N. B. Power Company by that time, he would no longer be for the plans of the Commission. "He'll be with us," concluded Mr. Rowan. The chairman remarked that he was very glad to hear this.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

The balance sheet of the British Government, issued on Saturday night for the fiscal year ending March 31, shows a surplus of $101,618,948. The revenue for the last year fell below that for the previous year and the expenditures also decreased.

Announcement has been made in Ottawa of the appointment of Assistant Commissioner Cortlandt Starnes, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, to the position of Commissioner vacated recently by Commissioner A. B. Perry. Superintendent George S. Worsley, of Regina, has been appointed assistant commissioner.

Judge Arthur O'Connor, former member of parliament for Eastern Donegal and later judge of the county courts of the Durham circuit, died on Saturday at Bournemouth, Eng., at the age of seventy-eight.

Robert G. Goldie, British vice consul at Naples, died yesterday of injuries inflicted by a man who attacked the official while he was visiting a gruffo near the city in company with his wife, according to a Central News despatch from Naples to London.

Laporte, Ind., April 2.—After wanderings that carried him to every corner of the globe, William Frederick Fisher came home last week to the mother who had been waiting and praying for his return for more than twenty years.

MORE BAIT. We are now assured that if we will only treat the New Brunswick Power Company with consideration it will give us new street cars and cheaper gas, and extend the street railway to Manchester's Corner, to Rockwood Park and perhaps to Millidgeville.

What has the New Brunswick Power Company been doing ever since the city was notified that power from Musquash would be available? Its advocates began by attempting to prove that the necessary power could not be developed at Musquash. They got costly reports to bolster up their assertions and to show that a steam stand-by was in any case an absolute necessity.

When this propaganda failed the company tried to buy the Musquash power. When it failed in that also it tried to sell out to the city at a price that would have given value to its watered stock. Having failed once more it reduced its rates, announced that it would compete with the city, and began a propaganda to persuade the people that competition would be ruinous and would result in increased taxation.

It is merely a new phase of the game for relief from monopoly and cheap light and power. The course pursued to clear up the question of the distribution system, and deal with any finite proposition from the company then that proposition is made by persons having the authority to speak, always remembering that any expense to which the city is put will be recouped in any bargain made, and there will be no recognition of watered stock or anything but real and tangible value.

SOLID FOR PROHIBITION. The Liberal party in Ontario stands firm for enforcement of prohibition. It wants no tampering with the present law unless and until the people demand a change, and the people want the law enforced.

For years the readers of The Times have been interested at intervals by communication on some topic of immediate interest from the pen of Mr. A. Turner B. Howard, whose sudden death occurred last evening. Mr. Howard was greatly handicapped by deafness, but he was a careful reader, and deeply interested in welfare work. His leisure time was devoted to good causes. One of his activities was the collection of books and papers to send to winter camps and other places where people were shut in.

A crisis in the situation at Sydney is at hand. Tonight the steel workers will consider whether they will strike or remain at work. If they strike the mine workers may follow their example, and chaos will again reign in Cape Breton. The Nova Scotia Government has taken steps to guarantee the safety of property, but Dan Livingstone of the mine workers' union remarks that if the men wish to do anything the police cannot stop them.

Of hydro rates in Ontario the Toronto Telegram of last Thursday says: "A maximum follow-up rate of 2 cents per kilowatt hour for lighting services in all the hydro municipalities, rural and urban, was ordered by the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario yesterday. The follow-up rate applies after a certain amount of current has been used at the first rate. No change is made in the first rates. Rural consumers will benefit chiefly from the rate. Toronto is not affected, as the follow-up rate is 2 cents, and the follow-up rate is 1 cent, the latter applying 50 k. w. h. have been used."

MR. BENTLEY RUBBED IT IN. (Frederick Gleaner) Hon. Peter J. Veniot had considerable satisfaction in events in the Legislature last evening.

With the speaking in the budget debate over the day a number of bills were taken up by the House in committee and included in the list that making provision for the expenditure of approximately $500,000 upon permanent bridges, now under construction or to be undertaken during the next season.

Upon the number of bridges involved having been given the Opposition Leader forthwith put it directly up to the Minister of Public Works as to whether he accepted responsibility for the necessity of each and all of the structures named. He intimated that a fine opportunity for the practice of economy ought itself in the curtailment of the list.

Hon. Mr. Veniot quickly assured the House that the list of bridges in the province needing attention and which really should be replaced by new structures would require the expenditure of not less than $2,000,000 and, he added, the fact that he was asking for but one quarter of that amount showed he had already done his full share of practicing economy.

First Opposition and then Progressive members in rapid succession then got upon their feet to ask if this bridge or that bridge in their counties were included in the work; they urged that this and that work was important, this bridge had been carried out by the freights last year and that bridge had been in bad shape and the residents of the district wanted it replaced—until finally Mr. Bentley, Government member for St. John County, got up to ask whether those advocating all these "additional expenditures were not the same persons whose speeches had been overflowing with demands for economy and denunciation of extravagance. The point was so aptly taken that rounds of laughter were provoked.

Preaching economy and denouncing extravagance were vastly different.

Sinister Power Of Famous Hope Diamond Broken By May Yohe?

JULIA ARTHUR MAY YOHE

New York, April 2.—Has the Hope Diamond lost its evil gleam? Has its sinister power been broken, and by two of its victims? . . . May Yohe, whose life has had many ups and downs as a roller coaster, is on top of the world again—she has staged a "come-back." Years have passed since she owned the Hope Diamond—years in which she descended to singing in a Barbary Coast cafe, to scrubbing floors for a living.

IS NOT AN EXODUS BUT A MIGRATION. (Toronto Globe.) There ought to be no undue alarm concerning the migration now under way to the United States from the industrial centres of the Dominion. It is not an "exodus" of people seeking permanent homes in the United States, but a migration of the Dominion people, who are now carrying unprecedently high wages in the United States, and who are returning home again to work in the Dominion, and that on this side of the border for more was done for the care of the unemployed than on the other.

A WELCOME VISITOR. (New York Tribune) Lord Robert Cecil, who is about to visit this country, has expressed some concern lest in what he says here about the League of Nations he may appear to be offering Americans unsolicited advice. He does not need to feel anxious on that score. Our people will listen to him gladly, for they respect him as a sincere and noble disinterested champion of what he considers a great and worthy cause.

Lord Robert's interest in a League of Nations dates back to a period long before the war. The idea captivated him on its own merits and not because he foresaw that there was any political advantage, either national or personal, to be got out of it. He worked in a purely benevolent spirit to promote such a world organization, even while the war was raging, and he went to Paris in an unofficial capacity to help to attach a league covenant to the peace treaties.

He was for the league without qualifications. He did not feel that any particular clause or section was the "heart of the covenant" and could be cut out of it without fatal results. He was not interested in making ratification of the compact, word for word, as it stood, a party issue or in carrying such an issue to the people in the shape of "a great and solemn referendum."

On the contrary, he has stood for the ideals of the league without re-

MRS.

WOODROW

London, April 2—A divorce has been granted Capt. J. V. Nash because of his wife's extravagance. With the decree, go tumbling down the ambitious air-castles of the young and charming Mrs. Nash—pricked in her dream bubble of becoming London's "best-dressed woman," of being feted as an international beauty. This ambition, fulfillment of which Captain Nash told the court has driven him to the verge of bankruptcy, will probably never be achieved now. The judge who granted the divorce scolded the young wife for her extravagance, terming women who live only for vanity's sake to be a menace to society.

MOHAMMED SAYS HE HAS NOT ABDICATED
London, April 2—A despatch to the Times from Constantinople says Turkish circles have learned that former Sultan Mohammed VI, who is a guest of King Hussein at Mecca, soon will issue a proclamation to the Moslem world asserting that he has not abdicated either the Caliphate or the Sultanate. The proclamation will denounce the Angora Government and claim the allegiance for Hussein of all the faithful.

YANK PITCHERS OFFER A PURSE OF $150 TO LEADER FOR 1923
New Orleans, La., April 2.—The Yankees may lack several things, but one of them is not confidence. The six regular and veteran pitchers have formed a pool, each contributing $25. The $150 will go to the pitcher who wins the most games this season, and each of the six was willing to bet a lot more that he would win twenty-five games. Six times twenty-five is two hundred, which means that the Yankees will use only four games during 1923, looks as if somebody is slightly over-estimating, but that doesn't matter. The right spirit is there and that's what counts.

THE RIDDLE OF THE SPINNING WHEEL

Being An Exploit in the Career of Hamilton Cleek, Detective.
By MARY E. AND THOMAS W. HANSHAW

"A Lunnon Gentlemen?"

By all that's good!" he ejaculated, as Mr. Narkom jumped into the room somewhat heavily at sound of his hastily spoken ejaculation. "See that mark there in the woodwork, above the spot where we dug the bullet out this morning? Nearly shot me through the head, old friend, and made an end of your troublesome ally at last! Gad! the intensity of it! The devilish ingenuity! So that's how it was done, eh? Well! Look into the thing a bit closer, but from what I have already seen I'd say there was a pistol hidden inside that wheel, but the thing's so perfectly done that it must have taken a master-hand to have done it. And where's the master-hand here? Ross Duggan?—with his hobby for electricity? He's not got the face of a man who could contrive a thing like that, and carry it out to such a pitch of perfection. And yet—it's a soundless pistol, all right that did the deed. But the patience of the culprit! the straightness of vision, to be certain of the moment to operate it! That man would be a useful adjunct to Scotland Yard's force, Mr. Narkom, with knowledge such as that. It's the most diabolically clever thing I've ever encountered!"

"It is—by James! it is!" returned the Superintendent, mopping his forehead in his excitement and going very red in the face. "Sure it isn't a woman, an old chap? Women are pretty tricky contrivance of it, too! . . . So that's how it is done, is it? As Cleek's agile fingers slid over the wheel and stopped upon a faint line which showed how the thing had been cut out, and then stuck in again after the pistol had been lodged in its hiding-place. "Here, use my knife and dig it out, won't you?"

"Never! The time for doing that will be after I have given a demonstration of its progress before the assembled company. I'm no master at intricate woodwork and mechanics such as that, Mr. Narkom, and I want to keep it in perfect working order for the crucial moment. If I extracted it now, ten chances to one I'd never get it back again. The thing to be discovered is to find out the man in this establishment whose fingers give him away as a delicate worker. And there's just one I've noticed that—"

And it was just as the name formed itself upon his lips that Cyril Duggan burst hurriedly into the room, despite the detaining hands of the constable on duty outside the door, and beckoned hastily to Cleek.

"Your man wants you, Mr. Deland," he said breathlessly. "Says it's awfully important and must see you at once. He wouldn't come in, but asked me to tell you, would you come round to the servants' quarters as soon as you could? High waiting in the outer courtyard. Dollops, I'd only just gone out for a breath of fresh air before Mother packed me off to bed—ten o'clock is the latest hour I'm permitted to sit up to. But he seemed so anxious to see you that I promised to come along at once. It's gone ten now, I think and Mother will be after me if I'm not off—she's frightfully particular on little matters. But the policeman here said you and Mr. Narkom were busy and were not to be disturbed. I say! What's the matter with the old spinning wheel, eh? You seem to be frightfully interested in it!"

"I am—as you say—frightfully," returned Cleek with a smile. "But nothing of any more consequence than an outsider's interest in something he knows nothing about. Ever looked at the thing, my boy?"

"Yes—beats of times. And experimented upon it, too! Tried all sorts of ways to make it go, until Mother put a stop to my touching it, and said it should probably hurt myself with the spindle and break the thing!"

"Oh, she did, did she? Well, perhaps you might. It's more harmful than people give it credit for. All right, Cyril, many thanks for telling me. I'll be along in a moment or two. You'd better get off to bed now, eh? Lady Paula will be on your track, I'll swear. Good-night."

He was off again like a shot, and

Narkom at this juncture, "Simply what he says. And it was there, was it, Dollops?"

"It was, sir?" Dollops's tone was portentous with mystery, "and what's more, there was that black-eyed Dago feller with the chase-me look and the bear-brush moustache, talkin' fifteen ter the dozen in sev'n different langwidges, and makin' more noise than all the rest of 'em put together!"

"Gad! you've surely found out something, Dollops, and done a good day's work, bless your heart!" said Cleek admiringly, slipping his arm through the boy's on one side and through Mr. Narkom's on the other. "Well, it's to the gravel-pit with the lot of us this evening—at least for you and me, Dollops. You had better remain here at the Castle, Mr. Narkom, while we're gone. And meet me at midnight under the big gate. But let's not be seen, Dollops, else the fat will be in the fire with a vengeance. Anything else?"

Dollops bent nearer to the man he loved best in all the world, and put his mouth close up against Cleek's ear. "One erver ling, sir—an' wot I calls the piece of resistors," he said in a low voice. "As I comes an'y, too should I see a rumm' damn the 'ill, side by side with Dicky-Dago, but that there young feller as they calls Cyril (sketchin' 'sney sort er name ter give a chap, too), an' I jumps back inter the bushes wiv Minnie clingin' ter me arm, an' waits till they've gone past. ed like a Russian patent medicine, an—that's all."

"And a very good 'all, too, Dollops," ejaculated Cleek, giving the boy's arm a squeeze. "You have surely done your share of unravelling in this case, at all events. What do you say about it, Mr. Narkom? . . . There'll be a nice fre-pound note to add to that growing account of yours for this night's job, I promise you . . . And Cyril is mixed up in it, too—Cyril! That boy! Gad! what does it mean, eh? And in league with those scoundrels . . . 'Ten o'clock for bedtime,' says he, so frankly. Ten o'clock! And the young underhand rascal roaming the country-side just before that in company with a Italian of questionable character! Looks bad, every way you look at it."

And with Lady Paula's actions and secret meetings taken into account as well, puts a pretty black face upon their little share in last night's tragedy. Now, I wonder if this Dago, as Dollops calls him, is a lover of the lady, or what? . . . Gad! Mr. Narkom, what's your opinion?"

"The superintendent waited a moment, and cleared his throat, and when he spoke his voice was emphatic and a trifle bored.

You can attain them through making economies in the time you give to household work.

For example, on wash day, the use of Sunlight Soap as directed on the carton, will free you from hours of drudgery at the wash board. Washing dishes, shelves, oil cloths, etc., can all be done better and in shorter time if you use Sunlight Soap.

All these minutes and hours saved throughout the week can be devoted to the better things in life.

The rich and pure oils of coconut and palm used, and the extreme care taken in converting them into Sunlight give this soap unusual power for cleansing purposes. Its absolute purity makes it safe for all laundry soap uses.

Cleek could hear his light steps running down the hallway and up the stairs, like the big child he was.

"Funny thing," he said to Mr. Narkom as the two left the room together and walked down the corridor toward the servants' quarters, "but that young cut-throat always seems to turn up in the most unforeseen moments. Notice his fingers, did you, Mr. Narkom? Not well, they are as delicate as a woman's and as strong as a man's. Curiously strong for a fifteen-year-old. I must say, now, if I didn't know better, I'd lay a ducat to a dollar that that lad is a good sight cleverer than either you or I give him credit for, and with his mother's blood in him and a portion of his rascally grand-father's, too, there's no telling just exactly where he will end up. . . . Hello! is that you, Jarvis? I'm told my man wants to see you very particularly. Know where he is by any chance? It's probably about that blue suit of mine. He worries where the money is, sir, but—that's Scotch, you know."

"Don't mind if I do," returned the Superintendent off-handedly, "seeing that there is nothing more to be discovered tonight. My man's in charge, so we might go over to the Three Fishers and have a quiet smoke in your rooms. That is, if you'd care about it."

"Love to, my dear chap, love to. Through this door, eh, Jarvis? Nice snug place you've got here, I must say. Fancy do you well, I suppose?"

"Yes, sir, Jarvis's voice bordered upon the confidential. "Right-fatted where the money is, sir, but—that's Scotch, you know."

As the two men disappeared through the kitchen doorway, and in a state bordering upon hysteria from the excitement of all those exciting things which had just come to pass, Cleek blurted out his story of Jarvis's practical joke and its ultimate consequences in a better-shelter fashion, anxious to get on to this new development, and except for a "By James!" from Mr. Narkom and a nod of the head from Cleek, pursued his course without interruption.

ESCAPED CONVICTS TAKEN IN GUN FIGHT

Chapman, Mail Robber, 3 Times Wounded, But Unscathed

Get Seventy Miles in Taxi are Then Cornered by County Officers in a Cotton Field.

Atlanta, April 2.—After a spectacular gun fight with Madison County officers, in which Gerald Chapman, a mail robber, was shot three times and Frank Gray, forger, was unscathed, the pair of convicts, who escaped from the Federal penitentiary here, were captured between Hull and Colbert, stations on the Seaboard Air Line a few miles above Athens.

Sloan's
Sloan's Liniment—kills pain!

Coincident with the news of the capture came the announcement from the United States Marshal's office that the convicts had been carried almost seventy miles, to within six miles of Athens, Tuesday morning by a yellow cab driver who was a passenger on the street car on which the convicts rode into Atlanta after their escape. The prisoners were traced to Athens through information furnished by taxicab company officials after the driver's return to Atlanta.

Officers left Athens at 2:10 o'clock with Frank Gray and brought him back to Atlanta. He is in a penitentiary cell tonight after the brief interruption of a five-year term. Chapman, under heavy guard at the Athens hospital, was in too serious a condition to talk. It is believed that a bullet may have penetrated his kidneys.

Information received by Warden J. E. Dyche was that the convicts had been captured after a gun fight with a posse of citizens and county policemen headed by the Sheriff of Madison County. No one in the posse was injured, he stated, but Chapman was wounded in the arm and hip.

Advices from Athens tonight said Chapman probably would be sufficient recovered in two or three days to be transferred to the prison hospital here. Both men were armed with .45-caliber pistols and put up a stiff fight before they were captured.

The men were put off the freight train between Hull and Colbert about 7 o'clock this morning by the conductors, who notified County Policemen Butler at Colbert. The highway between these two towns parallels the railroad, and when Officer Butler had ridden a few miles from Colbert he saw the men walking along the track. He called to them to halt, and the convicts opened fire as they ran toward the woods.

Butler exchanged shots until his cartridges gave out and then he went back for aid, returning with Sheriff W. H. Hall and County Policeman P. L. McCann of Madison County. The search for the men resumed. Chapman was found hiding in a cotton patch and was shot three times when he arose to fire at the officers. Gray was later found hiding in a clump of bushes, his gun having jammed.

MINERS STRIKE IN TWO PLACES
Soft Coal Fields of Kentucky and Mines of Pacific Region are Affected.
Madisonville, Ky., April 2.—Walkout of 5,000 soft coal miners employed in forty mines in Christian, Webster and Hopkins counties in Western Kentucky, was accomplished at the close of business on Saturday in an orderly manner.
Officials of District No. 23, U. M. W. of A. issued the strike order after operators and union officials had failed to agree on the period of the renewal of the present contract. Operators held out for a two year contract and union officials insisted upon a one year renewal.
Seattle, April 2.—When the last shifts of workers came out of the coal mines in the Roslyn-Cle Elum field on Saturday, between 2,000 and 2,100 men laid down their tools in a strike caused by disagreement with their employers over a contract to succeed one expiring at midnight.
One of the objects sought by the operators, who proposed to cut the wages of men paid by the day $1.50, is a greater differential between the earnings of these and of men digging coal by quantity. Men on day pay in the mines affected by the strike, receive from $7 to $8.25, while similar workers in the non-union mines of Western Washington get $6.

LIFE PRISON FOR SELLING POISON LIQUOR
Manitoba Legislator Will Ask for Amendment to the Temperance Act or the Criminal Code.
Winnipeg, April 2.—Urging life imprisonment for persons convicted of selling poisonous liquor will be the effect of an amendment to the Manitoba Temperance Act which W. H. Spinks, member for Cypress, intends to bring before the provincial legislature during the present session.
Should the legislature not have enough powers to provide life imprisonment for persons who sell or attempt to sell liquor which might cause a person's death, Mr. Spinks proposes that a resolution should be brought before the house asking the Dominion Government to amend the criminal code with that object in view.
Speaking of the proposition aimed to curtail the sale of poisonous home brew, Mr. Spinks said that numerous cases had come to his attention where persons had died from drinking "boot" whiskey and in many other cases business has resulted.

Only Prohibition Member of Parliament Brings in a Measure.

London, April 2.—Introduced into the House of Commons by Edwin Scrymgeour, the only member elected on a prohibition platform, a bill to prohibit liquor says, in part:—
"Whereas the inherent evils arising from the production, importation, and sale of alcoholic liquors as beverages are intolerable;
"And whereas the traffic in those liquors is opposed to the best interests of the nation;
"Be it enacted, that—
"1.—From and after the fifth day of April immediately succeeding the passing of this act it shall not be lawful to grant any new license for the manufacture or sale of alcoholic or other excisable liquors for beverage purposes; and all existing licenses shall absolutely cease and determine on the said fifth day of April, and it shall not be lawful to renew any of the said licenses (either wholly or in part) on any condition whatsoever.
"2.—The manufacture, importation or sale of intoxicating liquor solely for scientific or industrial purposes shall not be interfered with, but alcohol for medicinal purposes shall be supplied only in bottles labeled 'Poison' by qualified medical practitioners or registered chemists. Chemists shall only supply on the receipt of a medical certificate stating the maximum quantity to be supplied.
"The penalties provided are a fine of not less than £25 or not exceeding £100 for the first offence, or the imprisonment of not less than one month and not exceeding six months; upon a second conviction imprisonment with hard labor for not less than three months and not exceeding twelve months, without the option of a fine; and upon a third or subsequent conviction a fine of not less than £50 and not exceeding five years, in addition to all goods, plant and utensils used with each offence shall be forfeited."

EGG-THROWING GIRLS FINED.
Two Strike Pickets Fined $15 Each.—Warned of Jail Next Time.
New York, April 2.—Two women pickets, Rose Klein and Priscilla Williams, found guilty of throwing eggs at strike-breakers, were fined $15 each by Magistrate Maxie In Yoorkville court, and were warned that a repetition of the offences would mean jail sentences.
Otto Samek, whose white goods agents, told the court that he was taking two new employees to an automobile near his place at 18 East Twenty-first street when the pickets opened fire with eggs. He said he narrowly missed being struck, but the eggs splattered the dresses of the women workers. The strikers paid their fines.
Statistics show that 7,085 forest fires in the last 18 years in the U. S. have destroyed enough timber to produce paper enough to supply metropolitan papers for 25 years.

GOVERNMENT DEFINES MEANING OF "NIGHTWAD"

He Saves 60 Cents in Every Dollar, Says Book on Thrift.—Thrift Man Saves 20.
Washington, April 2.—A "nightwad" is designated by the Government as a man who saves sixty cents of every dollar, and expends thirty-seven cents of the balance for living expenses, and one cent each for education, recreation and amusement.
In a little book, entitled "How Other People Get Ahead," the Government Savings System is endeavoring to instruct the American people, especially those with moderate incomes, in thrift. Alongside its designation of "nightwad" it places the "spendthrift," who is described as a man who saves nothing, spends fifty-eight cents of every dollar in living expenses, forty cents on recreation and one cent each for education and amusement.

MAIN BURSTS, STREET CAVES IN WITH TRUCK

Driver Leaps to Safety as Big Vehicle Topples Into Hole 25 Feet Long.
New York, April 2.—A burst water main undermined paving in front of 161 York street, and a section of the street ten feet wide and twenty-five feet long caved in. A ten-ton motor truck toppled into the hole, but no one was injured. The water supply in neighboring tenements was cut off for several hours.
Fire Truck 19 had just thundered by when a boy saw water seeping through the asphalt. Soon a fountain stream was jetting up through the pavement.
Residents in the neighborhood saw the truck, but did not know what was happening. The truck was stuck in the hole, and the water was spraying. The driver jumped to safety as the truck was being pushed out of the hole.

T. FITZGERALD WRITES AGAIN TO A. W. COVEY

Declares it Final Reply to St. John Official

Says Charges Simmer Down to Personal Matter—Inquiry if Presented to the Proper Official—Criticism of Motives.

The following letter, headed "Fitzgerald's Final Reply to Covey's Wild and Unfounded Charges Over Skating Squabbles," came in The Times' mail today.

Mr. A. W. Covey: I have most carefully read your letter of March 20th, and find that the great big charges which you are going to make regarding the recent International Meet, the harrumphing trip of the skaters who were claimed by you to be receiving money, and in fact, the whole slandering charges, have finally boiled down to absolutely nothing but personal charges against me on account of the statement that I made at a banquet in your city last winter that I was a professional bicycle rider over twenty-five years ago.

When these charges were first mentioned by you and your associates I thought some mistake had been made when my name was mentioned as a professional and that I was highly commercializing the skating game by being an officer of the skating association, and further thought that I might be able to enlighten you on some of the points.

Replace utensils that wear out with utensils that "Wear-Ever"

Try a "Wear-Ever" Pot Roast

- 3½-4 pounds rump, shoulder or brisket. Salt and pepper.
- Wipe meat with damp cloth.
- Place "Wear-Ever" Kettle on flame and allow to become well heated.
- Sear meat well on all sides until brown.
- Cover, and allow to roast until tender over low fire. Allow about 25 minutes to the pound.
- If suet is used, lay on top of meat to baste it.

REAL Pot Roasting of meat means cooking the meat in its OWN juices, not water, which is stewing or fat, which is frying. A "WEAR-EVER" Kettle accomplishes this proper type of roasting as no other cooking utensil can, because it does not absorb the juices, and will retain the low even temperature which is necessary.

MINNEDOSA IN PORT WITH 919 PASSENGERS

Mostly Fair Voyage, But Comber Did Some Damage

Business Men Speak of Conditions in Europe—Welsh Girl on Way to Meet Her Fiance in West—Cousin of H. A. Porter Arrives

The Canadian Pacific steamship Minnedosa arrived in port last night and docked at No. 1 berth, Sand Point at 11 o'clock, after a voyage from Antwerp, Havre and Southampton and had 919 passengers, of whom 860 were for points in Canada and fifty-nine for the U. S. Out of this total 775 were adults, 180 children and fourteen infants. Approximately 100 were British subjects and the rest comprised Belgians, Swiss, Poles, Dutch, French, Russians, Italians, Syrians, Danes, Roumanians, Armenians and a few Germans. They were sent forward in three special trains at 12 o'clock, 130 and 215.

With the exception of two days the voyage was most pleasant, but during these days they encountered a very severe storm and one large comber struck a section of the railing on the bridge deck and demolished it.

Prominent among the passengers were J. F. Reid of Glasgow, managing director of Messrs. Hamilton Caldwell & Sons, Ltd., large leather works; Lieut. G. L. Thomas, of London, who is a son of the chief superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Steamships Ltd.; Major Eaton and mother, Miss Apple, Messrs. C. E. Morrisette of Quebec and Z. O. Toureman of Montreal. Mr. Reid only recently returned from the continent where he reports conditions encouraging. With reference to Canada and the U. S. he said there was no deaying that both were in a much more healthy condition, from a financial and business standpoint, than the Old Country as they were recovering much more quickly from the effects of the war. The values in all markets, he said, were all strong in all markets throughout the world. This was true, he said, of other commodities and there was much trade to be done as soon as exchange could be stabilized. He predicted a change for the better in the near future.

Messrs. Morrisette and Toureman are returning home after visiting the large Paccard Bell works in France. They arranged for the shipment of two large eighteen bell chimneys to Montreal. They said business in France had improved wonderfully and there was apparently no illness. In England they noticed some unemployment, but the manufacturing plants were working night and day.

One of the highest passengers was Miss Jones, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Marsden Jones of Cardiff, who is enroute to Calgary to meet her fiancé, Mr. Inglis, who has prospered as a rancher in Berry Creek, Alberta. They are to be married as soon as Miss Jones reaches Calgary. She is accompanied by her father and mother.

Arthur Hopkins, a young Englishman, was among the passengers. He is a cousin of H. A. Porter of this city and is enroute to Brigetown, N. S. He was met at the steamer by Mr. Porter.

The vessel had 2,590 tons of general cargo, 2,876 bags of mail and parcel post, and more than 1,200 pieces of baggage.

THE BREAKING POINT

The Latest and Best Serial by Mary Roberts Rinehart

A TREMENDOUS STORY, compelling from every point of view. To say that it is a mystery story only partially describes this big novel. To say that it is full of heart appeal is an equally inadequate description. To say that its action never ceases, its interest never wanes, its situations never fail to convince, its characters never cease to entertain, is simply to use a lot of hackneyed phrases in dealing with a story which is as thrillingly alive as life itself.

To begin with there's a big idea in this story. Once a man's lower nature has been conquered, and now habits of character have been formed making for stamina and moral cleanliness, no power on earth can rob him of his laboriously and conscientiously acquired virtue.

That is a heartening thought and one which many of us will do well to ponder. It should give us pause when we are assailed by a desire to let down our efforts in the direction of high thinking and honest endeavor, though by ever so little.

Of course the author does not set forth this theme in so many words. Mary Roberts Rinehart is far too fine an artist for that. She simply weaves this thought into the fabric of her story in the right place, where it naturally belongs without making much fuss or bother about it, and that is all.

But somehow, when the end is reached, the reader has an abiding sense of the ascendancy of purity of character in both men and women, and feels that the entire story from start to finish in reality was aglow with this thought.

The story interest of "The Breaking Point" is superlatively strong. Mary Roberts Rinehart has never created more absorbing mystery nor shown a finer finesse in reeling off the denouement, point by point.

THE BREAKING POINT will start Saturday in "The Times-Star."

The actual earnings during the month, however, were about the same as last year, but the payment of the C. P. R. account for the month of March, amounting to some $4,000 will be included in the April revenue. The receipts for the year to March 31 are about $8,000 ahead of last year.

Mr. Doyle enlisted with the 10th Battalion and was transferred to the 24th Battalion. He was with the latter unit when he met his death.

FAIRVILLE FIRE

About 12:30 today there was an alarm in Fairville for a fire in a property in Handing street owned by George Smith. The fire had caught in the roof of the upper flat occupied by the family of J. E. O'Toole. The blaze was put out inside half an hour with damage only to the roof. Practically all of Mr. O'Toole's household furniture had been removed and there was very little property loss. The damage to the property, said to amount to several hundred dollars, was covered by insurance.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS

The cattle shipping business from the port of St. John has this year reached its maximum since the winter of 1911-1912. The total number of cattle taken from the port to date has been 2,823 and the number of sheep 200. In the winter of 1911-12 there were 8,812 head of cattle taken through the port and 200 sheep. The next year and there have been practically none taken since until the present season. The heaviest year's shipments on record are for the winter season of 1905-1906 when a total of 89,075 head were shipped.

There were students from Edmundston, Jacques River, Mouth of Kennebec, Blackville, Campbellton, Fredericton, Petticoat, Minto, Moncton, Stanley and Chipman. A motor generator course was added this session. Mr. Olive, who has returned to St. John, says the whole course was a notable success, and of great value to each of the students.

WEST INDIES SERVICE

The Board of Trade has taken up the matter of the tenders for the West Indies service, acting on exceptions taken by local shippers to the form of the tender. The points objected to are the calling for tenders for sailings from Halifax or St. John and the calling for smaller shipping points. It is felt that St. John should be necessary a shipping port for the service and also that all the West Indies ports should be called at on each trip, as it is hoped to build up a considerable trade with some of these places. A letter was received from the Department this morning saying that the matter of ports of departure and itineraries generally would be gone over when the shipping companies had been heard from.

HUNDRED AND FORTY IN FERNHILL RECEIVING VAULT

The annual meeting of the Fernhill Cemetery Company is being held this afternoon with the president, Edward E. T. Sturdee, in the chair. The annual report of the directors is as follows:

The seventy-fifth annual report of you directors, with the twenty-ninth annual report of the superintendent, included, is herewith submitted, for the year ended February 28, 1923.

Financial—All statements of receipts and expenditures with balance sheet have been prepared by the secretary-treasurer and certified correct by the auditor, H. R. Sturdee. While burial fees show a slight increase over the previous year, sale of lots resulted in a less amount, but this is accounted for by the number of cheap and moderately priced lots sold. Expenditure for the year, $10,874—shows a reduction. In addition to this amount are charges for salaries, tools, fuel of horses, seeds, Workmen's Compensation Board, and cost of motor truck. Our total receipts show a balance over total expenditures.

The perpetual care fund now amounts to $148,813 (an increase of over $6,000) invested in government and municipal debentures held in trust by the Canada Permanent Trust Company, who collect and pay over the interest. There are now nearly 1,500 lots under perpetual care in addition to some 300 monuments.

New Lots.

No new work was commenced last year, but unfinished sections completed, especially the plots in the vicinity of the rest house and the plots of moderately priced lots near Cliva avenue. These lots sold very readily and are nearly all disposed of. To serve these and other lots, a continuation of Cliva avenue will be made to the Old Westmorland road, giving us another entrance, already marked by the ornamental granite posts and gates removed from the old unused entrance to the eastward. Your directors, having in mind the demand for cheaper lots, have arranged to develop the section on Water avenue and Park lane, which though requiring considerable work, will, when finished produce about 270 lots and open up a new section of the cemetery. It is also intended to set aside a plot adjoining the Hebrew section for single graves.

The naval and military plot now contains forty-nine graves, to mark which the headstones of the Imperial War Graves Commission have been erected. This plot was decorated by the Knights of Pythias and the Sons of England during their annual visits, and the Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, also rendered services at this spot on Armistice Day.

The receiving tomb has proved its inestimable benefit during the severe winter. There are now 140 bodies therein, nearly all for interment in our cemetery; the others for removal outside the city or in other cemeteries.

General—The usual work of caring for the lots and avenues has been well performed during the year, the full staff of laborers being steadily employed in this work as well as in removing dead trees, making drains, laying concrete foundations, etc., while during the winter, when it is estimated more than ten feet of snow fell, the work of continually shovelling paths and avenues was very arduous for our small winter staff. In this connection several things had to be called to the attention of the Provincial Government to the state of the Old Westmorland Road, and, although the work was done, our horses, ploughs and men had to assist in clearing the snow, to enable funerals to reach the cemetery. On one occasion a lot-holder had to have the road shovelled at his own expense. There is no reason why any individual or private company should do this work, and it is hoped that in future the Provincial Department of Public Works will see that the roadmaster keeps this necessary public road open during the winter.

The superintendent and staff have carefully and faithfully performed their duties, and, although the work was done, our horses, ploughs and men had to assist in clearing the snow, to enable funerals to reach the cemetery. On one occasion a lot-holder had to have the road shovelled at his own expense. There is no reason why any individual or private company should do this work, and it is hoped that in future the Provincial Department of Public Works will see that the roadmaster keeps this necessary public road open during the winter.

On behalf of the directors,

Halifax, N. S., April 2—The city tax rate was struck today at $3.25 on the hundred dollars, as compared with $3.10 for last year.

Early Morning Fire

The city fire department was given a call to Brunswick street at five o'clock this morning to combat a fire in a three-story wooden dwelling at the corner of Albion street, owned by Mrs. Mary Moses and occupied by herself and the families of Jacob Swifell and Thomas Simon. The fire was in the top flat, which was occupied by Mrs. Moses and started in a bed-room from a cause which was not determined. After about an hour's battle the firemen, under Chief Blake got the flames under control. The damage reported was in the vicinity of $1,000. All the occupants of the house were able to get out to safety.
