BRIDGETOWN, JULY 23, 1879.

EGYPT.

Egyptian affairs of late have created quite an interest in European political and diplomatic circles. Several centuries ago the "land of the Pharaohs" became a tributary Province of Turkey, and the Porte appointed a kind of deputy king to manage its internal affairs.

Two or three of these sub-monoarchs have been men of energy and ambition, who have done much to modernize its institutions, and awake a spirit of enterprise in its people, who are just awaking from "the slumber of ages."

Canals, railways and other public works of utility, which are characteristic of European progress, have there been constructed. The Suez Canal brought Egypt into somewhat closer relations with western nations, especially England and France, who furnished large sums of money to be expended by the Khedive in works of improvement.

Ismael Pacha, who occupied that elevated position under Turkey, and who ran into all sorts of reckless financial extravagance, has been recently deposed, and, as a balm to his wounded pride, has been munificently "pensioned off."

This change in Egyptian affairs has been effected by English and French influence, brought to bear upon the Sultan. Egypt is a country that is sublimely studded with magnificent antiquities.

While old time dynasties have risen, flourished and passed away, the pyramids have stood, unshaken by earthquakes, and unimpaired by decay. Hieroglyphical records still remain as perfect as they were, when Abraham "went down into Egypt" to escape the miseries of famine.

The Nile, which is the most ancient historical river in the world (except perhaps the Euphrates) is an object of geographical interest. Its annual overflow irrigates and fertilizes a land, which is seldom moistened by rain.

It is thus that for four centuries Egypt has been the granary of surrounding nations. The whole of Christendom has a sentimental interest in Egypt. Its history of the olden time is somewhat intertwined with that of ancient Israel.

To the banks of the Nile, the infant Saviour was carried to escape the murderous persecution of Herod. The scenes of events that led Joseph, and afterwards his brethren, into Egypt, is a marvellous phase in the sacred records. The deliverance of the Hebrew tribes from bondage, accompanied by miracles—the pillar of a cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night—and the dividing of the Red Sea, constitute the sublime manifestations of divine interposition, that have been recorded in the Bible.

It is impossible to take a view of modern Egypt, without (in thought) leaping over all the intervening centuries to a bound, and contemplating ancient occurrences, which students of history, as well as Christians, must ever contemplate with profound interest.

Mark Twain's literary popularity has excited the envy of some illiberal rascals in England, who are treating him vindictively. To lower him in general esteem, they accuse him of a lack of veracity in statements that appear in his books, and allege that he is not always serious in his narratives. Nothing, however, can be more unjust.

The summer school vacation is being enjoyed by teachers as well as pupils. Our thanks are due Mrs. Wm. Ruffe, of Bridgetown, for an exquisite bouquet of wild flowers.

The Duke of Argyll was the guest of the Post Longfellow, during his stay in Cambridge, Mass. There are rumors of changes and reconstruction in the personnel of the Dominion Government.

Hanlan's reception on his return to Toronto was a most enthusiastic and grand affair. The crops in Wilnot are—hay, good; grain, light, and roots rather backward on account of cold.

Where is the road commissioner for Queen St. It is time the gutters were cleared out. The street looks untidy.

The "Manchester House" and property advertised for sale by Mr. Herbert Crosskill, Esq., is a very desirable property, and will be sold at a bargain.

The interesting ceremony of blessing the chime of bells in St. Mary's Cathedral, Halifax, took place last Sunday. A large crowd was present.

The summer vacation in the Bridgetown Academy, commenced on Monday last, the juveniles are in high glee as a natural consequence.

The annual examination of candidates for licenses as school teachers commenced here yesterday and will close to-morrow.

The storm, that extended all over New England last week, was a disastrous and destructive exhibition of elemental fury. It cooled the atmosphere.

The committee of arrangements preparatory to the off-coming Provincial Exhibition, appear to be busy in the discharge of their assigned duties.

If the "Kentville Chronicle" is to be believed, the floral fragrance in Cornwallis is mingled with the scent of the skunk. "The garden of Nova Scotia" has much to be boastful of.

The dues paid to the Printer are as refreshing as the dew which on every fine Summer morning moistens the earth. We highly appreciate both—especially the former.

It is said that the blueberry crop "Out South" does not afford promise of as heavy a yield as last year. In a few days the "pickers" and the bears will be making the most of it.

During the last week much hay in good condition, was secured in this county. The "Buckeye mowers" and "horse rakes" marvellously facilitate haying operations.

Mr. Chas. J. Willis, of Bridgetown, has purchased McDonald's photograph studio, and is prepared to execute all orders in his line in a thorough manner. See adv.

ARMSTRONG'S TO THE FRONT!—It is the Armstrong's turn now. The rightful heir of Thomas Armstrong, formerly of New Brunswick, late of Oregon, U.S., is wanted—$20,000 is awaiting him.

Just about this time the health of the Bear River relative is an object of great solicitude. Folks finally get so anxious they start off in wagon loads to look after him. How they cherish him.

The "Geo. E. Corbitt" of Annapolis, sailed from Annapolis last Thursday for Greenock, to await orders. The owners, A. W. Corbitt & Son, also advertise this vessel to load apples for foreign ports next autumn. See adv.

Wallace Ross' backers have accepted the challenge of Warren Smith. The race is to be rowed on Bedford Basin, $500 or $1000 a side. Distance, three miles, one and a half miles and a turn. Ross to be allowed one hundred dollars for expenses.

LATCH AT PHINNEY COVE.—On Monday 21st inst., a small schooner, named the "Zulu" was launched at Phinney Cove. Carpenter's measurement, 26 tons. She is owned by Murdoch & Co. of this town, and is intended for the Bay Shore fishing trade. Judson Foster is her captain.

Rumors are coming from the North West of troubles with the Indians. Telegraphic communication between Winnipeg and Battleford, is cut off, and the rumors are that the Indians are in forcible possession of the capital. The report lacks confirmation, and it is sincerely to be hoped there is no truth in it. The Indian at best is an unreasonable individual; you never know when you have him—he is always impatient under any restraint, and though the Canadian Government has always, we believe, done all in its power to perpetuate amicable feelings with the Indians of the North West, yet the demands of civilization are continually driving them further back, and unavoidably encroaching upon what they consider their just rights.

The single seal race between Courtney and Riley for $500 a side was rowed on Silver Lake, on Monday 14th inst. Won by Courtney. Time 27 min. 37 sec.—distance, 2 miles and return.

UNUSUAL.—The first autumnal frost of '78 was in September. Since then there has been frost in Nova Scotia eleven months consecutively; and should there be a frost in August, this intrusive visitor from the polar region will have made us feel its withering influence the whole year round.

The proposal to trot a mare from Bear River to Yarmouth, a distance of 110 miles, between sunrise and sunset, is now off, in consequence, we understand, of a letter being sent from the Secretary of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, to the owner, threatening him with prosecution if he attempted to fulfil the wager.

The countrymen of His Grace the Duke of Argyll extended to him tokens of respect as he passed through several of the United States, en route to his place of embarkation (New York) for Europe. He appears to have travelled without pomp—his movements strikingly contrasting with the vulgar ostentation of some mushroom millionaires, whose only claim to respect is based on dollars and cents.

WRECK.—On Saturday evening, 12th inst., the steam "State of Virginia," 1394 tons register, from New York for Glasgow, went ashore on a sand bar about seven miles off Sandy Island during a thick fog. Seventy-five passengers were on board. All were safely landed with the exception of four ladies and five children, who were drowned in the surf by the upsetting of a boat that was conveying them and nine others from the steamer to the shore. On Monday the third officer, pursuer, and nine of the steamer's crew, stayed in an open boat for the main land which they reached on Tuesday night, but were prevented from landing by the heavy sea until the following morning. They proceeded immediately after reaching land to Halifax from whence a steamer was sent to bring off the surviving passengers and crew. The prospect of getting off the wrecked steamer is said to be doubtful.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday, 14th inst., Mrs. David Gilliat and her daughter in law, Mrs. Wm. Gilliat, the latter having with her an infant in arms, started with a horse and wagon from Croft Harbor, intending to go to the Ferry across a bridge a mile or two, the horse became restive from the attack of horse flies, and shook off its bridle, it not being strapped on sufficiently tight. The elder lady, intending to replace the bride, was getting out of the wagon when the horse suddenly started at full speed throwing the lady to the ground, one wheel of the carriage passing over her. Mrs. Wm. Gilliat, holding tightly to her infant, strove her best to check the runaway's speed but to no purpose. The animal did not stop in his mad career even on reaching in front of Mr. Walter Willett's store—throwing out the lady and her infant on the platform,—and started away for home, reaching there with what remained of the wagon, viz: two wheels and the shafts. Strange to say neither of the ladies nor the infant were injured in the slightest degree. It was truly a fortunate escape.

Notes of a Trip through Williamson. South Williamson lies on the side of the South Mountain overlooking the valley, giving some delightful views and is a fine farming section. The pasturage is excellent, being well watered and of a quality of soil favorable to grass, which accounts for the sweet butter from these parts and fine cheese for which the "Williamston Cheese Factory" has always been celebrated. The cheese factory is turning out as large a quantity as usual under the skillful management of Mr. William FitzRandolph. The Company, at the annual meeting, resolved to test one of their own sons, Mr. FitzRandolph, who bids fair to maintain the former reputation of the Factory for superior cheese. The grain crops are looking well with an unusual average, especially wheat. Potatoes are doing well, but for some cause do not come up even. There are no bugs or beetles, throughout there has never been any Paris Green used. Corn and beans are having a sorry time, but are now beginning to grow. Apples will be light, but some for market. Plums and cherries as usual, perhaps some increase on former years. The hay crops will be above the average. Farmers here do not go into root crops extensively. The sugar-beet, but little or any four, probably the soil is generally unfavorable. There are two carriage builders, Phinney Charlton and Ingram Bishop, both manufacturing neat and substantial carriages. John FitzRandolph, undertaker, has the happy faculty of pleasing the public, even in his melancholy business. It is a very healthy locality and reminds one of the reply of a distinguished physician, Dr. Leslie of Annapolis, to Robert Chambers of the great publishing firm in Scotland, when on a visit to this country some years ago, "How about the health of the people?" The Dr. replied: "Oh, I go for a month without a professional call, they are so healthy!" The day school is taught by Miss Aggie Prince, a popular teacher. There is one saw mill (the Shafter Mill) for the manufacture of lumber and staves. Coopers of apple barrels is carried on pretty extensively by Mr. Holmes Baker and Wm. J. Shafter, by men under their employ. The residences are neat, commodious, and present a comfortable appearance. The farmer's tools are kept housed. The roadside is not lumbered up, and the highway is in first-rate condition, and the small bridges usually so rough and uneven are all covered with earth, rendering them smooth and level. There are two blacksmith shops, kept by Mr. William Miller and Henry Grant, and the public can be depended on to almost anything to be found in a country store at Ass. J. Morse's, noted for his integrity, and by the way he is also Secretary and Treasurer of the Williamson Cheese Factory. There are regular religious services held in the school house and also a Lodge of I. O. of Good Templars. This neighborhood is noted for its good singers and possesses a well-trained choir under the able leadership of Wm. Bishop. Although a good district for the purpose, it is surprising that here culture is altogether neglected, and not a quail to be found in it. Some good hats are exchanged, made, such as Calvin Marshall of Port Lorne, has bought the Cornelius Bishop place and become a resident.

NORTH WILLIAMSTON runs parallel about a mile distant, and possesses most, if not all, the advantages of its neighbor. The soil is sandy. There are probably more root crops. The sugar beet has been planted hereabouts to some small extent, but not to any great extent. Strawberries are picked for sale; also other berries in their season, as blueberries, raspberries and blackberries. There is some good pasturage here. It has an efficient school taught by Miss Cropley; also regular religious meetings in the school house. Two shoemakers ply their trade, Mr. Jas. E. Sanford and Thomas Bartheux, to the satisfaction of their customers. Very little is done in the river fishing; the salmon are scarce, and not few also make their way up. Two years ago Mr. Wilnot stocked the river above Morton's mill dam at Lawrencetown, but if he got down alive they will scarcely find their way back through the saw-dust and over the dam. The people here are not addicted to the dangerous practice of street racing, though the fond of that noble animal. The mail accommodation is twice a week through both districts to every main door, which is a great improvement on the "old post road" system when people had to travel four miles and under to a post-office to get their letters. The mail is carried by the case since the introduction of W. & A. Railway for the old stage coach. There are only two magistrates on the road, John FitzRandolph and William C. Shafter, and much to their praise, they settle nearly all the business coming under their notice in a very satisfactory way, and without the usual forms.

The Dutch case has been closed in the verdict of the examining committee appearing in Wilmington papers. Much evidence was taken, and a good deal of it, considered unfit for publication, withheld. The evidence and affidavits have been carefully preserved for reference. The committee's statement embraces the following: While laboring in the city of Philadelphia in February and March last, a break in the western market here, was published in some of the Philadelphia papers, which were extensively copied by the press in different parts of the United States. Mr. Dutcher, from the public platform pronounced the charges made against him to be false, and demanded that an investigation of the charges be made. He also published a denial in the papers of this city, and demanded an investigation. He also went before Magistrate Cole of this city, and made solemn oath that the charges made against him were false. "We have endeavored to perform our duty faithfully, and from the sworn evidence presented to us we are fully convinced that George M. Dutcher is guilty of drunkenness in this city of New York on March 26, 1879, and that he is also guilty of drunkenness in this city as acted improperly and injudiciously."

The Montreal Flour Market Depressed. HORRIBLE DEATH.—An intoxicated man, Hugh Delberty, was struck and run over by a gravel train, a short distance above Hampton Station, King's Co., on Monday. Eleven cars passed over him, severing the head and one leg from the body and crushing the body into a shapeless mass. The head was found about fifty feet from the body.—Carleton Sentinel.

The Dodge Family. A REUNION AT SALEM WITH SPEECHES BY DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS.

Boston, July 10.—The Dodge family of America, held a reunion at Salem today. Several hundred representatives of the family were present, including William E. Dodge, of New York; ex-Senator Dodge, of Iowa; Abigail Dodge, Hamilton and Arthur Dodge of Nova Scotia.

Whom Victoria Has Outlived.

And now as she looks back on the two and forty years of her reign, what changes has Her Majesty seen in the personal of her Privy Council, her Parliament and her Cabinet Ministers, to say nothing of her judicial and episcopal bench? She has outlived by several years every bishop and every judge whom she found seated on those benches in England, Scotland and Ireland.

Linum is the new floor covering.

It is made by refuting to a pulp, clove-grained, hard, white wood, and afterwards mixing it with varnish and other ingredients which are all spread in a succession of coats or layers on heavy canvases. This face is then printed in various colors and designs to meet the tastes of the public.

Since the death of Baron Lionel de Rothschild, the head of the London house, many of the European newspapers have been speculating on the amount of capital, profits, and general business relations of the great financial family.

Mr. Robert Dodge, of New York, gave a brief historical epitome of the genealogy of the Dodges as far as traced. The first Dodge mentioned was Peter, of Stepworth, County of Chester, England, who, for valiant and loyal service performed for his most dear and Sovereign Lord, by the grace of God, King of England, Lord of Ireland, etc., was granted a coat of arms in the thirty-fourth year of the reign of Edward I. He was to carry on his shield, a barry of six, or and sable; on a pale, a woman's breast gules.

THE WRIF'S SECRET.

I will tell you the secret of a happy married life, said a gentleman of threescore and ten. We have been married forty years; my bride was the belle of New York when she married me, and though I loved her for herself, still, a beautiful form, as all the loveliest possible in an extensive vase. My wife knew this, and true to her genuine refinement has never, in all these forty years, appeared at the table or allowed me to see her less than in the best of her days.

AN EXTENSIVE RELIGIOUS MOVEMENT.

is in progress in South Wales. It is conducted by three young women, who call themselves 'The Salvation Army.' The chief one is Miss Shepherd. The address of these women are producing a great impression, especially upon the rough miners. A very amusing account is given of the attempts of a reporter to interview the principal lady. He asked her, 'How many converts have you made?' 'About five hundred,' was the reply. 'Where do you intend to go, he then asked, 'when you leave here?' 'To Heaven,' said Miss Shepherd. He then tried to ascertain what her plans were for the future, when she met him with earnest exhortations to look to his soul's salvation. She told him that she had no time to spend in furnishing news for the papers, but must give herself to saving souls.

Joker's Corner.

'THE SEPARATE' MAN.—About 8 o'clock yesterday forenoon a man whose form was full of wrinkles and knicks and twists, crawled out of a coal-shed on the wharf and began yawning and rubbing his eyes like one who had put in a heavy night. A policeman lounged that way, gave the man a looking-over and asked the fellow who had put in a heavy night? 'Sleep in the last night?' 'Yes, kinder,' was the reply. 'Looking for work?' 'No, not exactly. 'You'll be run in if you hang round in this way,' remarked the officer. The man put his hands on top of snubbing post, laid his chin on his hands and after a long look at Canada he turned and said: 'If I dunno exactly what I'm going to do, I did live out here about eight miles, but I've separated from the old woman, Yes, separated last night.' 'What's the trouble?' 'Well, she was my second and I was her second and we never got along any too sweet. We both think man know it all and neither feels like giving in. We came in to see the circus.' 'Ah! you did?' 'And that's where the separation took place—right in front of the sacred benches from Japan. You know they advertised an electric light there?' 'Well, we'd never seen one. When we got into the menagerie there stood the elephant. Then came the circus. Then we came to a darned old bear. Further on were the lions and tigers and monkeys, but no electric light. We walked three times around that old tent without coming to his cage, and I got mad. Says I to one of the chaps over the rope and the electric light is the cage with the electric light in it. We want to see him or have our money back?' The fellow he grunted and over, and lots of folks went out, and my wife she flew up and said I'd made a fool of myself. How?' 'Says I, 'Well, the electric light is not a animal at all,' says she, 'but it has something to do with the clown.' We had a big jaw right there. She saved my life and I broke her parcel, and then I separated.'

STING BEANS.

Next to tomatoes string beans are among the easiest vegetables to can. String them by pulling off the rough strings or bindings on either side; break into two or three pieces and throw into boiling water till scalded all through, but not cooked, then can and seal immediately while boiling hot.

Tomatoes.

Tomatoes should be ripe, but not at all softened, and be sure they are freshly gathered. Pour boiling water over the scum, and wash the tomatoes. Wash the tomatoes have scalded all through over a good fire, and boiled up once, empty the hot water from the cans, set them in a pan of boiling water over the stove, and fill them with the scalded tomatoes. Wipe off all moisture from the top of the can with a clean cloth, and press the cover on tightly. While one presses the cover down hard with a flat knife let another pour carefully down the cover the hot sealing wax from the cup, which should be bent to slip, so it will flow all around the cover in a small stream. Hold down with the knife a minute till the wax sets; continue in the same way till all the cans in readiness are filled. Now take a flat poker, or the blade of an old knife no longer useful, heat red-hot over the coals, and rub it round on the sealing wax, to melt any bubbles that may have formed. Notice if there is any noise from the tops of the cans like escaping gas. If so, it is not tight enough, and the steam is escaping. Examine if any holes are found anywhere about the can, and wiping them dry, cover with wax, while the cans are yet hot.

FOREGO LABOR IN CYPRUS.

The Daily News has published the text of the ordinance issued by Garnet Wolseley, providing for the execution of works of public utility in the island of Cyprus by the labor of the inhabitants. The ordinance is dated December 16, 1878. Able-bodied men between the ages of sixteen and sixty, except Government officials and priests, are liable to labor for 15 or 30 days in the year, at the rate of not less than 1s. a day. Substitutes may be provided, or a payment in lieu thereof of 2s. per day be made. Every person who is liable to be called upon to work will be liable to a fine of 5s. a day. If the fine is not paid, a rate may be levied upon every house in the village. Any person who is liable to work without permission is liable to a fine of 10s. or to be imprisoned with hard labor for a month.

THE POWERS OF WOMEN.

—During the last two weeks a large number of pilgrims have arrived at Glendale, among whom are a number of the gentler sex, and in consequence thereof no one can form an idea of the change that has already taken place. Old 48-ers who have lived in the mountains for the last thirty years on bread and bacon and salt on the ground, and in all that time scarcely laid eyes on a woman, can now be seen on the street dressed in store clothes, with billed shirts. There ain't a man in Glendale over twenty years old. On Sunday evening we saw one of these would-be young bucks so much surprised by being asked how he came to leave Aberdein in '68 that he adjusted his wig, swallowed half a set of false teeth and then wore he was a schoolboy in Missouri at that time.—Aberdeen Mirror.

THE SEPARATE MAN.

'Kankakee, Ind., has a Justice who beats them all in the way of doing up a job of matrimonial splicing with neatness and dispatch. This is the formula: 'Have or?' 'Yes.' 'Have 'im?' 'Yes.' 'Married?' '22.' We overheard the following conversation at the Westville blacksmith shop the other day: 'Well, Mr. I have come to the conclusion that I will raise it.'
