MR. N. McDUGALL, P. S. I., finished his half-yearly inspection of the Watford public school on Monday, and reports good work being done by the teaching staff. Many people labor under the illusion that the job of Public School Inspector is very much of a sinecure. Were these people to follow Inspector McDougall around on his semi-yearly visits to the 124 schools which lie in his territory they would no doubt change their opinion. Mr. McDougall, with Petrolia as the centre of his district, visits all of the many schools twice every year. To the north the one farthest from his office is 35 miles distant. To reach the southern limit of the county and visit the outlying sections, Mr. McDougall must travel thirty miles. Besides the inspection he must attend to all his correspondence, examination papers and the multitude of detail duties which accompany any office position.

WE will teach you to grain in five minutes.—T. DODDS & SON.

Pettypiece was appointed a member at large.—Petrolia Topic.

RUBBER COATS, direct from the makers in Manchester, England, ladies' and gent's. They keep out the rain.—SWIFT, SON & CO.

A LIVELY runaway caused a few exciting moments on Monday morning. A team, belonging to Mr. Rector, of Petrolia, hitched to a loaded wagon, made a dash up Main street from the south and turned the postoffice corner, colliding with and damaging rig belonging to Robt. Fleming and Jas. McManus. The runaway team was stopped after turning in near the old English church.

THE Amalgamated Boards of Trade of Lambton County are now dealing with the discrimination of railway and express companies in the charges for transportation. THE Watford Concert Band has added a number of new instruments this season, making a total strength of 25 pieces. The instruments cost the band $191.50, laid down in Watford, being purchased through the firm of Harper Bros., direct from the makers at big saving. The instruments are the property of the town the council granting $175.00 to pay for same. It must be understood that $191.50 is the initial cost of the instruments, cases not included. It is the desire of the band executive to have all the new instruments cased, which will entail an additional expense of about $50.00. The instruments will last much longer if cased. The executive of the band is working in the town's interests in protecting their property by casing the instruments. Should you be interviewed by a representative citizen, in the near future, you will understand the object. Your co-operation is needed to make the band a success. At the present time the band is a great credit to the town and as such deserves the ready support of everyone.—COM.

COCO matting squares, correct for bedrooms, at $2.50 each.—A. BROWN & CO.

Mr. Herbert W. Collier, formerly of Watford, is the Chief Probation Officer and Superintendent of the Detention Home and Mrs. Collier is the Matron.—Mrs. T. H. Collier is also connected with the work, his duties being to follow up the children who have passed through the Court and are on probation.

DR. D. B. BENTLEY, of Sarnia, Health Officer of District No. 1, which includes the counties of Essex, Kent, Elgin, Oxford, Middlesex, and Lambton, spent last Thursday in Watford visiting the various public institutions. He spent some time inspecting the interior and surroundings of the Public and High Schools and reported everything in an excellent sanitary condition. In the evening he addressed a public meeting in Taylor's Lyceum but owing to weather conditions the attendance was small. The Doctor gave a very interesting talk on matters pertaining to the health, emphasizing particularly the great necessity for cleanliness. He claims that nearly all diseases are preventable if proper precautions are observed. The back yards should be as clean as the lawns in front, no garbage should be thrown out or left exposed to flies as they are the great carriers of disease, that animals furnishing the meat and milk supply should be inspected, to insure against contagion, that merchants should not be allowed to leave fruit and foodstuffs unduly exposed, and that medical inspection of pupils should be made frequently. The Doctor is a pleasing talker, speaking to the point, and we trust that he will be greeted with a large audience on his next appearance here. Dr. Kelly occupied the chair.

Roll call was answered by an Easter clipping. After the usual business the program was as follows:—Miss MacLure of the High School, rendered two solos and sang very sweetly, and Miss Cameron, teacher in the Public School, also sang a solo which we appreciated very much, also Mr. Binks favored us with two instrumentals on the piano, which we were pleased to hear. Mrs. J. D. Brown and Miss N. Eccles each gave a paper on the beauties of spring and its work. Both were interesting papers. Mrs. L. McNeil gave a splendid demonstration on "Mending and Darning." Misses Maggie McLean and Jennie McIlwain each gave an instrumental solo in a manner which proved their musical abilities. Mrs. M. J. Campbell then read a splendid paper on "Why we should belong to the Women's Institute." The meeting was then brought to a close by singing the National anthem, after which lunch was served. The next meeting will be held on May 8th, at the home of Mrs. Donald McNeil, Roseby.

The funeral, which was private, took place from the family residence, Suite 4 Brennan Apartments, 532 Fourth Avenue, West, services conducted by Rev. Dr. Akbray. Interment took place in Union Cemetery.

A meeting for the organization of a baseball club was held at Warwick Village, on Tuesday of last week and a club formed with the following officers:—H. Morningstar, president; D. Auld, vice president; A. Smith, Secretary-Treasurer; V. Barnes, manager. The team is open for games with neighboring clubs, and arrangements can be made by writing the secretary or manager.

The monthly meeting of the Warwick Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. J. Robinson, Egremont Road, on Thursday, April 10th. In spite of the inclement weather quite a number were present. The meeting was opened by singing "The Maple Leaf Forever," and prayer. Those who were to take the subject were not present. Questions were distributed for discussion as follows: "How to bring the girls into the Institute," "How to make homes happy," "Is the question drawer a benefit to the meeting." These were answered very nicely and made a pleasant discussion. Miss Mildred Archer sang a very solo. The roll call was answered by different ways to serve eggs. The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King."

Egg Dealers Plan Radical Change

That the system known as the "case count" which has prevailed in the egg trade for a number of years, provides no discrimination whatever, and that under it the producer, with no reflection on the hen, is not encouraged to market an article of high quality, was the decision come to in the rooms of the Board of Trade, Montreal, at a largely attended meeting of the egg trade of the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec. The remedy for this state of affairs was suggested as taking the form of an Eggs Marks Act, similar to the act governing fruit. The formation of a new produce association was also proposed.

Determining means whereby consumers and merchants could be protected against the marketing of stale and rotten eggs was the primary object of the meeting. Under the present system when bad eggs are found in the cases there is no resource for the dealer to take, and the opinion of the meeting was that the "case count," where a flat rate is quoted, stale and bad eggs commanding just as high a price as those of the highest grade, is equivalent to placing a premium on careless and dilatory methods in the production and care of this product. Moreover, it was pointed out that the country storekeepers received no encouragement to market an article of high quality.

The opinion was unanimous that legislation should be secured to prevent the sale of such products and full approval was given to the proposal to adopt a new system whereby due discrimination should be made between good and bad eggs.

Steps will be taken for the passage by the Federal Parliament of an Eggs Marks Act, similar to the Fruit Marks Act, making it unlawful to buy or trade in rotten eggs.

DOCTORS ADVISE OPERATIONS

Saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Swarthmore, Penn.—“For fifteen years I suffered untold agony, and for one period of nearly two years I had hemorrhages and the doctors told me I would have to undergo an operation, but I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am in good health now. I am all over the change of life and cannot praise your Vegetable Compound too highly. Every woman should take it at that time. I recommend it to both old and young for female troubles.”—Mrs. EMILY SUMMERSGILL, Swarthmore, Pa.

Fort William, Ont.—“I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was weak and tired and I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it.”—Mrs. WM. A. BUFFY, 631 South Vicker Street, Fort Williams, Ontario.

Since we guarantee that all testimonials which we publish are genuine, is it not fair to suppose that if Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the virtue to help these women it will help any other woman who is suffering in a like manner? If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS

Guide-Advocate

HARRIS & CO. PROPRIETORS. WATFORD, APRIL 18, 1913.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Thirty years ago Western Canada had a population of 90,000. To-day 2,000,000 souls breathe on the vast prairies. Thirty years ago Western Canada produced 15,000,000 bushels of grain. Last year 400,000,000 bushels were produced. Thirty years ago Western Canada had 1,300 miles of railroad. To-day 12,000 miles of parallel steel pierce the horizons. Thirty years ago a self binder or harvester cost $360. To-day it costs $175 and the duty has been split in two. Thirty years ago Western Canada had no combines; now it is cursed with half a dozen.

When you meet a youth that will do any sort of work no matter how menial it may be, rather than be idle, you may make up your mind that he will amount to something. The young man who would starve before he would do anything beneath what he conceives to be his dignity, is not made of the right kind of stuff to cut much of a figure in this world. All honest toil is honorable. There is nothing so morally degrading as that aversion to manual labor, which is usually a combination of laziness and conceit. Following recent official intimations that the Post-office Department was preparing to introduce parcel post service, Hon. Mr. Pelletier has given notice of forthcoming legislation for that purpose. It is practically settled that the zone system of rating according to distance shall be adopted in preference to a flat rate, which the long distances in Canada make too heavy a burden upon the departmental finances. Such other features of the American system as experience in operation have shown to be sound and adaptable to Canadian conditions will probably be incorporated in the new service.

Britain's Drink Bill

Last year the United Kingdom spent roundly $800,000,000 on intoxicating liquors, representing about $17.50 per head of the population, or about $90 per family of five. As the figures include children, abstainers and only occasional users they do not indicate the money actually expended by the habitual consumers of intoxicants. The total sum is slightly less than six times the expenditure on the navy, about four times that on the army, is a half more than the railway receipts, and exceeds by $150,000,000 the value of the nation's dwellings. Contrary to the common notion England and Wales expend more on drink than either Scotland or Ireland.

Large as the total is, it is less by $6,000,000 than that of 1901, notwithstanding the exceptional industrial prosperity. Both that year and 1910 disclosed a slight upward tendency, ascribed to buoyant trade, but it has apparently been more than checked by the temperance agencies. As compared with 1874 the consumption per head of beer has fallen by over six gallons, of spirits to little more than half and to wine of less than a half. Mr. George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance, from whose annual review of the trade these figures are taken, notes that by lowering the gravity of their beer the brewers passed on to the consumers very much more than the whole of the taxes levied in 1910.

Thoughtlessness

One of the greatest evils responsible for a good many of the ills of mankind is thoughtlessness. The person who throws a banana peel on the sidewalk doesn't do it because he thinks someone will slip on it and break a leg. He simply doesn't think. The man who playfully points a gun at another and pulls the trigger doesn't intend to commit murder. He just doesn't know that the gun is loaded, and the thought doesn't occur to him to find out. The train dispatcher who forgets to send a message would never dream of intentionally causing a head-on collision costing many human lives. He always repents when it is too late. And the practical joker doesn't intend to inflict pain with his tricks. He just wants to have a good laugh, but sometimes he feels more like crying instead, as a result of his thoughtlessness.

And it is equally true that the Watford housewife who forgets to shop early and leaves her purchases until the last thing on Saturday night doesn't intend to impose hardships on weary clerks and tired delivery men. She doesn't look at it in that light. It is the same reason—thoughtlessness. It would be just as convenient to purchase during the day time, but she has so much to do around the house that she can't, or think of what she has to buy until the shops are almost ready to close on Saturday, the hardest day of the week for merchants and clerks. If people would only exercise their powers of thinking and be a little more considerate of others this would be a bright world. The greatest sins against mankind are not done with criminal intent. They are the result of thoughtlessness.

TRIAL IS INEXPENSIVE. To those who suffer from dyspepsia, indigestion, rheumatism or any ailment arising from derangement of the digestive system, a trial of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills is recommended, should the sufferer be unacquainted with them. The trial will be inexpensive and the result will be another customer for this excellent medicine. So effective is their action that many cures can certainly be traced to their use where other pills have proved ineffective.

Living Beyond Our Means

All over this continent and in other countries about 1897 there was a sudden and decided rise in the cost of almost all articles of utility. Evidently this was a measure of protection on the part of those who controlled the producing ends of the various lines of commerce; for it was immediately followed by a season of financial depression that lasted until about 1903.

But the upward march of prices has gone steadily on, until, as at present, we seem face to face with conditions similar to those of the period just mentioned. As well as the peculiar and well noted fact that these seasons of commercial and financial stringency recur in cycles of about ten years, there is a further indication of coming depression in the gradual lowering of the bank reserves and in the gradual lessening of the purchasing power of gold. It is true that the world's supply of gold is comparatively small at any time, but since it is a well known determining factor in relation to capital, labor and credit, it ever presents the possibility of the unexpected and the problem of the age for the consideration of its greatest financial minds. Our danger in a great measure is found in this uncertainty, this elusive, mysterious relative value of gold.

Dealing with a superficial aspect of the question, it appears that the cost of living is largely affected by the desertion of the farm for the city. This is one of the pronounced and lamentable features of today's civilization. The finest products of the nation are the young men and women of the farm, who are not only the moral safeguard of the state at large, but also, its most beneficial producers. Emerson said, "In the city one can find the dancing master, the opera and the theatre, but in the country we find hours for labor, and groves for devotion." The cry of "back to the land" is but the unconscious protest of city life against its own efficiency to meet the cost. The youth and the mixed farm will help solve many of our problems.

Also it seems that the high cost of living is in same measure due to the cost of high living. Today we are no longer content with the simple life of our forefathers. We scorn the last year's model in typewriter, dress, automobile, lingerie, battleship, or picture-hat. As quoted by Dr. David Starr Jordan in a recent article, "Instead of living beyond our means, we are living beyond the means of the fourth generation."

The Heart's Best Gift

How often it is true in family life that we do not give to those we ought to love, the little affection, the little signs of tenderness they have a right to expect from us! Be it only a smile, every one should have a supply of them: be it only a flower, there are seasons when there are bouquets in every field; be it only a slight attention, attentions do incalculable good sometimes. These are little doors which open out on the immense blue horizon of happiness. If you leave these little doors closed, those who are thirsty will continue to suffer from thirst; those who are hungry will still be hungry. There are men and women dying in the very domain of affection, only for lack of little attentions. But there you are; you are too generous for such trifles. You offer more; you have all sorts of official attentions on your program. Your poor, neglected wife, who would be made happy by one affectionate kiss, is put off, according to your station in life, with a fine country seat, a new carriage, or a new dress. She could get along well without all of this. But what she really wants, the only thing which is of real importance to her, and which you might give her so easily, you refuse her. "Such as I have give I thee." It is the expression of man's good will in its broadness, its simplicity, its sincerity. If we could make this our motto, our way would be full of light and we would shed light into the hearts of all those who lived about us.

Concrete is the cheapest building material

WHETHER for a silo, a mill-house, or a million bushel grain elevator, concrete is the most economical building material in use to-day.

Concrete never requires repairs, and the saving in repair-expense alone makes the greater economy of using concrete more apparent every day. The cost of other building materials is constantly increasing. The cost of concrete is being reduced.

Canada Cement

which Canadian farmers use, with their own sand, stone and gravel to make concrete, is the only ingredient you have to buy. We have, by reason of our large output and scientific methods, been able to bring the price of "Canada" Cement so low that it is within the reach of everyone.

An increase in demand results in a greater economy of production, and when conditions have warranted it, we have, from time to time, shared this saving with the consumer by reducing the price of Canada Cement. This demand will continue to increase—as fast as farmers learn of concrete's superiority over other materials.

When you buy cement, see that you get "Canada" Cement; by so doing you will assure the complete success of all your concrete work.

Send a post card for our book "What the Farmer Can do With Concrete." It is free.

There is a Canada Cement dealer in your neighborhood.

RURAL MAIL BOXES

That Traveller Coming Into Collision With Box Cannot Claim Damages is Legal Opinion.

W. S. D., of St. Marys, asked the following question in the legal column of Saturday's Mail and Empire:—

Is it lawful to place the rural mail box within four feet of the traveled roadway?

(2) In case a vehicle is broken by coming in contact with the mail box, who would be responsible for the damage?

Ans.—The regulation with regard to placing rural mail boxes is, "that they shall be placed near enough to the traveled road to enable the courier to deposit the mail in the box without dismounting from his vehicle." I should think that the post might be placed even nearer to the road than four feet.

(2) If the posts have been legally placed near to the traveled road, those driving vehicles along the road should take care not to run into those posts. The posts are there for the convenience of the public, just as bridges are placed on the highway for the convenience of the public. If a traveller comes into contact with the side of a bridge and injures his vehicle he would not have any legal right to claim damages from anybody, and on the same principle a traveller coming into collision with a rural mail box post cannot claim damages from anybody, but the traveler may have to pay for the damage done to the post.

A MESSAGE

To Feeble Old People.

As one grows old the waste of the system becomes more rapid than repair, the organs act more slowly and less effectually than in youth, the circulation is poor, the blood thin and digestion weak.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil, is the ideal strengthener and body-builder for old folks, for it contains the very elements needed to rebuild wasting tissues and replace weakness with strength. Vinol also fortifies the system against colds and thus prevents pneumonia.

A grandniece of Alexander Hamilton, over eighty years of age, once remarked: "Vinol is a godsend to old people. Thanks to Vinol, I have a hearty appetite, sleep soundly, feel active and well. It is the finest tonic and strength-creator I have ever used."

If Vinol fails to build up the feeble old people, and create strength, we will return your money.

A Cause of Much Loss in Cattle-Raising

Unfortunately for Canadian cattle raisers many calves are lost each year through the accident of premature birth. While no doubt many of these losses are due to injuries a much greater number are caused by contagious abortion. When this disease obtains a foothold in a herd the consequences are apt to be serious as it is readily transferred from animal to animal making it almost impossible under usual farm conditions to raise calves for perhaps a series of years.

For the information of cattle raisers the Veterinary Director General has issued a reprint of a leaflet of the British Board of Agriculture and Fisheries on this disease which is being made the subject of very careful study and experiment in the Old Country.

This reprint which constitutes a brief pamphlet of less than four pages deals with the subject under the following heads:—Animals affected, The Microbe, Virulent Material and Method of Infection, Symptoms and Prevention.

It is written in plain language and contains information of great value to all cattle raisers and persons who are studying the disease. It is printed for free distribution to those who apply for it but it is not sent out to the regular mailing list of the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, at Ottawa.

Uncle Sam to Build Dykes in Canada

Washington, D.C., April 10.—The International Joint Commission, composed of four members each from Canada and the United States has under consideration in session here, the question of whether or not the Government of the United States shall be permitted to build dykes in the Detroit River, which extend over on the Canadian side. The United States Government has appropriated $10,000,000 for improvement to the Detroit River, made necessary by the increase in commerce on the Great Lakes. Engineers found cross currents in the river, however, and it was found that the dykes, in some instances, would have to extend to Canadian territory, and nearby Canadian towns entered objection. The Canadian Government refused to grant permission to build the dykes, so far as Canadian territory is concerned, and both Governments referred the question to the joint commission.

The Dillon Case.

The only action to come to trial was that of the Dillon estate vs. the County of Lambton, County of Middlesex, township of Warwick and township of West Williams, to recover damages for the death of the late W. C. Dillon, of Sarnia, who came to his death as the result of an automobile accident occurring on the townline of Warwick and West Williams on the 19th of August, 1912, also for $2,500 value of motor car destroyed in same accident. The hearing of the case occupied the attention of the court until very close to seven o'clock on Tuesday evening and it was then adjourned until 9:30 on Wednesday morning. Some eight or nine witnesses on the plaintiffs' side testified on Tuesday afternoon. Before the court opened on Wednesday morning counsel for both sides conferred and the action was settled by the defendant townships agreeing to pay to the plaintiffs within sixty days the sum of $5,000 in full of claims and costs. The counties were relieved of any liability.

CHILDREN IN THE HOME

When there are children in the home it requires constant attention to keep them free from the many childhood ailments which come so quickly—some of them proving fatal while others leave the little one cross and restless and weak. To keep little ones well Baby's Own Tablets must be kept in the house. These Tablets regulate the stomach and bowels, break up colds and fevers; expel worms and make teething easy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Toronto.

Toronto, April 15.—There was an active demand and a heavy run of cattle at the Union stockyard this morning. Good butchers' cattle were selling at from $6.75 to $7 and mediums at from $6 to $6.50, while common grades brought from $5.50 to $6 per 100 pounds.

Cows were very strong and showed an advance of from 10c to 15c per 100 pounds on all grades. Choice selections sold at from $5.50 to $6, while mediums were drawing from $5 to $5.40 and common from $4.25 to $4.75. Canners sold at from $2.50 to $3.25 and cutters at from $3.50 to $4.25 per 100 pounds.

Bulls continue very firm, with good exports running from $5.50 to $6.25 for exceptionally choice selections, while butcher bulls were selling at from $5 and common grades at from $4.50 to $5 per 100 pounds. Good calves were down about 25c, while a further drop was recorded for common and medium grades, which were from 75c to $1 lower than last week. One or two exceptionally choice veals drew $9.75 per 100 pounds, but there were very few that exceeded $9, while common and light grades were drawing only $4.50 and $5 per 100 pounds.

Receipts of sheep and lambs continue very quiet and the market is strong but dull. A few spring lambs were selling at around $3 each, but outside of that there was but little trade on the market.

Hogs were again easier at a decline of from 10c to 15c per 100 pounds from last week's prices. Receipts were somewhat lighter than usual, but the trade was nevertheless active. The price was around $9, f. o. b., while weighed off cars they were selling at $9.75 per 100 pounds.

DO YOU USE PILLS?

If In Doubt About the Right Pills to Use Read the Following Letter Carefully:

"I am one of those persons whose system requires aid," writes Mr. Young Glechall, from Pictou, "but it is so easily affected by reason of the great sensitiveness of the bowels that ordinary drastic pills inflict great injury to the delicate coating, and excite such persistent activity as to be with difficulty checked.

"I wish in the highest terms to express the great value of Dr. Hamilton's Pills in cases like mine, and I am sure also for elderly people and the very weak there is no pill like them.

"Speaking of my own experience with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, I can say they have proved the most stimulating pills for the liver I have found. I have proved their tonic action upon digestion, and the same results have been secured by friends upon whom I have urged their use. The manufacturers are to be congratulated upon possessing so valuable a prescription, and the public should know that so valuable a remedy has been placed at their command.

No other pill for constipation, for liver, kidney, or stomach trouble, compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they are mild and sure always to restore health. Refuse substitutes. Sold by all dealers, 25c per box, or The Carruthers Co., Kingston Ont.

A Daughter's Cruel Joke

(From the Shelburne Free Press)
A young lady in Melancthon Township recently played a cruel joke on her mother and this is how it happened: She had found a love letter that her father had written to her mother in their halcyon days of courtship. She read the letter to her mother, substituting her own name and that of her lover, who lives on the Back Lane. The mother was very angry and stamped her foot in disgust, forbidding her daughter to have anything to do with a man who could write such foolish stuff to a girl. The girl then gave the letter to her mother to read, and the home suddenly became so quiet that she could hear the snowflakes falling in the back yard.

On Good Luck Trail

Good Luck In More Ways Than One

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Lem Harrison stopped and looked down the narrow trail over which he had been trudging with tired, blistered feet.

"I don't know why they call this Good Luck trail," he muttered, "unless it is because you're having good luck if you get back alive. I can't think of any other reason."

He wiped the perspiration from his heated face, settled the pack on his bent back and resumed the steady, upward climb into the heart of the Sierras. Somewhere far above him, concealed in a little gully mapped out on a rough piece of paper he carried next his heart, was a hidden treasure of gold dust. Lem Harrison's Uncle Peter had been a forty-niner and among the first to reach the California goldfields. He had written letters home of a wonderful fortune he had amassed and told in detail how the precious dust was contained in stout tin boxes and the whole hoard cached in this gully until his search for riches was ended. Then he would gather up all his treasure and take it down to San Francisco.

Months after that had come news of his death in San Francisco, almost penniless. His widow, who went west to bring back his remains, could obtain no news of the fortune he had written about and the only clue to which was a small, rough map found among his clothing. This she gave to Lem Harrison's father, who in turn bequeathed it to his son as a curiosity.

But Lem possessed the same spirit of adventure that had prompted his Uncle Peter to fare forth in search of fortune, and after the death of his parents he, too, had turned his face to the golden west, and tucked inside his pocket was the map made by his Uncle Peter sixty years before. For several years Lem led a varied life on the plains.

He had been cattleman and prospector and trackwalker for the railroad, but the lure of gold drew him ever farther westward until his feet had crossed the line into California and he had at last set forth on a definite expedition in search of the gold dust concealed by his uncle.

"If he took it down to Frisco with him why did he make the map?" he argued with himself at night when he made his lonely camp. "Seems as if he might have found more gold after he hid that first lot and so he left it there and took the second lot down to the city and blew it in. I don't like to think that I have been deceiving myself all these years and that when I get to Good Luck gulch I'm going to be disappointed. Who knows but somebody else has found it years back? Whaw! I won't think anything more about it till I get there."

Lem Harrison beguiled his lonely way with occasional monologues. As he mounted higher into the rare upper air of the mountains he felt a great exhilaration. In the distance were snow-capped peaks, and about him there were young pines that glistened in the sunlight. He sniffed the fresh air and whistled cheerily.

According to his map he had another mile to travel before he would reach the entrance to the gulch that was his goal. He had crossed and recrossed a crooked stream that latticed the trail with little runlets, and he recognized it as the stream described by his uncle and from whose waters had been washed the precious gold. In Good Luck gulch this stream had its greatest breadth.

Three-quarters of a mile farther and just as the sun was setting he knew that he was nearing his goal. The pines had thinned out, and he had reached an eminence where he could look back over the trail and see it dropping like a sad colored string down the mountain side.

"I have been suffering from kidney trouble for over five long years. I had also Rheumatism in all my bones and muscles, could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best Physicians but without relief and I lost over fifteen pounds. One day I met one of our leading hotelkeepers, who had been cured by your famous GIN PILLS, and he advised me to try them. So I bought two boxes at my druggist's and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured. I can assure you I can hardly believe it for I had only known what I know now I would not have spent over One Hundred Dollars for nothing when two boxes of GIN PILLS cured me."

Breakfast was a brief meal, and, with his pack neatly rolled, once more he resumed his journey, silent, tense with suppressed excitement. The placid appearance to give way to wind blown cottonwoods and rugged rocks, and then the trail dipped down toward the west. He had passed over the summit, and now the trail led down. He had lost track of the stream of water. He was off the right trail. Where had he missed it?

A half hour later he found it again and saw that the stream wound around the mountain from the west side, and it was there that he must look for Good Luck gulch. The air was softer and clearer here, with a mellowness that it had lacked on the more rugged eastern slope.

Then all at once he came upon the gulch. It must be the gulch, for the stream danced forth from it with glittering points of flame, as if each one had been touched by fire.

Through a narrow defile, with scarcely a foot's breadth on either side of the stream, and then he stood in a pocket of the mountain—a pocket that faced westward and south and was green and flourishing with soft, velvety turf, and standing in the midst of it was a substantial log house with a broad veranda, on which were comfortable chairs.

A cow was pasturing near by, and coming across the turf was a young girl of about twenty. In one hand she swung a shining milk pail, and as she came she sang in a rich soprano voice.

Lem Harrison watched her, spell-bound, convinced that once more he had wandered from Good Luck trail. The girl saw him and, startled, stood for a moment quite motionless. Then he approached her, removing his hat.

"Good morning," he said diffidently. "I'm looking for Good Luck gulch, but I'm afraid I've missed my way. Perhaps you can set me straight."

"Oh, this is Good Luck gulch, and this is Good Luck camp. That is what my father calls it," said the girl, showing a row of pearly teeth in a charming smile. "Do you mean to say you came up Good Luck trail?"

"Yes," he said.

"It isn't used much now. We use the west trail. It leads down through the valleys to Piedville. There is the opening."

ZAM-BUK IN THE HOME

Read How Useful It Proved in These Widely Different Cases

Zam-Buk's strongest point is its effectiveness in all kinds of skin diseases and injuries. Just note how excellent these persons proved it in widely different directions.

SORE HEEL.—Mrs. C. A. Campbell, of Powassan, Ont., writes: "One of my heels was very badly blistered by a pair of new shoes, and the poisonous dye from my stocking got into it, and made a bad sore. For a week I could not put on a shoe, and suffered great pain. I applied Zam-Buk, and in a few days it drew the poison out and healed the wound."

BAD CUT.—Mrs. J. Virgint, of Onondaga, Ont., writes: "Zam-Buk healed a bad cut which I sustained. I was hurrying across my yard one day when I slipped and fell heavily, my knee striking a sharp stone. At the moment I did not realize how badly I was hurt, but I found I had a bad cut about two inches long, very jagged and very deep. We bathed the cut and applied Zam-Buk. This stopped the smarting very quickly, and in a few days it had healed the wound completely. For cuts and bruises Zam-Buk is a splendid remedy."

ECZEMA CURED.—Mrs. Antoine Arsenault of Marquetteville, P. E. I., writes: "I can highly recommend Zam-Buk to any person suffering from eczema. I had this disease and was under doctor's treatment for two years, without any good result. I then tried Zam-Buk and in the end it cured me."

Zam-Buk is just as good for piles, blood-poison, festering sores, pimples, eruptions, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin injuries and diseases. See box all druggists and stores, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. Try Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet.

Lem left her reluctantly and went up to the log house, where he made the acquaintance of Henry Blair, the father of the girl he had been talking to. To his sympathetic ear he related the story of Peter Harrison's golden treasure and the long years of anticipation concerning its whereabouts. He displayed the map, and together the two men studied its faded lines.

Then they went out and measured the distances marked on the map. "It must be here under this flat rock," declared Mr. Blair excitedly. "Wait a moment until I get a crowbar."

Presently he returned, and together they heaved and strained and finally pried up the flat rock from its bed, disclosing closely packed earth under the heavy weight.

Flora Blair called them in to breakfast just then, and during the meal Lem's story was repeated to her interested ears.

"Isn't it perfectly lovely to have such a romantic thing happen in Good Luck gulch?" she cried. "Hurry up, father! I'm just dying to see if there really is treasure under that flat rock."

The three of them uncovered the closely packed tin boxes. It was one of a solemn moment when Lem opened one and thrust out the golden dust. Lem placed there sixty years before by his uncle. He insisted that Henry Blair and his daughter should each have a share of the treasure, as it had been so safely guarded on their property for many years.

"If you hadn't staked this claim some other man would have come here and found the gold," he assured them, and at last he prevailed upon them to accept each a small portion of the comfortable fortune he had found.

His brief stop lengthened into a visit, and his visit stretched into a long stay. One evening he told them about his long and wearisome trip up the trail and how he had declared that if he did not find the treasure he would rechristen the place.

After Mr. Blair had gone in Lem lingered on the veranda near Flora's chair.

"Even if I hadn't found a grain of gold I never could have called it anything but Good Luck trail," he said simply. "It led me straight to the best luck I've ever had in this world, Miss Flora." And with a brief good night he passed inside the house.

Flora sat there alone, her cheeks flushed and her eyes shining. She was glad he had not said more just then, for there was all the rest of their lives in which to unravel the beautiful story of love of which they had just found the thread.

Better to be Safe Than Sorry

G. A. Field, of Sarnia, Ont., writes: "I have tried five different kinds of fertilizer on my garden farm this year and can recommend as being the best by a long way, the Homestead brand which I bought of C. A. Cases. It gave me good results. I do not say this as an advertisement but simply to let my friends know the best kind to get because I know it means a lot to plant and care for a crop and then have it turn out poor. I say buy the Homestead and you will be safe."

Homestead Fertilizers are manufactured and sold by the Michigan Carbon Works, Detroit, Michigan, who will send free to any farmer their book on fertilizers with a handsome calendar postage paid. They want agents where they are not now represented. Address, Michigan Carbon Works, Postoffice Drawer 814-A, Detroit, Michigan, asking for terms.

Insomniac and Tobacco.

The dominant characteristic of tobacco is the fact that it heightens blood pressure. The irritant action by which it does this sometimes leads to still more harmful results. Its second action is narcotic. It lessens the connection between nerve centers and the outside world. These two actions account for all the good and all the bad effects of tobacco. As a narcotic it temporarily abolishes anxiety and discomfort by making the smoker care less about what is happening to him. But it is a well known law of medicine that all the drugs which in the beginning lessen nerve action increase it in the end. Thus smoking finally causes apprehension, hyperexcitability and muscular unrest. Here this inevitable law seems to give contradictory results. Every physician knows that an enormous amount of insomnia is relieved by smoking, even if it is at the expense of laziness the next day. At the same time every physician knows that most excessive smokers are troubled with insomnia.—Century.

Meanness of Moss.

A typical southern "mammy" entered the office of a well known attorney and, after mopping her shining brow with a handanna handkerchief, said to the man at the desk.
"Ah wants 't git a divo'ce fom mah husband, Mose Lightfoot."
"On what grounds?" asked the attorney.
"He's jes natchelly wuffless," was the reply.
"What is your husband's occupation?"
"He jes sets roun' de house all day and 'tends to mind de baby."
"Does he take good care of the child?"
"Deed he do not! He's too lazy. Dis maw'nin' he tried to make de dawg rock de cradle by tyin' its tail to one ob de rockers."
"Did the scheme work?"
"Land sakes, no! Mose am so evaklastin' grouchy dat he couldn't speak enough kind words to make de dawg wag its tail!"—Judge.

Yellow Writing Paper Easy on Eyes.

Oculists have often called attention to the fact that the eyes are easily fatigued by the reflection from white paper, especially when the surface is under a strong light. Since green is known to be the color most restful to the eyes, it is a common practice to use wall papers and draperies of that color in libraries and private studies. For writing paper, however, green is an unsatisfactory color. It imparts a reddish appearance to the writing and makes it hard to read. Yellow writing paper is not open to the same objection. In strong daylight it is softer than pure white paper, and in artificial light is not too dark. Black letters on a yellowish background show clear and distinct. Many mathematicians use yellow paper in figuring long and difficult calculations, and many writers have adopted it for manuscripts.—Youth's Companion.

Articles Marked "Patented."

We are all accustomed to see a patented article marked "Patented," with the date of the patent. It is doubtful, however, whether one in a hundred who notices the mark realizes its importance to the patentee. The statute on the subject makes it the duty of all patentees or those holding under or making the patented article for them to apply the mark "Patented," together with the day and year the patent was granted, and the same statute provides as a penalty for not making that "in any suit for infringement by the party failing to so mark no damages shall be recovered by the plaintiff, except on proof that the defendant was duly notified of the infringement and continued after such notice, to make use or vend the article so patented."—Scientific American.

Music and Appetite.

The majority of the great musical composers had appetites on an equality with their talents. It is told of Handel that when he dined alone at a restaurant he always took the precaution to order the meal for three. Once on asking, "Is de tinner retty?" at a restaurant, or a tavern, as it was then called, where he was little known, he got the reply, "As soon as the company comes," and astonished the waiter by seating himself, with the remark, "Den bring up de tinner; I'm de company." The appetite of Haydn was yet more voracious. He delighted in dining alone and always finished the meal ordered for five persons.

Curious Beehives.

In the village of Hoefel, Sillesia, there are a number of beehives in the shape of life size figures cleverly carved in wood and painted in colors. The figures were carved more than a century ago by monks of the Naumburg monastery, who were at that time in possession of a large farm in the district. The beehives represent different characters, ranging from Moses to a military officer, a country girl and a night watchman with a spear.

A Smile or Two

Teacher—"Name some of the man-hunting tribes."
Pupil—"The English suffragettes."

Little Girl (to milkman)—"My mother's in an awful state this morning about the cat. It died last night."
Milkman—"Oh, dear, that's a pity. What did it die o'?"
Little Girl—"It died o' water in the head after drinking a plate o' your milk."

"As I understand it, doctor, if I believe I'm well I'll be well. Is that the idea?"
"It is."
"Then if you believe you are paid, I suppose you'll be paid."
"Not necessarily."
"But why shouldn't faith work as well in one case as in the other?"
"Why, you see, there is considerable difference between having faith in Providence and having faith in you."

Dr. Newman Hall always counselled fellow-ministers to be careful in giving out pulpit notices. He instanced the case of one preacher, who, in pursuance of a design to deliver a discourse on the mountains of the Bible, made the following announcement:
"Next Sunday evening, brethren, I shall preach a sermon on Mount Ararat."
After the services were over, an old lady went forward to say good-bye, and wish him a pleasant voyage and a safe return.

"Quite the most remarkable case I have ever known," said a famous surgeon, "occurred when I was a student. I had a patient, an Irishman, who had a broken leg. When the plaster bandage was removed, and a lighter one put in its place, I noticed that one of the pins went in with great difficulty, and I could not understand it."
"A week afterwards in removing the pin, I found that it had stuck hard and fast, and I was forced to remove it with forceps. What was my amazement, on making an examination, to find that the pin had been run through the skin twice instead of through the cloth."
"Why, my man, I exclaimed, 'didn't you know that the pin was sticking in you?'"
"Shure, I did," was the answer, "but I thought you knowed your business best so I hilt me tongue."

INTERNALLY AND EXTERNALLY IT IS GOOD.

The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has curative qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it on hand.

The Good Old Times

"We often talk enthusiastically about the "good old times," but probably the present day is more comfortable to live in. How would the majority of women of the present century like to be put back to the year 1670 for instance? During that year the following remarkable Act of Parliament was passed in England: "That all women of whatsoever age, rank, profession, or degree, whether virgins, maids, or widows, that shall from after the passage of the Act, impose upon, seduce and betray into matrimony any of His Majesty's male subjects, by scents, paints, cosmetics, washes, artificial teeth, false hair, Spanish wool, iron stays, hoops, high heeled shoes, or bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the laws now in force against witchcraft, sorcery, and such like misdemeanors, and that the marriage upon conviction shall stand null and void."

Warts are unsightly blemishes, and corns are painful growths.

Holloway's Corn Cure will remove them.

Kingston, April 10.—The remains of the late Samuel Milligan, of Millhaven, a retired farmer, aged 86 years, were interred yesterday. Deceased weighed 370 pounds, being the heaviest man in this part of the province.

St. Thomas, April 10.—Bernard MacAulay, charged with striking Wm. Brunning when the latter objected to the former's conduct at a dance in Yarmouth Centre town hall, to-day pleaded guilty and was fined $50 with costs and damages, a total of $108.94.

Brockville, April 10.—Anna Bell, aged two years, daughter of Adam Fox, an Augusta Township farmer, was burned to death in the sight of her parents yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Fox had gone out to milk, leaving Anna and Ruth, a sister four years old, in bed. They had kindled a fire for the purpose of getting breakfast on their return. In the meantime the children arose and started to play with the slivers in the fire. Anna's dress caught, and Nellie Perrin, a six-year-old neighbor, heard the screams and ran to the barn. When Mr. and Mrs. Fox rushed out they saw their child standing in the door, a mass of flames. These they extinguished, but the child passed away four hours later.
