

OFFICERS HOT IN TRAIL OF MURRELL GANG

Gladman Says Denton's Judgment Will Influence Him

POLICE EXPECT TO LAND CHIEF OF MURRELL GANG

Provincial Police Officer Admits Having Substantial Clue.

LEADS TO DETROIT

Hope Now Entertained That "Pat" Norton Will Be Caught.

Provincial police are on the trail of "Pat" Norton.

This statement was made to The Advertiser today by Assistant Commissioner Cuddy, head of the criminal investigation department of the provincial police.

Mrs. O. S. Holmes, sister of the wanted man, indicated to an Advertiser reporter who called on her at her home in Detroit last June, that she knew the whereabouts of her brother, but would not divulge definite information.

It is this claim that the provincial police are now following up, and which, if successful, means that after a lapse of more than two years, Pat Norton will be found and brought to London to stand trial for murder and bank robbery, committed in April, 1921, at Melbourne, when Russell Campbell was shot. Three others were implicated, Sidney Murrell, recently brought back from California to stand trial on the charge; "Slim" Williams, who is serving seven years in Kingston penitentiary, and William Murrell, still at large.

Following "Tizer" Story.

Mr. Cuddy stated that the story told to The Advertiser by Mrs. Holmes was being closely investigated, and that they were satisfied with the results. In her story Mrs. Holmes stated that she knew where her brother, "Pat," was and vouched the information that he would never be caught.

Yes, I have an idea where he is," stated the sister last June, "but I won't tell you and you could not expect me to. Blood is thicker than water, and if he can keep away from the police I am certainly not going to be the means of his being caught. I will tell you, however, that as far as I know he is working hard and doing well. He is in Detroit, and I think I also will tell you, but nothing further. He has been in communication with us and has visited us, but when it comes to telling you and having the police catch him, I will keep the secret. He will not be caught through me and if he is arrested it will be an accident or a slip-up on the part of someone."

The story came to the notice of the provincial men when Inspectors Strager and Ward arrived here from California with Sidney Murrell.

As they were being interviewed about the trip, The Advertiser mentioned that he had seen Russell Campbell in Detroit. It was then the officers' turn to ask questions. This they did, with the result that they were furnished with a copy of her story.

Think He Will Be Caught.

Returning to Toronto, the matter was taken up at headquarters and turned over to Mr. Cuddy, who now entertains hopes that Norton will soon be caught and brought back here.

Beyond this Mr. Cuddy would make no statements, outside of thanking The Advertiser for supplying a substantial clue to work on. He also expressed the thanks of the department.

Norton, who was one of the four men who attempted to rob the Home Bank at Melbourne, when Russell Campbell of that town was killed, has not been found or heard of since that time, until his sister declared that she knew where he was.

The police possessed nothing but a bare description of the man, and this made his capture more than usually difficult.

The Murrell brothers and Williams were arrested at the scene of the murder, but Norton, after having been chased for miles on foot, got clean away. It is supposed that in September, 1921, he was the man who was responsible for aiding the Murrells in their escape from the county jail, where they were awaiting trial on the murder charge.

DISCOVER MONTREAL MAN SHOT ON STEPS OF HOUSE

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, Aug. 17.—H. Nichols was this morning found on the front steps of a Mance street house with a bullet wound in his back. He told the police he had been shot by bandits. The police have given out no other information about the case, and a good deal of mystery surrounds the affair. One local paper suggests the men who shot Nichols may be the Toronto bandits.

TOWNSHIP BUYS 'PHONE SERVICE AS PUBLIC WORK

London Township Acquires System of United Telephone Company for $22,000.

WILL IMPROVE IT

After setting an example to many other townships in Western Ontario through their efforts to place higher power at the disposal of every farmer in their district, the London township council are now endeavoring to render the telephone service second to none in the province. For months a special committee has been working on the project of bettering the service, and it has now been learned that the township has purchased the system of the United Telephone Company for approximately $22,000.

At a special session of the subscribers held recently, J. A. Hughes, T. H. Headley and Charles Ferguson were appointed a commission to manage the newly-acquired system and to take such measures as they saw fit to improve the service to the residents.

The commission's first official move was to ask the council for a loan to pay the United Telephone Company in full.

Ever since an electrical storm of a few years ago the telephone service given the township residents has been unsatisfactory. A large number of phones, cut off by the storm, had never been re-connected, and finally the subscribers, feeling that an efficient service would never be rendered, petitioned the council to purchase the organization and run it as a municipal system.

It is understood that work on improvements will be started as soon as a survey of the requirements has been completed. A lot of the present equipment will be discarded for that of more modern type, the phone service will be restored to those who lost it three years ago, and a number of new phones will be installed.

Before the actual purchase was made, at the request of the council, the Board of Railway and Municipal Affairs placed a valuation on the system. The price fixed was $21,937.73.

AGREE TO RENEW WAGE DISCUSSION OF COAL WORKERS

Miners and Operator To Confer in Atlantic City On Monday.

MAY AVERT STRIKE

Canadian Press Despatch.

New York, Aug. 17.—Miners and anthracite operators are meeting today in joint conference at the behest of the United States coal commission to avert a suspension of operations in the United States September 1, reached an agreement to renew wage contract negotiations at Atlantic City next Monday.

The joint conference met after the commission had called before it John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America and S. D. Warriner, chairman of the general policy committee of the anthracite operators and gave them a letter demanding a complete answer from both parties as to what each would do to prevent a suspension of operations. The joint conference is scheduled to report to the committee by 8 p.m.

The commission in its letter asserted that the public was becoming alarmed at the prospect of another coal shortage and declared it was imperative that uncertainty be quickly removed.

The letter continued: "We therefore urge that the representatives of the two sides immediately enter into a conference to consider and report to us."

HOUSE ENTERED AND RANSACKED, NOTHING STOLEN

James Perrin of 82 Front St. Puzzled Over Motive of Uninvited Visitors.

ALL IN DISORDER

Another mysterious house-breaking within the past week, for which the motive cannot be ascertained, was brought to light this morning, when it became known that some time during the late hours of Monday evening the house of James Perrin, 82 Front street, was entered and ransacked, but nothing stolen.

The marauders evidently broke in the back door and spent some little time rummaging about, as when the family returned late at night they found everything in disorder, articles worth while stealing were untouched, and the members of the household are at a loss to know the reason for the visit.

A similar incident occurred over the week-end at the home of George Pollock, 484 Steadwell street. Mr. Pollock came home Sunday after a two days' absence, and he found the house filled with gas and a back window forced. The gas jets had been turned on, and a candle which had evidently burned itself out was found on the table. Nothing of value was missing.

Will pay $500 reward to SGT. T. O'CONNOR

Sub-Committee To Recommend Council To Pay In Case.

Aldermen Greer and Judd, who formed the newly-appointed committee to investigate the question of the reward, on which the mayor was at one time a member, and who was summarily replaced at the last meeting of the finance committee by Ald. Greer, carried out their instructions yesterday, according to Ald. Greer.

We interviewed Chief Bell on the question," said the aldermen today, "and will bring in our report to the city council in writing in the usual way on Monday."

The recommendations include the paying of the money to Sergeant O'Connor, and a very high commendation to the chief of police and his staff, as well as to Sergeant Blunt and his troopers, for the efficient way in which they handled the situation.

Gladman Thinks Judges Will Have To Be Guided By Betting Law Verdict

London Magistrate Believes Prosecutions Will Be Illegal Till Appeal Is Heard.

LAUD JUDGE DENTON

Lawyers Declare the Decision Shows Comprehensive Study Made of Act.

While unwilling to express an opinion on Judge Denton's statements regarding the action of the provincial government in passing the Raney anti-racing bill, Deputy Magistrate Gladman this morning stated that he thought local magistrates have to act according to the decision that was non-effective, and that no prosecutions could be held legal until an appeal either reverses or confirms the decision.

"I have not looked into it very thoroughly yet," declared Mr. Gladman, "but I think that if a case came up here of a similar nature, I would have to act according to the decision of Judge Denton. Of course, it is a higher court than that of a magistrate, and, therefore, governs the actions of the lower ones."

"As to the province having overstepped its powers in passing the act, I am not so sure. There is always this matter of legislation between the federal and provincial governments, but it is safe to assume that they are both working for the good of the people."

Prevailing legal opinion regarding the decision that the Ontario betting information act is ultra vires, sounds a note of warning here. Lawyers were all agreed that the judge's verdict will be recognized as the law of the province until sustained or rejected by a higher court.

If this view proves correct newspapers and individuals may give betting information more freely than they do now. Many of the farmers, under the provincial act, are prohibited from giving betting information.

Until the judgment is upheld by a higher court, however, the crown may exercise its prerogative to enforce the act.

LAUDS INTEREST TAKEN IN PLAYGROUND PICNIC

Dr. George Smith Enthusiastic Over Sportsmanship Shown at Birkett's Flats.

The fine spirit of loyal co-operation shown by the parents of the children who attended the picnic at Birkett's Flats playground on Wednesday was the subject of warm commendation by Dr. George Smith this morning.

In discussing the progress of the Flats playground with the Advertiser, the doctor, who is the chief supervisor of the city playgrounds, said: "The really sporting spirit and the keen interest shown by everyone who came to the picnic was wonderful. Many of the fathers of the children, took a half day away from their work, thereby losing half a day's pay in order to come and see their kiddies enjoy the sports."

They helped the playground staff in every possible way and did a great deal to make the picnic a happy one for the children and a pleasure to those who have been working at the scheme all year. Dr. Smith contrasted the fine sportsmanship that was an outstanding feature of the day, and the way in which the winners took their prizes with no question as to the merit of the awards, with the attitude of the highly efficient and carefully trained athletes who took part in the provincial events here some days ago, when they sat around all day, as everyone knows, in stony silence, because a few Americans were present.

This is the fourth year that there have been civic playgrounds in London and Dr. Smith who is ultra-enthusiastic on behalf of the movement, looks to a time when the training in good sportsmanship on the civic playgrounds will give life to the band of men who have been working to check the fire, it is making progress, and various efforts are being put forth to prevent the fire from reaching the village.

ADVISES BRITAIN U.S. STANDS FIRM ON REPARATIONS

Hughes States Position Taken Before Harding's Death Will Be Maintained.

Associated Press Despatch.

London, Aug. 17.—Acting upon cable advice from Secretary of State Hughes, the United States embassy officials in London have made it clear to the British foreign office that the United States contemplated no departure from its attitude on reparations as taken before President Harding's death, and as announced by Secretary Hughes in his New Haven speech.

This disposes of any hopes on this side that President Coolidge's accession to office might result in a more active interest by the United States in Europe's problems.

The reiteration of the policy of the United States was conveyed verbally and informally to the British government and not through a note.

SAYS WHEAT POOL BIG ACHIEVEMENT IN WEST'S HISTORY

J. Lewis Smith Declares System Will Permit Farmers To Reap Benefit.

HITS SPECULATION

Alberta's new co-operative marketing system, through which farmers can realize profits formerly enjoyed by speculators, is hailed as the greatest economic achievement in the history of the prairie provinces by J. Lewis Smith, member of the United Farmers of Alberta central wheat board.

Mr. Smith, who is wheat pool organizer for Bow River, Alberta, was called away from London where he is visiting his mother, Mary E. Smith, Piccadilly street, to Calgary for the purpose of setting the new marketing machinery in operation. On himself and 11 others the responsibility of directing the greatest transportation and selling experiment of its kind in the world.

Great Benefit to Farmer.

Before leaving this afternoon Mr. Smith described in detail the function of the new system. In addition to the many advantages to the country as a whole, it will enable the farmer to reap the full fruit of his labors and start him on the road to unprecedented prosperity.

The central selling agency of which Mr. Smith is a member and which this morning's western newspapers' describe as the "detour" of a comment to, is known as the Alberta Co-operative Wheat Producers, Limited. This is the station through which wheat is marketed, and it is the first organization of its kind ever attempted and, if successful, followed by a recognized organization, which was consulted however, and through his efforts the wheat pool has now become a reality.

Previously, the farmer was forced to sell his grain almost as soon as it was harvested, usually during September. Mr. Smith said, "At that time the original price of wheat was full and farmers had to take the prevailing price which was always much below the average wheat price of the year. Speculators cashed in on the farmer's necessity and grabbed big profits."

All that is now a thing of the past. With the founding of a central selling agency the farmer will receive a 70 per cent advance on his crop as soon as it is delivered to the elevator. Ultimately he will get the average price obtained for through a period of 12 months."

Mr. Smith went on to enumerate the advantages of the new system. Every agriculturist of the province will be invited to join the association for five years. Members may transport their crops to nearby elevators at any time and receive a storage certificate or warehouse receipt in addition to a 70 per cent advance on the original price.

Farmers living in isolated sections of the province will be particularly benefited. Unable to keep in touch with the market they frequently sell their grain at a small figure when prices have advanced. This will be done away with henceforth.

The manipulations of speculators will not affect the market. Mr. Smith added, and the farmers will get all that is coming to them. He predicted a dominant wide system, moulded on the same plans as the Alberta one, within a period of three years.

LONDON'S BUILDING THIS YEAR WILL BREAK RECORD

MAKE NEW RECORD FOR BUILDING IN TWELVE MONTHS

At Present Rate 1923 Will Far Eclipse Last Year, Says Inspector.

HEAVY IN AUGUST

"Everything points to 1923 being a record building year," said Building Inspector Piper to The Advertiser. The top mark so far is that recorded for last year when the value of the building in London totalled £2,605,830. So far this year the valuation is £2,244,541. There are still three more building months in the year and in all probability last year's mark will go into the discard."

As regards the present month the figures are last year for the full month were £202,500. August of this year with half the month to come totals £171,575. The inspector states that the demand for building permits is brisk and the value and type of work being done is well up to the best of any preceding year. In the last 10 days 49 permits have been issued, including 35 for private dwellings, 12 for additions and repairs and two for garages. The work is mostly in London south and in the district around Euston street in the north end. In London south, especially the volume of building being done this year is extensive. The work undertaken by the board of education in the erection of new schools and in addition to others is largely responsible for the high figures for 1923.

J. C. SPENCER TO ATTEND CONVENTION IN TORONTO

J. C. Spencer, superintendent of the local government employment office, will be one of the provincial delegates to the eleventh annual convention of the International Association of Public Employment Services, which is being held from Sept. 4 to the 11, in the King Edward Hotel in Toronto.

This is the first time the association, which is representative of all the large American cities, has held its convention in the Queen City, and a number of men prominent in labor affairs have been retained to address the members. Next year's meeting is expected to take place in some central state city, probably Chicago.

Gard. Gammage Arrested and Bailed For Striking H. Garner With Auto.

HOAX IS PERFECT

A pedestrian nearly killed, Gard. Gammage arrested, and $10,000 bail provided, all within the short space of 10 minutes, gave thrill to 150 Kiwanians gathered in the Tecumseh House for their regular Friday luncheon at noon hour today.

It was a terrible time for genial members of London's noted club. They had no sooner congregated in the rotunda of the hotel prepared for the weekly feast when the excitement commenced. In fact, the suspense, as they say in the penny-dreadfuls, was awful. And all because Kiwanians themselves insisted on jumping too readily to conclusions.

Here are the revolving particulars: Blood All Over. Gard. Gammage, motoring to the Kiwanian luncheon, struck a pedestrian, Harold Garner, while crossing York street. Blood oozed from every pore of the unfortunate man. He was rushed into the Tecumseh House and given first aid. In two minutes Gavin and his motorcycle policeman, appeared and arrested the culprit, Mr. Gammage.

When the injured and gory Mr. Garner was carried into the vestibule Kiwanians held up their hands in horror. Who would think Gard. Gammage could have done such a thing?

Rush To Assist. The first cruel shock over, however, Kiwanians rushed to interfere with P. C. Monahan in making the arrest. Kiwanians all! They wouldn't have their man sent to jail, even if he did nearly kill a fellow Kiwanian. In muffled tones, they explained that accidents would happen.

Mr. Gammage argued with the officer, and got hot-tempered. Finally he was released when bail was fixed at $10,000. But, then, where was the $10,000 to come from?

Every Kiwanian in the crowd offered his purse, home, car and buckled to get that $10,000 and keep their fellow-member from experiencing a closed season in the city.

As the dying man was taken to an ambulance he identified Gammage as the man who ran him down. "There's the blighter," he said as the death rattle sounded from his pallid lips.

Hoax Revealed. Somebody gave the moribund victim his purse, home, car and buckled how he found strength to talk so vigorously. Another noticed some chicken feathers mixed up in the blood on his face. Gradually the rumor got around that it was a hoax; that the blood was extracted from a dead rooster and plastered on Mr. Garner's face. That Mr. Gammage didn't run him down at all; that P. C. Monahan was not acting in an official capacity when requisitioned for the job of arresting his man; and finally, that President J. B. Hay, who engineered the stunt, was a hair-raiser when it came to frightening the boys.

Now the Kiwanians are happy again. Their faith in the law is vindicated, their purses intact and all's well with the world.

COUNT ESTERHAZY DIES.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Aug. 17.—Major Count Esterhazy, who figured in the celebrated Dreyfus treason case in France in 1894, died three months ago at Harpenden, England, where he lived under the assumed name of Count de Voilement. Major Esterhazy was the author of the document on which Capt. Dreyfus was convicted of the charge of selling military information to Germany, and publicly degraded. The decision against Dreyfus was later reversed.

BELIEVE RIOTING WILL BRING END RUHR RESISTANCE

Stresemann's Utterances of Passive Resistance Regarded as Propaganda.

CONDITIONS IMPROVE

By WILLIAM E. NASH, Special Cable to The London Advertiser and Chicago Daily News. Copyright.

Dusseldorf, Aug. 17.—Riots and shootings throughout Germany this week, particularly those in the occupied territory near Aix la Chapelle, are regarded by the French as signs of hope for a cessation of passive resistance on the part of the rich industrialists. These industrialists have everything to lose from an extension of such disorders. They would probably be victims of Communists or proletarian rule. Already they have been struck more heavily than any other class by the stoppage of production in the Ruhr, and are supposed to be holding their ears close to the ground for sounds betokening reconciliation. In fact, anything at all has been accomplished by the Ruhr occupation thus far it has been the exercise of draconian discipline on the rich German industrialists.

According to Liberal Frenchmen here, the industrialists see 75 per cent of their mills and factories at a standstill through a lack of raw materials. Their export commerce is ruined. Their income has been stopped. The country is impoverished. Their very lives are endangered by a continuation of the quarrel, which can lead them nowhere in the future. In short, they are beginning to realize that the payment of reparations will be cheaper in the end than the continuation of passive resistance.

Political Propaganda. The utterances of Chancellor Stresemann, that resistance must be kept up indefinitely, are regarded as political propaganda statements calculated to bring about a change in the policy of the new government. Moreover, Stresemann is far away from the Ruhr and hence cannot be entirely conversant with the latest attitude that prevails among the industrialists there, it is said. If resistance does cease, however, it must do so gradually, degree by degree, and not suddenly by a spectacular order from Berlin. All authorities, both French and German, agree that it would mean disaster if all workers in the Ruhr went back to their jobs at the same time.

German government would dare to order unconditional capitulation. Despite the misery, which cannot be hidden, the idle workmen are held to be better off, comparatively speaking, than the employers. They receive secret subsidies from Berlin and additional aid from Ruhr sympathizers abroad. The average married man out of work gets 2,000,000 marks per day, or 75 cents, as strike pay. That is, he gets from 60 to 70 per cent of his normal wages, upon which he must support his family. The employer receives nothing for his losses. Furthermore, labor leaders are being asked to resist to the last. Coal supplies on hand will last them until November, they say. After that woods and forests can be cut down as fuel, even to the beautiful shade trees.

Conditions Improving.

Conditions are not as bad now as they were during the war, the workers maintain. Nevertheless, despite these assurances, misery is very evident in the Ruhr today. The writer today saw scores of ragged children chasing coal carts to pick up lump of coal which had dropped off into the street, and hundreds of old women standing in line before groceries and bakeries to get bread and butter at reduced prices. At meal time, the writer met dozens of male adults gazing hungrily into restaurant windows. It stands to reason that a big rise in the cost of living, if the healthy life with 2,000,000 people out of work.

If the mark takes another plunge like that of last week, or if the city of money continues to make itself felt, passive resistance may collapse at any moment. Labor leaders swear they will turn to Bolshevism in that event.

LONDON BREEDERS SELL DOGS TO AMERICAN FIRM

What is believed to be a record shipment of pure-bred collies from a local kennel was made a few days ago, when the Standard Kennels, of 187 Sydenham street, sent nine puppies to the Adfield kennels in Pennsylvania, one of the largest in the United States.

Standard Kennel dogs have always been successful in Ontario shows, and their owners are confident that the shipment to the United States will win honors for the Adfield Kennels.

GLADMAN COMMENTS ON DENTON DECISION

In all legal history, they added, the crown has seldom been known to act against the judiciary in matters of this nature. The anti-betting ordinance, therefore, is regarded as non-existent. General belief locally is that Judge Denton was right in his decision. In proclaiming the act ultra vires he had delivered into a mass of precedents and in passing the act, had infringed on the field of Dominion jurisprudence.

Regarded as Non-Existent. As to the act, but common sense, local so-called believe, will dictate that it be suspended for the time being. In all legal history, they added, the crown has seldom been known to act against the judiciary in matters of this nature. The anti-betting ordinance, therefore, is regarded as non-existent. General belief locally is that Judge Denton was right in his decision. In proclaiming the act ultra vires he had delivered into a mass of precedents and in passing the act, had infringed on the field of Dominion jurisprudence.

The provincial betting ordinance, London lawyers say, was in reality a modification of the Dominion Betting Act, which is entirely in the hands of the federal government. The Toronto magistrate, therefore, seeing the anomalous nature of the betting law, declared it ultra vires.

Must Appeal Decision.

J. C. Elliott, crown attorney, who would necessarily be involved in the appeal, said that whether the act should or should not still be enforced, is out of town. His contemporaries thought, however, that the act should be enforced. The action will be taken against the offending party or parties. Unless the decision is appealed and thrown out by a higher court, the act becomes automatically null and void. Aside from the ethical aspect of the situation, London barristers voiced condemnation for Judge Denton's reaching his decision. Conscientious study of the act alone could have brought to light the alleged illegality of its operation.

NO LOCAL EFFECT.

Associated Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 17.—The decision of Judge Denton in Toronto, which ruled that the Ontario anti-betting act is ultra vires, is not likely to have any local effect until it has been appealed to a higher court and the ruling of a supreme court judge secured, according to Crown Attorney J. A. Ritchie, K.C. Mr. Ritchie points out that Judge Denton was acting in the capacity of a magistrate when the decision was given, and that his ruling need not affect the opinion of another magistrate. If Judge Denton's ruling was upheld by a higher court it would then become law. Mr. Ritchie stated that there was no chance of local law being made of Judge Denton's ruling as cases under the Ontario statute were pending here.

CARRY RACING ODDS.

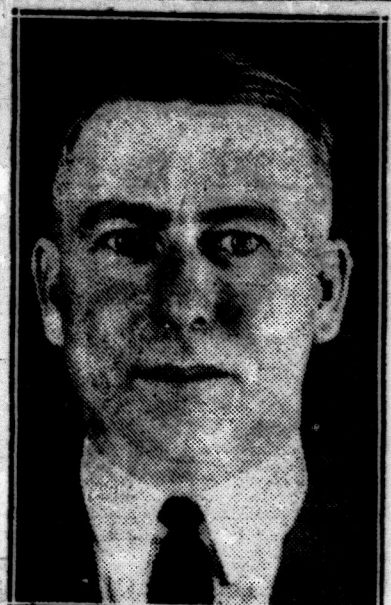

Special to The Advertiser. Ottawa, Aug. 17.—Both the Ottawa dailies are carrying racing odds today for the first time since the betting information act was passed, this action was taken following Judge Denton's recent decision.

WANTS SOMETHING FINAL.

Special to The Advertiser. Toronto, Aug. 17.—Attorney-General Nickle, who returned to Queen's Park today after a brief absence, is anxious for re-election to the Ontario Legislature, declared that the decision yesterday by Judge Denton, that the Betting Information Act is ultra vires of the Ontario Legislature, would be appealed, and would come before the appellate division at Osgoode Hall. Premier Ferguson made a statement to the same effect, and asked whether the case would be taken as far as the privy council, he replied that the question had not yet been considered, but that the case would be taken to a stage where there was something final.

Just as to what may be considered final, it is presumed will depend upon the judgment of the appellate division and its decisive nature or otherwise.

Publishers printing betting information do so at their own risk, pending appeal, according to legal opinion, because an act of the Legislature does not become absolute merely because a magistrate states the act is ultra vires.

legiate. Mr. Miller's recommendations, when they were made to the board of education, were received with a general conviction that they assured well for the future of secondary education in London.

DENY R. POULSON, VETERAN OF WAR, BADLY TREATED

City D. S. C. R. Officials Assert Man's Condition Due to Excitability.

CANNOT AWARD AID

Absolute denial of the truth of the story told by H. A. Poulson, owner of a fish and chip store at 304 1/2 Dundas street, to the effect that he was brutally used by examining physicians of the D. S. C. R. was made today by the doctors of that institution.

"Poulson's story is a pack of lies, and the ridiculousness of it is proof of its falsity," said the medical men of the D. S. C. R. To The Advertiser.

Poulson, who was overseas for three years with the 60th and 87th Grenadier Guards, claimed that, as a result of his service, he was suffering from frequent heart attacks, and upon seeking relief from the D. S. C. R. was met with abuse and cruelty. He claimed doctors had thrown him around and wrought him up to such a condition of nervous hysteria that as a result of his treatment he had to obtain medical attention of his own, and had to lie in bed for a week following his visit to the government medical building. He also claimed he was treated so badly that he had to crawl to the switchboard in the D. S. C. R. building and order a taxi for himself. "I asked them to call a taxi for me," he said. "They refused to do so, and I practically had to crawl to the switchboard on the ground floor of the building to call a taxi for myself," said Poulson. "My spine was wrenched out of place as a result of my visit, and my own doctor had to give me treatments to ease my back. This is Poulson's story of his harsh treatment at the hands of the medical men of the D. S. C. R."

Wrought Himself Up.

"The statements made by Poulson are lies. The condition of nervous hysteria, which he wrought himself into upon finding out that he could receive no aid from this institution, caused him to founder on the floor, and, as a result of his own excitement, he probably gave himself several bruises. He is a man that is to be pitied, but his condition was diagnosed by clever physicians and found to be brought on not as a result of service overseas," said Dr. Fisher, who examined Poulson, "our orders are only to treat cases which are a direct result of service. Poulson certainly is not one of these cases."

The telephone operator at the D. S. C. R. building, on Horton street, was asked whether or not she had refused to order a taxi for Poulson when he came downstairs. "Poulson gave me a number to call and asked me to tell a certain person (he gave me the name) to call for him," she said. "There was no such person at the number he told me to call, and I turned to Poulson and told him. He waited in the anteroom for an hour, and then I took it upon me to call one of our own taxi cabs to take him home."

Enjoyed a Smoke.

The D. S. C. R. taximan, when asked how Poulson acted when he was driven to his store on Dundas street, said: "Poulson got into the car as if he was a nervous wreck. He left the car in a better condition than he got in, and we had not left the D. S. C. R. building a minute before he lighted a pipe and settled down in the back seat to enjoy a smoke."

"Every statement Poulson made was a lie, and his imagination ran riot, probably caused when he learned that he could expect to receive no remuneration help from us," said doctors of the D. S. C. R. yesterday.

Arabs' Protest Is Ignored

London, Aug. 17.—The Arab delegation which came here to protest the British policy in Palestine received a setback yesterday when the cabinet committee, headed by the colonial secretary, the Duke of Devonshire, refused its request for a hearing. The delegation's request is put down as "unpracticable" in the official reply.

Following this announcement Musa Kazim Pasha, of Jerusalem, on behalf of the delegation, issued a statement declaring that they represented the bulk of the population of Palestine, protested against the continuance of the present "pro-Jewish" policy, and reiterated their belief that the establishment of an Arab national government was the only solution to the present difficulties.

CUTS FINE ON GOODHUE IN LIQUOR CONVICTION

Judge Ross, St. Thomas, Upholds Charge on Port Stanley Man.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. Thomas, Aug. 17.—The conviction of William Goodhue of Port Stanley on a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private dwelling was sustained by Judge Ross in the adjourned appeal hearing at the court house this morning, but his honor reduced the penalty from $1,000 to $500 with the option of three months in jail. The defendant is to pay all costs.

Barister Hugh C. Cameron appeared for the defendant and Angus McCrimmon acted for the crown. In awarding his decision, Judge Ross said he wished to do all in his power to keep Port Stanley clean, especially for the sake of the boys and girls who lived there. It was unfortunate, he said, that under the law as it stood, the conviction of Mr. Goodhue should bar the conviction of E. B. Wood of London, who on the testimony of Wilcox and Howlett, was the man who sold the liquor and committed the offense.

TO APPEAL DECISION AGAINST ANTI-BETTING ACT

NICKLE ANNOUNCES STANCE ON FINDING

Judge Denton Holds Ontario Betting Information Act Ultra Vires.

ACTION IS INVITED

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 16.—The decision of County Court Judge Denton delivered today holding that the Ontario betting information act is ultra vires of the legislature will be appealed, Attorney-General Hon. W. F. Nickle announced in Kingston this evening, after being informed of the Toronto judge's finding.

When handing down his judgment today, Judge Denton at the same time dismissed charges against Samuel Lichtman and Minnie Lichtman of unlawfully publishing betting information. Other charges pending in Toronto, it is understood, will not be dealt with until judgment on the validity of the act has been given by a higher court.

The action of Judge Denton has given rise to considerable discussion as to the question of matters pending the appeal. Judge Denton made it clear in the presentation of his judgment that an appeal was invited, and that it was understood that the act would be upheld, and that it would be stated if required. It is understood, however, that no request for a stated case, which would come before another court, will be made, the simple and most direct way of dealing with the question being to take the case to the appellate division at Osgoode Hall on the certificate of the attorney-general. Such action cannot be taken until Sept. 17, when the court convenes.

Legally Law Valid. In the meantime the question is being asked: Could prosecutions be instituted pending an appeal? The answer to this is that legally the law must be looked upon as valid, but that it is extremely unlikely that any further information would be laid, or if they were, that any magistrate would deal with them.

In the case of a police magistrate has declared an act ultra vires, and the opinion was freely expressed by prominent lawyers tonight that the judgment had not been given without considerable delay into a mass of precedent, and that the court of appeal would uphold the judgment. In this case, the act to all intents and purposes would be washed off the statute books, leaving action to be taken under the provisions of the criminal code, which makes no restrictions on Ontario publications.

Declines Decision. Chief of Police Dickson of Toronto declined tonight to say what attitude he would take in the event of further violations of the act. All newspapers meantime are thrown upon their own decisions. Should Judge Denton's decision be upheld publication of banned information would be legal, but if it were reversed they would be liable to conviction under the terms of the act. It is alleged that certain racing papers published here will continue to appear as they have since the date the act became law.

A legal opinion is of the belief that, while convictions are still possible, local magistrates may be chary about delivering sentences, and the act will regard Judge Denton's decision as the law of the province until such time as final judgment is given by the appellate division.

Reparations Commission Reserves Priority Rights Against Fund.

Special to The Advertiser. Paris, Aug. 16.—The commission of reparations in session here today, took action to prevent Germany's proposed international gold loan to stabilize finances and settle the wage question.

With the British delegate abstaining, the commission decided to notify Germany that inasmuch as Berlin had not asked permission to float the loan, the commission expressly reserved priority rights against any fund assigned by Germany to pay interest upon or repay a capital loan, particularly if the receipts were not applied to the discharge of the country's reparations obligations.

NORFOLK FARMERS SAY CROP RETURNS ARE HIGH

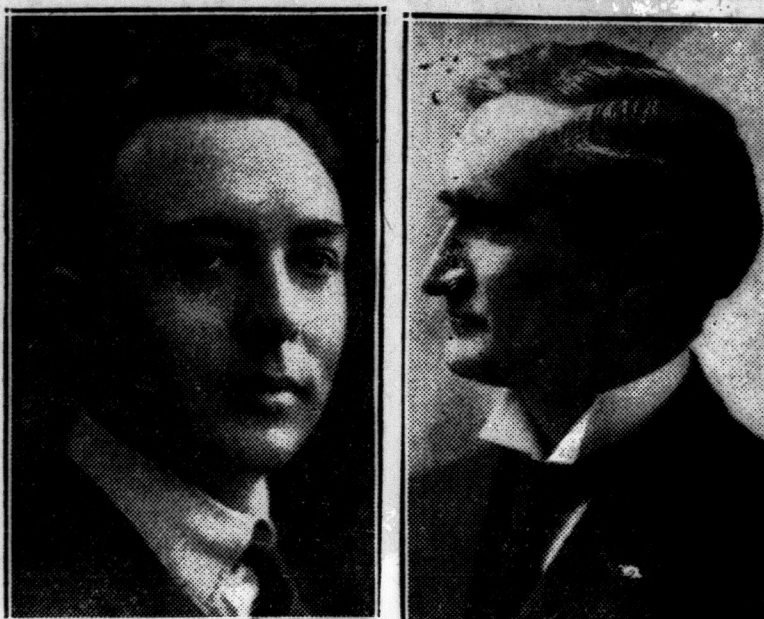

Special to The Advertiser.

Delhi, Aug. 16.—The farmers in this vicinity have been threshing for the past week, and incidentally, their wives are busy at their age-old task of feeding men. Rye is turning out exceptionally well and oats are also making a good showing, but wheat is only about half a crop on account of the severe winter.

Those who are growing Golden Bantam corn and Golden Wax beans for the canning factory have the pickers hard at work in their fields, as these crops are both doing well in spite of the dry weather. The cucumber growers are also working overtime, as this crop has to be handled quickly. Tobacco is coming on rapidly now, notwithstanding the late start it got in the spring. The large acreage of late potatoes is looking well, though rain would be very beneficial.

GIVE COMMUNITY PLAY EXHIBITION

Students of Guelph Summer School Demonstrate Group Games At O. A. C.

THE SESSION CLOSES

Special to The Advertiser. Guelph, Aug. 16.—The proper method of conducting a community play day was demonstrated by the students attending the summer school for rural leadership in session at the Ontario Agricultural College on Wednesday afternoon. A good number from Guelph and surrounding districts attended.

The company was divided into a number of large groups, each under a special play leader, and the following group games were properly demonstrated and then played and enjoyed by all. Dodgeball, basketball, relay, baseball, passing game, steal the bride, in-and-out relay race, spoke tag, and attention.

Following the group games the visitors were treated to a fine exhibition of softball baseball, when two picked teams from the ministerial students of the school clashed in battle royal. The game was refereed by Rev. T. De Courcy Rayner of Watford, and the team led by Rev. E. W. Brearley of Mount Elgin, the final score being 17 to 8. The batteries were Rayner and G. H. Kelly; Brearley, Cotton and Johnston.

The evening session commenced, as usual, with community singing, following which the speaker of the evening was introduced, W. J. Karr, B.A., D. Paed., director of rural school organization, Ontario Department of Education. Mr. Karr gave an instructive lecture on "Consolidated and Continuation Schools," in which he claimed that consolidated schools are the only ones that can be expected to replace the smaller schools, which are in poor condition and sadly out of date.

The following morning this morning was conducted by Rev. J. S. Stevenson of Stroud, who gave a talk on "Leadership." Rev. P. W. Roberts of King read the Scripture lesson, while Rev. C. N. Paddon of Milverton, Rev. J. W. Arnott of Kleinburg, Rev. C. J. Scofield of Victoria, Rev. W. H. Sterling of Cedar Springs, and Rev. H. Cotton of Guelph, assisted in the devotion. Miss Emily Mann of Scotland presided at the piano.

Lecture on Genetics. The first lecture hour of the morning was taken up by Prof. J. W. MacArthur, Ph.D., of the department of biology, University of Toronto, who delivered the closing lecture of his series on "Genetics." Continuing his discussion of the Mendelian mode of transmission through heredity, he traced this rule in its workings through the human species, showing the transmission of the dominant eye of feeble mindedness, and of vicious tendencies on the one hand, and of the better mental qualities on the other hand, according to percentage.

This evening the closing session of the school was held, a fine demonstration of the gramophone and its place in school life and work. Vocal and instrumental selections were given by members of the summer school, which has now closed its ninth annual session, is becoming an increasingly important factor, not only in the development of an intelligent and trained rural leadership, but also in working through its students towards the betterment of living conditions and the religious and economically in many districts in rural Ontario.

ONTARIO'S CABINET HAS NO OPPOSITION

Premier and Nine Ministers Are Returned by Acclamation.

MERELY FORMALITY

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, Aug. 16.—The final stage in the formal constitution of the Ferguson Cabinet was passed today when all its members were returned by acclamation at the ministerial nominations. The nomination proceedings were duly carried out, in spite of the barrenness of their results in furnishing any contests.

Premier Ferguson's choice of his executive colleagues went unchallenged. Nine ministers who hold portfolios and who hence receive emoluments under the crown were required to again seek the indorsement of their constituents. Although the absence of any opposition had been almost unmistakably indicated prior to the nomination day, the election law had to take its course and the ministers affected were forced, consequently, to endure monotony if not suspense, until the 12 o'clock vote.

At 12 o'clock the entire cabinet, headed by the Premier, entered the parliament buildings in response to the call of the speaker, who stated that the entire cabinet had been returned without opposition.

Formal Waiting. According to despatches received from the ridings, proceedings were uniformly apathetic. Premier Ferguson and his cabinet ministers alike experienced merely the formal waiting, after which they were entitled to consider themselves to have again successfully emerged from the ordeal of last June, however, the tameness of yesterday was distinctly an anti-climax.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson's administration will be the sixteenth of Ontario, it consists of nine ministers, four of whom are of four without. Hon. Thomas Crawford, Northeast Toronto; Hon. Leeming Carr, Hamilton; Hon. J. S. Martin, South Norwalk; Hon. C. Cooke, North Hastings.

Given Acclamations. The ministers who were given acclamations today were: Premier George Howard Ferguson, Grenville; Attorney-General W. F. Nickle, K.C.; Minister of Public Works, Hon. Geo. Henry; Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. C. Cooke, Minister of Lands, Hon. C. S. Lyons, Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Mines, Hon. C. Cooke, Minister of Labor and Health, Hon. Dr. Ferguson, West York; Provincial Secretary, Hon. Lincoln Goldie, North York; Hon. J. S. Martin, Minister of Finance, Hon. W. H. Price, Parkdale.

MINISTER MCCREA FETED Canadian Press Despatch. Sudbury, Aug. 16.—Hon. Charles McCrear, minister of mines, was today the guest of his fellow-citizens of the district at a banquet given at the hotel in the district, the attendance at Lakeside Park being variously estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000.

A few showers fell, but did not dampen the spirit of celebration. Sudbury made a whole day of the reception, and the morning, with a parade in the morning, followed by a presentation of an address to McCrear and a huge bouquet of roses to Mrs. McCrear. This was followed by speeches by Mr. McCrear and Hon. Joseph Thompson, minister of public works, and a fireworks and dance, the whole program being slated for the morning. It was a civic holiday at Capreol.

On the platform at the park were prominent workers of the conservative and Liberal parties. Addressing the gathering Mr. McCrear said that he was proud to be in the city, and assured the citizens that the government would look after the needs of Northern Ontario. He predicted wonderful progress in the next few years.

DYNAMITE EXPLODES IN POCKET OF YOUTH

Little Hope Held For Recovery of Clayton Graham of Wanstead.

Special to The Advertiser. Petrolia, Aug. 16.—Clayton Graham of Wanstead, aged 15 years, is in the Petrolia Hospital with wounds in the abdomen that may prove fatal, and Kenneth Pye, aged 12, also of Wanstead, is suffering from burns on the face and chest, following the accidental explosion of a dynamite cap used in blasting stumps, which occurred while the former was playing golf this morning.

Graham and his companion were on the second line of Plympton just outside of Wanstead when the former started to play golf with the cap which he had carried in his pocket, when it suddenly exploded and Graham received practically the full charge of the blast. He was standing and his hands were so seriously shattered that it may be necessary to amputate his right hand.

Pyre, who was standing nearby, escaped with powder burns on his chest and face. The former was rushed to the hospital where he was attended by Drs. Newell and Reid. Little hope was held tonight for his recovery.

Doherty Says Wheat Pool Will Save Prairie Farmer; Denies He Plans To Resign

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Chatham, Aug. 16.—Speaking to over 5,000 people at a U.F.O. picnic at Government Park, Kent County, Hon. Manning R. Doherty, M. L. A., minister of agriculture in the Drury government, stated that the establishing of a co-operative wheat pool would be the saving of the prairie provinces, and that if it is conducted in a purely co-operative way it will be an outstanding success.

Continuing his remarks, Doherty said: "The man who labors hard should receive his due share for the expenditures involved." Continuing he said: "Western farmers can never prosper until the wheat speculators and their Bolshevistic methods are kicked out of the country. Speculators in farm produce are ruinous to the better producers throughout Canada."

Concerning his views on the political situation in Ontario, Manning Doherty says: "The new government of Ontario has one of the hardest tasks to face of any government for several decades. Their scope for service to the people is practically limited. Never in the history of the province have such opportunities been given to a government to make good."

In speaking of the stand which he expects to take when the legislative meets again he said: "The members of the new government have several excellent openings to render a first-class service to the people. If they do all that is clean and good for the people of this province, I will pledge them my hearty support, especially in their agricultural program."

Speaking of the late government he stated that the most outstanding service which it rendered was in showing the farmers the importance of their work and prestige in the province. In this connection he referred especially to the splendid organization of dairymen, honey producers, tobacco growers, and the fruit and berry growing associations.

In referring to the late government Doherty took time to deny a rumor to the effect that he is about to resign from the political arena.

"I will remain a member until you put me out," he said.

John Forsythe acted as chairman during the speaking at the U. F. O. picnic. He spoke at the U. F. O. picnic, and he spoke at the U. F. O. picnic, and he spoke at the U. F. O. picnic.

URGES NEW METHODS TO FIGHT WAGE CUTS

Clynes Declares Revolting Against Agreement Fails To Bring Satisfaction.

Associated Press Despatch. London, Eng., Aug. 16.—"Workmen must find a way of resisting wage reductions without revolting against agreements in demand," said one of the Labor leaders in the House of Commons in a speech today at the conference of the National Federation of General Workers. "If a bargain turns out bad it must still be kept."

The gross unfitness, costly blindness and vanity of would-be leaders should afford a lasting lesson to organized workers," Clynes said. "At the same time," he said, "the dockers' strike involves a lesson for the employers who regard wage reduction as a cure for industrial and economic troubles."

BOARD OF APPEAL PERSONNEL GIVEN

Former Londoner, Col. C. W. Belton, Is Appointed To Act As Chairman.

START WORK AT ONCE

Canadian Press Despatch. Ottawa, Aug. 16.—The personnel of the central board of appeal, constituted under the pensions act amendments of last session, was announced tonight by Hon. Dr. H. S. Bland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment in the absence of the minister of justice, under whose jurisdiction the board will function. Col. C. W. Belton, M.D., Toronto, will act as permanent chairman, and the members are C. B. Reilly, K.C., Montreal, formerly of Calgary; Capt. C. W. E. Meath, at present in charge of the government employment service, Toronto; Lt.-Col. John Roy, M.C., civil engineer, Quebec; and Capt. Bruce L. Wickwade, M.D., Ottawa, formerly superintendent of the Moose Jaw General Hospital.

Col. Belton, chairman of the board, is a former practicing physician of London, Ont., holding Toronto, Edinburgh and London, England, degrees in medicine and surgery. In 1877 he was appointed to the permanent staff of the Canadian militia, and at the outbreak of war was appointed D. M. S. of military district No. 10.

Appointed to Board. In 1915 he was appointed to the pensions and claims board, becoming, next year, medical adviser to the board of pension commissioners. He was later transferred from the headquarters staff at Ottawa to the Toronto unit as medical examiner, where he has served since.

C. B. Reilly, K.C., Montreal, was practicing law in Calgary before the war. He was wounded at the Somme and was then attached to the French liaison commission at Washington and New York.

Captain Meath of Toronto was, prior to the war, a manufacturers' agent in Toronto. He enlisted in 1915 as a private, and after nearly four years was discharged with the rank of captain.

Civil Engineer. Lieut.-Col. John Roy, M.C., of Quebec, is a prominent civil engineer, who won the military cross with two bars as head of the 22nd Battalion in France.

Capt. Bruce L. Wickwade was, at the time war broke out, superintendent at the Moose Jaw General Hospital. He is a graduate of Queen's University, and he had three years' overseas service with 2 General Hospital.

The board, it is stated by department heads, will organize and begin work at once. Several hundred cases already await decision, and appeals from the board of pension commissioners will be dealt with in the light of recent amendments to the pensions act, which restored the insurance principle of the original act, whereby pensions may be granted for any disability incurred during the war service, whether it was directly attributable to actual military operations or not.

LONDON FIRE-FIGHTERS RESPOND FOUR TIMES

Department Have Busy Day, Though No Loss by Fire Occurs.

The fire department had a busy day from noon yesterday, when they answered four calls, none of which, fortunately, were of a serious nature.

The first two calls, which came in at 2:15 and 2:22 p.m., were for fires at the double at Colborne and Victoria streets and at the foot of Maitland street respectively. A third call at 5:19 to the lower end of Eglinton street proved to be a false alarm.

The fourth alarm which rang in at 8:55 p.m. promised to be more exciting when the carburetor of a car belonging to C. Cornish caught fire. The car was driven home by Mr. Cornish, shortly after the blaze was put out.

MEN ARE SENTENCED FOR STORE ROBBERIES

Trio of Young Men Plead Guilty To Thefts Through-out Oxford.

Special to The Advertiser. Woodstock, Aug. 16.—During the past four or five weeks, stores in six or seven villages throughout the county of Oxford have been broken into, and in each instance a large quantity of goods stolen. County investigation, placed Clarence Erb of Tavistock and Emerson and William Baecheler of East Zorra under arrest, charging the trio with breaking into and stealing merchandise from different stores in the village of Plattsville.

Today the young men appeared before Magistrate Patterson in the county court. The trio pleaded guilty and acknowledged having broken into six different stores throughout the county. Erb and William Baecheler were implicated in similar thefts when released not long ago. Erb, it is alleged, was the leader of the gang, and he was sentenced to two years in Kingston penitentiary. William Baecheler was given an indeterminate sentence of from three months to two years.

Emerson Baecheler had a clean record previous to the recent escapades, and he is not in good health, the magistrate dealt leniently with him, giving a three months' term in the local jail.

The Summer Slump.

In addition to mosquitoes and sunburn one of the unfortunate concomitants of summer is a slowing up of business. Summer sales, any retailer will tell you, are mighty difficult to make and the holiday season is regarded, from a business viewpoint, the most trying period of the year and a necessary evil.

Why wheels of industry should revolve with less speed in hot weather than in cold is a problem never satisfactorily solved by economists. It has become tradition to say business is rotten in hot weather. Perhaps the main reason why it is rotten is that everybody expects it to be so and few make any really strenuous efforts to correct the condition.

Summer business depression is about 20 per cent physical and 80 per cent mental. A slackening all along the line develops and sales efforts lose their aggressiveness. This is called the "summer slump" and most men actually believe it quite in order that sales should fall off during the dog days. It has become tradition.

Business can be made abnormal in the summer. Even the ice-man would find it hard to get customers if he did not go after them. And that, possibly, is the big cause of the annual hot weather slump. Business is here, but we simply don't want to go after it.

It takes a little more effort, a little more perspiration, but as long as there must be perspiration it is far better to sweat because of good business than to sweat worrying about bad business.

Activities and interests in the home, too, seem to be subjected to hot weather depression when, logically, summer weather should be the time to clean up all the home duties pressure of time, shortened daylight, low temperatures prevent in winter. Household improvements, decorating, gardening and a thousand other activities could well be done after working hours and enjoyed. Hot weather lethargy is really a state of mind which reflects itself on business and home interests. Our dispositions are so disturbed by the heat that we feel "business is rotten" and don't take any measures to make it better.

Across the border a campaign is on to "slam the summer slump." Retailers are urged to forget the ancient fallacy of summer depression and go after business instead of waiting for business to walk blindly into their stores. The slogan "Slam the Summer Slump" is a good one to remember. A few years ago the cry was "Swat the Fly" and an extraordinary thing happened. The fly disappeared in millions of homes because people were determined to get rid of it. The same thing applies to "summer slumps." A few hard-hitting, well directed punches and the slump will be slammed out of existence.

Safety First for the Farm.

It will have been noticed that during the past few weeks there has been an unusual number of farm fires in Western Ontario. Barn after barn has been destroyed, the season's crops have been consumed, and in several cases valuable livestock has been lost. In some instances these fires have broken out during an electric storm, but in others there has been no apparent cause. There is no doubt that where insurance has been carried a thorough investigation will be made, but these investigations will be futile, so far as future protection is concerned, unless remedies are evolved to prevent further trouble. The destruction of property and tons of good food in this manner is not only a distinct loss to the farmer, but to the province at large, and it would be well for all concerned if every avenue of danger was explored and some measure of safety reached. "Safety first" is an excellent precept, but it is altogether meaningless if not put into practice. This is a matter which the provincial government would do well to take in hand, not only for the safeguarding of a staple industry, but for the credit of the country at large, for it will be a distinct drawback to any movement for the encouragement of British agriculturists to take up farms here if it once gets abroad that their property is apt to go up in smoke without any tangible reason.

Another thing for which this summer has been remarkable is the number of accidents, some of them with a fatal termination, which have occurred to farmers while engaged in their daily avocations. Perhaps the most common of these misfortunes took place during the haying season, when farmers perched on the top of their loads fell to the ground and received serious bodily injury. It is just as important that life should be protected on the farm as in the factory, and there seems to be a slackness in this respect so far as the farm is concerned. Prevention is better than cure, and there appears to be room for some "safety first" work in this direction.

The Trained Man Wins.

No one today believes that all men are born equal, but day by day it is becoming clearer and more evident that the right kind and amount of training will achieve wonders in this way. It has never been charged to the account of the rich men of the world that they suffered from an overdose of modesty, yet without exception those of them who care to tell us of their early life and efforts point to the strict training they underwent, and to it attribute much and sometimes all of their success.

Training is the basis of all athletic success. Training will always allow a second-rate man to beat a champion who is at the time out of condition. In fact, it is no great exaggeration to say that any average man in the "pink" is a worthy opponent for the best of untrained champions. All athletes will acknowledge the truth of this statement, having seen the fulfillment of the result so often.

Training is only enforced custom and regular usage. Again, men tend to grow in the form their environment demands. Great Britain, an island, inhabited by men who have lived within call of the deep waters as far back as their history goes, has found her success on the face of the seven seas. Chinamen, especially those from the southern parts of the country, are second to none as gardeners and growers of vegetables, unless it be the Italian terrace farmers. Their own country has made frugality and careful tillage a first call on the exertions of its inhabitants, and training makes them careful and industrious.

Whenever any sudden demand forces a number of men or women to act with no time for anything more deliberate than a snap decision it is training that counts and produces the man of the hour, other things being equal. Those who worship the old order of things and preach the gospel of the thoroughbred forget that, even in the case of the aristocrat, any merit he may inherit is nothing more or better than the accumulated training of a long line of ancestors.

Training is knowing the ropes. For the lawyer the principles of logic and the rules and devices of debate. For the doctor the secrets of the sickroom and the way in which every fresh emergency is to be met. A young man of 20 on the farm knows more of the right way to make hay, or swing a scythe or build a mow, because he is trained. Training offsets natural ability to a much greater extent than people think.

It is one of the things which serve to make this democratic age worthy the name. It may not be true that there is a marshal's baton in the knapsack of every recruit, or that every boy has the opportunity of reaching the premier's chair, but it is surely beyond all doubt that early, careful training in the line that is to be his work in life pays a greater dividend in the long run than any natural ability, poorly cultivated or left untouched.

Trying to Confuse a Witness.

The wonder is that there are any lawyers in the country, either of long standing or of the school where the gilt letters are hardly dry on the window, who follow the poor tactics of trying to confuse a witness.

A case which took place this week north of London illustrates the point. A lawyer for the defence in a liquor case undertook to handle two crown witnesses who swore they drove from a neighboring town, secured liquor, got drunk and were arrested. He first started out with the idea of showing that they were out in their opinion as to the hour of their arrival in the town where they secured liquor. When did you quit work, where did you go, how long to eat supper, how long to dress, how long to shave, how long to get oil and gas, how long to drive fifty yards around a corner to put in water. Then at exactly what time did the car arrive, which way was it pointing when it stopped at a garage; what kind of a bottle was secured, who took the first drink, who opened the bottle, was a corkscrew used. In all there must have been hundreds of such questions poured out, and each one was put again to the next witness in order to find some split-hair detail in which the two stories differed.

It was quite evident all through that the main idea was not to bring out the real facts of the case and place them plainly before the presiding magistrate. The whole drift of the cross-fire was to get one witness to differ in some petty detail from the other.

Another poor method was the addressing of witnesses: "Now be very careful what you say, or you are liable to find yourself in serious trouble." Fortunately there are many magistrates who would stop this sort of business right at the start, but in this case it remained for the crown attorney alone to lodge his protest for the protection of his witnesses from intimidation.

On behalf of the legal fraternity it can be said that the most of them, when acting as counsel in a court case, feel their responsibility, and consider that they have done their part when they present their case fully to the court. If they find a weakness in the opposing evidence they proceed to analyze it, but never in a manner that would cause a witness to become confused, and having become confused, cease to be a competent witness.

A court sits and witnesses are heard with only one point in view, viz., that the magistrate who has to give his decision may have all the facts bearing on the case placed fairly before him. Questioning that does not help in this direction has no right to be permitted in any court, and should at once be stopped.

The mysterious disappearance of W. A. Shaw from his editor's office in Tilbury brings the sympathy of all Western Ontario to his distracted relatives. LOVE ME, LOVE MY DOG

"Love me, Love my dog." It's just one of those hackneyed phrases which we have come to accept as part of the world's supply of worthless and rather trite sayings, and in fact it has reached the stage where it has only a humorous flavor, reminding us of a fat old dowager accompanied by a fluffy and exceedingly bad tempered atom of dog.

Recently a student, both of human nature and of dogs said: "If a man's dog does not benefit by his religion, I put very little store by his religion." So many eulogies of the dog have been written, in verse and in prose that the entire subject of four-footed love for man has been traversed. There is nothing finer in the English language than "Owd Bob," "The Call of the Wild" and all those entrancing stories of "Laddie" which Terhune has written. They are all epics of the dog, from the stories of Owd Bob the sheepdog of the Yorkshire dales, and "Buck," the great 150 pound Huskie who answered the call of the wild, down to those of "Laddie" the little collie, the gentleman and the thoroughbred.

What is there to compare with a dog as the companion of golden youth? What other friendship so well and completely sympathizes with the boyish spirit of old "Tige" is more to be trusted with the youngsters? Every boy in the country and on the farm grows up with a dog. With the patter of his dog's eager feet, beside him, every country boy splashes in the old swimming hole and goes hunting coons. Out in the bush, he and his chum lie in the shade and rest after the exertions of the chase. They search together for hidden treasures, know, follow the trails of their wanderlust and seek far countries in the glorious vision of a mutual exhilaration.

Perhaps it is the wild instinct in the boy which has not yet succumbed to the busy office where nature is almost entirely excluded. Perhaps the latent savage in the boy reminds his subconscious mind of the day when his ancestors hunted with their half wild dogs for their daily food supply.

And if that is the case then it is evidence that a man still retains some of the spirit of the boy and of the great outdoors when he loves a dog, and what is even more important, is loved by his dog—J. F. D.

The Guide Post—By Henry van Dyke

THE FOUNDATION OF PEACE.

The work of righteousness shall be peace.—Isaiah 32:17. The wise and upright of heart in all nations are now studying how to secure the peace of mankind.

The horrible memory of the last great war, and the lurid fear of the next, urge on that study as with mental whips of scorpions. A generous American offers a prize of $100,000 for the best plan of world peace.

But the rewards of success will be far greater than that, and they will be given to all. There is only one basis upon which a working plan can be built. The sense of justice which is innate in the majority of men must be reasonably satisfied.

Until that is done, we shall have resentments and fears, tumults and perturbations, wars and rumors of war.

I say "reasonably satisfied" because there is small hope that it can be completely, perfectly satisfied while human nature remains as badly mixed as it is now.

But when the nations unite their good intentions, and when the majority of men are convinced that governments are really working toward righteousness, then we shall have a solid foundation for peace. But you have got to "show them," as they say in Missouri.

order to keep in step with her, they are engaged. But if he is taking one step to her two, they are married.

What France needs is more babes in arms and fewer men in arms.

After a man sizes himself up in a mirror he admits that he is either good-looking or clever.

Buckwheat Field

By ANNE CAMPBELL.

We saw the farm, and all agreed That buckwheat fields are fair, indeed. White fields, white birch and whiter cows In meadowlands turned out to browse.

White clouds adrift in azure sky; White blowing dust on paths nearby; White sand beside a silver creek; A lazy horse, pure white and sleek.

And later, as we rode to town, A pale white moon was shining down. We looked our last, and all agreed That buckwheat fields are fair indeed.

WAS RECLINING ON COUCH WATCHING STILL AT WORK

Special to The Advertiser.

Catham, Aug. 16.—When prohibition officers raided the farm dwelling of Andrew Bryden of Oxford township they found the latter reclining on a couch in his cellar watching an up-to-date liquor still at work. The apparatus was seized together with about 80 gallons of liquor mash.

Bryden claimed that the still had been placed in the basement by a foreigner whose name he did not know, and that he was merely watching it.

Your Health: What "Tachycardia" Is and the Way To Avoid It.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.

Doctors have a way of giving big names to diseases. This is not intended to confuse the layman. It is done to insure uniformity in the naming of human ailments. By reason of this practice doctors of all lands can converse together, at least in the diagnosis of disease.

There is a big name—"tachycardia"—which is derived from two Greek words, meaning "swift" and "heart." This is applied to any disturbance of the heart's action in which macked increase in the pulse rate is observed.

Bear in mind all the time that rapid pulse is not a disease. It is merely the sign, or one of the signs, of some remote disturbance. Usually the trouble can be traced back to the nervous system. Fast action may indicate nothing wrong with the heart itself, any more than a galloping horse can be blamed because he is pounded into violent action by a cruel driver.

Emotion has a lot to do with the rapidity of the heart's action. Don't you know how your pulses beat if you are frightened or excited? Of course, such experiences are brief. There are a few moments of very rapid action and then the heart settles down to its regular work.

There are certain physical states, however, in which the nervous system seems on edge. It is constantly stimulated and all the movements of the organs controlled by the sympathetic nervous system are speeded up. Among such organs is the heart and that portion of the anatomy is whipped and pounded until it runs like a trip-hammer.

The thyroid gland is the structure which makes up a large part of the prominence some persons have in the neck. It lies at each side of "Adam's apple."

The thyroid gland is one of the mysterious "ductless glands," the secretions from which affect many of the vital organs. If the thyroid is too active, the excess secretion gland or some other similar gland may cause the heart to pump too forcibly. It is as if alcohol were constantly fed—there is overstimulation of the heart.

There is a disease called "exophthalmic goitre," which has thickening and overactivity of the thyroid as one of its signs. In this disease, perhaps because of the overaction of the thyroid, tachycardia is present.

In nervous prostration, after severe illness with fever, in certain forms of female disease, during the change of life, because of excessive use of tobacco, tea, coffee or alcohol, and in certain brain and nervous disturbances, habitual rapidity of the heart may be a symptom. What I have said about the cause of tachycardia, will naturally suggest what should be done to get rid of it. Sensible living will prevent its onset. That is more important than any discussion of cure.

NAVAL REDUCTION TREATIES BECOME EFFECTIVE TODAY

Five Powers Have Given Consent to Agreement Concerning Limitation of Ships.

ENDS ALLIANCE

Associated Press Despatch.
Washington, Aug. 17.—Two treaties negotiated at the Washington arms conference—the five-power naval limitation agreement and the four-power Pacific pact—became effective today.

Arrangements of the deposit of ratifications called for diplomatic representatives of the powers concerned to meet at noon at the state department with Secretary Hughes, Ambassador Hanfhar of Japan, and the chancellors of the British, French, and Italian embassies participating in a simple ceremony.

Italy is a party to the treaty providing for the scrapping of warships, but not to the Pacific agreement, which automatically terminates the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

The four-power Pacific treaty was concluded here December 13, 1921; the naval pact February 16, 1922. Deposit of ratifications was necessary before either could go into effect.

EXPLODING LANTERN SETS BARN ON FIRE

Owner Fortunately Escapes
After Falling Through Mow
With Lighted Lantern.

Special to The Advertiser.
Duart, Aug. 16.—The barn, shed and out-buildings on the old Campbell farm, two miles south of Duart, owned by R. J. Moore, were completely destroyed by fire, Tuesday night, along with the contents. The buildings had recently been put in good shape by re-roofing and other necessary repairs, and their destruction makes a bad loss to the proprietor.

The house on this farm burned several years ago, and with Tuesday night's conflagration, the property is completely denuded of buildings.
The quick response of the neighbors to the phone calls for help, saved the buildings on the south side of the road.

The fire started from a lantern
in the mow of the large shed. Mr.
Moore had occasion to go into the loft and unfortunately fell through a hole to the floor below, breaking the lantern in his fall. Before help could arrive, the whole building was in flames.

The buildings were insured for $1,500 and $1,000 on the contents.

HORSE HAS TO BE SHOT WHEN STRUCK BY TRAIN

Special to The Advertiser.
St. Thomas, Aug. 16.—A train on the London & Port Stanley Railway this afternoon struck a horse on the crossing at stop 15 near this city.
The horse had evidently gotten out of its pasture and strayed onto the tracks. Dr. Ball, V.S., answered a call to attend to the horse, but on inspecting the injury to the animal, he ordered it shot. A large piece of the right hind leg had been cut out by the wheels of the first car, and the animal was considered beyond help.

FARM FIRE AT AYLMEY DOES DAMAGE OF $3,500

Special to The Advertiser.
Aylmer, Aug. 16.—Fire destroyed a barn on the outskirts of the town today, the origin of the fire being credited to spontaneous combustion.
The barn together with the season's crops was completely destroyed, and although the fire brigade responded to the call for assistance they were unable to do anything as the hose would not reach the scene of the blaze. The barn was on the property of John Maybee, a tenant farmer.
The loss of both barn and crops was covered by insurance, and the damage is estimated at about $3,500.

BAY RUM AND JOY-RIDING LEAD TO COURT CHARGES

Special to The Advertiser.
Chatham, Aug. 16.—Purchasing two bottles of bay rum with which to quench their thirst, Caspar Parker and Frank Taylor, colored, went on a joy ride on a light truck yesterday, which ended in a Harwich Township detention following their narrow escape resulted in farmers lodging a complaint with the police. They were sobered up in the police cells over night. Fines of $20 and costs of 20 cents in jail were imposed on each after pleading guilty to drunk charges in the county police court this morning.

LONDON GENIUS GETS LARGE SUM FOR INVENTION

Peter Buchanan Invents a Machine For Manufacture of Paper Cups and Dishes.

SELLS WORLD RIGHT

After two years of patient striving to perfect a machine for the manufacturing of paper cups, the life dream of Peter Buchanan, obscure inventor, have been realized. He has now produced a machine, which has been sold to the Vortex Manufacturing Company, Chicago, and his monetary reward is said to run into many thousands.

Peter Buchanan was born in London, and now lives at 395 Hale street.
He had been engaged for many years in the automobile business in Canada and the United States, and two years ago conceived the idea of inventing a machine which would produce the popular paper cups, used in practically all the ice cream parlors in America, at a reduced price, and in larger quantities per day. In a small workshop on Talbot street he has been diligently striving, with little help from outsiders. Enclosed behind closed doors was the object of his inventive brain, and none but personal friends knew of his ambition.

“I knew that I could perfect the machine, but I was dubious whether I could sell it or not. I went ahead with little help, and last week sold the world's rights to the Vortex Company of Chicago on a royalty basis.”

Other Inventions.
Mr. Buchanan has made several other inventions, but, due to inexperience, they all slipped through his fingers, and others reaped the profit netted by them. While working for the Welsh Motor Car Company of Flint, he invented a solid keyway on a motor shaft. Owing to the fact that he was in the employ of this company, he was forced to give up the rights of his invention, and as a reward received an increased pay of 25 cents per day and a prize of $100. Since that time his invention has brought millions of dollars to the Welsh Motor Car Company. He invented the action of overhead valves for the Buick Motor Company, and, because of his ignorance of patents, received but a pittance for it.

After many years of wide mechanical experience he commenced working on his new machine. A month ago it was completed, and Mr.
Buchanan tried to interest citizens of London in his invention. He told him there was nothing in it, and he was forced to go to the States and sell it there. Before the Vortex Company had seen the machine they bought the world's rights on it, and now intend to complete their huge building with the modern machine. Previous ones had a capacity of turning out 20,000 paper cups a day. Buchanan's machine will manufacture 3,000,000 cups per day, and at a cheaper rate.
An inferior machine which is now being used by the Vortex Company netted the inventor $435,000.

Will Go to Chicago.

The Chicago company is to give Mr. Buchanan a royalty on every cup manufactured by his machine, and he is to go to that city and commence to “build it for all other paper concerns in the world. The machine will make three varieties of cups: for ice cream dishes, finger bowls and baking cups. If his invention proves a success, he is at once to commence perfecting a machine which will turn out paper drinking cups with the same speed as the original machine.

Off a narrow laneway on Talbot street, is a small, dingy workshop.
It is there that Buchanan has unceas-ingly worked for the past two years.
“It is great to sit back now after all the work is over and wait for the success of my machine,” said Mr.
Buchanan, “but I wouldn't go through it again for all the money in the world. Of course, difficulties arose, and if it were not for my eternal optimism, I think I would have given it up long ago.”

The machine is an elaborate one, but can be easily operated. One girl can run three of them at once, and this fact alone adds greatly to its worth. Negotiations are now under way by which the machine will soon be installed in the Vortex plant.

TWO NEW YORK WOMEN LEAP TO THEIR DEATHS

Associated Press Despatch.
New York, Aug. 17.—Mrs. A. M. daughter, 35 years old, today jumped from a window of their sixth floor apartment in West Seventy-eighth street to the pavement below. They were instantly killed.

ASKS CLERGYMEN PREACH ON WHEAT POOL

Canadian Press Despatch.
Regina, Aug. 16.—J. A. McPhail, general manager of the wheat pool campaign has prepared a letter which is being sent to all clergy in Saskatchewan, asking them to devote their sermons Sunday, August 26, to the subject of the wheat pool. Mr. Mc-Phail suggests that the following text might be used as a basis for the discussions:

“Is not this the word that we did tell thee in Egypt saying, let us alone that we may serve the Egyptians?—
that we may serve the Egyptians?—
that we may serve the Egyptians?—
that we may serve the Egyptians?”

SAYS DEFECTIVE CHILDREN CAN BE MADE NORMAL

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, Aug. 16.—That at least 25 of the 45 children he had examined during the morning could be practically made normal again was the declaration of Dr. W. E. Dailie, who, with Dr. A. E. Lemesurier, orthopedic specialists from the Sick Children's Hospital, conducted a clinic here today under the auspices of the Rotary Club. Dr. Dailie was speaking at the luncheon of the Rotary Club. Only one child who was expected failed to appear. The clinic was held at the General Hospital and attended by medical men from the county. Alexander Fallis, chairman of the hospital trust, gave each child a box of candy. Refreshments were also served them.

Expect Union of Vets Clubs At Ontario Convention

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, Aug. 17.—Ex-service men throughout Ontario are evincing considerable interest in the forthcoming provincial convention of the Ontario Command, G. W. V. A., which is to be held at St. Catharines Sept. 2, 4 and 5. There is general anticipation that this meeting will take the final steps necessary to secure a union of the various veterans' organizations in the province. Other associations have been invited to send fraternal delegates in order that the matter may be fully discussed.

Arising out of the co-operative ef-orts on the part of the various bodies in presenting evidence to the royal commission on pensions and re-establishment while in session at Toronto, a conference was held on May 24, at which a provincial council of the Dominion Veterans' Alliance was formed, embodying representatives from the six principal organizations.

The Dominion convention of the G.
W. V. A. at Vancouver declared for a union of forces without pre-arranged terms, and on this basis the members of the G. W. V. A. are ready to consider the whole matter, it is stated here.

CHIMNEY FIRE IN TARA DESTROYS A FINE HOME

Special to The Advertiser.
Tara, Aug. 16.—The fine brick residence of Thomas Plant on the ninth concession of Arran was completely destroyed by fire on Monday evening.
The fire broke out in the chimney earlier in the day and was thought extinguished. Some hours later the roof burst into flames and though the Tara fire brigade was rushed to the scene, nothing could be done to save the building.

LARKIN APPEALS AGAINST ASSESSMENT ON INCOME

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Aug. 16.—Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner in London, who is on a visit to Canada, appeared in the Toronto court of revision today to appeal against his assessment on an income of $73,093.
His plea was that he is not now a resident of Toronto, having decided to reside here to his son. Decision was reserved.

METHODISTS REPORT INCREASE IS SLIGHT

Membership For Dominion and Newfoundland Is Placed
At 407,264.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Aug. 16.—Statistics for the year ended April 30, 1923, given out at the headquarters of the Methodist Church today show a membership of 407,264 for the Dominion and Newfoundland, an increase of 331 over the preceding year. The report says:
“Many reasons may be assigned for the apparent stability of numbers in membership. The multiplication of Union Churches, of which there are now about 3,000 in Canada, the loss of population from Newfoundland and other considerations of the moment have, no doubt, had influence. But making all possible allowances for modifying conditions, we need undoubtedly a stronger spiritual impact, a deeper personal consecration and more energetic method.”

Money raised for all purposes totalled $2,209,275. This was $34,207 less than the total raised the year before.

The light of the North Star is estimated to be 100 times stronger than that of the sun.

TORONTO FUR WORKERS STAGE PROTEST STRIKE

Four Hundred Quit Work—Action Affects Forty Shops.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Aug. 16.—Four hundred fur workers in the city have gone on strike, demanding of the manufacturers certain agreements, such as the appointment of shop foremen in all shops, who will have to give their consent before employees can be dismissed, and a minimum wage. Autumn cutters and finishers. This strike affects 40 fur shops, and it is expected that more employees will join the strikers within the next few days. At one of the fur shops, it was said that the strike had followed the visit of J.
Kauffman of New York, representing the American Fur Workers' Union.
The strikers are satisfied with the hours, one employer said, but are demanding certain agreements, which the manufacturer cannot allow. One is that an employee who has worked in a fur shop for over two weeks cannot be discharged without the permission of the shop foreman. Another point is that they demand a minimum wage of $40 for cutters, and $30 for female finishers, and $35 for male finishers, per week.

The Million Dollar Doll

By C. N. AND A. M. WILLIAMSON.
Authors of "The Lightning Conductor."

Terry's Burst of Temper on Receiving Letter Amazes Mrs. Harkness

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

Teresa Desmond (Terry), lovely and unbelievably innocent, is impersonating her beautiful half-sister, Juliet Divine, known as the Million Dollar Doll, whose sketchy career is unknown to Terry.

Miles Sheridan, Terry's "Dream Prince," furnished the money for her convent education when she was a child. His wife is making him wretched with her infidelity and in order to facilitate her obtaining a divorce, Miles offers the Million Dollar Doll $20,000 to take a yacht trip with him, stipulating that he will not "trouble" the girl. This, he knows, will give his wife sufficient grounds for divorce. Juliet is unable to take the trip herself, but working on her little sister's gratitude to Miles, she persuades Terry to go in her place. Terry is an exquisite counterpart of her sister.

Betty Sheridan, Miles' wife, is deeply in love with Paul di Salvo, a handsome Italian. Eustace Nazio, a wealthy Greek, who does not know of Terry's relation to Juliet, is in love with the younger girl.

Poor little Terry, unaware of her sister's reputation and of how she must appear in the eyes of the world, starts the voyage with Miles, who does not recognize in her the little girl he befriended so long ago. Mrs. Harkness, his old servant, is sternly disapproving of the Million Dollar Doll.

CHAPTER XXXI.

A Young Demon.

Terry took the letter with a beating heart, a murmured "Thank You." Mrs. Harkness would have moved stolidly away, but the girl stopped her. "Oh, please wait," she exclaimed. "There may be an answer."

"I understood that there was no immediate answer, but I may be mistaken. I will wait, of course. Miss Juliet Divine, I am sure, will be glad to see you."

The envelope was addressed to "Miss Juliet Divine." It had a Laundry that makes clothing money go farther

Your sheer, lovely things—crepe, fine silks, lace—will be found to wear much longer, laundered this way. Perhaps as much as 50%. And your clothing money buys just that much more. For these snowy-white, crinkly flakes of purest soap do not harm the most fragile fabrics. If anything, they brighten and renew delicate colors. The foamy suds contain nothing injurious. But it gently dissolves and removes all dirt and soil.

PALMOLIVE PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES are used by thousands of women—for all washing and household purposes. They really cost no more than the most ordinary soaps—for they are nothing but pure soap, and so go much farther. Use them in the washing machine, for the small hand-wash, wherever you need soap. In handy one-pound packages, or in bags. Your dealer has them. Get them today.

very little else; the leader of the "Water Lily Girls" in the Midnight Frolics. Mrs. Harkness had remembered the name because it had struck her on sight as being sacrilegious that a dancer in a theatre should dare call herself "Divine."

"Oh, sir, an actress alone with you on the yacht!" she had protested, as old nurses have—or think they have—sufficiently to collect eight yellow-covered novels.

As she retrieved these, Mrs. Harkness reminded herself of the books' arrival. Her beloved master had walked on board and broken the news to her that there would be a young woman, Miss Juliet Divine, with them during the whole Mediterranean cruise, and that she—she, his old nurse, would have to wait upon her!

Mrs. Harkness had once seen a picture in some newspaper (not a Sunday supplement; she didn't approve of Sunday papers) representing this Juliet Divine person in tights and

"That's what I'm having her on board for: as a show girl, an advertisement. You know enough about my affairs, Harky, to guess the rest without my having to explain any further."

Harky did know and could guess. (Copyright, 1923, by The Bell Syndicate.)

In tomorrow's installment Sheridan is bewildered.

Old Mr. Toad Gives the Young Chuck Some Good Advice

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The young Chuck, who has lost his temper and started to bite Old Mr. Toad, dropped him as suddenly as he had picked him up. You see Old Mr. Toad had in self-defense used a sort of poison which made the young Chuck most uncomfortable.

Instead of trying to get away, Old Chuck, Old Mr. Toad is not one to Old Mr. Toad turned and faced the young remain angry very long. His golden eyes began to twinkle. He saw that this was a young Chuck, and shrewdly guessed that he was just starting out in the Great World and really knew nothing at all about the ways of the Great World.

"I hope, young fellow," said he, "that this will be a lesson to you. Never despise others because they are smaller than you. Never make fun of others. If you make many mistakes such as you have just made, you will come to no good end. You will not live long enough to see much of the Great World. Has your mother sent you out into the Great World?"

"No," replied the young Chuck slowly, but truthfully.

"Then," said Old Mr. Toad, "you have run away. If you will heed my advice, you will go straight back as fast as your legs will take you."

"I don't want to go home," said the young Chuck.

Old Mr. Toad nodded his head quite as if that was just the answer he had expected. "I don't suppose you do," said he. "I suspect that you are a headstrong, willful young scamp, and that what I may say to you will go in one ear and out the other. Just the same, I am going to give you some advice. As I said before, I advise you to go home as fast as your legs will take you. If you won't do it, and I know you won't, just remember what I say. Never be impudent to anyone. It never pays. Never trust a stranger. Had you met Buzzball the Rattlesnake and been as impudent to him as you were to me, you wouldn't be alive now."

"The Great World is full of dangers. The only way to live long is to learn what those dangers are and all about them. The surest way of keeping out of danger is keeping out of sight. Never go far from a safe hiding place. Never let your stomach rule you. It is better to have an empty stomach yourself than to fill the empty stomach of another. Don't go any further in this direction. This is the end of the blues along the Long Lane, and Farmer Brown's barnyard is no place for a Chuck."

"But I want to see what it is like up there," said the young Chuck. "I'm not afraid."

"Just as I expected. Just as I expected," said Old Mr. Toad. "You don't know enough to be afraid. Very young folks seldom do. That is why so many of them never live to grow up. There is nothing disgraceful in being afraid. It is only the stupid who refuse to be afraid. It is better to be too timid than not to be afraid at all. When you are older, you will,

THE DAILY SHORT STORY

PIES AND PIES.

By MARTHA McCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

"Better make plenty of pies — and fat ones," Aunt Em admonished Lucetta. "You're coming 19, pretty close. High time you had a good chance hog-tied. The sort that come courtin' Sundays is real business beaux. So busy all the week they don't waste time sparkin'. Joe Maslett's sort—you couldn't do better'n git him if ye had the pick of the county."

"M-m" was all Lucetta said. She hated the convention of Sunday courtin'. Seeking bachelors flocked to preaching, whence they went home with whom they chose, to eat the fat, drink the sweet, indulge in general good-natured gossip. Dinner out of the way, they would take the favored young woman riding in the small cars that had superseded the horse and buggy of the older time. Lucetta shuddered, remembering how she had fought off so far Maslett's insistent declarations. Her nimble wits, nimbler tongue, gave her the upper hand. But she knew she couldn't stave off his proposals forever—also that to refuse it meant open war in the house.

Well, she needn't stay there long. At 20, happily, she came into her money. No fortune, to be sure, but enough to take her away—very far away. The invincible courage of ignorance made her rather brave the experience of going.

Meantime, no use in making trouble. Therefore, she rolled out flaky puff paste and filled the pans with overflowing with fruit or custard batter of cheesecake, richest and most official of all. It used up so much—eggs, sugar, butter, lemons—enough for the cross strips. Aunt Em felt only the surest and most approved among suitors were worthy of it.

You won't make much of that at Joe's house," Aunt Em commented. "Only fault to him, he's right down close. Told me his ma always bought whatever she needed to the butcher—age money, and generally had some left over to help out in a pinch. If he wasn't so well off he'd be called down-right stingy; but you know savin' don't hurt you much with folks if they know you got no need to save. He'll be rich by the time your boys are big enough for college, as 'twouldn't as take a mile if he sent 'em—he's the up-an-comin' sort that wants to stand at the top."

Lucetta did not answer immediately—in a minute she said: "You don't mind, I'll make this batch of cheesecakes—different. Like some folks, folks brought to them."

"How?" Aunt Em said eagerly. Lucetta smiled softly, answering: "You wait and see. I'll be long and finish my new white apron—I want it so as not to spoil my blue dress waiting on table."

Burning curiosity brought Aunt Em back inside an hour—to find Lucetta dotting with the best whole-milk frosting she had spread upon the cheesecakes. Not only those full-grown—the patties she had ventured to make surreptitiously, and which now stood in rank before her. "Taste 'em," she said, holding out a patty. Aunt Em crunched it, swallowing luxuriously after she drew a long breath, exclaiming: "My! the best all the pies ever I ate before. Don't you show nobody else how to make 'em, though—I want to keep the secret against your wedding."

"I won't!" Lucetta agreed, with a hovering smile.

If appetite is the surest test of admiration, Joe Maslett (tell for the glorious cheesecakes—hard. He ate half a full-sized one, then fell upon the patties, neither pausing nor staying until he had devoured seven. A noble glutton, at some other body's expense, he ogled as he ate, saying afterward, with a loud giggle: "Lordy, Miss Lu, I didn't know nothin' could make me love you harder; but them little pies! U-m! Never tasted nothin' like 'em—before nor since."

"I must give you a real long ride—"

Lucetta nodded brightly. Things were coming her way exactly. She had most laughed aloud as she was handed into the roadster. She had hooked her fish tight, and she was going to throw him back in the water with a zorgous splash. His mind lingered upon eating. "You're some cook, I'll tell the world," he propounded waggishly, as she swept into the turn-pike.

Lucetta nodded. "I am that. When I marry and have things my own way, you just come and see what I can do. Any man that asks me must agree to give me all I want to cook with—batter of sugar, flour, lard, lard, as fine as can be and nuts and things—all the flav-orizing there is, and then some more—and never, never, never grumble when I tell him I'm out of anything. I simply hate pale-tasted victuals. My notion of good things is to have 'em so they will grease butter and sweeten sugar. And if I made laws I'd fine anybody that didn't boil hams at least in cider—wine is better, but the stingy one wouldn't stand for that."

"Say, d'ye know you'd cook up a fortune in a year at that rate?" Joe demanded, with a glassy stare.

Lucetta shrugged. "Of course," she said. "That's why I won't let 'em eat of the little short sort nor a stingy one like you. It's only once in a blue moon a girl is born with my talent for cookin'."

"I'm not afraid," Lucetta giggled happily. "Where there's a will there's a way. My will is to have all I want—and then some. And I don't doubt I'll get it."

She did, in the oddest way, after waiting five years for it. It came, of course, in the guise of a man who had brains, breeding and the indefinable something the bespeaks a generous heart. Rich withal—but Lucetta didn't know it. She thought him only a lawyer of moderate competence and a high heart. She had found a niche for herself as menu-maker for a thrice exclusive clientele.

Occasionally, when she was asked to make things, but the occasion had to be very special, though she loved cookery as much as ever. Chance threw her across her own path. There was certainly affinity between them. In a month he was haunting her almost to the detriment of business.

She had let him know at the outset her estate in life. It had made no difference to him. He was now and again to invite himself to dine with her. After the third dinner, he said, smiling whimsically: "I'm just finding out why I've never thought seriously of marriage—the problem of a cook always loomed so threateningly ahead. Now it is solved. I like your way of doing things. Agree henceforth to do them for me only. I think I can furnish the raw material without going into bankruptcy."

"I'll trust you—without guarantees," Lucetta smiled back at him, and so they were married, and honeymooned happily thereafter for a space of six months.

Then they went home—such a home as she had never dreamed of. "I hope the kitchen suits you," said Trousdale. "But if the kitchen lacks anything, I shall be supplied."

"Only a cook," Lucetta said, smiling again, and laying her happy head on her husband's arm.

Nerves and Blood Are Life

The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clergy are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

LONDON'S FORETHOUGHT AVERTS FUEL FAMINE

NO COAL FAMINE HERE THIS YEAR, FUEL WILL CLAIM

Householders Prepare For Winter Early and Most Bins Are Filled.

OTHERS MUST HURRY

A possible coal famine this year has been averted through the action of citizens in filling their bins early. The success of the outcome of the serious disagreement between miners and operators in the United States, Londoners are assured that plenty of fuel will be available this winter. Newspaper publicity, urging householders to purchase a good supply of anthracite during spring and summer months, has brought splendid results. For the first time in history 75 per cent of the ordinary annual fuel purchases have already been made.

This is attributable, merchants declare, to the work of educating the public regarding the necessity of procuring a full winter's supply before the busy period sets in. If the custom of ordering early were followed every year there would be no chance of a shortage in the cold months.

Nevertheless, the prospect looming before the fuel consuming population of Canada and the United States who have improvidently failed to fill their bins this summer, is alarming. Possibility of a settlement over the contentious "check-off" problem and other differences, is considered hopelessly remote. Local dealers were more or less emphatic on that score and citizens' foresight in purchasing early is a source of congratulation for the entire city.

Production Will Stop

If, however, the present conference in New York results in a deadlock the fuel question in less fortunate centers will be the most serious in history. Stoppage of production is inevitable on September 1 unless some agreement is reached.

Of course, if the miners cease work London will doubtless be affected. But, according to William Martin, proprietor of the Martin Anthracite Company, the great bulk of coal already stored in local cellars, already in use, and other substitutes are available to take care of all.

The vexatious problem of employers at the present time is the "check-off" question. The miners demand that union fees previously collected by the union be handed over to the union officials. By this system the miners would be able to give the companies regarding the output of their companies and gauge their wage demands accordingly.

"Outrageous" is the way one London merchant characterized the union demand. George Chantler of Chantler Bros., coal merchants, thought it was a derisory demand and other retailers were equally emphatic in their views.

A Labor View

Ald. McKay, ward three representative of the city council, on the situation, however, from a different aspect. Apparently the big coal companies own their own grocery and clothing stores and, to insure payment of bills, contract with the amount of bills contracted by their amount from the miners' pay each week. In retaliation the latter now ask after the that the operators should also look after the dues from weekly wages and handing them over to the union.

This the companies have refused to do, arguing that under such conditions they would be compelled to collect the finances of an institution traditionally against the best interests of the industry.

"You can't blame them," William Martin said. "I consider the miners' ultimatum unreasonable."

"It may seem so on the surface," adds Ald. McKay, "but the collection of rents and grocery payments by operators from their men is no more justifiable than the collection of union fees by the companies. I think the miners are in the right."

"We need not quarrel much over the crucial situation in the United States," George Chantler said. "Fortunately the people have been wise enough to stock up for the winter and for those who didn't there will be sufficient to keep them warm all winter. Lots of good substitutes can be used."

Other merchants were equally encouraging. They agreed, however, that citizens destitute of fuel now should make haste to send in orders to be absolutely safe from inconvenience this winter.

RULES GERMAN OFFICIALS ACTED WITHOUT REASON

The Hague, Aug. 17.—The permanent court of international justice today handed down a decision against Germany in the case involving the seizure of the Kiel Canal by German vessels. The court decided the German authorities were not justified in preventing the British steamer Winland from entering the canal between Poland and Russia, and that Germany should make compensation.

WILL COST $50,000,000 TO CONSTRUCT LOCKS

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 17.—It is now estimated that the proposed scheme for conserving the waters of the Murray River by the construction of a series of locks, will cost $50,000,000. The house of representatives has passed a bill authorizing the commonwealth to pay one-quarter this sum, while Victoria, New South Wales and South Australia are to pay the remaining three-quarters.

LIQUOR SHIPMENT IS LOST TO OWNER BY COURT'S ORDER

Deputy Magistrate Officially Confiscates Shipment Valued at $5,000.

CAN'T FIND OWNER

Deputy Magistrate Gladman officially ordered the confiscation of $5,000 worth of liquor in police court this morning, when certain persons to whom the said liquor was consigned failed to appear and show cause why it should not be turned over to the government.

The Dominion Express Company, in one of whose cars the liquor was seized by Inspector Lucas, disclaimed all responsibility for it, stating they had no notification as to the nature of the consignment, which was contained in three barrels and one large packing case.

Chief Birrell testified that summonses had been sent to the alleged consignees at Windsor, but the police in that city had been unable to trace anybody of the name given on the barrels. The consignment had been shipped from Montreal, and was seized on Aug. 9.

Atlanta Convention Stands Behind Men in Fight For 44-Hour Week.

Associated Press Despatch. Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 17.—Striking printers fighting for the 44-hour week are to remain out until their grievances are settled, if the sentiment of the sixty-eighth annual convention of the International Typographical Union, now in session here, is adhered to.

For the first time since the opening of the convention Monday, factional differences were laid aside last night, and by a unanimous vote the convention adopted a resolution "strongly urging the executive council to resist any attempt to call off the fight for the 44-hour week," and recommended that all strike benefits be continued until all members still on strike are back at work.

Records show more than 3,000 workers still on strike, and that more than 2,600 are receiving full benefit allowance. Local unions have contributed approximately $15,000,000 to the strike fund.

KERRWOOD TRAIN WRECKS NOT DUE TO LONG GRADE

Four Wrecks at Same Point Officially Regarded As Coincidence.

IS THERE A 'HOODOO'?

The fact that within the past six months four Canadian National freight trains have come to grief on the main line near Kerrwood is merely a coincidence and is not due to any peculiarity of the road bed or the rails, was the statement made by The Advertiser this morning by Charles Forrester, superintendent of the London division.

Following Wednesday night's wreck when a broken brake beam on one of the cars threw the locomotive and a number of cars across the tracks, tying up the main lines for several hours. Train crews advanced the contention that the long down grade stretch at Kerrwood permitted a fast rate of speed causing the recurrence of wrecks of this point. But Engineer Wheatcroft's declaration that he was not going more than 25 miles at the time discounted in a large measure that contention. Mr. Forrester also states that no evidence has been found to show that the stretch of track was responsible for the mishaps.

Referring to the wreck of two months ago when an oil car derailed and caused a costly conflagration, the superintendent said that a broken journal (the end of the wheel axle) was the cause of the wreck on that occasion.

"The report on Wednesday's wreck shows that a weak brake beam resulted in the piling up," he continued. "In all cases the causes have been different and as far as I can see it is merely a coincidence."

But veteran railroaders running in and out of London have heard to say that he was not so sure that he was not contradicting the official statement that the occurrences are a coincidence, still say that the whole thing is funny.

"I tell you that Kerrwood is 'hoodooed,'" one veteran declared emphatically. "There is something about that freight pile up in the same district in a short time. Officials state that the down grade breaks occur at the same point. I remember my father telling me of certain spots on roads that were 'jinxed' for freights and I believe Kerrwood is one of those."

After the Wednesday mishap Engineer Wheatcroft was heard to say that he was not so sure that he was not contradicting the official statement that the occurrences are a coincidence, still say that the whole thing is funny.

High-Handed Action by U.S. Official May Be Probed

Special to The Advertiser.

Montreal, Aug. 17.—By what authority does an American police officer enter a Canadian office, seize four individuals, and transport them into the United States. Is a question that is being discussed in the eastern townships as the result of an incident which occurred yesterday. The four individuals were Chinese, but local authorities on international law say that only complicates the situation, as it brings the republic of China as well as the Dominion of Canada and the United States into a triangular tangle through the high-handed action of an American police officer.

The four Chinese in question were in Canada and presumably had paid the $500 head tax required on admission in this country. They had been to Rock Island, Officer James Ford, of Newport, Vt., who received information of proximity to the line, suspected an attempt to enter the United States. It is not clear whether the four Chinese in question crossed the line at Derby, and becoming frightened decided to return. At any rate they boarded the morning train at Stansbury yesterday for Beebe Junction, there to connect with the north bound train for Sherbrooke. If their intention was to get through to the States, they had changed their mind and were headed for Sherbrooke when mishap overtook them.

As they stepped off the train near a station in Canada they were seized by Officer Ford of Newport and a United States sheriff and rushed to Newport, where they were locked up.

REICHSTAG BANK HEAD NOT IN HURRY TO QUIT

Rudolf Havenstein Imperturbed by Demand of New Government.

Associated Press Despatch. Berlin, Aug. 17.—Rudolf Havenstein has not yet displayed an inclination to retire as president of the Reichstag Bank, notwithstanding the fact that the four political parties which comprise Chancellor Stresemann's coalition government are making a united demand that he give up his position.

Havenstein is suspected of attempting to fortify himself in his present position because he is supposed to enjoy the confidence of the regents of the Bank of England, an attitude which the Tagblatt considers extraordinary in view of the fact that "no longer commands the confidence of leading circles in Germany."

This newspaper demands a directorate for the bank which is "capable of grappling with the problems created by the present situation."

BABY GIRL ABANDONED IN CHURCH IN HAMILTON

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, Aug. 17.—Considerable mystery surrounds the finding in St. Patrick's Church of a baby girl about 2 months old. She was very prettily dressed, wearing a silk dress and carried about her neck a little medal. This is the fifth baby to be abandoned in Hamilton in two weeks.

GEDDES MAY QUIT AMBASSADORSHIP, FEARS BLINDNESS

Eye Trouble Has Failed To Yield To Treatment of Specialists.

ONE EYE SIGHTLESS

Special Cable to The London Advertiser and New York Tribune. Copyright.

London, Aug. 17.—Belief that Sir Auckland Geddes may not return to the United States, as British ambassador, was further strengthened today by authentic information reaching here that he has lost the sight of one eye and is greatly troubled by the weakness of the other.

It is understood the trouble from which the ambassador has been suffering for some time has not yielded to treatment of specialists here, and it is considered almost certain that if Sir Auckland does not relinquish his post his return to Washington will be postponed for some time.

HARVESTERS INVAD CENTERS OUT WEST

All Sorts and Conditions of Men Seek Work On Farms.

Special to The Advertiser.

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 17.—The west is entertaining its annual influx of harvest hands. Among the thousands who stand at the railway stations, the employment bureau and the street corners of Saskatoon, are all sorts and conditions of men. One of them is an Oxford bachelor of arts and graduate in civil law. His years gave him a longing for open space, and he abandoned a London practice, probably for good, to come to the prairie.

From Vancouver came George Pitts. Once a man of wealth, the last time he was here he registered at the best hotel, with an address on Shaughnessy Heights. He brought several hundred dollars worth of choice real estate, and has since given up paying taxes on the lots. A three-year-old job in the fields looks good to him.

Jean Desjardis of Cartierville, Que., has brought his golf clubs with him. He says he will be disappointed if he fails to find somewhere in these 250,000 square miles a farm which will join on one of the provincial golf courses.

Farmers are taking on the men as quickly as they arrive, but the arrival of many from Great Britain has removed all danger of a shortage.

Associated Press Despatch.

Paris, Aug. 17.—The great heat in the south of France still persists. At the foot of Maures Hills, near Hyeres, the temperature yesterday exceeded 111 degrees Fahrenheit in the shade.

In the high sun at Perpignan the temperature reached 149, and there were many cases of sunstroke, one proving fatal. The Bishop of Perpignan ordered public prayers for rain.

WILL TRY GEORGE KING FOR KILLING SWEETHEART

Canadian Press Despatch.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 17.—George King, 20 years old, was this morning committed for trial on the charge of murdering his 17-year-old sweetheart, Ernie Johnson, on Aug. 7. He was arrested in Toronto on Monday following the crime, after having forced a motorist, at the point of a revolver, to drive him to Toronto. No counsel has yet been engaged for him.

SHERIFF DENIES POLICE IN COUNTY NOT FUNCTIONING

Had No Complaint Up To Noon As To Shooting Near Crumlin.

INSPECTOR'S VIEW

The county police are functioning. This statement was made by Sheriff Graham, License Inspector Bolton and County clerk Stuart this morning when questioned concerning the reported shooting at Crumlin last night, when George Grant, 46 Gamage street, was shot at by two unknown men as he motored past, and what action the members of the county constabulary would take.

As high constable for the county, Sheriff Graham stated that up to noon today he had received no word of the affair, although Grant stated he tried to get him last night. Where the shooting took place is in East Nisour Township, and the county constable is stationed at Dorchester. The sheriff was unable to state whether he had been notified.

"As to reports that the county police are not working, that is not true," stated the sheriff. "I think I am getting very unfair criticism at the hands of a local newspaper which has published reports derogatory to the morale of the force. I have received no complaints from anyone regarding the protection, and London Township alone has yet to appoint its man. The members of the force are doing all they can to maintain law and order, but it is hard to get men to fill the positions."

"I have no complaint to make concerning the county police," declared License Inspector Walter Bolton. "They have always co-operated with me, and work well. As to this shooting last night, I am told that Grant tried to notify me at my house, but I was not at home, and did not hear anyone call me up."

"The affair is not in our hands," stated Chief Constable. "Although we are willing to help in any way possible, it is up to either the provincial or county police. As to the latter, while they may not be as efficient as an organized constabulary, they are nevertheless, I believe, conscientious, and will do their best for the people of the county."

LT. COL. W. S. DINNICK DIES IN OLD COUNTRY

Formerly Prominent Toronto Man Passes in 47th Year.

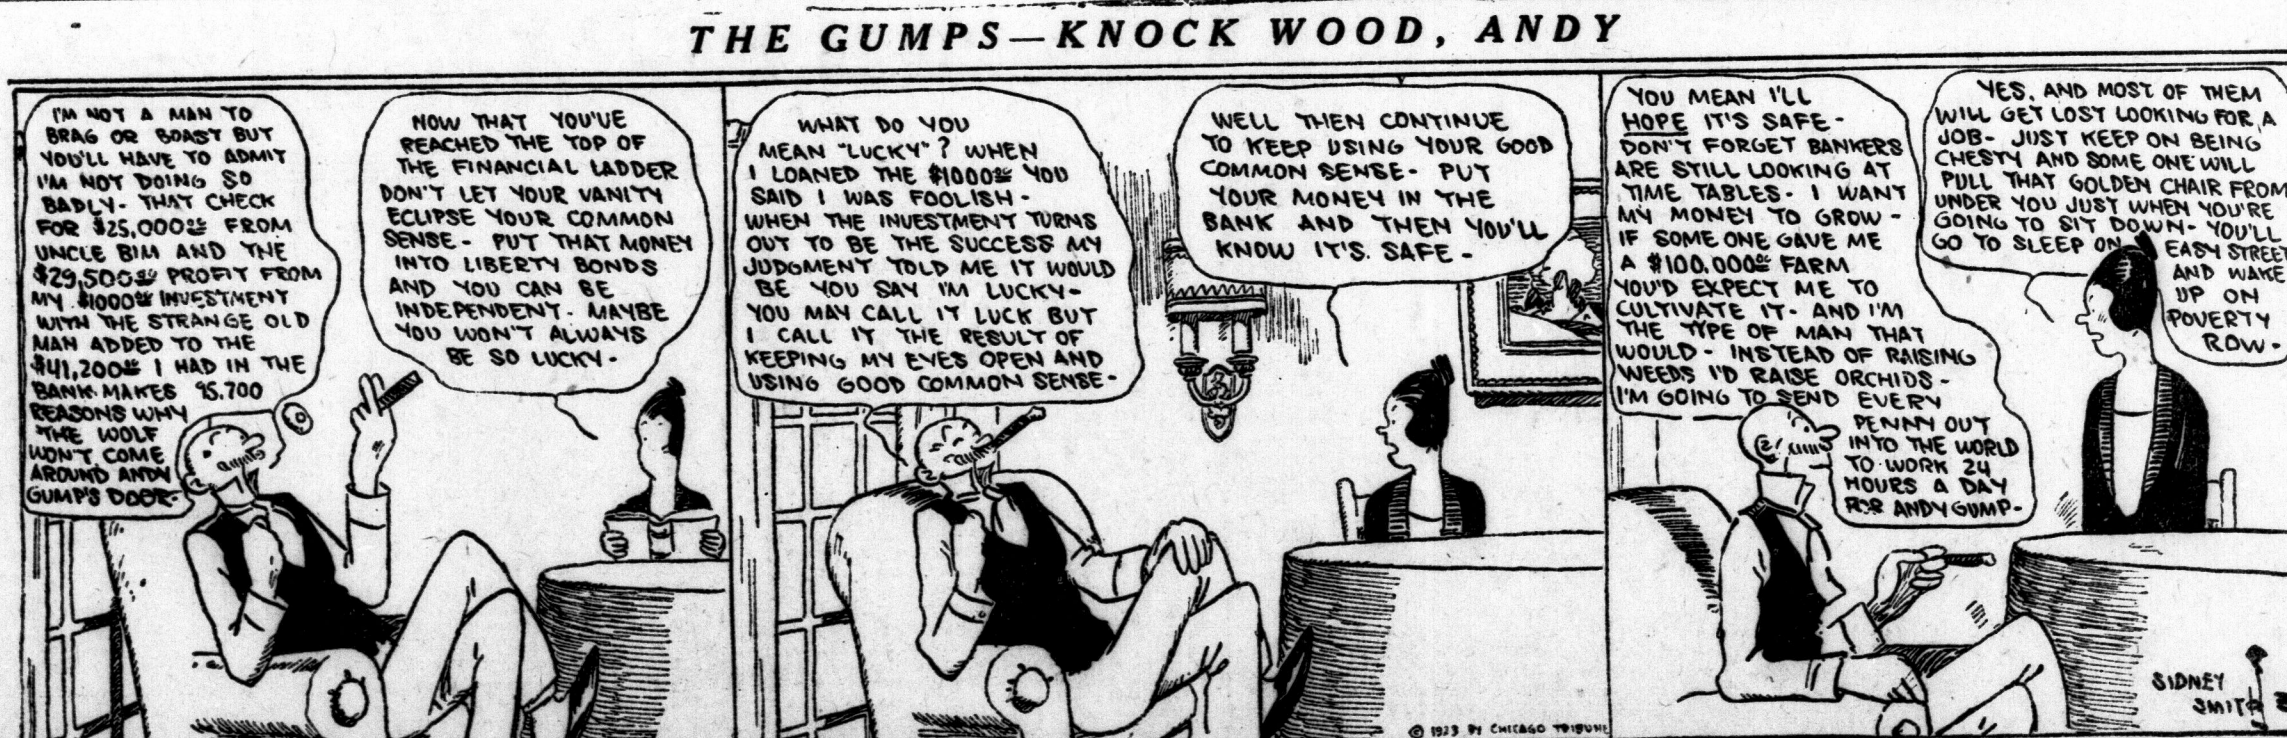

Associated Press Despatch. London, Aug. 17.—Lieut. Col. W. S. Dinnick, formerly of Toronto, died today. He was 47 years of age and the son of Rev. J. D. Dinnick of England.

Lieut. Col. Wilfrid Servington Dinnick for many years was prominent in business and financial circles in Toronto. He was general manager of the Devereux Land and Savings Company in the latter years of his residence in Toronto, and left for England about three years ago, since which time he made his home in the old land.

During the war Lieut. Col. Dinnick was one of the best of the patriots, and he was actively connected with various enterprises which raised war funds. He was identified with the Red Cross Society and several other organizations, his financial abilities being generally recognized, and he did excellent work in behalf of the allied cause. Col. Dinnick was commander of the 19th Militia Battalion for home service during the war.

COMPLAINTS OF CRUELTY TO HORSES ON RIDOUT ST.

Complaints have been made by residents of Ridout street to the humane inspector, the police and the mayor, against drivers of heavily laden wagons who force their horses up the hill. "Every day," said one resident to The Advertiser, "horses pulling heavy loads of ice and coal are forced to their knees on the brick pavement. Either this practice of cruelty must stop or we will take the names of the drivers of the wagons and have them arrested."

Spain Has Oldest Locomotive.

The record for long life among railway locomotives is probably held by some of those running in Spain, where engines built in 1849 may still be seen at work.

LABRADOR CHILDREN ARE UNDERNOURISHED

Welfare Unit Working in Grenfell Mission Finds Need For Nutrition.

Special to The Advertiser.

St. John's, Newfoundland, Aug. 16.—The welfare unit working in the Grenfell Mission in Labrador this summer have found urgent need for what may be called a campaign for nutrition.

More than two-thirds of the children are being denied normal growth through malnutrition. There is a prevalence of rickets, beri-beri and scurvy, and it is there that tuberculosis takes its greatest toll. Scarcely a family but has one or more members afflicted with it.

The reason for such conditions is the lack of nourishing food. Tea, dried fish and white bread comprise virtually the entire diet throughout the year. The children are given as many as a dozen cups of hot tea a day. Milk is almost unknown, except where where it has been introduced and made obtainable by the health unit.

The unit will also take seeds of a number of vegetables, and will teach the children how to raise vegetable gardens. Only vegetables of short fruiting can be used, such as kale, spinach and turnips, for the Labrador summer is only two months at the longest.

An unusual feature of the work this summer will be the installation of a cold storage plant to keep food and bait during the winter months. The popular impression of a Labrador winter would make cold storage seem superfluous, but it is necessary, according to the welfare workers, so that fishermen may preserve the bait they gather during the summer.

HOME REMEDIES OF OUR ANCESTORS

Almost every man and woman in America can remember the botanic recipes of our mothers and grandmothers for the treatment of disease, and they were wonderfully dependable, too. Every fall there were stored away in the attic thoroughwort, pennyroyal, rue, sage, wormwood, rue, etc., for treating ills of the family during the winter months that followed. In 1873 Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was first prepared from one of these botanic recipes, and the demand for it has increased to such an extent that hundreds of tons of roots and herbs are now used annually in its preparation. It has recently been proved that 98 out of every 100 women who try it have been benefited by its use, which is a marvelous record for any medicine to hold.

Hundreds swarmed to the grand opening of the new store of the Artistic Ladies' Wear Company held yesterday. The magnificent store is situated on the north side of Dundas street, near Richmond, and from the moment the doors were opened at 9 o'clock in the morning until late in the evening, Londoners came to visit the beautiful store. Crowds of shoppers, who made purchases at the new store yesterday, praised the manager and the owners for the beautiful settings and the magnificence of the modern and up-to-date shop.

Numerous congratulatory telegrams were received by the manager, Birnie Wolf, and all praised the beauty of the new store, and gave their wishes for its success. Ten huge floral bouquets were received from Toronto and Montreal manufacturing concerns, and these flowers, artistically spread about the new store, gave it the appearance of a flower garden.

Baskets of Flowers.

Baskets of flowers were received from the Acme Cloak Company, Toronto; Guelph Paper Box Company, Guelph; Dominion Dress Company, Toronto; M. Levitt & Company, Toronto; Villeneuve Dress Company, Toronto; Deutz & Ortenburg, Limited, Montreal; A. Dobrosky, Toronto; Empire Garment Company, Montreal; Hamer Brodwin, Montreal.

During the afternoon the Cortese orchestra played numerous selections, and many of the shoppers, after they had made their purchases, remained in the garden of beautiful gowns and decorations to listen to the numerous selections.

The new store presents probably the prettiest window front of any store in the city and Western Ontario. The whole building is a credit to those who designed it and who carried out the work of construction.

Constructed Window.

The building of the window was done by the Mooney Construction Company, and is a credit to this concern. A wide entrance with show windows on either side give a passerby the impression of beauty and magnificence. The windows encase a display of the most modern dresses, suits and garments, which are draped on forms. Upon entering the store one is struck with the cleanliness and neatness that everywhere prevails. The floors are of highly polished hardwood, and the array of wearing apparel is neatly inclosed in cases against the wall on either side of the long aisle which stretches from Dundas to Carling street. Upstairs is an alteration department to which all garments are brought to be inspected and made to suit requirements before they are sold. The store has two entrances, on Carling street and on Dundas, both of which afford an effect of striking beauty.

Beautiful Interior.

The interior of the store does credit to any artistic building in Ontario, and great credit is due the designers who had charge of the outfitting and decorating for the originality they displayed in the arrangements of the decorations.

The management desired to build a store which would do justice to London. It was their aim to erect a store that would compare with the name it bears. "We are proud of this city, and in building such a place our first desire was to give something to London that would be a credit to the city," said the management to The Advertiser. "When Londoners go to other cities one of the first things they do is to visit places of interest and fine stores. That is what we had in mind when we planned our new store. We hoped it would be worth showing to visitors to the city and something we ourselves would be proud of."

Experienced Staff.

An experienced and willing staff of 14 girls is employed at the new store to attend to the wants of customers, and during the rush hours of yesterday, when hundreds bought all kinds of wearing apparel, everyone was waited upon, and all expressed the opinion that they had received the best of attention.

The large stock which will be handled in the new store includes suits, dresses, gowns, blouses, furs, millinery, hosiery and dress accessories. The new hosiery lines include the exclusive Gotham Goldstripe, Luxite and Winsome hose.

The story of the success of the three proprietors of the attractive new store is one of interest. From the opening of a small furniture store 13 years ago to the opening of the most modern store in London could be the name of a book telling of the reverses and struggle which three citizens of this city had to reach their goal of success.

Proof of Integrity.

The small furniture store of 13 years ago, owned by H. Wolf and his two sons, compared to the ultra modern Artistic Ladies' Wear Company, is proof of the integrity, forcefulness and business ability of these three men. In two years from the time of the original opening of the small furniture store the meagre business had developed. It was their idea to branch out, and at that time ladies ready-to-wear stores were becoming vogue. The day of the dressmaker was vanishing, and with foresight and belief that the future of the new business was great they entered the new field. Stores of this description had been introduced in the United States, and it was then the general practice for Canadian women to cross the border to do their shopping. It was difficult at first to convince Londoners that ready-to-wear dresses and clothing could be bought as cheaply on this side as in the States, but with consistent advertising, and endeavor to cater to London people alone, won for the Wolf trio the business prestige which they now hold. The styles which the new Artistic Ladies' Wear procure are the latest, and follow out those introduced by the fashionable centers, Paris and New York.

Summary of Layout.

For the convenience of visitors and patrons of the store the following summary of the layout of the different departments and their location is given:

Coats and wraps are displayed at the front of the store on the east side. Hosiery, blouses, scarfs and knitted goods are at the front of the store on the west side.

In the centre are shown fur coats on the east side, and coats and sweaters on the west side. Afternoon dresses, caxon crepe, and silk materials are shown, and at the extreme rear of the store is the millinery department. Upstairs is the alteration department and store rooms.

In the new home of the Artistic Ladies' Wear, the plumbing work was done by R. A. Milne, the painting and decorating by J. C. Green, and the store front was put in by the Mooney Construction Co. The tile work was done by the Italian Mosaic and Marble Co., Ltd., and the floors were finished by J. C. Steen. J. P. Winegarden installed the electrical work, while the Scott Paint and Varnish Co. supplied the paints for interior and exterior work. The shoes loaned by Asphlants.

MANY HEIRS CLAIM SHARE IN HUGE SUM

Second Meeting of Springer Heirs of London Shows Much Progress.

Special to The Advertiser.

Delaware, Aug. 16.—After months of effort on the part of Warren Lockwood of St. Thomas and Hugh J. Scott of Delaware, a complete lineal record for the Lockwood and Summer branches of the Springer heirs has been compiled. A meeting was held at the home of Mr. Scott August 14, when about fifteen direct heirs had their lineage sworn to by John Monteith, J. P., and witnessed by Mrs. Margaret Davis of Detroit, Mrs. Angelina Dale of Lambeth, and Simon Peacock of Delaware. Some of the heirs who had hitherto looked on all Springer movements as suspicious, on hearing what had been accomplished by Mrs. Springer-Mahon and others, showed that over a hundred thousand dollars awaited each heir, that it looked encouraging, and lost no time in lining up with the other heirs.

Mrs. Margaret Davis, a direct heir, of dance and patten, to which is added some tumbling. Taking it all round the vaudeville is up to the average, but the picture is the real feature.

"Don Quickshot of the Rio Grande."

Romance and comedy go hand in hand with thrills in "Don Quickshot of the Rio Grande," the feature offering at the Patricia Theatre for the last three days of the week.

Imbued with a spirit of romance, Jack Hoxie, playing the leading part, becomes a knight gallant following his reading of "Don Quixote." The story is laid in the western cattle land, and Hoxie plays the part of "Pep Pepper," a cowboy. His desire for romance does not meet with the approval of his bride, who is first, but nothing daunted he sets out to rescue some fair damsel, as yet unknown. He finds her, and then another one, but the third one is the charm, and Tulip, the last girl, is the one he determines shall be the only field for his chivalry. A train robbery and a jailbreak furnish excitement. A strong cast supports Hoxie in this picture.

A two-reel Western, starring Roy Stewart, "Hank the Dog" and a Mutt and Jeff comedy complete the bill.

At the Movies Last Night

"Rustle of Silk."

Betty Compson and Conway Tearle share the honors at the Allen Theatre for the last three days of the week. The picture deals with the threat of a publisher to disclose love letters of a colonial secretary in the British cabinet. Fallaway decides to give up politics following this threat. He also decided to grant his fickle wife a divorce he has long sought, and seeks to marry Lola de Breze (Betty Compson). With Lola backing him up he sticks to the political game, and in the end becomes prime minister. As a picture it is quite out of the ordinary run and should prove a well-reasoned attraction to the fans of the best acting of her career, and Conway Tearle also is excellent in his portrayals. In addition to these two stars the supporting cast includes Anna Q. Nilsson, Cyril Chadwick, Leo White and others.

A really funny comedy, "Apple-sauce," is also shown as well as "Fun From the Press."

Campbell Neun again delights the audience with his renderings of songs, both popular and classical.

"The Kingdom Within."

The outstanding feature of the program at Low Theatre for the last half of this week, and which was shown yesterday, is the picture, "The Kingdom Within," in which Gaston Glass is starred.

Reminiscent in some ways of the "Miracle Man," the picture bids fair to rival it for reputation. Dealing with the disappointment of a father, a country blacksmith, when he sees his son for whom he had hoped so much, born a hopeless cripple, on through the struggle of life, when he takes up the cudgel on behalf of all those who are helpless, until when he sees the girl of his heart, being maltreated, some power gives him his strength and he stands before his father in all the glory of young manhood. The deformity gone. One of the most touching parts of the picture is that where the old father begs forgiveness of the son for his treatment of him.

The vaudeville is not as good as much that has been seen here, the best offering being that of Eko and Kyo Japs, who do some clever barrel juggling. Jim and Betty Page present line of patter, intermingled with song. The girl has a good voice, strong and vibrant, and her articulation is good. Elizabeth Nelson and the two Barry boys offer a melange

PRETTY GOLF COSTUME.

Of all the summer clothes that fill one's summer wardrobe none are more important or useful than sports suits. This model is smart in appearance and its practicality may be seen at a glance. The fiber silk sweater coat has a deep conventional design on the sleeves and the bottom of the coat. It also boasts the wide sleeves, which are being used on all the newer sweaters. The skirt, which is made of a dainty printed material, is perfectly plain with just a slight fullness at the waist. A dainty hand-made blouse, smart two-tone slippers and a jaunty felt hat are in harmony with the rest of the costume.

58 years old, journeyed alone from Detroit in order to be present at the meeting. In presenting her lineage it was found that her mother's father, Lieut.-Col. Daniel Springer, was the great-grandson of Chas. Christopher Springer.

Mr. Scott, who had been requested to cancel the London meeting of August 13 in favor of a second meeting in Hamilton, feels this to be an injustice to the London district heirs who have as yet not heard Mrs. Springer-Mahon or James A. Meyers set forth the developments of the Springer case, and has sent them a second invitation to attend the London meeting, a notice of which will appear later.

Inspired Dishwasher.

Dear Miss Grey.—Through the deepening hush of a midsummer's day, with all the insect voice and movement, the flutter of many-hued butterfly wings, the busy coming and going of bees, the soft, warm wind in the maples, tend to remind us that August has opened wide her doors, showing us a magnificent wreath of harvest and bloom.

Our gardens are royally clad with the deep reds of Sunny Jim's favorite "Sweet William," while we see Marcu Wind among a setting of burnished marigolds, flaming nasturtiums and larkspur in all its glorious shades of blue.

But, who is it gathering rosemary and lavender before the dew is off its leaves? Miss Grey, to be sure, plucking the little bunches to be hung from the rafters, that later, they might sweeten and perfume some new linen for the "Healthier Children" in the S. C. H.

Some one is coming near us whistling, at first very faintly, but steadily increasing in volume until we recognize the sweetest of sweet songs, "Home Sweet Home." At once we recognize "Collier" with his large, deep brown eyes, telling us with his wagging tail that his master and pal, "Rod-Buster," is the very best friend and companion imaginable.

A hawk is circling high over the barley field, keeping a wary eye open for the fattest little Rhode Island Red chick that has chanced to slip away unnoticed from "7x8."

The air is aromatic with the sweet smell of the new-cut grain, but to the west a low cloudbank urges us on to fill our barns while the weather is fine.

INSPIRED DISHWASHER.

P.S.—You should just have a peek at my flower garden, Miss Grey. Everyone seems to admire it. When the roses were out the lawn was a picture, for there seemed to be thousands of them. Now the later flowers are opening.

How I envy you your powers of description, dear friend of the Mail-Box! That must be a wonderful garden to make you want to talk about it the way you do. Please come and talk again.

A Lonesome Country Lass.

Dear Cynthia, and all the Boxites—What a lovely rain we had a few days ago. And it certainly was well needed. Could you or any of the Boxites spare me any of these pieces of music or songs, as follows: "The Girl I Left Behind Me," "Where the River Shannon Flows," "Red Wing," "My Old Irish Rose," "Paddy O'Neil," "Mary Pet Waltz," or any old pieces of music for piano, as there is no music teacher closer than thirteen miles, and I would have to take the train? I would like to have them before the first of September, if possible, as I am going home on the first, and we don't take The Advertiser. Will leave name, address and postage with Miss Grey, and balance can go to the S. C. H., please. Do you think salt or baking soda is good for washing the teeth? What do you think of my writing? A LONESOME COUNTRY LASS. It's too bad you don't take The Advertiser at home, because we'd like you to read us. Do write to us, anyway, even after you get home. Who can help with the songs? I believe salt is good for the teeth, but I really don't know about the baking soda. Can anyone tell us?

OIL SHARES RECOVER AND REGAIN LOSSES

Gains of Two to Four Points Staged and the General Outlook Improved.

By STUART P. WEST,
Specialist to the Advertiser.

New York, Wall Street, Aug. 17.—Oil shares were the main point of interest in the market today. After the action of the South Dakota authorities in putting back gasoline prices from 16 to 20 cents and the Standard Oil statement, which characterized the disturbance due to only temporary causes, the feeling regarding the oil outlook was better than it has been in a long time.

When the heavy outstanding short interest in the stocks sensed this change in sentiment, it began a hasty retreat. In stocks like California Petroleum, Marland, Producers and Refiners, Skelly and Phillips Petroleum, an advance ran from one to two and a half points, as compared with Thursday's close, and all the way from two to four points from the recent lows.

The market in its more cheerful mood was quick to respond to this jump in the oil. Short sellers desisted of these favorite weak spots and confidence in their position in other directions. United States Rubber, which less than a week ago was hammered down to 25¢ on a spot taken notion of what the semi-annual report would show, was selling some six points higher today. Allied Chemical and Dye, which has also been a conspicuous bear target, was up a similar amount within the same space of time. These were instances which illustrated the general recovery in the market.

Another stock in which the short interest was having difficulty covering was United States Steel. There was very little real selling of these shares in the later stages of the general market decline, and it has long been suspected that the short interest had grown out of all proportions to the supply available for covering purposes.

The ordinary speculative leaders, like United States Steel, common, Baldwin Locomotive, Studebaker and American Can, were at a new high for the present recovery.

FAIRFUL'S

Points Out Numerous Use of Honey As Everyday Food

By L. MADELINE MILLIGAN, B.S.
If there are any individuals who think that they cannot eat this sweet, we would suggest a light-colored honey, mild in flavor, and the use of milk with it is recommended. Many times a dislike has been taken to honey because it has been eaten in large quantities at one time. It is a valuable sweet, and our systems demand food of this kind to such an extent that we would be greatly benefited if it were substituted for sugar and cheap molasses in much of our everyday cooking. Children especially long for candy and sweet things. This is a natural longing, and should not be unduly suppressed; rather, it should be satisfied with the best sweets at our command, and it is equally important that it be satisfied at the proper time, not when there is food in it, so that there will be no danger of overeating. A few persons have certain idiosyncrasies with regard to food, and it sometimes happens that honey from any source, or even thick sugar syrups or preserves, cause violent stomach pains. These perhaps may be obliged to refrain from eating honey.

Long Relished.
Fruits preserved in honey have long been relished for their superior flavor. The famous Bar le Duc preserves are made with honey. In the early days, and to some extent at this time, in certain parts of Europe, honey is used in making fermented drinks, which are reported to be as powerful as they are popular. It may not be generally known, but our large biscuit companies and commercial bakeries use honey extensively in the manufacture of cakes and cookies which will probably be kept for some time before they are eaten.
Some of the largest biscuit companies purchase at one time from 50 to 70 carloads of the very finest honeys for their baking.

It was formerly believed that cakes baked with honey absorbed moisture from the air, but workers in the nutrition laboratory of the department of agriculture have conducted experiments which show that the absorption of moisture from the air is due to other causes not yet determined.
The fact that such cakes never become soggy, even though they be exposed to moisture for a long time, seems to bear out these conclusions. Our foreign neighbors have used this secret for years in making their delicious Christmas cakes, of which they will tell you "the longer you keep the better they are."

In Baking.
Honey is excellent for use in baking—apples, gingerbread, cakes, cookies, fancy breads, and for use as a spread on bread, gems, biscuits, waffles, pancakes, gems popovers, and toast; in making preserves and canning fruit it is practically unex-ceeded as a sweetener. There is, in fact, hardly any place in baking, in putting up fruits and preserves, where the flavor and quality are not improved by the use of honey. A very good dressing for salads may be made by substituting honey for Macaroni In the Child Dietary

Macaroni and kindred products made from durum wheat such as spaghetti or noodles, are recognized by food authorities as being most valuable foods in that their gluten content is higher, starch content considerably lower and mineral content about twice that of flour made from the ordinary spring and winter wheats used in making breadstuffs.
Arnold Lovand of Carlisle, perhaps the greatest European dietetic authority, says:

"It is well tolerated and quickly taken up into the system. Nor does macaroni contain any of the injurious substances so common in other protein foods, substances which make difficult work for the liver and blood-vessels." He closes his reference to macaroni with the following sweeping statement:

"We have every reason, therefore, to give first place to macaroni as a nourishing food, remembering that it contains per kilo a total of 3,360 to 3,500 calories."

Macaroni Soup.
½ lb. macaroni Bones from roast
1 carrot chicken, turkey
1 onion or small veal
2 pieces parsley soup bone
Seasonings 1 cup milk

Put bones and vegetables in saucepan and cover with two quarts water.
Cook slowly for one hour. Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Strain broth from bones, add to it macaroni and milk. Heat to boiling point and boil five minutes.

Creamed Noodles.
2 cups of cooked noodles.
2 tablespoons chopped parsley.
1-4 teaspoon salt.
1 cup buttered bread crumbs.
2 cups white sauce.

To cooked noodles add white sauce, chopped parsley and salt. Put into buttered baking dish, cover with buttered crumbs and bake thirty minutes in moderate oven, (325 degrees.)

Noodles as a Cereal.
1-4 lb. noodles.
1 pint milk.

Put noodles on to cook in milk and boil until tender. When serving, dust with cinnamon and sugar and serve with butter or thin cream.

The children will enjoy this dish for breakfast or for a supper pudding.

Macaroni and Cheese.
1 can macaroni.
2 cups milk.
1-2 teaspoon salt.
1-2 cup grated cheese.
2 teaspoons flour.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender. Mix flour and salt thoroughly with grated cheese. Put a layer of macaroni into a buttered baking dish. Cover with cheese mixture; repeat layers, having cheese on top.
Pour over just enough milk to cover top layer. Bake in moderate oven 45 minutes.

sugar. This makes a sweetish dressing which is especially delicious for use with fruit salads, as the tang of the honey is a pleasant innovation.
It may be used very effectively in sandwiches, either alone, or with sliced bananas or other fruit. Pudding sauce made with honey and other ingredients is particularly delectable. It is untrustworthy to find in many households honey is almost an unknown quantity, and seldom used in conjunction with other ingredients in the preparation of food.

It must be remembered, in using honey, that its acidity is about one-half that of molasses, and therefore only one-quarter of a teaspoonful of soda is required to one cup of honey to neutralize the acid. Aside from its use as a food, or an adjunct to food, honey is recommended in certain old cook books as being effectious for almost every human ailment imaginable, ranging from boils and freckles to diphtheria and tapeworms. Its merits in this capacity are open to investigation, although no one can dispute its soothing properties when mixed with lemon juice for use as a cough syrup.

GUNMEN SHOOT AT CITY MOTORIST ON LONELY ROAD

George Grant Has Narrow Escape When Bullet Crashes Through Window.

ROBBERY MOTIVE

Two gunmen fired on George Grant, 46 Gammage avenue, while he was driving along in a large touring car on a side road one mile east of Crumlin, at 9:30 o'clock last evening. One bullet broke a side window in the top of the car. The driver found the lead slug flattened against an iron portion of the frame. Luckily, Grant and two friends who were with him, were sitting in the front seat, for had anyone been on the rear seat they would have been in the bullet's path.

"I was going slowly along the road, when I heard some noises in the bushes at the side of the road," Grant told The Advertiser. "At first I thought it was a cow, but soon I saw the forms of two men. As they moved toward the car, I started away fast. They fired shots. Here is one," he said, displaying a large lead slug, probably .32 calibre one.

Robbery Motive. Robbery was thought to have been the motive, and Grant at once reported the matter to city police. They referred him to Provincial Officer T. Y. Stratton. A telephone call resulted in the information that this officer was out of town.

That Grant drove to the home of Sheriff Donald A. Graham, who is acting high constable for Middlesex County, and who is in charge of the county police. The sheriff was not at home. As Middlesex County is only policed in spots by the make-shift force recommended at the last county council meeting, and as few people have the slightest idea where a county policeman can be located at night (or by day for that matter), the motorist was forced to let the matter drop.

Believed Criminals. A shooting affair had taken place within three miles of the city limits, and not even an investigation of the case was made.

Grant is inclined to believe the strangers hoped to gain possession of his car. He thought they were probably criminals, wanted in some other part of the province, who were seeking to steal an auto.

Wednesday night two gunmen held up Albert Smiles, 38 Wyatt street, and relieved him of 15 cents, later returning it to him, and explaining that he had made a mistake, that he was not the party they expected.

Whether the same gunmen are operating in Middlesex County or whether the pair who shot at Grant are different men is not known.

INCOME TAX REFUNDS NOW BEING SENT OUT

Change in Exemption For Children Means Larger Returns to Taxpayers.

The number of refunds on income tax amounts being made by the London federal income tax office is far greater this year than in 1922. Commissioner George Tambling stated this morning. The commissioner attributes the increase to the fact that a large percentage of the tax-paying public are still unaware of a recent change in the act, boosting the tax exemption for children. The refund average between $2 and $4, he added.

"Some of the taxpayers are peculiar in this regard," Mr. Tambling said. "If they do not send enough money to cover their tax, they want it explained, and if a refund is made they seem just as anxious to find out why they should get some money back. But if it will add them in making out future returns, then we gladly send them the information. At present we are kept fairly busy acknowledging the refunds already made."

Mr. Tambling pointed out that the new ruling, coming into effect on October 1, whereby revenue stamps must be affixed to checks instead of postage stamps, will probably be the cause of a lot of extra work for the income tax office, as the average taxpayer has always been accustomed to using the ordinary postage stamp.

Most of the business houses have been using revenue stamps for some time past, he asserted.

ENGLISH OUTING PROMISES TO BE GREAT SUCCESS

Splendid Program of Sport and Features Arranged For Saturday.

SPECIAL CONCERTS

Tomorrow the united English picnic of Western Ontario will hold the boards, and one of the largest crowds of the season is looked for at the lakeside. The committee in charge asks that all Englishmen who find it convenient to do so shall assemble at the corner of Dundas and Clarence streets at 12:45 Saturday noon, and march behind the G. W. V. A. band to the L. & P. S. depot on Richmond street.

Concerts will be played on Invererie Heights and the L. & P. S. beach by the band, and there will also be special music in the cafeteria and the L. & P. S. free movies by the splendid orchestra of Prof. Angelo Russo.

The program of sports is one of great quality, and there are valuable prizes to be contested for. Some of the novelty events will be well worth seeing.

The committee have arranged to present special prizes to the oldest member of the Sons of England and the oldest member of St. George's Society who is on the grounds.

Largest Family. The Englishman with the largest family present will also receive a valuable prize.

There will be a football game between two teams selected from the Western Ontario Football Association, and also a softball match between a girls' team from Stratford and the champion Brownies of London.

The baby show at the united English picnic of Western Ontario is going to be a hummer. Every child that wins a first prize will be eligible for the $500 prize offered by the Northern Life Assurance Company, and which will be awarded by popular applause on Labor Day. See that your baby is registered. Certificate can be obtained free at any ticket office of the L. & P. S. R. Fill in the baby's name and age and the names of the parents. Then present the certificate when you enter the baby at the show on Saturday.

NO WORD OF CHANGES TO MURRELL'S CELL

Prisoner, Seemingly Indifferent to Fate, Has Not Yet Seen Mother.

No definite information regarding the alterations to the cell where Sidney Murrell is confined has yet been received by Sheriff Graham, who told The Advertiser that orders for strengthening the cell or improving it in any way must come from the provincial secretary's department, under which the jails and institutions of the province come.

Sheriff Graham stated he did not think any change would be made in the window bars of the cells or corridors, but considered it likely that some form of a partition would be erected of such nature as to make Murrell's cell as nearly escape-proof as possible.

Murrell himself is still apparently unconcerned as to his probable fate when he appears for trial in October. The sheriff informed The Advertiser that he was the same every day and gave no one any trouble.

No word has yet been received as to the prisoner being allowed to see his mother, who has not seen her son since he was brought back from California.

MYSTERY STILL SHROUDS SOUTH LONDON DYNAMITE

No claimant has yet come forward for the dynamite found by some boys at the south end of the traction bridge on Wednesday. Nor has any trace of a possible owner been discovered by the police.

Chief Birrell stated this morning that he did not think anyone would be found going to acknowledge ownership of the explosive, and that it would remain in the hands of the police.

A SIGN OF FAIR TIME. The tin-type photographer has once more made his appearance in the city, one of his ilk having been seen on the market square this morning prevailing upon the holders of the various stalls to have their picture "made in a minute." Business seemed to be fairly brisk for a while, but then the novelty wore off.
