THE USE OF THE CLOSURE
From Ottawa there comes the statement that the closure may be more than once applied this session if the necessity should arise. No reasonable man will object to such a course should occasion warrant the same.

A PROMISING OUTLOOK

The closing words of Premier Borden's first speech in the Dominion House this session, as reported in Hansard, are worthy of repetition: "When my right hon. friend (Sir Wilfrid Laurier) states there was not any non-employment in Canada from 1897 to the present year he is absolutely forgetful of the conditions which prevailed during the latter part of 1907 and the early part of 1908. It is a mistake to compare the conditions as to non-employment which prevailed during that period were quite as severe as those which prevail in Canada at present. I hope the manufacturing and commercial firms in Canada, and other large employers of labor, will bear in mind that during a period of great prosperity things have been going well for them and well for the country as a whole. It is certain that financial stringency which prevails throughout the world, business may be checked a little now, it is not desirable that they should be too ready to throw men out of employment. They ought rather to have a little patience and to use a certain foresight and to look forward to that recovery of business which we have every reason to believe will begin when spring opens. I have transgressed upon the time of the House much longer than I intended. Let me now close simply this: The Government have tried and will continue to try, with all their power and will, to have in mind the prevailing conditions, whether in Canada or of world-wide scope, and the Government will endeavor to discharge their duty to the people of Canada and by this country. The Government are firmly impressed with the belief that any little check at the present time is purely temporary, and that the people of this country have every right to be optimistic and to look forward to the future with confidence hope that the development and progress in the years to come will be infinitely greater than any which have characterized past years."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Mr. Michael Clark—Clark of Red Deer—during a speech in the House, made the statement: "There is a great deal of purposeless talk, I think, in all Parliaments." The best thing he can do is to take that remark to himself, for he is one of the biggest gabblers that ever came down the pike. The present standing of the parties in the House of Commons is as follows: Ontario 72, Quebec 6, Nova Scotia 9, New Brunswick 5, P. E. Island 2, Manitoba 8, Saskatchewan 1, Alberta 7, British Columbia 1, Yukon 1, Total 112. Con. Nat. Lib. 22 37 9 2 2 2 9 6 0 0 112 22 87. An esteemed Conservative contemporary informs us that the Government will stand firmly by its naval policy. For an entire day representatives of both sides advanced differing contentions at a meeting of Ontario cabinet members and the variance of views expressed was, for the most part, most wide. A lengthy memorandum was presented from the Manufacturers Association in which the scale of re-employment—55 per cent—was characterized as "preposterous." On the other hand the labor representatives contended that the 55 per cent suggested was low enough, and stated in Germany the figure stands at 66.2-3 per cent of the wages earned at the time of mishap. Mr. Thomas Findlay, Vice-President of the Massey-Harris Company, apparently from the employers standpoint approached the question with quite a free mind. "We are not afraid of workmen's compensation" he exclaimed and added that his firm had always maintained a humane attitude towards its workmen, and never had any litigation over accident damages. The company had seen to it that practically all the money paid to injured workmen went for the benefit of their families. He thought the bill should exclude the clerical and sales staffs of an organization. "There would be practically no difficulty in excluding them," said Mr. Lucas. Continuing, Mr. Findlay said he had no objection to the principle of the act, and it was all right to group the industries. The Massey-Harris allied industries preferred to be placed in a group by themselves. The concern employed between 5,000 and 6,000 men and every care was taken against accidents in the works. He also thought it should not be left for the board to decide what was an industrial disease. It could be urged against an employer at any time that one of his workmen had contracted an industrial disease. There should be some provision against accidents beyond the control of the manufacturer himself. A storm like the Regina cyclone might sweep over an industry, and besides injuring many workmen, demolish the plant, and if compensation had to be provided in such cases where the employer was not at fault it would drive him out of business. That better legislation is desirable will be generally agreed, and without doubt something of practical value will result from Sir Williams' exhaustive enquiry into the subject.

WITHIN THE LAW

By MARVIN DANA FROM THE PLAY OF BAYARD VELLER
Copyright, 1914, by the H. K. Fry Company. There was for example Aggie Lynch, a fellow convict, with whom she had a slight degree of acquaintance, nothing more. This young woman, a criminal by training, offered allurements of illegitimate employment in the outer world when they should be free. Mary endured the complicity of her life as a prisoner because a sixth sense proclaimed the fact that here was one unnormal rather than immoral, and the difference is mighty. For that reason Aggie Lynch was not actively offensive, as were most of the others. She was a dainty little blond, with a baby face, in which were set two light blue eyes of a sort to which often in demons wonder over most things in a surprising and manly way. She had been convicted of blackmail, and she made no pretense even of innocence. Instead, she was inclined to boast over her ability to bamboozle men at her will. She was and in Canada by all classes of the community, rich and poor, high and low, of every creed and race. She had been reared in a criminal family, which must excuse much. Long ago she had lost track of her father. Her mother she had never known. Her one relation was a brother of high standing as a pickpocket. One principal reason for her success in leading men to make fools of themselves over her, to their everlasting regret afterward, lay in the fact that in spite of all the gross irregularities of her life she remained chaste. The girl saw in Mary Turner the possibilities of a ladylike personality that might mean much financial profit in the devious ways of which she was a mistress. With the frankness characteristic of her, she proceeded to paint glowing pictures of a future shared to the undoing of ardent and fatuous swains. Mary Turner listened with curiosity, but she was in no wise moved to follow such a life, even though it did not necessitate anything worse than a fraudulent playing at love. So, she steadfastly continued her refusals. She would live straight. "You will find that you are up against an awful frost," Aggie would declare brutally. Mary found the prophecy true. Back in New York she experienced a poverty more ravaging than any she had known in those five lean years of her working in the store. She had been absolutely penniless for two days, and without food through the gnawing hours, when she found employment in a milliner's shop. Followed a blessed interval in which she worked contentedly, happy over the meager stipend, since it served to give her shelter and food honestly earned. The police informed Mary's employer concerning her record as a convict, and she was at once discharged. The unfortunate victim of the law came perishing close to despair then. Yet, her spirit triumphed, and again she persevered in that resolve to live straight. She found a cheap position in a cheap shop, only to be again persecuted by the police, so that she speedily lost the place. A third time she obtained work and there, after a little, she told her employer, a candy manufacturer, in a small way, the truth as to her having been in prison. The man had a kindly heart and he ran little risk, so he allowed her to remain. When the police called his attention to the girl's criminal record he paid no heed to their advice against retaining her services. The police brought pressure to bear on the man. They even called in the assistance of Edward Gilder himself, who obligingly wrote a very severe letter to the girl's employer. In the end, though unwillingly enough, he dismissed Mary from his service. It was then that despair did come upon the girl. She had tried with all the strength of her to live straight. Yet, despite her innocence, the world would not let her live according to her own conscience. It demanded that she be the criminal it had branded her—if she were to live at all. She still walked the streets falteringly, seeking some place, but her heart was gone from the quest. Came an hour when she thought of the river and was glad. So she went through the long stretch of ill lighted streets, crossed some railroad tracks to a pier, over which she hurried to the far end, where it projected out to the fierce currents of the Hudson. There, without giving herself a moment's pause for reflection or hesitation, she leaped out as far as her strength permitted into the coil of waters. But in that final second overcame the lethargy of despair—a shriek burst from her lips. On the side of the pier a man had just tied up a motorboat. He stood up in alarm at the cry and was just in time to gain a glimpse of a white face under the dim moonlight as it swept down with the tide, two rods beyond him. He threw off his coat and sprang far out into the drifting body. He came to it in a few furious strokes and caught it. Then began the savage struggle to save her and himself. The currents tore at him wrathfully, but he fought against them with all the fierceness of

CANADIAN BIRTHDAYS

THURSDAY, JANUARY TWENTY, SECOND
Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of the Toronto Globe, who reaches his fifty-second birthday to-day, has the reputation of being the best known Canadian among the people of the United States. This is on account of his frequent appearance on the public platform in the leading American cities as an apostle of the Gospel of Peace. Originally a preacher, he is undeniably one of the foremost orators of the day, though it is said he breaks all the canons of good oratory every time he rises to speak. He goes through an astonishing number of contentions. Sometimes he paces to and fro like a caged lion. Again he doubles up like a jack-knife or crouches like a leopard. Then he thrusts both hands in his pockets and throws back his head. In a moment he has his hands clasped behind his back. Now he is viciously stabbing the air or waving his arms like a windmill. Again he frenziedly rumples his hair or clutches it by handfuls. But in spite of his amazing gesticulations, he holds his audience with the force of his utterances. Edwin Ginn, the noted American promoter of peace, died in Massachusetts.

charge halted before her. Then, abruptly, the round, baby-like face of the woman puckered in amazement. Her voice rose shrill. "Well, if it ain't Mary Turner!" "Aggie" was the reply. In the time that followed Mary lived in the flat which Aggie Lynch occupied with her brother, Jim, a pickpocket much esteemed among his fellow craftsmen. The period wrought transformations of a radical and bewildering sort in both the appearance and the character of the girl. Joe Garson, the forger, had long been acquainted with Aggie and her brother, though he considered them far beneath him in the social scale, since their original work was not of that high kind on which he prided himself. But as he cast about for some woman to whom he might take the hapless girl he had rescued his thoughts fell on Aggie. He was relieved rather than otherwise to learn that there was already an acquaintance between the two women, and the fact that his charge had served time in prison did not influence him one jot against her.

WINTER NIGHT.
Hail, Winter and wild weather, when we are all together, about the glowing fire! Let frost be e'er so stinging, it can't disturb our singing, nor can the Storm King's ire. The winds may madly moove, they only make more cozy the home where we abide; the snow may drift in billows, but we have downy pillows, and good warm beds inside. The night indeed has terrors for lonely, lost wayfarers who for assistance call; who pray for lights to guide them—the lights that are denied them may God protect them all! And to the poor who grovel in wretched hut and hovel, and feel its icy breath, who mark the long hooves dragging their footsteps slow and lagging, the night seems kin to Death. For cheery homes be grateful, when Winter, fierce and fearful, comes shrieking in the night; for books and easy rockers, for larders filled and lockers, for all the warmth and light.

Adjourned The Inquest

Although Coroner Dr. Ashton Did Not Like the Procedure.

Although Dr. E. C. Ashton did not think it right that the municipality should have to pay for another sitting of the inquest, held to inquire into the death of Ivan Nepomcnak, the Ruthenian, killed on the G. T. R. tracks, he decided that another sitting must be held in order that the man who was said to have seen the accident might be present.

It turns out that the man who said he saw the accident is one of a train gang and lives on the railway. That he was a very difficult man to get hold of, especially as his name was not known. He was, however, found and subpoenaed, but owing to the fact that the order was only delivered half an hour previous, it had not become enforceable, and the man could not be brought forcibly.

The first witness was a sectionman on the G. T. R. He had seen the body and ran away, subsequently informed the police.

Bodies of Aged Couple Found in Room at a Manning Ave. Lodging House

TORONTO, Jan. 22.—Overcome by gas while taking an afternoon rest in their room at 10 Manning Avenue the bodies of John Richards, 70 years old, and his wife Ann, 60 years old, were found last night. The discovery was made by P. C. Jones, of No. 3 division. He had been summoned by the owner of the house, John Stephen, who detected an odor of gas coming from the old couple's room.

When the policeman broke down the door he found the room full of gas, which was escaping through a leaky tube attached to a small stove. The gas had been turned off at the stove, but had been left open at the bracket in the wall, with the result that the gas made its escape through the leaks in the rubber tubing.

Papers found in the room indicated that the man was a retired farmer. They had lived in the house for a few months, occupying the one room in which they cooked their meals and slept. The other people in the house saw very little of them, as most of their time was passed in the room.

Clergymen Have Said Some Very Humorous Things

"Holy men have considered humor to have a high place in the ethics of life," says the "Ecclesiastical Review," which is only another way of stating the well-known fact, that most clergymen, of whatever faith, like a joke as well as we do.

There was Nicholas Burke, for instance better known as Father Thomas Burke the popular Irish preacher. Father Tom had a great fondness for riding on the top of an omnibus.

Without looking up, Father Burke replied aloud, "Yes, and then you get on the top of an omnibus and tell everyone all about it."

OIL ON SURFACE FURNISHED CLUE

Sunken British Submarine Has Finally Been Located.

PLYMOUTH, Jan. 22.—Oil on the surface of the sea off this port yesterday morning gave a clue which resulted in the finding of the submarine A. 7, which was lost during the manoeuvres on Friday last with two officers and nine men.

A diver descended at the place where the oil was floating and found the wrecked submarine at a depth of 23 fathoms, or about 136 feet. She is lying a mile and a half nearer the shore than the point on the surface where she was last seen just before she disappeared.

A torpedo boat stood by the Pigmy last night, and a lifting lighter left here at dawn to try and bring the stricken vessel to the surface.

A hydro-aeroplane made a fine flight yesterday from Sheerness to Plymouth, in an effort to locate the A. 7. It made nearly sixty miles an hour. Before the hydro-aeroplane arrived here the wreck had been found. It is said that hydro-aeroplanes were the best means for distinguishing submerged submarines in the recent manoeuvres.

The Admiralty denies a report that it is intended to relegate all the Class A submarines to the scrap heap.

A woman was a defendant in one, while Joseph Kennedy, Felix Doyle and Joe Bennett were the others. Bennett was hanged by Radcliffe, while Kennedy cheated justice, and Felix Doyle, serving a life sentence in the Kingston penitentiary asylum.

The following official schedule of cases for which persons have been charged with murder or manslaughter heard, tried and determined at the several courts of assize and nisi prius and over and terminer and general goal delivery in and for the county of Brant during the period commencing in the year 1874 and ending at the last sittings of such courts in the year 1895, together with the names of the respective judges and the jurors who adjudicated upon the cases of murder.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, biliousness, indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out to-night and keep them out with Cascarets.
Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lax liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.
Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse your stomach; remove the sour, fermenting food; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels. Then you will feel great.
A Cascaret to-night straightens you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach, and clean healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love Cascarets because they never gripe or sicken.

Ex-Huntsman Drowned.

The East Sussex corner held an inquest at Hurstpierpoint, Sussex, on Frederick Firr, who was found dead in a ditch near his lodgings.
It was stated that Firr was a former huntsman of the Quorn Hounds. He had an abrasion on his face, a crushed finger, and a flattened nose, but the injuries were attributed to a fall, and a verdict of "accidental death by drowning" was returned. The jury asked the coroner to call the attention of the Cuckfield Rural District Council to the dangerous state of the corner where Firr was found.

Lord Strathcona's funeral has been arranged to take place at Highgate next Monday.

CAINSVILLE

(From our own correspondent.)
Rev. Mr. Cook preached a splendid sermon in the morning, his text being Heb. 9:28. Mrs. Cook sang a solo, "Nothing But the Blood of Jesus" in very sweet tone. Rev. On Monday evening the members of the Epworth Glee had a very pleasant outing. Two sleigh loads comprising about fifty young people drove to Wesley church where they were royally entertained by the Glee members of that church. Rev. Mr. Cook occupied the chair, and the following programme was given by the Cainsville League: Ladies' quartette, "Just for To-day," by Mrs. Wilson and Misses Smith, Woltz and Norrie; solo, "A Vision of Eden," Mr. Lew Smith; reading, "A Song in Camp," by Miss Mary Edmondson; mixed quartette, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," Mrs. Wilson, Miss Smith, and Messrs. Smith and Brewer; solo, "My Ain Folk," Miss Myrtle Norrie; Reading, "The Burial of Moses" Rev. Mr. Morrow, and a melody by six ladies, which was one of the hits of the evening. At the conclusion of this excellent programme a Flower contest was heartily entered into by both Leagues, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served and a very pleasant evening brought to a close by the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again." As the singing was ideal the ride was much enjoyed.

SCHOOL BOARD CHAIRMAN ELECTED

Inaugural Meeting of the Year Was Held Last Evening.

At the inaugural meeting of the 1914 Public School Board held last night in the Council Chamber at the City Hall, Trustee M. E. B. Cutcliffe was elected chairman of the board for the ensuing year by a pronounced vote of the members of the board. The committees were drafted, and other business transacted.

In the absence of Secretary A. K. Bunnell, Mr. Fred W. Frank acted in that capacity.

The programme. Chairman Cutcliffe mentioned the agreeable time spent by the mem-

50 Broad Street House, London. I bought some of your GIN PILLS at Victoria, B.C. last September. I made inquiries in New York on my arrival there but was unable to obtain any information about them. Your remedy I find at 60 years of age, to give me perfect relief and I regret very much that you have not made arrangements to have GIN PILLS on sale in New York and London, as I urgently recommend GIN PILLS to friends of my age as being the one thing that does me good.

bers of the board in the past and stated that he looked for the same condition this year. In outlining the program for the year the chairman said that the Rawdon Street school, for which tenders were now in, would be in the course of erection; the heating system of the Central school would be improved; and the Manual Training School would be extended. It had been the intention of the board to do the work at the Manual Training school with the money secured from the sale of the Morrell street school, but the money had been required to complete the new Dufferin school. Even with the money derived from the sale of the school the money last year did not have sufficient money to spend at the Dufferin School.

Communications. Acting Secretary Frank read the communications: Librarian Henwood, Secretary of the Public Library Board wrote the secretary advising that the term of Archdeacon Mackenzie as a representative of the Public School board on the Library had expired, and that he was eligible for re-appointment.

Archdeacon Mackenzie wrote the secretary advising that he did not wish to be re-appointed. In resigning the position he expressed thanks to the gentlemen of the board who have for so many years elected him. He had enjoyed the work and fellowship.

Mr. John Buskard, secretary of the Collegiate Board advised that the term of Dr. H. R. Frank as representative of the Public School board on the Collegiate Institute board had expired.

Trustee Ballachey said that Dr. Mackenzie while in conversation with him had expressed a wish that he be not re-appointed as a representative of the board on the Public Library board. Trustee Ballachey spoke of the doctor's long and faithful service.

Committees. A committee composed of Trustees Ballachey, Coulbeck, Clement, Lyle and Gott, was appointed to select committees for the year. They brought in the following report: School Management: Ballachey, Coulbeck, Ashton, Lane and Clement. Finance: Clement, Lyle, Ashton and Armstrong. Buildings and Grounds: Lyle, Armstrong, Gott, Ballachey and Day. Printing and Supplies: Coulbeck, Day, Lane and Gott. Representative on the Collegiate Board, Dr. H. R. Frank. Representative on the Public Library Board, Rev. G. A. Woodside. The chairman of the committees are: School Management: Arthur Coulbeck. Finance: Harvey Clement. Buildings and Grounds: D. Lyle.

RELIEF WORK IS IN EARNEST

Sum of $3000 is Needed Between Now and Spring for the Needy.

The board passed a resolution expressing appreciation of the services of Rev. Dr. Mackenzie. It was moved by Trustee Ballachey and seconded by Trustee Coulbeck.

The board were in receipt of the resignation of Mr. William Park, as principal of King Edward school. Mr. Park wished to be relieved of his duties as early as possible. Owing to business interests Mr. Park has tendered his resignation.

Inspector Kilmer said that he had first learned that Mr. Park would resign through the medium of the papers. When Mr. Park had returned to his duties last September, Mr. Kilmer had thought he would remain for the year. Although there was a man in view who wished to be given the position, Mr. Kilmer thought the time was not very opportune for placing a new principal in the school. The matter was left with the School Management committee.

All the members of the board were present with the exception of Dr. E. C. Ashton. The board is composed this year of: Dr. P. P. Balanchey and M. E. B. Cutcliffe from Ward 1; Arthur Coulbeck and I. S. Armstrong from Ward 2; Dr. E. C. Ashton and F. H. Gott from Ward 3; David Lyle and William H. Lane from Ward 4; and J. Harvey Clement and A. E. Day from Ward 5.

The next meeting will be held on February 5th.

Scouts Had Fine Time At the 'Y' Last Night

Presentation of Trophies and Addresses by Provincial Officers—Congratulations Were Expressed.

The Brantford Y. M. C. A. Baden Powell Scouts are a proud corps and justly so, for they added to their laurels last night, when the trophies they had won against the rest of Ontario were presented to them. They furthermore gave a fine concert and showed that they were not all exhibition, by giving the seniors a demonstration of their prowess in water to the discomfiture of the elders.

Mr. H. G. Hammond, secretary of the Provincial Scout Council, Mr. Knowles Marshall, Vice-President of the Provincial Scout Council, and Mr. J. G. Gibson of Ingersoll, were the guests of honor and had come to present the trophies which consist of the International Trophy for life saving and the Globe Shield for marksmanship.

The Scouts who formed a guard, lined the hall of the building, and had prepared a splendid concert, which was attended by a large number of parents who had come to see their sons in the time of glory.

Scout play and an exhibition of life saving gave an interesting insight into Scout Life.

Mr. Knowles Marshall, chairman for the evening, gave a few words of advice to the boys and he upheld the late Lord Strathcona as an example of what a Scout should be.

RELIEF WORK IS IN EARNEST

Sum of $3000 is Needed Between Now and Spring for the Needy.

While appealing to the citizens generally for cash contributions to enable them to carry on the work of relieving the want and distress in the city at the present time, the members of the general relief committee of the Associated Charities also make an earnest appeal for such articles of new or second-hand clothing as the owners may have no further use for, and to the farmers and gardeners of the county for potatoes and other vegetables or food supplies. A receiving and distributing depot has been opened in the basement of the Y.W.C.A., where such donations will be sorted and distributed to the deserving needy as required.

So great is the want among some classes at the present time that it is estimated that at least $3000 will be required to care for the needy between now and the time that work becomes more plentiful in the spring season, but the committee is confident that this sum will be subscribed. Already a large number of cases have been investigated, but lack of funds prevents their wants being filled at once.

A large number of workers are giving their services to the worthy cause, and the committee's funds will be administered practically without expense, so that every dollar subscribed will be available for the purpose of relieving distress.

An urgent appeal is made to all in a position to do so to assist by their contributions without delay. Subscriptions may be sent to the committee's headquarters, 42 Colborne street, or to Harvey Watt, treasurer, Imperial Bank, and all will be acknowledged in the newspapers.

VITALITY REGAINED KIDNEYS CURED

Health Restored by "Fruit-a-lives"

Hagersville, Ont., Aug. 26th, 1913. "About two years ago, I found my health in a very bad state. My kidneys and liver were not doing their work, and I became all run-down. I felt the need of some good remedy, and having seen "Fruit-a-lives" advertised, I decided to try them.

Their effect, I found more than satisfactory. Their action was mild and the results all that could have been expected. My liver and kidneys resumed their normal action after I had taken upwards of a dozen boxes, and I regained my old time vitality. Today, I am as well as ever, the best health I have ever enjoyed, and I unhesitatingly give you this testimonial for publication if you wish."

Mayor W. J. Barrett of Thessalon was unseated as he owed the town $74.40 for taxes.
