WINNIPEG POLICE FORCE SUPPLANTED BY RETURNED SOLDIERS

VETERANS GUARDING WINNIPEG PROPERTY WHILE POLICE FORCE THERE IS BEING REORGANIZED

City Council of Manitoba's Capital Appropriates $150,000 To Pay For Special Constables — Vancouver Postal Workers Refuse Unanimously To Take a Strike Vote.

Winnipeg, June 10.—Reorganization of the Winnipeg police force was begun today the city having discharged late yesterday all policemen who refused to sign an oath not to join a sympathetic strike hereafter. Meanwhile protection was being furnished by several hundred special constables recruited from returned soldiers.

At a stormy meeting of the city council, which lasted until after midnight, $150,000 was appropriated to pay for the special police force. During the debate one alderman, a labor leader, admitted that many union men had already returned to work. Further desertions from the ranks of the strikers were predicted today by members of the citizens' committee.

At Vancouver, postal workers refused unanimously to take a strike ballot in connection with the present sympathetic strike there.

Today, the eighth day of the strike, found Vancouver life is nearly normal, except for the badly crippled condition of the waterfront activities. Loading and discharging of deep sea carriers, however, is proceeding under handicaps.

ONE THIRD OF THOSE WHO WENT ON STRIKE ARE BACK AT WORK

Winnipeg, Man., June 10.—The sympathetic strike of Winnipeg Iron Workers, which began on May 15, was considered broken today, so far as its effects upon the safety, welfare and convenience of the general public is concerned. It was estimated that about one-third of the men and women involved in the sympathetic walk-out have returned to work and that many others have applied for their former positions.

TWO LABOR FACTIONS IN PARIS BATTLING TO GAIN SUPREMACY

Paris, June 10. — The labor crisis which was suspended over the Pentecostal holidays, became acute again today. Numerous meetings were to be held today by labor organizations, including the metal workers, the transport workers, the Paris railroad men, the national council of the miners' federation, the executive committee of the general labor federation and the congress of registered seamen.

It is expected the meetings will show whether the extremists or the conservatives will control the unions. The extremists are seeking to turn the strike into a political movement, while the conservatives condemn such a policy as playing into the hands of the Government.

The general labor federation in its announcement that the executive committee will meet tonight to study the situation, denounces "governmental complicity and the process of intimidation and repression now in preparation." The announcement also declares that "the working classes are confronted with provocations which they should be able to baffle by their good sense and spirit of resistance."

GERMANY IS EXPECTED TO SIGN TREATY BEFORE JULY 1

Answer To Enemy Counter-Proposals To Be Handed Over Friday.

REPLACE SCHEIDEMANN

Present Enemy Government To Be Ousted If It Refuses To Sign.

Paris, June 10.—The signing of the peace treaty by Germany before July 1, and its ratification by the various parliaments before August 1, is predicted today by the Echo de Paris. It expects the answer to the German counter proposals to be handed over probably on Friday. The course of the Germans, it thinks, will be to replace the Scheidemann Government by another in case the present Government determines not to sign the terms as the Allies finally present them.

BIG PROBLEMS YET FACE MEMBERS OF COUNCIL OF FOUR

Paris, June 10.—The council of four met today amid an atmosphere of considerable pessimism over the larger questions of peace-making with Germany still unsolved. It is understood that Premier Clemenceau has not moved from his position against any modification of the peace terms.

No settlement of the Silesian question or that concerning the Polish western frontier has been reached. It is said that the Silesian problem is tied up with the difficulty of holding a plebiscite without Allied occupation, no troops being available for the purpose.

Four Millions Worth of Surplus Leather To Go by Auction

Philadelphia, June 10.—More than $2,000,000 worth of surplus leather purchased for war purposes was sold by the Government here yesterday at public auction. The sale will continue until the entire stock, valued at approximately $4,000,000, is disposed of.

The stock includes various grades of straps, harness, sole and bag leather, and raw hide calfskin.

MILLIONS PAID OUT TO WORKMEN UNDER COMPENSATION ACT

Machinery Causes About 32 Per Cent of Accidents.

SAWS IN THE LEAD

Half Million Come Within Scope in Province of Ontario.

Toronto, June 10.—During the past year, $3,514,648 was awarded for compensation under the Workmen's Compensation Act; there were 40,930 accidents, and the total loss of time on account of accidents and injuries was 665,256 days, the average length of temporary disability being 21 days. These are interesting facts brought out in the fourth annual report of the Workmen's Compensation Board, which has just been issued. In the Province of Ontario, it is estimated that 500,000 come within the scope of the act and the average weekly wage of injured workmen was $19.06, and the average age 34.07 years.

For Medical Aid.

For medical aid $369,346.37 was paid out during the year or $1,219 per day; and the number of checks issued for compensation per day was 248, and for medical aid 139. Of the 40,930 accidents, 282 resulted in death, 2,549 caused permanent disability to some degree, 25,446 caused only temporary disability, and only 12,553 required medical aid. About 75 per cent of the injured workmen were British subjects, and 25 per cent foreign, of which 6 1-2 per cent were Austrian, 6 per cent Italian, 5 1-2 per cent Russian and 2 1-2 per cent citizens of the United States.

Machinery Accidents.

Machinery caused about 32 per cent of all the accidents; the handling of moving objects 28 per cent, and falls of the workmen 10 per cent. The most prolific individual causes were saws, which caused 892 accidents; lathes 891; presses 813; hoisting apparatus 785; abrasive wheels 781; belts, pulleys, chains and sprockets 390, of which 3 were fatal; planers, jointers and edgers 260; shapers, moulders and headers 121; shafting, couplings and set screws 75, of which 6 were fatal. Falls from vehicles caused 260; collapse of support 276. Hot and inflammable substances caused 1,018; falling objects caused 1,256; and runaway animals 98.

BRITISH DIRIGIBLE MAY TRY TO MAKE A RETURN FLIGHT

New York, June 10.—The mammoth British dirigible R 34, scheduled to begin a flight from England to the United States by way of Newfoundland, about June 20, probably will attempt a return cruise if the westward voyage is successful, British aviation officials connected with the venture declared on their arrival here today.

Coney Island Bars "Bunny Hug" and "Shimmy" Dances

Patrons Who Prefer Wrestlers' Holds Are Warned To Discontinue.

New York, June 10.—Capt. Byron R. Sackett, the police censor of Coney Island, frowns upon the "shimmy," the "bunny hug" and the "mormor," all which, he says, are dances which must not be done on the waxed or sawdusted floors of his bailiwick. The courtesy and tact which enabled Capt. Sackett last year to gauge to a hairsbreadth bathing suits which were decorous and bathing suits which were not were called into play yesterday to deal with the "shimmy," the "bunny hug" and the "mormor."

Consequently ladies and gents at the various dance halls at the resort found themselves possessed of gracefully-worded and really artistic cards which were distributed by policemen or policewomen, and which will be stuck in many a mirror frame this morning as a souvenir of Coney Island and a memorial to the courtesy of its censor. The "request" inscribed on the card follows:

"Patrons are requested not to dance the "shimmy" or other dances in which the hands are placed about each other's neck. You may be arrested if you fail to observe this warning."

In the smaller places many an enthusiastic but ill-advised dancer merely stuck the card in his pocket to be perused at leisure. All such speedily found patrolmen at their elbows, who jerked an eloquent thumb sideways, and announced courteously: "On the outside for you, bo; them throttle holds don't go."

The Bowery dance halls yielded up several score who had preferred dancing to reading.

COURT ORDER FORCES D. U. R. TO OPERATE PART OF ITS LINES

Transportation Difficulties in Detroit Are Slightly Relieved.

ANOTHER ORDER TODAY

Mayor James Couzens Will Seek Additional Injunction.

Detroit, June 10.—Officials of the Detroit United Railways Company, whose motormen and conductors struck Saturday night, completely tying up traction service in this city and suburbs, were today served with a mandatory and prohibitory injunction, issued late last night to compel the company to resume operation of a portion of its system. The injunction covers what is known as the "three-cent lines," and Mayor James Couzens announced he would seek another court order today in an effort to force the company to operate other lines now running under a day-to-day contract with the city.

President's Statement.

President Frank Brooks of the traction company has issued a statement declaring he is prepared to fight such a move by the city. Members of the common council here expressed the opinion that the court order would force the company to meet the demands of its employees for increased pay and resume operation on all its lines. A considerable part of the city is served by lines affected by the injunction, and if operations are resumed on these, it is pointed out, the situation will be greatly relieved. Workers had even less difficulty today than yesterday in reaching their places of employment, owing to a more thorough operation of transportation routes.

TELEPHONE WORKERS' STRIKE POSTPONED

Orders Calling for General Walkout in U. S. Have Been Rescinded.

Springfield, Ill., June 10.—Orders issued a week ago calling for a national strike of telephone workers, including operators and maintenance men, have been rescinded, Charles P. Ford, international secretary of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, said last night.

"It may be necessary for some local unions to adjust their differences by strikes," he asserted, "but there will be no national walkout immediately."

French Heroine Is To Attempt Flight Across Atlantic

Edna Nichol Announces Herself As Rival To Ruth Law.

New York, June 10.—A rival for the women's transatlantic flight honors sought by Ruth Law appeared today when Edna Nichol, a 20-year-old heroine of the war, arrived on the steamer Savoie and announced that she was planning an overseas flight this summer.

Miss Nichol wears the uniform of the French Motor Corps, with two French military decorations, the Croix de Guerre with palm and star, and the Mons Military Medal, and bears the scars of two wounds suffered while driving an ambulance at the front. She made several trips over the enemy lines as an airplane observer and photographer and later learned to pilot a machine on the French training grounds.

QUEBEC PROVINCIAL CAMPAIGN IS OPENED BY PREMIER GOUIN

Prime Minister Delivers His First Speech in Liberal Stronghold.

Quebec, June 10. — Sir Lomer Gouin, prime minister of the province, fired the opening shot of his campaign for the provincial elections of June 23 in the Liberal stronghold of Quebec east last night, when he held his inaugural meeting in the Imperial theatre. The hall was crowded to the doors, and the premier and his ministers were given a rousing reception.

Touching upon the memory of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Lomer said: "We cannot forget that for over thirty years, you elected without a break, a man whose teachings and remembrance we keep in the depths of our hearts, "and when the 23rd of June shall come that day never to be forgotten by Liberals because it recalls the triumph of 1896, Sir Wilfrid Laurier may perhaps rejoice at the victory you will not fail to win."

CANADIAN ACE IS BELIEVED TO HAVE DROWNED IN OCEAN

New York, June 10.—It is now well established that Capt. M. R. James, the Canadian aviator, who has been missing since he began a flight from Lee, Mass., a week ago last Thursday, has been lost at sea. In view of the latest evidence, Dr. J. A. James of Sarnia, Ont., who has been here seeking a clue to the mystery of his nephew's disappearance, was forced to believe he crossed the Sound somewhere between New Haven and Bridgeport, and attempted to reach Atlantic City without stopping, and found himself over the ocean with an empty gasoline tank.

TARIFF REVISION IS BADLY NEEDED, VIEW OF MEMBERS OF MANUFACTURERS' ASSN.

President of Strong Canadian Organization Points Out the Problems Dominion Has To Face During the Period of Reconstruction—Urges Labor Unions To Eliminate the Bolshevik Element.

Toronto, June 10.—"If this country is to retain confidence in organized labor, the trades and labor unions will have to denounce any of their members who preach seditious doctrines that are repugnant to the common sense of the Canadian people," said W. J. Bulman of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in the course of his address at the 48th annual meeting of the association, which opened here today.

All parts of Canada were represented in the gathering, although the attendance from the Western Provinces was smaller than usual, owing to the disturbed industrial conditions west of the Great Lakes.

Trying Times Ahead.

The president reminded the association that while Canada had pulled through the war and part of the demobilization, there was still ahead of her a trying period of readjustment from war to peace. While the general result of negotiations between employers and employees had been satisfactory, extreme elements, revolutionary in methods and speech, had made their appearance and were hard to deal with. The manufacturers' association does not take the view that the Canadian industrial system is perfect, said the president, but prefers to improve unsatisfactory conditions by the British, not the Russian way.

Tariff revision is needed, in the view of the association, and the president advocated the appointment of a tariff commission of several properly qualified men, acting in an advisory capacity to parliament, to make a thoroughly scientific investigation and recommendations for revision.

Public Ownership.

Public ownership of railways was described by Mr. Bulman as a "great experiment," and the opinion was expressed that it might be found necessary for the government to take over the G. T. R. also. The extension of the principle of government ownership to the Canadian Pacific Railway would, however, endanger the success of the whole undertaking, by preventing competition, he said.

The work of Lloyd Harris and the Canadian mission to London was eulogized in the president's address. Canada's export trade must be greatly increased if her war debts are to be paid, and the only salvation for the Canadian people, he said, lies not in doing less work, as advocated by some people, but in greatly increased thrift and industry on the part of all classes of the population of the country.

Gratification was expressed by the members of the insurance committee, in their report submitted at the afternoon session, at the findings made by Mr. Justice Masten, who was commissioned by the Ontario Government to make inquiries into the insurance laws of the province. The report states that the finding "constitute an entire justification of the representations made by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association before the commission.

Favors Creation New Body.

Referring to the formation of the Dominion Fire Prevention Association the report states that the committee favored the creation of this association. The manufacturers have four representatives in the organganization. The work accomplished by the Ontario Fire Prevention League has been valuable, according to the committee's report, which also recommends the formation of similar leagues in other provinces.

The report also speaks highly of the work of the insurance department conducted by the association. During the past year special service has been rendered to members of the association on 200 occasions and the department has been consulted by about 100 members.

HAIR TONIC PROVES A POPULAR DRINK DOWN IN SAN JUAN

San Juan, June 10.—Hair tonic has leaped into favor as a drink in Ponce! In one week more than 4,350 bottles of a kind manufactured by a local firm under a formula registered with the insular government was sold in that city. Tonic, said to contain more than 60 per cent alcohol, is reported to have been selling freely at 15 cents a drink, despite the fact that it contained drugs which, although reported to be of benefit to the hair when externally applied, are said to be somewhat harmful to the system when imbibed.

The existence of the tonic was discovered by a detective who, on sampling a bottle, reported the matter, under the impression that he had discovered a shipment of pure rum.

The company will have distributing agencies throughout England and Europe, and will make a special feature of export business. Plans are underway it was stated, for extensions in a number of plants, which have been taken over.

The following companies have been acquired, the statement continued: Parker, Webb & Co., Detroit; C. Klinck Packing Company, Buffalo; F. Schenk Sons & Co., Wheeling, W. Va.; Batcheider and Snider, Boston; W. S. Forbes & Co., Richmond, Va.; Macon Packing Company, Macon, Ga.; and five plants in Canada.

Negotiations are in progress with several additional companies, the statement said.

APPLIES FOR BOARD OF ARBITRATION TO AVERT BIG STRIKE

Toronto Street Railway Company Appeals To Dominion Government.

Toronto, June 10. — The Toronto Railway Company has made application to the Government for the appointment of a board of arbitration and conciliation under the industrial disputes act, and has named F. H. Phippen, K. C., as its representative on the board. The officials of the Toronto Street Railwaymen's Union have sent a communication to Ottawa.

This is the latest move to avert the impending street car strike that is fixed for Sunday night next. Ottawa has been told by the union officials that the street railwaymen are to meet here on Saturday night and that it is for them to say whether they want their differences with the company settled by a board of arbitration.

MAKES TWO ATTEMPTS TO COMMIT SUICIDE

Nutley, N. J., June 10.—"I want to die!" shouted Frank Gehring, thirty-two years old, who was sitting on an Essex County Park bench this afternoon.

Then he fired two revolver bullets into his head. Gehring saw policemen coming, ran 200 feet and leaped into the lake.

For ten minutes, while the policemen were getting a boat, he tried to drown himself. Then he came ashore. He is in St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic.

A very heated discussion on the inforcing of the observance of the Lord's day in regard to the delivery of milk to milk factories, was the chief feature of the morning session.

The result of the discussion was a resolution made by W. K. Hagar to the effect that conference ask the Lord's Day Alliance to get consent from the attorney general to prosecute, as it was believed this was not a work of necessity. Furthermore, in order to protect the farmers from companies, which might refuse their milk on Monday morning, on the ground that it was not good, another resolution was sent to the department of agriculture, asking that an expert be sent to test this milk, to see whether it was necessary that it be delivered on Sunday.

FEARS AERIAL "FREE TRADERS" MAY DODGE THE CUSTOMS DUTIES

W. D. Cockshutt Sees Them Dropping Farm Implements.

BILL IS LAID OVER

C. P. R. Application To Operate Air Service Is Considered in Commons.

Ottawa, June 10.—W. D. Cockshutt, of Brantford is concerned as to steps to be taken for the collection of customs duties, when international air services have been developed. He told the railway committee of the Commons this morning that he did not want any "free traders flying over the border, and dropping farm implements and other articles."

Mr. Cockshutt added, that while in a way he was joking, the matter was one which must be seriously considered, and other members of the committee agreed with him. The bill under consideration at the time was the senate bill giving the Canadian Pacific Railway Company power to operate air craft services.

W. F. Nickle, observed that there was no provision in the bill covering the multitude of problems arising out of the operation of an air service. Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways, said he would ask that the bill stand over in order that he might take it up with his colleagues and the department of justice.

Advises Extreme Caution.

Col. A. T. Thompson, counsel for the Canadian Pacific Railway, explained that there was nothing in the bill that could not be obtained by letters patent. Several air companies had already been incorporated in this manner, but as the C. P. R. does not desire to create a subsidiary company, it was decided to come direct to Parliament. The Canadian Pacific Railway, he said, was willing to submit to all general laws and regulations regarding aircraft, which may come into effect. Apart from his remarks as to customs collections, Mr. Cockshutt advised caution in embarking on the air business. The country was now being made to suffer for mistakes made in 1902, in dealing with the matter of transmission of power. Ample provision should be made, he said, for the protection of lives and property.

Mr. H. M. Mowatt, also emphasized the need of providing proper protection to the public. The bill was laid over for a week.

CANADA EXPECTED TO TRANSPORT MANY HORSES TO FRANCE

Importation of Canadian Stock to France Is Now Permitted.

Ottawa, June 10.—The Canadian trade commission has information from an authoritative source in France that the minister of agriculture has permitted the importation of horses into France free. All animals are subject to sanitary inspection, and must be accompanied by a certificate of origin, stating freedom from contagious illness. The trade commission adds that there is now a possibility of a large trade in horses between the Dominion and the French republic, as the class of horses which has been bred in Canada in the last three or four years, and which originally came from French stock, especially the Percheron, would be most acceptable for French use.

PRESBYTERIANS NEED $1,400,000 TO TIDE CHURCH OVER 1920

Congregational Contributions For 1918 Amounted to $906,099.

SALARIES ARE BOOSTED

"Shepherds in Many Fields Failing To Shear the Sheep."

Hamilton, June 10. — A controversial breeze was stirred up this morning immediately after the Presbyterian General Assembly opened its session, by Rev. S. Banks Nelson jumping to his feet and questioning the right of Rev. Dr. Campbell to give a synopsis of speeches in the minutes or express opinions drawing down a snappy retort from the clerk and the information that he had followed the precedent of 28 years.

John A. Patterson, K.C., of Toronto, presented the report of the board of finance. He stated that the congregations were still languid in their decidencies and far away from the $5 and odd looked for. The ministers were not getting after the congregations hard enough. There was one thing sometimes forgotten by the good shepherd, and that was shearing the sheep.

The givings of congregations for 1918 amounted to $906,099, an increase of $41,378.

Budget revenue, including congregational givings, donations and other receipts, was $1,116,456, as compared with $958,786 in the previous year. However, the revenue fell short of estimated requirements by $193,564.

The total amount received from all sources for the maintenance of missionary, educational and benevolent work was $1,132,739, compared with $1,369,449 in 1917.

Estimates Submitted.

The board recommended that the estimates for the whole church for 1920 be fixed at $1,400,000, of this $1,250,000 being for the western section and $150,000 for the eastern section.

A yearly honorarium of $500 a year to the moderator was recommended as were also salary increases for many officers of the church. The agent of the church and junior clerk of the assembly, secretaries of the board of

TEXT OF THE PEACE TREATY INSERTED IN CONGRESS RECORD

Copy of the Document Was Brought To U. S. by Newspaper Correspondent.

Washington, June 10.—Each member of congress today had a copy of the treaty with Germany. The voluminous and much debated document was contained in the congressional record, printed by order of the Senate late yesterday, after an epoch-making fight, and just after a message from President Wilson had been read saying he could not make the treaty text public without breaking faith with other members of the peace council.

The copy of the treaty brought to this country by a newspaperman went into the record as a result of vigorous efforts of Senator Borah of Idaho, and other republican leaders, who blocked every move of the Democrats to prevent publication.

THIRTEEN CASES TO COME BEFORE JUDGE OF SUPREME COURT

Non-Jury Sittings Commence On June 16.

SOME INTERESTING SUITS

City Defendant in Three, Damages Asked Amounting to $15,500.

Thirteen cases have been entered with the local master at the county buildings, for the non-jury sitting of the Supreme Court on June 16th at 2 p.m. (new time), before the Chief Justice of the King's Bench, Sir Glenholme Falconbridge. Arthur T. Bennett, through his guardian, William T. Bennett, is suing Charles Stewart for $2,000 damages and costs of action as a result of injuries received when struck by defendants' auto on Dundas street, near Oakland avenue. Plaintiff was riding a bicycle, and alleges negligence on the part of the defendant, which is denied. E. T. Essery is acting for Bennett and Purdom & Purdom are conducting the defence.

John Morrison, through his solicitor, H. B. Elliott, has issued a writ against the Premier Trust Company for $2,454 for the upkeep and maintenance of a house, the property of Johanna Hansson, who died intestate, the defendants being the executors of the will. The amount claimed also includes remuneration for the wife of the plaintiff, with whom defendant lived until date of death, November 7, 1917. E. H. Johnson is acting for the Premier Trust Company.

Seeks Alimony.

Margaret Hay is seeking to recover alimony from her husband, Henry Hay, who she claimes deserted her and left her to support five children. J. M. McEvoy is acting for the defendant, and the support of the children is disputed. Both parties are residents of this city, and Merdith & Fisher are acting for Margaret Hay.

Watt & Blackwell, architects, of this city, through Gibbons & Co., solicitors, have issued a writ against Hitchcock & Richardson, a Sarnia firm, for $1,150, commission alleged due as per agreement, and for costs of action. The defendents claim the agreement was made regarding repairs to the Bellchamber Hotel, Sarnia, the fee agreed being 3½ per cent of costs of work, which amounted to $7,763, of which $121.71 is due to the local firm. Hannah, Lesuer & McKinley of Sarnia are defending the suit.

Arthur T. Rowell is suing Esther and Louis Isenburg to recover $1,800, according to written agreement, alleging that the defendants agreed to purchase land in London Township, on the Proof Line road, from him. The defendants, who are Russians, claim that the land was not as represented, being uninhabitable, and it was necessary to abandon it. Through their solicitors, Lazier & Lazier of Hamilton, they have issued a counter-claim for the return of $200 paid on the land, alleging that it is not three-fourths of an acre, as represented to them at the time of sale, and that damages were incurred by the misrepresentation. Meredith & Fisher are acting for Rowell.

J. A. Brownlee, local hardware merchant, through Gibbons & Co., is suing the city of London and public utilities commission for $5,000 and costs of action, damages resulting from the flooding of his cellar at 385 Talbot street, on February 1 last, alleging negligence on the part of the defendants. The defence, through T. G. Meredith, solicitor, claims that defendants are improperly joined, and that notice of writ was not served upon them one month before action, and on these grounds ask claim to be dismissed. O'Dell & Mitchell, through the same solicitors, also are suing the city of London and public utilities commission for $3,000 damages incurred on the same date by the flooding of their cellar, adjoining the Brownlee store. The same defence is offered in this case as above.

County Sues City.

The County of Middlesex, through J. C. Elliott, is suing the city of London for $7,500, under the highways improvement act, for suburban roads, claiming the city liable for a similar amount as expended on these roads by the county. The defendants allege that the amount was expended for weed cutting and repairs not under the provisions of the act. They also claim that no councilor from the city was present at any meetings in connection with this expenditure. T. G. Meredith is conducting the defence for the city.

Edythe Kerrigan, through her solicitors, Gibbons & Co., seeks an order compelling Emma M. Harrison to maintain a road and bridges on property known as Harrison Place, Port Stanley, as per agreement of purchase from the defendant. She also seeks damages and costs of action. Defendant claims that there has been no breach of covenant, the failure to maintain road and bridges being denied. J. M. McEvoy is acting for defendant.

The British-American Oil Company is being sued for $4,437.86 by the City Gas Company, plaintiffs alleging that through failure to deliver 97,052 gallons of gas oil, the above damages were incurred. Defendants claim that delay, if any, was unavoidable, as oil was being shipped from the United States, and may have been delayed by circumstances beyond their control. Gibbons & Co. for plaintiffs; Foy, Knox & Monahan of Toronto for the defendants.

Lillie McGougan, through her solicitors, Elliott & Moss, has issued a writ against Archibald, Angus and Malcolm McGougan for $2,083.70, being an amount to the credit of Hugh McGougan, deceased, which was ordered to be paid defendants by Judge Talbot Macbeth. The defendants, through J. B. McKillop, accept the issue and leave it to the supreme court to decide.

John Wilkinson, through Gibbons & Co., is suing William and Susan Border for $1,250, the alleged amount due on a promissory note. J. M. McEvoy is acting for the defendants.

H. T. Reason, through Gibbons & Co., has issued a writ against F. Hutchinson for $2,586, claiming this amount due for the sale of gravel to defendant. Tennant & Tennant, acting for the defendant, have issued a counter-claim for $2,000, alleging that Hutchinson was prevented from drawing gravel from plaintiff's property, and alleging breach of contract resulting in damages as claimed. Both parties are engaged in business in this city.

TO CONSIDER CONSTITUTION.—The London Chapter of the Ontario Fire Prevention League is meeting this afternoon in the chamber of commerce rooms to consider a constitution for the organization.

SIX YOUNG WOMEN START HOUSING SCHEME ALL THEIR OWN IN CITY

Six young women of the city have started a community housing scheme of their own. They have had plans prepared of a block of six houses, detached, but fronting on a common grass plot in the centre of the crescent around which they propose to erect their houses. The verandas are all at the back. The crescent will form a driveway from the street, round in front of all the houses, giving a private approach instead of an approach direct from the street. The location of the property on which they intend to build is in ward 3, fairly close to the centre of the city.

Building Inspector Piper has not yet received back from the Provincial Housing Commission the plan which he submitted for a house which, while not conforming absolutely to the commission's regulations, is so close that the only variation is one of six inches in one dimension of the living-room. In the meantime he is working with a view to evolving a house which will comply with the regulations, and which can be built for about $1,800. He says he is finding this a very difficult proposition indeed.

MRS. JOHN GEMMILL ELECTED PRESIDENT OF MOTHERS' CLUB

Annual Meeting, Held at Ryerson Public School, Attended by a Great Many.

Mrs. John Gemmill was elected president of the Union Mothers' Club last evening at the annual meeting held in the Ryerson school. The new and lively interest in this organization was evident by the capacity audience in the large auditorium of the school, representatives coming from as far as London Junction, Ealing and Manor Park. Many visitors were also present.

Child welfare, Red Cross and other patriotic work, Children's Aid Society, and betterment of conditions existing in the city in general, are just a few of the things that the Union Club has undertaken to work upon. Sixteen reports of the clubs of the various schools in the city were read last evening, and even clubs in the kindergarten period of their career had done one thing that drew spontaneous applause from the audience. These clubs, with many other women's organizations, have done much during the war in making things pleasant for the battalions that have camped in the city. Byron Sanatorium has not been forgotten, almost every club having given a liberal donation on Rose Day.

Retiring President.

Mrs. A. E. Tutt, the retiring president, who has held that office for the past two years—and prior to that office she held the secretaryship for three years—presided at the meeting, and congratulated the secretaries on the excellent reports submitted. A burst of applause arose from the audience when Mrs. Tutt announced that the union of clubs could boast of a membership of 1,098 approximately, an increase of 150 members over that of last year.

Elected Delegate.

Mrs. W. J. Carson, who was the delegate this year to the Ontario Education Association from the Union Mothers' Club, told very interestingly of the proceedings, noting particularly that the London Mothers' Clubs were far ahead of those in Toronto, the clubs in Toronto having been only organized within the last two years. She said the clubs there were known as the Home and School Councils. Mrs. Carson said that they proposed to endeavor to establish a Provincial Mothers' Club Association in the near future. London has 16 of the clubs, while Toronto has only 99.

Following the reading of the individual club reports and that of the Union Club, and the treasurer's report, a musical program was given by Mrs. (Dr.) Lauro, Miss Kathleen Allen, Major Grant Harris, and Miss Ruth Tanner gave a humorous reading. Mrs. Grant Harris was the accompanist.

Officers Elected.

This was followed by the election of officers, who were installed by John Barnard, school trustee. The newly-elected officers were: Mrs. John Gemmill, president; Mrs. Atkinson, first vice-president; Mrs. White, second vice-president; Mrs. Brighton, third vice-president; Mrs. F. Hughes, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Colin Smith, recording secretary; Mrs. Dickson, treasurer; Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Smith, program committee; Mrs. Benson, press secretary. A hearty vote of thanks was given to the retiring treasurer and president of the Union Club, Mrs. A. E. Tutt and Mrs. John Rose. Upon installation, Mrs. Gemmill spoke of the splendid work of the past officers, and hoped that she would be able to keep up the good record of the club.

COST OF MANUFACTURING BUTTER SEEMS TO VARY

At the inquiry being held in Ottawa into the high cost of living by a parliamentary committee, a Belleville creamery manager stated that a fair estimate of the cost of manufacturing butter was 4 cents a pound, and the creamery's net profit was 1½ cents per pound.

At one time, in this district it was the general rule at creameries that no cream was bought outright, but the manufacturer was paid a set sum for every pound produced, about 3 cents, out of which he paid all expenses for making and took his profits. Now, says Frank Herns, secretary of the Western Ontario Dairyman's Association, most of the creamery owners buy the cream at an agreed price and get what they can for the finished product.

There are, however, a few creameries which make on the old commission basis, and these charge about 4 cents a pound. They, apparently, can pay expenses and make a profit from this amount, although it is generally believed the profit is small. It will be noticed that the total paid in the amount named by the Belleville man as that needed for expenses alone.

PROGRESS OF AUXILIARY W. M. S. IS REMARKABLE

The monthly meeting of the Dundas Centre Auxiliary W. M. S. was held in the church parlor on Monday, with a fair attendance of members.

In the absence of the regular delegate to the branch meeting, recently held in Stratford, short reports were given by several of the members who had attended the convention.

The progress of the society had exceeded the expectations of the members who had aimed at twenty per cent increase. Thirty-two per cent in income, a total of $34,666.57, being received by the branch treasurer, an increase of $8,348.88 in the amount remitted to the general treasurer.

It was decided to withdraw the July and August meetings.

Mrs. John Jones was appointed as strangers' secretary.

LIVING IN JAPAN IS DEARER THAN HERE, SAYS JAPANESE M. P.

M. Takahashi Visiting City On Way To Europe.

SALARIED MEN POOREST

Laborers Fare Better, With Wages Going Up Steadily in East.

Cheer up! The cost of living is higher in Japan than in Canada, according to a member of the Japanese Parliament. M. Takahashi, who spent the week-end in town, the guest of Dr. Peter and Mrs. Macdonald, 228 Central avenue. M. Takahashi, who is on his way to Europe, came to London while in Canada, owing to the fact that he is a friend of Miss Caroline Macdonald, B.A., who has been engaged in social service work in Tokio for several years.

To The Advertiser today he spoke most appreciatively of her work there, stating, "If you have other young women, who can come to help us as Miss Macdonald has done, we will welcome them."

M. Takahashi is a graduate of Princeton University.

Food Dear.

Concerning the cost of living in Japan, "Foodstuffs have gone up very much in price this last few years," said the Japanese M. P. "Bread is dearer than it is in Canada, and meat! You cannot imagine how dear it is. One pound of good steak there will cost 70 cents in Canadian money.

"The Japanese, as a whole, are vegetarians, so the price of meat does not affect them so much. Rice is their principal food, and in connection with this there has been an interesting development. It is now the laborers, the wage-earning people, who are eating the first-quality of rice, while the clerks and such salaried people are eating the inferior quality. It used to be just the other way. Why is this? Because wages are going up, up, up, and salaries not in proportion to the cost of living.

"As yet, labor is not organized in Japan, but still we have agitations to advance wages.

Advance 300 Per Cent.

"In some of the big stores, salaries are four times what they were some years ago.

"There is agitation to advance the salaries of the government clerks, who are in far harder position because of the advance in cost of living than the laboring people. A survey is being made to ascertain exact conditions. Unless taxes are increased it will not be possible to advance the salaries of clerks.

"The cost of wool in Japan is high, much higher than in the United States. The Government is taking steps to foster the wool-growing industry.

"The high cost of living in Japan is due to the fact that there is not the supply to meet the demand. No, food speculation does not figure at all there. It would not be allowed. A profiteer in food would soon be boycotted there, and a speculator would not be recognized socially. It might not be difficult for a man with big capital to try speculation in food, but he would very soon be traced up in Japan and an end put to his manipulation of prices. It would be dangerous for a man to try anything of the kind in our country."

Recognition of Women.

In the course of conversation, M. Takahashi referred to the recognition which is now being accorded women in Japan.

"Co-education has been tried in the Imperial University at Sendai," he said, "and the discovery has been made that the mental endowment of the Japanese woman is in every way equal to that of the Japanese man. One of our women students who has taken a post graduate course in mathematics is now teaching as a professor of mathematics in the higher normal college for girls. Another who has taken a post graduate course in chemistry has been appointed an instructor in Sendai University.

M. Takahashi referred to the religious situation in Japan. "The difficulty has been," he said, "with the more general education resulting from compulsory education that the people, in abandoning traditional beliefs, have become non-religious. The trouble in Japan is not Eastern religions, but the beliefs that have come from the Western world.

"Instead of Christianity, our students brought back from the British and European universities the scientific explanation of the universe, the influence of Spencer and Darwin. The Christian church is fighting in Japan for the establishment of Christian ideals, and at present we have good hope, as the war has had the effect in Japan of making the people more sincere, more open to religious influence."

THE TIMAGAMI FOREST RESERVE.

Every angler who knows the real thrill of landing a "big fellow" desires to enjoy the sport that the wonderful Timagami region of Ontario affords. Sportsmen who have fished all the important waters of the continent declare that the fishing in Timagami cannot be excelled. Lake Timagami, with its sixteen hundred islands and three thousand miles of shore line, is the home of the black bass, the brook trout and other game fish, while the innumerable smaller lakes are also well stocked. There are no hardships to be encountered in reaching Timagami. A few minutes after leaving the Grand Trunk through train from Toronto, the sportsman finds himself in the bosom of the forest, and in a labyrinth of islands, inlets and channels inviting him to go north, southeast and west. There are good outfitting facilities, and also some boarding establishments, but this great region is still absolutely unspoiled. For full particulars and information regarding this territory, apply to Grand Trunk agent or C. E. Horning, D. P. A., Toronto, Ont. b

AN IDEAL SUMMER OUTING.

Algonquin Park, 200 miles north of Toronto, and 170 miles west of Ottawa, is known to thousands who have enjoyed the attractions that are offered in this wonderful government reserve. At an altitude of 2,000 feet above sea level, the air is pure and bracing. Speckled trout, salmon trout and black bass abound in the lakes and streams of this park. The Grand Trunk operates hotels and log cabin camps in the park. The Highland Inn on Cache Lake, Algonquin Park Station, with accommodation for 150 people, opens for the reception of guests this year on June 14, and Nominigan Camp, on Smoke Lake, with accommodation for 75 people, opens on June 28.

Indications are that there will be a large influx of summer visitors to this park this year, and patrons are advised to communicate early and reserve their accommodation for their summer outing. WESTERN MEMBERS ALL EXPECTED TO LEAVE GOVERNMENT

Saskatchewan Publisher Here Thinks This Probable.

PROSPERITY REMARKABLE

Last Two Years Have Given Farmers Rich Return On Crops.

W. B. Telfer, publisher of the Humboldt (Sask.) Journal, and a cousin of Hon. Walter Scott, a former premier of Saskatchewan, is visiting in the city and Middlesex County. Mr. Telfer says it is doubtful if the west ever before enjoyed such solid prosperity as at the present time. The last two years have given farmers a rich return on crops, and there is a large immigration from the United States.

"I will be much surprised if practically all the Unionist members from the west do not leave the Government because of the lack of relief in the tariff proposals," said the western publisher. "The benefits of free trade were shown in the admission of tractors duty free. The west bought enormous numbers because of the consequent reduction in price, and this one phase of the question indicated what cheaper machinery means to the country. At the same time we are not expecting absolute free trade, but a reasonable revision downward. Any western member who stands with the Government on this issue will never be returned again by a western constituency."

CHRIS FITZGERALD GUEST AT ROTARIAN MEMBERS LUNCHEON

Gave Clubmen Some Interesting Sidelights on Life in Cuba.

Chris. Fitzgerald of Havannah, who was a guest at the Rotarian Club luncheon yesterday, gave the members of that organization some interesting sidelights on life in Cuba, and particularly on the liquor situation there. He said, among other things, that Cuba was undoubtedly the country of opportunity, and he was willing to guarantee that any man who went there and was willing to work, no matter at what, could become rich. He declared that instances of large fortunes having been made out of sugar cane growing were not only not rare, but were the rule rather than the exception. He instanced the case of one man to whom he had been speaking just before he left, who had just disposed of his holdings for $400,000. That man, said Mr. Fitzgerald, came to Cuba fourteen years ago with nothing but his two hands and a willingness to work.

The natives, he said, had adopted Manana, the Spanish word for tomorrow, as their motto, and they preferred the day after tomorrow. The Spaniards were the big store-keepers, and a Jew could not compete with them in the way of business. They had Scotsmen backed off the map in that respect. Their stores were open from early morning until midnight, and just as sure as a newcomer introduced a novelty in the way of a saleable article they promptly got it and undersold the newcomer.

The stores were not open on Sunday. On that day the only thing which could be bought, and which could be bought 24 hours of the day, was all the "booze" a man wanted. But no one got drunk. He offered to pay $100 to any man who could point out a drunken man in Havannah except he were an American or other foreigner. One reason for this was that liquor was served in every cafe, where dominoes, checkers and other games were provided. A man would buy a drink and perhaps sip it for more than an hour. The fact that the treating system as it is was known in Canada does not exist in Cuba was given as another possible reason for the absence of drunkenness.

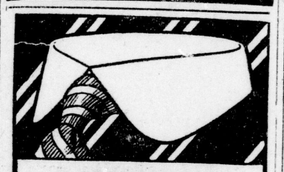

Still another factor, Mr. Fitzgerald thought, was the Cuban law, which compels the keeper of any place of refreshment to provide free to anyone asking for it an unlimited supply of pure water. A man could, and men did, go into cafes and ask for a glass of water without any loss of self-respect, and they were always supplied with as good grace as if they were buying champagne.

EGGS GO DOWN.—Some people may claim that the price of eggs is away up, but last night eggs took a sudden drop. As a truck owned by C. A. Mann was crossing Dundas on Richmond street, a crate of eggs suddenly came in contact with the pavement with disastrous results.

WILL SUGGEST THAT CHEAPER HOUSES BE BUILT UNDER PLANS

Local Delegation Going To Interview Controller.

UNNECESSARY EXPENSES

Too Many Clothes Closets Entail Extra Cost To Workmen.

Chairman J. G. Richter and Commissioner R. H. Hessell of the local housing commission, and Building Inspector A. M. Piper will go to Toronto tomorrow morning to interview J. A. Ellis, the provincial housing controller and the architect of the provincial commission, to suggest certain modifications in the Ontario housing regulations, in order to permit of the erection of workmen's dwellings at a cost lower than is possible if the present regulations are observed.

Too Many Closets.

The members of the delegation will point out that the average workingman's income is inadequate to meet the monthly payments on houses containing all the conveniences called for by the regulations. They will urge, among other things, that the closets required in each bed-room, which have to be plastered inside and out and provided with doors, add materially to the cost and are not really indispensable since curtained corners provided with shelves and hangers would answer the same purpose with complete satisfaction to most of those anxious to take advantage of the housing scheme.

Modify Room Sizes.

A modification of the room-dimension and area regulations will also be urged, on the ground particularly that a living-room is more often than not used as a parlor by a majority of workingmen, and does not need to be a large room.

The results of the visit will be communicated to the commission at its regular meeting on Wednesday, and from present indications it is quite likely that the consent or refusal of the provincial commission to modify the regulations will determine whether London will operate under the scheme at all.

Aviators Do Some Fancy Flying and Take Up Passengers

Airmen Brought Here by the Majestic Theatre As Attraction.

To give Londoners an opportunity of seeing their own city from above the management of the Majestic Theatre arranged with the Canadian Aero Film Company to have some airplanes in this city today.

Former Royal Air Force pilots are in charge of the machines, and in addition to carrying passengers, arrangements have been made by the company to produce a moving picture, which will include views of the city and of the leading business houses and industrial plants. This film will be shown at the Majestic as soon as completed and developed.

Besides carrying passengers, the pilots gave exhibition flights, and did stunts in the air surpassing anything that residents of this city have seen either in reality or on the screen.

Will Oppose Any Increased Fares Without People's Vote

Ald. Moorhead States His Stand on Street Railway Question.

Ald. C. J. Moorhead will vigorously oppose any movement to have the city council authorize a higher rate of street car fares without first consulting the citizens and securing their consent to such legislation.

Speaking on the subject today, he declared that, apart altogether from the illegality of action by the council, in his opinion it would be morally wrong to commit the people to any modification of an existing franchise such as that under which the street railway operates.

"The present bylaw," he said, "fixes the fare and unless, and until, the people of the city declare by a vote that they are willing to have the fares raised, the council has no right to allow them to be raised. Apart from everything else, it would involve an increased valuation if the city decides to take over the road at the expiration of the franchise. The council certainly should not do anything which would involve considerable and unnecessary added expense to the public in the matter of the purchase price of the utility."

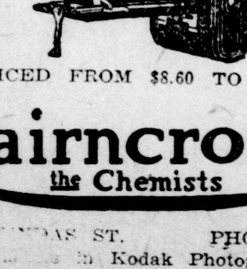

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE BRIGADE SERVICE

During the carnival held by the Great War Veterans' Association at Queen's Park last week, the No. 4 Nursing Division of St. John Ambulance Brigade had a first aid tent. Over 44 cases were attended in all during the week, some necessitating a doctor. Others, merely nervous cases among returned soldiers. One man, who opened a box containing a large rattlesnake, was badly bitten by it. His son had the presence of mind to withdraw the poison by his mouth. The man was very week for some time after.

FINE HOTEL TO BE BUILT NEAR SULPHUR SPRINGS

London To Enter Lists With Other Health Resorts.

COMPANY IS FORMING

Meeting On Thursday To Get Board of Directors Installed.

London's sulphur springs, from which gush out water said to be as curative and beneficial as any mineral water on the continent (and as distinctive in odor and flavor), at last are to receive the recognition due them. Thursday of this week, a meeting of some twenty-five or thirty citizens will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms to form a board of directors and make plans for the development of this big natural resource of the city.

The plans include the building of a sanatorium-hotel, the last word in construction and equipment, with nursing and medical service for health seekers who make it their mecca.

Owing to the fact that the water is at its best as it comes gushing up from the earth, it is probable that the hotel will be built on the mineral spring grounds on the river bank at the foot of Dundas street, and that an arcade entrance will connect it directly with the Dundas street car line.

Urged to Wait.

A. W. Gould, who has been the proprietor of the Mineral Springs' property for something over four years, was urged not to rebuild, by prominent citizens, after the burning of the old sulphur baths. The idea in their minds was that London with such an asset should have the curative value of the springs known far and wide, and facilities for attracting tourists and patients, whom the springs might benefit.

To The Advertiser today, Mr. Gould said, "during the past four years, I have again and again received inquiries from a people at a distance in regard to the mineral springs, and asking for reservations. We had no hotel accommodation, and consequently when I wrote back to this effect, we heard nothing more of the prospective visitors.

Success Assured.

"I was in Mount Clemens last week in order to get ideas regarding equipment, etc., and when the proprietor learned that we had a population of 60,000 people in London, he declared that success for us is a foregone conclusion with the commercial backing we can expect to draw upon all the year round, from the citizens taking advantage of the baths, as well as the tourist trade. Mount Clemens, Arkansas Hot Springs and Banff depend practically altogether upon tourist business."

Plans have already been drawn, for the hotel, and the estimated cost of hotel and other preparations is $200,000.

It is probable there will be changes in the original plans which show a six-story building with sun rooms and roof garden on the top. Apart from provision to entertain staying guests and give the citizens the advantage of the baths, there will be ample facilities for entertainments in the big dining room, which can be used for dancing, in the sun rooms and in the roof garden which will be used for tea rooms and tea garden.

If dreams come true, there will be bowling greens and tennis courts, and citizens interested state it is only a matter of a short time until advantage will be taken of opportunities offered by the river for aquatic amusements. Improvements must come whereby the river can again be a popular place for boating, canoeing, etc., right from the foot of Dundas street.

So far as the medical end is concerned, it is stated that a local physician is among the promoters of the project.

It has been decided to make this meeting an open-air event, and hold it in the Springbank pavilion on the evening of Friday, June 20. A musical program is being arranged and refreshments will be served.

GREAT INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY IS TO PASS THROUGH THIS CITY

Theodore Roosevelt Road Will Join Two Portlands — The Association Wants Map Niagara-Port Huron, Which Must Show London.

London is to have a definite place on the map of the Theodore Roosevelt international highway linking up Portland, Maine, with Portland, Oregon, as a perpetual memorial of the one time president of the United States who wrote his name indelibly on the pages of history of the world.

London Must Be There.

The London Chamber of Commerce has received a request from the Theodore Roosevelt International Highway Association, asking the local organization to recommend the most direct route from Niagara to Port Huron, stipulating that London must be on the route. A map is now being prepared by County Engineer Charles Talbot on which the most direct route will be marked, and as soon as this is finished, it immediately will be forwarded to the American association.

Its Advantages.

Members of the chamber of commerce draw attention to the importance to this section of the country of bringing through thousands of tourists annually, and also the fact that it will be in the interests of the municipalities through which the highway passes to do their part in keeping up the road and putting their best foot foremost.

WHITBY LETTER NOT SIGNED BY CLERK S. BAKER

J. E. Willis Says Sir Adam Beck's Statement Without Foundation.

City Clerk S. Baker has received a letter from J. E. Willis, who, Sir Adam Beck said, read a letter at a meeting at Whitby which bore the London coat of arms and the signature to which Sir Adam professed to have been told was S. Baker. Mr. Willis says, in his communication that Sir Adam Beck had no authority to state that the letter was written by Mr. Baker, such a statement being without the slightest foundation, in fact.

In the concluding paragraph of his letter, Mr. Willis makes the definite statement that the only communication ever received from Mr. Baker or Mr. Baker's office was the one asking about the letter to which Sir Adam Beck referred.

Local Police Take Slight Calmly; See Reason For Reward

Toronto Force Needs Big Incentive To Accomplish Anything.

Detectives and police officials here are not at all disgruntled because no $25,000 reward has been offered to them b ythe Chief of Police of Cleveland, for information implicating or leading to the arrest of persons who exploded the bomb near Mayor Davis' house in Cleveland.

A notice to this effect stating that information would be treated as confidential, and that the name of the informant would not be disclosed, was received from Cleveland recently by Toronto police.

Attention of officials here was drawn to the unusually large amount of the reward.

"Probably it was felt that the Toronto police required a very very great incentive in view of some of their late endeavors," was the only reply forthcoming from the sleuths at Carling street station.

Reid of the Chamber of Commerce have been named representatives from London to go to Toronto next week to lay before the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., the claims of London as a meeting place for next year's grand lodge. It is understood that Toronto will bring pressure to bear to have the grand lodge meeting there again next year. This will mean the bringing to the grand lodge headquarters between 800 and 1,000 visitors. London already has plans in view to make the visitors comfortable and happy, provided the invitation is accepted.

PROFITS ARE SMALL ON SALES OF BUTTER, SAYS DAVIES MANAGER

E. C. Fox Declares Company Lost Money On Some Lines.

MORE PROFIT IN MEATS

Operating Cost of the Firm's Business Totalled 20 Per Cent On Dollar.

Ottawa, June 10.—E. C. Fox, general manager of the Wm. Davies Company of Toronto, was the chief witness this morning before the cost of living committee of the Commons. Mr. Fox told the committee that his firm conducts a general meat packing and produce business. Meat products are handled from the hoof to the retail store.

Mr. Nicholson explained to the witness that the committee was desirous of ascertaining the prices paid for butter when it went into cold storage in June and July 1918, and what the same butter cost the consumer during the 1919 selling season.

Mr. Fox said that butter costing 43.51 cents per pound at Montreal between June 22 and July 7 was sold on the average at 44.91 cents and costing 43.57 cents at Toronto sold at 45.21 cents.

Mr. Devlin asked what the average profit was throughout the year.

Lost Money, Says Manager.

"We lost money," replied Mr. Fox. He explained that money was lost on the general business of cheese, butter and eggs, but not on butter alone.

The profits on butter, he said, did not exceed 10 per cent gross on retail sales.

Mr. Devlin asked why creamery butter was so much more expensive than the best farmers' butter.

Mr. Fox replied that his firm was selling butter at 58 cents retail. This butter was bought last week at 53 cents.

Mr. McCoig remarked that there was a spread of 18 cents on butter sold in Ottawa.

Shrinkage Is Small.

To Mr. Nicholson, the witness said the shrinkage of butter in cold storage was very small.

Mr. Devlin asked why butter was selling at 68 cents in Ottawa when it was selling in Toronto at only 58 cents, but this question was left over until Ottawa retail merchants appear before the committee.

Mr. Fox stated that the operating cost of his company totalled 20 cents on the dollar. It was impossible to tell what the net profit was on butter, unless they sold butter only. They made 5 cents gross on a pound of butter.

Mr. Stevens asked what they would sell butter at in Toronto if they were not selling it as a leader.

"We would add 4 cents," replied Mr. Fox. They did not charge the same profit on produce as on meats.

Cost Them Each $1 For Letting Cattle Graze On Streets

North End Residents Complain About Eeach Other's Cows.

"What have you been doing?" the magistrate asked of Mrs. Lucy MacDougall, one of the residents of the north end colony in the vicinity of north St. George street, when she came forward in police court this morning, registering intense indignation and great respectability, to answer to a charge of allowing her pet cow to graze on city property.

A police constable testified that he had found the cow industriously eating grass on St. George street, near Regent, which at that spot, as Mrs. MacDougall said, is nothing more than a mud path.

Mrs. MacDougall objected. It wasn't on city property, anyway and nobody used the street besides, she declared.

"I saw a cow up that way myself a few days ago careening around all over the street," the magistrate interposed. "As a matter of fact," he continued, "lots of my personal friends live near you and some of them have paid fines lately. Two of your neighbors were assessed a dollar no longer ago than this very morning."

"Maybe they deserved it," said Mrs. MacDougall.

Then the police inspector made a few remarks concerning cows and their dining places, with special reference to north St. George street.

Complaints Made.

"People up in that district are always complaining about each other's cows," said he. "Why, this morning some folks came to the police station and told me that Mrs. MacDougall ought to be summoned for allowing her cow to roam all over the place."

Returning to active participation in the case before him, the magistrate explained that as he had fined two neighbors today for a similar offence, Mrs. MacDougall would undoubtedly have to pay $1 and costs likewise.

"You'll have to pay or the other people will think I am discriminating in your favor, you see," he gently pointed out.

"But the cow was only on the street for a few minutes."

"It wasn't on the street at all when you commenced to testify, and now you say it was there for a few minutes. I'm afraid, Mrs. MacDougall, you will have to pay the little fine," insisted the bench.

Will Pay.

Mrs. MacDougall promised to call tomorrow with the money.

George Dixon and Arthur Coverat were the two other northend residents who each paid $1 and costs for privileges of street grazing.

H. Elgie, a bread wagon driver, has a half holiday on Wednesday, so he came to police court instead of tomorrow, the time for which his case had been set, and learned that while he had busied himself at lunch in his house yesterday, his horse had done the same thing on the boulevard in front. The horse had been unhitched from the wagon, and had roamed over the sidewalk in search of more succulent grass. Elgie paid $1 and costs.

LONG ISLAND DOCTOR IS BEING TRIED ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Prosecution in Case Will Depend Entirely On Circumstantial Evidence.

JURY TO GO TO SCENE

Photographs of Finger Prints To Be Exhibited in Court.

Mineola, L. I., June 10.—The trial of Dr. Walter K. Wilkins, charged with the murder of his wife, is now in progress in the criminal branch of the supreme court before Justice Manning. It is expected that the trial will last about three weeks. The evidence on which the physician was indicted is almost entirely circumstantial.

Mrs. Wilkins was struck down outside her Long Island home on the night of February 27. Her skull was crushed by the blows of a hammer. On the night of the tragedy Dr. Wilkins told the police that when he and his wife returned from New York he was the first to enter the house. As he opened the door, he said, he was hit on the head, and his life was saved by a stiff hat he wore. Then, according to his story, Mrs. Wilkins, who had remained outside, cried for help.

One of three invaders described by the physician then left the house, he said, and Mrs. Wilkins' cries ceased. After the men had gone Dr. Wilkins said he found his wife dying.

Plan of the Defence.

The Wilkinses had arrived at Long Beach at 9:06 p.m., and their home is only a five minutes' walk from the station. It was 9:53 before police headquarters was notified of the murder. Charles Wysong, counsel for the defence, says he will prove that this version of what happened is true. This will be the defence.

Prosecutor Weeks will seek to prove that Mrs. Wilkins entered the house on the night of the tragedy. He will produce witnesses to swear that when the body was examined her hair was down and there were no hairpins found near it, but hairpins were found in the house. Mr. Weeks, in addition, will contend that the murdered woman was in the house when the first blow was struck and that marks on the woodwork and walls were made by her blood. To support this, he will produce a black velvet hat she wore, which was undamaged. The detectives say they also found her gloves inside the house.

Newspaper as Evidence.

A piece of newspaper was found wrapped around the hammer with which Mrs. Wilkins was killed. Other pieces of the same paper, with blood stains on them, were found in various parts of the house. There were finger-prints and paint marks on the hammer which the prosecution says are those of Wilkins. All the finger-print exhibits of the prosecution have been photographed and will be thrown on a screen in the courtroom for inspection by the jury.

Mr. Weeks will take the jury to Long Beach to inspect the scene.

For some time after the murder Dr. Wilkins was not suspected. Then, after his story had been gone over many times, he was called to the office of Mr. Weeks to clear up certain points. The next day he left secretly for Baltimore. Three days later he returned to New York and gave himself up. While Dr. Wilkins was out of the city his attorney, Louis Friess, turned a document over to Mr. Weeks, which was a will left by the slain woman. Mr. Friess explained that he had not produced it before because he did not consider it valid. It was not witnessed.

Some time after the murder a tailor in New York came forward and informed Mr. Weeks that Dr. Wilkins had brought a blood-stained suit of clothes to him to have cleaned and pressed. The physician had denied that he wore the clothes in question on the night of the murder.

Plan For Reparations From Germany Outlined by French Expert.

Paris, June 10.—The plan for reparations which is now proposed in the council of four, according to Marcel Hutin of the Echo de Paris, consists, first, in seizing German liquid assets to the value of 25,000,000,000 francs; second, to leave a margin of two years, so that an accurate idea of the economic and financial situation in Germany may be gained; third, after two years to exact payment on account of 125,000,000,000 francs in gold, or negotiable securities, and fourth, to give the reparations committee authority to raise the amount of the annual payments by Germany, should her capacity to pay increase.

Arms Covered With Scars Where Morphine Needle Used

Young Man Goes to Reformatory for Term to Overcome Habit.

Court physicians found upon examination of a young man last week that there was not the space of a pinhole on both of his upper arms that was unscarred from hypodermic needle "dope" punctures.

He was remanded to jail for examination last week when he appeared in police court charged with having a complete morphine outfit in his possession. He said he found the drug and the instruments in a packet on the Grand Trunk station.

Relatives of the accused, who is a young, clean-cut looking man, have made no effort to see or plead for him, the magistrate told him this morning in police court. He pleaded for a long time to be allowed to accompany a returned soldier brother out west where he promised he would reform.

"Then I'll enlist in the army if you will give me a chance," the prisoner offered when the magistrate declined.

He was sentenced to a term in the Ontario Reformatory of not less than three months and not more than two years.

Commission Is Given Credit For Big Decrease in Price

Raw Materials for Transformers Up, But Price of Latter Down.

The tenders received for transformers by the utilities commission at its last meeting provide an interesting commentary on the effect on prices of combines. Although the cost of all raw materials used in the manufacture of electrical appliances has been steadily jumping, the prices quoted were very little more than half what the commission paid the last time it purchased transformers. The only explanation given is that a close combine, which previously existed between the different electrical companies has been broken up, largely, it is said, as the result of action by the London utilities commission, which set the manufacturers to quarreling among themselves.

GOES TO REFORMATORY

Roy Strong Found Sleeping in G. T. R. Car After Warning.

Found asleep in a Grand Trunk railway car yesterday, Roy Strong, for the second time within a week, was in court charged with vagrancy.

On June 5, Strong was ordered to go to work and to keep away from his mother, who had informed the police she was unable to urge her son to work, and that he was worthless.

"Do you want to go to prison?" the magistrate asked him this morning.

"Not if I can help it," Strong mumbled.

Strong's persistence in keeping away from toil decided the magistrate in sending him to the Ontario Reformatory for an indeterminate period.

Anglican Delegation.

Specific Sundays were set aside by the assembly on which ministers may present to their congregations different phases of the work of the church. The bishop of Niagara, Very Rev. Dean Owen and Ven. Archdeacon Forneret were received by the assembly as a delegation from the Church of England.

"Out of the synod meetings and greetings may I express the hope that the spirt of unity, brotherhood and co-operation may be fostered," was one of his lordship's remarks. "The Christian church," he said, "in its widest sense, is divided. She therefore cannot bring her moral influence fully to bear upon the nations that were at war.

"If the Christian church had been invited and filled with the living God there would have been no war. In this country we are divided. We cannot present an unbroken front and bring our moral influence to bear upon the Government. As a Christian church we are humiliated when we contemplate the industrial unrest. And yet I believe unity is in the air; that it cannot be suppressed.

"We have united our forces for the great drive of the coming autumn for the strengthening of the religious forces of the country. Yet what is there between you and me? The principles of our church are fundamental. The brotherhood of chaplains in the terrible experiences overseas will be perpetuated. Let us pray for the day when the spirit of unity will prevail," concluded his lordship.

Offending Motorists Are Lawful Prey of Police

Many Are Summoned, One Accused Getting Case Adjourned.

The most usual thing the police do these days is to lay information against motor car drivers, who commit breaches of the Ontario motor vehicles' act. Drivers of cars persist in taking the wrong sides of city streets, passing standing street cars headed in the same direction, both on the right and the left sides, and speeding on streets within the city limits.

Chester King, in police court this morning, gained an adjournment of his case until June 13, when he appeared on a summons for speeding on May 31. King came to court with the knowledge of sure proof that he was not guilty. He intimated this to the magistrate before his appearance.

When the traffic cop, who took his number and his rate of speed, read the evidence from his little red note book, it was found that a mistake in King's summons had been made, and that the charge should have been laid for speeding on June 3. The cop testified that King had made Wellington street from Clarence on Dundas, in just 18 seconds.

Some who paid $5 and costs for a variety of traffic offences were: T. H. Baker, J. G. McConnell, J. W. White, C. Armstrong, Bail McKay, James Ruddy and J. B. Tanton.

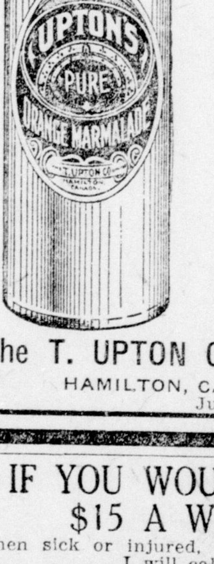

EARLY CLOSING MEETS WITH SOME DIFFICULTY

Lack of Unanimity on Part of Merchants to Blame.

Difficulties seem to beset the way of early closing in certain lines owing to the lack of unanimity on the part of merchants, or even of seventy-five per cent of them, which would make a bylaw possible.

Just now, an effort is being made to line up the furniture dealers. Some of the promoters of Saturday early closing in this line of trade, as well as the Wednesday afternoon off, are in favor of at least a three months' trial.

SHIFTLESS BORROWING POLICY OF BORDEN'S GOVERNMENT HAS LOADED CANADA WITH DEBT

Generations Yet To Come Will Suffer From the Profligate Methods of Borden Administration, Declares A. R. MacMaster in Debate On Budget.

THE STAMPEDE HAS BEGUN

OTTAWA, June 9.—Hon. T. A. Crerar, former minister of agriculture, took his seat in the House "No Man's Land" this afternoon. On his right, he has Major Andrews of Winnipeg, on his left, Dr. Clark of Red Deer.

(Special to The Advertiser.)

OTTAWA, June 9.—Sir Thomas White's budget speech failed this afternoon to stand up in any particular before the effective and logical criticism of the Opposition financial critic, A. R. MacMaster, of Brome. As an indication of the telling nature of Mr. MacMaster's analysis, Hon. A. L. Sifton, minister of customs, the member of the Government who followed Mr. MacMaster in the debate, made absolutely no attempt to refute a single phase of the criticism offered by the member for Brome. Mr. Sifton devoted less than half an hour to generalities, and wound up with the very lame declaration that if any man in the House could suggest a budget from any government which would be better suited to the country's needs he might do so.

The speech of Mr. MacMaster was both constructive and destructive. It was, in fact, one of the most convincing budget criticisms which has been delivered in the Commons for many a day. He dealt with the improvident borrowing policy of the minister, by which the profiteers went practically free, and the generations yet to come would be shouldered with an appalling debt.

Why Country Is In a Mess.

He condemned the inflation of the currency of the Dominion, for which the Government was responsible, and through which the cost of the necessities of life were enhanced to the consumer. He blamed the Government for its negligence in not bringing down the budget months ago—a negligence which had resulted in industrial stagnation. He characterized the Government's shipbuilding scheme as the most profligate proposal to spend the money of the people which had ever been put forward, and strongly questioned the wisdom of the twenty-five million credit to Rumania.

He declared that the advantage which might accrue from the fact that three-quarters of Canada's debt was owed at home was nullified by the fact that the bonds were tax-free and the holders immune from income taxation. And he characterized the insignificant tariff reforms proposed in the budget as an attempt to hold divergent interests together and as largely "camouflage."

Get Down to Business.

On the other hand, the speech of the member for Brome was constructive. He advocated the summoning of "an industrial parliament" to Ottawa to discuss the existing conditions of unrest. He advised the inauguration of business administration in the departments of government. He declared that Parliament should once more get hold of the public purse.

He solemnly warned the minister against a continuation of borrowing, which could only result in a continued increase in the cost of living. He declared that the Government, if necessary, should take charge of the distribution at reasonable prices of the staple necessities of life to the consumer. And he warned the manufacturers against a continued opposition to tariff reductions, which he said would come in spite of them.

Borden Government Still.

At the outset Mr. MacMaster scored the Government (which he declared was still the Borden Government) for its improvident bargain with the Canadian Northern, by which Canada assumed a debt of four hundred million dollars, and gave ten million dollars for stock, which had been declared by the Drayton-Acworth Commision to be worthless. For this the country would not forgive the minister of finance.

Referring to the Government's orgy for borrowing, he declared that it had been tardy in taxing the profiteers, that before the war profits tax had been inaugurated millions of profits had been piled up out of war orders, and the minister had simply to be forced to impose an income tax. As a result consumption had borne the greater part of the burden of taxation. In this connection he compared the sources of revenue of the United Kingdom, where in 1918, 81 per cent of the taxes collected had been on income and profits, and only 19 per cent on consumption; of the United States, where in the same year 80 per cent had been collected on income and profits and 20 per cent on consumption, while in Canada during the same year consumption had borne 89 per cent of the burden of taxation, and income and profits the insignificant proportion of 11 per cent.

Is It Good Business?

Dealing with the Government's advance to Rumania, Mr. MacMaster declared that it gave an opportunity to Canadian manufacturers to make money, but would the people of Canada, who supplied the money, get any of the profits which would accure? And would the people of Canada even get the money back? He had doubts as to the stability of the Rumanian Government.

"I ask my honorable friend, the minister of finance," he said, "if when he was protector of the widow and orphan as head of a trust company he would have made such an investment of their money?"

The cost of living was due to the inflation of the currency, he declared, but it was also due to scarcity, and scarcity was due to shortage of production. The only method by which this could be cured was by getting capital and labor together. It was useless for the Government to shift the responsibility to the provinces, or vice versa, in this matter. What should be done was the calling of an "industrial parliament" to Ottawa to thresh all the difficulties out.

Bluffing About Tariff.

Mr. MacMaster exectively dealt with the Government's tariff reductions. It had been stated that the 7½ per cent war tax had been removed from a specific list of articles. But on many of these specified, including coffee, wheat, flour, canned vegetables, bananas, sardines, iron ores, etc., it had never been imposed in the first place. On other articles from which it had been taken, which included linens, woolens, fur caps, gloves, collars and cuffs, the duty still ranged from 30 to 37½ per cent.

"The minister of finance is in this position: The consumers and the western people asked for a loaf of tariff bread, and he has handed them a very small soda cracker." The mountain labored and brought forth a mouse, but it was such a small mouse that even the most nervous woman would not mount a chair for it.

He characterized the Government's bargain with the railways, whereby they were granted free coal in return for a special rate on agricultural implements to the west as so improvident as to verge on the immoral. The railroads had been forced by a bribe to give these concessions.

Moves for Reciprocity.

Mr. MacMaster's amendment to Sir Thomas White's budget proposals declared the finance minister's proposals to be unsatisfactory, and called for tariff changes such as would free the food of the people, place implements for the development of the resources of the country on the free list, substantially reduce the general tariff and bring into effect the reciprocity agreement with the United States.

The amendment was probably made general in its form because of the fact that early in the session Mr. MacMaster moved a tariff resolution which was debated and voted down. There is a general rule of the House that the same matter may not be debated twice during one session. Speaker Rhodes called attention to this rule when Mr. MacMaster moved his amendment, and stated that he would give his decision later.

Hon. A. L. Sifton, minister of justice, said he would support the budget, because it was not desirable in such times as these that the whole fiscal policy of the Government should be changed at one session. He emphasized the present state of world affairs and the uncertainty as to when peace will actually arrive.

Sifton Short of Arguments.

At the evening sitting, O. Turgeon said that Mr. Sifton's speech was brief because he was short of arguments. "He maintained that customs duties are higher in Canada than in the United States, and that Mr. Crerar had left the Government because of its policy of procrastination.

Hon. C. C. Ballantyne gave the budget his hearty support, and said that the member for Brome had not suggested any new ways of raising revenue. He thought the so-called cleavage between east and west was nothing more than a misunderstanding, and that Canada should pursue a policy of moderate protection.

Mr. Baldwin of Stanstead, and Dr. Manion of Fort William, were the other speakers of the evening, who thought the Government should take steps to stop profiteering and to develop the natural resources of the country.

Dr. Beland of Beauce, moved the adjournment of the debate, and will be the first speaker on Tuesday.

GETS A PERMANENT BENCH APPOINTMENT

HON. HUGH GUTHRIE.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

OTTAWA, June 9.—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, solicitor-general, is to be appointed assistant judge of the executor court of Canada. Mr. Guthrie, prior to taking up his new duties, will be given a trip to England to represent Canada before the British Privy Council.

WORLD'S CHAMPION COW BRINGS OWNER $26,000 AT SALE

Norwich Men Get Big Prices For Holsteins at Philadelphia.

WOODSTOCK, June 9—Rolo Mercena DeKol, the world's champion butter-producing cow, has been sold for $26,000. The holstein, which was owned by J. Beryl Hanmer, the young Oxford dairyman, was taken to the national holstein sale held in Philadelphia, together with her calf and three other animals from the farm of Mr. Hanmer.

The champion was sold to a Kentucky man. Her four-months-old calf was sold at the same time for $7,100; Elva Spofford, a three-year-old, brought $7,100, and her calf, $900. In all, Mr. Hanmer received $37,850 for the three cows and and three calves.

At the same sale, A. E. Hulet of Norwich also sold a cow for $3,000 and her calf for $1,500.

Rolo Mercena DeKol made her world's record this spring. Under Government supervision she gave 738.7 pounds of milk in seven days, or the equivalent of 51.93 pounds of butter. In the 30-day test she gave 2,925 pounds of milk, or the equivalent of 200.34 pounds of butter.

It was expected that the champion cow would bring a much greater price, but possibly the fact that Mr. Hanmer is not very well known in the United States as a breeder of high-class Holsteins, had something to do with what is considered a small price for a world's champion.

VETERANS SUBMIT PROPOSALS FOR BETTER GOVERNMENT

Executive of the Association Takes Unalterable Stand Against 'One Big Union.'

OTTAWA, June 9.—The Dominion executive of the Great War Veterans Association of Canada, meeting here, has made a "declaration of principles," which includes opposition to the underlying principles of the "one big union," with its accord of Russian Bolsheviki and German Spartacans. The memorial has been handed to Premier Borden. It is as follows:

1. That we stand unalterably opposed to the introduction of the doctrines of Bolshevism and anarchy in this country, and we are not in accord with the underlying principles of the "one big union," which expressed itself as being in full accord with the Russian Bolsheviki and the German Spartacans, whose principles seek "by massed action" of labor, to enforce their power upon the majority of the people, and have as one of its possible results the menacing of our institutions of government and the threat of their replacement by soviet rule.

Will Lend Active Assistance.

2.—We desire and will endeavor to insure that all members of our association will, whenever occasion demands, lend active assistance in upholding constitutional authority, the laws of the country and good order.

3.—We recommend that a round table conference be held, comprised of progressive representatives of labor, employers, farmers, returned soldier citizens and women to consider a solution of the present industrial situation.

4.—We indorse the nine principles respecting labor as adopted by the peace conference.

They Suggest Remedies.

5. We advocate progressive legislation as an antidote to unrest and suggest to that end that serious consideration be given the amendment of laws respecting the following subjects: (a) a minimum wage; (b) insurance against old age, illness and unemployment; (c) suitable housing for all; (d) reduction of the cost of living by the principle of co-operation limiting the profits of the so-called middlemen, regulations governing the holding of perishable products in cold storage plants, and otherwise as deemed possible; (e) stringent restrictions upon immigration and naturalization; (f) suitable and equal opportunities for the children of both rich and poor permitting them to attain the general and higher forms of education with government financial assistance and scholarships, such education to include instruction in governmental problems and citizenship, an extended scope to attain greater agricultural and artizanship education, and thus raise the dignity of labor to a proper level which would induce more Canadian persons to engage in the pursuits of educated artizan labor; (g) the support of the general principle of the voice of labor in industrial management as exemplified in the report of the Whitley council of Great Britain; (h) proportional representation to more properly reflect the opinion of the country.

6. That we reiterate our plea that generous provision be made for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen in the present war and those totally disabled as a result of service.

DEMANDS POLITICAL REFUGE.

Christiania, June 10.—An extraordinary national conference of the labor party has declared adhesion to the "Third International of Moscow," and passed resolutions to telegraph Nikolai Lenine, the Bolsheviki premier of Russia, that the conference insists that the government establish the right of asylum for political refugees.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Dancing a Fine Exercise If It's Indulged in Wisely

DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University).

DR. HIRSHBERG

Dancing, when moderately indulged in, is good exercise. Some people have never learned the value of regular exercise at home, and for them to dance is about their only really systematic muscular movement.

Dancing exercises every limb and muscle in the anatomy. This means that the muscles produce heat and energy at a much faster rate. Exercise brings the breath faster and the oxygen in the lungs travels to the muscles more speedily than when no use of the muscles is made. The starches and sugars in the tissues are burned up and converted into a kind of sugar called glycogen by the oxygen brought to them from the air by the blood, and hence the heat and energy are produced.

You are mentally more alert when you dance. The impulse—wireless telegraphy—that passes from the brain down your spinal column and then to your motor nerves, which is an answer to the contraction of your muscles, comes at the rate of two miles a minute. Your muscle fibres and your mind are both more efficient.

Dancing and Housework.

If you dance too long, however, you may run into danger. There are instances in which persons have collapsed after a dance, and you always agree that they "overdid it." Perchance there was some physical disability which called for more sleep than the late hours of some dances allow.

A few dances once in a while with careful precautions about the "after effects" may be excellent muscle training, particularly because of the pleasure and enjoyment attached to it. The merriness of the dance differentiates that exercise from housework or woodcutting. Housework, nevertheless, can be just as valuable, for the movements of the muscles in each instance is thorough. If the thought that "you have to do it" were not present in the domestic drama, housework would have very great usefulness as an invigorator and healthful exercise.

Other Exercise Methods.

If a bit of happiness could creep into your mind, and you did not think of the "have to" part of it, housework would be a better corporal of the health guard than it usually is. You will just "feel like working harder than ever," and you won't want to stop. This is the state of a healthy human machine when exercise is applied, and pleasure is present when the work is in process. Just as much profit, and perhaps with less risk and danger, can be had from this exercise and from wood cutting as from the dance if you do it because you "want to," and not because you "ought to."

Keep up the exercise. If you start to do a thing and then drop it for no special reason, you are weak-willed or lazy. Both these conditions in a sense are maladies. If you can't dance, you can do housework or chop wood. If you don't "feel like doing it," or you don't want to do it you can take regular exercise at night before you go to bed or in the morning, or both. To take it easy is to make it hard.

Exercise taken in regular fashion, at definite periods, quickens the necessary vital action in the bone, brawn and blood, serves to help expel waste from the body and stimulates the mind.

Answers to Health Questions

O. A. M.: Q.—Please give me something for dandruff.

A.—Apply a little of the following to the hair three times a week:

Sulphur	1 dram
Resorcin	10 grains
Salicylic acid	10 grains
Sulphate of quinine	10 grains
Petrolatum	1 ounce

Q.—Kindly advise me as to what causes rheumatism.

A.—Rheumatism is a name for patent medicine men and quacks to conjure with. It is usually some underlying bone disease, infection, flat foot, loose joint, torn ligament, enlarged gland, fallen arches and a raft of other deformities or defects. Kindly tell me all the signs and symptoms and I'll be glad to help you.

MRS. H. G.: Q.—What shall I do for gas on my stomach?

A.—Avoid all fried foods, pastry, cake, sweets and thickened soups and gravies. Be sure that your food is properly masticated, and have any dental defects remedied. Have your druggist make up 20 powders of subgallate of bismuth, each containing 10 grains, and take one after each meal. If, after a week of this treatment, you find that you have not entirely recovered, you should be examined.

MISS M. P.: Q.—What will make my hair curly without injury?

A.—Here is a formula that will keep your hair in curl for several days, provided you roll it up afterward on kid curlers or on papers until the hair has dried in the shape you want it to go:

Gum arabic	½ ounce
Carbonate of potash	½ ounce
Glycerine	½ ounce
Rosewater	1 pint
Portugal extract	2 ounces

Hirshberg, in care of this office.

E. M. M.: Q.—Please tell me what to do for uric acid.

A.—It is hard to uproot the "uric acid" fallacy, because so many books, patent medicines and "authorities" cling so fondly to the delusion. You must have a thorough examination made before proper treatment can be given.

J. H. C.: A.—If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, with your query repeated, I will be glad to answer your questions.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Mrs. Durkee Said "It's Worth Trying, Anyway."

"I'll have to admit that Alfred's proposition is a difficult one," I said slowly, "It's going to be very hard on you, isn't it? The entertainment of three girls, one of them a convalescent, for a week or two will entail a good deal of work I'm afraid."

"That's not what's worrying me," little Mrs. Durkie rejoined. "I'm not afraid of work. But to have that girl la-de-da-ing around Alfred—I just can't stand it! If it were only one of the Fairfax girls, although goodness knows they're nothing to boast of—"

"Why, Durkee!" I interrupted, "surely Edith Fairfax is decidedly something to boast of. A girl canteen worker, who has been decorated for bravery under fire is distinctly worth while."

"Piddlesticks!" my little friend said explosively. "Of course she's brave and all that, but you know she didn't cross the ocean just to serve her country, although I won't say that wasn't part of her reason," she admitted reluctantly. "But I should think you of all people wouldn't care to have that gang hanging around here for a week or two. If Alf spends all the time he can steal from his office at home you'll see Dicky will be doing the same thing, and then what will you say?"

What Madge Advised.

There were several things in this speech, which I resented hotly. One of the tenets held most strongly by my little mother, and which she inculcated in me so religiously that I've never forgotten it, is that discussing one's husband with others is one of the unpardonable social sins.

With Lillian, old friend of Dicky, and wonderful substitute for the sister I never had, I have been compelled to talk sometimes of the problems confronting me. But Lillian is the embodiment of tact and discretion. She never either asks or insinuates an unnecessary question. On the contrary, little Mrs. Durkee, dear and sweet as she is, has a faint streak of malicious curiosity in her makeup, a characteristic which annoys me exceedingly, although I'm compelled to overlook it on account of her many splendid qualities.

But I could not keep a certain coldness out of my voice as I replied.

"You are mistaken," I said quietly. "It is absolutely immaterial to me whether they come here or not. But if I were in your place, and were as worried about Alfred as you are, I would waste no time in penning the most cordial invitation I could frame to Rita Brown."

My little neighbor stared at me in wide-eyed amazement.

"Well!" she ejaculated. "I'd like to know what you mean by that? I may have to have the girl here, and to treat her with civility, but that's all Alfred can expect of me. I think I see myself writing anything more than a courteous formal note to her. If she has an atom of delicacy she'll see through the lines and decline it."

Tests of Diplomacy.

"Yes," I retorted, "and be very sure she'll contrive in some manner to let Alfred conjecture why she did it—she's far too clever to tell him outright—and then your son, while he may not show it, will be resentful toward you and sympathetic toward her, and you ought to know that it's a dangerous situation when a man begins to champion a girl against his mother."

"I suppose so," little Mrs. Durkee replied, wearily unconvinced. But I should think anything would be better than having that awful girl in the same house with Alf for a week or two. Propinquity, you know."

"Yes, I know," I retorted. "But I also know that it has broken up as many matrimonial engagements as it has fostered. Just stop and think a moment, my friend. You know what surroundings have always been Rita Brown's. She is an artificial studio product, with the city a part of her very blood and bone. Whatever glamor she may have had for Alfred is enhanced by her surroundings into which she fits perfectly, like a bizarre picture in a striking frame. But take her out of that frame, put her here in the country, which Alfred adores, and see how tawdry and common she will appear.

"Depend upon it, my dear, if Alfred has any attraction in her direction—which, by the way, I don't believe at all, I think it is just his natural goodness of heart that is responsible for the invitation—it will be effectually killed by the girl herself before the week is over."

Little Mrs. Durkee looked at me with eyes in which I saw dawning comprehension.

"It's worth trying, anyway," she said decidedly.

The Adventures of Jimmy Coon

THE SNOW SHOES.

Little Peter Rabbit was crying hard because Jimmie Coon wouldn't believe that he had relatives called Snow-Shoe.

Teddy Possum got tired of hearing him cry, and he called down, "Now Jimmie Coon, aren't you ashamed of yourself to tease Peter Rabbit. Take some one of your own size. Let's go and ask Peter's mother and that will settle it."

So all three, Peter Rabbit, Jimmie Coon and Teddy Possum trailed on down to Mrs. Rabbit's house. Of course she was at home nursing Peter's brothers and sisters. There always seemed to be such a lot of them.

Mrs. Mollie Cottontail was such a good mother. She had the nicest little beds for her children and the blankets she made partly of fur from her own fur coat.

She was so kind and true and those rascals, Jimmie Coon and Teddy Possum, knew they could believe every word she said.

"Now Mrs. Cottontail," said Jimmie Coon, "have you any relations by the name of Snow Shoe? I never heard of such a name?"

Tomorrow—Jimmie Coon Meets the Snow Shoes.

"Yes, we have. Their name is Snow Shoe Rabbit, and they live far away in the deep woods. They are very wild and I am very proud to be related to them, but I do not like my children to be with them much for fear they will lead them into their own wild ways."

"Well I am glad that Peter told the truth. I believe every word you say, but seeing is believing. Can't Peter take us to the place where they live so as we can see for ourselves? We will take the best care of Peter, and we will bring him back safe. He can show us the way."

Peter was by this time jumping up and down and begging to go, so at last Mrs. Mollie Cottontail consented.

After a light lunch, the happy party set out and on the way Peter told them all about the Snow Shoes.

"They are very fast runners, said little Peter, "they have very big hind feet. They have two fur coats a year so they must be very rich. They have white pads on their feet and walk on the top of the snow and they don't sink down."

Of course, Jimmie and Teddy didn't believe a word that little Peter said, but they thought they would go and see these wonders for themselves.

When they came to the Snow Shoes' house it wasn't a regular house at all. What do you think it was like?

After a Light Lunch the Happy Party Set Out.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 11.

The planetary forecast for this day points to much activity and interesting developments, but also presages anxieties, setbacks or disappointments unless affairs are held very well in hand. The Saturn influence is strong for obstacles and delays, though other testimonies speak for overcoming these through sagacity, quick action and generally wise manipulation. There should be gains through the professions, letters, commerce or other Mercurial activities, and Jupiter in favorable aspect with Mars bespeaks action, progress and growth in certain directions. Litigation should be avoided, and the health may well receive particular attention.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively and interesting year, the success of which depends on sound judgment and firm grasp of affairs. A child born on this day will be quick, clever, enterprising and industrious, but with a strong tendency to prodigality, which it should be trained to curb.

A cheaper truck is Foolish Economy—a heavier truck Extravagance

ANALYSE the work your truck must do and you'll invest in the Maxwell. Because the Maxwell is the economical buy—from every angle.

Heavier trucks than the Maxwell there are. They cost more to buy—from 100 to 400 per cent more. They cost more to operate.

Yet they can do only 10 to 20 per cent more work. Obviously they do not give the same value as the Maxwell.

For the Maxwell is a ton-and-a-half job—will carry four out of every five loads conveyed by horse or motor. Ten foot loading space—big enough for a ton-and-a-half of sewer pipe, fifty bushels of wheat, or an overload of hay.

Lighter trucks than the Maxwell there are—trucks that take more time, more fuel to handle the same load as the Maxwell. And they lack the complete equipment of the Maxwell.

Even trucks that have the same capacity as the Maxwell cost several hundred dollars more. And specification data will prove to you that the Maxwell is through and through a better job.

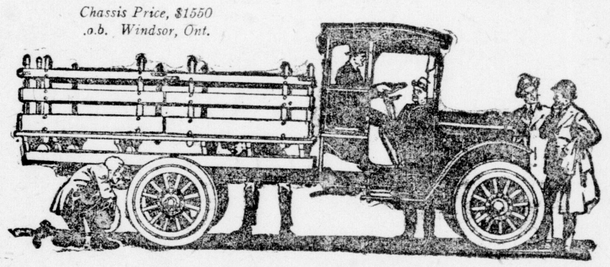

The best scientific engineering brains on the continent have developed the Maxwell. It is not a mere assembled job. Quantity production on a sound manufacturing basis has kept its cost amazingly low.

Stingy with gas. Easy on tires. Power and stamina enough for Canadian roads. Built in Canada. Real service—anywhere in Canada.

City's Downtown Activity Never So Striking As Now

Do you know the "downtown" crowd? Are you a member of that group of sophisticated persons who know and are known to the other members of the club whose daily toil, or sometimes the lack of it, brings them in contact with the places where people gather? It has many branches, this big lodge, meeting in the cigar store, the railway ticket office, the theatre lobby, the newspaper office, on the curbstone, around the garages. Any place where one meets its members is a location for meeting. The bar and its backrooms may have been convenient rendezvous, but the social side of downtown life has not been lost because the white-robed strangers sling out no more to the wild crowd. The thirsty people have discovered that there are other and better ways to quench their thirsts, that nickles and dimes can be rung up in many other cash registers, and that if one seeks "wised up" companionship, there is plenty of it left along the great white way boasted by the smallest of cities.

We have no regular rialto in London, but Dundas street to the workers having to do with semi-public lines of business has a certain charm such as George Cohan and his flock of imitators find around 42nd street and Broadway or the "loophounds" in Chicago's loop district. It gets in the blood, this magnetic force of friction produced by activity, and who will be bold enough to regard the downtown section of London Saturday night and not confess that a new vitality has seized the town. Ever since war London has had a large floating population, but today, with the returning soldiers by the hundreds reaching the city almost every day, well supplied with money, and entitled after being unable to spend for months or years to spend as they see fit, the city is packed with people, and the "downtowners" are busier than ever before; it's a dull place that is not doing business up to capacity, and in fact stores have been forced to close their doors on Saturday evening because the volume of business was beyond the control of the clerks.

As the city was never more active, it has never been so bright with light and color. Saturday evening the sidewalks were covered with close-packed ranks for block after block. People moved along slowly because it was impossible for them to reach their objective unless they followed the crowd; motor traffic was such as to make the head of a traffic officer swim, and every store was filled with people whose needs made clerks frantic, and were an argument for earlier shopping and Saturday night closing.

Free spenders? Never has so much money been spent in the retail districts, never so many high-priced articles sold. It is the silk stocking age for the fair sex and the $10 hat age for the males. One does not hear of anyone "doing without," and even those who complain so much about the harassing yoke of the high cost of living will admit that most everyone spends vastly out of proportion to his complaints. Yet bank deposits do not dwindle, and it would be difficult to find on the street of London a single person who shows the external indications of suffering.

These may be Klondike days for high prices; they are also Klondike days for spending. While the public will be watchful for exorbitant profits, and while definite knowledge that manipulation of foodstuffs and other necessities makes living difficult for many, it will continue to spend, regardless of possible reactions and rainy days. The war has loosened purse strings, and a veritable orgy of spending proceeds among those who never before had so much money. The downtowners see this tendency to spend as a remarkable phase of after-war recovery. The "wise bird" will watch his or her financial step.

Borden's 8-Hour-Day Balk

With the signing of the peace treaty the eight-hour day regulation will be enforced by international law. Yet Sir Robert Borden dodged the issue upon his arrival in this country, although he gave the movement his support while at the peace conference. It is an exhibition of statesmanship which the Hamilton Spectator regards as "pitiable." To this Conservative newspaper the action indicates "cold feet."

A large section of the community already is governed by eight-hour day agreements between employer and employee. Those workers who are not now getting the benefit of such an arrangement had their case ably pleaded before the world congress of nations at Versailles. Countries which did not already have the eight-hour day clause in effect undertook to prepare legislation, but Sir Robert Borden simply "sidestepped," at a time when such an action might have won the gratitude not only of organized labor, but of the whole community of wage earners, and showed that the Government which could prohibit strikes and send men to jail by order-in-council could also operate its strong weapon to bestow a benefit which few employers now hold out against. The result would have been to relieve the situation to some extent at least, and to fulfill a moral obligation on the part of Canada's premier to his own country as well as to the world at large. Sir Robert had the gentle Bolshevik much in mind while at the conference; it may have been of these misled children he was thinking when he subscribed to the eight-hour day. He certainly does not implement his implied promise to his own country's workingmen and women, nor show that his thoughts are for their welfare. To have agreed that the eight-hour day should go in force at once would have at least sounded good, and removed one bone of contention between capital and labor. Labor wants the regulation; few industrial heads are opposing it at present. What stood in the way of Borden? Certainly the present Government, with its order-in-council and closure methods, will not be able to plead a scrupulous interest in the ethical or technical procedure of parliament.

Congress and the Pact

It is disquieting to learn that the opposition in the American Senate to the league of nations covenant is steadily growing in strength. Whether it be due to party warfare or a sincere belief that the terms are inimical to American interests, this hostility to the peace conferences decisions appears to be developing at Washington a situation that may react alarmingly on all other nations. Ex-President Taft, who may fairly be considered an authority on the subject, warns Americans that modification of the covenant's conditions will send the entire peace treaty back to the Versailles conference, nullifying the signed agreement. The world has been patiently enduring the prolonged negotiations unable or unwilling to proceed with the work of economic reconstruction until assured at least a measure of political and industrial stability. If the whole international situation is thrown into fresh chaos and confusion it will exasperate public opinion to the point of dangerous explosions, raise antagonisms and clashes between the powers endeavoring to lift the world from its present wreckage, and furnish opportunity for further diabolical intriguings by Teuton and Red.

As a result of the war today the entire industrial system of Europe is completely disorganized. On all sides are closed factories as a consequence of which scores of thousands of workers are in idleness. This condition supplies inflammable material that may break into great conflagrations unless an early start is made on a return to production. But if the peace treaty has to be revised there will be a further postponement of that getting back to normal which the whole world desires and which automatically will remove a lot of the present social perils. Fortunately the sentiment of the American people seems to be overwhelmingly in favor of accepting the peace treaty as it stands. When it comes to a vote a majority of the senate may refuse to antagonize the popular desire. That and the pressure of business America, which has billions involved in the fate of Europe, may prevent Mr. Wilson's enemies in the upper house from carrying out their present determination to refuse ratification.

A Great Vacation Land

The late lightly-lamented hot spell has set many of us thinking, talking and planning the annual vacation perhaps a little earlier than is customary. If we haven't actually checked off the date of departure on the office calendar we are maneuvering towards that delectable moment. There is much to be considered before we decide definitely on the two weeks of joyous freedom. One's holiday has to be arranged to coincide with that of comrade on the midsummer movements of the family circle. There is the vital matter of funds which at some periods of the month are more ample than at others, and the selection of where we shall go this year. On the surface we make this last task appear exasperating; secretly we derive an intense delight as we balance the fascinations of lake trip or forest camp against the lure of seaside or mountain. From all sides these siren voices call in bewildering, but delightful confusion.

No nation is so richly endowed with the natural conditions for outdoor recreation as Canada. The finest fishing, hunting, boating, bathing in the world is ours, stretching in a stupendous playground from the Pacific to the Atlantic and north to the Arctic. But while this is a land of vast distances there is no citizen in any part who has not close by his domicile wood or stream, beach, prairie or mountainside where he may commune with nature actively or passively. It is a magnificent heritage, and one that will for generations supply a safety-valve for individual and social distress. Getting out into the open easily and frequently spells death to the humors of spirit and mind. Especially do we get this fine cleansing on our annual vacations, coming back to the task more proof against irritability, kinder and more just in our judgments, althogether more wholesome and human. The annual vacation is much more vital to the social happiness and health than appears on the surface. Let us get the best and most out of it for our physical, mental and spiritual regeneration and for the inevitable affect it will have on others.

The Advertiser's Daily Short Story

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

DEMOTED UP.

By Virginia Lynch Maxwell.

Somehow Janet's mother could not quite forget the stigma which she accused her daughter of putting on the family name when she married Gerald Cummings, their neighbor's chauffeur.

"Janet, my child, do you realize what you have done?" she remembered her mother saying with an awe-stricken face when they both came back from the short honeymoon trip, and Janet's family had since had time to digest the telegraphed news.

And Janet, then a girl of twenty, had faced her mother resolutely.

"Of course I know what I've done, mother. I've married the best man in the world."

"What's the use," Mrs. Hemingway complained that same evening when Janet's father looked in at the young people seated in the drawing-room, and smiled knowingly.

"Janet is too young to know that she has committed a grave social error in marrying beneath her class," Mrs. Hemingway continued. "And as for the man she chose, well—he will never be anything but a chauffeur."

Mr. Hemingway waved his hand in disgust. "Let them be, Sara," he admonished his wife. "Netty loves the boy, and by all appearances he is in love with our little Netty, so why all the fuss?"

But the idea rankled in Mrs. Hemingway's mind for a long while after. Janet took a firm stand! They furnished a comfortable, though plain little flat, and began to live the "happy ever after" period of their lives.

True, the furnishings of the modest flat did not compare with the cheapest in the Hemingway household, but as Janet reminded her mother, "wasn't it the love behind a household that made it a home, and not the mere material things?"

And after that Mrs. Hemingway decided to let the matter rest.

Two years later found Janet and Gerald more comfortably established than ever. Gerald had got a better position in an automobile firm and the work gave him more regular hours. But there was a lot of study entailed, Gerald within a short time became an expert mechanician and got another raise.

It was not money, however, that finally bred the sore spot in Janet's heart that had been forming unconsciously for months. It was her mother's silent influence. She never said anything about the affair ever since the day of Janet's last outburst, but the silent influence was there just the same.

Once when she had invited a number of girl friends to tea Janet's mother very untactfully displayed the fact that her daughter had no telephone, and pressed for a reason by her inquisitive friends, Janet had lied calmly that it was a source of annoyance. The truth of the matter was they could not quite afford it.

Janet was on the verge of utter discouragement, although there was no real cause for it except this subtle influence preening for the sake of a false pride. The foundation of their little home was at stake! The bomb came a few evenings later.

"Well, sweetie," Gerald said coming in enthusiastically, "I'm going—the big day has come Netty girl, when our country is calling all its red bloods, and I enlist—tomorrow."

"You—what?" Janet could scarcely believe his words. "Jerry boy, tell me you are fooling. You are—why—" she laughed frivolously and turned away as though to belittle the idea as a mere passing fancy.

The next moment she turned toward her husband again. But the expression on his chiseled features made her realize there was no joking to it.

"I'm going, Netty, surely you're glad. Don't stand there and gaze as though I were mad. Don't you realize what it means. Going over to protect you, other women, over there and over here. Gad girl——"

But Janet had stopped him with her gesture. "You are mad. Stark mad—" she burst out angrily, "how can you go when you have me to take care of. You know married men don't have to go. What are you thinking of and we just being able to see a horizon financially now?"

And so they argued into the late hours of that evening. Twice Gerald Cummings walked to the front window and peered down at the throng of men who were besieging the enlistment offices on the corner.

He pointed them out to Janet, but she was impassive. "Mad men," she remarked, and shrugged her shoulders.

And the final issue came about the next morning. Gerald was firm.

"War is a duty between a man and his God," he said hotly, "not a man and his wife."

Just enough to kindle the flame. Janet blazed her brown eyes upon him and replied, "Well, if you go, Gerald, you go for good. If you are that stubborn and care for me so little, it's best we know it now. You go, Gerald, and—and—well, we part ways."

Gerald tried a conciliation, but it was futile. He decided to go!

A dull period of monotony followed for Janet at the Hemingway establishment, where she had taken refuge after Gerald had gone to camp. But the loneliness of the days she had hitherto filled to the brim with her many household cares seemed to pall. Janet must do something. And so because Anne Dawson was going into the navy as a yeomanette, Janet decided to take up stenography and go, too.

But she was disappointed. Several weeks after she graduated from the business school in the heart of town an order came through for stenographners at the gas defence plant on Long Island. She hesitated. Anne was appointed in the navy. But could she not do the same bit in the army?

Her selfishness in merely wanting to be with her girl friend came to her in full realization one morning when she had seen the first transport of wounded soldiers land, and she hastened to the plant to offer her services.

Janet, with the knack of her father's aptitude for business, got along exceedingly well. Meantime the war raged at its fiercest. Battles came thicker and more often, and the yell of the newsies' husky voices on the street corners at every new edition on the big metropolitan daily made Janet's flesh creep. Yes, she had read of Gerald's wonderful deed.

She had followed every line of the account of how he had saved a whole squadron by repairing the motor ambulances so rapidly. Janet knew that a new and greater love had come into her life. There was a change, too, in her parents' view. Janet's mother, all conciliatory and one of the chief workers at the War Camp Community Service, said she always knew there were big things in "Jerry."

But Janet had cried herself to sleep that night.

In vain she wrote letters abroad. If only she knew his definite address. She had read where he had been wounded, but no hospital number was given. The Red Cross took down the data she was able to supply them, scant as it was, for she had refused even to see him the day he graduated from the training camp and was ordered over.

That was months before, and a bitter repentance grew in her heart because of it. She had been selfish, narrow-minded and vain. The words she had uttered that day he had enlisted burned and seared like blue flame now.

But morning banished all the tears, just because there was work to be done and Janet, dainty from the feather in her little trig hat to her neatly polished shoes, went to the plant to take her place among its many other workers. It was her last trip this day, for orders awaited her to report in Washington

A word of thanks to her captain for recommending her as most capable, a hastily packed traveling bag, a host of imagination—and Janet was on her way to the great centre from which radiated so many executive spokes of the world's war. It was glorious! But the old feeling returned to quell her enjoyment every now and then on the train trip going down.

"Mrs. Cummings—" Sergt. Munsey read a day later from her slip to the lieutenant sitting at the huge oak desk to his right. And Janet had timidly acknowledged the title and mounted the stairway to the next floor with him.

"You are to work for the major, are you not?" he asked, and Janet said she had not been told. "Yes," continued Sergt. Munsey, "the new major arrived yesterday. I guess you'll like him all right, with his flashy smile and good humor always. So much as we have seen of him I don't wonder he was so popular with his men——"

But they had reached the doorway of the major's office and Sergt. Munsey stopped.

A somewhat faint yet emotional Janet wheeled the next moment and sat heavily in the chair the major offered. The shoulders had looked familiar, and, yes, the head.

But it was preposterous. And yet—

"Thank you, sergeant," Major Cummings said quietly. "I will swear the little lady in, you need not wait."

"Swear me in?" Janet said a bit breathlessly, as she turned her wide eyes, radiant but tear-dimmed with happiness on her husband, Jerry.

"Why, yes—a mere custom of the service, Mrs. Cummings," he said haughtily, "but—" and there was a note of the Jerry who used to be, "but if you wish," he smiled this time, "I'll swear you in—for life."

And as Gerald expressed it a few weeks later when the armistice was signed and they both got their honorable discharges, it was the first time he had ever kissed a stenographer the first day he engaged her, and—the very first time he had ever taken one out to lunch the same day.

The Industrial Commissioners, now holding sessions throughout Canada, are hearing a great deal about the excess profits of the manufacturer. The Government should already be in possession of the facts concerning this ground for complaint, as they have had free access to the books of all concerns and have taken their toll of the excess profits. After all the controlling that has been done, after all the questionaires have been answered, after all the reports have been made does the Government know nothing about actual conditions throughout Canada? The moderate labor element is only asking for a chance to live, and if the Government knows that the capital is only making fair dividends why not inform labor that the country needs strong men to work the soil, and that relief will not be forthcoming until the population is more evenly distributed between country and city?

PENALTIES THAT GO WITH THE REMOVAL OF THE WAISTCOAT.

[New York Sun.]

This is man's moulting season, and his feathers are his waistcoat. The male biped does not shed this garment because he dislikes it of itself. It is a useful thing, handier than a pocket in a shirt. He takes it off because of the heat and not without regret. The waistcoat holds so many things. The upper left hand pocket was made for pencils and fountain pens and cigars. Since the top of the ear was discarded as a pencil holder there has been nothing half so good as that pocket. The opposite upper pocket is just the place for the memoranda book. The watch sleeps alone in one of the lower pockets, across from the home of the man's knife or matchbox. The inside pocket of the waistcoat is peculiarly adapted to carrying money. A thief cannot get it without cutting.

When the waistcoat is hung up for the summer its working contents must be put elsewhere. The coat, already overloaded with handkerchiefs, wallets, letters, cigarette cases and commutation tickets, is asked to take up what the turf reporters call a staggering impost. The trousers, with their standard burden of money and keys, can make little room for the articles evicted from the waistcoat. So every June the man wonders whether he shall tether his watch to the lapel of his coat and let it joggle around in his breast pocket or whether he'll try it once more in the waistband pocket of his trousers and look upon its face only after an exhibition of gymnastics. Shall the fountain pen be attached to the coat pocket or laid away until autumn?

Man suffers for a while. He finds himself without matches when he has a cigar or without a pen when he has a check blank. His watch spoils the fit of his coat. His memoranda book gets lost in the bottom of his coat pocket. He is all at sea, and merely because he is not the efficient creature that woman is. She puts all her junk and all her worries in the faithful handbag. Fashions change in clothing and in bags, but the mess of small belongings is always carried in the same way. If man would ape woman in this respect he would be more comfortable. He need not carry a silken reticule; a canvas sack would do, with a strap to go over the shoulder. Perhaps some of the fellows who carry brief cases are secretly taking a leaf from woman's book. Al Smith once said that if you held up a reformer and looked in his brief case you would find sandwiches in it, not great public documents. A brief case would hold cigars, pencils and handkerchiefs. Maybe in time, all men will carry these leather cases just as all women carry bags.

The reason Vinol was so successful in this boy's case is because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, the very elements needed to build up a weakened, run-down system, make rich, red blood and create strength. PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

WINIFRED BLACK

Presents "'Puzzled's' Problem."

Copyright, 1919, by Newspaper Feature Service, Inc.

Here's a letter that every romantic dreamer of a girl ought to read, in cold blood and with her eyes wide open.

I can't answer it in this column today—it would take too much room. I will answer it in this paper tomorrow.

In the meantime, girls, think it over, and see how you feel about it.

Dear Winifred Black,—We often read of the much-discussed problem dealing with married employers who insist upon flirting with or otherwise annoying their help, and the usual remedy is to leave the position—that is the only way out, and were I in such a predicament I would not hesitate about leaving at once. An efficient stenographer should have no trouble in securing another position where the merit of her work would be the chief factor, and not her attractiveness. But here is an entirely new phase of the situation:

"Love" That's Unspoken.

My employer is married—and I love him. I am positive that he loves me, but he has not spoken of love. The very absence of these things—no invitations to dinner—No gifts or advances of any kind! It is this secredness of it all—his respect and yet admiration, although his lips are sealed—that make it so bad and yet so wonderful!

Perhaps you will ask, "But, my dear girl, if he has not spoken and does not show it by gifts, etc., then how can you tell he loves you? Is it not perhaps a little presumptuous on your part to take it for granted this man loves you?" Ah, no, there is an inevitable "something" which tells me that he does love me!

And now, before I go any farther, I must make clear the domestic situation that faces this boy of mine. Hear me call him "boy" when he is about 35, but to me he is merely a grown-up boy! Oh, how I know his every thought, his likes, his dislikes—every mood he has. How I have studied him and how well I know him, although the outside world sometimes shake their heads and say, "Smart boy, all right—wonderful attorney, but so peculiar in his ways!"

He was separated from his wife for quite a while—for a period of about two years, when his baby was only a few months old—but they were reconciled for the baby's sake and lived together again. However, it lasted only a few months, when they again became totally estranged, although still living under the same roof. All his friends and her friends are aware of this total estrangement, now (it is about five years), and yet they go on living together—in the same apartment—for the baby's sake!

He is crazy about his little girl, and has sacrificed all these years merely because, as he often says, "I want to remain long enough to impress myself upon her little mind, so that when the break does come and she will be taken away by her mother and taught—perhaps—to forget me, there will always linger a nice, pleasant memory of her 'Daddy.' I want only to have her love, and when she is old enough to understand she will not blame me for taking the step. Sooner or later I must have a divorce. I cannot remain indefinitely in this horror and this awful farce of living. But, just a little while longer—till my little girl gets a little older." And so it goes."

And, mind you, this talk of divorce has not been said to me. . . Such a conversation is never utter by us. . . but it is frequently discussed by him with his personal friends. . . It is almost an understood promise or plan among his personal friends. And now the little one is about 8 years old and still nothing is done.

Perhaps when I am gone he will awaken and realize his love and do something to get me back! And yet, on the other hand, perhaps if I leave him and never see him again the only real happiness and sunshine will be taken from my life.

"What Should I Do?"

I am 24, 'tis true. But folks hardly take me for that, because I am little, happy, jolly and so girlish. The boys all believe I am too jolly, too happy, too lively to think about settling down and marrying! Ah, but if they only knew the inner side of my nature! How I long for a real man to love me—to settle down and make him happy and comfortable with a real home that is cosey and warm and filled with sunshine—not luxury and emptiness and coldness!

It is true that he's a plain man. He doesn't care for this constant social whirl or gay parties and long hours. His wife does—she is a complete success in society. Perhaps that in itself has something to do with their differences, but after five years a reconciliation seems impossible.

Strange as it may seem, sometimes when our eyes meet—there is no mistake—he and I are both yearning for a day when our sealed lips may be opened and we may realize our dreams! Sometimes I wonder—how strong he must be to act so manly and not forget! With us it is love. . . strong, deep, honest love, perfect companionship. . . perfect understanding and perfect contentment with each other's presence; it is not momentary passion or physical attractiveness! Do not be afraid that I am trespassing on dangerous ground and that the temptation may prove too great. Were I to find such the case, I should leave in a moment, for I would rather go on living alone in the memory of that beautiful, clean, honest love than to do anything dishonorable, and I know he is the same.

Do you think I should be patient a while longer and wait, or should I leave him and in that way, perhaps, start something?

Don't misjudge him. He is not at all the type of "lady's man" some might imagine. Far from it—he is too honest with the women to be popular. He seldom makes these flattering remarks so many of the men seem to think is essential these days, even though they would perhaps go no further. Even with me he seldom says anything flattering, for it isn't his nature. But I love him, all in all!

I am between two fires. I hate to leave him, yet if I thought leaving him would awaken him to realize and act upon his love for me, I would gladly sacrifice his company for a while to gain happiness in the end.

What should I do?

I shall watch for some little word of hope or encouragement from you. And I shall be ever grateful. PUZZLED.

How would you answer this letter, girls?

Daily Bible Question Club

SUGGESTIVE QUESTIONS ON THE UNIFORM LESSON FOR SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1919.

ONE GOLDEN TEXT SUGGESTION. [By Rev. T. S. Linscott, D.D.]

Prayer.—Matthew vi., 5-15; Luke xviii., 1-14.

QUESTION FOR TODAY.

4. Verse 8.—God certainly knows what things we have need of before we ask him, what then is the use in praying for them?

5. Verse 9.—Did Jesus give the "Lord's Prayer" as a form to be used, or as a model for comprehensiveness and brevity, or for both, or for some other reason?

6. Verse 10. WHAT SHOULD WE LONG AND PRAY FOR MORE THAN ALL ELSE AND WHY? (This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club).

7. Verse 11—Have Christians a right to expect that God will supply all the necessaries of life, and does he always do so?

Golden Text.—In nothing be anxious; but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known unto God.—Phil. iv., 6.

CREATE AN ATMOSPHERE OF PRAYER.

God consciously dwelling in our hearts and enveloping us, enables us to do what were otherwise impossible. One thing a true Christian can always depend upon is that God will give him a prayerful spirit, and will attune his mind so that either consciously or unconsciously he is always praying to and praising God. His thoughts turn to God in every desire concerning every plan and every purpose of his life. In most things he consciously prays, but in all things he lives in such an atmosphere of spirituality that in all things by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving he makes his request known uto God. This is the simple life, the quiet life, the peaceful life, and the victorious life. It cannot be improved upon.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Kerrigan are at their summer home, Port Stanley.

Mrs. (Rev.) H. S. Johnson, of Manchester, Mich., is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. T. Moscrip, Wellington street, for a week or so.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Russell of Avonton announce the engagement of their daughter, Agnes Lillian, to Mr. Ernest Hugh Graham, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Graham of Avonton, the marriage to take place the end of June.

Mr. William Telfer, of Humboldt, Sask., with his mother, Mrs. Telfer of Regina, is visiting relatives and renewing old acquaintances in the city. Mrs. Telfer, who was born in London Township, had not visited her old home for the past 37 years. Mr. Telfer's father is sergeant-at-arms in the provincial parliament buildings in Saskatchewan.

A quiet but pretty wedding was celebrated on Saturday afternoon, June 7, 1919, at St. David's Anglican Church, London, Ont., when Lillian P. Chase of Walthamstow, England, became the bride of Roy H. Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Roberts, of 569 William street, city.

The bride was dressed in a pretty gown of white mull and panama hat trimmed with pink satin, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. R. E. Charles, the wedding march being played by Miss Millie Palmer.

After congratulations and signing of the register a dainty luncheon was served at the home of the groom's parents. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold wrist watch.

The young couple left for their future home, 213 Perth avenue, Toronto, followed by showers of confetti and good wishes.

The home of Mrs. Alex. D. McAlpine, Kilmartin, Ont., was the scene of a pretty wedding Wednesday, June 4, when her youngest daughter, Mary Elizabeth, was united in marriage to Thomas Moore of Walkerville.

The bride, who entered the parlor with her brother-in-law, Joseph Moore, was gowned in ivory tricolette, elaborately braided, her tulle veil crowned with orange blossoms, and carried a beautiful bouquet of sweet peas. Her only ornament was a dainty lavalier, the gift of the groom.

She was attended by her cousin, Miss Belle McAlpine of Corunna, who wore orchid silk crepe meteor and sweet peas. Alex. Moore of Detroit, nephew of the groom, supported the groom, and little Prudence Moore, niece of the bride, was pretty in white mull with pink ribbons, and carried the ring in a basket of ferns and flowers. Rev. Dr. Robertson of Burns Church, officiated, and Miss Ila Quigley of Essex played the wedding music. A reception was held following the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Moore will reside in Walkerville.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Fitzgerald, Waterloo street, was the scene of a very quiet but pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon, June 5, when their eldest daughter, Geraldine Bryan, was married to Walter Belton Holland of this city, by the Very Rev. L. Norman Tucker, rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, in the presence of only immediate relatives. The bride wore a traveling suit of navy blue serge, with vest of harvest broadcloth, and hat to match, and corsage of American Beauty roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Josephine, gowned in pale pink crepe de chine and carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses. Little Marjorie Holland, niece of the groom, made a dainty flower girl, carrying a basket of pink sweet peas, and lilies of the valley. The groom was supported by his brother, John C. Holland, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. Roland Holland. After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Holland left for Detroit and Chicago for a short honeymoon, and on their return will reside at 9 Bellevue avenue, this city, where they will be at home to their friends after July 15.

MRS. N. M'CLUNG IS LECTURING TO LARGE AUDIENCES

Women of Ontario Give Her a Warm Reception.

Mrs. Nellie McClung, who is such a popular speaker in the prairie provinces, is making a big impression in the east, where the advanced thought for which she stands seems even more radical to her audience than when delivered from a western platform. Mrs. McClung always gives her audience something to think about, and there is a wholesomeness and a kindliness even in her criticisms.

In a recent address, touching on the problem of the foreign force, Mrs. McClung pointed out a few of the past mistakes in allowing foreigners to remain untouched. She pointed morals for a future policy, based on the work done by the late Father Lacombe.

There's only one power, said she, that can make Canada the nation she ought to be—the power of understanding and good will. The best way to make people loyal is to give them something to be loyal to. Nothing else is so good as a friend.

In the past we laid a lot of stress on legislation. It is still a good thing, but it won't take the place of neighboring.

We are arriving at the place where co-operation is to be our watchword. We are bound together, whether we like it or not.

It is wonderful how close we got together when the war was on, and we had one definite enemy. The impulse toward unity has been withdrawn. We see unrest and dissatisfaction. We need a substitute that will hold us together.

Heroism is not dead. Had we not 400,000 men willing to die for Canada? That heroic spirit challenges you and me to do something.

Dear Miss Grey,—Some time ago I wrote to your Page, but, oh, how interesting it has got lately. As I read X. Y. Z.'s letter it would bring tears to anyone's eyes. How thankful she must be that God has given them strength to do their life's duty. Now, I will tell you about myself. It is 11 years ago since I came out to Canada from England. Mother died when I was so small that I don't remember her, but Canada was good to open her arms to a poor lonesome girl like me. Ever since I have worked on a farm, and now I am a bride of two years, and have the care of a little son. When one sits down and thinks over the past it makes you wonder how you ever came through it all, doesn't it, X. Y. Z.? But I am very young yet, just out of the teens a year and a half, but how I would love to have one week's holiday. If it was only to see a few soldiers marching I'd be satisfied, for I never saw only six soldiers since the war was started and finished. You will see I have not seen very much of life but work for a living. I thank God though for sparing my sailor brother; he has seen the war through from the beginning to the end and never got a scratch on him. It is fourteen years since I last saw him, and he is coming to Canada with his bride.

Now for a word to Bunker Bean about her robin family. We have two nests here, and they come to the same place every year, and I never touch them, but put bread crumbs and worms close by for them.

I feel dreadfully sorry for Rosebud; things happen every day like that, and I pray God will bless her with a noble and trustworthy husband some day.

One more word with X. Y. Z. I certainly do think you have earned your $4,000. I do hope I never see any more war in our Mail-Box, but love and sunshine and kind thoughts.

A SAILOR'S SISTER.

Ans.—What would one not give to be a fairly godmother and whisk Sailor's Sister and her bairn away from the work, and show them some of the lighter side of life, if only for a week! But, alas, no fairy wands or magic carpets appear to be lying about loose. Am sure you will have a happy visit with the sailor brother, who so luckily escaped during the war. "Love, sunshine and kind thoughts"—that is a nice wish; may it always be the atmosphere of your own home, too, little woman.

A Long Service.

Dear Miss Grey,—Having seen in the Mail-Box where W. R. J. asks for a copy of an old song I am forwarding on the same, and hope it will prove the right one. I am a regular reader of the Mail-Box and enjoy some of the letters very much. I see where A War Wife think they are not sending the men back fast enough. Now for my part, I think the Government has done well. I know the waiting seems awful long, as my own husband went away with the first contingent in 1914, and was over there 3 years and 7 months. I thought that was a long time, but I have a brother in the British army and he has been in France ever since August 5, 1914 (one day after war was declared), and is still there, and in all that time he has only had 20 days' leave (three ten-day passes). What must the waiting be for his wife and child?

A SOLDIER'S WIFE.

Ans.—The song is already in W. R. J.'s possession, and I am sure he will be most grateful to you for the copy.

He's a Fighting Boy.

Dear Miss Grey,—I have never wrote to your corner before, but I really hope you will be so kind as to let this letter go to print. First of all, I am one of Canada's fighting boys, as I enlisted soon after war started, and landed home on the 30th of March, so I saw a little of it in 4 years and 2 months, don't you think?

I have been very interested in your Page, although I am a boy, but I love to read some of the letters, yet others are very onesided, I think. What I have noticed of late is "Who won the war?" Well, this is my judgment of it, and the rest may not think I am right, but that is nothing to me, as I did my share in going "over the top"—but it was the Allies who won. I will tell you if one only reads the reports of the papers, and so forth, they will see that "Our boys" did their share, and to speak the truth, I am very proud to be one of the boys.

Dear Miss Grey, another thing I have been very interested in is the English Wife, as our Canadian girls put it. Well, for myself I would not wish for one, yet there are some very nice girls in England, as I have met some of the best there. Yes, also by brother is bringing one back with him—but not for me! I think that it should be a Canadian girl for the Canadian boy, for I tell you our girls are very proud of the record we have made. We should also be proud of a girl like Rosebud. If no one else is, I am, for she is like a young girl I know, only the one I know did not have the disappointment she did, and I hope she is lucky enough to get a boy who is worthy of a true Canadian girl. Some people might say, "Oh, he is one of those Canadian cranks," but I am not, for I am one of the happiest boys alive, and was born in England, where I lived for sixteen years, but I have lived in Canada long enough to be a Canadian, and the country I have the honor of fighting for, also in which I make my living I think I have the right to stand by. I must say too that I am happy with one of the best girls in the world who is a Canadian, and know that I made the right step in choosing her for a partner. Well I must close for this time; I will give my best wishes to Rosebud, hoping to see this in the Morning Advertiser, as I take it, both before the war and since I have been home. I will take the name of

FIGHTING BOY.

Tanner Pitches Good Ball, But His Wildness Aids Kitchener to Beat London — Tecumsehs Rally in the Ninth, But Fall Short.

KITCHENER, Ont., June 9.—London Tecumsehs almost got into the win column this evening in a ninth inning rally, after being shut out for eight innings by their former teammate, Ben Gilbert, who was in the box for the Kitchener Beavers, and held the visitors down to three hits and no runs up to the time of London's batting rally. Gilbert was next to invincible, but eased up in the ninth, allowing three singles to be bunched and issuing a pass. "Lefty" Tanner pitched for the Tecumsehs, holding the Beavers down to five hits, all of which helped the home team in making the circuit. He issued six passes, two of which resulted in runs.

Beavers Full Line-Up.

The Kitchener Beavers presented their complete line-up for the first time this season, the regular fielders being in their places, Westlake at left, Kyle at centre and Nicholson, who was injured in the exhibition game at London the day before the opening of the season, being in the right garden. Gilbert received gilt-edged support from the fielders.

After Kyle had walked in the first, and was caught cold stealing second, Hefter flied to second, Beatty beat out a scratch hit, Wade singled, and the former scored on a successful squeeze play on a close decision by the umpire.

Milligan, the London catcher, had a finger split by a foul ball and had to retire from the game. The score:

Ten to one is what the run indicator showed last evening, after seven fast rounds of base ball between Selak's crew of pill sluggers and George White's ball tossers. The tailors showed great speed on the bases besides hitting well in the pinches, while Whites found the delivery of Leighman hard to solve.

TORONTO WINS A GREAT GAME FROM BINGOES

Three Times Binghamton Had Bases Filled, Once With None Out.

BINGHAMTON, June 9—Although hit hard, Jones kept Binghamton's twelve hits well scattered, and Toronto won a great game from the home team this afternoon. Three times Binghamton had the bases filled, once with no on out, but each time the Leafs' pitcher turned the locals back without a score. Sandberg's double to centre in the seventh inning drove in the winning run. The score:

SCHETTLER'S AIR-TIGHT BALL MAKES SHUTOUT GAME FOR HAMILTON

HAMILTON, June 9.—The largest crowd of the season saw Hamilton shut out Brantford here today by a score of 8 to 0, in a game which was transferred from Brantford as part of the entertainment for the 54th Battalion, which has been the city's guest since its arrival here yesterday. It was a half-holiday. Schettler pitched air-tight ball for Hamilton, allowing but three hits, and when Brandy opened the sixth with a triple he forced the next man up to pop a fly to the catcher and struck out the next two batters. Hamilton hit well, and was assisted in the run-getting by the Brantford shortstop, who was responsible for all three of the visitors' misplays.

The score:

By Bert B. Perry

The elimination of the running shot from bowling on the green is a matter that bowlers have discussed in countless arguments. There is this to say for the "runner," it adds an exciting touch to what otherwise might prove a slow game. It requires a maximum amount of effort with a minimum of skill.

* * *

Many an end of skillful draw shots has been spilled beyond recall by one well-placed "runner." Another victory for the element of luck over the trained hand.

* * *

And yet, the element of luck, or chance, or uncertainty or what you will is just the thing that puts the old zip in any sport.

* * *

Cut and dried rules are all right to regulate a game, but the playing must be tinged with that dependency on chance, or what in baseball is commonly called "the breaks," in order to maintain interest.

* * *

People like to see skill in anything, but it's the man who stakes his all on one bold, daring stroke and trusts to luck to pull him through that gets the loudest plaudits.

* * *

And the bowler who favors the "runner" over the more skillful "draw" is this type of man.

* * *

Of course, the running shot is generally used as a last resort, the final effort to win when all other means are rendered useless. It's the lingering hope of one who hates to lose and dies hard in the losing. It's the emblem of the fighter.

* * *

But it's very annoying when one has arranged a beautiful end of carefully judged draws to have it all upset by such means.

* * *

Some days when London drops a game,
It's errors that are all to blame.

But when the boys are fielding good,
They somehow cannot wield the wood.

But when they're getting lots of hits,
The team's best hurler blows to bits.

And when the pitcher's arm's in trim,
The team can't get a run for him.

And, so it goes, most every day,
There's something wrong each time they play.

Someday, perhaps, they will cut loose
From every manner of excuse.

And when they've tasted Victory's cup,
Some boob will come and wake us up.

"Say," said the Frenzied Fan, "they call it the Mint League, but I reckon that there ain't much of a hurry to call those Tecumsehs the peppermints yet."

* * *

The little old "emery" ball is causing a heap of tongue wagging in the ball parks of the M.-O. league these days. The "emery" ball has a wicked hop, due to the cover of the ball being roughened by a small piece of sand or emery paper. This slant is barred in the big leagues, but there is no particular rule against it in the minors since the little fellows decided to break off many of the tentacles of organized baseball as represented by the National Commission. The M.-O. league hasn't come right out against the "emery" ball. Much is left to the judgment of the umpires, and perhaps they can use their own powers in the matter. Be that as it may, there are several pitchers in the league at present getting by with the "emery" curve, and a lot of batters who are a great deal angered as a result.

The Hamilton Spectator and Brantford Expositor sport writers are waging a conversational battle with each other over the respective merits of the Hams and the Red Sox. It doesn't take much to start an argument. This duel is creating about as much havoc as two goldfish making faces at each other from separate globes. Wonder if it's a private duello, or can anybody horn in.

* * *

Freak plays are always cropping up in baseball. There was one pulled off at Tecumseh Park last week that was quite extraordinary. Pitcher Malloy earned an assist on a strike-out. Coble, batting for Flint, was called out on a third strike. Milligan dropped the ball, but picked it up and tossed it out to the box. Then Coble ran to first. Malloy threw to Gurney, who muffed the peg and Coble was safe. It wouldn't happen again in several seasons.

Dempsey Must Stop Boxing Until Cut Under Eye Heals

Willard's Opponent Has Old Wound Reopened in Sparring Yesterday.

Toledo, June 10.—Because of danger of infection, Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, challenger for the world's heavyweight championship, today decided not to allow Dempsey to take any more boxing until the wound under his eye, inflicted in a training bout yesterday, is thoroughly healed.

Physicians took two stitches in the inch-long wound, which is just at the edge of the eyebrow. The skin was split in a contest a year ago, and was reopened yesterday when Dempsey's negro partner caught him a glancing blow with a left hook. Dempsey will continue his road work and other exercises until the wound is healed, which probably would be several days, physicians said.

Willard said today that his training had never been so easy for him as it has been for his coming championship contest.

DOES WAR LURK IN EVERY COMPROMISE REACHED AT PARIS?

Frank Simonds, Noted American Critic, Says Another Balkan Situation Has Been Created as Dangerous as That Which Set the World Aflame.

By FRANK H. SIMONDS.

(Copyright, 1919, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

PARIS, June 9.—Despite scattered denials, there seems to be every evidence that the Fiume question has been disposed of by one more of those characteristic compromises which the conference of peace is accustomed to call settlements. Actually it has been decided that Fiume and the territory between Fiume and the new Italy boundary shall be constructed into a new league of nations-administered region. This means that Fiume will have something of the character of Danzig. With additional districts, its population will probably be Slavonic in the majority, but there is little doubt that it will be controlled by Italians, and will ultimately drift into Italian possession. For the moment, however, Mr. Wilson's protest has successfully prevented the Italian annexation of Fiume and of several of the islands facing the harbor.

A Comical Arrangement.

By contrast, the Jugo Slavs will possess the village of Susak, which is actually the eastern half of the town of Fiume. They will control the railroad to Agram, while the Italians will control the railroad to Laybach. There will be just as much of a natural frontier and visible division between these towns as there is between Washington and Georgetown, and the frontier will skip around much as the French boundary wanders through the streets of Monte Carlo.

By the new agreement, Italy will hold outright many of the islands on the Dalmatian coast, and two Dalmatian cities, Zare, which is Italian so far as the town population is concerned, and Sebenico, which is a great naval port. Thus Italy establishes two footholds on the mainland of Dalmatia, and permanent hostility between Slav and Latin is insured. So far as this phase is concerned, one might say that the compromise was like amputating a man's hand instead of his arm, and the Jugo Slavs are certain to view the thing in this way.

Mandate For Albania.

To balance the apparent concessions Italy is to receive a mandate for all of Albania, territory of some 8,000 or 9,000 square miles inhabited by 700,000 or 800,000 people, who are themselves divided by tribes, by religion, by tradition, but united in comon hatred of all invaders. This country is without railroads, without roads, the wildest part of Europe, which has never been conquered or submitted to orderly government since the days of the Romans.

By the bestowal of a mandatory for this region upon Italy, Italy enters the Balkans. She finds herself faced with the Jugo Slavs on the north, henceforth and forever her enemies because of the Dalmatian and Fiume questions, while to the southward she is already embroiled with the Greeks, who claim that part of Albania known as Northern Epirus, which is Greek in history, and was assigned to Greece once during the present war, and taken from the Greeks through Italian influence first after the Balkan war and second during the last war.

By this alleged settlement Italy is now to enter into the midst of the Balkan turmoil as an enemy of Slav and Greek. Both these people will regard her precisely as the Italians regarded Austria as long as the Hapsburg monarchy held Trentino and Trieste, and Paris has already been informed that Jugo-Slavia and Greece have made a secret alliance which can have no other purpose than common action against a common enemy.

A Further Difficulty.

But the difficulties do not end here. Rumania and Jugo-Slavia are also disputing certain territories in Banat. As a natural consequence, Rumania is making common cause with Italy against the Slavs, and thus there is being revived, in the interests of power, the old Balkan conditions of intrigue and hatred. It will be Italy's policy, necessarily, as long as she holds the territories which the Slavs rightfully claim, to keep Jugo-Slavia weak, both by continued efforts to propagate differences between the Slovenians, Croats and Serbs, and through understandings alike with Rumanians and Bulgarians. Moreover, when Russia recovers her strength, if she does, nothing is more certain than that she will once more resume her historic championship of the Southern Slavs, and we shall have Europe once more dragged into Balkan affairs, and Balkan states set against each other, and the circumstances out of which the recent world war grew repeated.

This, after all, is the type of the kind of thing the Paris conference has done. The Saar Valley, Danzig, Tescher and Fiume are all arrangements of the same sort, made to avoid immediate crisis, but in the very nature of things postponing, not abolishing, conflict.

Where All Europe Failed.

It is a simple thing to say that the League of Nations will henceforth be able to preserve peace in the Balkans, but all Europe failed to do this after the congress of Berlin, and made precisely the same kind of makeshifts as have now been manufactured. No one who knows the Southern Slavs believes for a moment that they will permanently accept the situation which gives hundreds of thousands of their race brothers to Italy. No one believes that Italy will at any time resign the territories which she now acquires at the expense of the Jugo-Slavs and Greeks. It would have been a far better thing to give Fiume to Italy, and Zara and Sebenico to Jugo-Slavia, but the greatest evil in this settlement is the Albanian situation.

We have now recognized the Italian claims in Dalmatia, which bring Italy into contact with the Jugo-Slavs, and in Albania, where there is conflict both with Slavs and Greeks in Asia Minor, where Italy has not even a shadow of warrant and now becomes the foe of the Turks and the Greeks and the rival of Great Britain and France, and we are increasing Italian holdings in Northern Africa, where Italian experience has been but little less disastrous than in Abyssinia, and finally, we are extending Italian territories about Abyssinia.

Wilson Yields His Points.

Like all other questions which have come before the Paris conference, the Fiume problem carried in its train an infinite number of evil consequences. Mr. Wilson's declaration that the Italians should not have Fiume was a just declaration, but to maintain his position about Fiume he was compelled to consent to one compromise after another which, in the aggregate, have created a far worse situation than would have resulted had Fiume gone to Italy outright. Wherever one of the fourteen points has been involved, in the discussion to maintain even a semblance of fidelity to that principle, Mr. Wilson has been forced to accede to the violation of that same principle elsewhere. This Italian question is the type of all the intricate disputes of the Paris conference. The fashion in which it has been regulated is the final illustration of the working of this conference. In order to have an outlet on the sea for the Jugo-Slavs, Mr. Wilson has been obliged to consent to Italian annexation of other Jugo-Slav towns and territories, to the Italian occupation of Albania, and to the Italian occupation of Asia Minor.

The result is clear. Every compromise, from Shantung to the Saar, has laid the foundation for future European conflicts and has fanned the fires of racial animosities until they are burning at white heat once more. Nor is it without sinister suggestion that the fires are burning most fiercely precisely where the explosion five years ago set the whole world in flames.

WHOLE POLICE FORCE FIRED IN WINNIPEG

Commission Stands on Policy of No Compromise.

TELEGRAPHERS TO RETURN?

"Loyalist" Veterans Find Literature Indorsing Russian Bolshevism.

WINNIPEG, June 9.—The Winnipeg police force was discharged by the city commission late today. The policemen refused to accept the city's ultimatum to sign a pledge not to participate in sympathetic strikes. The city refused to accept a compromise offer.

Delegations of press and commercial telegraphers visited the Canadian Press office and the commercial telegraph offices today, and asked information regarding the terms on which they might resume.

Additional union men who have been on strike here for nearly a month in sympathy with the Metal Workers' Union, were returning to work today, according to reports received by the citizens' committee. It was also reported that several of the local unions involved in the strike have decided to take a vote relative to returning to work immediately despite the argument by the leaders of the strike that to return to work without a settlement being reached with the employers is to admit defeat.

Jobs Held Open Till Today.

Strike leaders sent out an appeal to all union men this morning "not to do anything about returning to work until Tuesday." The leaders intimated that the railway brotherhoods might do something within the next 24 hours that would have a bearing on the strike. A number of brotherhood executives are here for a conference.

Several Winnipeg concerns affected by the strike notified the company employees this morning that their jobs would be held open until tomorrow. Advertisements for help of returned soldiers preferred were inserted in a local newspaper.

At a meeting Sunday the general strike committee completed plans to continue the strike, if necessary, for another two weeks. Funds are ample and are flowing in from many sources. The Minneapolis Trade Council sent word of their interest and sympathy, and to call on them for any financial assistance needed. This is the common style of aid that is received daily.

Will Spare No Expense.

"The city is willing to spend $50,000 or $1,000,000 or any other amount if necessary, to provide citizens with protection and necessities of life," Ald. Herbert Gray declared. His statement was indorsed by other members of the city council.

Harold Riley, president of the Returned Soldiers' Loyalist Association, announced that literature indorsing Russian Bolshevik principles and approving a soviet government plan for Winnipeg has been obtained by members of the association. Some of the literature turned over to local newspapers carries the statement that it was printed by the Western Labor News, the official publication of the strikers.

Riley said that the investigators were of the opinion that the literature had been printed about the time the strike was launched, but that its distribution was not ordered because "the strike did not go the way the labor leaders thought it would."

Investigation of alleged sedition in connection with the Winnipeg trouble was continued today by federal agents.

Desperate efforts to avoid a complete showdown on the police situation were made by friends of the policemen. The city stood firm, however, taking the position the police had not only gone on record as indorsing the sympathetic strike, but the actions of some individual policemen while on duty had caused doubts as to whether they were doing everything in their power to maintain law and order.

Earlier, representatives of the policemen's union announced the men were willing to sign pledges not to participate in sympathetic strikes in the future. The city was asked, however, to withdraw its ultimatum making such action compulsory.

Have Shown Discrimination.

The police commission immediately announced that all regular policemen who were willing to sign the new pledge could apply for positions. Applications from a number of returned soldiers for jobs on the force have been received. Returned soldier constables have been on duty several days as a supplementary force. Mayor Gray organized the police force after complaints had been received that the regular policemen were discriminating in favor of strikers.

MINISTRY ONLY DOOR CLOSED TO WOMEN NOW

Woman Evangelist Tells Goderich Conference It Will Be Open Soon.

STOP MAKING LIQUOR

Only Solution, Say Delegates—Rural and Urban Ministers Clash.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GODERICH, June 9.—At today's session of the London Methodist Conference, Miss Morten, an evangelist, was heard, and stated that the only door closed to women today was the ministry, and that she was satisfied that it would not be very long before this door also would be opened.

Appreciation was later expressed by the conference of the Government's order forbidding betting on the race tracks of Canada during the war, and the demand made that this legislation be continued permanently. Reference was also made in this report to prohibition, the opinion of the conference being that total prohibition of the manufacture and sale of liquor for beverages was the only solution of the problem.

A child welfare week was commended where possible. Appreciation of the Government's attitude in regard to the housing question and women's franchise was also expressed.

Open Dance Halls.

The report of the evangelism and social service committee, presented by C. J. Moorehouse this morning before the London Methodist Conference, caused considerable discussion.

The clause regarding community centres orginally read to the effect that the conference recommended the establishment of such centres, calling upon the Government for any assistance which it might give.

R. H. Barnby, secretary of the conference, held up the passing of this clause by the following question: "Will there be open dance halls included in these community centres, to which we as a church are lending our assistance?"

He answered his own question as follows: "I happen to know that one centre applied to the Government for assistance, and was denied that assistance. Certain restrictions were placed on the centre by them—namely, that there should be in that centre no dancing, no sale of cigarettes, no smoking outside the smoking-room, no gambling and no Sunday trade."

Y. M. C. A. Also Working.

The result was that the clause was referred back to the committee for further consideration. The conference felt that as they could not comply with the requirements of the Government that the community centre be open, they should go quietly ahead on their own initiative.

Capt. Edward, M.C., mentioned the fact that the Y. M. C. A. was also taking up the community centre problem, and would perhaps open up centres to certain things which the church would not directly support.

W. K. Hagar raised a question in regard to the observance of the Lord's Day. "I would like to ask the conference whether the farmers of the constituencies believe condensing of milk on Sunday a necessity?" The question was ignored before conference. The Rev. John Ayearst, prominent in a liquor controversy in Toronto some time ago, appeared before the house, the members of conference expressing their utmost confidence in his integrity and rejoicing over his exoneration.

Resolutions of appreciation were extended to the retiring president, Rev. J. E. Holmes to W. E. Willson, new field secretary of social service and evangelism, and to Dr. Hazen regarding his newly-received honor from Victoria College.

R. E. Medd and Henry Pocock were appointed representatives on the general board of social service and evangelism, and J. F. Knight conference treasurer of this fund. Dr. Barnby resigned as secretary-treasurer of the contingent fund.

Breach Almost Comes.

There was almost a breach created between the rural and urban ministers of the London Methodist Conference this afternoon, when it was proposed by L. J. Foster to memorialize the general conference for sanction on the organizing of a rural Methodist union of both ministers and laymen, this union to have the privilege of meeting some time during conference and reporting at conference.

The preamble to this memorial was rather unfortunate in that it hinted that the rural ministers had not received fair treatment when it came to the appointment of conference officers. This immediately gave the impression that the rural union was to be for the purpose of electing rural officers to conference and thus dividing the house. At once consternation was aroused, and there was a little flurry between rural and urban ministers. During this it became rather indefinite as to who really was a rural minister.

Rural Districts Sore.

W. E. Pescott of London said: "Isn't the whole crux of the situation the fact that rural districts are sore because the men of cities occupy the conference offices?"

A. McKibbon, who had originally brought forward the resolution, replied: "People may hint as much as they like that I am office-seeking. What we want is to make it possible for strong men to make country life their life work. As to putting a rural man in the conference chair, let me point to our Presbyterian brothers, who have had a rural man as head of their general assembly (Dr. Colin Fletcher). Only once in 34 years has the Methodist Church elected a rural man as president.

Dr. C. P. Wells also spoke in favor of the rural union, at the same time declaring that the discussion had been unfortunate in placing the rural class over against the city class. J. F. Sutcliffe declared his belief that if the conference did not permit this organization it would be carried out in secret anyway.

Not Proposing Strike.

"Although this is a time of strikes, the rural ministry are not proposing a strike," said Mr. Foster.

Finally a motion was made by J. E. J. Millyard to the effect that a commission be appointed to study this question and bring it to conference next year. The motion was carried.

During the afternoon several lengthy reports were read. The fact that the conference almost fell asleep over them is a tribute to the committees in whom the utmost confidence is placed. Even the president could hardly forego a yawn as he tapped weakly on the table to call the conference to attention.

The district secretaries of social service and evangelism were appointed as follows: London, Roy Osborne; Stratford, H. J. Uren; Wingham, W. E. Stafford; Goderich, H. D. Moyer; Exeter, Dr. E. Medd; Strathroy, Dr. A. I. Brown; Sarnia, C. T. Moorehouse; Windsor, C. C. Kaine; Chatham, Murray Stuart; Ridgetown, Wm. Hiles; St. Thomas, W. A. Waldon.

Rev. A. E. Millson, who has just returned from Omsk, Siberia, spoke to the conference, declaring the people of Russia to be splendid animals, with no religion as we understand it.

"What Russia needs is that God raise up some Luther or some John Wesley to save the people," he declared.

Changes in Circuits.

An interesting report of the day was that read by E. S. Hunt, of the circuit boundaries committee. In this it was suggested that Croton of the Ridgetown district be detached from the Florence circuit and attached to the Thamesville circuit; that Iona of the St. Thomas district be detached from Shedden and put on the Fingal circuit, and that the Ailsa Craig and Crediton circuits be united to form a circuit called the Ailsa Craig-Crediton circuit. The report was passed with the exception of the latter clause, which will be suspended until a delegation from Ailsa Craig has visited the convention tonight.

The evening service was public, at which the Rev. Byron Snell and W. E. Millson, were the speakers.

COTTON.

New York, June 10.—The feverish rise of cotton continued today. When the market opened excited traders soon bid that commodity up to 31.30c a pound, which is a gain of 377 points, or $18 85, a bale over the low level of Saturday morning. Rumors of a short export demand persisted, and to these the speculative skylarking is attributed.

GRAIN.

Chicago, June 10.—Opening: Corn—July, $1 68¼; September, $1 60⅛.

Oats—July, 67c; September, 64⅞c.

Chicago, June 10.—Bearish aspects of the government crop report commanded first attention today in the corn market, and led to moderate declines. Later, however, wet weather in parts of the West became more than an offset. Prices fluctuated rapidly on any unusual number of orders either way. Opening figures, which ranged from ⅝c to 1c lower, were followed by rallies to slightly above yesterday's finish.

Oats were relatively firm. Shorts evinced considerable disposition to cover. After opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, the market continued to harden.

WALL STREET.

New York, June 10—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Weakening of technical conditions by the rise yesterday in special stocks caused some pressure at the opening of the stock market today, but the general movement was too confused to have much bearing either way on the immediate course of prices. Some of the coppers were higher, while others yielded, but most changes throughout the list were limited to moderate fractions. A few issues showed wider variation, such as Atlantic-Gulf, Mercantile Marine and Royal Dutch, which improved to 1½ points, and American Sumatra Tobacco, which gained 5. Declines of about a point were registered by Mexican Petroleum, Southern Pacific and Utah Copper, with Studebaker losing about 4 points.

DECLARES CREAMERIES MAKE ONLY 1 1-2 CENTS PER POUND ON BUTTER

Have To Pay Farmers From 55 to 62 Cents For Butter Fat, Belleville Man Tells Cost of Living Committee at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, June 9.—Before the cost of living committee MacKenzie Robertson, manager of the Belleville Creameries, today stated that last year his firm manufactured 600,000 pounds of butter. The net profit was 1½c per pound. The factory costs varied from six to eight cents per pound. The cost to the factory when milk was delivered was four cents and express charges cost two cents. The following prices were paid to the farmer for butter fat this year:

January, 55c; February, 58c; March, 58c and 60c; April 62c; May, 58c to 56c. Retailers in Belleville got spread of four cents on the manufactured butter. The spread between the farmer and the consumer for butter was 12c.

The highest prices charged the retailer by his firm this year were 52c and 53c, but that was only for a short while. The highest prices paid by the cold storage firms for his surplus, which would be about half of the whole output, were from 43c to 44c.

Chairman Nicholson said there was a feeling that the spread between the price of butter as it left the factory in the summer months for the cold storage warehouses and what that same butter cost the consumer in the winter months was enormous.

Mr. Robertson said all he could do was to give the prices he received.

Go After Details.

Mr. Stevens moved that Mr. Robertson be instructed to prepare and file a statement showing shipments in car load lots, the names to whom shipped, the quantity and the prices paid. This would give the information regarding sales to cold storage firms only.

"The consumers have the remedy in their own hands, but they won't act," declared Mr. Robertson. He told how in cities like Toronto and Ottawa, where he did not sell to retailers, he sold bulk lots of butter to private consumers when it was cheap.

These put it in cold storage, and were able to eat it at a total cost of about 46 cents a pound. Among the far-seeing customers of Mr. Robertson's is Sir George Foster, who has been following this practice "for the last couple of years."

"I have friends in Toronto who tell me to put 100 pounds of butter away for them when it is cheapest," said Mr. Robertson. "I do this generally in June. Cold storage does not cost more than an average of 2 cents a pound for the six months. People in Toronto were eating butter last winter which did not cost them more than 40 cents, when others were paying 70 or 75 cents.

Farmers Would Ease Off.

Mr. Nicholson—What would happen if the Government fixed the price of butter?

Mr. Robertson—No doubt it would curtail the output of butter. The farmer would not keep the same number of cows.

He told James Douglas that when the Government had commandeered butter last year the farmers had stopped bringing in cream to his creamery. The farmers started manufacturing themselves and putting it on the market.

Mr. Robertson did not think the Canadian consumer was eating nearly as much butter as he did formerly on account of the high cost. The sale of oleo, he declared, naturally curtailed the sale of butter. He slammed oleo as not a substitute for butter, but merely a makeshift. Oleo discouraged the keeping of the dairy cow. He thought the price of oleo should be quoted in the newspapers, not in the butter column, but in the lard column.

"The supply of cream has gone down during the last three winters," declared Mr. Robertson. "The farmers do not feel justified in keeping cattle at the high cost of feed."

DON'T BE A SLAVE TO YOUR NERVES

Good Advice To Nervous People.

People who are excessively nervous, tired out and all run down, who get the jumps and fidgets, who can't concentrate their minds on work, have fits of blues, trembling, nervous headaches and dyspepsia and that "don't give a hang" feeling so common to nervous folks, may take it as a certain fact that their trouble is due to impoverished or devitalized nerve force. Their nerve cells are starving, and when they give out entirely complete nervous prostration or breakdown is the result.

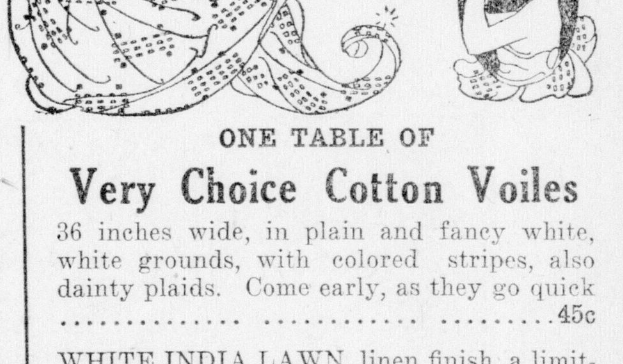

A splendid treatment for weak nerves is found in the famous Ferro-Peptine, composed of six of the best nerve vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These tablets go straight to the nerve cells and begin immediate action. Take a Ferro-Peptine tablet, wait ten minutes and watch yourself perk up. They feed your famished nerve cells, start healthy blood circulation and normal digestion. Then you brighten up, put on a smile, get some of the old-time "pep" back in your system, and feel as happy as a clam at high tide. Ferro-Peptine is absolutely harmless, contains no dangerous habit-forming drugs, is easy to take, inexpensive, and Staondard Drug Company and other leading druggists sell it on a positive guarantee of successful results or money back.—Advt.

Efficiency
In these days, and in the past few years, a great deal has been said about efficiency. Factories, shops, offices, etc., have all been running as close to 100 per cent efficiency as possible. So have the individual persons that make up these organizations.
The question is, are you living 100 per cent efficient. The great majority of the people are not, and one of the great hold-backs is poor eyesight.
A great many people are going through this world handicapped by poor eyesight.
In the great majority of cases this can be remedied. Do not let this go another day.
Come and see our optician about it.

CLINTON MAN PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

CLINTON, June 9. — Charles Bartliff, 67 years old, died with startling suddenness here tonight. He had been cutting the grass, and entered the house to lie down on the couch. In a few minutes he had passed away. He is survived by his son, Harry Bartliff, confectioner, and three daughters, Mrs. Pinner of Vancouver, and the Misses Jule and Annice, both at home. He had previously lived at Brussels and Seaforth.

The deanery of Huron convenes here tomorrow, with Dean Tucker, Rev. William Lowe and Rev. W. J. Doherty of London in attendance.

Tonight the Doverty Piano Company team won from the G. W. V. A. in the town baseball league by 11 to 7.

The death of William Ford also occurred here today. He had been ailing for about a year and a half.

CIRCUS PARADE AT 10:30 TOMORROW.

Let joy be unconfined! The Sparks Circus will reach here tomorrow in its march about the country, and its proprietors bid patrons come to its monumental entertainment with expectations keyed to the highest possible point. Even then, they are sure, the most vivid imagination will be startled and the most sanguine hope outdone.

The big amusement institution comes eager to prove once more that it is one of the greatest of its kind, country and era.

It comes with the proud realization that all this season its throngs of patrons, limited in number only to its seating capacity—that itself bigger than ever before in its history—have invariably united in one grand, swelling chorus of vociferous praise and rapt wonder.

Soon after tomorrow's daybreak, it is expected, the long railroad trains which are required to transport the circus will have reached this city. All arrangements have been completed for their undelayed progress into the railroad yards, and for the speedy emptying of the flat, stock and sleeping cars. The boss canvasman and his horde of brawny followers will reach the show grounds first and immediately the work of creating the canvas city of a day will begin.

The street parade is scheduled to leave the show grounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. There is promised a stunningly grand and glorious pageantric prelude to the performance on the show grounds. In bewildering array will be viewed gorgeous military legions; massive, splendidly ornate chariots, floats, vans and tableau wagons, celebrated bands and novel musical equipages, hordes of the world's most famous clowns and jesters, fierce wild beasts in open dens with their daring trainers, droves of richly-decked elephants and camels, wardrobes and trappings that represent a fortune.

When the circus opens its gates at 1 o'clock in the afternoon to receive the human parade of patrons, the crowds who stop to comment and observe in the menagerie tent will find dens of rare and curious beasts ranged in a great ellipse. b

EXCELLENT PROGRAM AT GRAND FEATURES MISS RAE SAMUELS

Five Vaudeville Acts and Metro Film Delight Audience.

Last week the program at the Grand Theatre was an excellent one. This week it is much better. The five vaudeville acts are all winners, and the feature Metro film, "An Amateur Adventuress," starring Emmy Wehlen, is a real treat to all lovers of clean comedy. Of the five vaudeville acts, that of Miss Rae Samuels stands out by itself, this dainty young comedienne of musical comedy fame being forced to respond time and again to encores last night, until finally her repertoire was exhausted, and she satisfied the appreciative audience with a neat little speech which made her win many friends in London. Miss Samuels sings in a pleasing voice, most of her songs being original, but those heard before at the Grand were never so capably rendered as by this young comedienne. Her costumes were exquisitely designed, and her character rube songs brought down the house, while her encore, a Yiddish comedy, was equally as effective. This headline attraction, billed as "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville," lives up to its name, and Miss Samuels will continue to entertain at the Grand all week, with a complete change of wardrobe and songs on Thursday.

Harry and Nancy Cavana in "The Free Exhibition," with circus tent scenery, provided some good comedy, and specialty wire-walking by Harry which is extremely clever. A harp solo and singing numbers by Miss Cavana demonstrate her beautiful harmony, and encores were quite in order with her last night. Murray K. Hill, one of the most versatile comedians in vaudeville today, sings his own compositions and produces ready wit which seems unlimited, to the delight of the patrons. His final recitation in negro dialect was real good and went over with a punch.

Stan and Mae Laurel in "No Mother to Guide Them," certainly do not need one in producing their skit. The male member of the duo was formerly a partner with Charlie Chaplin, and this comedy is of the laugh-producing sort. He has also appeared on the screen in Pathe comedies, and his beautiful young companion aids him with her excellent singing numbers in making a great success of the act. The vampire impersonation on the part of Stan drives away the blues, and the work of this pair is quite in keeping with the rest of the program. Taisei and Yoshi in a Japanese novelty act provide some acrobatic feats that are new to patrons of the Grand, and their work was much appreciated. Each number in the offering is of characterisic Japanese invention, and the Oriental costumes were delightful and refreshing.

Emmy Whelen, in "An Amateur Adventuress," is seen at her best, in a role of unusual versatility, as Norma Wood. This play tells the story of a girl who determines to vary the monotony of life with a little adventure, and the unusual situation which result provide ample scope for Miss Wehlen to demonstrate her screen ability. She contrives to get the necessary money and clothes to start on the night road, provides an abundance of amusement. She is engaged to save a brainless young millionaire from a designing woman, by a frantic mother, and herself becomes tangled in a romance from which she emerges with the spoils of love. This play is one of distinct originality, and Victor Potel as the empty-headed young millionaire victim who is rescued, makes this comedy a scream from start to finish. The supporting cast is an all-star one, including Rosemary Theby, Allen Sears, Lucille Ward and Marion Skinner. The Grand Topical Review and special music by the theatre orchestra, concludes a program which has not been excelled at the Grand Theatre since the inception of vaudeville there. This program continues today and Wednesday and Miss Samuels will appear the entire week at the Grand Thatr.

POWERFUL DRAMA "THE REGENERATION" AT THE PATRICIA

Anna Q. Nillson and Rockcliffe Fellowes in Leading Roles.

"The Regeneration," a powerful photodrama, replete with human interest scenes, was presented at the Patricia Theatre yesterday, and will be shown again today and Wednesday.

Rockcliffe Fellowes and Anna Q. Nilsson appear in the leading roles, and each gives a vivid portrayal of the part assigned.

The play treats of a social problem with caste as the keynote, and tends to show that it is barely possible to raise a man from the slums, but that a union between a man of the underworld and a woman of the better class would tend to degrade her, rather than elevate him.

No expense has been spared to make "The Regeneration" one of the strongest pictures that has ever been filmed. Under such a great director as R. A. Walsh, and with scenes and settings on which no cost was spared, with types from the Bowery that it took weeks and months to secure, and in fact with everything as nearly human as human ingenuity can make it, this picture, it is predicted, will be an epoch in the film world. There are scenes of New York life that are too human and too perfect to describe by words. The part of Mamie Rose is taken by Anna Nilsson, who for the past four years has been considered one of the sweetest and most charming actresses of the shadowy screen. Others to contribute to the success of the cast are Rockcliffe Fellowes, who became a star on Broadway his first year in the theatrical world; William Sheer, who has made millions of friends on the screen through his exceptionally fine character work, and hundreds of others who go to make this great picture the success that it is.

Two comedies, one a Sunshine, the other a Strand, are replete with funny situations and scenes. Each is good for numerous laughs.

In vaudeville, Hyland, Grand and Hyland present a bright comedy, singing, dancing and instrumental act. They were encored following the rendition of each number.

The above program will be repeated in full at today's and Wednesday's performances.

FLIER TO PERFORM AT ST. MARYS SOON

ST. MARYS, June 9.—A pilot who has been a flier over the German lines for two or three years will soon give an exhibition with his aeroplane in several clever stunts at the fair grounds.

Robert Lidster, an overseer of machines at the cement works, had one of his hands caught in a machine and had a finger taken off.

Patrick Dunn, a well-known resident of the North Ward, and a former ex-constable of this town, was buried Monday at St. Marys Cemetery. He was recently an employee at the cement works. He died suddenly Friday morning at his home on Church street in his 75th year. A widow survives.

Stephen Bettridge, a former well-known farmer of the township of Downie, died at Port Huron, Mich., June 4, at the advanced age of 85 years. The remains were brought here for burial. The funeral took place Friday afternoon on the arrival of the 4 p.m. G. T. R. train at the Junction, and thence to St. Marys Cemetery.

AUDIENCE THRILLED AT MAJESTIC WITH SCREEN MELODRAMA

"Stolen Orders," Mammoth Film, Has an All-Star Cast, Featuring Kitty Gordon.

"Stolen Orders," the mammoth patriotic melodrama, featuring four stars, Kitty Gordon, Carlyle Blackwell, Montagu Love and June Elvidge, supported by other prominent actors, is full of thrilling incidents from start to finish and keeps the audience keyed up through eight reels, wondering what can possibly happen next. A Charlie Chaplin comedy and a Harold Lloyd comedy, with a high-class vaudeville act, completed an excellent program.

In the vaudeville act, Miss Estelle Carey, who possesses a sweet and clear soprano voice, gives a group of classic songs which will be appreciated by the most particular music lover. She is a native of Hamilton, and has a wide circle of friends in this city. In America she is booked as one of the greatest sopranos of the future.

Kitty Gordon wears gorgeous clothes in "Stolen Orders." It is to pay for these clothes that, in the picture, she finds it necessary to raise more money than that given her by her husband, Admiral Gaveston. So Miss Gordon, in the role of the admiral's wife, steals the sealed orders given him by the navy department, which he is to open after the fleet has gone to sea. But it is only after John Le Page, played by Montagu Love, has persuaded her that he is a member of a peace society and that she will help him end the war by stealing the sealed orders. Le Page is really a German spy. Le Page has a daughter, Ruth, played by June Elvidge. Ruth meets and falls in love with Lieut. Gaveston, played by Carlyle Blackwell, who is Mrs. Gaveston's brother-in-law.

Admiral Gaveston discovers the loss of the sealed orders while a party is in progress on board his flagship. He orders everyone searched. He starts with his brother, Lieut. Gaveston. But young Gaveston carries in his pocket an incriminating letter which a German count has written Mrs. Gaveston, so, rather than be searched, he leaps overboard. From here on until the end the picture is intensely exciting.

This program will be repeated today and Wednesday.

MISSIONARY TO CHINA IS VISITING IN THE CITY

Mrs. H. Brown of Clinton Will Address June Festival.

An interesting visitor in the city this week is Mrs. Homer Brown, B.A., of Chentu, China, a graduate of Victoria College, Toronto, who is the guest of Miss Isabel Govenlock, B.A., Windsor avenue.

Mrs. Brown has been staying with her father, Rev. J. Hockey, Palmerston, in the absence of her husband, Capt. (Rev.) H. Brown, in France, in charge of Chinese workers. She has just returned from attending an international missionary convention at Clifton Springs, and has consented to deliver an address on Wednesday evening in Askin Street Methodist Church in connection with the annual June festival of missions of the Mission Circle of the church, in progress on Wednesday and Thursday.

In addition to the address of Mrs. Brown, the Mission Circle has another very special attraction to offer. The young people of New St. James' Presbyterian Church have consented to present the "Hindoo pageant" in costume, which has been given several times by them with great success, and Rev. James MacKay, pastor of St. James' Church, will give an address.

PLAY AT THEDFORD.

THEDFORD, June 9.—The ladies of the Presbyterian Church, 24 in number, put on a play in King Edward Hall, which was a grand success. The play was entitled "The Ladies' Aid of Mohawk Crossroads." The ladies were attired in the Victoriana costume. Miss Lou Fuller gave a recitation; Miss Nellie Walden and Miss Rosa Tuck each sang solos, and Miss Brown gave pinao solos. Dr. McDonald gave two monologues. The hit of the evening was the made quartet, Rev. W. McInnes, Dr. McDonald, Mr. Montgomery and Mr. Atchison.

FAVORITE ACTRESS DOES NOT RELY ON VOICE FOR SALARY

Miss Ray Samuels Modest as to Singing.

"Sing? Don't accuse me of that. If it was just my singing, they wouldn't give me five cents a week. The little songs I sing don't require any vocal ability or training. I just do them to amuse people and try to make them happier, and I get just as much fun out of it as the audience."

It was vivacious Ray Samuels, who thus took an Advertiser reporter into her confidence, Ray Samuels headline feature at the Grand Theatre. Ray Samuels of the raven's wing hair, shining dark eyes and peach bloom complexion, without a particle of make-up; Ray Samuels of a delightful sense of humor, who is making her very first appearance here.

In a few weeks, she is going over to England to have a part in a revue, which Albert de Corville is putting on in London. "I am getting so impatient to start, I can hardly wait to sail," she says, adding that some years ago, De Corville's representative in New York saw her in the Palace Theatre there, and offers have been made to her from time to time to go to England.

"I could have gone a year ago," she says, "but there were two reasons, first the war, then I had a dear mother, who was very ill, and I couldn't leave this country on her account. But she is gone now (and her big dark eyes filled with tears), and so I have accepted the engagement.

"You are an American?"

"Everybody thinks I am Jewish with my name and appearance," she said. "Where can you get a more Jewish name than Rachel Samuels? That happens to be my own, real name. But my people were Welsh, born in Wales, and came to this country from Wales, so going to the old country is going back home for me. There is one thing though, God gave the Welsh people wonderful voices. I don't seem to have had my share."

Though a stranger in Western Ontario, Miss Samuels has frequently played on the Orpheum circuit in the Canadian West, and frequently during the war gave special entertainments for the soldier boys out there. She has most vivid recollections of last winter's engagement in Winnipeg, when she almost died from influenza, and found out as never before how golden-hearted brother and sister actors could be.

She goes next week to Kansas City to do special work for a few weeks with a John Cort show, before sailing for England.

WHAT BANKERS THINK OF PAINT.

A questionnaire sent to a number of bank officials brought out very clearly the fact that the person who had a well preserved and painted property had a better credit rating and standing in the community.

All the bankers were unanimous in the opinion that property kept in a good state of repair and paint entitles the owner to more consideration in a loan, that such property will sell for more money; and that it is an asset to the property owner in his financial dealings. One banker said that he found that as a man was, so was his buildings. The man who was slovenly about himself generally took no interest in the repair or condition of his buildings. b

ST. MARYS TO HIRE INDUSTRIAL SECRETARY

ST. MARYS, June 9.—At a meeting of the board of trade it was decided to protest against the increased telephone rates. An investigation into the local fire protection will be made. The board indorsed the proposal to try to have the provincial highway pass through the town. The town council will be urged to ask the Grand Trunk Railway to repair the overhead bridge on Jones street, and to build a new one on Queen street. The board will engage an industrial secretary and will join the Provincial Association of Chambers of Commerce.

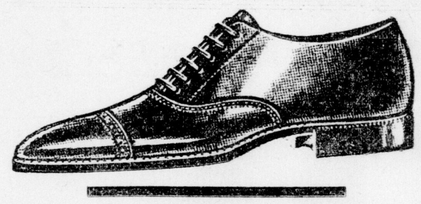

The South Perth District Orange Lodge at its meeting here on Saturday decided to celebrate the 12th of July in Paris.

The Grand Trunk Railway has commenced work on a new overhead bridge on Queen street. The structure will be of steel and concrete, and will be six feet wider than the present bridge, allowing a full width road to be carried across the tracks. A new approach to the station platform will be constructed sloping from James street, to replace the present stairs.
