

SIR AUCKLAND'S VIEWS ON WORLD CONDITIONS

Unthinkable That Prices Will Return to Pre-War Levels for Many Years to Come.

PROUD OF CANADA IN WORLD WAR

Sees Great Opportunities for This Country in the Re-establishment of Europe.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Sir Auckland Geddes, British Ambassador to the United States, who arrived in the city last evening, when seen by a representative of the press, today, gave the following comments on world conditions:

"It is unthinkable that prices will again return to the pre-war level—at least for many years," said Sir Auckland. "While there is chaos in Russia and Poland, and while production has not increased as it should, we probably will later on, it cannot be expected that prices will drop very much. But the world is on the way back to stability."

"Prices are tumbling in certain parts of the world now. There is enough of the world at peace to make this possible."

He predicted that when Russia and Poland are quieted down and those countries again enter the productive areas of the world the economic situation in Europe will be bettered.

Canada's Status

Canada's improved status as a nation was a topic that he confessed interested him mightily, though he had to be careful not to talk too much about it. He declared himself favorable to an interchange of professors between Britain and the Empire Dominion, though he thought it would be more effective to have students travel to various parts of the Empire.

Addressing the Canadian Club this afternoon, Sir Auckland referred to the Great War and Canada's part in it. He recalled that in 1913 he spoke of the almost inevitable war with Germany and of Canada's part when the fatal hour was struck. Speaking of the part this country had in the war Sir Auckland Geddes said:

"You do not know the extraordinary sense of pride with which we watched the response of Canada."

Sir Auckland spoke of the "impenishable glory of the second battle of Ypres, after which was added the crown of Vimy and the last hundred days," which stand out, he said, "as a period of remarkable fighting. The price in blood and the Empire Dominion was perhaps more than the most pessimistic ventures to believe possible."

Great Opportunities

The Ambassador said that the price paid by Canada, heavy as it was, was not as great as that paid by England and Scotland.

"You know how great the strain of the war was out here," he said. "It was greater in England. It is very heavy and will continue to be very heavy for years to come. The whole framework of the industrial life of Europe cannot recover without the assistance of the American continent, both North and South."

"As in war, the assistance of Canada and the other nations of the British Empire before is absolutely necessary to the winning of peace. Never before has Canada had such an opportunity as today," Sir Auckland said. "Never before did she stand in the same favorable position as today. Through your wonderful harvest you are in a position to do more than any part of the Empire to help re-establish normal conditions. It is a great responsibility, but it is a great opportunity."

TOPE OF SOVIET NOTE IMPERTINENT

Of Such a Nature it Will be Subject of Exchange of Views Between Premiers.

London, Aug. 27.—The following despatch from Luceerne was received by the London Times:

"Premier Lloyd George has received the Soviet note, and the impression created by it is not a satisfactory one. The tone of the communication is considered to verge on studied impertinence. This note will be the subject of an exchange of views between London, Paris and Rome. It is expected that Premier Lloyd George will remain here another week."

SPECIAL MASS OF INTERCESSION FOR MAYOR McSWEENEY

Dublin, Aug. 27.—A large congregation gathered at the Cathedral here this morning for a special mass of intercession celebrated in behalf of Lord Mayor MacSweeney of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in prison at London. The Lord Mayor of Dublin and the members of the city corporation attended and several hundred dock workers suspended labor, marching to the cathedral to participate in the services.

CONDITION OF CORK MAYOR UNCHANGED

Premier Lloyd George Bombarded With Appeals in Behalf of Terrence MacSweeney.

London, Aug. 27.—Premier Lloyd George at Luceerne is being bombarded with appeals in behalf of Terrence MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, who is on a hunger strike in prison here. The general tenor of the appeals is that a show of clemency in this case will open the gate for reconciliation with Ireland, while a refusal would have the opposite effect. A strongly worded letter from James O'Grady, member of the House of Commons, has also been received.

"The test of your sincerity in desiring a reconciliation is unconditional," says Mr. O'Grady's letter, "release MacSweeney. If you refuse this then be damned to you and your government."

Timothy M. Healy, former member of Parliament, in a letter to the Dublin press, angrily accuses Premier Lloyd George of over-riding the King's desire to show clemency in the MacSweeney case. He declares that the Premier "by closing the gates of mercy with a clang has made a more perverse, ignorant and lawless invasion of the authority of the Crown in Ireland than any man in arms against it."

Mayor MacSweeney's condition was unchanged tonight. He was very weak, but his relatives remained at most constantly at his bedside.

WOMEN WORKING FOR CORK'S MAYOR

Failed in Their Effort to Lay Before U. S. Officials Protest Against Imprisonment.

Washington, Aug. 27.—A number of women who have been active in connection with the Irish Freedom movement here, failed today in their effort to lay before Secretary Coby a protest against the continued imprisonment of Mayor MacSweeney, Cork. After waiting several hours to see Mr. Coby the women went to the White House, but found that officials there also were out.

The group was headed by Mrs. Gertrude Cortess, who said that a cablegram had been received from Mrs. Hanna Sheehy-Skeffington, Ireland's first woman jurist, asking the newly enfranchised women of the United States to urge action in behalf of MacSweeney.

MEN WANTED TO MAN NAVAL SHIPS

Needed for the New Ships Which Mother Country Has Presented Canada.

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 27.—(Canadian Press)—The Department of the Naval Service is making an effort to obtain a limited number of ratings to man the new ships which the Mother Country has presented to Canada, and bring them to this country. Men with experience are desired and when obtained they will be sent to England. As far as the officers of the new ships are concerned, it is understood that two-thirds of them will be Canadian and it is stated that both the destroyers will be commanded by Canadian. The cruiser will, for the time being, be under the command of an experienced British naval officer. The three vessels will probably sail for Canada early in October.

DROP IN FLOUR IS PREDICTED

Expected to Follow the Start of the Fall Movement of the 1920 Crop.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Following the start of the fall movement of the 1920 crop and the resumption of competitive dealing by millers, it is stated today on good authority, according to a local paper, that there will be a drop in the price of flour and also in the price of bran and shorts.

One prominent miller said that the drop in the price of flour would be $1.50 per barrel at least. It was likely to take effect soon, probably next week, or the week following, he estimated. The price of flour per barrel now is $14.30.

The price of bran and shorts, it was said, would drop from $5.00 to $7.00 per ton.

'LONGSHOREMEN MAKE SUDDEN TIE-UP MOVE

Spring Surprise When 2,000 Quit Loading British Ships in New York.

MOVE PLANNED TO AID IRELAND

Irish Sympathizers on Ships of Other Nations Join in the Walkout.

New York, Aug. 27.—Elated by their tie-up of virtually every British ship in New York, the 2,000 or more longshoremen, who suddenly quit work today, expect to spread their walk-out to every port in the United States in the hope of forcing Great Britain to release from jail Terrence MacSweeney, the Lord Mayor of Cork, and permit Archbishop Mannix to land on Irish soil. The women pickets, who inspired the unexpected walkout of longshoremen, and the marine firemen, water tenderers and others who joined them, feel the same way about it. They are not going back to work on British ships, they said, until Great Britain meets their wishes.

Irish sympathizers, working on United States, French and Belgian steamships, also quit work during the whirlwind campaign the strikers waged along the North River this afternoon. Although not an immense number of various nationalities rushed from the holds of vessels at the command of their Irish comrades. More than 250 negroes, who were unloading the cargo of the Cunard liner, fell into line and recited a big oration from the other strikers.

Women Were Leaders

A little band of women pickets inspired the strike during the noon lunch hour. They stationed themselves outside the White Star line pier the morning to await the arrival of the Baltic, from which Archbishop Mannix was removed to a British naval vessel on the ship's last voyage to Ireland, but was taken to England, and longshoremen said they resented this.

When the Baltic docked, the women held up a placard reading: "When Mannix goes to Ireland let the Baltic leave New York" and also displayed other signs and banners referring to Mannix, Lloyd George and Terrence MacSweeney.

During the lunch hour the longshoremen, who had started work on the Baltic, were ordered to get on the pier, and accompanied by the women pickets, they went into the holds of the other nearby liners, Canopic, Olympic and Celtic, where they quickly induced hundreds of other longshoremen and allied workers to join their walkout.

Begin Parade

Forming outside the White Star Line pier, inside of which were other calls calling for police reserves, the strikers began a parade that swept up West Street, engulfing hundreds of longshoremen at the docks, the Cunard, Anchor and other British lines and leaving in its wake more than a dozen steamships, with loading schedules badly disrupted.

It was all in the nature of a surprise attack, but persuasion was not necessary to lure the men away from work as the growing parade flowed into piers where the longshoremen kept nothing of what has been going on further down the river. With cries of "get out of here" and "let's go," the strikers raced into the piers, up gang planks and down into the holds of a steamer. In a moment they would return, followed by fresh reinforcements, many of whom knew not whether they were going, nor why.

Stunned by the appearance of the paraders as they hurried into piers and out again with new strikers trailing behind them, steamship officials were unable to state what they were to do to maintain their schedules in the unexpected situation, nor were Longshoremen Union leaders, who declared the strike unauthorized, though stating that most of their men were in favor of "Irish freedom." The walkout came so suddenly and deflections from working crews varied so between unanimity in the British steamships to only a few in the holds of other vessels, that neither Longshoremen chiefs nor steamship officials could estimate tonight the number of men who quit work.

A five-minute ovation greeted one hundred striking members of the Baltic's crew when they marched into a theatre here tonight where a mass meeting protesting against MacSweeney's imprisonment was in progress.

The gathering, which numbered nearly 4,000, was addressed by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American Commission on Irish Independence, and Eamonn De Valera, "President of the Irish Republic."

A collection was taken for the 2,000 participants in New York's first purely political waterfront strike. Walsh said 3,000 more men would quit work on British shipping here in the "fight for Ireland."

"With the cold-blooded assassination of Terrence MacSweeney will come about the downfall of England," said Walsh. "King George will be directly responsible for this assassination. Of the men who left the Baltic today, 150 were native-born Englishmen."

"The Valera said that 100,000 men in Ireland were ready and willing to do what MacSweeney is doing, if they are put to the test."

"MacSweeney does not want to die," said De Valera, "but he knows that

FIFTY CHRISTIANS SLAUGHTERED BY BEDOUIN TRIBE

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 27.—One hundred and fifty Christians have been killed at Ajlun, a village about fifty miles northwest of Jerusalem, by a band of Bedouins, according to a despatch received here from Haifa, Palestine. Another despatch states that in a recent Bedouin raid on a train near Damascus an Italian naval officer was among the killed.

DISAGREABLE AFFAIR AT THE OLYMPIAD

Booing of British National Anthem at Conclusion of Water Polo Match Calls Forth Protests.

Antwerp, Aug. 27.—The "booing" of the British National Anthem at the conclusion of this afternoon's water polo match, in which England won a hard and close fought game from the Belgian team, resulted in the British representatives calling a meeting of the representatives of all the nations competing in the Olympiad this evening. At the meeting a protest was made over what was termed a national insult and it brought a promise of the publication in tomorrow's official programme and in the Antwerp newspapers of an apology for the action of the spectators. The apology will be made on behalf of the Belgian Olympic Committee.

The incident occurred at the conclusion of what was virtually the gala day of the Olympic swimming competitions. The Belgian Princess Marie Jose occupied the Royal box. The British Black Watch military and pipe bands played at intervals during the programme. Main interest centered in the polo championship match. The British and Belgian teams had been picked by the public as the best teams entered, and as a result the grandstands were crowded.

The feeling of the spectators were manifest early in the contest when each adverse decision against the Belgian team by the Swedish referee occasioned prolonged booing from the Belgian supporters. This was heightened when the referee disqualified the Belgian players and one English player for fouling.

The Princess was leaving the Royal box amid the cheering of those in the nearby sections of the grandstand just as the Union Jack proclaimed the English victory was being rung up and the band was playing "God Save the King." Those who saw the Princess continued their cheering until she entered her motor car, but a majority of the thousands present, ignoring the attempts of the Belgian officials to quiet the demonstration, hoed and hissed even for a few minutes after the band had finished the anthem.

PROTESTANT STORES FIRED IN DUNDALK

Dundalk, Ireland, Aug. 27.—Two males and one salesman were burned to death in stores of two Protestant Unionist tradesmen in Dundalk early this morning. The buildings were set on fire, and the houses of the owners of the stores were burned. Other clerks in the stores were able to make their escape, but the fire spread to adjacent property, including the Ulster Bank, which was damaged.

The assertion is made that the fires were started in reprisal for the destruction of property of Catholics in Lisburn and Belfast.

EXPENSIVE LIVING IN AUSTRALIA

London, Aug. 27.—(By Canadian Associated Press)—In Australia, according to official figures just issued, the cost of living in July 1920, as compared with the same month in 1914, showed the following increases: New South Wales, 63 per cent.; Victoria, 56 per cent.; Queensland, 31 per cent.; South Australia, 46 per cent.; Western Australia, 26 per cent.; Tasmania, 69 per cent., or an average for the continent of 57.6 per cent.

Borgiars, equipped with a motor lorry, backed up to the office of the Italian Mosaic Company on King street west, Toronto, during Thursday night, and got away with the office safe, with contents, including $1,000 cash intended for wages today.

on his fortitude and determination more depends for Ireland than the fate of an army corps. If he dies, it will not be a suicide as the British contend, but he will die as a soldier in battle and his death will be on the hands of the enemy."

In spite of conditions brought by the strike, the White Star liner Olympic will sail on schedule this morning for Southampton tomorrow, her officials said tonight. At the Cunard line offices there was confidence that the Aquitania also would leave on time tomorrow for the same port. The Cunard line has five steamships scheduled for South America, and the I. M. M. Company's lines have three, these etc. companies being the heaviest sufferers from the walk-out.

Several British ships are scheduled to arrive tomorrow and early next week, but the longshoremen declare they will not unload, except for mail, until MacSweeney is freed and Archbishop Mannix is allowed to go to Ireland.

EUROPE IS MENACED BY COAL SPECTRE

German Supply from Upper Silesia Cut off by Strike of Poles.

THE SPA PACT ENDANGERED

Germany With a Crippled Output Fears Demands from the French for Payment.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Coal, like a black spectre, again is looming as an aggravating factor in the European situation. This time the menace of a coal shortage, with its inevitable consequences of unemployment and political disturbance, proceeds from Upper Silesia, where the trouble is by no means ended merely because of the cessation of hostilities between them.

The general strike in the mines of Upper Silesia, declared by the Poles—who constitute the bulk of the miners of that region—is likely to extend indefinitely as a protest against the way in which the dispute between them and the German population is being handled, and against the German mine owners. Apprehensions are felt for the safety of the coal pits, which are in danger of being destroyed.

Not only is Germany's immediate precarious industrial position seriously menaced by this strike, but the entire foundations of the present European coal economics, the basis of which was laboriously laid at Spa in July, is endangered. The Upper Silesia mines were just on the eve of a reciprocal agreement between mine owners and the miners, who were able to produce during the month of June 2,640,000 tons out of the 11,000,000 tons mined in the whole of Germany.

It was in anticipation of receiving the fall output of the Upper Silesian mines that the German delegation at Spa consented to deliver 2,000,000 tons monthly to France, leaving only slightly more than 5,000,000 tons which to carry on all German industries—a figure which being estimated to show was absurdly low in comparison with the needs of a large industrial nation like Germany. With the Upper Silesia coal supply cut off, at least for the present, and with production in the Ruhr district already diminished by the action of the Essen miners' union in discontinuing the supplementary hours of labor, thus reducing the daily yield by 100,000 tons, it is little wonder that Germany is viewing the situation with alarm.

Its development is the question uppermost in the minds of people here, who, with one eye, look despairingly eastward, while with the other they regard with anxiety and fear the west, where the menace of the French advance into the Ruhr stands like a perpetual peril and warning.

France, on seeing the action of the Spa convention imperilled, will, it is felt, bring all kinds of pressure to bear upon the Allies to prevent Germany from violating its demands, namely, that 2,000,000 tons must be delivered monthly whether they are drawn from Upper Silesia or any other source.

FINED FOR ILLEGAL POSSESSION LIQUOR

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 27.—Dr. Fred Park, for many years Mayor of Amherstburg, and also a magistrate of that place, was fined $1,000 and costs by Magistrate Alfred Myers in the police court this morning, following a plea of guilty entered by Dr. Park to a charge of having on May 26 last been in possession of liquor in a place other than a private dwelling. In explanation of the matter, Dr. Park told the court that the liquor in his barn was not his property and that he had merely had it put there in the public interests, so that it might not be stolen.

Sam Renaud, an Amherstburg constable, who was arrested on the same charge as Dr. Park and who was previously reported to have pleaded guilty, this morning changed his plea and denied any illegal connection with the case. He said he had merely helped Dr. Park to put the liquor in the barn. He will be tried Tuesday.

DECLARATION OF DIVIDENDS

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Dividend declarations: Canadian General Electric Co., Ltd., 2 p. c. for quarter ending September 30, payable October 1 to record September 15. Canadian Locomotive Co., Ltd., 1.34 and with preferred and 2 p. c. on common, payable October 1 to record September 20. Annual meeting called for September 16 at Kingston, Ont.

HUNGER STRIKERS TO HOSPITAL

Dublin, Aug. 26.—An announcement was made at Dublin Castle this evening that eleven hunger striking prisoners in the Cork jail had been transferred from cells to the prison hospital. The announcement added that no prison regulations were to be allowed to stand in the way of any possible palliative treatment.

A large crematory at Knocklong, County Limerick, was burned today. A crematory at Shogden was set on fire but the flames were extinguished.

FIERCE BATTLE AT CLONAKELLY BARRACKS

Cork, Ireland, Aug. 27.—A fierce, though brief battle was fought early this morning at Clonakelly, a seaport southwest of Cork, when fifty men attacked a small garrison in the police barracks. The attackers poured a heavy rifle fire into the building and one bomb was thrown. The police returned a steady fire and the raiders were forced to withdraw. No casualties were reported.

SUGAR SPECULATORS FACE HEAVY LOSSES

Loaded up With Intention of Making Big Profits, But Sudden Drop Turns Tables

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 27.—Some sugar speculators have been caught by the drop in prices, and it is said are offering sugar at decreased rates. It is said that some have been loading up with the expectation of making a big haul and are now faced with a considerable financial loss.

"The order went into effect at nine o'clock this morning," said one sugar refinery representative. "We are now selling at 22 cents instead of 24 cents. I don't think that the wholesalers will lose much, as they are not very well stocked up."

"I think you will see a still further drop in a short time," said a delegate to the Wholesale Grocers' meeting.

"I think that the board might have brought the price down to 21 cents a pound, and I expect that it will go down still further."

The whole thing has been brought about by the light in New York. One refinery there closed down while the others were buying high priced sugar. When the drop in the raw cane came, this refinery jumped in again and brought down the price.

DETROIT OFFERING SUGAR TO CANADA

Ready to Send Here Sugar, Freight, Duty and Exchange Paid, at $17 Hundred Pounds.

Montreal, Aug. 27.—Detroit firms are offering sugar in Montreal at $17 a hundred pounds, freight, duty and exchange paid, a local wholesale dealer announced this morning. This dealer said he did not buy because he was waiting for the price of sugar to drop to 15 cents.

A. S. Richardson, sugar broker, claimed to have 50,000 bags of St. Lawrence sugar, which he could sell below refinery price. He held that the government knew the excess profits of the refineries and must be familiar with their enormous profits of the last few years. "Why should all the refineries be allowed to sell at the same price?" he asked.

"They buy their raws independently, and their expenses must be approximately the same; why should the board of commerce not compel competition amongst them? In the United States they have the Lever Law to prevent just cutting of competition."

FIRES THREATEN BEACH RESORT

Four Bush Fires Get Beyond Control of Fire Fighters and Threaten Maitock Beach.

Winnipeg, Aug. 27.—Fanned by a 17-miles southeast wind, four bush fires north of Netley have been steadily driven toward Maitock Beach, on Lake Winnipeg, until today, at noon, one was reported to be 200 yards from the nearest cottage. There are two fires on each side of the C. P. R.

Efforts of over forty men to control the fires have proved unavailing and, unless the wind changes, the danger to Maitock Beach is held to be very serious. Winnipeg families, living at the southern extremity of the beach, commenced to move into the city last night, and it was reported that over 40 families had deserted the resort, nervous over the possible consequences of the fire.

GRAVE DIGGERS GO ON STRIKE

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 27.—The laborers and grave diggers, employed by the Hamilton Cemetery Board, went on strike this morning. They have been receiving 65 cents an hour and demanded sixty cents. The board refused this, claiming that its employees in proportion to the work they do, are the best paid in the city's service.

NIPISSING IN REGULAR DIVI.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—Nipissing Mines Company has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 5 p. c. In addition to the regular dividend, an extra dividend of 5 p. c. has been declared. Both are payable October 30th to shareholders of record September 30th.

COMMERCE B'RD WILL PROTECT THE PUBLIC

Closely Watching the Sugar Situation and is Prepared to Go the Limit.

SUGAR MARKETS VERY UNCERTAIN

Tendency is Downward But May Not Reach Low Levels That Are Hoped for.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—(Canadian Press)—The following statement dealing with the present sugar situation was issued by the Board of Commerce tonight:

"As has been already unofficially announced in the press, a conference between the Board of Commerce and the sugar refiners has resulted in a reduction of two cents a pound on the price of sugar."

This reduction extends to all grades and effective forthwith, leaving the selling price of refiners at 22 cents a pound. Former orders of the Board of Commerce, which remain in effect limit to two cents per pound the increased cost to the consumer, this limitation of profits applying equally of course to purchases made at prices below 22 cents.

The sugar markets of the world remain an uncertain quantity, with a tendency downward during the last week or two. The high sugar prices obtaining in the United States during the past year have been no doubt largely responsible for attracting to that country cheaper offerings from various parts of the world, with the result that several sharp breaks in the United States market have occurred recently, and prices, here and there, fell to a point which made it profitable to bring sugar over the boundary line into Canada, despite the duty and the difference in exchange.

Refineries Heavily Stocked

The reduction effected by the cooperation of the Canadian refiners in face of the fact that the refiners have been heavily stocked with sugar purchased at high prices, though not, of course, at the highest prices, and the selling price fixed becomes possible only by certain proportions of these stocks being sold at considerable loss. Two conditions, either or both of which may bring further methods to the Canadian consumer's special reduction in the price of raws or a continued fall in the price of raws in the United States. No prediction is ventured with respect to these factors, but the Board of Commerce will continue to watch the situation closely and is prepared to take the limits of its facilities, action necessary for the protection of the public."

FUNERAL DIRECTORS' ASSN. WILL MEET

Members of the N. B. Funeral Directors' Association will gather in St. John during Exhibition week for the purpose of meeting members of the Department of Health, who will lecture on the new vital statistics law. Other lectures will also be given.

F. W. Wallace, of Sussex, secretary of the association, was in the city yesterday, arranging with local funeral directors for the meeting, which will be held on the 8th and 9th.

COMMISSIONER ASSASSINATED

Simla, India, Aug. 27.—Deputy Commissioner Wiltoughby has been assassinated in his residence at Khari, Province of Outh, by a Mussulman fanatic. The assassin, who was aided by accomplices, entered the residence of the Commissioner when all the servants were absent.

BIG STRIKE ON LAKE STEAMERS

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 26.—Between 200 and 300 stewards and cooks on lake vessels in the Cleveland harbor went on strike today in accordance with orders received last night from J. M. Secord, General Secretary of the Marine Cooks and Stewards' Union of the Great Lakes, according to local union officials. The men demand a twenty per cent. increase in wages and eight-hour day.

Some Stunt

There are stunts persons who can take rabbits out of a gentleman's shirt. And the other day, in Kookuk, according to the Gate City, a lot of silver was "found in an empty box."—Chicago Tribune.

There seems to be some misunderstanding about the price of The Standard. The price of The St. John Standard is two cents per copy, not three cents. And this applies to all trains as well as newsdealers and boys.

Supreme Temple Closing Sessions

Templars of Honor and Temperance Were Busy Yesterday Morning, Afternoon and Evening—The Officers Installed.

The closing sessions of the 74th annual meeting of the Supreme Temple, Templars of Honor and Temperance were held yesterday morning and evening.

At the morning session the revised ritual was adopted by a unanimous vote of the council, and will be adopted at once, all the subordinate Temples to be supplied by the Robinson who has kindly donated them to the order.

The afternoon was spent in a visit to Courtenay Bay and other points of interest around the city, as the guests of the mayor.

The evening session was an open one the officers were installed and the report of the resolutions and other committees received and adopted.

The ordinary committee reported that three members of Supreme Council died during the year. Their memory was honored by silent prayer and the singing of "Nearer My God to Thee."

The report of the resolutions committee was adopted.

The report in part was: "Resolved, That we the Supreme Council of the Temples of Honor and Temperance assembled in their twenty-fourth annual meeting, are sincerely thankful for all favors given that have made our stay in this city of St. John so enjoyable. All anxiety in respect to our coming to this city was forgotten when we received several days before starting a letter from His Worship the Mayor informing us that the city was ours, and if we needed anything all we had to do was to call upon him at City Hall."

"We are indebted to His Worship the Mayor for an auto ride to Courtenay Bay. What we saw there convinced us that the city of St. John is one of the loveliest of America."

Votes of thanks to the St. John Templars and the ladies' auxiliary for entertainment provided, and to the press for the very full reports of the session were passed.

The incoming officers were installed by John Stovon, Past Supreme Templar, assisted by W. H. Smith who acted as supreme under as follows:

Rev. J. B. Ackley, Conn., S. Templar; A. E. Logan, N. B., S. Vice Templar; Rev. C. F. Woodruff, N. J., S. Sec. of Council; W. H. Condit, N. J., S. Treasurer; Chas. J. Symonds, Conn., S. Chaplain; R. H. Porter, Mass., S. Usher; John A. Mitchell, R. I., S. Guard; W. O. Trezise, Mich., S. Councilor.

After the installation Hon. W. P. Robert expressed appreciation for the kindly words of the resolutions committee, and assured the visitors that they were more than welcome to the city, and all that had been done for them was a labor of love. He voiced the hope that in the not distant future the Supreme Council might again meet in St. John. He then asked Past Supreme Templar Robinson to come to the altar. In a brief address he reviewed the part which which Hon. Mr. Robinson had played in the Temple for so many years and the part played in the city and state politics of his native land, and presented to Bro. Robinson an ebony gold headed cane as a slight token of the esteem in which he was held by his companions in the order.

The case was awarded: Hon. David I. Robinson, Supreme Council, T. of H. St. John, N. B., 1920.

Past Supreme Templar Robinson though taken by surprise, in a short address thanked the brothers for the kindly words and the splendid gift which would always be treasured by him.

Supreme Templar Ackley in his address referred to the fact that the Supreme Council had met in St. John five times, the first forty-three years ago, and of those present at the present session three were at that held forty-three years ago, Companions W. L. Condit, C. D. Woodruff and J. B. Eagles. He made an appeal for support from the companions to make the next two years banner ones in the history of the order.

BECAME SO THIN SHE WAS AFRAID

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Her Well, Strong and Vigorous.

MADAME ARTHUR BEAUCHER.

805 Cartier St., Montreal. "I suffered terribly from Constipation and Dyspepsia for many years. I felt pains after eating and had constant headache, and was unable to sleep at night. I was getting so thin that I was frightened and saw several physicians who, however, did not seem able to help me.

"At last a friend advised me to take 'Fruit-A-Tives.' I did so and soon I felt some relief. I continued with 'Fruit-A-Tives' and in a short time the Constipation was banished. I felt no more pains or headache or the disagreeable sensations that follow dyspepsia. Now I am well, strong and vigorous."

ARREST SUSPECT IN TRUNK MYSTERY

U. S. Authorities Hold Sailor Aboard British Steamer Who is Wanted in Connection With Jackson Murder.

Rio Janeiro, Aug. 27.—When the British steamer Dryden arrived here yesterday from New York one of the crew was placed under arrest at the request of the United States authorities. He is suspected of being Eugene Levy, wanted by the police of Detroit, Mich., in connection with the murder of Mrs. Katherine Lou Jackson, who is said to have been his wife and whose mutilated body was found in a trunk in an unclaimed baggage warehouse in New York several weeks ago.

The suspect is confined in a steel cell aboard the vessel and is guarded by four marine police. The man denied the name of Morris Fox, ordinary seaman. Today he said: "I know absolutely nothing about the death of Mrs. Jackson in Detroit. I have never been in that city."

He has not the appearance of a sailor, and declared that he had shipped aboard the Dryden solely because he was without money and had many debts.

"Yes," he continued, "I have read about the Jackson case in the New York papers, before sailing, but the police are silly to compare me with Levy in personal appearance."

The man denied all knowledge of the London and Hoxie murders, with which his name is connected by the police.

Short addresses were delivered by Supreme Vice-Templar S. E. Logan, Supreme Councilor W. O. Trezise, W. H. Smith, W. L. Condit, Rev. C. F. Woodruff, J. B. Eagles, the oldest living Templar in New Brunswick.

The Supreme Templar appointed the following deputies for the various jurisdictions: Wm. Ross, New York; H. M. David I. Robinson, Mass.; Wm. T. Howe, New Jersey; Hon. Clarke Potter, Rhode Island; W. H. Smith, New Brunswick; A. Cook, Wisconsin; J. B. Baylis, Conn.; W. T. Inch, Mich.

SAYS FRANCE WILL YET BE DESTROYED

German Author Predicts Three Great Wars of Future.

HUN OFFICERS ARE STILL VENGEFUL Believes Germany and England Will Yet Form Alliance to Beat Japan and United States.

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

Berlin, Aug. 27.—Significant of the real feelings of the higher officers of the Reichswehr is the fact that official documents are still being sent out by them, bearing the name of Kaiser, just as if William of Hohenzollern were still the autocrat of Germany.

The "Vorwarts" has published a letter containing a memorial document which has just been received by the relatives of a soldier who fell in the war. This letter which bears the signature of the fallen soldier's colour sergeant, reads as follows: "The Kaiser and King has issued the enclosed memorial certificate (Denkblatt) as a token of his most cordial sympathy and in recognition of faithfulness unto death. It is intended to be a lasting souvenir of those glorious days and a visible proof of the gratitude of the Vaterland."

In its comment the leading Socialist paper expresses a complete lack of faith in the Kaiser's intentions. It says that a colonel in the service of the German Republic still signs himself as commanding "His Majesty's Royal Regiment Perleberg," reads as follows: "The fight for the defence of our beloved German Vaterland, a member of your family has died the death of a hero. In memory those who still fall on the field of honor, His Majesty The Kaiser and King has issued the enclosed memorial certificate (Denkblatt) as a token of his most cordial sympathy and in recognition of faithfulness unto death. It is intended to be a lasting souvenir of those glorious days and a visible proof of the gratitude of the Vaterland."

Are Still Vengeful. The French consul here has received quite another kind of a letter from a German officer who, however, wisely abstains from signing his name. The letter reads in part: "Herr Konsul, Your countrymen, the despicable murderers, English and French, behaved like beasts at Spa. Tell the childish Frenchmen that the hour will come some time when we shall be strong enough to take bloody revenge. Perhaps the hour is not far distant. Then beware rapacious and avaricious France! Not a single child shall be spared! The Frenchmen are poisonous tigers whose it is time to eradicate. France and Poland are justly doomed to disappear. These arch-criminals, caricatures of human beings, shall not be allowed to live. Their end shall be the sweetest music to us. We shall sow a seed of hatred from generation to generation which is bound to bear fruit in time. You miserable cowards, you would not conquer us in open combat, you did not have courage enough for that, but, swine as you are, you dared starve us into submission. Eternal hatred against the English and French people! Pflui, devil!"

I may perhaps add that among the large collection of letters I received from Germany during the war, because I dared tell the truth as I had seen it at the front, there is a letter couched in almost exactly the same terms, signed by a retired general, living at Danzig, who evidently signed the document with his full name. Truly heroic was the nature of the German race, and because he did not hesitate to describe the deeds of the acts of the ex-Kaiser, when he took possession of his beautiful villa on the island of Corfu, was to break into bits the statue of the famous poet, erected by the late Empress Elisabeth of Austria.

Three Next Wars. The well-known German writer Otto Antonietri, has just published a book under the title "The Three Next Wars" (Die Drei Kommenden Kriege) which is in the hands of everybody here. Antonietri "proves" how the "infamous treaty of Versailles" which was intended to destroy Germany, really is the death sentence of France. He endeavors to show how the world situation, as it is, must compel the English, anxious to preserve her world domination, to declare war, first against Japan, and then against the United States. In the war against Japan, she will have as allies France and the United States, and during this second world war, Germany will have to permit the passage through her territories of the gigantic armies of the allies, who direct their main attack against Japan via Russia.

During this visualized war the allies will forget all their former animosity against Germany, and that country will be able to recover its wealth, because the allies must have the assistance of the German workers, engineers and inventors. The first battles will be fought in the Ural mountains which point the Japs have gradually reached through colonizing Siberia, and the battles of Verdun, Somme and Marne will be child's play compared with this struggle of the giants.

After this war has ended with the utter defeat of Japan, England will approach Germany, which will then be permitted to take back from France her lost territories, and not only these but as much of French soil as she desires, while England will seize all the French colonies and prepare to make a jump for the throat of the United States. In the war between England and America, the author says the power will win who has the support of Germany, and he hints that it will be England who therefore comes out victorious from the third world war.

The fourth and perhaps last war will be between the yellow and white races. Defeated Japan will have organized the masses of China, and in this war Germany, once more strong and mighty will be the savior of civilization!

The German General von Francken writes in the "Menschenheit für Politik und Wehrmacht": "The strength of the book lies in the way in which it shows the why and wherefore" and "Antonietri shows himself possessed of an intimate knowledge not only of his own race, but of the world interests. You come to believe that you are listening to a great diplomat who has gained deep insight into the characters and souls of the peoples of the world."

CONFERENCE OF SCHOOL INSPECTORS

The conference of school inspectors with the chief superintendent of education and director of the Normal School was continued yesterday morning and many matters of interest were discussed.

It was agreed by all that the present compulsory school act was unsatisfactory and the only remedy proposed was enforcement of provincial authorities.

It was the consensus of opinion that the standard of entrance to normal school and university should not be reduced at present owing to the scarcity of teachers.

In discussing the ways and means of increasing the number of candidates for teachers' licenses, it was thought that if the candidates were acquainted with some means of borrowing money to pay their way through the Normal school the profession might be more attractive. It was suggested that the government might establish a loan fund for this purpose.

It was decided that each inspector should take care to explain in each prospective candidate the improved conditions, particularly in the surroundings of the profession, which might attract those who might not otherwise consider studying for the profession.

By Carter said after the meeting that it should be recognized by the public that any increase in salaries for teachers, however great, cannot have an immediate effect on the supply of teachers, as it will take some time for them to prepare for the work, and the present scarcity is to be expected for two or three years at least.

The business of the meeting was completed yesterday morning and those present hoped that excellent results will follow.

BOLSHEVIK ARMIES ABOUT DESTROYED

Paris, Aug. 26.—The destruction of the Bolsheviki armies now may be considered complete, according to advices received here. Of the host which swept down on Warsaw, nothing is left but 30,000 fugitives. The Poles have taken 30,000 prisoners this far, but what is more important they have captured a great number of guns and materials. It is considered probable that the Soviets employed all their available resources and, in the present condition, Russian industries will take a long time to replace them.

Consequently, if the Soviets are able to find effective ways to seek to restore the fortunes of their arms, lack of equipment will make them without military value.

OIL LEASES CAUSING TROUBLE IN MEXICO

Washington, Aug. 26.—Interpretation of the laws governing oil lands continues to be the greatest stumbling block in the discussions which are going on between this government and the provisional de la Huerta government in Mexico, looking to recognition by the United States. In addition to the conversations which have been conducted here the Mexican government has been endeavoring to deal directly with the American producers south of the Rio Grande, but the situation at present is in more of a deadlock than when the oil land legislation, for all Americans as confederates, was first adopted under the Carranza regime.

The principal contention on which the producers and the Mexican government are at odds is the amount of tax that shall be paid on oil exports. The position of the companies is that they have paid all of the taxes that are due in Mexico, and that the Mexican government is now attempting to get behind an agreement entered into between the companies and General Salvador Alvarado, Minister of Finance, and collect additional taxes, in some instances double and triple the amount due. This agreement was entered into in June and the Americans in Mexico say that the Mexican treasury is attempting to get excessive returns not only for June but for March, April and May as well.

The Alvarado agreement on which the foreign companies are standing, provided that taxes should be paid in May and June on the price obtained for oil, less transportation charges, in New York. In order to obtain immediate payment the Mexican government agreed to accept settlement on the basis of January and February prices, which are lower than the schedules put into force just prior to the fall of the Carranza regime. The exporters charge now that the new government is attempting to levy a rate as exorbitant as that imposed by Carranza and that as the shipments of oil have increased greatly since the new government came into power, the amount that they would have to pay in taxes would cripple their capital so that they would be unable to continue operations.

It is not impossible that we may find that our pre-war monopoly of insulated ships, which are necessary for the carriage of chilled or frozen meat, has been to some extent broken. It is also probable that continental nations, which formerly excluded imported meat, may find it necessary to relax their restrictions on the importation of the available supply. The most formidable competition might come from the United States. Her herd of live cattle is seriously reduced. If she becomes an importer of beef on a large scale, she will naturally draw to herself the nearest supplies, and if she is able to offer better return cargoes of manufactured goods, will even attract supplies from a greater distance.

Unless we can maintain and increase our manufacture, we may, in that case run short of cattle. Pastors and artisans must eat less beef and mutton if they reduce their output.

If there will be, as seems likely, an increased demand on the world's surplus of vital importance whether that surplus has been increased or diminished during the war. The countries which are exporters of beef and mutton are partly within, and partly without the British Empire. These within the Empire are Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. Resources here very greatly increased during the last twenty years, and the meat trade of South Africa, still in its infancy, is capable of great development.

Looking to Dominions. We may look forward within the next few years to a great expansion of supplies from the Dominions. The quality of the meat is already improving, and, if science can cope with the risks of drought and disease, there should be from these countries a notable increase in the world's available surplus. Freezing plant has been already set up in South Africa, and is projected in Canada. But when trade once begins to flow in a particular direction, it is not easily diverted. For the next three years, until her freezing plant and her continuous supply of cattle are ready, Canada's oil market is the United States.

Of the countries outside the Empire, those of South Africa are alone of importance, with very useful help during the war from the Dominions. The works of Madagascar, Argentina stands at the head of the group as an exporter of beef and mutton. Uruguay no longer slaughters her cattle for export, but since 1910 has had her plants for canning and freezing beef. Two thousand miles up the Parana, or Plate River from Buenos Ayres, great modern plant has been established in Paraguay. Venezuela has opened a frozen meat trade from Puerto Cabello. At Rio Janeiro and San Paulo works have been erected to exploit the beef resources of the huge territory of Brazil. As a sheep-raising country Patagonia has made rapid advances. The quality of the meat, except in Argentina, is still poor. Increased transport facilities are needed. Disease and insect pests are rampant with which the countries are unable to cope. But the promise for the future is still great in South America. Other countries may be developed. Mexico, if once its present becomes a notable one, has great possibilities. Rhodesia, Matabeleland and Bechuanaland are suited both by elevation and rainfall

SHORTAGE IN THE WORLD'S MEAT SUPPLY

British Dominions Have Increased Production During the War.

INDIA LARGEST OWNER OF CATTLE Need of the Hour is Development of Freezing and Shipping Facilities in Canada and South America.

By THE RT. HON. LORD ERNLE, M. V. O. (Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)

London, Aug. 26.—Corn and horn are up together. This simultaneous rise in two of the staple products of farming would mean for producers a period of pronounced prosperity, if it were not accompanied by a great advance in the cost of transport. No prospect appears of any substantial fall in the price either of wheat or of meat. But there is even more stability in the price of meat than in that of wheat. We have already expressed the opinion that the threatened shortage of wheat is due to the war rather than to the normal operation of economic causes. As the nations engaged in war, and still annihilated, resume production, adequate supplies of wheat will again come forward. They will do so at enhanced prices. In 1914 American farmers received 77 cents per bushel for their wheat; in May of this year, at their national convention, they fixed the cost of raising and marketing wheat at $2.54 per bushel, and they asked for a guaranteed price of $3 per bushel.

Real Meat Shortage. In the case of meat, prices are not so unresponsive. Supplies cannot recover or expand so rapidly as wheat. Our demand of shipping and our system of trade have perhaps concealed from us a tendency which has been observed by other nations. In 1915, the International Congress of Refrigerators, held at Chicago, came to the conclusion that a shortage of meat in the world's trade is undoubtedly existent, and could only be remedied by improvements in methods of production. It is a slow process to improve the methods of producing cattle and sheep. There may, therefore, be a period when, if the congress is right, supplies will be short. We do not regard the situation as alarming. But two questions are suggested. One is whether any new circumstances arising out of the war may tend to deprive us of the lion's share in the exportable surplus of the world's meat. The other is whether the position, observed in 1915, has been improved or worsened during the war.

It is not impossible that we may find that our pre-war monopoly of insulated ships, which are necessary for the carriage of chilled or frozen meat, has been to some extent broken. It is also probable that continental nations, which formerly excluded imported meat, may find it necessary to relax their restrictions on the importation of the available supply. ## SHORTAGE IN THE WORLD'S MEAT SUPPLY

INDIA LARGEST OWNER OF CATTLE

Need of the Hour is Development of Freezing and Shipping Facilities in Canada and South America.

By THE RT. HON. LORD ENRIE, M. V. O.

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic.)

London, Aug. 26.—Corn and horn are up together. This simultaneous rise in two of the staple products of farming would mean for producers a period of pronounced prosperity, if it were not accompanied by a great advance in the cost of production. No prospect appears of any substantial fall in the price either of wheat or of meat. But there is even more stability in the price of meat than in that of wheat. We have already expressed the opinion that the threat of a shortage of wheat is due to the war rather than to the normal operation of economic causes. In 1914 American farmers received 77 cents per bushel for their wheat; in May of this year, at their national convention, they fixed the cost of raising and marketing wheat at $2.64 per bushel, and they asked for a guaranteed price of $3 per bushel.

Real Meat Shortage.
In the case of meat, prices are not so unimpeded. Supplies cannot be recovered or expanded so readily as wheat. Our command of shipping and our system of trade have perhaps concealed from us a tendency which has been observed by other nations. In 1915 the International Congress of Refrigerators, held at Chicago, came to the conclusion that a shortage of meat in the world-trade undoubtedly existed, and could only be remedied by improvements in methods of production. It is a slow process to improve the methods of producing cattle and sheep. There may, therefore, be a period when, if the congress is right, supplies will be short. We do not regard the situation as alarming. But two questions are suggested. One is whether any new circumstances arising out of the war may tend to deprive us of our share in the exportable surplus of the world. The other is whether the position, observed in 1915, has been improved or worsened during the war.

It is not impossible that we may find that our pre-war monopoly of insulated ships, which are necessary for the carriage of chilled or frozen meat, has been to some extent impaired. It is also probable that continental nations, which formerly excluded imported meat, may find it necessary to relax or remove their tariffs. In that case we shall have new competitors for the available supply. The most formidable competition might come from the United States. Her herd of live cattle is seriously reduced. If she becomes an importer of beef on a large scale, she will naturally draw to herself the nearest supplies, and if she is able to offer better return cargoes of manufactured goods, will even attract supplies from a greater distance. Unless we can maintain and increase our manufacture of meat, in that case our short of meat. Miners and artisans must eat less beef and mutton if they reduce their output. If there will be, as seems likely, an increased demand for the world's exportable surplus, it becomes a question of vital importance whether that surplus has been increased or diminished during the war. The countries which are exporters of beef and mutton are partly within, and partly without the British Empire. Those within the Empire are Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa. Their resources have very greatly increased during the last twenty years, and the meat trade of South Africa, still in its infancy, is capable of great development.

Looking To Dominions.
We may look forward within the next few years to a great expansion in supplies from the Dominions. The quality of the meat is already improving, and, if science can cope with the stress of drought and disease, there should be from these countries a notable increase in the world's exportable surplus. Freezing plant has been already set up in South Africa, and is projected in Canada. But when once begins to flow in a particular direction, it is not easily diverted. For the next three years, until her freezing plant and her continuous supply of cattle are ready, Canada's only market is the United States.

Of the countries outside the Empire, those of South Africa are alone of importance, with very useful help during the war from the cattle and freezing works of Madagascar. Argentina stands at the head of the group as an exporter of beef and mutton. Uruguay no longer slaughters her cattle for tesafo, but since 1910 has had her plants for canning and freezing beef. Two thousand miles up the Parana, or Plata River from Buenos Ayres, a great modern plant has been established in Paraguay. Venezuela has opened a frozen meat trade from Porto Cabello. At Rio Janeiro and San Paulo works have been erected to exploit the beef resources of the huge territory of Brazil. As a sheep-raising country Patagonia has made rapid advances. The quality of the meat, except in Argentina, is still poor. Increased transport facilities are needed. Disease and insect pests are rampant with which science seems to cope. But the promise for the future is still great in South America. Other countries may be developed. Mexico, if once its government becomes rational, has great possibilities. Rhodesia, Matsiela and Bechuanaland are suited both by elevation and rainfall for live stock industry. No permanent shortage in the world-supplies of beef and mutton seems likely, though there may be, for the reasons given, some temporary restriction.

Our dependence on the foreigner for meat is less marked than our dependence for wheat. Four out of five of our population are fed from foreign breadstuffs; three out of five eat home-grown beef and mutton. Indirectly the meat of the remaining two-fifths may be said to come from home. It is the British breed of the cattle and sheep whose exports of pure-bred live stock have enabled foreign producers to provide most of the necessary quality. Of one thing we may be reasonably certain. We shall never again eat such cheap meat as we bought in the nineties. From 1883 onwards meat prices steadily declined till they reached their lowest point in 1895-1900. After 1900 they began to rise, and in 1912 reached the level of 1883. That period of cheapness was due to the opening-up of prairie areas on which accumulated stores of fertility fattened innumerable cattle at the cheapest possible cost. The world has eaten its capital. To replace it is a slow and expensive process. No virgin prairies of the same feeding value exist today. Yet, at a voyage of less than a month from London there exist immense beef resources.

India Has Possibilities.
The largest cattle owner in the world is India. Her herds outnumber those of the United States, Argentina, Australia, and New Zealand put together. Was it interest in agriculture, or some dream of world-wide domination that induced the ex-Kaiser to carry on for many years experiments with these black-humped natives of India, which are described as exceptionally free from tuberculosis, and, as milk producers, remarkably rich in butter fat? Looking at the world's supplies of wheat and meat, and especially at the probable surpluses available for exportation, we see no reason to fear any prolonged deficiency of supply. For some little time there may probably be a shortage, which can only be met by increased production at home. If that shortage is in the least acute here, or even on the Continent, the peril to society is grave. It might be met by international organization and distribution. Here, it might be suggested, is an opportunity for the League of Nations. A religion to which we only turn on our deathbeds is not likely to be effective. A league whose services we invoke only when a war is imminent is a weak protection. But if, in time of peace, it had commended itself to the world by its successful handling of the international problem of food, its authority in settling the quarrels of nations would be immensely increased in power.

WEDDINGS.

Special to The Standard.
Moncton, N. B., Aug. 27.—A quiet wedding took place in the Central Methodist Church, at high noon today, when Miss Florence Arabella Seeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Evert W. Seeley, was united in marriage to William Fitzgerald Ward, barrister, of Bowmanville, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Barracough, pastor of Central Methodist, and was witnessed by only near relatives and friends. After a luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ward left on the Ocean Limited en route to their future home in Bowmanville. The bride is one of Moncton's popular young ladies and was prominent in social and church work. She will be much missed in Moncton.

A Toronto despatch says: "More than twenty holders of the Victoria Cross are expected to attend the Canadian National Exhibition on Saturday, the opening day, and a great deal of disappointment, as well as surprise, is being expressed at the fact that not one of the wealthy residents of Toronto has offered the hospitality of his home to a V. C. veteran, notwithstanding hints from the press that this would be expected. Hotel accommodations are arranged for the V. C.'s, now that private hospitality is not forthcoming."

"Is there much put out because the aviator jilted her?"
"Oh, no. She says there are just as good birds in the air as ever were caught."

CANADA BUYS MORE FROM UNITED STATES THAN ANYWHERE

Seventy-Five Per Cent. of Canadian Imports of Merchandise Are from Republic to the South—Statistics Showing Growth of Trade and Goods Bought.

More than 75 per cent. of the total Canadian imports of merchandise are from United States. Canada's purchases from United States are now nearly seven times her purchases from the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland. The exact situation is illustrated by the following table:

Pre-War Year Ended Post-War Year Ended

Canada's Purchases.	Mar. 31st, 1914	Mar. 31st, 1920
From United States	63.96 p. c.	75.44 p. c.
From United Kingdom	21.35 p. c.	11.86 p. c.
From all other countries	14.69 p. c.	12.70 p. c.

Canada's increasing imports from United States for Pre-War and Post-War years are shown by the following table:

1913, Fiscal year ended March 31st.	$435,770,081
1914, Fiscal year ended March 31st.	395,565,328
1918, Fiscal year ended March 31st.	791,806,125
1919, Fiscal year ended March 31st.	746,929,654
1920, Fiscal year ended March 31st.	801,428,755

Canada's Imports From United States of $801,428,755 Are After 643 United States Manufacturers Have Established Branch Factories in Canada.

But even these unprecedented imports of $801,428,755 (all the more remarkable on account of the adverse exchange rate) do not represent the full extent to which the people of Canada have been, and are, buying the products of United States manufacturers. These are the imports after 643 manufacturers with headquarters in United States, have established branch factories in Canada.

What Canada is Buying From United States.

The following table shows the leading classes of imports from United States for consumption in Canada for the fiscal years ending March 31, 1914 and 1920, respectively:

RECEIVER SEIZED PONZI'S HOME

Wife and Mother Will be Permitted to Remain There Until Estate is Settled.

Boston, Aug. 27.—The receiver in bankruptcy of Charles Ponzi, who sky-rocketed into fame as an alleged maker of millions in international postal coupons, formally seized Ponzi's expensive home in Lexington, and the several automobiles which he bought in his days of affluence. The wife and mother of the imprisoned promoter were allowed to continue their residence there and it is understood they will not be disturbed until the estate is settled.

ANGLICAN BISHOPS HAVE A SCHEME FOR CHURCH UNION

Which They Propounded at the Recent Lambeth Conference—It is Avowedly a Vision, That While of Wide Comprehensiveness, is Nevertheless Revolutionary, and is Fundamentally Different from All Previously Discussed Plans for Union.

The following "Appeal to All Christian People" has been issued by the archbishops and bishops of the Anglican communion assembled in conference at Lambeth, England:

We, archbishops, bishops, metropolitans, and other bishops of the Holy Catholic Church in full communion with the Church of England, in a conference assembled, realizing the responsibility which rests upon us at this time, and sensible of the sympathy and prayers of many, both within and without our communion, make this appeal to all Christian people.

We acknowledge all those who have an eye for Jesus Christ, and have been baptised into the name of the Holy Trinity, as sharing with us membership in the universal Church of Christ, which is His Body. We believe that the Holy Spirit has called us in a very solemn and special manner to associate ourselves in penitence and prayer with all those who deplore the divisions of the Christian people, and are inspired by the vision and hope of a visible unity of the whole Church.

I. We believe that God wills this fellowship. By God's own act this fellowship was made in Him through Jesus Christ, and His life in His Spirit. We believe that it is God's purpose to manifest this fellowship so far as this world is concerned, in outward, visible, and united society holding one faith, having its own recognized officers, using God-given means of grace, and inspiring all its members to the world-wide service of the Kingdom of God. This is what we mean by the Catholic Church.

II. This united fellowship is not simple or wholly untroubled. In the past, and in the present, there are other ancient episcopal communions in the East and West, to whom ours is bound by many ties of common faith and tradition. On the other hand there are the great non-episcopal communions, standing for rich elements of truth, liberty, and life, which might otherwise have been obscured or neglected. With us are closely linked by many affinities, racial, historical and spiritual. We cherish the earnest hope that all these communions and their members may be led by the Spirit into the unity of the faith and of the knowledge of the Son of God. But in fact we are all organized in different groups, each one keeping to itself its own worship, and tending to live its own life apart from the rest.

III. The cause of division is deep in the past, and are by no means simple or wholly blameless. Yet none can doubt that self-will, ambition, and lack of charity among Christians have been principal factors in the mingled process, and that these, together with blindnes to the sin of division, are still mainly responsible for the breaches of Christendom. We acknowledge this condition of broken fellowship to be contrary to God's will, and we desire frankly to confess our share in the guilt of this crippling of the body of Christ and hindering the activity of His Spirit.

IV.—The times call us to a new outlook and new measures. The faith cannot be adequately apprehended and the battle of the Kingdom cannot be worthily fought while the body is divided, and is thus unable to grow up into the fulness of the life of Christ. The time has come, we believe, for all the separated groups of Christians to agree in forgetting the things which are behind and reaching out towards the goal of a reunited Catholic Church. The removal of the barriers which have arisen between them will only be brought about by a new comradeship of those whose faces are definitely set this way.

The vision which rises before us is that of a Church, genuinely Catholic, loyal to all truth, and gathering into its fellowship all who profess and call themselves Christians, with whose visible unity all the treasures of faith and order, bequeathed as a heritage by the past to the present, shall be possessed in common, and made serviceable to the whole body of Christ. Within this unity Christian Communions now separated from one another would retain much that has long been distinctive in their methods of worship and service. It is through a rich diversity of life and devotion that the unity of the whole fellowship will be fulfilled.

V.—This means an adventure of goodwill and still more of faith, for nothing less is required than a new discovery of the creative resources of God. To this adventure we are convinced that God is now calling all the members of His Church.

VI.—We believe that the visible unity of the Church will be found to involve the whole-hearted acceptance of the Holy Scriptures, as the record of God's revelation of Himself to man, and as being the rule and ultimate standard of faith; and the creed commonly called Nicene, as the sufficient statement of the Christian faith and either it or the Apostles' Creed as the baptismal confession of belief. The divinely instituted sacraments of Baptism and the Holy Communion, as expressing for all the corporate life of the whole fellowship in and with Christ.

A ministry acknowledged by every part of the Church as possessing not only the inward call of the Spirit but also the commission of Christ and the authority of the whole body. VII.—May we not reasonably claim that the episcopate is the one means of providing such a ministry? It is not that we call in question for a moment the spiritual reality of the ministries of those communions which do not possess the Episcopate. On the contrary, we thankfully acknowledge that these ministries have been manifestly blessed and owned by the Holy Spirit as effective means of grace. But we submit that considerations of history and of present experience justify the claim which we make on behalf of the episcopate. Moreover, we would urge that it is now and will prove to be in the future the best instrument for maintaining the unity and continuity of the Church. But we greatly desire that the office of a bishop should be everywhere exercised in a representative and constitutional manner, and more truly express all that ought to be involved for the life of the Christian family in the title of fatherhood. Nay more, we eagerly look forward to the day when through His acceptance in a united Church we may all share in that grace which is promised to the members of the whole body in the apostolic rite of the laying-on of hands, and the joy and fellowship of a Sacrament in which as one family we may together, with our own consciences, and with the one Lord our worship and service.

VIII.—We believe that for all the truly equitable approach to such a unity by the way of mutual deference to one another's consciences. To this end, we would send forth this appeal, which we believe that the authorities of other communions should so desire, we are persuaded that, terms of union having been otherwise satisfactorily adjusted, bishops and clergy of our communion would willingly accept from these authorities a form of commission or recognition which would commend our ministry to their congregations, as having its place in the one family life. It is not in our power to know how far this suggestion may be acceptable to those to whom we offer it. We can only say that we offer it in all sincerity as a token of our longing that all ministries of grace, theirs and ours, shall be available for the service of our Lord in a united Church. It is our hope that this mature would lead ministers who have not received it to accept a commission through episcopal ordination, as obtaining for them a ministry throughout the whole fellowship.

In so acting no one of us could possibly be taken to repudiate his past ministry. God forbid that any man should repudiate a past experience rich in spiritual blessings for himself and others. Nor would any of us be dishonouring the Holy Spirit of God. Whose call led us all to our several ministries, and whose power enabled us to perform them. We shall be publicly and formally seeking additional recognition of a ministry through the whole fellowship of a united Church, and imploring that ourselves God's grace and strength to fulfil the same.

IX.—The spiritual leadership of the Catholic Church in days to come, for which the world is manifestly waiting, depends upon the readiness with which each group is prepared to make sacrifices for the sake of a common fellowship, a common ministry, and a common service of the world.

We place this ideal first and foremost before ourselves and our own people. We call upon them to make the effort to meet the demands of a new age with a new outlook. To all other Christian people whom our words may reach we make the same appeal. We do not ask that any communion should consent to be absorbed in another. We do ask that all should unite in a new and great endeavor to recover and to manifest to the world the unity of the body of Christ for which He prayed.

NO TRUTH TO NICKEL CO. RUMOR

Montreal, Aug. 27.—There is no foundation for the report that the International Nickel Company is contemplating the erection of a $2,000,000 rolling plant at Sudbury, according to a statement by J. L. Agnew, vice president of the company. Though discussed at various meetings of the directors it was decided that the construction of such a plant in Canada at the present time would be impracticable.

On account of the gasoline problem, motor vehicles in the future will be constructed to run from 20 to 30 miles on a gallon, instead of from 7 to 12 as at the present time.

WHY BEAUTY FADES

A Condition Due Entirely to Poor, Watery Blood.

The girl who returns blooming from school or from work throughout the year, is not so fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this gets first and most easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must not be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale, languid and angular. She not only tires out easily but suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite. This condition will go from bad to worse if prompt steps are not taken to increase and enrich the blood supply. To make the rich, red blood that brings the glow of health, no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If given a fair trial their use brings rosy cheeks, bright eyes, a good appetite and good spirits. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made thousands of pale, languid girls active and strong. On the first sign of poor, thin blood mothers should insist upon their daughters taking a fair course of these pills. They will not only restore health, but will save further doctor bills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CHINA TO ENTER COAL EXPORT FIELD

Arrangements About Completed for Sending of Chinese Coal to Scandinavian Countries.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Copenhagen, Aug. 26.—Owing to Europe's greatly increased demand for coal, China, which has been importing coal from Japan to the amount of a million tons a year, is now prepared to enter the list of world's coal exporters. That is confirmed by the Chinese ambassador at Copenhagen, who said that his government having received inquiries from the traffic authorities in Scandinavia regarding Chinese coal, negotiations are now proceeding between the two governments with a view to obtaining a supply of Chinese coal for Scandinavian industries.

In 1920 the coal production of China amounted to 15,000,000 tons and it is understood that the Chinese republic is in a position now to export a good deal of coal. Two hundred thousand tons have been offered for delivery at Scandinavian ports at the approximate price of £10 (normally $30) per ton, all charges paid, and negotiations are now advanced that Danish ships are now in Chinese harbor awaiting cable instructions to load the first Chinese coal cargo.

The lower price of Chinese coal is not expected to have an adverse effect on American coal shipments to Scandinavia on account of the superior quality of the American output, which gives out no ashes and has the same calorific properties as Chinese coal.

LORD CHANCELLOR REBUKES A JUDGE

Made Remark on Bench Which Implied Reflection on America—Warned Not to Repeat Offence.

Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic News Service.

London, Aug. 25.—Lord Birkenhead, the British Lord Chancellor has a quick way of asserting his authority. Recently, one of his Police Court judges made a remark which he considered a reflection on America. The judge in question has been severely reprimanded and told if his indiscretions are repeated, he will lose his job. The observation arose out of an application for advice by a woman whose husband, living in Ohio, had initiated proceedings for divorce. Her father stating her case, said that among other charges made by the husband, he alleged that she preferred England to America. Whereupon the judge remarked, "It shows her good taste."

Lord Birkenhead has always had a great admiration for America and the American people generally, and includes among his oldest friends a considerable number of the best known people in the American colony in London. His feeling in taking this action is that there are already too many agencies at work trying to create mischief between the United States and England without persons holding judicial positions interposing their personal views and accentuating difficulties.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

In 4 Trips Across America Essex 4 Times Breaks Record

Carrying U. S. Mail Between San Francisco and New York It Sets a Mark for Consistency of Performance and Reliability Never Equalled by Any Traveling Machine.

The first test of an automobile carrying U. S. mail across the American continent was made with the light weight, moderate priced Essex.

And it resulted in establishing the Essex as holder of the transcontinental record both ways.

The performance while of momentous importance in the world of speed and automobile sportsmanship—is of greater value to the motorist. For it removes all doubt about the reliability of light weight in the most difficult and hardest road service.

Records Prove What Owners Know

Ocean to ocean automobile travel has not become so common as not to be of interest to all motorists regardless of the time required in making the trip.

Hundreds of cars have sought to set new time records between San Francisco and New York. But it has not been an easy accomplishment. The records broken by Essex had stood for four years.

It is not speed so much as absolute reliability that counts in such a test.

The car must keep going. No time can be allowed for delays. Roadside adjustments would make such a performance impossible.

And it is because the Essex held to the task its drivers set and met every road situation with equal efficiency that it today holds a mark never equalled by a travelling machine.

Your demands can not equal those made in the transcontinental trip. But you require equal reliance of your car, whatever the service imposed.

You also have no time to give for repairs and adjustments when you have need for your car.

You want to know that no road condition will impose a halt on your motor trip. And Essex has in the consistency of its performance obtained a distinction not shared even by the costliest cars.

Doesn't It Prove What You Want? Light weight has meant economy of operation in fuel and oil. It has not particularly meant reliability, economy of maintenance, performance or comfort.

But Essex reveals how those costly car qualities are a part also of its advantages. You have the praise of close to 45,000 owners, to guide you to the Essex.

You have official records of its 50 hours top speed performance as to its reliability. You have its record of 1,061 miles in 24 hours on lowa country roads.

And now you have this most coveted of all performances—the transcontinental record—made by four different cars. Can you hesitate in deciding for Essex?

Yesterday's Results In the Big Leagues

AMERICAN LEAGUE. New York, 6; Chicago, 5. New York, Aug. 27.—New York won a twelve-inning game from Chicago today, 6 to 5. Carl Mays was hit hard in the first two innings, while it took the Yankees four frames to overcome the three-run lead. Cicotte and Mays then pitched tight ball until the ninth, when three hits enabled the victors to tie the count. Both teams scored in the tenth. In the Yankees' half of the twelfth, Ruel led off with his third strike and scored on Quinn's sacrifice and scored the winning run on Peckinpach's hit. When Manager Huggins, of the Yankees, nominated Mays to pitch against Chicago today the White Sox took their turn at bat in the first inning. Chicago players had a meeting before the game and it was decided to take no formal action on the Cleveland position to participate in a strike against Mays. Babe Ruth was not in the Yankees' line-up today, as he was suffering from a boil on his arm. Cincinnati, Aug. 27.—The Giants pulled the Reds out of first place today by winning the first game of a double-header in 17 innings by the score of 6 to 4. Both teams hit freely at the start, and the score was tied at the end of the sixth inning, after which Fisher and Neff pitched brilliantly until the seventeenth, when the visitors scored two runs. The second game went only five innings and was called on account of darkness, neither side having scored. The tie will be played off in another double-header tomorrow. In the second game, Crane and King induced a fist fight at second base when the Red stopper claimed that King interfered with his attempt at a double play. All the players of both teams rushed to the scene and King was knocked down, but Umpire Higler prevented serious injury to any of the athletes. Neither man was put out of the game. Grand Circuit Races Yesterday

Walnut Frisco Took the Trot Feature Event at Hudson River Driving Park After a Four Heat Drive. Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Walnut Frisco, with Valentine in sulky, took the 211 trot feature of Grand Circuit get-away day at Hudson River Driving Park yesterday noon, although his accomplished victory only after four heats, brought the first two having prevailed winning in regulation time. Valentine's fourth victory of the day. Forest B. was second, with dote, which won the first heat, thereafter showed little, third. Election Dixon won the 215 trot, leading in the first two heat, rating second to Baroness Cochran, while Red Border took the last event of the day and the most in each of the last two events. ## Yesterday's Results In the Big Leagues

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

New York, 6; Chicago, 5.
New York, Aug. 27.—New York won a twelve-inning game from Chicago today, 6 to 5. Carl Mays was hit hard in the first two innings, while it took the Yankees four frames to overcome the three-run lead. Cicotte and Mays then pitched tight ball until the ninth, when three hits enabled the visitors to tie the count. Both teams scored in the tenth. In the Yankees' half of the twelfth, Ruel led off with his third hit, went to second on Quinn's sacrifice and scored the winning run on Peckinpaugh's hit.

When Manager Huggins, of the Yankees, nominated Mays to pitch against Chicago today the White Sox took their turn at bat in the first innings without a word or murmur. The Chicago players held a meeting before the game and it was decided to take no formal action on the Cleveland position to participate in a strike against Mays. Babe Ruth was not in the Yankee line-up today, as he was suffering from a boil on his arm.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

New York, 6; Cincinnati, 4.
Cincinnati, Aug. 27.—The Giants pulled the Reds out of first place today by winning the first game of a double-header in 17 innings by the score of 6 to 4. Both teams hit freely at the start, and the score was tied at the end of the sixth inning, after which Fisher and Nehf pitched brilliantly until the seventeenth, when the visitors scored two runs.
The second game went only five innings and was called on account of darkness, neither side having scored. The tie will be played off in another double-header tomorrow. In the second game, Crane and King indulged in a fist fight at second base when the Red shortstop claimed that King interfered with his attempt at a double play.
All the players of both teams rushed to the scene and King was knocked down, but Umpire Rigler prevented serious injury to any of the athletes. Neither man was put out of the game.

First game:

Grand Circuit Races Yesterday

Walnut Frisco Took the 2.11 Trot Feature Event at the Hudson River Driving Park After a Four Heat Drive.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Walnut Frisco, by Valentina in the sulky, took the 2.11 trot feature event of Grand Circuit get-away day at the Hudson River Driving Park this afternoon, although he accomplished victory only after four heats, breaks in the first two having prevented his winning in regulation time. It was Valentina's fourth victory of the meeting. Forest B. was second, with Duetto, which won the first heat, but thereafter showed little, third.

Election Dutton won the 2.15 class trot, leading in the first two heats and rating second to Baroness Cochato in the third, while Hed Border took the last event of the day and the meeting, the 2.30 trot. Fields of nine started in each of the last two events.

FREDERICTON HORSES WON FIRST MONIES YESTERDAY

More Gilt-Edged Racing Given the Public, Both Classes Going to Split Heats—Dope of Wise Ones Went Astray—Crowd Well Pleased.

Yesterday was Fredericton's day at Moosepath race track. First honors in the 2.14 trot and pace, and 2.18 trot, went to horses from the Capital City. Ray Volo, owned and driven by Bert Lant, carried off first money in the 2.14 class, and Border Prince, owned by H. C. Jewett, and driven by Brickley, was the winner in the 2.18 class.

Neither of the winners had any gilt-edged dope in coping the big end of the purse. Ray Volo had to keep moving all the while to beat out the St. John entré Touz, driven by her owner, S. E. Rice, showed some class all the way through and is credited with the fastest mile, 2.18 1/4, so far chalked up to the meet.

In the first heat the St. John horse kept right after Ray and was only a neck behind at the finish stake. Second heat in the class was a pretty one. Touz and Ray came to each other for the mile, each putting forth every effort on the stretch, with Lant using the whip. Touz nosed out g winner of the heat in the fast time mentioned above. The next two heats were won by the Volo horse.
The fourth and decisive mile found Ray Volo traveling easily with Touz apparently winded.

2.18 Class

There were four starters in this class. Brage, reliable trotter in Frank Boullier's stable, was picked by the wise ones as the most probable winner. Their pocket-books were not as plump after the race as before the word go. Erage drew the pace, but lost it on the first turn to Clay Watts, driven by Potvin, of Montreal. Brage and Clay Watts fought it out for the first half, when the Halifax horse made a bad break. On the second turn all were bobbing except Tommy Cotter, but Clay Watts made the quick recovery and won the mile. In the second heat Brage and Border Prince made bad breaks, leaving the fight to Clay Watts and Tommy Cotter. Clay finally winning out.

The triple tie ending with each having a score of 298 for the four rounds of 68 holes, they will drive off the first tee tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 in a match that will decide the championship. Edgar went out in 34 and in 35.

Ottawa, Aug. 27.—Douglas Edgar, of Atlanta, Ga., present Canadian open champion; T. D. Armour, of Edinburgh, Scotland, and Charles Murray, of Montreal, were tied at the end of today's play in the Canadian national open golf championships, being played off here over the Rivermead Club's course. The triple tie ending with each having a score of 298 for the four rounds of 68 holes, they will drive off the first tee tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 in a match that will decide the championship. Edgar went out in 34 and in 35.

The scores of the three who are tied for the championship and their cards for the fourth round follow:

Armour—Out, 453, 543, 443—35.
In—544, 674, 554—41—76.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The close of the first day's play in the cricket match between eleven representing Philadelphia and Toronto found the Quaker city team in a rather bad position.

The home team had put 248 in their first innings, while five of the visitors' wickets were down when play was called at six o'clock for only 21.

Canadian Open Golf Championship

Ottawa, Ont., Aug. 27.—A feature of the Canadian open golf championship tournament, which closed on the Rivermead golf course here today, was the playing of Melkie, the youthful Halifax amateur and champion of the Maritime Provinces. Pitted against a field of seventy-two of the crack amateurs and professionals of the United States and Canada, and which also included T. D. Armour, noted Scotch amateur and conqueror of the celebrated Tolley for the championship of France, Melkie played steadily, and at times brilliantly, and finished among the first twelve contenders for the highest honors in Canadian golf. In addition Melkie, whose long driving attracted wide attention, had the honor of turning in the lowest score of any player for nine holes, going out in his first game in thirty-three, two better than par; and also two strokes better than any of the three contestants who tied for the championship. Nicol Thompson, the noted Upper Canada professional, who played with Merkie yesterday, predicts a great future for him, stating that with more experience he might have annexed the premier golfing honors of the dominion.

Montreal Man Won At Antwerp

Antwerp, Aug. 27.—George Vernot, of Montreal, won his heat in the semifinal of the 400 metres free style swimming match at the Olympiad today. Lander, of the United States, put up a great race with him. Vernot, who made a very strong ending, won by half a yard. George Hodgson, a winner at the last Olympic contests, who was drawn in the same heat, was unable to maintain the pace and took sixth and last place. Vernot's time was five minutes and twenty-seven seconds, one and three-fifths seconds slower than five record.

TO RACE AT HOULTON.

St. John horses will be seen on the Houlton, Me., race track next week. Peter Parren, the record swarrior; Foreweather and Natlieve Worthy will be shipped to the Maine town Monday.

GAME THIS AFTERNOON

The first of a series of five games which have been arranged between the War Vets and the St. Peter's takes place this afternoon on the St. Peter's grounds at 2:45 o'clock.

CHURCH UNION.

A scheme of Church Union of high aims and wide comprehensiveness has been issued from the Lambeth Conference. It is avowedly a vision that is new and even revolutionary. Its basis is expansion and absorption; the aim is fundamentally different from the plans of Union hitherto discussed by Anglican authorities.

Anglican clergy to preach in non-episcopal churches. Again Bishops are not required to insist on confirmation for the admission to Holy Communion of baptized but unconfirmed communicants of non-episcopal congregations.

Mrs. Kenny Had Suffered Eight Years Before Taking Tanlac—Is Now Well and Happy.

"I'll never stop praising Tanlac since it's helped me so much, and I just feel like going out and telling everybody about it," declared Mrs. O. R. Kenny of 75 Dresden Row, Halifax, N. S.

"For the past eight years I have suffered dreadfully with a very bad case of stomach trouble and chronic indigestion. My appetite was so poor that I didn't relish a thing, and for years I don't think I ate a good, hearty meal. The little I ate soured on my stomach, and caused gas to press up into my chest and throat until I could hardly breathe. I had awful headaches that kept me confined to my bed for days at a time, and left me in a terribly weakened condition. At night I was so nervous and restless I could scarcely sleep, and would get up and walk the floor. When morning came I had no energy to do my housework, and I thought I was going to have to give up altogether as I was getting worse all the time in spite of everything I could do.

"In my search for something to help me, I got a bottle of Tanlac one day, and it gave me so much relief I kept on taking it until I had finished my seventh bottle, and all my troubles had disappeared. My appetite is just splendid, and I no longer suffer from indigestion or gas on my stomach. My breathing is free and easy, and I never have a sign of a headache. At night I sleep like a child, and I've regained all my strength and energy so that my housework is a real pleasure to me. I've also gained ten pounds in weight, and am feeling just fine in every way. Tanlac is simply the greatest medicine I have ever heard of, and I hope others suffering like I did will try it."

Tanlac is sold in St. John by Ross Drug Co. and F. W. Munro under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative—Adv.

NO DANGER OF WORLD WHEAT FAMINE SOON

Plenty of Virgin Soil Yet Available for Cultivation.

SCIENCE HELPING TO INCREASE SUPPLY

Unless Lands Destroyed by War No Need for Worry About Feeding of World.

By THE RT. HON. LORD EARLE, M. V. O.

(Note: Lord Earle, formerly Rowland F. Prendergast, is one of the foremost British authorities on agriculture and food production. As President of the Board of Agriculture, 1916-19, he worked wonders in putting large additional areas of English soil under wheat.)

London, Aug. 24.—In 1938 an eminent man of science, Sir William Crookes, foretold an early shortage in the world's supply of wheat. I think that he made a mistake, and principally because he reckoned without considering the aid of science. Even under existing conditions, and with our present knowledge, I do not believe that there is any real prospect of the prospect approaching fulfillment, so long as we abstain from destroying one another's assets by war. In the temperate zones of the world, there are still unexplored resources which will allow a manifold increase in the population, securely based on a manifold increase in the production of breadstuffs and other food.

Vast Spaces Unused.

America and Canada, South Africa, Argentina and Uruguay still have vast spaces available, but unused. A great extent of the huge wheat belt of Siberia remains undeveloped. Under a settled government, Mesopotamia is capable of immense expansion in grain production. The application of more intensive methods of agriculture to almost all the regions already cultivated might very largely increase their output. If the world is prepared to pay the price, meanwhile science perpetually creates new agricultural resources. New mechanical inventions may lighten labor. New power for driving machinery may be brought to the door of the farmer. Nitrogenous fertilizers may be extracted from the air. New cold-resisting quick growing plants may push the farm line north. New drought resisting plants may conquer the arid regions. Plants of higher yield and immune from disease may swell our harvests. In every direction fresh advances of science promise to postpone the verification of the forecast almost indefinitely.

It is true that we are threatened with something like shortage in 1920, 1921 and in the years immediately following. But the explanation lies, not in the inevitable operation of economic causes, but in the accidental orgy of destruction in which the world has recently indulged and is still indulging. I spoke in a previous article of the world's exportable surplus, the pool from which nations draw who cannot feed themselves. The effect of the war has been to increase the demands on the pool and probably to decrease the contributions by which it is fed.

Until her northern areas are completely restored to cultivation, France can hardly return to feeding herself. With their impaired fertility, Italy and Germany will need imports. So, also, in all probability, will Austria, which used to draw her supplies from Hungary. At the same time, Russia and Roumania, which formerly contributed largely to the world's exportable surplus to reduce their contributions, if not to cease them altogether. Thus the demands will certainly increase, while the pool itself threatens to decrease. On the other hand, there are factors to be considered which may avert real scarcity from this country.

The United States is unlikely to contribute to the pool more than an infinitesimal fraction of her exports during the war. Too much importance must not be attributed to this fact. For some years past she has been dropping into the background as a wheat exporter. She is, therefore, only reverting to peace conditions. During the last two years of the war, her surplus became exceptionally important. Cut off from India and Australia, and with Argentine difficult, we were forced to rely for breadstuffs on Canada and the United States. The wheat history of our latter country is interesting. But there are still unknown factors to be considered.

Apart from the favorable or unfavorable character of the harvest, there is, in the first place, the exportable surplus from Canada. We may hope for a large increase in pre-war quantities. It may go far towards raising the world's exportable surplus towards its peace level. Yet even if it does, there will remain the additional demands of Continental countries to be met. Some addition might, in ordinary times, be expected from India. But, in present circumstances, the Government may well hesitate to allow in any considerable quantities, exports of food from a country, in which abundant supplies may be useful in maintaining internal peace. But there are, in the second place, other countries where it is not too late to increase wheat production within the cereal year—such as Argentina, Australia, Egypt, and Mesopotamia.

It is, in the main, a question of price; but it may also in parts of the Empire, become a question of Government encouragement. Time is passing it must not, however, be forgotten that in a country like Argentina, the choice to some extent lies between wheat and alfalfa. If Argentina produces grass instead of alfalfa, she cannot carry so large a head of cattle. This brings us to the question of our meat supplies.

If some men were as big as they think they are their tailor bills would bankrupt them.

BADEN-POWELL WAS MORE THAN PLEASED

Meeting Vindicated Claims of Organization to One of Best Agencies in Promoting Good Citizenship.

By HAL S. WHITE.

London, Aug. 27.—Opened by the Duke of Connaught, the international jamboree of Boy Scouts of the world, which opened with delighted crowds and the yells of excited bareheaded, sombered lads from all over the world who have been giving London the greatest show of the outdoors since the war, and so on in its many activities, it has ever seen.

General Sir Robert Baden-Powell, the British Chief Scout and founder of the fraternity, told me:

"The sight of these boys from all parts of the world impressed me greatly. If anything can, this League of Nations in a plan for increasing funds for the Boy Scouts movement, he said: 'Give us a million pounds now, and will make war impossible.'

The great hall of Olympia was 'set' with elaborate scenery representing the sea, the western plains, the jungle, and was an appropriate background for the jamboree. A large choir of Boy Scouts was singing from its balcony station, the gay bannered parade of twenty-one Nations, descending by a rocky path from the wings, marched on to the tan-bark floor of the great hall; and the Congress of Youth was opened. Headed by the Belgian boys, the nations passed in review. The tremendous crowds which greeted the American Scouts, who were clad in the feathers and war-paint of the American Indians, was a proof of the very cordial reception England gave to the American boys.

Enthusiasm was the dominating note of the whole jamboree, and the typical American contribution of organized cheering did much to carry out this spirit. The British audience was very much interested in this fervent demonstration of American enthusiasm. One heard on all sides words of admiration for the clear-eyed, free-spirited, alert lads from the United States.

Following the brilliant parade of all Nations came a sort of five-ringed circus where clowns disported themselves with more than professional energy. Calisthenics, dumb-bell drills, wrestling, pole vaulting, steeple chasing, and Indian war dancing made a full and colorful arena; and left no dull moment for the large audience. The stirring music of Scottish bagpipers was very much appreciated in this fervent demonstration of American enthusiasm. One heard on all sides words of admiration for the clear-eyed, free-spirited, alert lads from the United States.

Mr. Herbert A. Morton, assistant boys' work secretary at the local Y. M. C. A., is on duty again after his trip to the Leaders' Camp at Lake Couchiching, Ontario.

The new boys' work secretary, Mr. Nelson F. McEwen, passed through the city this week on the way to Boston on his honeymoon trip.

The C. S. E. T. boys of the central part of the city will be glad to know that the swimming tank at the Y. M. C. A. is again in commission after its annual painting and overhaul.

Edmonton Boys in a Clean-Up Campaign.

Edmonton had a great clean-up and paint-up campaign in May and the boys as usual were to the front in it.

The campaign started with the biggest clean-up parade that was ever staged in the west, travelling through the streets of Edmonton to the music of the Newsboys' band, proclaiming by the clothes they wore and the implements that they carried that they were to make Edmonton shine like polished plate glass. Every boy and girl in the city who could possibly spare time was out attired in overalls and carrying some useful implement for clean-up work.

The parade was a spectacle well worth while seeing. The original paint man of America—an Indian, attired in full tribal costume, mixing paint in a huge vessel mounted on an old-fashioned and primitive glass-coach—led the parade. Next was the Newsboys' band, followed by Mayor Clark, and following the Mayor's car came all the fire departments boys with their fire trucks, and a large contingent of the city's police force. The parade was the real clean-up boys, Dan Alton and his broom and bucket brigade. The Boy Scouts and Trail Rangers were also out in full force, and last but not least about two dozen boys, bedecked with the trappings and instruments of clean-up warfare.

After the parade through the city, the paraders dispersed and began work. An interesting feature was the Can Club Competition. For this the city was divided into districts and prizes were given to the boy or girl collecting the largest pile of cans or bottles.

Anyone finding a dirty lot, lane, backyard or cellar in Edmonton this summer should receive a badge for exceptional eyesight.

WEDDINGS.

Dunlap-Drillon. Waterville, Aug. 26.—Guy Dunlap of Skowhegan and Miss Bessie Drillon of New York city were married yesterday at the Methodist church by the Rev. W. R. Pierce. The simple ring service was used and the couple were unattended. The bride formerly a resident of New Brunswick and is a graduate nurse, having studied at the Bellevue Hospital in New York. The couple left on a bridal trip by auto to Canada. They will live in Skowhegan on their return.

Dickson-Cummings. Hartland, Aug. 26.—A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Trinity Church, Canterbury, at 3 p. m. Thursday, August 26th, by Rev. J. E. Flewelling, Rector. Presided at by Rev. N. Franchetti, Minister of Hartland, when Miss Belle Cummings of Canterbury Station, and C. Douglas Dickson of Hampton, were united in holy matrimony. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a beautiful gown of white satin, and georgette, and carried a shower bouquet of cream roses, and sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lella Cummings, who wore a very becoming dress of pink tulle, with black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Miss Bessie Landon at the organ played selections appropriate to the happy occasion.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. A dainty luncheon was served, after which the bride and bridegroom left for a honeymoon trip to Montreal, Quebec and Ottawa.

The bride and bridegroom were the recipients of many beautiful presents of silver, cut glass and cloques. The bridegroom's present to the bride was a set of black fox furs. The bride's maid was presented with a bar pin set with amethyst, and pearls, and best man with a set of gold cuff links.

The out-of-town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Dickson and daughter Gladys of Hampton; Mr. Kenneth Dickson of St. John; Mrs. N. Franchetti, Miss Evelyn Tedlie, and Miss Abbey Drake of Hartland; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Carr and son of Calgary; and Miss Hazel Richie of Waterville, Me.

THE VALUE OF LIME STONE ON EASTERN SOILS.

(Experimental Farm Note.)

Few crops thrive well on acid soils. Especially so the case of clover, which is one of the most important crops considered, both from the standpoint of food value and as an improver of soil fertility. Hence, if we expect to increase the yield and at the same time improve fertility, we must first study our soils and be reasonably sure that they have been treated in such a manner as will facilitate a maximum growth. Examinations show that the soil of many comparatively large areas in Eastern Canada is acid.

To determine the most economical and effective method for the correction of this soil acidity an experiment was started at the Experimental Farm, Nappan, N. S., using ground limestone at different rates per acre. This soil has been tested and found to be distinctly acid.

The field used for this test was cleared during the fall of 1916 and spring of 1917. The land was ploughed and given an even dressing of barnyard manure at the rate of 12 tons per acre. The field was divided into four lots. The first six acres were given a dressing of ground limestone ranging from one to five tons per acre, respectively. Plot six was left as a check. The other plots were seven to eleven inclusive were duplicates of one and five, and plots twelve and thirteen were checks.

All plots were sown to grain the spring of 1917 and seeded down with timothy and two pounds of alfalfa. In 1918 it was in clover and in 1919 timothy.

Calculating the returns from the average of two plots, over a period of three years, charging the ground limestone at $4.50 per ton, grain, straw and hay at 75c per bushel, $5.00 and $12.00 per acre respectively, the following results were obtained:

Where one ton was used the loss over the cost of limestone was 35c per acre. Two tons gave a profit of $2.71 per acre. Three tons gave a profit of $7.71 per acre. Four and five gave a profit of $13.99 per acre.

The returns from the first three acre plots are about as one would expect to see, but numbers four and five are just the reverse. This can be accounted for by plots eleven and twelve being more fertile than any other plots in the field, consequently the yields were heavier.

The first six acre plots were very uniform in fertility throughout, and in comparing results obtained from these plots each year for three consecutive years, the beneficial effect of the ground limestone was most marked, especially between the limed and unlimed plots.

Very little difference in yield was noted between the plots where three, four and five tons of lime had been applied. One of the most outstanding differences between the limed and unlimed plots was the amount of clover in evidence. On the former the first year it was two-thirds clover and the balance good timothy, while on the latter there was not much more than one-half of it good timothy. The balance brown-top and no clover. The average yield for two years on the limed area was 4,692 pounds of hay and on the unlimed area 2,180 pounds per acre, a difference of 1,422 pounds per acre in favor of the limed area.

Similar results were obtained from the grain and straw for example, on the limed area and the average yield for the five plots was 134 bushels grain, 2,336 pounds of straw, on the unlimed area it was 16 bushels of

IN THE EDITOR'S MAIL

Dear Editor:—Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to voice my opinion as regards the Harvest Excursion of August 13th, 1920.

I accompanied by two other ladies enjoyed the trip very much and we feel like expressing our admiration of the way in which that excursion was conducted, and also the respect shown to us by the boys on that train. No assembly noise by any of the harvesters disturbed the passengers on the second section of the Harvest Excursion above mentioned.

At Fisher in the Province of Quebec, we were given a warm reception, if one can judge by the gun play carried on by the people of that town. The boys of this train got off on the platform when the train stopped, as they had at every stop, and were met by a shower of bullets coming from the barricaded floors and windows of the station house. There was no call whatever for this attack as there had been no rough work by the boys of this train at any of the towns passed, and this can be confirmed by any of the passengers.

If every train of the Harvest Excursion of 1920 has been given such a reception, what behavior can be expected from the harvesters?

The passengers would be much obliged if this matter was looked into, and cause given for attacking this train.

Again we wish to express our sincere appreciation to the officials of the Canadian National Railway for its comfort and convenience accorded us

ITALIAN INDUSTRIALIST SAYS NATION WILL RECOVER

Head of Tire Plant Regards Situation as "Serious, But Not Critical"—Thinks Bread Subsidy and Industry Tax Futile—Labor Still Restive, But Ardor for Soviets Has Cooled.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Milan, Aug. 26.—Italy will pass safely through the present social and economic crisis. Though it may be more than a year, the nation will right itself despite foolish government at Rome. Industrially there is already an improvement and, in the face of great internal disorder, it can be said the condition is serious, but not critical.

This analysis was made today in the course of an interview with one of the largest manufacturers in Italy, employing more than 12,000 skilled workers—the head of the great Pirelli automobile tire plant.

"You may think I am a hopeless optimist," Pirelli said, "but Italy is not organized for revolution. There will be many more strikes, many scattered riots. These will be lost, even bombs may be thrown as they have been in the past, but it will settle down to production and with production will come relief. The one big question is bread—which is bread. Our farmers have produced only half of our needs. Consequently, a loaf of bread cost in Italy three lire (normally 60 cents), which is impossible for the Italian worker. Hence the government has subsidized bread, paying the difference. To get the money, which is an enormous sum, the Rome government has enacted most ridiculous laws, which are impossible to enforce, such as the high tax on industries, which are already taxed to the limit.

"It is impossible to extract millions from an industry that already has given all or invested its little surplus in facilities for increased production. And if they attempt to collect taxes which they know beforehand to be impossible the extra assessment must come from an increased market price. Therefore the cost of bread must be borne by the people. When farmers see this clearly they may be convinced of its truth.

"But Italy's greatest trouble is the transportation system and public utilities. It was explained that in industrial plants strikes started right after the war and many have now become gradually stabilized. But the telegraph, telephone and trolley made a head start, and the leaders, still peevish, are ready to strike on the slightest provocation.

There are big strikes called every day. Even now there is organizing a nation-wide strike of 100,000 metal workers. This is the "white strike"; that is, the workers want to oust their employers with decreased production. They go to the factories where some work and some do not. They fold their arms, talk it over and in 24 hours they are all busy. Even the serious riots in Milan last June only lasted a day though much damage was done and many were killed.

The absorbing topic is bolshevism, termed by the manufacturer as not a serious menace. He said, "There has been a turning away from radical measures recently by the Italian Federation of Labor. Already it has expressed a feeling against the Socialist party, which is in control of extreme. It praised the Soviet Government for a long time, but the commission of radicals which went to Russia to place the stamp of approval on bolshevism for Italy, have evidently changed front on Soviet rule. The head of the commission is not back yet, but the others are very quiet about what they saw in Russia. Their reports naturally praise the Soviets, but they do not contain recommendations for Italy.

My informant deprecated the proposal of American bankers to cut down on the acceptance of Italian negotiable paper, since he said it was only retaining credits that will help all nations overcome the exchange problem. One of the best arguments against the Socialist and Catholic parties is their promises to the farmers to be settled when the autumn leases expire. In order to get votes both parties promised the poor farmers they would own their farms as soon as the leases were up. They have a blind belief it will come true.

As proof of what is possible in industrial organization, Italy's great tire plant is humming with work. It has not had an organized strike in twelve years.

One blow the war dealt Italy, it was explained, was that during the four teen years preceding Italy's national debt was only a little over 1,000,000, 000 lire, but in the three years of war she shouldered a debt of more than 15,000,000,000 lire.

EAST MEETING WEST IN LONDON TOWN

East Indians and Irishmen Fraternizing in a Way That Causes Special Police Anxiety.

(Copyright, 1920, by Cross Atlantic News Service.)

London, Aug. 25.—Contrary to the dictum of Kipling, East is meeting West—in London. Indians and Irishmen are now fraternizing in a way that is causing considerable anxiety to the special police department, which has to deal with political offenders.

It has been noticed lately that quite a number of young Indians have been attending out-door meetings of the Self-Determination League, and, from outward appearance, sympathizing with and applauding the utterances of the speakers which are usually hostile to England.

These young Indians are over here studying either law or medicine, and have a meeting place, ostensibly a restaurant, away in an obscure street off Holborn where they have dishes served up in Indian style. The restaurant business is but a minor factor in the establishment; the political condition in India are the things that matter and what are mostly discussed. A few doors away there is a luxuriously appointed gin place run by a popular Irish firm and naturally frequented by a number of Irishmen, young and old.

Here the Indians who have during their residence in England acquired a taste for whiskey or Dublin stout meet their Irish friends and discuss plans and possibilities in regard to the freedom of Ireland and India from British rule. It is understood that the combination, especially the Indian element in it, is seriously disappointed that the Prince of Wales after his Australian and New Zealand tour is not going to India to meet the hostile demonstration which had been planned out for him here in London. Many of these Indians have made application to become members of the new British Communist Party which is in process of formation, and is already absorbing quite a number of some of what is considered the best intellect in Great Britain.

TO TENDER RECEPTION.

The kiddies of Sussex are planning to give their friend, Mr. J. D. O'Connell, a rousing reception on his return from St. John next week. Mr. O'Connell, through his generosity and kindness of heart, has greatly endeared himself to the children of not Sussex alone, but in a very large number of towns and cities throughout the United States and Canada.

Just what day Mr. O'Connell will arrive in Sussex from St. John is not known, but when he does, the children will be on hand to extend their greetings and show appreciation to the one who has been such a true friend to them. The reception will be held either on the camp grounds or on the grounds adjoining the residence of Mrs. W. W. Stockton. Every child will carry a flag, which will be supplied by the committee and will also wear a bouquet of wild flowers.

The children propose turning out in force and will give their "fairy prince," as Mr. O'Connell is called, a rousing reception.

The "Reds" Are On The Run

The gallant struggle of the Poles to save their capital from capture has at last been crowned with success, and the Bolshevik reverse bids fair to become a rout, according to an arresting article in this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST, dated August 28th, on this spectacular turning of the tide of war. The Minneapolis Journal is quoted as saying that "the Bolshevik menace to Western civilization, if any, is now political," while an Eastern paper is sure that "Bolshevism has shot its bolt." The Newark Evening News asserts that the "lowering of Bolshevism's prestige will naturally be followed by reactions within Russia," and the New York World declares that "it was not merely a battle that Poland won in front of Warsaw, but the right to assume a position of equality at the peace table."

GRANT SIX

IN the Grant Six Touring Roadster there is a verve of line, a compact smartness, a comfortable intimacy that makes of it a favorite among those who seek individuality and character in motor cars. It is a companionable car for two or for three people. Its ample baggage space in the rear compartment and a degree of riding comfort not obtainable in any five passenger car, make this Grant Six roadster an ideal car for touring. The motor is nimble and powerful—quick in the get-a-way, masterful on the hills, and economical always. Its beauty of line and finish is permanent. Its mechanical excellence assures continuing service without uncertainty or extravagance.

KEEP CHILDREN WELL DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps baby's own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevents stomach and bowel troubles, or if the trouble comes suddenly—she'll promptly dose—the Tablets will bring baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

Chatham

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 26.—The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hoffman, Water street, was the scene of an interesting event Tuesday evening, when their daughter, Sarah, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Epstein of Montreal, the uncle of the groom, officiating. The bride, who is one of Chatham's popular young ladies, was given away by her father. She wore a charming gown of white champagne satin, with tulle and silver lace trimmings, with a white and orange blossom, and carried a showy bouquet of roses and maiden hair fern. She was assisted by her sister, Rose, who wore a gown of pink champagne satin with silver lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. The matron of honor, Mrs. A. A. Morris, the bride's aunt, wore a gown of black chamois lace over gold tulle, with corsage of American beauty roses. Mrs. Hoffman, the bride's mother, wore a gown of black duchesse satin with sequin trimmings and corsage of violets. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Style—Comfort—Wear
These Things are Priceless

THE name Hartt on a shoe guarantees all three.

It assures you high grade leather—so soft and pliable that it graces the foot and lends distinction to the complete apparel.

It promises perfect fit and comfort.

It delivers the utmost in wear.

The value of a shoe lies not in the price you pay but in the shoe itself. The shoe that has to be discarded after short service or is worn at the expense of your appearance and comfort is a shoe you cannot afford.

Every dollar spent on a Hartt shoe is money well invested. The satisfaction it gives is lasting. It represents the utmost in appearance and comfort and its purchase is a real saving.

Every Hartt shoe carries a double guarantee—the maker's and that of an honest reliable dealer.

London the Home of Kellogg's TOASTED CORN FLAKES

If you would be sure of the sweetest, freshest, most toothomely toasted corn flakes, always identify our big corn flakes factory at London, Ontario, with the package you are purchasing.

The package is plainly marked: "Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario," and you will never be disappointed if you ask your grocer to give you the London-made Kellogg's.

Our constantly mounting production of corn flakes, first offered 14 years ago, and eaten every year with increasing appreciation, shows that no deception, no imitating of package, no "cheaper" no "try 'em," no "just-as good" variety can overcome the consistent reputation of the original corn flakes.

Our duty to the consumer is to provide a constant reminder of the marks on the package that identify the original—"Made in Canada" and "London, Ontario" (printed in red across the face of the package).

Quit Tobacco

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whosoever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. All desire stops. The habit is completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from your dragglet will refund your money without question. No-To-Bac is made by the owners of Cascares; therefore is thoroughly reliable.

Weekly Chat Answers To Letters

Dear Sir—Some of you deserve an apology for not having your letters answered sooner, but you all know how delightful holidays are and how they simply must upset the regular routine of one's work, so that, explains everything. While going about from place to place seeking the beautiful bits of scenery, which this part of the country has great reason to be proud of, my thoughts were often with you, though separated from some of your interesting letters for a short time. It was good to find so many "new members" whose names as they are always acceptable. You will all read with much pleasure the letter in this day's page from one of our members telling of a very delightful trip to the great New York City. I only wish that all of you could have that treat, for it would not only be pleasurable, but educative as well. Such good news about the school re-opening later than expected must have brought great joy to many young hearts. It makes all feel satisfied when the last summer public holiday, Labor Day, can be celebrated without a break in school sessions for it really seems to us to acknowledge that autumn has really begun and the time for all play and no study is over. In all the good times you look for in the remaining week. We are gradually coming to another change in the Mother Nature work. The harvest is ready and some of the flowers are forming their seeds or in other words are going to sleep ready to take a much needed rest. You see they do just the opposite from what you do, for while in the Spring you are busy making your plans and in the Autumn they make their task while you are about to begin yours. In travelling country roads this year one is impressed with evidence everywhere of a glorious harvest, the grains look so thick and heavy just when good results mean their summer's growth. Could we not draw some little lessons from these outdoor signs of success? How about making the next school term show a rich harvest of knowledge for each boy and girl? No better examples could you find to copy from and the best time to begin is the very first day, just like the seeds begin. While they require sunshine, rain heat and winds to aid them in fulfilling their mission, so the little students require plenty of fresh air. Temps of sleep and wholesome food to aid them in making their harvest of knowledge a big and useful one. As we watched and reported the signs of spring, so we may do the same for the signs of autumn. Let us know what you discover among these latter signs and thus give the bright eyes a chance to look about in the beautiful Nature World. With heaps of the best to the best. UNCLE DICK. Answers To Letters

Dearest Chimes:— Some of you deserve an apology for not having your letters answered sooner, but you all know how delightful it is to have your letters...

LEAH G.—You do deserve an apology for I expect you have decided long ago that your box did not arrive safely. Well, Leah it did just as a little holiday trip was starting...

DORIS B.—You did not think your first letter to me was going on a holiday trip, did you. That is why you have not seen an answer to it before...

GRACE H.—Thanks so much for the riddles they are good, and you will find them on our page today. Glad your birthday was so happy...

RONALD S.—Hope you did not take too long in considering joining us for we welcome all the boys and want them to be just as interested in our page as you are...

GLADYS G.—Certainly you may come into my Jolly Corner, we want all the friends who enjoy our page to be one of us and therefore we welcome all...

MURIEL H.—Hope the picnic came off alright, as that is always a means of having a good time. How well you are doing in the water...

MILDRED L.—You write very nicely for your age and I enjoyed your letter very much. What a great help you are, but I am sorry your school has been closed so long...

GEORGE M.—Will you be pleased I wonder to see your interesting letter printed today? The other fellows will enjoy reading of the sights you saw while on that wonderful trip...

WILLIAM G.—Thanks for your very kind letter, it is nice to have the fellows say what they enjoy most on our page. You are having pretty good weather for your harvest work...

MARION W.—Such a stranger as you are and no excuses to offer either. Well, with happy days and many playmates you are probably too busy and lively for letter writing...

OSCAR T.—You write a fine letter and I enjoyed reading of your pranks, etc. It is always heaps of fun to dress up in funny costumes and you reminded me of some fellows I saw the other day...

HAZEL L.—That was a jolly picnic party I am sure and you just agreed with last week's chat—when things tasted so much better out of doors...

THE BARBER-POLE.—The Prophet Ezekiel mentions barbers—'Take thou a barber's razor'—but the distinctive barber-pole is of much later date...

Little Arthur, taking part in a geography examination, should be awarded a prize for his definition of 'horizon' which is as follows: 'The horizon is where the sky and the water meet—only they don't.'

THE WESTMONT BOYS' CLUB STORIES

The Amateur Detective

"You did quite right," declared Butch, "now boy what have you got to say for yourself, coming over to where Leslie sat cowering. Noticing his distress the man added, 'come now we're not going to hurt you Bud, we just want you to tell us what you mean by saying that there were thieves here.'"

"N-Nothing," stammered Leslie. "Are you a Westmont boy?" suddenly asked the man by the stove.

"Yes," "You know about the robbery there then don't you?" Leslie nodded.

"Ah, and you thought we were the thieves," cut in Spike, "what made you think that? Come out clean with your story, sonny, or it'll be the worse for you."

Realizing that he was cornered, Leslie decided to tell the truth. Starting from the beginning, he faithfully told the facts, while the men listened closely.

"Well I'll be switched," exclaimed Butch, "now boy what have you got to say for yourself, coming over to where Leslie sat cowering. Noticing his distress the man added, 'come now we're not going to hurt you Bud, we just want you to tell us what you mean by saying that there were thieves here.'"

CHAPTER IV. Leslie a Prisoner.

After a meal which was surprisingly good when one considered the cook, one of the men pulled out a greasy pack of cards and the long hours of the afternoon were passed in poker, the men meanwhile keeping a close watch of Leslie, and six o'clock supper was quickly disposed of, and then the men settled down to wait for darkness.

"Alright men," said Butch at last, "it's dark enough now and as we've a lot to do ahead of us to Burton, we'd better start."

Their preparations were simple, and in a few minutes they were ready to go. Slim who had been prowling around upstairs spoke up, "I've found a good room to place the kid in, have you any rope ready?"

Butch produced a piece of rope after some rummaging around, and then he approached Leslie.

Now Leslie didn't like the idea of being tied up, and he registered his protest in no uncertain tones. Jumping to his feet, he made a wild dash for the door. If only he could reach that friendly darkness would swallow him up he thought desperately.

With an oath Butch dived after him, and picking him up in his burly arms, he ran up stairs, followed by Slim with a lantern.

They entered a bare room, and though Leslie struggled and twisted in an effort to escape, the ruffian laid him on the floor.

Seeing that further efforts towards escape were futile, Leslie lay still. While his companion stood by with the lantern, which cast only a faint light around the room, Butch turned the boy over on his stomach and commenced to tie his wrists together.

Leslie had one more card up his sleeve, and now he played it for all he was worth, hoping that the poor men were in whatever screen his movements. Tensing his wrist muscles, he kept his wrists slightly apart while the man tied them. His feet were then securely bound, and with a parting sally, the men returned closing the door after them.

Fearing their return, Leslie lay quiet until he heard them go out of the house, and down to the road.

Now's my chance he muttered tentatively trying his bonds, "I only hope I fooled them."

Relaxing as much as he could, he was overjoyed to find that the rope only loosely circled his wrists. He soon found, however, that it was quite another matter to get it over his hands, but Leslie was not to be denied, and gradually by much pulling and tugging, he worked the rope off, leaning over, he quickly released his feet, and after resting for a time, he stood up.

Moving over to the door, he tried the knob. "Just as I thought they've locked me in," he said to himself. "Well the window is my best bet now."

Leslie threw open the window and looked out. He could dimly see the ground seemingly a long ways beneath. Turning from the window in despair, he walked back to the door. Like the door in most country houses, it was of light construction, and this Leslie noticed.

THE CHINA PATH

If ever you see when you walk abroad A little gold house with a roof of green, And silver panes on either hand, And a China Pathway lying between—

Knock at the Door. The knocker is made of brass, Of the wistful horn from a Dragon's Tail. The Door of itself will open wide, And then, if your courage does not fail.

Lift up the curtain, narrow and thin, And ever so boldly peep within.

Once I walked up the China Path, Once I opened the Dragon Door, I saw a Mopsey beside the fire, With broken stars on the shining floor.

He beat and hammered them whole again, Working with all his might and main. Stars that were worn like a broken shell, Stars that were faded, stars that were old, He took them up in his crooked hands, And patched them all with his wimpy gold.

He gave me a star for my very own, A little broken and crooked star, But to me it's the loveliest thing in the world, And I am the luckiest child by far. For now, whenever I wish to go, It shines on the China Path, you know.

It is East of the Sun and West of the Moon, But, whenever the world is dull and grey, I can find the thin little golden Door, Where every snowflake is smoothed away.

And, praps if you promise you'll never tell, I'll show you the Path I know so well. There you will see just what you will see, There you will hear just what you will hear.

But you must be always as brave as a brave, For only a heart that knows no fear Can find that house, so narrow and thin, And over so boldly walk within.

Thom Stowell

All the afternoon he had toiled in the brooding sun, manfully trying to erect a new clothes-post in the garden. After digging a small hole in the hard ground, he had endeavored, with much struggling and hoisting, to coax the post into the hole, and by flinging his arms desperately round it managed to get it steady.

"There!" he said to his wife. "Why make a fuss over a little thing like that? It's as firm as a rock! Even all the combined forces of the elements cannot bring it down."

But a few minutes later he returned, to find the wretched post lying prone on the ground.

"Did you do this?" he roared angrily to his eight-year-old son. "No, father," said the youngster, "but now a sparrow perch on it, and the next time I looked the post had fallen away."

A Peep Into Uncle Dick's Mail

Will these little friends allow me the privilege of printing some of the very nice letters I have received recently? There is not room for all. Some little folks like to gather ideas of how to write to our C. C. and here is an opportunity to read some real good ones. The writing is all splendid, and I regret you are not able to see these very neat letters as they are received.

Sussex, N. B., Aug. 16, 1920. Dear Uncle Dick:— I thought I would write you and tell you about my trip to New York.

We went by car and saw some very beautiful scenery in some places on the way, but in other places there was nothing but rocks.

In Boston I went to an auto race, but I did not see much of the cars for dust.

In New York I was to the Aquarium where they keep the fish, there I saw some very large turtles, one measured 10 1/2 feet across the back. I was also in the museum of Natural History, there I saw some very funny things.

I was in the Zoo too, and saw a great many animals and birds there. The last day I was in New York I went to the top of the Woolworth Building, which is the highest building in the world, from which I could see for miles around.

The people on the street below did not look any bigger than good sized dolls. I was in the Stock and Produce Building, too.

Yours very truly, GEORGE MANNING.

Dear Uncle Dick:— This is my first letter. I am nine years old. My birthday was the 13th day of July. I like to go to school, for I take great interest in it. I like to go again. I like my teacher very much. I have no sisters. I have a baby brother, five months old. I love to play with my dolls, but I help mother. I must close before my mother gets to bed.

Your little friend, DORIS BRADSHAW.

Dear Uncle Dick:— I have decided to join the Children's Corner. The first thing I look at in the Standard is the Children's Corner, for I take great interest in it. I like to read the letters sent by other boys and girls and I like to read your answers. Well, I guess this is all I'll write this time, but I will write again soon.

Yours truly, RONALD SMITH.

Dear Uncle Dick:— I live in the country on a big farm. I help papa weed the garden and rake in the hay field. We have not had any school here for a year. I pick berries and play with my dolls. I have ten dolls. I have a play house under big spruce trees.

Your niece, MILDRED LINDSAY.

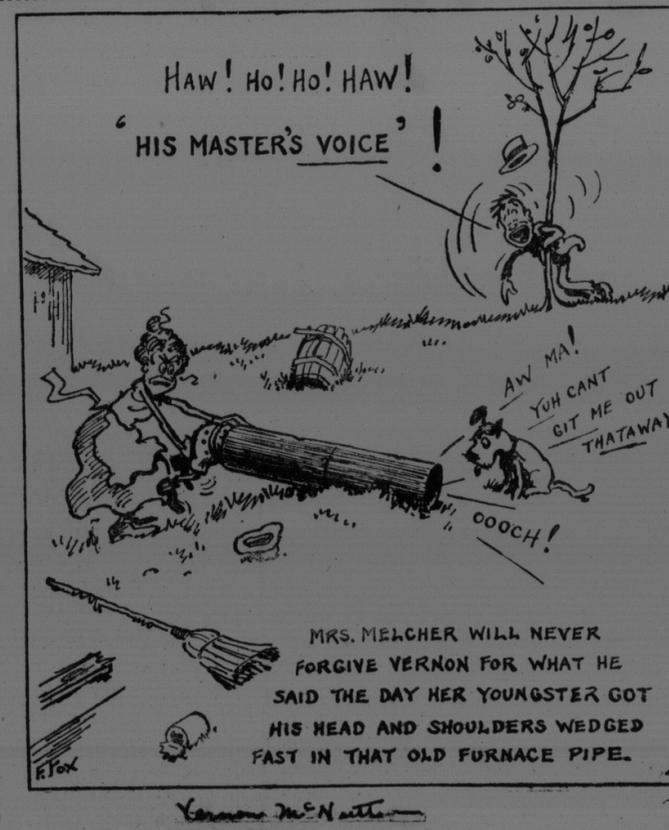

HOW IT STARTED. Pen-Knives. The handy little knife you carry in your pocket was evolved of necessity in the days when people wrote with the quill pens instead of steel. The quills were down or broke, and it was necessary to reshape them. Scrivener found it unhandy to have a straight knife always with them, so the present folding article was invented to fill the want. The name survives though the use has gone.

ELECTRIC LAMP RAISES BREAD DOUGH. To keep bread dough at a uniform temperature throughout the night, the vessel containing it is set underneath a box which has a hole cut in its top for the insertion of a 25-watt electric lamp. The heat from the burning lamp is slight, but sufficient to raise the dough nicely and prevent its 'rising' with a drop in the outside temperature.

STONES BROKEN BY HOT WATER. Any large stone whose presence is undesirable in the field or yard, may be broken up without the aid of explosives. This can be done by digging around the stone until about three-fourths of it is exposed. A fire is built against the stone and allowed to burn until the latter is thoroughly heated throughout. When a temperature approximating red-hot is reached, pails of cold water are thrown on the hot stone, which will crack open in pieces that one person will be able to remove without difficulty.

FILMS OF HUDSON BAY TRIPS REVEALS ROMANCE OF WILDS. All the mystery, adventure, and thrill of the unknown Hudson Bay country, made famous by the ancient British fur-trading company that is now celebrating its 250th anniversary, have finally been condensed into some thousand feet of extraordinary motion-picture film. From the Labrador coast to the Great Slave Lake region two camera expeditions journeyed, from June to January, filming the incidents and dangers of the wild-land hunt and the ceaseless struggle with wilderness hardship. The result is a most remarkable series of pictures now being shown free in Canada, and revealing the actual life of the Hudson Bay posts and their tributary forests, lakes, and turbulent streams.

A Ounce of Prevention Is Worth a Pt. of Hooh

By RING W. LARDNER.

Mr. Ira S. Fisher has just wrote me a letter which reads in parts:

"Dear sir, please tell me how to keep the face and relative parts straight for 2 or 3 days after 3 masts elbow crazy bone has run up vs something. I am also troubled through the day with a high forehead which rises so far back that the rear collar button is beginning to make waltz on it. And I caught the freckles from somebody whose address I don't know where he lives, or I would send them back to him as they are not the size I ordered, but what you can't get rid of them patiently? Also I use to think I had a hawk bill mouth since I split my teeth I find that the lower jaw is the one that is limbered and I ain't what my mouth close up space April several yrs. ago. Also kindly tell me the way to avoid other diseases peculiar to this time of yr. I reprint Mr. Fisher's letter to you."

Big Chief sits on his toopie cheering brava to victory.

The limber-jaw, as I take it, is a lien to the lantern jaw and can be prevented by keeping the wicks trimmed. When the disease is once caught the cure is to go up to Jack Dempsey and call him a bad name. The easiest way to get your mouth shut close up is to marry a lady that keeps saying "shut your mouth till you begin to believe it."

Timely Alliments Evidenced.

The other most important diseases peculiar to this time of yr. is sunburn, hydrophobia, hair lip and mosquito bites.

The preventive for sunburn is buy a photograph gallery and spend the month of August in the dark rm. Sunburn, however, is not without its compensations. For first they's no more enjoyable machine in the world than about the 2d. day of a good sunburn when a person begins to peel and can scrape

MAY THE WORST MAN WIN.

We who lack the master touch And the pick and stroke and such, Oh, we need the prayer so much: "May the worst man win!"

When we hear another shout: "May the best man win!" It's not as they think about. "May the best man win!" Is a prayer for strength and skill. And life finds us failures still— Yet this prayer might rove our will: "May the worst man win!"

When the name of life is done, "May the best man win!" When our souls have journeyed on, "May the best man win!" And the best man's prayer, "That in Heaven where all is fair, May we failures conquer there And the worst man win!"

SLEEPING IN A TENT.

Using vinegar in the breakfast food. Owing to the lack of space in the average tent, the spring cot is used as a substitute for beds. As nobody ever manufactured a cot that was over five feet long, the result is that several of the male members of the family are obliged to allow their feet to hang over in a graceful parabola, or else curl up like a telescope fire-blower and collect a full set of internal contracting cramps. No man over slept on one of these cots and became an unwilling prey of every hummering pinch bug without cursing the manufacturer to his latest breath.

Tents are constructed of strong, fibrous materials which will keep out everything but the wind, rain and man-eating insects. When one thinks of the thousands of Intrepid American families who go to roost every night in the summer in a dog tent, which is liable to cave in every time the wind gets above middle C, he will not fear that we are losing those heroic qualities which some at Dunker Hill and the late Chicago convention.

The tent sleeper is an early riser, and the insomniac rooster, and therefore the practice should be encouraged.

AN OFFICE-HOLDER'S PRAYER

The International Sunday School Lesson for August 29 is, "Beginnings of Solomon's Reign."—1 Kings 1:4-15.

Political promises before election are common and cheap; opportunity we have today the story of the vows of one who was already in office. His responsibility was great, and he was overpowered by his own iniquity, as has been many another person in like circumstances. The world is not so willing to forget the familiar story of young Victoria, when told that she was to sit on England's throne, registering the solemn vow "I will never be a philosopher—but of a ruler and a judge. He simply wanted to be able to discern clearly between right and wrong.

That is big. It is tremendous. Fine-spun commentaries upon this passage give all manner of subtle interpretation of its office significance of the wisdom that Solomon sought. The simple truth, which lies upon the surface, and within the obvious meaning of the narrative, is that the king wanted ability to "discern between good and bad," in order that he might administer justice.

It is not surprising that Solomon's wisdom, which he sought of Jehovah, was the sense to see the difference between good and bad. He knew that the character of a ruler is not worldly-wisdom but sagacity. To know the right, and to have the courage to do it, is all the wisdom of Solomon. Youth seeks sophistication; he professes that it is not worldly-wisdom that counts, in high or in low, but sheer, elemental, old-fashioned discernment of the right character of a man for public office.

By the Solomon test, the man to be chosen for public office should possess, as his first qualification, the personal character that ever puts devotion to justice first. It is more than old-fashioned prejudice that insists upon individual righteousness in a public man.

Character is the first fitness. For if a man is hazy in his own views concerning the preeminence of the personal character that ever puts devotion to justice first, it will be a sorry day for that land which ceases to put the personal character of a candidate above all considerations of party or platform. This principle runs universally, and regardless of the magnitude of the office, the community that elects men who are record and unanimity we must determine on what points our countries can cooperate and on what points they cannot. This sort of loyal advice has been given for many months, but has not been heeded. The government of the United States has been slow to search of the residence of the head of the legal firm charged with the duty of carrying out the instructions of the defunct Mr. Asa Thorton.

Mr. Randolph, vice O'Reilly, dropped up at the familiar address in Madison Avenue and laid his card check by the curb as though another person had been in the seat, entered the cab, exclaimed thanksgiving at finding a rag, wrapped himself in his warm fur, curled up on the seat, and went to sleep.

In the cold early morning the strong arm of the Law reached in and dragged him back from the Egyptian Fields where he had been wandering hand in hand with a lovely person dressed in a little velvet toque and very cheap clothes.

"Here, you see the voice of the Law," said the officer, "in writing for my fare. Any regulation against that?"

"Don't pull that stuff on me," said the young man, "this ain't the Tenderloin."

"I know it isn't," remarked Mr. Randolph, "but I happen to be waiting for Mr. Borden Milyuns, ever heard of him?"

"Sure," said the cop, impressed but still suspicious. "He lives here all right, but I ain't seen him since he turned down his own cars for night-hawks lately."

"Well," said Mr. Randolph, "I could tease you along for some time, but I won't. The truth is, his prize bitch, Bride of Lammermoor, is pipping tonight, and I'm here to take the lady and her litter down to the kennel. I've got my job, but the meter is charging for it."

"There ain't a man living that could talk up a lie like that, not sudden," murmured the officer, and turned to resume his best while Mr. Randolph promptly hit the mat in the hope of catching up on the deep for dreams, and was beyond the reach of the call of any motor-horn when Mr. Milyuns' town car tried to show him along at eight-thirty of a bright morning.

Once more was Mr. Randolph dragged by main force to wakefulness.

"Good-morning, Thomas," he remarked. "Is the old man up?"

"Hutty good! Mr. Randolph! What 'ave you been up to now?"

"None of yourn, Thomas," said Robert Hervey, in a kindly but firm voice. "Get me a bit of paper and a pen."

The chauffeur discovered the required articles in Mr. Milyuns' car, handed them over, and curiously watched Mr. Randolph write his note to the effect that Miss Ingeborg Pamela Thorton would receive her legal representative at Mr. Randolph's rooms in Fifty-sixth Street between nine and ten. It was added that the said rooms, upon which rent had been paid to the end of the quarter, and all they contained, including the furniture, were at the perpetual disposition of the said Miss T.

"Now, Thomas," said Mr. Randolph, "you take this in the old man himself, and tell him a chauffeur with an empty cab brought it. If you say another word, I'll have you up at the union for losing my job, and I'll keep the stuff out of your besties. Got?"

"Sure thing, Mr. Randolph!" said Thomas. "Leave it to me to help you make trouble whenever you frow. Like it's a law, it's a law except for the club's sake."

As soon as the man had entered the house, Mr. Randolph started his cab and drove to the garage.

reasons. In the best place it comes from a town named Mexico Mills, Missouri, and I thought it would be of interest to your readers to know they were such a joint, and I also got a warm spot in my heart for all those on account of it giving me my 12 vote for the democratic presidents chair. In the 2d place the disease the bird mites is so common at this time of yr. and I made a study of them and some others and how to avoid them or get over them after you got them that maybe it might be a godsend was I to print what I know.

All Remedies Are Painless.

To begin with a oz. of prevention is worth a pt. of hooh, which is going some at the present market. It is easy enough to prevent an attack of freckles, but it costs money to get rid of them. In order to not get them a person has got to remember 3 things:

(1) Keep away from people that have got the disease. (2) Don't go out in the sun. (3) If you got to go out in the sun like playing ball, for last keep a soft hat or hair lip over the face and ears and bound securely around the Adams apple. If the freckles comes on you in spite of precautions however, the surest and all the outer skin, known to we medical men as the epidermis. If a bird can get sunburned often enough and peel often enough you can find out what is under the skin.

The approved method for keeping your face free of freckles is to drink no water but rely on ginger ale for a chaser and also stay away from people and dogs that froth and all other kinds of froth. Its easier to keep away from froth this yr. than ever before. A person that has accumulated the hydrophobia can get rid of it by bleeding his children or if he has children, leave him more into a hotel where they's plenty of people to nip.

Hair lip is prevented by getting a 25 ct. shave, and the cure consists of gargling it in the middle or training it into a pompadour. A pompadour hair lip is the same as a hair lip you might say.

They's practically no excuse for a man getting mosquito bites. All you half to do is keep away from the mosquitoes, but if a man hasn't got strength of character enough to do the same at once. More internal rheumatism can be eliminated by the generous use of sand paper or a new razor blade.

When the fall season comes on I can't try and remember to give your readers some of the preventions and cures of diseases peculiar to the fall season which is even more dangerous.

FRANCO-BRITISH ALLIANCE SAVED

To Avoid Break, Paris Midi Suggests Chiefs of State Meet No More.

MUST REPAIR FOUNDATION

Says France Would be Crazy to Lose England's Active Friendship.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Company.)

Paris, Aug. 24.—A leading editorial in the Paris Midi today, under the headline "Save the Franco-British Alliance," says:

"After long conversation between M. Poincaré and Lord Derby, we are permitted to believe that the alliance has just been saved once more. But events suggest reflections for the good of the world.

"First, if we desire a durable alliance, our chiefs of state should meet no more. On August 8 they signed a magnificent accord at Hythe concerning Poland. Next day the British Government interpreted it differently from the idea of France, and at the same time the French Government, in opposing this error, committed a greater one by recognizing Wrangel. It is manifest that if we continue with this sort of thing even the word alliance will be a vain one. Therefore Premier Millerand should be prevented from seeing Lloyd George again.

"Secondly—and this is for us—if we hope to be alone against Germany and Russia, we have only to continue our little play of unfortunate initiative. Henceforth and without anger the British may wish us good luck both with Wrangel and with the exception of the treaty of Versailles. They may light their pipes and without disturbing themselves, wait for Germany to get ready to attack us. True, we will cut a magnificent figure, defying both the Soviets and Germany at the same time and without other aid than the Polish army.

"Thirdly, if we have the good sense to understand that we will be crazy to lose the active friendship of England, we will renounce this hop, skip and jump from one conference to another. On the other hand, we will call together, on this side of the channel, all other architects whom we will ask to put into condition without undue haste this damaged foundation of our alliance. Instead of deluging ourselves with the phrase 'perfect

The name "Bayer" identifies the only genuine Aspirin—the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nine-tenths of the population of the world. It has no intricacies or complexities. It does not bewilder us by excursions into esoteric knowledge. It has no ambition to be a human library. He wanted no string of academic degrees after his name. The pursuit of knowledge and knowledge meant less to him than the possession of common, elemental wisdom for his own sake.

Why did he want it?

It contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally. Ten boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages are available.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer" when you buy it.

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacturing of Monoacetic Acid of Salicylic Acid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

HOW DO YOU SAY IT?

By C. N. Lurie

Common Errors in English and How to Avoid Them

"SAYS."

"I says to him, says I, 'How long have you had that suit?' and he says to me, 'Oh, I got it last week.'"

The foregoing sentence was overheard recently in a city street car. It illustrates an error of speech which is quite common, the use of "says" instead of "said," combined often with the unnecessary repetition of "says." So frequently is this error heard that many professional humorists take advantage of it in all their writings with "I sez," "he sez" and "she sez." In the example quoted, the speaker should have expressed himself as follows: "I said to him, 'How long have you had that suit?'" and he said to me, "Oh, I got it last week."

"Says" is the present tense of the verb "say"; "said" is in the past tense. Some writers, especially novelists and historians and poets, use the present tense instead of the past, for the sake of vividness, as in the following: "Washington crosses the Delaware; he falls upon the enemy at Trenton, and wins a victory." This is called the "historic present."

The Paragon.

No man is perfect—though sometimes there's one, in his own view—The man who could have married it She hadn't married yet.

The prevention for this summer disease is to either wear football pads on the elbows or else to never go out without keeping the elbows planted firmly on the thighs. But if the worst happens and the elbow crazy bone does happen to come in contact with some hard substance the bone should be sent to a private oculist for a law case.

The daytime high forehead can be avoided by not associating with people who do some troubles. In other words, don't hobnob with bald, nose-

Robert Hervey Randolph, who is in possession of an income of ten thousand a year with the mining interest in the undiscovered is thrown over by Matie Van Teller, who wants at least one hundred thousand a year to spend. Bobby leaves his lady love after returning to like her good-bye and goes toward home thinking of the money he saw once when she was a small girl. On the way he sees a taxi with the door open, jumps in and is carried to the stage door in a theatre, where the manager is attempting to entrap the heroine. "Never you mind where I bank," said the ex-cabman suspiciously. "You think I'm going to throw in a happy home for two hundred? You're on the right side for this week. Read the rules and regulations when you get to the garage. Say good-bye to the boys for me" tell the manager to go to blazes.

They followed this remark out of the cab, the coach in fop's clothing cranked the car and turned westward, as previously chronicled, while Mr. Randolph, now substitute to Patrick O'Reilly as driver of the Village Cab Company's No. 1288, hurried his chariot eastward, not to meet the morning, as it had appeared to the watching Miss Thornton, but in search of the residence of the head of the legal firm charged with the duty of carrying out the instructions of the defunct Mr. Asa Thornton.

Mr. Randolph, vice O'Reilly, drew up at the familiar address in Madison Avenue and laid his car check by the door with the curb as though anchoring it for a long stay; then he descended from the driver's seat, entered the cab, exclaimed thanksgiving at finding a rug, wrapped himself in its warm folds, curled up on the seat, and went to sleep.

In the cold early morning the strong arm of the Law reached in and dragged him back from the Elysian Fields where he had been sleeping. St. John's hand with a lovely person dressed in a little velvet coat and very cheap clothes.

"Here, you!" said the voice of the Law. "Don't you know you're without a license? What's that?"

"Morning, Officer," said Randolph, trying his best to be pleasant. "I'm waiting for my fare. Any regulation against that?"

"Don't put that stuff on me," said the Law. "This ain't the Tenderloin."

"I know it isn't," remarked Mr. Randolph. "But I happen to be waiting for Mr. Borden Millyns, of Millyns, Branch & Millyns. Ever heard of him?"

"Sure," said the cop, impressed but still suspicious. "He lives here all right, but I ain't seen him turning down his own cars for night-hawkers lately."

"Well," said Mr. Randolph, "I could take you along for some time and make you look a nut, but I won't. The truth is his big bitch, Bride of Lammermoor, is pipping tonight, and I'm here to take the lady and her litter down to the dog-show in time to get 'em settled for the opening. My job, but the meter is charging for it."

"There ain't a man living that could check up a lie like that, not sudden," murmured the officer, and turned promptly hit the mat in the hope of catching up with Elysium. He slept; he slept too deep for dreams, and was beyond the reach of the call of any motor-horn when he awoke at eight-thirty of a bright morning.

Once more was Mr. Randolph dragged by main force to wakefulness. "Good morning, Thomas," he remarked, "is the old man up?"

"Hully gaw! Mr. Randolph! What 'ave you been up to now?" "None of yours, Thomas," said Robert Hervey in a kindly but firm voice. "Get me a bit of paper and a pencil."

took this same gent home a week ago come Friday." "Did I?" said Slim, and with folded surprise managed finally to recognize the mess of evening clothes that was huddled on a seat-by-bench. "You're right, Captain. He's drunker than I ever saw him before and besides, he's wearin' my set of shirt-studs. Kind of changed his looks."

"Garr!" muttered the captain and turned to his lieutenant. "Here, you see, he drinks into Slim's cap. Slim here," he murmured to the captain confidentially. "You're on to me, but just let me whisper to you, I'm getting to be the delivery-wagon for all the high-top socks in town. I'm talkin' about them socks, his jewelry between the curb and his own front door, just tell me where I get off, will you? I'm honest; I go a reputation, an' I tell you, Captain, I'm willing to bill 'em through for you when you ask for the home port, but I's mix on me handlin' all the high-explosive freight north of Forty-second Street. Get me?"

"Sure, Slim," said the captain, appreciatively. "I'll pass the word, lad." Thus did Mr. Randolph make good, his new front name and a little capital besides, working on the stalwart old motto: Every knot is a boost. Instead of becoming a mystery and consequently anathema to the Force, an impression was created that Slim was a hustler, but clean white goods ready to sacrifice a fare or two that he might set high up against Caesar's wife. By stopping at two or three strategically placed police stations during the wind before the dawn to check such drunks as were of his acquaintance, he was able to give the glad hand of farewell to a job not to his taste.

The story about whiskey-filled torpedoes, fired across the Great Lakes from Canada, is confirmed by Major A. V. Dalrymple, inspector for Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, who says: "I intercepted one of the torpedoes myself," and therefore I know what I'm talking about. The torpedo leaves the Canadian shore at a moderate speed, travelling about three feet under the water. When it is near the Michigan shore, it is picked up by men in a small boat, who are in the pay of the smugglers. The boat is in the direction of the shore, and the men while the crew engaged in taking the torpedo out of the water.

The approximate population of Canadian cities over 100,000 are: Montreal (including suburbs), 700,000; Toronto, 619,464; Winnipeg, 104,000; Vancouver, 102,500.

SEALING TENDERS, addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for wharf at Lord's Cove, N. B." will be received at this office until 12 o'clock noon, Thursday, September 16, 1920, for the construction of a wharf at Lord's Cove, Deer Island, Charlotte County, N. B.

THE WEATHER.

Toronto, Aug. 27.—The pressure which has been high for nearly a week over the eastern part of the continent, is now slowly decreasing, and a marked low area is developing in the Western Provinces. A few local thunder storms have occurred today in Saskatchewan, but the weather in the Dominion has been mostly fine and warm.

Forecast—Light winds, fine and warm.

Northern New England—Fair Saturday; Sunday cloudy with probably showers, not much change in temperature. Gentle to moderate variable winds.

AROUND THE CITY

PRIZES FOR GARDENERS The War Gardens Association have turned over their grant of $260 to the Exhibition Association and this amount will be used for prizes for amateur gardeners at the coming big show.

VISITED DOUGLAS AVENUE

The mayor and commissioners visited Douglas Avenue yesterday morning and looked over the lots affected by the recent order to install water and sewerage to the vacant lots. The matter will probably be disposed of at the council meeting next week.

BROKE COLLAR BONE

Joseph Higgins, a brakeman of 51 Murray Street, was fatally injured yesterday morning in the C. N. R. yards near the exhibition building when he fell from a locomotive. His collar bone was fractured. He was taken to the General Public Hospital in an ambulance and after receiving treatment was taken to his home.

WOODSTOCK PRIZE LIST

The directors of the Woodstock Provincial Exhibition Association have decided to be congratulated on the splendid prize list they have just issued. The book is one to be proud of and contains in addition to the list of prizes a short history of the town and most useful information. It will no doubt be treasured as a souvenir of the occasion by many.

NOT CITY'S FAULT

In connection with the complaint of the Elder-Dempster Steamship Company about berthing accommodations last winter, brought to the attention of the common council by the Board of Trade, Commissioner Bullock announced that any delay was caused by want of berth space, not by any fault of the city. He stated that the case did their steamer have to wait more than one day for berth.

THINK IT OVER

The careless dropping of lighted cigarettes and cigars was the cause of several small fires in the grandstand at Moncton yesterday. In fact one of them had reached fairly serious proportions before it was put out by the police in attendance. The caution required to stamp out a lighted cigarette butt is practically negligible but yet how many there are who cannot trouble themselves that much.

A NOVELTY SHOWER.

About fifty friends of Miss Edna M. Ham, of Pleasant Point gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Harris, 35 Kennedy street, Thursday evening to tender her a novelty shower, in honor of an approaching event to be in the near future. Many beautiful and useful gifts were given and the evening was spent in a most enjoyable manner. After a beautiful luncheon was served, all wishing the bride-to-be a happy future.

NOVELTY SHOWER.

Miss Marion Flegler has been receiving much attention from her young friends during the past week, in anticipation of a happy event. Miss Mildred Barnes first entertained at her pretty summer home Grand Bay, when a novelty shower was tendered to Miss Flegler. She was made the recipient of many gifts for the new home, and many good wishes. On Tuesday evening she was delightfully surprised by the young ladies of the Kindergarten Alumni at her home Princess street, when a very happy evening was spent. The guests departing left many beautiful expressions of good wishes for future happiness. Others entertaining Miss Flegler were Mrs. Geo. Moore, at her summer home Grand Bay, Mrs. E. A. Goodwin, at her summer home, Loch Lomond, and Miss May Goodwin on a motor trip.

QUICK ACTION PREVENTS ACCIDENTS

Only quick action on the part of the driver prevented a collision between his auto and a team while on the way back to the city from Moncton yesterday afternoon. It is said that the team suddenly turned into a side road in front of the auto, and to avoid a collision, the driver of the auto chose to take the ditch. Fortunately no damage was suffered either to car or occupants. The street crew bringing the crowd back to the city from the scene were held for a short time while

Lt.-Col. Caldwell Dies Suddenly

Stricken at Dalhousie Last Evening With Apoplexy, Expiring in Few Minutes—Distinguished War Record—Very Popular in This City.

Not only will the citizens of St. John and other parts of Canada be shocked, but every soldier of the Canadian Expeditionary Force will learn with great regret that Lieut.-Colonel Bruce Caldwell died, after a very short illness at Dalhousie, last night, at 11.30 o'clock, following an apoplectic stroke. Col. Caldwell was a member of the Order of the British Empire, and was officer commanding the Canadian Postal Corps during the late war. It is generally reported that the postal service for Canadian soldiers overseas, which was organized and carried out under his capable direction, was the most efficient of that of any corps overseas.

Colonel Caldwell was visiting in Dalhousie, spending a short vacation with friends, and was apparently enjoying his usual good health when, without any warning, he was suddenly stricken down. Colonel Bruce Caldwell was one of the best known men in St. John. He was an athlete that Canada was proud of. He was an oarsman who rowed in one of the best crews in Winnipeg and Toronto, and on his first visit to St. John he and a Toronto champion, named Cameron, with Peter Clinch, of this city, and another oarsman, had a delightful row about the harbor in one of the Neptune Rowing Club shells. Bruce, as he was better known to his many friends, was a big hearted and popular gentleman, and his appointment as head of the postal service overseas was greeted with the best of appreciation by all. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. W. C. Crockett, of Fredericton, to whom heartfelt sympathy is extended.

Regular Monthly Meeting Was Held

Hospital Committee of Provincial Red Cross Had Session Yesterday Afternoon in Red Cross Depot, Hazen Street.

The regular monthly meeting of the hospital committee of the Provincial Red Cross was held yesterday morning in the Red Cross Depot, Hazen street. The treasurer reported that during the past eight months there had been received the sum of $3,584.31 and of this amount there had been spent in buying comforts for the soldier patients the sum of $3,442.88. It was decided to supply comfort bags to the thirty-two soldiers at River Glade. In response to a request from St. Anne de Belleville it was decided to send copies of the St. John and Moncton papers to that institution. Mrs. Doody reported that motor cars went to East St. John three times a week to give the patients rides in the open air. Those present were Mrs. J. V. Anglin, Mrs. Geo. Scott, Mrs. H. A. Powell, Mrs. F. B. Ellis, Mrs. W. H. Shaw, Mrs. W. P. Bonnell, Mrs. H. Lawrence, Mrs. Doody, Mrs. C. B. Allan.

Police Court Cases Yesterday

In the police court yesterday John Booth pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk. He was further charged with impeding pedestrian on Union street Thursday evening. Evidence was given by inspectors Merryfield and White who made the arrest. The prisoner was given a severe reprimand by the magistrate and remanded to jail.

One aged woman charged with drunkenness was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Arthur Sullivan, a motorman, was reported by Policeman Dykeman for refusing to obey a signal given by the traffic policeman at the head of King street on Thursday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty and Policeman Dykeman who made the report stated that the street car proceeded down King street when the signal had been given to stand fast. The accused said that he did not see the signal and Policeman Lindsay, who was in the vicinity of the car at the time, also said that he did not see it. The magistrate said that by reason of the fact that there was some doubt whether or not the motorman saw the signal he would have to dismiss the case.

CELEBRATE 30TH ANNIVERSARY

Most Enjoyable Evening Spent at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Rowan.

Captain and Mrs. F. H. Rowan, of Marble Cove, celebrated their 30th anniversary of their wedding last evening. A large number of friends called, and the evening was most enjoyably spent. A large number of valuable presents were received, and with a bountiful luncheon, and the receiving of presents, all present thoroughly enjoyed themselves and wished Mr. and Mrs. Rowan many future years of happiness.

Dr. G. E. Hetherington was at the Victoria yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Koth and F. A. Koth, of Havelock, were in the city yesterday.

The car was being hauled out, and as a consequence some of the passengers were late for work.

An Exhibition That Will Appeal

Natural Resources of New Brunswick Will Appeal to All Natives Who Visit the Great Show—Under Auspices of Government Exhibition and Natural History Assn.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the St. John Exhibition this year will be the exhibit of "Natural Resources of New Brunswick." It will undoubtedly appeal greatly not only to all natives of this province but in fact to all who will visit the big fair. It is the most comprehensive exhibit of its kind that has ever been attempted in New Brunswick, embracing as it does every natural and artificial product of the province. The exhibit is under the auspices of the Provincial Government, the St. John Exhibition Association and the Natural History Society, and the arrangements are under the personal direction of William McIntosh, curator of the Natural History Society Museum. The Provincial Government has given a money grant, and the Crown Lands Department and the Department of Agriculture have contributed specimens, photographs, etc. In addition, Mr. McIntosh will have on exhibition photographs of the different waterfalls of the province, showing the exceptional possibilities for hydraulic power developments that these water powers afford.

The exhibit will occupy the first floor of the main building, and as one comes in the door the first thing to meet the gaze will be this exhibit, standing out in bold relief, with a sign bearing the words "Natural Resources of New Brunswick" crowning it. As one mounts the stairs to make a closer inspection, the first thing that will take the eye will be the collection of the economic minerals of the province. Many of the more important minerals, such as gypsum, granite, limestone, will occupy individual cases. In attractive wall cases in the background is an exhibit of the agriculture of the province in tabloid. Practically everything produced in New Brunswick farms can be seen at a glance, the labels giving interesting information regarding each item. The agricultural exhibit is succeeded by a collection of the game birds of the province. This exhibit will be of special interest to sportsmen and tourists.

Following this will be an exhibit of the edible shell fish of New Brunswick. Featured in this exhibit will be the mussel, a shell fish which abounds here. It may be noted in referring to the mussel that New Brunswick has a seemingly no conception of the great food value of this particular shell fish. There will be two separate exhibits of fish. In the first grouping will be the fishes of economic importance such as haddock, cod, mackerel, etc. Succeeding the exhibit of fishes are the wood products, and one hundred articles and substances of the thousand and one manufactures from wood in this province will be shown. This exhibit will emphasize the importance of our forest products. Next comes the forest trees exhibit, and each species will be represented by ten specimens calculated to tell at a glance the whole life history of the tree.

Special attention has been given to the wild animals exhibit. To complete the setting and give it a touch of realism, this whole exhibit will be dotted with three specimens of every overgrown tree that grows in New Brunswick, at different stages of growth. Mr. McIntosh has taken special pains in his arrangements for this exhibit, and it should prove to be one of the most interesting of the whole show. In the centre of the whole will be the educational exhibit, which embraces all the material that the Natural History Society loans to the schools as an aid to the scholars in their study of Nature. Every group will be supplemented with photographs, while a panel will run all along the top at the rear showing pictures of farming operations, big game hunting, fly fishing, deep sea fishing, mining, etc. In fact the whole life of the province will be shown by means of these photographs.

SHOWER PARTY AND JOLLY TIME

Friends of Miss Jennie Colwell Invaded Her Home Thursday Evening Showering Her With Gifts in Honor of Approaching Marriage.

About forty young friends of Miss Jennie Colwell, 205 Watson street, invaded her home on Thursday evening and tendered her a surprise party and novelty shower in honor of her approaching marriage. Miss Colwell was made the happy recipient of many gifts, including cut glass, silver, linen, and many other beautiful and useful gifts. A delightful evening was spent by all present and a dainty luncheon was served. Mrs. Margaret Andrews, Mrs. Byron Fletcher and Mrs. William McParlane assisted in serving. The remainder of the evening was given up to music and games, and it was brought to a delightful close by the singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

MANY CHILDREN ARE VACCINATED

To date two hundred and eighteen children have been vaccinated at the free vaccination clinic for pre-attending school children. The vaccinations have been attended with happy results, and a large number of certificates have already been issued. There is said to be still a large number of children who will require the necessary certificates, and parents should not delay too long in sending their offspring to the date of the opening of the schools is drawing near.

Grand Climate For Tourists

Visitors Here Perfectly Satisfied—What Local Citizens Object as Warm Weather is Great Relief to the Visitors.

When next you meet a knacker of the St. John climate—and unfortunately they are numerous—ask him or her where you could find four lovelier days than Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. Surely to have lived through those four days and the moonlight nights which ended them is worth bearing all the fogs that ever blew in from the Bay of Fundy. Think of the sun which has shone so beautifully, the sunsets, and every now and then the cooling breeze. It has never been too hot to walk those who like the heat nor too cold to chill anyone. The air has been fresh with health-giving properties. The evenings have been glorious, and for city dwellers, as well as for those in the more romantic country, the moon has shone bright in the deep blue heavens. With the nights came coolness that made sleep a possibility. In other places there are many who are forced to stay indoors a portion of the day to escape the heat. Little children pant on the hot sidewalks in the crowded cities and cry pitifully, gasping for air. At night the fire-escapes are filled with those who seek for somewhere that sleep may let them forget what the day has been. In our city by the sea we can and do have glorious days, and certainly Mr. Climate Knacker would have no argument against this week at least.

City Playgrounds Closed Yesterday

Allison and Carleton Children Turned Out in Large Numbers and Many Visitors Present—Excellent Programmes Carried Out.

Two of the city playgrounds—the Allison and Carleton—were closed yesterday afternoon, the children turning out in large numbers and a number of interested visitors being present. At the Allison grounds where Miss Edith Colwell and Miss Woodrow are the teachers, over one hundred and fifty children assembled and carried out an excellent programme. A welcome song was followed by a dance given by twenty-five children. After some clever stunts done by the boys a folk dance was given by twelve girls. Fifty-five children then joined in a circle game and sang a motion song with a very pretty effect. After a flag drill by twenty girls a "Good bye" dance was given by twelve girls. Mrs. J. H. Doody presented prizes to the following: Irene Powers, Lilian Malloy, Carmelita Condon, Doris Shanks, Marjorie Abgary, Jennie McLeod, Frances Stirling, Elinor McKim, Emmie Magnusson. A splendid exhibit of basketry was shown. Regret was expressed that Mr. Killian, who takes a great interest in the Allison playground was unable to attend. A pantomime presented by children costumed as fairies and flowers was a feature of the programme at the closing of the Carleton playgrounds. Here Miss Higgins and Miss Harding have taught the children how to make many pretty baskets and do other handicraft which will prove useful to them in the later life. Over three hundred grownups and children were present at yesterday's closing and the small people enjoyed running races and other sports. Captain A. J. Mulcahy, whose interest in the playground work is unflagging was present and he and Mr. Henney presented boxes of candy to the children. Here also examples of clever work done by the boys and girls were shown which will be seen by the general public at the Provincial Exhibition. This afternoon the Centennial and Aberdeen grounds will close.

CHANCERY COURT HALEY VS. QUILTY

In the Chancery court yesterday, before Justice White the case of Haley vs. Quilty, an action brought by the plaintiff to recover certain lands in West St. John, claiming that by a succession of transfers that the legal title is hers was held. The defendant, actually in possession, alleges that consideration, with a resultant trust in favor of the grantor, making a flaw in the title. Both the morning and afternoon sessions were spent in argument. The case was concluded and judgment was reserved. Dr. J. B. M. Baker, K. C. appeared for the plaintiff and Daniel Mullin, K. C. for the defendant.
