Love in the Abbey

OR,
Lady Ethel's Rival

CHAPTER VII.

"He! he!" laughs my lady. "Doesn't seem to enjoy his dinner much, does he? That man never seems to eat—it's a wonder how he contrives to live. Perhaps Cousin Ethel is making him indifferent to his dinner. Clever girl, your cousin."

"Isn't she!" assents Kitty warmly—so warmly that the old lady is somewhat taken aback. Then she grunts: "Yes, I suppose she is; I don't understand blue stockings myself; Lord Sterne does, and no doubt appreciates her. I'll lay a wager—that is, I would if it was still the fashion to bet—that he doesn't hear a word she says, for all his devout air of attention."

"I dare say," says Kitty calmly. "Lord Sterne is rude enough for anything."

"Who told you that?" demands her ladyship, showing her teeth.

Kitty reddens a little.

"No one; I only judge from appearances, Lady Ellesford."

The old gossip laughs.

"You're right, child, though I can't guess how you found it out in five minutes. The man's a bear underneath his skin. A bear and a wolf combined."

"You said he was a lion just now," says Kitty.

"He's any animal you like that's dangerous," grunts the old lady; "and look at him now—he's dangerous now if my Lady Ethel only knew it; when he looks like that, with that cold furniture polish smile in his eyes, he is bored—Clever Ethel!"

"You seem to know him very well, Lady Ellesford," says Kitty.

"Don't!" grins the old woman.

"Oh, yes, I know him—and he knows that I do. Do you know what we are all here for to-night?" she asks suddenly.

"Indeed I don't," replies Kitty.

"To humor and coax my lord opposite, the wolf-bear, into taking the greatest honor the country can bestow upon a man. That is what we are here for—that is why they all hum round him, and stroke him, and try to tickle his ear."

"I don't want to stroke him!" says Kitty, not understanding the allegory.

"No—and don't!" grins the countess. "He might bite you!"

Tells How to Stop a Bad Cough

Burdock remedy cures this famous old home-made syrup. Easily prepared and costs little.

If you have a severe cough or chest cold accompanied with soreness, throat tickle, hoarseness, or difficult breathing, or if your child wakes up during the night with croup and you want quick help, try this reliable old home-made cough remedy. Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth). Pour this into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. This makes 16 ounces of really remarkable cough remedy. It tastes good, and in spite of its low cost, it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

You can feel this take hold of a cough in a way that means business. It loosens and raises the phlegm, stops throat tickle and soothes and heals the irritated membranes that line the throat and bronchial tubes with such promptness, ease and certainty that it is really astonishing.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is probably the best known means of overcoming severe coughs, throat and chest troubles.

There are many worthless imitations of this mixture. To avoid disappointment, ask for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

She runs back for a moment to snatch up a shawl which she remembers to have seen in the anteroom; not her own shawl, but that doesn't matter, of course, and then runs—catch Kitty walking on a moonlight night, and with such a tempting race course as smooth as stone beneath her feet—along the terrace.

Mrs. Saville is, however, not in her room, but the cats are, nine in number, and Kitty spends a good quarter of an hour pleasantly, barring, perhaps, the two scratches which a maternal tabby inflicts on her white arm, and then remembers with a sigh that she might be missed, and so tears herself away. She doesn't run back along the terrace; she cannot bring herself to enter by the window when she has reached it, but, staring at the moon, is tempted to stroll along the terrace past the windows of the great salon from whence ooze the lights and the noise within; and having passed them she finds that she must go to the end, from whence there is to be obtained a glorious view of river, park, and hills beyond.

"After all," she thinks, "I don't suppose Lord Sterne has got quite tired of making them laugh, and they won't dare to go away till he has; and so I'll just have a run for it."

At the end of the terrace some wise and artistically minded Earl of Rosedale, in years gone back, had erected a kind of hermit's cave, in which one could sit, comfortably sheltered from rain or sun, and enjoy the scenery.

Kitty knows it well—has sat perched upon the rough stones about the proper seat, and watched many a thunder storm passing over the valley beneath; and she now makes for it with that swinging, naturally graceful movement that belongs to her. Suddenly, she has nearly reached the opening of the grotto, the moon, treacherously disposed, dodges behind a cloud—or that is how Kitty describes it in her mind—and she has to wait a moment for its reappearance, the entrance to the grotto being rather rugged and uncertain, by reason of the rough stones that form the threshold. She stands there a moment, watching and waiting until the moon reappears.

When it does, flooding the entrance with light, she turns, not to enter, but to start back with something as near alarm as she is capable of feeling.

Itch! Itch! Itch!

Instant relief from that itch. A few drops of a simple, soothing liquid and the itch is gone as if by magic—noise that endures, gnawing, nerve racking itch. Can you imagine it—all agony swept away in a moment.

This relief is yours from the first few drops of the simple, external wash, the D. D. D. Prescription for Eczema—that marvelous new discovery for skin diseases which has aroused universal praise.

If you suffer from any skin ailment whatever, get a bottle of D. D. D. Prescription to-day. Sold Everywhere.

Mrs. Saville is the housekeeper, who has a great penchant for the domestic animal, and always has a supply of tabbies and tortoiseshells, both in the full grown and kitten state, and, therefore, is a great friend of animal-loving Kitty.

"Yes, I'll go and see Mrs. Saville," says Kitty, "and see the last batch of pussies."

Mrs. Saville's apartments are, of course, in the servants' wing, which Lady Ethel visits, perhaps, twice a year, but which Kitty is quite familiar with as the stables adjoining.

What Does It Mean?

Work is still being continued on the new military barracks, squads of men working there daily in cleaning up,
etc. To-day His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Surgeon-Major Paterson, and Capt. R. H. Tait, visited the building while a party was at work. If the regiment is being filled, why this unnecessary labor and expense? Are the military authorities contemplating some surprise for us, or is it possible that the Peace Conference will be

get that the Kaiser should be disposed of by living in our new military barracks? If this is so, then our Premier will assuredly have done his best and who can do more to raise Newfoundland into the limelight for ever any day.

HARBINGER OF WINTER.—The
first slide, attached to a pony from Broad Cove, was in the city to-day.
The owner must have missed reading
the weather report, and took chances of heating our prophet at Toronto.
Needless to say the pony sported no wells.

He wakes, maunders, draws his cloak closer. Earth hates him. Earth curses him. Earth, with its multitudeous lips, calls down upon his head the vengeance of a just God. He beholds a world reeling, under the shock of great guns, lurid, from the flames of burning homes and churches, deluged with blood. Before him floats
a ghastly panorama of babies' bones mounded by seas on the bottom of the sea, horrid crustaceans fastened upon the white, dead breasts of women; innocence defiled; millions of husbands, sons and fathers turned to carrion; prisoners of war starved, tortured and crucified; and, as in a glass, he sees himself, the world's by-

America's Answer.

On September 16th, when the German armies retreating in France and Belgium were destroying and looting property that could be of any use to the invaded countries after the war, and enslaving the inhabitants, the American State Department received a protest from the German Government that the sale of German-owned property in the United States was "consciously aimed to do lasting injury to German economic existence." As usual the protest was followed by a threat to retaliate. The only answer vouchsafed was an announcement that eleven concerns, valued at more than $100,000,000 would be sold between October 21st and December 10th. It is intended to wipe out entirely the interest of German banks and industries in American industries. Already more than 200 enemy-owned concerns, valued at about $300,000,000, have been sold to American citizens. The total value of the enemy-owned property taken over by the Custodian of Alien Property in the United States is between $700,000,000 and $800,000,000.
The American-owned property in Germany is estimated to be worth about $14,000,000.—Morning Chronicle.

A Day of Thanksgiving.

November 11 or the Monday nearest

Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor. C. T. JAMES, Editor.

SATURDAY, November 23, 1918.

The Vocational Committee.

It gives us much pleasure to offer to our readers, to-day, a lengthy letter from the Vocational Officer, touching the work of the Civil Re-establishment Committee, and we heartily commend the zeal which inspired that gentleman to make public so many of the difficulties under which the Committee labor.

Since the establishment of the Vocational Committee, no criticism has been directed at its work by the Telegram. We have believed, and still believe, that its members are doing their level best to solve the many problems in hand, with what amount of success however is known only to themselves and those whom they place in positions, but we have not heard that the number is legion.

Neither have we any desire whatever to detract from their efforts in the rehabilitating of the civil status of the returned soldiers. We are more ready to assist than to hinder this work. At the same time we cannot close our eyes and ears to the things which we see and the stories which we hear, neither can we withhold comment when we perceive the things that are.

Regarding the ex-soldier mentioned in the letter in question, and who is evidently the one referred to on Thursday, it causes us to ask what kind of a training he is receiving in shoemaking. If day after day he is on the streets selling souvenir pins, thus arousing sympathy and compassion mistakenly. If he were attending to his trade, he would be at work preparing for the time when the monthly allowance of forty dollars will be withdrawn. If he is neglecting this work which has been found in order to furnish the future equipment with which he is to fight the battle of life, then the monthly allowance should be stopped, until such time as he returns to industrial training, and the King's uniform taken from him. In either case it is up to the Vocational Committee.

A Popular Appointment.

The appointment of Hon. Sir Edgar R. Bowring as Newfoundland's High Commissioner in London, will give universal satisfaction to all classes in this Dominion, for no man is more popularly possessed of the confidence of the people in a greater measure than Sir Edgar. His knowledge of trade and other conditions in this country sets him apart as the one man with the necessary qualifications for this important post.

The Tonnage Problem.

American Consul Benedict has received the following from Department of State, Washington, Circular Telegram Instructions of twenty-first: "Following is substance of press notice to be published here on November 22nd: Signing of armistice makes possible the considerable relaxation in exportation of commodities heretofore conserved for war purposes.

Found Guilty.

On Thursday at Harbor Grace the case of Rex vs. H. A. Andress was heard. Andress was an employee of the Harbor Grace Shipbuilding Co. and was charged with fraud, he having issued cheques when he had no deposit in the bank. In all he issued cheques amounting to $240.00 over and above what he actually had in the bank. His lawyer, Mr. Hunt, defended him strongly, saying that he had not intended to defraud but had done so knowing that in a short time the deficit would be refunded, as more than $1,000 was due him then. His Lordship Mr. Justice Kent thought otherwise and Andress was sentenced to 12 months imprisonment with hard labor in the Penitentiary at St. John's. He was brought to town last night by Sergt. Dwyer. Mr. Emerson prosecuted.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

INDIA REJOICES. SIMLA, India, Nov. 12. (Via Ottawa Agency).—The signing of the armistice was celebrated by a public holiday, the firing of salutes, holding of parades and scenes of unprecedented rejoicing throughout India. A special train was held at Simla, in which huge crowds participated. The Viceroy in a spirited speech declared that the Empire had kept her pledge not to sheathe the sword until liberty had been secured (cheers), and India had played a great and noble part in the war. The Viceroy read a telegram he had sent to the King Emperor.

BEATTY'S MESSAGE TO FLEET.

LONDON, Nov. 22. (British Wireless Service).—After the surrender of the main installment of the German fleet off the Firth of Forth, Thursday, Admiral Beatty, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Fleet, issued the following message to his crews: "I wish to express to the flag officers (Admirals), captains, officers and men of the Grand Fleet my congratulations on the victory which has been gained over the sea power of the enemy. The greatness of this achievement is no way lessened by the fact that the final episode did not take the form of a fleet action. Although derived of this opportunity which we had so long and eagerly awaited, of striking the final blow for the freedom of the world, we may derive satisfaction from a testimony to the prestige and efficiency of the fleet without parallel in history and it is to be remembered that this testimony has been accorded to us by those who were in the 'heat' position to judge. I desire to express my thanks and appreciation to all who have assisted in maintaining the fleet in instant readiness for action and who have borne the utmost and exacting labors which have been necessary in perfecting the efficiency which has accomplished so much."

CLYNES STEPS DOWN.

LONDON, Nov. 22. Speaking at Nottingham on night John R. Clynes announced that in accordance with the demand of the Party members of the Cabinet at the close of the present Parliament. The resignation of Mr. Clynes, who is Labor member from the British Food Controllership was announced yesterday.

MORE "SUBS" SURRENDERED.

LONDON, Nov. 22. Twenty more German submarines were surrendered to Admiral Sir Reginald Tyrwhitt off Harwich this morning. This makes a total of 85 subs thus far handed over, and 21 more have been 21 surrendered to-day but one sank during the night.

1.00 P. M.

AWAKENED FEAR. HARWICH, Nov. 22. Most of the submarines which surrendered to-day were commanded by Sub-Lieutenants. One of them, some because he had been mentioned in the British Press as a marked man. One other was sunk who was in Harwich as a result of rough weather.

POPULAR SENTIMENT.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 22. A Berlin despatch of the 21st of Thursday says that a test vote among the returning troops indicates that the prevailing sentiment is in favor of a National Assembly. Resistance in South Germany, especially in Bavaria, to proletarian dictatorship from Berlin, is rapidly diminishing and likely to result in all Southern Germany being established as a new independent government, according to despatches from Berlin.

WHICH NAVY?

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 22. At a joint meeting of the Soldiers' and Workmen's Councils of the German Navy, it has been decided to form a main committee for the general arms of the service. It will represent all the councils of the navy, and will have its headquarters at Wilhelmshaven.

COMING HOME.

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 22. Several thousand American soldiers sailed for home to-day on the liners Lapland and Minnehaha. It was a stirring sight as the general arms of the railway stations and local camps to the landing stage amid the roaring cheers from the throngs of people along the streets.

ROYAL ENTRY.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 22. King Albert entered Brussels this morning at 10.30 o'clock. He was accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, Princess Leopold and Charles, and Princess Marie Jose. The Royal party entered at the Port de Flandres, and proceeded to the Place de la Nation, receiving a tremendous ovation along the streets. Entering the Parliament House, King Albert and his family listened to an address of welcome. Then followed a review of Allied troops, which formed a line ten miles long. Flowers were thrown in the path of King Albert, as the procession made its way along boulevards, lined for miles with dense throngs. As this despatch is being written, the noise of cheering rolls continuously like thunders across the city.

THE GLORY OF FRANCE.

PARIS, Nov. 22. Progress by French army of occupation in Alsace-Lorraine was reported in the official statement issued by the War Office tonight. The statement reads: "The occupation of successive delivered localities in Lorraine and Alsace continues to-day and the magnificent enthusiasm of the whole population, which gave evidence in most touching particulars of its attachment to France." From the Moselle, as far as Nancy, the line reached to-day comprised Tuloisville, Bouzonville, Woiklingon, Sarrequeines and Hiltch. In Alsace our advance guards have reached Reiports, Willer, Roerach, Danendorf, crossed the Moselle, and the latter having entered Ingelmilse and Brumath, where they were given a touching reception. The flag of the "Twenty-fourth Colonial Regiment, which was buried at Viller Sur Senoy in 1914, has been recovered and returned, with military honors, to the Colonial Army by the 204th Regiment of Infantry.

A DIGNIFIED PROGRAMME.

VLADIVOSTOK, Nov. 21. (By the A.P.).—The first proclamation of Admiral Kolychka, Dictator and Commander of the all Russian Army and fleet, is addressed to the people of Russia. It is dated at Omsk, Nov. 19, and declares the aims of the dictatorship. These aims are the creation of a fit army, the conquest of Bolshevism, the organization of rights and order, so that the people may select the form of Government that they desire without hindrance and be able to conduct their affairs in a dignified manner. The proclamation appeals for United Action in the struggle against Bolshevism, and found the motto as reported, "I declare I will not follow the road of reaction or the road of a party struggle, which would lead to oblivion."

THE ADMIRAL'S WAIL.

TORONTO, Ont., Nov. 22. According to a special cable from James M. Towner, who had been in Admiral Meurer who commanded the surrendering German fleet said to Admiral Beatty: "You understand we are driven to this. There is no child here in Germany. All are dying of hunger. We ask you to accept the full crew instead of only half the personnel. We cannot feed them and we dread more trouble." Admiral Beatty refused the offer, whereupon the German Admiral produced a document for Beatty to sign stipulating that the Police Court.

But one case occupied the attention of the Court this morning, but that one made up in humor, pathos, tragedy and romance what would sometimes take half a dozen cases to equal. It seems that a middle aged woman of Grosis Island summoned a young lady relative for assaulting and beating her at a meeting of the school room after some provocation on her part, set upon and beat her unmercifully. She further claimed that this was done in three installments of ten minutes duration each, a breathing spell between, each greatly aiding the aggression in putting the girl in the following words: "The defendant strenuously denied, stating that she did not hurt her at all, but that she was pulled up by her fist, punching and pulling her with her fists, and pulling out a little of her hair. She claimed that her own feelings were so outraged by the evidence of both sides of the case the court decided that it was six to one in favor of the plaintiff, and the case was dismissed. Both defendant and plaintiff were keenly disappointed over the judgment."

Grenfell Hospital.

One new case was admitted this morning, viz, the mate of the S. S. Euphrates. A family named Mitchell was discharged. It would be more considerate of those treated if they would be thoughtful in putting their feet on the floor for even small mercies. Most of the patients are really grateful, but why are they so? As it was, he had been inclined to grumble should think not of self only but should remember that the attendants and nurses have more than one patient to attend to and are doing the best they can to help and restore them again to strength.

Thoughtless Conduct.

Some of the young teamsters of this town apparently delight in causing pedestrian accidents, and in evading their cars. Yesterday evening an accident occurred in which a young man was hurt and his horse killed. The driver of the car was not at all inclined to grumble should think not of self only but should remember that the attendants and nurses have more than one patient to attend to and are doing the best they can to help and restore them again to strength.

Ships & Shipping

The S.S. Key Vibe arrived in port about 9 o'clock this morning with a cargo of flour, and also a deck-load of lumber which she is discharging at Harvey & Co.'s premises. The Key Vibe came from Montreal, and had quite a rough trip owing to the recent storms and the heavy seas. The S.S. Adolph, Capt. Thomson, which brought a general cargo from New York, arrived this morning. She is discharging at Harvey & Co.'s. Owing to the heavy seas and general bad weather the Adolph did not arrive here on time, being scheduled to arrive Thursday night. The Dredge Priestman arrived from Port Rexton this morning. The S.S. Sheba which came to port last Sunday will finish discharging her cargo at the Furness Wilby pier this evening. It is probable that she will then go to Sydney for a load of coal, which she will carry to Clarendville.

A Quick Relief for Headache

A headache is frequently caused by badly digested food; the gases and acids resulting therefrom are absorbed by the blood which in turn irritates the nerves and causes painful symptoms called neuralgia, rheumatism, etc. 15 to 20 drops of Mother Selig's Syrup will correct faulty digestion and afford relief.

"Flu" On the Euphrates.

Word was received from Hr. Grace last night that the mate of the Euphrates was ill—probably of influenza, therefore upon the arrival of the ship this morning, Dr. Campbell boarded her and found the mate as reported, and had him immediately removed to Grenfell Hospital. No other cases have been on board. Dr. Campbell then disinfected the ship which was allowed to pull in off the quarantine ground. She's wharf where she will discharge her cargo.

Sale of Work.

The Church of England Women's Association (Sewing Circle) of South River (Salmon Cove), held a very successful sale of work in the school room there on Tuesday night last, followed by a hot supper and dance. The proceeds amounting to the handsome sum of one hundred and sixteen dollars, will go towards the new church building fund, preparations for erecting a new structure for religious purposes, on the site of the old church having commenced. During the time the new building is in course of construction, services are being held in the school-room.

Runaway Horse.

About 1.10 to-day, a horse and box came crossing Long Bridge, coming from the Southside, when an automobile truck, coming toward it, blew its horn, thereby frightening the horse, which turned completely around, and dashed toward the Southside Road again. The driver was thrown to the bottom of the car by the truck turning, but managed to get up in time to stop the flight of the animal before any mischief was done. As it was, he had gone as far as the mercantile co-operation before being stopped. The driver's name was Bramwell, and he was driving the horse for the owner.

German Paris to Re Resignations. Great Explosion in Kaiser Emulates Resignations.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 21. (Monday).—It is a mistaken assumption that the principal task of the National Assembly will be to put a sort of official seal upon the new state of affairs. The task of assembly will be nothing less than to construct and furnish safeguards for the edifice to be built with the newly created framework. The official seal of the new German Government, the Vorparlament of Berlin, is hoped for the next few weeks will bring preliminary peace. He continues, "The peace will conclude a final peace with the consent of consolidated Germany. The foremost task of the assembly will be to safeguard and express to the people's will the order to deprive the Entente of all power for delaying final peace. Since the dissolution of the Reichstag and the disappearance of the Bundesrat, there is no authority to vote new credits whereas the empire urgently needs financial security to avoid immeasurable damage. There can be no political or economic prosperity without national assembly."

The Longest Three Hours.

By RUTH CAMERON.

My neighbor paid a visit to the oculist the other day to have her eyes examined for new glasses. On the way back she dropped in to inquire if I had seen anything of some possible callers I had been commissioned to watch out for. "My dear," she said as she dropped down before me, "I thought I should certainly read one word. Dr. S. is an extremely busy man, you know, and there were twelve people in the office ahead of me, and there I had to wait three mortal hours with those drops in my eyes so that I couldn't read one word. The table was covered with magazines and I felt like a starving man with a feast spread out in front of him. Really I think it was the longest three hours I ever spent."

Now my neighbor is not one of those people to whom the last cold is always "the worst cold I ever had" or every pretty sunset "the prettiest sunset I ever saw," so that "longest three hours" meant a great deal. And what a tribute it was to the part he printed word plays in our lives!

Afternoon Five Weeks And A Half Long. Her description of her suffering carried me back at once to what I think I can in all truthfulness call the longest week I ever spent. I was in the hospital with an illness which came in the middle of a series of treatments I was taking for eye trouble. Consequently I also could not read, and I shall never forget how the hours dragged. The morning's weren't quite so bad because there were various abatements and treatments to be gone through with, and the doctor's visit, but Oh, those dreadful afternoons! We had lunch at twelve o'clock and after that excitement had been prolonged as long as it was possible to prolong the eating of some silly, sloppy, invalid food, there were five hours and a half to six o'clock. When one looked at one's watch with the firm conviction it was three o'clock at the very least, it was only a quarter of two, and when one said, "I won't hope too much, but it must be half past four, anyway," it was only ten minutes of three.

I Really Enjoyed That Illness.

Some years later I had a similar attack which kept me in my bed for a week. But this time I could read. And the difference in the two experiences was almost unbelievable. Why, after the acute stage was past, I really quite enjoyed that second illness.

Books and magazines and newspapers—what a part they play in our lives! We don't realize how they fill in the chinks of active living until some such experience as my neighbor's or mine robs us of them for a little while, and the chinks and the gaps start aching with emptiness. Then we realize with a vengeance.

There was some question when the "work or fight" law first went on in the United States as to whether fiction writing would be classed with the non essential occupations. A case has now come up, and the war department has classed the writer of fiction and poetry as essential. Perhaps the head of the War Department once sat in an oculist's office with drops in his eyes. One wonders.

THE FIRST STEPS.

Last night I held my arms to you And you held yours to mine And started out to march to me As any soldier fine.

You lifted up your little feet And laughingly advanced; And I stood there and gazed upon Your first wee steps, entranced.

You gazed and gurgled as you came Without a sign of fear; As though you knew your journey o'er.

I'd greet you with a cheer, And, what is more, you seemed to know. Although you are so small, That I was there with eager arms, To save you from a fall.

Three tiny steps you took, and then, Disaster and dismay! Your over-confidence had led Your little feet astray.

You did not see what we could see, Nor fear what we alarms; You stumbled, but ere you could "fall I caught you in my arms."

You little tyke, in days to come You'll bravely walk alone, And you may have to wander paths Where dangers lurk unknown.

And Oh, I pray that then, as now, When accidents befall, You'll still remember that I'm near To save you from a fall.

Fads & Fashions. Sashes are popular on dresses of all materials.

Pleatings of crepe make the prettiest finish for the oval neckline. Gold and black metallic ribbon is much used on Black satin dinner gowns.

Tulle is used below the edge of heavy skirts, giving the impression that the skirt is covered with tulle. The cuffs of deep lace, which falls over the hand, is very attractive and dainty.

A striking small black hat has a narrow brim, which comes to a point in the back. Embroidery is always a safe trimming, and is many times more suitable than lace or buttons.

Milady's Boudoir

Many young women find themselves at thirty—often even earlier—with locks distressingly dull or thin; and notwithstanding the large number of pomades, washes and cosmetics which are nowadays devised, and compounded, many women are distressed to find their hair thinning even when they reach twenty years of age.

The variation one sees in the quantity, quality and color of the hair is largely due owing to the health of each individual; persons of nervous habit and persons of nervous habit having less abundant and less glossy hair than those of more robust and sanguine dispositions.

Mental trouble, worry, and late hours with an insufficient amount of sleep will frequently cause the hair to fall and become gray and thin. Health and disorders affecting the circulation and nervous system are also frequent causes of this.

It is a great mistake to wash one's hair too frequently; such practice tends to make it turn dry and dull. However, it must be remembered that cleanliness goes far toward keeping the hair and scalp in a healthy state. But to use cold water with the intention of strengthening and cleaning the hair is a mistake, for there is scarcely anything more likely to cause it to become thin, turn gray and dull than the frequent use of cold water.

There are many good preparations on the market for cleansing the scalp and hair, but should one wish to prepare one here is one of my favorites for oily hair: In hot water dissolve a mild soap, to which add a pinch of pulverized borax and a few drops of pure ammonia.

After washing the hair it should always be carefully and thoroughly dried with a rough towel, but not with a fluffy one, as the fluff is apt to come off and become entangled in the hair.

A costume which fastens slant-wise down the front is both attractive and easily donned.

If a frock has both side and front panels, the side panels should be shorter than the front.

Rheumatism Every Winter

To be crippled by Rheumatism is to have life become an intolerable burden, especially in the winter, when the persistent cold and damp aggravate this complaint till it is almost unbearable.

Can you picture the dread that any man would hold winter in when all meant to him was a yearly return of his Rheumatism and the agonizing pains that it brings?

Such was the case of Mr. A. Beaudry of Bedford, Que. Each winter he was forced to undergo the torture of Rheumatic pains, until he discovered Gin Pills. Read what he says about these little doctors:

"Every winter I suffered from Rheumatism, and this is the first season I have been able to go through without a return of my old trouble—thanks to Gin Pills. The pills are all you claim for them, and more."

Testimony such as this should convince even the most skeptical that Gin Pills do remedy Kidney troubles.

If you have friends or relatives who suffer from this dread affliction, tell them to try Gin Pills. So many people have written us stating in glowing terms how Gin Pills have relieved them of Kidney troubles, that we are convinced that all any person needs to do in order to obtain relief is—try them.

WALT MASON.

THE POISON.

When peace has come, that boon which flags are furled, I hope there'll be an end of hating throughout this warlike world. Let us get mad, if things demand it, and raise a rumpus great; but anger, as I understand it, is different from hate.

If I am injured by the neighbor, I lie in wait for him; his away backed carcass I belabor, and rend him limb from limb; but when our little scrap is ended we are good friends once more, and he, with sportsmanship that's splendid, slides down my cellar door. We have no time for foolish hating, we have to do our chores, that we may both maintain our rating for credit at the store.

It's hate that keeps the world unsettled, and makes peace efforts vain; a lot of kings, stilled and muffled, have hated on the brain. They don't get busy cultivating or pruning growing things; they sit around their throne rooms hating and cursing other kings. One reason why I hope the Teuton may meet a crushing fate is that he's always at us shooting his talk of deathless hate. And vainly will the Teuton endeavour our friendship to regain until he cuts out hate forever, and shows he's safe and sane.

Doings at the City Hall. ARE THEY SERIOUS? Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In yesterday's morning's issue of the Daily News, appears the following: And a lengthy discussion of the mandamus proceedings taken by James Murdoch in the Supreme Court, it was decided to instruct the Solicitor of the Council to take an appeal to the Privy Council.

If the full Board decided to take this course, then they must have plenty of money to throw away. What is to be gained by an appeal of this kind. Is it to satisfy the personal dignity of the Council upon a point of law. Must we carry our stop-pall policy to London, and have the stench aired before the great Lords of the Privy Council. Must we spend thousands of dollars—"for what?"

Do you know, Mr. Editor, I like that little word mandamus. It seems to me a pity that the word is not often used against the Council to keep the streets clean. Mandamus. In law, a command or writ issued from a Superior Court, directed to any person, corporation or inferior court, requiring them to do some specified act. I thought it was something that had gone wrong with the Sanitary Department. Now, Mr. Editor, in all seriousness, I would ask the Mayor and his advisers to lay their case before the public in complete form, before they take such a step.

We would also ask Mr. James Murdoch to do the same. We surely can settle our dirty domestic matters here, without making ourselves a laughing stock to outsiders. If they have to appeal, let them appeal to the Councilors of the Sanitary Department to clean the streets of dirt and mud.

Yours truly, JOHN ANDERSON.

LONDON, Oct. 26, 1918. WHAT THE LEAVE MEN SAY. The change in the attitude of the leave men who pour into the London hotels and wait for their homes is very marked, and one notices instead of flinging themselves on the ground beside their heavy baggage, they are talking of their homes, and we have been commissioned by the leave men to find out what they are thinking about over here. They are to know if you are pleased about the war. What are the people saying anyhow? They were quite pleased with their first reply to this question. "Righto," they said; "we'll tell the lads that." They said that the soldiers would not be satisfied with anything but a complete victory. They were determined to "bury" out of France and Belgium, and not expect to be very long in it either. Victory was in the air. Both these men had had a good time with German prisoners, commented on the extraordinary popularity of the British in their hands. They were confident that they would soon be in high spirits. He described the difficulty it was for the big guns to get the Germans up as they retreated. They got out of range in no time.

lities after the war, a matter which was discussed here when the war was three years younger. A Committee had been then set up to consider such matters. In nearly every post office in the Kingdom arrangements have already been made to effect economies
after the war, and it is safe to say that the number of letter deliveries throughout the country will be considerably reduced as compared with pre-war days. The closing of many offices between one and two will certainly be effected, and the reduced hours on Bank Holiday. One point has to be reconsidered since these recommendations were made. It was then decided to increase the number of the female staff in nearly all offices, as, the wages of the women being so much less than the men's, a considerable saving would be effected. Now women have the vote and equal payment has become a question of practical politics, the authorities may find that this proposal
does not mean cheaper labor.

FRENCH COLONIAL ADMINISTRATION.

I learn from an authoritative source that as the result of an exchange of views between the French and British Governments the former proposed to send a special Mission to London for the purpose of studying various questions affecting the administration of our dominions and Crown Colonies.
It has for some time been recognised in Paris, I am told, that when the war is ended the administration of the French possessions, especially in Africa and the Far East, will present many new problems, and it is believed that after the members of the Mission have completed their labors in London they may make a tour of the British dominions and colonies for further study.

EVENING SERVICES THREATENED.

Of all the proposals for fuel and lighting economy which have emanated
from the Coal Controller's Department that which suggests the discontinuance of Sunday evening services in the churches is likely to meet with the greatest opposition. Already church authorities are up in arms. There would seem to be ground for their contention, which is that they are being unfairly singled out for special restrictions. They point to the position of theatres and picture houses (the latter of which are permitted to open here on Sundays), and say that if services are to be stopped so also on grounds of equity ought amusements. A point which has to be borne in mind is that the discontinuance of evening services would do little more than save it lighting. The churches would require to be heated for the day services in any case. The effective method of saving would appear to be

THE POST OFFICE AFTER THE WAR.

Various people are now discussing the question of decreased postal fac-

not in the closing of all churches in the evenings, but in the making of arrangements whereby congregations of two or even three churches might unite for worship in one building. A definite arrangement may be looked for shortly.

THE PROSPEROUS THEATRE.

Visitors to London who have the time and the taste for the theatre
must have noticed the great difficulties that have to be surmounted before they can see even the worst of the many London theatres. There has never been quite such a flood of prosperity
there. When you ask a playwright, for instance, why he does not produce the fine play which he told you months ago was about to "knock the town," he replies with groans about all the plays being overdue and most theatres now being five deep in plays to be produced. The fact is that almost anything will go just now. People are simply fighting to fling their money into the box-office. No one will take off a play if he can help it, and no manager will part with a lease without a premium that may be as low as $2,000 but is likely to be $5,000. Two years ago things seemed to be all up with the London theatres. Four years ago soldiers were being invited to come in free, and prices of seats were being reduced. To-day there is talk of further increases in the present high figures. And it is not all officers on leave. The prosperity of almost every class in London, along with the curtailment of holidays and the closing of many former outlets of luxury, such as motor cars for one class and skating rinks and bear-seats for others, account for the main part of it.

THE REMAKING OF BELGIUM.

The clearing of large areas of Belgium of the enemy brings into immediate practicality the problem of the reconstruction of that ruined country. Not only has its business and commercial life to be re-established, but its towns have to be rebuilt and hundreds of thousands of its population have to be repatriated. The first of these tasks calling for attention is that of building, and there is reason to believe that, so far as it has been possible, it cannot get that work in advance, an early start is possible.
The shortage of building material and the scarcity of labor have to some extent relegated it to the period of after the war, but it is a matter in which delay must be avoided. Already engineers have got to work, and I understand that building firms in this country are ready to tender provided there is a supply of labor at their disposal.

Vocational Officer Explains.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—(1) In your issue of Wednesday, the 20th inst., under the heading "Is this Gratitude?" you state for public information what has been communicated to you by some one concerning "an elderly man over 50 (who) enlisted in the Forestry
Battalion and did duty in Scotland."
The particular grievance seems to be that he was not appointed to an alleged vacancy in the Lunatic Asylum.
Throughout the paragraph you state that the Vocational Officer
did not do his duty by the ex-Forester. Of course I know the man and while I am ready to take my full share of the responsibility of his not yet having obtained suitable employment, I have partners in the business and there are circumstances that I cannot control. Just now these facts: A man cannot be placed in a job for which he is not fitted;
suitable vacancies for men who are disabled cannot be created as if by magic; the Vocational Officer cannot do the whole thing, the man for whom he is trying to find employment has a part to perform likewise.
This man called on me for the first time and in response to the invitation of the Civil Re-establishment Committee on September 30th. I had a long and friendly chat with him and endeavored to learn from him his situation for work and the kind of employment that he thought he could undertake. He is not a very strong and the choice is not a very wide one.
He then suggested a position as attendant in the Lunatic Asylum. After thinking this proposition over, I concluded that he was not fitted for the work, but by October 3rd I was able to offer him what seemed to be a most suitable job and that was the position of orderly in the Penitentiary. He interviewed the Governor of the Penitentiary and declined the position. To the best of my knowledge he has not been to see me since and I naturally concluded that he had obtained suitable work. So far as he has permitted me to do so, I have treated him with every courtesy and attention.
(2) In your editorial of to-night (Tuesday) you were eloquent on the case of a young ex-soldier who has lost his leg and has been found selling souvenir pins. I know this fellow likewise and I shall be much obliged if you will publish the following facts about him, as I do not think it right that the public should be under the impression that he is being neglected quite as much as your comments in to-night's issue might lead them to suppose. This young soldier led is under the care of the Civil Re-

Obituary.

ISAAC J. SNEEGROVE.

On Nov. 18th, Pte. Isaac John Sneegrove of Catalina, died at St. Thomas Hospital, England. He enlisted in February, 1915, in the 1st Nfld. Regiment and proceeded overseas in the spring. He took part in the July 1st drive and escaped unhurt. He went through the winter of 1917 in the trenches in France, where he contracted a heavy chill and was invalided to England. Shortly after his admittance to hospital it was known that recovery was impossible as he was suffering from tubercular spine. He suffered greatly but was patient through it all, and wrote cheering letters to his father and sister. Until the last few weeks of his illness he was buoyed up with the hope of returning to his family, but it was decreed otherwise. He forms one more of that company who have laid down their lives for our freedom and liberty. He was always a quiet, studious and unassuming youth, and his is a promising life cut short. His father, Norman Sneegrove, J.P., predeceased him by a few weeks. He leaves three brothers, Charles F. and Arthur of Catalina, and William living in Canada, and two sisters Gertrude living at St. John's, and Mrs. S. Courage, of Catalina. To these we extend our deepest sympathies.—W.B.B.

The Epidemic.

One patient was received at the Grenfell Hall Hospital yesterday, a girl named Murphy, of Carter's Hill. She is the fourth member of her family now undergoing treatment there. Twenty patients are now in the newly established hospital at St. George's and two deaths, those of a mother and her infant, have occurred there. Several cases have been reported at Tor's Cove. Two hundred and forty cases, and 16 deaths have occurred at Lark Harbor, and at St. George's and Stephenville section some 60, with 5 deaths.

A Skilled Navigator.

(North Sydney Herald, Nov. 20.)
Once again his Capt. Tavernor, of the steamer Glencoe, proved his great seamanship and capabilities in the face of danger. It was only by his skill and coolness that the Glencoe made port during the big storm of last week. Not only did he manipulate the craft through the turbulent sea, but not a single head of the whole deckload of live cattle suffered a particle. A report was current that the Glencoe had met with disaster, but a message from Port aux Basques soon dispelled such fears. In fact, so skillfully did the clever young commander work his craft through what was undoubtedly the worst storm in years, that she was only a couple of hours behind her schedule.

Big Money.

The Nova Scotia Steel Co., according to report, has made some money in freights during the war. The company possessed a large fleet, chartered just before the war for 10 years, but during the times of year when shipping was in demand and rates high they re-chartered those vessels, and as many of them were large carriers they made a profit in the neighborhood of $1,250,000.

N. I. W. A.

A meeting of the N.I.W.A. was held last night, President Bennett being present. It was decided that the executive and advisory board meet Monday night to arrange meetings with the Vocational Board re the employment of discharged soldiers. Money was voted towards the support of Brown's employees now on strike. In the meantime the Eastern Trust Company is managing the bakery, whose striking employees want the same scale of wages as are given at Harvey & Co.'s bakery. An emergency board will also be formed to deal with demobilization problems, reduction of wages and Chinese labor, etc. The Veteran's Association will also take part in the conference dealing with the soldiers. The Ropewalk trouble was then discussed, and it appeared that one of the female employees of the Ropewalk had refused to join the Union, and her comrade employees had refused to work with her, upon which the foreman of the concern had in accordance with his union orders, dismissed the girl, and then the others resumed work. The action of the foreman was not according to the wishes of the management who said an enquiry should always be held before a dismissal. Just after work had been resumed Mr. Monroe visited the place and stopped the work, and the management say this further trouble is but a poor return for their favor of a short time ago in reducing the working hours without the equivalent wage reduction.

Yours faithfully,
W. W. BLACKALL,
Vocational Officer.

Music Lovers Amazed by Edison's Daring Test

All told, 2,000,000 music lovers in Canada and the United States, on more than 1,500 different occasions, have gone to one of their local theatres filled with curiosity regarding a startlingly novel musical recital to which they had been invited.

In each case they have come away amazed at the almost unbelievable demonstration which had taken place before their very eyes, and ears—the most daring test of a phonograph or talking machine ever made. They saw a noted Edison artist stand beside

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul"

They heard the instrument sing in the artist's voice—in other words, re-create her voice. Presently the artist herself began to sing note for note with the instrument. Musically trained ears strove in vain to distinguish the faintest shade of difference between the actual voice and the Re-Creation. Then, suddenly and without warning, the artist ceased singing, leaving the instrument to continue, the air alone. Only by watching the artist's lips did the audience know that she had ceased singing and that they heard the instrument alone. This is the famous Edison Tone Test.

Only Edison makes this test. Only Edison can make this test, because only the New Edison actually re-creates the human voice and the music of human-played instruments with every tone quality and every shade of expression. Ordinary phonographs, and talking machines, merely reproduce.

If you have not been fortunate enough to witness an Edison Tone Test, you may at least hear Edison's wonderful new phonograph at our store. Make the time to visit our store.

Housing Scheme

There is no greater problem with the people of the Dominion of St. John's than the better housing of the people of the Dominion of St. John's. The scheme which is being carried out by the Dominion of St. John's is a housing scheme which will provide for the housing of the people of the Dominion of St. John's. ere would not keep their hogs in families are compelled to live in houses for the want of better, that are a disgrace to our civilization. My pen cannot picture these house-bells upon earth. They are well known to the clergyman and doctor of the city. In the crusade for better homes for our people, we want the co-operation of the Pulpit and the Press. We want the whole-hearted co-operation of the doctors, who know very well the hovels, shacks and shanties that are a menace to the health of the town, that some of their patients have to live in. It is only by a merciful providence of God that a plague has not long ago scourged the town.

Right Hon. Lloyd George, Prime Minister of Great Britain, one of the greatest statesmen the world has ever produced, spoke lengthily at a meeting in Manchester on the 12th August, on this important subject, and against the nation that more concern be shown and more co-operation given to this popular scheme.

Another Mystery

The police came across a man on the top of McBride's Hill at midnight last night who was unconscious, a gaping wound in the scalp bleeding profusely. The officers carried him to the police station, where Dr. Anderson was summoned. After examination and treatment the man was brought back to consciousness, when it was ascertained that he was under the influence of alcohol. He was later taken to his home in an automobile.

New Law Firm.

The well known firm of Conroy and Higgins was greatly strengthened yesterday by the addition of Mr. C. E. Hunt. Mr. Hunt, although the junior of the firm has already shown his ability as a lawyer, and being taken into the partnership of the other two whose fame is island spread, makes a combination that cannot but retain the strongest legal firm in the Dominion. The offices of the new firm will be in the Knights of Columbus building, Duckworth Street.

There was no diminution in the numbers of play-goers which attended the Casino Theatre last night to witness a repetition of the allegory drama "Which one shall I marry." The applause testified to the appreciation of the audience, the players being a bit better possible, in their parts than of the previous night. At the matinee this afternoon "Pal o' Mine" will be staged, as also at the evening performance.

France's Yellow Book.

Convincing Reply Made to German Challenge. The Prussian of today is so confirmed in the policy of aggressive militarism as to imagine the nations around him and by the same motives toward him, toward one another. It was Shakespeare who said, "There's nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so." It was a German Chancellor who recalled the memorable saying of Hamlet when he openly and insolently impeached the Franco-Russian alliance as an aggressive one aimed at Germany. The outcome of that challenge is the Yellow Book, which has just been published in France.

Now, there is no doubt that the condition of the political atmosphere in Europe in the years 1912-13, the time when the Franco-Russian alliance was formed, was such as to lend color, for a superficial political observer, to the challenge flung out by the German Chancellor. Russia was then pursuing a steady, though covert, policy of military aggressiveness and absorption in the East and Far East. Over France there had swept a wave of chauvinism which threatened to overwhelm her better political judgment and to plunge her into strife, with the recovery of Alsace-Lorraine as the leitmotif. But as the Tsar Alexander III, pointed out, in a conversation at the time with the Marquis de Montebello, there is a great gulf between "the natural hope of some day entering once more into possession of the lost provinces and the idea of revenge."

The cry of "Revanche!" proved to be that of cliques, not of the French nation. The "gulf" of Alexander III. is now supplemented by the dossier of the Chancellor based here, and against the German accuser in the Wilhelmstrasse. In this book have been published the documents relating to the Dual Alliance, which were seized by the Bolsheviks, and upon which the Chancellor based his accusations. One and all, they not only entirely vindicate and exonerate the French and Russians of the charge, but they virtually force the Chancellor to swallow his own words. At the same time, the frank application of the correspondence rendered an injustice to the Allies at a time when acute feeling has been aroused in allied countries against those secret methods of diplomacy which in the past have other bound peoples to treaties which they may not have been warned, and against which they have not been forewarned.

The most superficial perusal of the official correspondence between Russia and France will abundantly prove that the Dual Alliance was not offensive in its defensive, and that it was undertaken to insure Russia and France against the very assault upon their liberties which has been made in the present war. The true nature of that treaty could never have been doubted by any one outside the Central Empires; it must have been perfectly familiar to the chancelleries of Europe; and Great Britain, in entering upon a rapprochement with France and Russia which resulted in the formation of the Triple Entente, must not only have had full assurance of the defensive character of the alliance, but have been familiar with the tenor of the documents which now make up the case for France. They show conclusively that, even at that early date, it was the intention of Germany to attack Russia and France singly, in conjunction with Austria. "Thanks to the rapidity of his railway transport," so runs one of the incriminating documents, Germany calculates "to throw itself first on France and conquer her, and then to turn against Russia." One cannot rise from a perusal of these state papers without the conviction that the war, so far as Germany was concerned, was inevitable, that behind and underlying everything was the menace of German imperialism, and that, even without a Dual Alliance, Germany would have pursued her aggressive policy to its present logical conclusion. It is conceivable that without an alliance her hawk would have proved the easier. She could have attacked France with-

You Can't Find Any Dandruff, and Hair Stops Coming Out.

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy, glossy and beautiful at once. Try as you will, after an application of Danderrine, you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderrine immediately destroys the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderrine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking only one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an imperishable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of trues hair health.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderrine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment. A 25-cent bottle will double the beauty of your hair.

The Queen of the Fleet.

On Wednesday last the vessel "Huntley" was successfully launched at Scott's Bay, Nova Scotia. This vessel has four masts, and an auxiliary power has 2-20 horse power Lloyd's Test Skandia Engines, and Compressors for starting same and an auxiliary compressor; also electrical generators for lighting the ship. The auxiliary compressor and electrical generators are driven by a separate 8 horse power engine. In addition to this there is a 12 horse power engine for hoisting cargo, anchors and sails. The "Huntley" will prove a great addition to the local fleet. She is the largest Newfoundland owned vessel, being 400 tons gross, 500 tons net, 155 feet long, 38 feet broad and 13 feet 6 inches deep. For comparison, she is about 8 feet shorter than the U.S. Portia, but about 5 feet wider, and 6 inches deeper. According to advice received from Nova Scotia, Surveyors for Lloyd's, Bureau Veritas, and American Lloyd's, say without doubt she is the finest vessel ever built in the Province. Tessler and Company who are Managers, expect the "Huntley" here about December 15th, 1918.

Parcel Post for Nfld. Expeditionary Forces!

The attention of the public is drawn to the very urgent necessity of strictly observing the regulations published by this Department from time to time concerning the despatch of parcels to members of the Regiment overseas and the following particulars should be strictly observed:

- Parcels must not exceed eleven pounds.
- Parcels should be addressed with the Regimental number, rank, name and surname of addressee, followed by the last known address of the Unit with which the individual was serving; for example:
 No. 0978 Cpl. John J. Kent,
 2nd Battalion
 The Royal Newfoundland Rept.,
 "Azeley Down Camp,
 Winchester,
 Hant's Camp,
 England.
- Parcels should bear the name and address of a second addressee to whom the parcel may be delivered or forwarded, if it should prove impossible to deliver to the first. The Original address should be written on the FRONT of the parcel where the postage stamps and customs declaration are affixed, and the second or alternative address should be written on the BACK of the parcel.
- If second address is not furnished at the time of posting and delivery cannot be effected, the contents of the parcel, unless of exceptional value or of a personal nature, will be turned over to the Military Authorities for distribution.
- Parcels containing articles of personal nature or of special value will be returned if request for their return, in case of non-delivery, is made by the sender, such request to be written on the cover of the parcel at the time of posting.
- The procedure outlined in (4) and (5) is adopted at the suggestion of the British Post Office, to prevent the waste of a large quantity of perishable food stuffs which form the contents of 90 per cent. of parcels sent to soldiers.
- Parcels should be packed securely.
- Attention is drawn to the Notice concerning Christmas parcels recently published by the Postmaster General. All Christmas mail for B. E. F. should be posted in time to arrive at the Pay and Record Office, London, not later than the end of November.

J. R. BENNETT,
 Minister of Militia.

Kohler & Campbell PIANOS!

The Sun Never Sets on the Kohler & Campbell Piano.

A chain of agencies for these famous Pianos extends round the world, being represented in the following countries:

Alaska, Mexico, South America, West Indies, Belgium, England, France, Greece, Italy, Portugal, Russia, Spain, Egypt, South Africa, India, Siberia, Australia, New Zealand.

A Piano that has successfully stood up against the frosts of Alaska and the rainy seasons of the Far East is eminently suitable for this country and has proved in the long period of its representation here to be everything claimed for it.
