

Panic in Paris

Caused by the Explosion of a Gas Main.

The Bering Sea Bill Presented in the House of Commons.

Rumor That a New Difference Has Arisen in the Negotiations.

Death of Baron Hanneken—Grand Opening of the International Hygienic Conference—Composers Von Bülow's Body Cremated at Hamburg.

The Czar a Sufferer.

LONDON, March 29.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg to the Daily News says that the Czar is suffering from a liver affection consequent upon his recent illness.

Ashe to Ashe.

HAMBURG, March 29.—The body of Hans von Bülow, the composer, was incinerated to-day at the Central Cemetery in this city. Impressive ceremonies preceded the cremation.

Death of Lord Hanneken.

LONDON, March 29.—Lord Hanneken, who was judge of the probate and divorce courts, president of the Parnell inquiry commission, and a member of the Bering Sea Commission in 1893, is dead. He was 73 years of age.

The Bering Failure.

LONDON, March 30.—The Times says in regard to the Bering liquidation that the rumors at first estimated that their loss would probably amount to from 10 to 15 per cent. of their liability. They are now of the belief that they will sustain no loss at all.

Message From Mr. Gladstone.

LONDON, March 29.—The Liberal Association of the city of London, which has many Liberal-Unionists among its members, recently sent a farewell address to Mr. Gladstone. In answering this address to-day, Mr. Gladstone wrote: "Your address helps me cherish the hope which I never can abandon, that the day may come for the reduction or extinction of the schism in the party, the effects of which intrude throughout the whole circle of politics in a manner which appears to me to have been disastrous on all sides."

Hundreds of Windows Smashed.

PARIS, March 29.—A gas main exploded in the Place du Louvre this afternoon. An immense chasm was torn in the roadway and hundreds of windows smashed, and buildings within a radius of 300 yards were shaken by the shock. Three persons who were crossing the square at the time were thrown to the ground and were seriously injured. The report that an anarchist had exploded a bomb spread rapidly in every direction, and great crowds were soon hurrying down the street leading to the square. All were excited, and the police had much difficulty in calming them and convincing them that the explosion was purely accidental.

Victims of Fraud.

LIVERPOOL, March 29.—In addressing the Society for the Relief of Foreigners, the mayor this evening complained of the expense caused the city by cattlemen from the United States. Almost constantly, he said, these men are being left penniless and friendless in the dock districts, and were saved from starvation and returned to America by the municipality. W. J. Sullivan, United States vice consul, explained that the cattlemen in question had been deceived usually by their American employers, who induced them to believe that they would receive $10 wages besides free passage home. After arriving in Liverpool, he said, the men generally found that the shipowners repudiated the bargain. The consulate was overrun by men who had been deceived thus. Mr. Sullivan added that he hoped steps would be taken in the near future to remedy the abuse.

Imperial Gush.

ABBAZIA, March 29.—The Emperor of Germany and the Emperor of Austria met at Mattigle, the end of the railway route to Abbazia this morning. They embraced and kissed each other affectionately, and conversed together for several minutes. After the greeting the Emperors took a carriage together and were driven to Abbazia. Arriving there the Emperors were received by the civil and military authorities and then conducted to the Hotel Stephanie, which will be the residence of the Austrian Emperor during his stay here. Emperor William gave a reception this afternoon in honor of Emperor Francis Joseph on board the German warship Moltke, which is anchored off Abbazia. This evening Emperor Francis Joseph left for Vienna.

Taffy for Grover.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard says of President Cleveland's veto of the Seigniorage Bill: "Mr. Cleveland's message is plain and straightforward. It is all the more creditable in view of the pressure brought to bear on the author by Democratic wire-pullers. He speaks the language of real statesmanship. It would seem that the President would improve rather than injure the prospects of his party by the strong and sensible course which he has adopted."

International Hygienic Conference.

ROME, March 29.—King Humbert, Queen Margaret, Premier Crispi, Signor Bacelli (Minister of Public Instruction), the mayor of Rome and a large number of other distinguished personages were present at the opening of the International Hygienic Conference in the Theater Costanzi to-day. The theater was magnificently decorated, and over the stage was an immense banner inscribed with the motto, "Salus Populi Suprema Lex." Signor Navagiano, secretary of the congress, announced that there were present 6,700 delegates to the congress, representing 32 countries and 5,200 societies. Addresses were delivered and papers read by several eminent physicians from various parts of the world. Signor Crispi made a brief speech of welcome. Prof. Virchow, of Berlin, also delivered an address. The delegates were entertained at dinner this evening by Signor Bacelli, Minister of the Interior.

Several delegates were presented to Queen Margaret to-day. She welcomed each in his own language, speaking English, French, German and Spanish in rapid succession.

The Bering Sea Bill.

LONDON, March 29.—The Bering Sea Bill presented to the House was submitted in "dummy" form and its first reading was merely nominal. The full text of the measure will be given out on Saturday. It is learned, however, that the bill legalizes the regulations defined by the Paris tribunal as to the area of fisheries, the close season, the mode of licensing seal fishermen, the mode of killing seals and the penalties for violation of the provisions of the award. The measure also regulates the fines to be imposed for infractions of arrangements and defines the conditions under which sealing vessels may be condemned. The bill is partially modeled upon the old modus vivendi, the measure of 1893 also being modified to meet the terms of the Paris award. Sir Charles Russell, Sir Edward Gray and Mr. Sydney Charles Buxton endorsed the bill.

In the House of Commons the Bering Sea Bill passed its first reading without debate. Mr. Maynard informed a gentleman this evening that there was complete accord between the United States and Great Britain as to the method of enforcing the award of the Bering Sea tribunal of arbitration. Any fear of difficulties, he added, was groundless.

The Central News is authority for the statement that a new difference has arisen in the Bering Sea negotiations between Mr. Bayard and Lord Kimberley, which if not speedily settled may possibly lead to diplomatic trouble. The conference between Lord Kimberley and Mr. Bayard to-day took place at Lord Kimberley's private residence instead of at the Foreign Office, as is usual.

Great English Steeplechase.

LIVERPOOL, March 30.—The grand national steeplechase of 2,500 sovereigns, including a trophy valued at 100 sovereigns, the second to receive 300 sovereigns and the third 200 sovereigns from the stakes, was run to-day and won by Capt. C. H. Fenwick's Why Not, Mr. J. McKinnlay's Lady Ellen II. (6 years) was second, and Mr. John Widge's Wild Man from Borneo (6 years) was third.

Musical Music.

ATHENS, March 29.—Members of the royal family, diplomatists, and hundreds of others conspicuous in society, literature and science, gathered to-day at the French Archaeological School to hear the hymn of Apollo sung for the first time in nearly 2,000 years. The music and words of the hymn are engraved on a slab of marble which was unearthed at Delphi at autumn after having rested under ground through the centuries since Christ came.

Perfectly Friendly.

LONDON, March 30.—The Standard has a leader concerning the negotiations in progress between Mr. Bayard and Lord Kimberley as regards the Bering Sea matter. The writer speaks highly of the friendly sympathy manifested by Mr. Bayard in performing his part of the negotiations. "The amicable spirit which he has evinced throughout," says the leader, "is an effective guarantee that any future difference will be treated in the same sensible manner. Anything serving to bring the United States and England into closer sympathy is a gain for the cause of humanity."

NO RAILWAY PASSES.

Mulock's Bill Will Create a Stir—Import of Amendments.

(Special to the Advertiser.) OTTAWA, March 30.—Mr. Mulock's bill to amend the Senate and House of Commons Act prohibits members of Parliament from accepting passes from railway companies and then charging mileage for coming to Ottawa and returning home. This proposal will create a great deal of stir. Mr. Mulock's bill amending the Railway Act makes it imperative on the street railway company to provide shelters for motormen.

ON NATIVE SOIL.

Kossuth's Body Arrives—Thousands Marching to the Funeral.

BUDA-PESTH, March 30.—The body of Louis Kossuth arrived on Hungarian soil early this morning. The first stop made by the special train after crossing the Hungarian border was at Czackatornga, where the funeral party was joined by a large number of prominent Hungarians who had gone from here to meet them. A large crowd congregated at the railway station and as the train, after a brief halt, resumed its journey, a tremendous cheer was raised for Kossuth and Hungary. Thousands of people are flocking to the capital to be present at the funeral. Over 5,000 peasants left Czeged last night on foot and marched all night in order to reach here in time for the funeral.

The Legislature.

Officials Found Fault With for Denying Misstatements.

Mr. Meredith Thinks There Are Too Many Clerks and Messengers in the Government's Employ—The House in Supply.

[Special to the Advertiser.]

PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS, TORONTO, March 29.—The principle of Government officials denying the charge of the Administration was debated this afternoon. The matter came up in connection with the voting of certain moneys for the maintenance of "public institutions" while the House was in committee of supply.

Mr. Meredith pointed out that Dr. Chamberlain, inspector of asylums, had written a letter to the Globe newspaper (replying to one published in the Mail) in which the position of the Government had been vigorously approved. He thought that the practice of public officials taking part in political discussions was a bad one and should be discontinued. They had no right to enter into the merits or demerits of questions agitating the people. Dr. Chamberlain's action merited censure.

Mr. Hardy said it was but natural that an official should deny erroneous statements regarding a department with which he was connected. Dr. Chamberlain's conduct had been "reasonable, proper, fair and just."

Mr. Meredith said the commissioner would not find anywhere a precedent for Dr. Chamberlain's action.

Mr. Hardy mentioned several civil servants at Ottawa who had written letters in support of the departments with which they were associated.

Mr. Whitney held that the Government (having inspired the letter) was much more to blame than the official. The latter, he remarked, should have known that he was doing wrong.

Mr. Whitney said he had never occurred to him that when the policy of the Province—regarding the dispensation of aid to hospitals and charities was grossly misrepresented that it was political work for a Government official to rectify the misrepresentation. The facts stated in Dr. Chamberlain's letter were most important to the credit of the country.

The afternoon was devoted to a scrutiny of the public accounts.

Mr. Marter made an attack upon the sessional clerks, saying that they were no good for anything but to draw their salaries.

Mr. Harcourt maintained that they were competent men, and did their work efficiently.

Mr. Meredith said that last year 79 sessional writers, with pay for 54 days, had been employed. It was a monstrous thing that so many persons should be needed for collating returns. Then 40 messengers in addition were on the staff. They were not employed in the public service, he thought; they were either employed at something else or not employed at all.

Mr. Hardy said that last session was an abnormal one. Moving into the new building had something to do with this effect. The present session, however, began with 30 writers and had run up to 47—a material reduction. Almost half of the messengers mentioned by Mr. Meredith had only been employed for a few days.

PARLIAMENT SESSION.

PARLIAMENT HOUSE, TORONTO, March 29.—The House continued in committee of supply after recess, and considered the estimates for 1894. The Opposition made some weak attacks on the expenditures, but they were worsted in every case by the lucid arguments of the Government.

During the evening Hon. Mr. Hardy read a number of telegrams which he received from the registrar of Elgin and some other prominent business men of St. Thomas, in which he disapproved the charges which Mr. McColl had made in the afternoon against the registrar of that county.

AWFUL HOLOCAUST!

Eight Children and a Servant Burned to Death.

MCKENZIE, W. Va., March 29.—When W. E. Witt, of this place, returned at 5 o'clock this morning, after being out on watch all night, he found his home in ashes, and learned that his eight children and the hired girl (Mollie Merrick) had been consumed in the flames. The mother escaped.

CAIRO, Ill., March 30.—George, a girl 8 years old, and Willie, a boy of 5, children of William Shaffie (colored), were burned to death last night. Their mother had put them to bed, locked the door and gone to visit a neighbor.

LICKED UP BY FLAMES.

A Farmer's Dwelling Destroyed and His Children Saved by a Narrow Escape.

GEORGETOWN, March 29.—Last evening a farm dwelling owned by James Bristow and occupied by his brother John, was destroyed by fire, with nearly all of the contents. The fire was caused by Mr. Bristow tripping over a piece of carpet while carrying a lighted lamp. The children were rescued with difficulty, they having already retired. Insurance on building, $400; on contents, $30.

PORTS OF ORRONE, March 29.—The residence of Ernest Pietz, a farmer living in the township of Humberton, about four miles east of here, was destroyed by fire about 11 o'clock last night, and a hired boy, 15 years of age, name unknown, who came from near Buffalo, was burned to death. Mr. Pietz and his little girl were also badly burned. The family were rescued by Mrs. Pietz, who was sick and in bed.

BECAUSE SHE LOST HER PURSE.

Minnie Goodwin Let It in a Street Car Tricked Down Here.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Minnie Goodwin, a servant from White Plains, who jumped into the East River, was committed yesterday in $1,000 bail to answer to a charge of attempted suicide. Policeman Dunn said that the woman had hung about the Twenty-third street ferry house for an hour, then she deliberately pushed the gate open, walked out on the bridge and stepped off. The gatekeeper, Bruen, pulled her out of the water when she came to the surface, and she was sent to Bellevue Hospital a prisoner.

Minnie explained that she had come from White Plains the afternoon she jumped into the river intending to visit a friend in Greenport. When she went to buy her ticket at the ferry she found that she had left her pocketbook in the car, which had already started on its return trip. She was penniless, and it suddenly occurred to her that she was friendless, too. The thought completely overpowered her and she decided to kill herself to escape the hardships threatened by her unenviable condition.

TROUBLE DOWN SOUTH.

Americans and British at Loggerheads, in Nicaragua.

Americans Object to British Aggression—A United States Warship Expected.

NEW ORLEANS, March 30.—A crisis has arisen in Bluefields, Nicaragua. An American, Wm. Wilson, has been shot by the Governor of Rama. The Americans are anxiously awaiting a United States warship and are armed with revolvers, determined to suppress the Nicaraguans should they make a hostile move. Corn Island has been ceded to the British, who the Americans claim are acting in direct violation of an agreement made between the British consul and Locoy the Nicaraguan superintendent, in the presence of United States Consul Breida. Action on the part of the American Government is demanded. It is said the British are after the control of the Nicaraguan canal and that the riot in Bluefields was planned by Locoy to give British marines a pretext for landing there.

Locoy has issued a statement denying the above. He says the British marines on March 2 were landed without his knowledge or consent. He continues:

"On March 3 I agreed to their landing, provided they were under my orders, but as soon as they came they usurped sovereign power, took full possession of the town and issued proclamations and orders to the inhabitants. A few days after they landed they (the English) disarmed and disbanded our troops and made prisoners of seven Nicaraguan soldiers who arrived from Corn Island. I protested, and they were released. While the British troops were here they behaved admirably, there being no drunkenness or disorder among them."

Locoy's statement is denied by Consul Hatch, Consul Seat and other Americans, who say he did invite the British to occupy the territory.

TERRIBLE ATROCITIES!

Perpetrated by the King's Soldiers in Samoa

On Luckless Rebels—Murder Rampant—Foreigners in Danger.

AUCKLAND, March 30.—The steamer Alameda brings news of disturbances in Samoa. A number of chiefs who had been fined rose in rebellion against the King. A battle was fought in which 30 of the rebels were killed and about 50 wounded.

The Government troops also suffered to the extent of a dozen or more killed and many wounded. In the series of fights the Government won. The King's troops celebrated their victory by mutilating one of their prisoners in a most horrible manner. Next day they treated a poor wretch in the same way, and finally they made an unprovoked attack upon one of the defenseless villages of their adversaries. With nothing to oppose them, they indulged in the most frightful atrocities. Houses were burned, women outraged and then killed and the dead bodies beheaded and finally cut into small pieces, and the maddened soldiers of the King desisted only when there was nothing left to destroy and kill. Meanwhile the other chiefs rebelled against the action of Judge Ide, who fined the chiefs, and the support given him by King Mataloa, and the cry of "Death to foreigners" spread throughout the islands.

The United States, British and German consuls are making every effort to quell disturbances and restore the normal conditions, but the hopelessness of their task is apparent, and the arrival of a warship is awaited with anxiety.

Struck Blind.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 29.—J. L. Morton, a pioneer merchant of Grand Rapids, Mich., who with his wife has been touring through the State for several weeks, was stricken with paralysis last evening as he was walking on the street. The shock seemed to affect his eyes only, and Mr. Morton became totally blind. Doctors say the blindness is permanent.

The Undertaker is a Mourner.

ADRIAN, Mich., March 29.—"Take all the pain and sorrow and misfortune out of the world, and how much have we left?" As Father O'Reilly spoke these words in the funeral service of Mrs. Thos. Gorman at St. Mary's Church this morning, a large amount of snow slid from the roof, and the team attached to Undertaker Everiss' $1,800 hearse ran away, totally destroying the beautiful vehicle.

ALL MEN

Young, old or middle-aged, who find themselves nervous, weak and exhausted, who are broken down from excess or overwork, resulting in many of the following symptoms: Mental depression, premature old age, loss of vitality, loss of memory, bad dreams, nervousness, loss of energy, loss of heart, emissions, lack of energy, pain in the kidneys, headaches, pimples on the face and body, itching or peculiar sensation about the scrotum, wasting of the organs, dizziness, spots before the eyes, twinging of the muscles, eyelids and elsewhere, baseness, deposits in the urine, loss of will power, tenderness of the scalp and spine, weak and flabby muscles, desire to sleep, failure to be rested by sleep, constipation, dullness of hearing, loss of voice, desire for solitude, excitability of temper, sunken eyes, surrounded with LEADEN CIRCLES, oily looking skin, etc., are all symptoms of nervous debility. That lead to insanity unless cured. The spring or vital force having lost its tension every function wanes in consequence. Those who through abuse committed in ignorance, may be permanently cured. ### New Comic Opera.

HAMILTON, March 29.—At the Grand Opera House to-night, before a large and delighted audience, was produced for the first time on any stage "The Merry Maskers," a comic opera; libretto by J. A. Watson Stead, music by W. S. Hemphill, both of this city.

Important Insurance Decision.

OTTAWA, March 30.—In the Supreme Court in the case of MacEachie vs. North American Life Assurance Company, in which the question for decision was as to the validity of a policy on which no premium was paid in cash before the death of the insured, the appeal was dismissed with costs. For the first premium a note was given and was renewed three times, then for the second renewal insured wished to surrender the policy, but the company insisted on the note being paid, and part was then paid and the note renewed for the balance. The insured died about three weeks after the last renewal matured. It had not been paid, but payment had been demanded up to the very day of death. A condition of the policy stipulated that in case of security given for a premium being unpaid when due the policy should be void.

Mr. J. W. Wood, of St. Thomas, fireman on the M. C. R., was badly scalded Wednesday by the bursting of a steam pipe in the locomotive on the way from Windsor to St. Thomas.

Toronto coal dealers have reduced prices of coke 50 cents per ton owing to lower duties announced this week. The reductions do not apply to domestic consumers and only the manufacturers are getting it at the lower prices.

A Winnipeg dispatch says: The convention of Manitoba and Northwest Christian Endeavor Societies now closing was the most successful ever held in this country. The Endeavorers have made phenomenal progress, numerically and financially.

The Mandelburg Waterproof Company, Montreal, protest against the advancing of duties on English rubber cloths. They claim that under the new tariff these goods could be more profitably completed in England, which would have the effect of closing the factory in Montreal.

Some of the wholesale dealers and manufacturers in Montreal who, in anticipation of an increase in the tariff had withdrawn their goods from the bonded warehouses, found that it would have been better for them if they had left things as they were. The receipts at the customs for the two days were nearly $150,000.

Mr. Gordon Glenoe Hulme, of the Bank of Commerce, Simcoe, was married at Belleville on Monday to Miss Mabel Ouliffe Burdett, only child of the late S. B. Burdett, Q. C., M. P., of Belleville. C. E. handsome silver epaulettes was sent by the Liberal members of the House of Commons to the bride.

Beerholm Tree took the part of the King. He was made up to resemble the German Emperor, and thus carried out the idea which the German consuls found so reprehensible. He and his stage sentiments concerning sovereignty by the grace of God were accepted by the audience as strongly suggestive of the young Emperor's personality. He was hissed slightly several times when the likeness was made especially marked. On the whole his acting was strong and fine, and made the piece a success, which it could not have done without him, as parts of the text are amateurish and somewhat juvenile. Aside from the King, the most important roles were taken by Mrs. Tree, Julia Neilson and Lionel Brough.

The piece was staged magnificently. The adaptation from the German had been made rather freely, and apparently with a view of bringing out the King's likeness to the German Emperor. After seeing the play as adapted, nobody would wonder that Emperor William reversed the decision of the committee which tried to give Fulda the Schiller prize.

EMPEROR WILLIAM ON THE STAGE.

Beerholm Tree Personates Him in the English Version of "Der Talsman."

LONDON, March 30.—Ludwig Fulda's play, "Der Talsman," was produced last evening in the Haymarket Theater. Its title on the bills was "Once Upon a Time." The performance had been well advertised, as the management had not failed to make the most of Fulda's troubles in Germany on account of "Der Talsman's" references to Emperor William. Consequently the house was full.

With Story-Writer Barrie Among the Auld Lichts.

Notes on the Month's Magazines and New Books.

Before an Edinburgh audience the Rev. Dr. Alexander Whyte recently remarked that for years he had gone about in Kilmuir, had seen the "window," and known Jess, Leely, and others of Mr. Barrie's characters, but had never perceived the heroic element in their lives, and the romance of it, until Mr. Barrie, with the touch of genius, pointed it out. Then he saw the truth of it at once. Rev. George Jackson, speaking on the same occasion, said, on the authority of Dr. Conan Doyle, that Mr. Barrie had written some chapters of "The Window in Thrums" ten times before he sent the manuscript to the press. In the course of his visit to "Thrums," he (Mr. Jackson) had a chat with a railway porter, who knew all about the "Auld Lichts," and said that while some of Mr. Barrie's descriptions were exaggerated, on the whole they sketched the "Auld Lichts" fairly.

Spring summons the cyclist, athlete and sportsman to renewed pleasures and triumphs, and Outing, rife with all that pertains to healthful recreation, echoes the command. The April number, with its wealth of illustrations, presents a seasonable picture of outdoor sport and pastime, and is made doubly attractive by strong fiction by noted pens. It contains a complete story, "Let No Man Put Asunder," by Annette Josefa Halliday, "Hilda's Race," by H. E. P., and "My Adventure with a Lion," by Herman Rave.

"The Literary Digest" for March 29 is a notable number. Among Topics of the Day there are papers on the "Nationalization of Railways," "The Canadian Premier and the President of the United States," "A German View of Socialism in America," "The Elmhurst Reformatory," "Sound Economics in Congress," etc. Those specially interested in science will find papers of special value: "Ocean Vegetation," "Electric Cultivation of Plants," "Scientific Problems of the Future," etc. The Religious Department is full of interest, and many will be thankful for such papers as: "Egypt in the Time of Moses," "Ancient Churchmen and Politics," "The Fatherhood of God," etc. From Foreign Lands, a large amount of most valuable material. The number is profusely illustrated. Funk & Wagnall Company, 18-20 Astor Place, New York.

Harper's Monthly for April is unusually interesting. It opens with a remarkably good account by Lieut. Stanton, U.S.N., of a battleship in action, illustrated accurately and vividly by Mr. Zegburn. Du Maurier's "Trilby" continues interestingly and pathetically. Mr. Andrew Lang treats "The Winter's Tale" as he has treated many other plays of Shakespeare; and Mr. Edwin Abbey awards some sympathetic illustrations of the little-read and less-seen comedy. Among other interesting articles are: Mr. Fothergill's "Emperor," William's "Sud Farm," with characteristic pictures by Remington; "The English (British) Senate," by George W. Smalley; "Yale University," by Arthur T. Hadley; some eight good short stories; and poems by W. D. Howells, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and John E. Loxton.

"The Cyclopedia Review of Current History" has been so often mentioned in these columns that an account of its general purpose is unnecessary. No. 4 of volume three is now out. It contains a review of the world's doings from Oct. 1, 1893, to Jan. 31, 1894. The work continues to bear proof of high literary quality and historical accuracy. Garretson, Cox & Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Price $1.50 per annum, or 49 cents a number.

The April Atlantic Monthly contains several papers which ought to be read by all who should be well informed on the questions of the hour. Among them may be mentioned A. Lawrence Lowell's careful and critical article on the question of popular voting upon laws as at present practiced in Switzerland, and upon its possible application to this country—"The Referendum in Switzerland and America"; Wm. R. Thayer's "Some Causes of the Present Italian Crisis," a brief history of Italy since 1870, and Joseph L. Brent's suggestive paper, "War's Use of the Engines of Peace." Fiction is well represented by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps' "The Oath of Allegiance," and Mary Hartwell Catherwood's "The Windigo," also by a continuation of Margaret Deland's interesting story, "Philip and His Wife." Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

One of the best "war stories" is "The Burial of the Guns," by Thomas Nelson Page, in Scribner's Magazine for April. It is only one article in a remarkably good number, some of the other articles of which are Octave Thanet's "The Farmer in the South" (illustrated by Mr. Frost); Gustav Kobbé's "Life Under Water"; Mr. Bishop's "The Cable's Novels"; Mr. Rasmussen's "The Bowery and Bolshoi"; Mr. Rasmussen's "A Winter Journey Up the Coast of Norway," and Grotjan's "On Piratical Seas." The poetry of the number is varied and good. Dr. Roosevelt discloses himself as a graceful versifier.

The complete novel in the April number of Lippincott's is "The Flying Halcyon," by Richard Henry Savage, who has met with great success as a writer. The story is full of interest. Gilbert Parker continues "The Trespasser," giving the tenth, eleventh and twelfth chapters. Among the poems are "Love is Lord," by C. C. Ziegler, and "For Remembrance," by Elizabeth Bellamy. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott Company.

The two magazines, Babyland and Our Little Men and Women (published for so many years over the imprint of D. Lothrop Company), have been purchased by the Alpha Publishing Company, a new corporation formed for the purpose of publishing that which is highest and best in children's literature. Under the new management both magazines will be continued on the same general lines that have made the names Babyland and Our Little Men and Women household words throughout the land. The aim of the publishers will be to make these delightful magazines indispensable to every school and home, where there are children from baby up to 10 years of age. All communications should be addressed to the Alpha Publishing Company, Boston.

Mark Twain says there are three infallible ways of pleasing an author, and the three form a rising scale of compliments: 1. To tell him you have read one of his books. 2. To tell him you have read all of his books. 3. To ask him to let you read the manuscript of his forthcoming book. No. 1 admits you to his respect; No. 2 admits you to his admiration; No. 3 carries you clear into his heart.

One of the most learned barristers of Bombay, India, Mr. Virchand Gaudhi, contributed to the April Forum an article entitled "Why Christian Missions Have Failed in India," which treats the whole matter of missions in India in a new light and from a Hindu standpoint.

Littell & Co., Boston, for $8 a year, offer a weekly magazine, Littell's Living Age, aggregating over 3,300 pages annually, forming four large octavo volumes, filled with the choicest selections from the foreign periodical press, which could not be otherwise obtained except by an outlay of several times that sum. To the reader of cultivated taste it is little short of an absolute necessity.

Archdeacon Farrar has written a notable article on "Christianity—True and False," which appears in the April number of McClure's Magazine.

Marion Crawford's latest novel is entitled "Katharine Lauderdale," and is published in two volumes. The scene is laid in New York, and the principal characters are John Ralston, aged 25 years, and Miss Katharine Lauderdale, aged 19. They are second cousins, and they have long loved each other, but Katharine's father opposes their marriage because John has no fortune, no occupation, and is more over a habitual drinker of rum. Miss Lauderdale is not a heroine. She is, indeed, a headstrong girl of very poor judgment, whose life is not likely to be happy if it is left to her own guidance. As for Mr. Ralston, who secretly marries her, at her own suggestion or command, he is a youth with a keen sense of honor, intense egoism, and a temper so violent as to indicate that some part of his future life may be spent in an asylum. There are many clever descriptive pages, not a few witty sallies, and the novel can be read from start to finish without weariness. New York: Macmillan & Co., 65 Fifth Avenue; Canadian agents: Toronto News Company, Price, $2.

SARNIA SUNBEAMS.

Mr. Walter Granger, clerk at the Belchamber House, has the sympathy of his many friends in the sudden death of his wife, in the 28th year of her age. She was a daughter of Mr. John Westwood, Euphemias street.

A steam barge and two vessels arrived on from Buffalo on Monday, bound for Oscoda, Mich. This is the first boat to arrive up this season.

Capt. John McIntyre, who was second officer on the Monarch, takes command of the steamship Kakabeka, which sails from Port Arthur to Buffalo.

Mr. W. B. J. Williams, editor of the Sarnia Post, is having a beautiful residence built for himself on the London road.

Rev. J. C. Madill, the new Congregational Church pastor, will occupy the pulpit next Sunday, morning and evening.

The storm signals at this port will be displayed on and after the 15th of April. Navigation will then be fairly opened.

Capt. Maisonville, of the G. T. R. transfer at Point Edward, who was stationed at Point Edward for a number of years before the tunnel was built, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on May 1. He was 25 years employed on the transfer boats. The company, for his faithful service, presented him with six months salary.

Mr. L. C. Corbett, teacher at the Sarnia Collegiate Institute, has purchased the residence of Mrs. Ledia Jones, North Christina street, for $1,200.

Thomas Manchester, confectioner, intends selling his stock and business and removing to his former home in Old England as soon as possible.

The United States dredge and tug J. Adams, have commenced work again on the channel at the foot of Lake Huron.

On Wednesday Mr. D. Syms, son of Capt. Syms, was united in marriage to Miss Ann Watson, at her father's residence, in Mooretown.

C. F. Bielman, of the Star-Cole line of steamers, informs us that the steamers Cole and Greyhound will be put on the river route from Sarnia to Detroit this summer. This will be good news to all who intend to travel by this route this season.

John Date was up before Judge Mackenzie, charged with stealing three pairs of shoes from the store of John Langan, on Christina street. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison at Toronto.

On Monday evening next, April 2, a grand rally will be held of all the members of the Sarnia and Point Edward Reform Club, and of those who are not members, at their club rooms in the Ireland block. The meeting will be addressed by Mr. Chas. S. Hyman and Geo. C. Gibbons, of London, on the duty of the hour in connection with political questions. A great treat is in store for all who will attend, and none should miss the opportunity of hearing these gentlemen.

GEORGE SACKETT'S CASE.

Melodians Enjoy a Mild Sensation—One Sex of Dodd's Kidney Pills Cures their Fellow-Citizen of Backache and Kidney Disease.

HOLSTEIN, March 28.—This quiet village is in an uproar of excitement just now over the case of George Sackett, a well-known resident. His experience has had many parallels in other places, but none here. One box of Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him of severe backache and kidney disease of long standing, after he had tried every other remedy within his reach, but without any good results. These pills are manufactured by Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., Toronto, and are sold by all dealers, or will be mailed on receipt of price; 50 cents per box, or six boxes for $2.50.

Spring Tours.

Tourists and invalids desiring to escape the disagreeable and trying weather usually experienced in this climate during March and April, can secure, on application to the undersigned, full particulars relative to excursion rates to any of the following popular winter or spring resorts: Old Point Comfort, Va.; Atlantic City, N. J.; Asheville, N. C.; Aiken, S. C.; Thomasville, Ga.; New Orleans, La.; also to all prominent points in Florida, and to Havana, Cuba.

The social season is now at its height at all of these charming resorts, particularly at Old Point Comfort and Atlantic City, where the ocean breezes are wonderfully invigorating and act as a perfect balm to the system. B. P. FRASER, Agent Pennsylvania Railroad, 19 Exchange street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond,

Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHLOE,

Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Eyesight Saved

After Scarlet Fever, Diphtheria, Pneumonia and other prostrating diseases, Hood's Sarsaparilla is unequalled to thoroughly purify the blood and give needed strength. Read this:

"My boy had Scarlet Fever when 4 years old, leaving him very weak and with blood poisoned with cancer. His eyes became inflamed, his sufferings were intense, and for 7 weeks he could not even open his eyes. I took him to the Eye and Ear Infirmary, but their remedies did him no good. I began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla which soon cured him. I know it saved his sight, if not his very life." ABRIE F. BLACKMAN, 2866 Washington St., Boston, Mass.

THE BOARD BEATEN.

Interesting Decision in a Celebrated Hamilton Law Suit.

HAMILTON, March 29.—Judge Muir gave judgment to-day in the celebrated case of Yorell vs. the Board of Education. John Yorell acted in the capacity of examiner at the entrance examination for the Collegiate Institute last year, and the Board of Education refused to pay him for his services because he held only a second-class certificate instead of first-class, as required.

Yorell was appointed by the Separate School Board as the only Catholic qualified for the position, there being one Catholic teacher in the district holding a first-class certificate. Yorell sued the Board of Education for $110 for his services, and the judge declared in his favor, the city to pay the costs.

The decision is based on the ground that the board allowed him to act as examiner without formally protesting until after he had concluded the services.

The judge also interpreted the clause of contention in the act to mean if there is no Catholic teacher in the district available for the position of examiner there is nothing to prevent the Separate School Board from appointing a Protestant to the position. This means that in future the separate school board appointees will require to hold a first-class certificate, but Protestants as well as Roman Catholics are eligible for the position of separate school examiners.

ON TO BUFFALO?

Significant Visit of C. P. R. Officials to the Falls and Chippewa.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., March 29.—A prominent party of railway officials were on the Canadian side of the river to-day looking over the electric road and other matters. The party included President W. C. Van Horn and Vice-President T. G. Shaughnessy, of the C. P. R.; Mr. E. B. Osler and Mr. R. Bangers, of Toronto, directors of the road; George Macdonald, private secretary of Mr. Van Horn, and General Manager W. A. Grant, of the Niagara Falls and River Railway.

Mr. Ross MacKinnon met the party at the station. They walked to the bridge station, to the electric line, where Mr. Grant's car was waiting for the party, and a trip was made to Chippewa.

Mr. Van Horn would not commit himself as to the purpose of his visit, but there are those who firmly believe that it will not be long before the enterprising president of the C. P. R. has a line of his own at Niagara Falls, and then the next move will be on to Buffalo.

They were arraigned before the police magistrate to-day, pleaded not guilty, and were remanded until Monday next.

CANADIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Meeting of the Executive—The Government to be Stirred Up Again.

TORONTO, March 29.—The executive of the Canadian Press Association met here this morning and thoroughly threshed out several questions which had been agitating the members for some time. John King, Q.C., pointed out some objectionable features in the new libel law, and a committee afterwards interviewed Minister Harcourt and asked for one or two amendments. The fact that the Government had made no change in the tariff on publishers' supplies aroused considerable discussion, in view of the fact that a deputation from the association had lately asked the Government for a change. Messrs. W. J. Wilson, P. D. Ross (Ottawa Journal) and L. W. Shannon will again call on the Finance Minister and ask cause to be shown why there should not be a reduction in the duties on display type and matrices for stereotyped plates.

Dominion Parliament

Papers in the McGreevy-Connolly Release Brought Down.

Justice Ross Propounds Some Suggestive Questions.

Debate on the Budget Continued—Bills to Prevent Church Raffles and Adulteration of Tea.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.)

OTTAWA, March 29.—The papers in the McGreevy-Connolly release were laid on the table of the House to-day. The main document is the report from Mr. Justice Ross, the judge who tried the case. It is dated Dec. 30, 1893, and is rather a treatise on the abstract question of punishment and its effects upon the community than the usual report in convict cases. The following are some of his lordship's observations:

"If punishment is not to be vindictive or vicious it may be that further incarceration is unnecessary. In many ways their punishment has already been very heavy. I do not assume it will be recovered in the civil suit. Apart from the necessity of making the offense as serious I should have named a much shorter term of imprisonment. I was quite satisfied that they had learned a lesson. It is not so many years since bribery at elections was not only open, but was not deemed reprehensible. Now it is to be not only improper, but a crime. Bribery was formerly a part of the machinery of elections. Have the public learned that those directing public affairs are determined that they shall be administered with fairness and freedom from corruption, that the administration of justice will not be controlled by personal or party influence and offenders will be punished? Has the lesson been sufficiently taught? If the punishment of the defendants is to be no further vindictive nor vicious, will further imprisonment be of value to the country? There remain two questions of serious moment: First, will the interference with the sentence introduce uncertainty in the administration of criminal justice? Is it better that these men should enter the full term of imprisonment than that after a fair trial and just verdict a sentence in itself not severe should be interfered with? Second, would interference give ground for the statement that it was because of the station or influence of the offenders, and that had they been without powerful friends and much influence they would have remained in prison the full term? There was nothing in the trial, verdict or sentence that in my judgment warrants me in recommending interference. So far as the defendants are personally concerned, probably further imprisonment is unnecessary, and would serve no good purpose."

His lordship added that the other considerations were for the Minister to decide. Dr. Church's report declared that further confinement would place the lives of McGreevy and Connolly in jeopardy, and Dr. Wright corroborated this report. Dr. J. D. Reid, M.P., in a letter to the Minister volunteered the statement that imprisonment for the whole term would endanger their lives.

The budget debate was again the bill of fare in the House of Commons to-day. It was devoid of any unusual interest. The policy of forcing debate to go on from day to day to the interruption of all other business will, it is evident, have the effect of causing a monotony that will tire out the House. There has been no time to analyze or digest the new tariff, and consequently the speeches so far have consisted of a repetition of old arguments familiar to the people. The Opposition is, doubtless, reserving their attacks upon the new tariff until it comes before them in committee, item by item, when they will be able to demand explanations and information, and to be able to see just where the matter stands.

Mr. Wallace, Controller of Customs, resumed the budget debate. He denied that the Government had changed its policy or lost faith in it. They had simply adapted it to the needs of the general consumers and because the conditions of the manufacturers were changed. He read from the Ontario Provincial reports to show that the farmers in Ontario were prosperous at present. There had been an increase in the value of farm buildings in Ontario of $53,000,000. The speech was a scrapbook affair, and went back frequently to 1878. Mr. Wallace used part of Sir Adolphe Caron's desk to hold the numerous newspaper clippings he had pasted on sheets of paper. They were willing, he said, to meet the Americans half way in trade in an equitable and fair way. He proceeded to deprecate the United States market as of not much value to Canada because they were our competitors in the markets of the world.

Mr. Charlton replied. He claimed that the manufacturing industries were not in as good a condition as in 1878. The Government had been compelled to go in the direction of the Liberal platform, though not far enough. He contrasted the rate of 6-10 cent per pound on sugar in the new tariff with the rate in the Wilson Bill of only 3-10 cent per pound. The duty of 20 per cent on agricultural implements was also contrasted with the United States tariff. He demanded of the Government why they had not accepted the United States offer of reciprocity in agricultural implements contained in the Wilson Bill. The Democratic party in the United States was apparently disposed to meet us half way, but the Canadian Government made no real attempt at an arrangement. The Government did not evidently want to trade with the United States. He pointed out the value of the American market to Canada. The Canadian tariff imposed greater burdens than the United States tariff. The per capita tax on imports in the United States was 3.06, while in Canada it was 4.06, or 35 per cent higher. Mr. Charlton also dwelt on the enormous expenditure of the present Government.

Mr. Wood, Controller of Inland Revenue, read from Mr. Wiman as an authority on the Liberal platform, although Mr. Davies challenged him to show where Mr. Wiman's utterances had ever been adopted or endorsed by any Liberal leader in Canada. He said that in his tour among the farmers he had heard no complaint against the duty on coal oil. In fact, farmers were grateful for the legislation allowing importation in tank cars. Alluding to the exodus from Canada, Mr. Wood declared that free trade or any approach to it would not retain our population in the country.

Mr. Wood was followed by Mr. McMullen, and Mr. Hagen moved the adjournment of the debate, and will resume it to-morrow.

NOTES.

Mr. Charlton introduced a bill to amend the criminal code, the object of which was to prevent church raffles and lottery tickets. These latter were simply evasions of the law. Tickets were sold ostensibly for paintings. The prize winners, however, were given to understand when purchasing their tickets that if they were successful they would be able to get in cash 50 per cent of the face value of the picture. This was no better than the old Louisiana lottery and should be stopped.

Mr. Stairs, H. H. H., proposed, in a resolution, to provide for the inspection of tea entered for consumption in Canada, and the destruction of all found adulterated. Mr. Flint gives notice of the following resolution: "That as speedily as possible this Parliament should enact a law to prohibit the importation, manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in Canada except for medicinal, manufacturing or sacramental purposes."

WESTERN ONTARIO.

ELGIN.

James Norman, of Union, got out of his democrat in St. Thomas Wednesday. The horse became frightened and turned round, throwing the occupants of the rig out, and all of them were injured. Mr. Norman's wife had her arm broken; his sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Norman, of Sheddin, was badly bruised and shaken up; Miss Annie Binns had her collar bone broken, and his little daughter and nieces were cut and bruised.

Richard Johnston, lot 2, Gore of Aidsboro, has struck a very strong vein of gold at 125 feet.

Suphrum, Lumley, a former resident of Dunwich, has brought an action for $25,000 damages against the Wabash Railroad Company. He was struck by an engine in Detroit two years ago and lost the use of his arm.

ESSEX.

The Walkerville council has passed a by-law setting forth that all factories established during 1894 or 1895 shall be exempt from taxation until 1903, provided they do not conflict with manufacturers already located in the town. They are each to employ not less than five men and erect a building to cost not less than $2,000. School taxes and taxes on the assessed value of the buildings and land are excepted. The bylaw also provides for the exemption of dwellings for six years that are erected in 1894 and 1895 and costing not less than $700.

Sanitary Engineer Willis Chapman, of Toronto, who was engaged by the board of health to come to Windsor to devise means of bettering the sanitary condition of the buildings of the town, says the city's sanitary condition is deplorable, and that the town is a large sum of money. He would advise that a bylaw be passed making it illegal to have any plumbing done except under the supervision of a qualified inspector under pay from the city.

HURON.

John McNaughton, probably the oldest pioneer settler in Stanley township, died Wednesday at his residence on the Bayfield road, after a week's illness. He was in his 80th year.

The Stephen and Osborne Agricultural Society have decided to hold their fall show this year on the first Monday and Tuesday after the Western Fair.

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE.

On an island off the Mosquito coast, Nicaragua, Central America, there is a species of ape very closely resembling the African gorilla, both in size and in its sunny disposition. How it came there is only a matter of conjecture—for it departs unduly from the characteristics of the American monkey tribe.

In Pittsburg a man drank more than three ounces of laudanum, and, after all the old remedies had been tried, the doctors gave him the new remedy, permanganate of potash. After the fifth dose he looked up and asked, "Am I Tom, or John?" As a matter of fact he was George, but within an hour he was walking around.

Among the peculiarities in characteristic gestures of European celebrities, the Prince of Wales winks his left eye rapidly, the Emperor of Austria puffs out his cheeks, the Czar of Russia lays his hand flat on his head, the Sultan of Turkey draws his hand rapidly across his throat, and Mr. Gladstone turns swiftly on his heels as if executing a "right about face."

The rain that produced the flood fell for 40 days and 40 nights, and after it ceased it was 40 days before Noah opened the ark. Moses was 40 days on the mountain fasting, and the spies spent 40 days investigating matters in Canaan before making their report. Elijah fasted 40 days in the wilderness, and Jonah gave the people of Nineveh 40 days in which to repent. The 40 days fast of Jesus is known to all readers of the New Testament.

The illustrated press scored a high point in the recent capture in the Argentine Republic of the notorious English smuggler, Jabez Balfour. An Englishman at Salta, Argentina, saw in the London Penny Illustrated Paper a picture of Balfour, and promptly recognized the original in a new arrival calling himself Samuel Butler. He communicated with the British consul, and the Balfours' arrest followed. The smartest detectives have failed to get track of the absconder.

ADVERTISING, or rather bill-posting, was recently carried to an extreme in France. The proprietor of a new brand of Algerian brandy caused to be posted throughout the country enormous placards, each showing a man and woman seated at a cafe table sipping the Algerian brandy. But the man's picture looked so much like that of President Carnot that the police authorities ordered that a large piece of canvas should be placed over the two faces.

POSTAL authorities at Worcester, Mass., were surprised the other day to discover in the mail matter a slightly soiled linen-collar. At first it seemed that some absent-minded person had mistaken a letter box for a soiled clothes basket. But an address on one side of the linen, with a canceled postage stamp and a letter written on the other, proved that the linen had been put in the conveyer of intelligence. So the collar was back stamped and the missive delivered.

An electric locomotive, which has for a long time past been under construction at the works of the inventor, M. Heilmann, was recently delivered to the Paris and Havre Compagnie de l'Ouest at its Paris station, and has since been submitted to every possible kind of test in railroad work. It is said to have gone through all successfully, and is pronounced all that could be desired for a first-class railroad locomotive. Its greatest speed with an average train, is 50 miles an hour. The company will probably adopt electric locomotives to supplant steam engines.

HITHERTO the English and American Bible Societies have enjoyed the privilege of circulating magazines and tracts and of maintaining traveling agents in Russia. But recently the various establishments at Kiel and other large cities in the dominions of the Czar have been closed by the police, the doors locked and sealed, and the employees ejected. Moreover, steps are now being taken to put a stop to the facilities which the societies have hitherto enjoyed in the exercise of their labors and in the extension of the sphere of their operations.

The most remarkable crown jewels and silverware are to be found in Denmark, a country not generally regarded as exceptionally wealthy. They are the result of 300 years' collection and resemble nothing that can be seen anywhere else. Part of the throne itself consists of three solid silver lions, life size, and in the channel of the royal chapel there are solid silver statues of the twelve apostles. There is also an equestrian statue in solid silver of King Christian IX., mounted on horseback, with groups on the base representing the various arts and industries which go to make Denmark prosperous. The country has been reduced in area and importance by various wars, but the royal dignity has remained unimpaired and is in many respects greater than that of monarchs of very much larger countries.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered. For sale by W. S. Barkwell, city.

"Turn to the Right."

"It was a jest, sir," she answered stubbornly. But I could see that, with all her pride, she was alarmed; her face was troubled, and there were tears in her eyes. And this rendered me more persistent. "I have the velvet here, madame," I said. "You must tell me more about it."

She looked at me with a weightier impulse of anger than she had yet exhibited. "I do not think you know to whom you are speaking," she said, breathing fast. "Leave the room, sir, and at once! I have told you it was a jest. If you are a gentleman you will believe me, and go." And she pointed to the door.

But I held my ground, with an obstinate determination to pierce the mystery. "I am a gentleman, madame," I said, "and yet I must know. Until I know more I cannot go."

"Oh, this is insufferable!" she cried, looking round as if for a way of escape; but I was between her and the only door. "This is unbearable!" The knot was more intended for you, sir. And what is more, if M. de Bruhl come and find you here, you will repent it bitterly."

I said that she was at least as much concerned on her own account as mine, and thought myself justified under the circumstances in taking advantage of her fears. I deliberately laid my eye on the table which stood beside me. "I will go, madame," I said, looking at her fixedly. "I know all that you know about this knot I hold, and not before. If you are unwilling to tell me, I must wait for M. de Bruhl, and ask him."

She cried out "Insolent!" and looked at me as if in her rage and dismay she would gladly have killed me; being, I could see, a passionate woman. But I held my ground, and after a moment she spoke. "What do you want to know?" she said, frowning darkly.

"This knot—how did it come to lie in the street below your window? I want to know that first."

"It dropped it," she answered sullenly. "Why?" I said.

"Because—"

And then she stopped and looked at me, and then again looked down, her face crimson. "Because, if you must know," she continued hurriedly, tracing a pattern on the table with her finger, "I saw it bore the words 'A moi.' I have been married only two months, and I thought my husband might find it—and bring it to me. It was a silly fancy."

"But where did you get it?" I asked, and I stared at her in growing wonder and perplexity. For the more questions I put, the further, it seemed to me, I strayed from my object.

"I picked it up in the Rue de l'Arcy," she answered, tapping her foot on the floor restlessly. "It was the silly thing put it into my head to look at it. I did. And now, have you any more questions, sir?"

"Only one," I said, seeing it all clearly enough. "Will you tell me, please, exactly where you found it?"

"In the Rue de l'Arcy," she said, ten paces from the Rue de Valois. Now, sir, will you go?"

"One word, madame. Did—"

But she cried, "Go, sir, go!" so violently, that she made me one more attempt to express my thanks, I thought it better to obey her. I had learned all she knew; I had solved the puzzle. But, solving it, I found myself no nearer to the end I had in view, no nearer to mademoiselle. I closed the door with a silent bow, and began to descend the stairs, my mind full of anxious doubts and calculations. The velvet knot was the only clue I possessed, but was I right in placing any dependence upon it? I knew now that, wherever it had originally lain, it had been removed once. If once, why not twice? why not three times?

CHAPTER IX.

I had not gone down half a dozen steps before I heard a man enter the staircase from the street, and begin to ascend. It struck me at once that this might be M. de Bruhl; and I realized that I had not left madame's apartment a moment too soon. The last thing I desired, having so much on my hands, was to embroil myself with a stranger, and accordingly I quickened my pace, hoping to meet him so near the foot of the stairs as to leave him in doubt whether I had been visiting the upper or lower part of the house. The staircase was dark, however, and being familiar with it, he had the advantage over me. He came leaping up two steps at a time, and turning the angle abruptly, surprised me before I was clear of the upper flight.

On seeing me, he stopped short and stared; thinking at first, I fancy, that he ought to recognize me. "Umph!" he said. "Have you been—have you any message for me, sir?"

"No," I said, "I have not."

He frowned. "I am M. de Bruhl," he said.

"Indeed?" I muttered, not knowing what else to say.

"Up your stairs, sir? Yes. In error," I answered bluntly.

He gave a kind of grunt at that, and stood aside, incredulous and dissatisfied, yet uncertain how to proceed. I met his black looks with a steady countenance, and passed by him, becoming aware, however, as I went on down the stairs that he had turned and was looking after me. He was a tall, handsome man, dark, and somewhat ruddy of complexion, and was dressed in the extreme of court fashion, in a suit of myrtle-green trimmed with sable. He carried also a cloak lined with the same on his arm. Beyond looking back when I reached the street, to see that he did not follow me, I thought no more of him. But we were to meet again and often. Nay, had I then known all that was to be known I would have gone back and— But of that in another place.

The Rue de Valois, to which a tradesman, who was peering cautiously out of his shop, directed me, proved to be one of the main streets of the city, narrow and dirty, and flanked by overhanging eaves and sun-boards, but full of noise and bustle. One end of it opened on the parvis of the cathedral; the other and quieter end appeared to shut on the west gate of the town. Feeling the importance of avoiding notice in the neighborhood of the house it sought, I strolled into the open space in front of the cathedral, and accosting two men who stood talking there, learned the Rue de l'Arcy was the third lane on the right of the Rue de Valois, and some little distance along it. Armed with this information I left them, and with my head bent down, and my cloak drawn about the lower part of my face, as if I felt the east wind, I proceeded down the street until I reached the opening of the lane. Without looking up I turned briskly into it.

When I had gone ten paces past the turning, however, I stopped, and, gazing about me, began to take in my surroundings as fast as I could. The lane, which seemed little frequented, was eight or nine feet wide, unpaved, and full of ruts. The high black wall of a garden rose on one side of it, on the other the still higher wall of a house; and both were completely devoid of windows, a feature which I recognized with the utmost dismay. For it completely upset all my calculations. In vain I measured with my eye the ten paces I had come; in vain I looked up, looked this way and that. I was nonplussed. No window opened on the lane at that point, nor, indeed, throughout its length. For it was bounded to the end, as far as I could see, by dead-walls as of gardens.

Recognizing, with a sinking heart, what this meant, I saw in a moment that all the hopes I had raised on Simon Fleix's discovery were baseless. Mademoiselle had dropped the velvet bow, no doubt, but not from a window. It was still a clue, but one so slight and vague as to be virtually useless, proving only that she was in trouble and in need of help; perhaps that she had passed through this lane on her way from one place of confinement to another.

Though baffled and dispirited, I leant for a while against the wall, brooding over the black which seemed to attend me in this, as in so many other adventures. I felt the low voices of conscience, suggesting that such failures arose from mismanagement rather than from ill-luck, slow to make myself to be robbed of the gold token, mademoiselle would have trusted me; that if I had not brought her to so poor an abode as my mother's she would not have been coaxed into following a stranger; finally, that if I had remained with her, seated Simon to attend to the horses in my place, no stranger would have gained access to her.

But I had never been my way to accept defeat at the first offer, and though I felt these self-reproaches to be well deserved, a moment's reflection persuaded me that in the singular and special providence which had brought the velvet safe to my hands ought to find encouragement. Had Mademoiselle de Bruhl not picked it up it would have continued to lie in this by-path, through which neither I nor Simon Fleix would have been likely to pass. Again, had madame not dropped it in her turn, we should have sought in vain for any, even the slightest, clue to Mademoiselle de la Vire's fate or position.

Peculiar to Itself.

So eminently successful has Hood's Sarsaparilla been that many leading citizens from all over the United States furnish testimonials of cures which seem almost miraculous. Hood's Sarsaparilla is not an accident, but the ripe fruit of industry and study. It possesses merit peculiar to itself.

Hood's Pills cure Nausea, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Bileousness. Sold by all druggists.

Gentleman (in cable car)—Will you take my seat, madam? Lady—That was my intention, but I'm glad you gave it up without trouble.

To Mothers!

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP has been used for over FIFTY YEARS BY MILLIONS OF MOTHERS FOR THEIR CHILDREN. WHILE TEETHING WITH PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD, SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAINS, CURES WIND COLIC, and is the best remedy for DIARRHEA. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Be sure and take our kind. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

Pat—Say, Mike, why don't you buy a bicycle? Mike—Because, if I want to walk I'll walk standing up.

SHILOH'S VITALIZER.

Mrs. T. S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn., says: "Shilo's Vitalizer 'SAVED MY LIFE.' I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For Dyspepsia, Liver or Kidney trouble it excels. Price 75 cents. Sold by W. T. Strong.

Miss Mary Happy was married recently to James Lucky, in Halifax, N. S. The local punster declares it to have been a happy-go-lucky match.

Piles! Piles! Itching Piles.

SYMPTOMS—Moisture; intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. If allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate, becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration and in most cases removes the tumors. At druggists, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Son, Philadelphia. Lynde, Sons & Co., Montreal, wholesale agents.

It is said that Paderewski has made so much money that he can now afford to play for his own amusement.

Worms cause feverishness, moaning and restlessness during sleep. Mother Graves' Worm Expeller is pleasant, sure and effectual. If your druggist has none in stock, get him to procure it for you.

The Rector—You don't mean to say you went to a dog show on Sunday? Penelope—Yes; but I looked at St. Bernard's only.

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN.—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk.

I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. JEAN VALCOURT, (Signed.) General Merchant, Wotton, P.Q.

Stella—That young man's face seems very familiar. I—Hattie—Well, it isn't half so much so as his manners.

The great lung healer is found in the excellent medicine sold as Pickle's Anti-Congestive Syrup. It soothes and diminishes the sensibility of the membrane of the throat and air passages and is a sovereign remedy for all coughs, colds, hoarseness, pain or soreness in the chest, bronchitis, etc. It has cured many when supposed to be far advanced in consumption.

The rules of politics are more or less exceptional.

Cubbons' Toothache Gum acts as a temporary filling and stops toothache instantly.

BIG ROBBERY RECALLED.

A Cashier Who Stole $500,000 Completes His Term of Imprisonment.

MONTREAL, March 29.—Chas. A. Pitcher, the absconding cashier of the Union Bank, Providence, R. I., who walked out of there six years ago with all the assets and currency, amounting to $500,000, in a clothes basket, was released from St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary this morning.

Pitcher was arrested in Montreal for bringing stolen money into Canada, and was sentenced to seven years, which, through good behavior, was reduced to five and a half years. Pitcher says he is going back home. He received a suit of clothes and $8 from the penitentiary officials.

Six Months Instead of Ten Days.

NEW YORK, March 29.—When Otto Richter, a barber, of No. 145 East Fourth street, was committed for ten days for wife-beating in Essex Market Court yesterday, he turned angrily to his wife and said: "I'll kill you when I get out!" "Call that man back," remarked Justice Hogan. "Now it's six months!"

Married in Her Mother's Bridal Robe.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 29.—Marie Louise Little, daughter of Judge T. N. Little, and Thomas R. Hart, secretary of the New York Law School, were married in the First Presbyterian Church last night by the Rev. Dr. Thomas Gordon. The bride's dress of white silk, with pearl passementerie, was worn by her mother at her wedding in 1870.

A Flurried Christian.

NEW YORK, March 29.—Rev. Dr. Benj. Arabee, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, has just received a letter from Orcomiah, Persia, announcing the final settlement of the case of Agha Jan, the Armenian Christian who was brutally murdered in that city last summer for his religion. The killing of Agha Jan was accomplished by a mob of Mohammedans in the streets of the town. The Shah has ordered that the widow of the dead man be paid an indemnity equivalent of $250, and that a life annuity of $25 be paid to his son.

The Lightning's Touch.

is scarcely more rapid than the lightning-like action of Nerviline in all kinds of pains. Is it neuralgia? Relief is certain and rapid. Toothache is cured as if by magic. Rheumatism finds a master in a few applications of the powerful and penetrating Nerviline. In word, pain, whether internal or external, finds a prompt antidote in Nerviline. Give Nerviline a trial. Druggists and dealers everywhere sell it, and it costs only 25 cents a bottle.

Benedict—Why won't she marry you? Is there another man in the case? Singleton—Yes; her father.

SHILOH'S SYRUP is sold on a guarantee. It cures Infantile Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. Only one cent a dose. 25 cts. 50 cts. and $1 per bottle. Sold by W. T. Strong.

A new color is known as invisible blue. It will probably be used in the policemen's new uniforms.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrector, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruise, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

The average dwarf is at very serious disadvantage. No matter how large his income he is always sure to be short.

I can highly praise Burdock Blood Bitters because it had a fair trial in my case with wonderful success. My symptoms were dizziness, headache and sleeplessness, and all these disappeared after using two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters. I cannot praise its healing powers too highly.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Mr. Joe Watson, Pontiac, Mich., is visiting friends in this city.

—Miss Minnie Lang, Owen Sound, has been spending her holidays with Mrs. Wildern, city.

—Ten men were laid off yesterday at the Grand Trunk cars shops and eight in the tank department.

—The Synod of Hamilton and London will meet in McNab Street Church, Hamilton, on Monday evening, April 16.

—An enjoyable evening is promised all who attend the "Lutescent" in the Astin Street Methodist Sunday school to-night.

—Mrs. H. T. Smith, of Toronto, and Mrs. Thorne, of Windsor, are in the city attending the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Stone.

—The numerous friends of Mr. James P. Deveney will be pleased to hear that he is able to be around again after a long and serious illness from typhoid fever.

—Miss L. Porter, daughter of Rev. W. H. Porter, Brantford, formerly of London, has received an appointment as the teaching staff of the Moulton College, Toronto.

—At the recent W. C. T. U. "At Home" Mr. T. B. Scott furnished the Lyon brand of digestible coffee, and also sent a cook to prepare it—a service which was much appreciated by the members.

—Mr. John Connor, 338 Richmond street, is in possession of a great curiosity and a relic of olden times. It is in the shape of a pack of cards used during the reign of Charles II., every card having illustrated on it some historical event, or showing the curious dresses worn during that time. They were brought from London, Eng., and are probably the only cards of the kind in America.

—The children of Christ Church Sunday school held their annual Easter festival in the school room last night. The little ones assembled at 6 o'clock for the annual tea, when coffee and cake were served in abundance, after which the scholars amused themselves in games. At 7:30 they re-assembled in the school room, where parents and friends were also present, the room being filled to the doors. Mr. A. B. McCormick, assistant superintendent, acted as chairman, and Rev. Canon Smith, the rector, gave a short address. Solos were given by Miss Wright and Miss Tancock; violin solo, Miss McDonald; recitation, Miss O'Brien, Miss Leithbridge, Miss Tibbs, Miss Eva Kennedy and Mr. Anderson. The infant class and teachers and officers also sang choruses, which were much appreciated. To the latter was due the success which attended the festival of 1894.

L. O. B. A. Concert.

The members of Lady Stanley Lodge gave a concert and supper to their friends in Duffield hall last night. It was well attended and the chair was occupied by Mayor Esbery. Miss Perkins and Miss Wychman divided the task of accompanying the artists, among whom were: Miss Wychman, Miss Dawe, Mr. Gardner, Miss Wistow (2), Miss Cox, Mr. Shipman and Lillian Main. Mrs. Howe, Mrs. Rogers, Mrs. King, Mrs. Clare, Mrs. Stradford, Mrs. Gardner, Mr. Clare and Mr. Hillier composed the committee, and to their efforts is largely due the success of the affair.

Grand's Horse Sale.

About twenty horses were sold yesterday afternoon at the horse sale at the Thompson House stables. Douglas H. Grand is sick and unable to be present, and Auctioneer Paisley wielded the hammer. There was a large crowd present and prices were fairly good. The sale was on commission, and the horses sold were those of neighboring farmers. Stear was sold as high as $180, drivers as high as $140 and $120, workers brought as low as $33. Graham & Beamish bought a pair of carriage horses for the English markets from Mr. Collins, Lambeth, for $350. This sale was a private one. The auction sale continues to-day.

Y. P. S. C. E. Concert.

The Adelaide Street Baptist Church was crowded last night on the occasion of a very enjoyable concert under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the church. Rev. D. M. Mihell occupied the chair and introduced a varied programme that won many outbursts of applause. The trio of Miss Barnard and the Misses Hartson was especially fine and much appreciated. Miss L. Benson made a pleasing and efficient accompanist. The programme is appended: Chairman's address, Rev. D. M. Mihell; instrumental duet, Misses Benson and Winnett; solo, "Babylon," Miss Lorena Hartson; reading, Miss Allen; harmonica selection, Mr. Williamson; trio, "Holy Redeemer," Miss Barnard and Misses Hartson; reading, Miss K. McKerricher; solo, "The Little Hero," Mr. Gorman; calisthenic, Miss E. Robertson; solo, "The Kingdom Bless," Miss Barnard; instrumental duet, Misses Hartson; solo, "Only Tired," Mr. C. Maynard; reading, Miss Allen; solo, "Emmanuel," Miss E. Hartson; harmonica selection, Mr. Williamson. "East Lynne" To-night.

Tavernier's Stock Company played to a good house last night at the Grand, the performance being "Fanchon," a bright comedy-drama, whose merits are well known here. In the title role Ida Van Cortlandt made a very pleasing impression. She was ably assisted by Lew Warren, M. B. Streeter and the others of her fine company. To-night the perennial favorite, "East Lynne," will be presented with this competent cast:

Lady Isabel.....Ida Van Cortlandt
Madam Vine.....Margaret Crofton
Barbara Hare.....Nellie Morgan
Conroy.....Silence Vase
Joyce.....Donald Warner
Willie.....Albert Tarnier
Sir Francis Levison.....Howard Hall
Archibald.....Lew A. Warner
Dill.....M. B. Streeter
Dick Hare.....John E. Miles
O'Brien.....George H. Howson

The engagement concludes to-morrow night with "The Dentist." "The Mighty Dollar" will be repeated for the Saturday family matinee.

The Board of Works.
Ald. Thos. Jones (chairman), Ald. Dineen, Ald. Taylor, Engineer Graydon, Street Commissioner Owen and Secretary Bell were the members of No. 2 committee present last night. The session was brief and unimportant. T. H. Weldon applied for a tile drain on Duchess street. It will be advertised. Progress was reported on the petition of James Crawford et al., for a culvert under the sidewalk on Bell street. A special meeting of the committee will be held on Monday night to consider the tenders for artificial stone walks. Tenders will be again called for the street-sweeping contract, those already received and dealt with not being up to the required specification. The Western Fair Board drew attention to the fact that the sanitary arrangements and necessary conveniences at the Queen's Park were "lamentably deficient," and further stating that the board was willing to do its share towards remedying the evil. The letter was filed until the committee can visit the park and report. Messrs. Appleton, Terry and Fysh asked for power to place a merry-go-round, refreshment booth and free parcel checking tent in Queen's Park. The petition was granted, subject to the payment of a $10 fee. The refreshment privilege will be annulled when the use of the park is granted to a society or picnic unless the same make arrangements with such societies. Caretaker Burdick, of Queen's Park, will be allowed paint and wallpaper necessary for the spring house-cleaning. The pay sheet amounted to $270.07.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This Syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

For Men and Boys.

The season of the year is now at hand when men—young and middle aged—are on the lookout for something neat and nobby in the line of hats and caps. To suit some is almost an impossible task, especially with small stocks, as some dealers carry, but any person who calls on Mr. H. Beaton cannot fail to get just what they want. Mr. Beaton has removed from his old stand to 138 Dundas street—larger and more commodious premises—the change being made necessary on account of increasing trade. In the new store can be found a large stock of spring hats and caps, comprising the latest New York and London styles in Christy's and fedoras. Mr. Beaton pays cash for all purchases, and is, therefore, enabled to sell at low prices. A trial will convince one of this fact.

About one person in ten doesn't trade with Empire Tea Company. We're after that one. About one person in ten doesn't know that the other nine have come to the conclusion that it is the safest and most profitable way to trade with this profit-sharing tea company. A Walking Skeleton Puts on 180 Pounds of Healthy Flesh—Cured Liver Complaint After Leading Physicians Failed—Williams' Royal Crown Remedy and Pills Positively Produced the Above Results.

Mr. Alexander Green writes: "About two years ago I was suffering from liver complaint. I consulted some of the leading doctors, but could find no relief. I was advised to try your Royal Crown Remedy. After using one bottle I felt so much better that I was induced to continue. When I had taken the third I could enjoy my food, which I had not done for a long time. I was reduced to a skeleton when I commenced to use it, and to-day my weight is about 180 pounds." The remedy should be used until the cure is complete. It is a great grip alterative and blood purifier.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Protest From Harkaway Patrons—Easting Conservatives Nominate Candidates.

A PATRON RESOLUTION.
HARKAWAY, March 29.—At the meeting of Harkaway Patrons Bro. R. S. McLaughlin reviewed the working of the Patrons for the past two years, after which the following resolution was unanimously adopted: "Whereas the Grand and the Patrons of Industry, held at Toronto some weeks ago, passed arbitrary resolutions depriving Patrons of the liberty of free speech, we, the members of Harkaway Association, declare ourselves to be free men, and this attempt by unscrupulous office seekers to deprive us of the liberty of free speech we most emphatically reject, and place on record our avowed determination to fearlessly aid and support such candidates as we consider are worthy of our support."

HASTINGS TORIES.
MADOC, March 29.—Mr. A. F. Wood was nominated for the Legislature and A. W. Carscallen for the Commons by the Conservative convention that met here to-day.

Frost Does Immense Damage.
DANVILLE, Tex., March 29.—For the third time this week the thermometer was this morning 4 degrees below the freezing point. Ice was half an inch thick. The little life left by the cold of Sunday and Monday nights in all perishable fruit and vegetation was frozen out. The damage will foot up millions.

Down Goes the Price of Coal.
NEW YORK, March 29.—At their meeting to-day the eastern anthracite coal sales agents reduced the price of stove and chestnut coal for April delivery to $3.75 and of egg and grate to $3.50. The reduction of output will, it is generally understood, be 1,800,000 tons of 40 per cent. for April.

MacWherrill is Not Lionized.
TORONTO, March 29.—Constable Hurst, of Brampton, who was in the city to-day, said that there is absolutely no truth in the statement made in some of the papers that people in Brampton have been sending flowers and delicacies to MacWherrill. He says that nearly everyone is disgusted with the prisoner, and that such a thing as a petition up there has never been heard of since the trial.

Diamond Sewer Pipe.
The Hamilton and Toronto Sewer Pipe Company is furnishing the corporation of Toronto with a large quantity of their highly vitrified, salt-glazed sewer pipe, known as the Diamond brand. The city engineer has expressed himself as highly pleased with these goods. They are fully and deep in flange, true in bore, and well glazed. Sold by all city dealers.
