Windstorm Hits Atlantic Coast; Crew of 80 Face Death

ITALIAN AIRMAN HAD BAD TIME

MOUNTAINOUS SEA THREATENS DEATH TO CREW OF EIGHTY

Government Dredge Torn from Her Moorings in Atlantic City Inlet.

A 66 MILE GALE

Impassable Breakers Have Driven Back the Coast-guardsmen.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 26.

Eighty men face death aboard a stranded government dredge, the Solozar, in a mountainous sea, a half mile off shore, as the result of being swept from their inlet mooring early today by a wind and rain storm which struck this city with unusual intensity, crippling traffic, uprooting trees and fences, overthrowing beach patrol tents, tearing down telephone wires, flooding streets, and heaping discomforts upon pedestrians.

Refuse To Leave.

About 11 a.m. the dredge was listing heavily seaward, as if ready to topple over, and a desperate effort was made by an inlet tug to reach her and throw a line aboard. The effort was successful, but the 80 men refused to abandon the ship and continued their frantic efforts to move her from destruction as the waves swept over her in increasing procession, clearing her decks of unfastened objects.

Tug Is Sunk.

Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26.—The tug Mildred McNally of Philadelphia was sunk in Pamlico Sound last night when it was caught in the hurricane which swept the Virginia and North Carolina coasts.

Storm Hits New York.

New York—One person was killed, and 23 others were injured, as a result of the rainstorms which swept the city last night, and early today, attaining a torrential force, at times. Most of the accidents were due to skidding automobiles, and trucks.

SAYS PESSIMISM IS UNWARRANTED

Prof. Swanson Puts Face to to Those Who See Hard Times Here.

"Success in the insurance business and in every other business will come only when the people really get down to hard work," declared Prof. Swanson of the University of Saskatchewan in addressing the opening of the annual convention of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada in Winnipeg last week.

Professor Swanson asserted that unethical systems of business must be supplanted by a sincere and broader idea, having for its keynote service to humanity, not merely the amassing of money. He pointed out the great waste and added cost of insurance through the employment of untrained men.

The only way to make the insurance business a profession, Prof. Swanson believed, would be to establish a school for the training of underwriters. Unwarranted pessimism prevailed in Canada, the speaker said. Contrasting the migration from that in the Dominion there was every reason to be gratified and hopeful.

"Our day has not yet come," he continued, "but I am confident that it will. A country which produces 90 per cent of the world's coal, 80 per cent of asbestos, 85 per cent of nickel, a large percentage of cereals, pulp, and lumber, in addition to other exports, could scarcely be otherwise than successful ultimately," he declared. Professor Swanson predicted that the United States would come to realize the injustice of the Fordney tariff, or else Canada would do business with some other country.

EXPECT SENATE WILL APPROVE IT

London Agreements Discussed by French House—Attack on Herriot.

Paris, Aug. 26.—(United Press)—The Senate today started discussion on interpellations on the London accords. Ex-Premier Poincaré was expected to intervene for the opposition, but it was believed the Upper House would show its confidence in the Herriot government, and approve the London agreements by a good majority. The newspaper LeClair says it has proofs that Premier Herriot promised Chancellor Marx and Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany during the London conference that the questions of the Ruhr would be completely settled within a few weeks after ratification of the Allied agreements. Herriot discussed the questions of inter-Allied debts with a group of very important Americans. The newspaper states that the French government would not reduce debts by a single dollar and would insist that interest be paid in full.

Times-Star Milk Fund Nears $300; More Money is Still Required

Although further contributions to the Times-Star free milk fund for the babies bring the total to date to nearly $300, subscriptions have not been coming in as fast as it is believed the merits of the cause deserve.

The winners of the prizes of $5 each given for the identification of the second and third members of the Mysterious Trio, in connection with the opening of the Protestant Orphan's Fair, have set a fine example by handing the money received to the milk fund. G. Earle Logan, who identified No. 2 yesterday, led the way, and L. V. Price, who this morning landed No. 3, brought the $5 to the Times-Star office for the babies' fund.

To keep up the courage of the party, Locatelli and Crossio sang Italian songs, and made light of the situation. The motion of the waves, the cold and the fog combined to make the position of the aviators most uncomfortable, but there was no actual suffering, they said.

MISSING MAN SLAIN, BODY DISMEMBERED

Plaster Paris and Tar Used to Conceal Murder of Aaron Graff.

New York, Aug. 26.—The body of Aaron A. Graff, 72 years old, a retired business man for whom the police have been searching for a missing person since his disappearance on Aug. 1, was found on Saturday, dismembered and crowded into a small varnishing vat in the cellar of 81 West Twelfth street. After several hours' investigation the police said the evidence pointed to the guilt of John Lugosy, janitor of the building, who had business connections with the dead man, and they sent out a general alarm for his arrest in the search for Graff the police had come upon the fact that Lugosy had vanished eight days after Graff's disappearance. They learned also that Graff had with him $600 or $800 in cash when he was last seen, and that one of his business appointments on Aug. 1 was with Lugosy, who the police say, was seen later in possession of a large sum of money. In addition, the police found other bits of evidence linking Lugosy with the crime.

Body Forced into Vat.
The receptacle in which the body was found is a galvanized tin vat, two feet wide, two feet deep and four feet in length. It was used by Lugosy to hold varnish or shellac in which he dipped radio cabinets he manufactured in a small shop in the cellar of the building which adjoins the corner house, in the cellar of which the body was found. Lugosy was financed in his radio cabinet manufacturing by Graff.

The body had been crowded into the varnishing vat. The legs had been crudely dismembered near the hips and were folded under the torso. Around the neck was a rope, tightly knotted. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition. The clothing apparently had been removed. A saw and two hatchets were found in the cellar. They were removed for chemical analysis of particles clinging to their edges.

The vat in its original form had an open top. After putting the body in, a quilt had been laid over it. On top of this was placed corrugated paper of the kind used for packing bulky parcels and over this was a layer several inches thick of plaster of paris. On the other side of the plaster was a layer of paper that odors would not escape. The attempt was not successful. In its lower corner the vat had a stop-cock for draining off its contents. Either through this or packing in a small leak found in the vat, the odors escaped and led to the discovery.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Editor Times and Star:
In view of the many statements made in the press regarding the price of milk, showing the "spread" or difference paid to the producer and cost of consumer, I would like to refute the impression that apparently has been instilled in the minds of some of our City Fathers and others who have the welfare of the citizens at heart.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—President Coolidge will address the 100,000 and more men who will march in the great Holy Name rally parade here September 21, it is announced by the Very Rev. M. J. Rippe, O. P. P. G., National Director of the Holy Name Society.

200,000 SCHOLARSHIPS.

Empire Scholarships to the value of $100,000 will shortly be available as a result of the success of the Fellowship of the British Empire Exhibition. Up to date, receipts from subscriptions of members reach, in round figures, $20,000. This represents a total membership of nearly 25,000 fellows.

milk at the prevailing price for butter is worth 23 cents for an eight-gallon can. The difference between the price paid to the farmers, 17 cents, is borne by the dairy.

Without taking into account milk unsold returned from teams, stores, etc., the surplus milk, the surplus, instead of being nine and a half cents, so glibly mentioned, is nearer five cents. The spread for the last 12 months from our own plant is:

|               |       |
|---------------|-------|
| August, 1923  | 5.64  |
| September     | 5.37  |
| October       | 4.72  |
| November      | 4.10  |
| December      | 4.51  |
| January, 1924 | 4.90  |
| February      | 5.20  |
| March         | 4.84  |
| April         | 5.06  |
| May           | 6.53  |
| June          | 6.92  |
| July          | 5.95  |
| Average       | 63.04 |
| Present       | 5.25  |

An average of 5.14 cents for the 12 months. This is too small a margin to take care of pasteurizing, delivery, bottles, plant upkeep and overhead charges. All inquiries that have been instigated from time to time are unanimous that all up-to-date plants must get at least seven cents spread to successfully carry on.

We gladly welcome any investigation and personally would investigate any suggestions from the retailers with pleasure that can show us how to reduce overhead costs and reduce the price of milk to the consumer.

I do not want to go into a lengthy explanation of costs, seeing that a committee has been appointed to make an inquiry, but would say that the spread in St. John is considerably lower than in any similar city in the Dominion, with an infinitely better article supplied. The farmers of Kings County have been paid more for their milk during this summer than in any other part of Canada and have received one hundred per cent more for milk shipped into St. John than they would had they made butter or cheese.

The handling and delivery of milk today is a highly specialized business, involving expensive machinery and costly plants. This product is also more closely concerned with the public health than any other food. Endless inquiries have been made both in the United States and Canada, brought on by agitation that the milk dealers have been getting exorbitant prices, and have ended where they started, usually that the dealers were not getting an excessive profit, in fact were not charging enough. Unless the dairies get a spread of at least seven cents they cannot carry on and there will be some more lost industries in this city.

If the Kings county producers advance the price of milk on September 1st, as they threaten, the advance will have to be borne by the consumers.

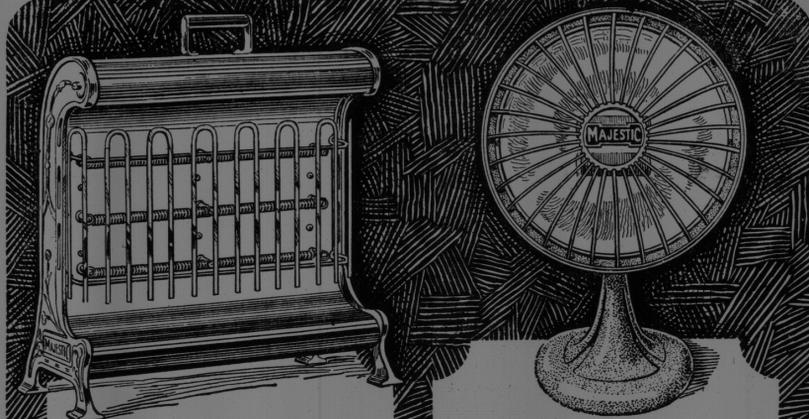

Yours very truly,
FRANK J. DONEGAN,
Mgr. Pacific Dairies Ltd.

This is the New Style Majestic

Here is the very latest in portable electric heaters for home use. It is, of course, a Majestic and was designed and produced to please those who fancy the "grate" type of heater. With the addition of this undeniably handsome heater, the Majestic line becomes the most complete in North America.

The Most Powerful Heater Made

The twin-coil Majestic Electric Heater pictured above is without doubt the most powerful and effective electric heater manufactured in the world to-day. It generates and casts a powerful ray of concentrated heat that rapidly warms up a room, dissipating the cold or dampness.

Directs the Heat Where Needed

Note how the spool-shaped elements lie in the very back of the bowl-like copper reflector. Heat is intensified by reflection. This is an exclusive Majestic arrangement of elements. The tilting arrangement enables you to direct the heat where it is needed, which is, after all, the chief beauty of a portable electric heater.

The Majestic Heater has a double back, with air space in between, which makes the back and handle cool to the touch. It is strongly made of selected materials and is absolutely trouble-proof.

In the chill days of Fall and Spring one of these heaters is invaluable in the home. The prices are low Double Coil $12.20; Single Coil $9.70. Ask any electrical dealer for a demonstration.

100,000 HOLY NAME MEN WILL PARADE BUT WILL GET WELL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 24.—President Coolidge will address the 100,000 and more men who will march in the great Holy Name rally parade here September 21, it is announced by the Very Rev. M. J. Rippe, O. P. P. G., National Director of the Holy Name Society.

President Coolidge will address the thousands of delegates and visitors at the Monument Grounds, following the parade, which will be the most impressive religious ceremonial the capital has ever seen. The parade will be the crowning feature of the Holy Name convention, to be held here September 18-21.

In addition to the address it is possible that the President will come to the reviewing stand for a brief time in the course of the parade. The President could not review the entire parade, which would involve many hours in the reviewing stand while the tens of thousands of singing men passed by, with their 150 bands and sea of banners. It is probable, however, that the President and Mrs. Coolidge will witness most of the parade from the more secluded and more comfortable vantage point of the White House, inasmuch as it planned to have the marchers pass by the Executive Mansion.

The flood of reports with which the local committees are working now indicate that the lump estimate of 100,000 marchers may be substantially exceeded.—N. C. W. C. News Service.

DOG IS POISONED

The dog poisoner is at work again. Yesterday afternoon a valuable English bull dog owned by Francis Kerr, was discovered by Mrs. Kerr to have been poisoned. Prompt work on the part of Mrs. Kerr who administered an emetic is responsible for saving the dog's life though it was done only after a hard and long fight. It is now known what poison was used and what the food was that was given to the dog. A neighbor has given information to Mr. Kerr that will pretty well establish the identity of the poisoner and the matter has been placed in the hands of the police.

Mr. Kerr, who lives in Millidgeville avenue says this is the third time he has had dogs poisoned and in one case he lost two very valuable dogs. The last attempt previous to yesterday took place about two months ago and, as in yesterday's case, the dog was discovered in time to save it. Mr. Kerr is now determined to put a stop to this dangerous pastime if it is possible to do so. On the last occasion he offered a substantial reward for information as to the guilty parties.

There is another poisoner at work on Wright street. Bardett Porter about a week ago lost a valuable wire haired fox terrier. The dog was not discovered in time to save but his body when found was swollen to twice its natural size. A dog poisoner is a dangerous person to be at large. They not only poison valuable dogs but some day they may poison some children.

ST. JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 26, 1924

HANNA ON OUR STATION.

The St. John railway station has become famous. It is featured in the book, "Trains of Recollection, or Fifty Years of Railway Service in Scotland and Canada," by Mr. D. B. Hanna, first president of the Canadian National Railways.

"Take an instance of the problems that beset your railway president as he flits about the country—the passenger accommodation at St. John. The International station is on low ground, territorial station is on low ground, territorial station is on low ground, territorial station is on low ground.

"Long ago," says Mr. Hanna, plans for a new station were prepared, but the three parties to the agreement did not get together. It is not apparent that any real effort has been made by the C. N. R. to get them together.

CANON ARMSTRONG.

Canon Armstrong occupied a place in the community life of St. John that well upheld the traditions of old Trinity. The welfare of his fellow citizens concerned him, regardless of distinctions of creed.

The late Mr. Frank H. Flewelling will be missed in business circles in St. John, and will be remembered for an unostentatious benevolence which cheered the hearts of many who sought to enlist his interest in worthy causes.

The London Daily Mail says that cars have become so cheap in England that people with small suburban houses can now afford them, but there is lack of garage accommodation, which often means an additional item of £30 a year.

Canada is not the only country that complains of some of the immigrants who reach its shores. In a recent discussion in the Parliament of New Zealand the Labor members complained that the country was not getting the best English workmen, and that the newcomers were mainly men who had been left behind in the race in Great Britain and would also be badly left behind in the race in New Zealand.

Old country magistrates are complaining that their sentences of imprisonment for drunken motorists have been reduced upon appeal to the maximum monetary penalty. Many of the important newspapers are supporting the country magistrates in their contention that it is necessary for the public safety not only to imprison a motor driver who is drunk, but to suspend his license for a long period.

According to the British export statement issued the first part of this month the trade figures for July show a substantial increase in the values of both imports and exports for the preceding month of June and also over July of 1923.

Up to the middle of August more than ten and a quarter millions of people had visited the Wembley Exhibition. The daily attendance ranged from 125,000 to 150,000.

If Australia gets as high a price for wool this year as she did last the crop will bring about £60,000,000. That is a real export.

TENDERED BANQUET. Charlottetown, P. E. I., Aug. 25.—J. A. MacLeod, general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, was tendered a banquet by the business men of Charlottetown here tonight. Mr. MacLeod, who is a native of Parks Corner, P. E. I., is making his first visit here since his present appointment.

Press Comment

THE PRESIDENTIAL PROSPECT.

Only by remarkable change in public sentiment as it existed in 1920 can the Democratic party win the presidential election in the United States. Four years ago the country was swept by the Republicans, who gained the unprecedented plurality of 7,000,000 votes and who secured 406 votes in the electoral college out of a total of 531 votes.

Expert opinion in the republic seems to expect close fight between the two historic parties, with La Follette getting enough votes, possibly, to save the administration. Republicanism, but his policies appeal to Democrats more than they do to Republicans, and it is by no means sure that he will not cut deeper into the vote that would otherwise go to Davis than into the Coolidge vote.

Canada is disposed to feel that no administration so deeply involved in wrongdoing can escape condemnation at the polls, even though the titular head of the administration be changed by death or voluntary action. La Follette has little chance of election, and few voters are willing, with their eyes open, to throw away their vote for the anti-Klan electors and Progressives who support La Follette, which is unlikely, the insurgent Republican will be a very bad third.

A NATIONAL DANGER. One of the unforeseen and threatening results of the oil scandals is a growing conviction that men in high places of Government are inclined to adopt an increasing tendency to adopt a laissez-faire attitude toward the manipulation of Government, arising from a new type of criticism of the "dreadful way the Government is being run" criticism of the negligence, thievery, and incompetence of public officials, leading to the conclusion that the country is headed straight for the damnation bonfire.

A DAMNING INDICTMENT. (Ottawa Citizen.) The question of who will be the next president of the United States is one of the most important questions of the day. The presidential race is one of great and abiding interest to Canadians who have a grandstand view of the gaudy spectacle now getting under way. We in this country can follow every new and minor development because of our geographical position and the unbounded facilities for quick communication.

Among the latest of these developments is the publication of a proclamation by the Gaelic American setting forth reasons why true Irishmen should not vote for John W. Davis, Democratic nominee. These reasons are illuminating and of special interest to Canadians. Enumerated they are as follows: John W. Davis is the president of the American branch of the English-Speaking Union, the parent organization of which "has its headquarters in London and has for its president Earl Balfour."

Mr. Davis is a trustee of the Carnegie Endowment Fund for International Peace, and, according to the Gaelic American, "for the restoration of the United States to the British crown." He is also a "member of the British Middle Temple," an honor "reserved for distinguished English jurists and foreigners who have rendered conspicuous service to England." It also appears that John W. Davis has been more than an ambassador—he has been a true friend.

TO THE OHIO RIVER.

(Reprinted by request of M. E. McL.) They may talk of the Danube and castle-crowned Rhine, Of the rivers that flow where the olive and vine Rise beneath sunny skies; of the bright Scottish Dee, Or the classical Avon—Thou art dearer to me.

Flow on, bearing with thee, the tide of the years, Our joys and our sorrows, our smiles and our tears; Flow on with unchanging, unchangeable motion, Like thee, we move on to Eternity's ocean, Till life lose itself in the life of the Given, Onward, flow onward, Oh beautiful, River.

BESSIE H. WOOLFORD.

LIGHTER VEIN.

A Fairly Tale. Once upon a time there was a beautiful young girl. She didn't have the slightest ambition to become a movie actress, or a bathing beauty, or a chorus girl, or a professional dancer. She never entered beauty contests. She didn't even know she was beautiful—but that was once upon a time.

Passing Strange. Mother (leaving Egyptian room in museum)—"What do you think of it, dear?" Little Elsie—"Well, it was all right; but I don't see why there were so many mummies and no daddies."

And She Was Right. "If there is one thing I enjoy more than another," said Spruce, "it is to get to the river bank and sit about fishing." "Why, I fall to see the necessity for your going to the banks of the river to do that," remarked Mrs. Spruce quizzically.

A Delicate Hint. Dr. Norman Macleod was in his day the most distinguished clergyman in Scotland, and he was not only a fine scholar, but a stalwart man, above six feet in height and broad in proportion. One Sunday he preached a sermon on "The Miracle of the Loaves and Fishes," and two or three days later, one of his elders, who was by no means a dwarf, visited the home of a parishioner in Glasgow. The good woman of the house entertained the visitors, and they enjoyed their meal heartily. Said the elder: "How did you like Dr. Macleod's sermon last Sunday?" "It was grand, grand."

"And how did you like the treatment of the subject?" asked the elder. "Lash!" I'm thinking that if you were a minister, you'd be a good deal better off."

and Fisheries, and between 40 and 50 others who were on the platform. No one was seriously injured. Alderman W. J. Hushion, Liberal candidate for the seat, had just commenced to address the gathering and was landing the Prime Minister when a loud crack heralded the complete collapse of a section of the platform. Mr. Hushion was in front of the platform and there were grouped around him the Prime Minister, the Minister of Marine and several members of Parliament. They disappeared from view as the floor collapsed and a canopy fringed with electric lights swayed and collapsed in turn.

The Prime Minister was drenched with water from the jug on the speaker's table. A cry of horror went up as he disappeared. But cheers resounded when it was seen that Mr. King had risen to his feet and was brushing the water from himself. Mr. Carlin was assisted to his feet and preparations were at once underway for continuing the meeting. Finger prints are said to have been forged successfully. CIVIC COMMISSION TO SELL APPLIANCES

Protests Against Power Company's Alleged Rate Discrimination

The Civic Power Commission yesterday afternoon decided to go into the business of selling electrical appliances and hot water heaters and pass a resolution calling on the City Council to protest against the alleged discrimination of the New Brunswick Power Company in gas rates. The complaint of the Power Company that the Civic Commission was selling current in Lancaster contrary to law was referred to but no action taken.

In the absence of R. A. McAvity, the chairman, the meeting was presided over by A. M. Rowan. Other members of the commission present were James Lewis, F. S. A. McMullin, John N. Flood and Commissioner Harling. The engineer recommended that an electric sign be placed on the new office building of the commission at a cost not to exceed $150; that the contract with the Canadian General Electric Company for the supply of watt hour meters be extended for another year; that three 15 k. v. transformers be purchased at a cost of $336.40, and that a man and team be secured at a weekly cost of $28. The report was adopted and the recommendations ordered carried out.

To Sell Appliances.
The chairman said his attention had been called to a report that a complaint had been sent to the Mayor that the Civic Commission were supplying customers in Lancaster. As there was no communication from the City Council about this matter no action was taken by the commission.

Roy Willet, accountant-secretary, reported that it had been arranged to have a model kitchen with demonstration of cooking at the exhibition and he moved the commission go into the business of selling electric ranges and hot water heaters, on a cash or time payment basis; that he be authorized to make the necessary arrangements with the manufacturers of electrical appliances and that an advertising campaign be carried on at a cost not to exceed $200 per month. The report was adopted and the recommendations approved.

It was decided to hold the regular meetings of the commission on the second and fourth Fridays of each month at 4 p. m. and to request the Common Council to protest against the alleged discrimination of the New Brunswick Power Company in its new schedule of rates for gas.

DEATHS

Capt. Geo. Gillespie.
George Gillespie, a retired sea captain, was found dead yesterday afternoon in a small motorboat, the property of Fred Doyle. Heart trouble caused his death. The body is believed to have lain in the cuddy of the boat since late Saturday evening.

On Saturday night Capt. Gillespie complained of acute pains about his heart and left his friends, to whom he had been talking, to board the boat for the night. This was the last time he was seen alive. The discovery of Capt. Gillespie's body was made by Lewis McManus, who, not having seen his friend since Saturday night, thought he was ill. Mr. McManus visited the boat at 3:30 yesterday afternoon and found the captain apparently dead. The small craft, which lies off Quinn's wharf, at the foot of Charlotte street, has been the captain's lodging place during the summer, as he maintained no home in the city.

Mr. McManus summoned the ambulance and Dr. F. L. Kenney was notified. The coroner said that the symptoms indicate that death was due to heart trouble, and since the fatality resulted from natural causes, no inquest would be held.

Capt. Gillespie took to the sea when quite young and followed it to the time of his death. The Marion C. and Flora were sailed by the late captain. Both these schooners, the property of Capt. Gillespie, were lost at sea.

Capt. Gillespie is survived by four daughters and two sons. The two sons are William and Harold, who board at the residence of C. Balcom, 43 Peters street; the daughters are Mrs. Marden, of Boston and Miss Clara Gillespie, now residing in New York, and Mrs. White, living in Yarmouth, N. S.

The funeral will take place from Chamberlain's undertaking rooms this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Gordon K. Parlee.
Mrs. Mary Parlee, 14 Acadia street, received a telegram yesterday telling of the sudden death of her son, Gordon K. Parlee, who was struck by a motor truck on Sunday and instantly killed at Lowell, Mass., where he has resided for some time. His wife and son, Gordon, were here, visiting his mother, when the shock they suffered was terrible. No further particulars of the fatality were forthcoming last evening, but it was stated by Harry D. Miller, a brother-in-law of the victim, that the body would be brought here for burial.

The late Mr. Parlee was overseas in the mechanical service of the Imperial forces, having been loaned by the Canadian army when transportation drivers were scarce in the English army at the front. He went over in 1916, enlisting in Halifax, and remained in the service until the conclusion of the war. On his return, he and his wife, who was Miss Holley Ritchie of this city, removed to Lowell, Mass., where Mr. Parlee was engaged in the automobile business in which he was an expert.

Besides his wife and mother and little son, he leaves one sister, Mrs. Harry D. Miller, of this city.

Following a short drive around Bathurst during which they inspected several of the town's leading industries, the party motored for some distance down the Caragiet coast road, and returning to Bathurst lunched there. They left in the early afternoon for Campbellton and left Campbellton on the Ocean Limited tonight for Quebec thoroughly pleased with their trip.

MISTER BEAR'S NEW RADIO

Santa Claus had a radio to which he gave them.

"Tell me some more news," said Mister Polar Bear to Weeny, the circus elephant. Weeny and the Twins had come to see Pety Polar Bear, and they did wish that Pety would hurry back from his errand at the fish store, and that Mister Bear wouldn't ask too many questions. Still—they had to be polite, so Weeny answered, "I don't think there is much more news, Mister Bear."

Thurston Insisted He Was a Big Leaguer and Wanted To Prove It

HOLLIS THURSTON

Each year produces one or more new pitching sensations, says Billy Evans. Last season George Uhle of Cleveland and Adolph Lague of Cincinnati were the bright shining stars. It is baseball history that few pitchers have ever had two big years in succession. Apparently with as much stuff as ever, Lague and Uhle have been unable to win consistently this year. In the American League, Hollis Thurston of Chicago has supplanted Uhle in the spotlight, while Emil Yde of the Pirates is the big noise in the National.

Salt Lake club of the Pacific Coast League. A winning pitcher in that organization, he made but little progress at St. Louis. Playing the role of mere substitute didn't make a hit with Thurston. He wanted to start games, not finish contests that appeared hopelessly lost before he broke into the lineup. "Give me a chance to start some ball games or else send me to some other American League club. If no other team in the American League wants me, give me a ticket back to the minors. I want to be some place where I can pitch in regular turn. I am either a big leaguer or a busher and want a chance to establish my status."

alone put in a claim for the pitcher, who is now leading the American League. No doubt the White Sox can't pay him big figures for his services. Yet, had Thurston lacked ambition, he would probably still be with the St. Louis Browns, unknown to fame. Two years ago Thurston was bought by the St. Louis Americans from the MAJOR G. H. PHIPPS-HORNBY. The English team which faces the American stars in the international polo test at the Meadowbrook Club, Long Island, next month, is said to be the most formidable organization ever to invade these shores. And one of the outstanding stars of the British force is Major G. H. Phipps-Hornby, who plays No. 2. The major is pictured here mounted on his favorite horse.

TILDEN LOST HIS SECOND NATIONAL

Richards and Helen Wills in Cyclonic Win Over Champion and Mrs. Mallory.

Robert and Howard Kinsey of San Francisco, won the national doubles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club, Boston, last week, when they defeated Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, of Australia, in the final round in five sets at 7-5, 5-7, 7-8, 6-3, 6-4. It was the Kinseys' expert use of the lob and their fighting spirit, which manifested itself most when the play was going against them, that pulled them through. Trailing at 1-2 in sets and with the score 0-3 against them in the fourth set, the California brothers aroused the gallery to the wildest enthusiasm by taking six games in a row for the set and continuing on to gain a lead of 2-0 in the fifth chapter. Five thousand spectators saw the match, filling every seat in the four sections of bleachers and standing on chairs surrounding the court. The finals of the mixed doubles championship brought together William E. Tilden and Mrs. Nella Mallory, defending titlists, and Vincent Richards and Miss Helen Wills, Olympic singles and doubles champions. Tilden lost his second national last week when the opposing pair point on an error or on a smashing captured the match after three sets at 6-8, 7-5, 6-0. The champions put two legs on the cups, and a victory today would have given them permanent possession of them. It was Richards who blasted their hopes. The youthful New York star was on his trigger edge today and played cyclonic tennis, confounding Tilden's best efforts with the most astonishing recoveries and volleys angled to every corner of the court. On Thursday, in the semi-final against Johnston and Griffith, Patterson did not give the impression of being in top form. Such was not the case in the final. So far as could be discovered, the Australian captain was playing the best tennis of which he was capable, although that best was considerably below the tennis he showed in the preceding match. There was a reason for that. The Kinseys played a different kind of game from what the Aussies had been up against in the semi-finals. The great majority thought that their type would prove only the easier for the foreign combination and that Patterson and O'Hara Wood would blast their lobs off the court. But it turned out differently. Patterson's overhead game, except in stretches, proved a big factor. He smashed lob after lob into the net or out of court, and O'Hara Wood, too, was not nearly so effective overhead as he usually is. Again and again the Australians had gained an opening and had driven their opponents back of their base line, the Kinseys would send up lobs of just the right length, sometimes as many as eight in a row, and finally win the match. Tilden lost his second national last week when the opposing pair point on an error or on a smashing

NEWS NOTES GATHERED FROM WORLD OF STAGE AND SCREEN

OPERA HOUSE HAS A BRIGHT SHOW

Jimmie Evans Presents Song Box Revue in "Let's Go."—Crowds Pleased.

A bright, snappy little musical show that presented last night for the first time in the Opera House by the Jimmie Evans Amusement Company and two good sized audiences were present at the opening of a limited engagement of two weeks. The show is called the Song Box Revue and it contained several well staged numbers, most of which got an enthusiastic reception.

The favorite of the company seemed to be Bart Crawford, a black-face comedian of the staff of Jimmie Goode, of Dumbell fame, who made a hit in both song and story. His specialty act near the close of the show was particularly praiseworthy and he was the recipient of several encores. He also filled well his part in concerted numbers. Other principals included John Fagan, Irish comedian, and manager of the company; Bobby Dunn, juvenile; tenor, Tom Abby; southerner, Catherine Phillips; prima donna, Millie Ross, and violinist, Freddie Ross. The Ross duo are both accomplished musicians and their musical number was among the best hits of the show, with the lady member at the piano. The chorus is well dressed and attractive and are all graceful dancers. One of them, Marjorie Loomis, participated in a novelty song and dance, Cover Me Up with the Sunshine of Virginia, in which she was partnered with Miss Phillips and they won well merited applause.

Earns Her Wish

When Eida Vettori left St. Louis she was a milliner's apprentice with a desire to be a singer. After studying in New York, where she made her debut in grand opera, she has realized her ambition and returns to her home town as Musetta in the series of open air performances of "Carmen," to be given in the Municipal theatre.

CONCERT PARTY AGAIN SCORES

London Eight, Back to Imperial, is Given Warm Reception.

The London Concert Eight, which delighted capacity crowds at Imperial Theatre last spring, were greeted with packed houses at the same theatre yesterday and if anything the British performers are more delightful than ever. To sit and listen to a well-mixed programme of song, instrumental music, comedy and chorus effects—clean, refined, witty and snappy—is a welcome relief from a world of mediocre entertainment. Each artist with the Tom Copeland overseas troupe is a specialist in his or her line and when brought together in the ensembles approximate an opera company. As usual the Imperial rose to the occasion with a charming stage setting, sumptuous and tasty. It is not necessary to explain the London Eight's programme or to dilate upon the attractiveness of each number for the whole week of introduction the Britishers received a few months ago nearly every patron of the Imperial a clear idea of their merits and the character of their work. Let it be understood, however, that Suzette is as fascinating a little soprante as ever; Molly O'Moore's soprano is even better than before when she suffered from our cold spring weather; Dorothy Wynne has new violin settings; Joan Duff, the precocious piano girl, is as much a wonder to musical people as ever, while Walter Nunn's cello, Wilfrid Virgo's tenor

OPEN NEW SHOW AT THE QUEEN SQUARE

McAuliffe-Taylor Players Make Hit With "Minister's Sweetheart."

Jerre McAuliffe and associates players opened last night with "The Minister's Sweetheart," one of the most dramatic attractions to play St. John in a long time. The formidable Jerre McAuliffe made a big hit as Earl Bumble, and had the audience in roars of laughter throughout the play. John Taylor, a former St. John boy, played the part of Joe Tucker, the minister, and gave a remarkable performance and was a big surprise to his many friends. Miss Ruthelma Stevens, as Marjorie Morgan, the village school teacher, showed real dramatic ability and made an instant hit with the audience and is assured of a big welcome during the rest of the engagement. Miss Lantry, Len Smith, Belle Tobin, Joseph McInerney, Edwin Francis and Franklin Abbott were all suitably cast and showed they were artists of ability. The specialties were all good and altogether it was a great show and will no doubt be a capacity business. "The Minister's Sweetheart" will be shown again tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night, and on Thursday the company will present "Over the Hills to the Poor House."

'OLD FOOL' DELIGHTS CROWD AT UNIQUE

Real Story of Real People is Interpreted by Fine Cast.

That the public likes a picture that depends upon a real story of real people was proved by the enthusiastic reception accorded the Outlook Production, "The Old Fool," last night when it opened at the Unique Theatre. The story deals with an old Civil War veteran, Granddad Steele, who is considered the burden of the Steele household by everyone except his youngest grandson, Johnny. Johnny refuses to submit to his father's will and goes to Texas to seek his fortune. At the death of his father, his brother wants to put Granddad in an asylum, but Johnny takes him to Texas, how he helps to capture a band of smugglers and save the girl that Johnny loves, is a most thrilling climax.

The cast is a worthy one. James Barrows' portrayal of Granddad Steele is very realistic. Lloyd Hughes is good as the clean-cut grandson, and Betty Francisco is a pretty and capable leading lady. Louise Fazenda as Dolores Murphy and O. V. Harrison as Larry Bellows furnish the comedy relief. The rest of the cast lend admirable support. "The Old Fool" will take its place with pictures which are deft human interest sketches and yet have all the necessary action and suspense. If you miss seeing this one, you'll regret it.

SUMMER CAMPS STOP CHILD DELINQUENCY

Juvenile Court of Ottawa is Emptied and Boys Have Fine Time.

During the summer the docket of Ottawa Juvenile Court has been kept almost entirely clear of cases of child delinquency, and this happy state of affairs is declared by Judge J. F. McGinley, of the Juvenile Court, to be the result of successful summer camps operated by the court at Christy Lake. More than 200 children, for the most part underprivileged boys, have been able to avoid themselves of the epidemic holiday which was offered them at the camp. While the camp has been in progress the officers of the court have had little to do in the city. Where before there had been on an average of 15 to 20 cases at court each week, petty crimes soon decreased to such an extent that on an average only about two cases were brought to court each week during the summer. More than 450 boys have been able to attend the various summer camps instituted by local organizations.

COOMBS TO COACH AT PRINCETON

Jack Coombs, veteran big league pitcher and for the past few years baseball coach at Williams College, will act in the same capacity at Princeton, succeeding old Bill Clarke, who resigned in June. This is the news that trickles in from Williamstown. Coombs resigned his Williams position at the close of last season. Princeton has been contemplating a change in coaches for the last few years. Coombs has had a varied career in baseball. After pitching for Colby College, he joined Connie Mack's Athletics and was one of the sensational twirlers of the American League. He tried his hand at managing the Phillies, but soon tired of the job. After a few years with the Brooklyn Dodgers, Jack became pitching coach for Princeton. Princeton generally has excellent baseball material and with an old hand like Coombs coaching, baseball ought to look up at Old Nassau.

THE PRINCE'S FRENCH

(London Daily Chronicle) The linguistic ability of the Prince of Wales has been much in evidence during his visit to Paris, as witness his long speech in French at the banquet of the Olympic Association. Even as a boy, the Prince got on well with the tongue of our ally, and when he went to Paris for the first time twelve years ago he took the opportunity of testing his progress on native soil. He is a master of French idiom and Parisian colloquialisms.

RAIN DOES GREAT GOOD.

The generous rainfall which started early this morning extends over a wide area of the province. Never was rain more badly needed. MANY MOURN MRS. RONALD McAVITY

Young Matron, Who Died Yesterday, Lived Life of Service.

The death of Ena Frances McAvity, wife of Lieut.-Colonel Ronald A. McAvity, occurred at her home, 107 Burpee avenue, last evening after a lingering illness. In the passing of Mrs. McAvity a young matron of whole-hearted charity and indefatigable energy in behalf of the poor, needy and bodily ill, has gone to a well-earned reward. For a considerable length of time Mrs. McAvity herself had been an almost constant sufferer, but bore her ailment with a fortitude and cheerfulness quite in keeping with her attitude towards life.

During the war when her husband was in the Canadian army overseas Mrs. McAvity resided in England and for a time entered into the activities of women in connection with war-time work. After the armistice was signed she returned home and about two years ago became ill. She was most assiduously treated by specialists in Montreal and elsewhere.

In the death of Mrs. McAvity, Loyalist Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, and the Women's Hospital Aid lose a devoted member, one who in her days of health was continuously engaged in unostentatious deeds of sweet thoughtfulness and help, living and acting true to the pledges of these worthwhile organizations. Many a humble home in the obscure sections of St. John has been made the happier through the kindly agency of the young matron now being mourned. In this kind of work Mrs. McAvity emulated the example of her own mother, Mrs. John S. MacLaren, who saw active service as a nurse in the Canadian army overseas for years secretary of the Protestant Orphanage here.

Mrs. McAvity's death is the first break in a group of war workers in the MacLaren family. Besides Colonel Murray MacLaren, M. P., uncle of the deceased, whose professional service to the flag has been a matter of national pride and honor, there is Laurence MacLaren, brother, who saw active service and suffered serious wounds; also a sister, Mrs. W. L. Caldwell, of the V. A. D. Overseas Club, her husband, as well, and Colonel R. A. McAvity and his wife, now lying dead. All gave freely of their efforts in sacrificing home comforts and business. Mrs. McAvity leaves a little daughter, Jean Armstrong, besides her husband, her father and sister already mentioned. The funeral, which will be held on Thursday morning, will be private.

As Hiram Sees It

"That there babies milk fund," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to The Times reporter "is mighty good thing. You never know when you save a little feller's life what a good thing you may be doin' for the country. That ain't charity, it's an investment. It don't give back dollars to them that gives, but the returns 'll come some day—'an' the Good Lord says we orto look after His little ones. They're all His, an' we orto think about that more'n we do. Now I could set down an' give forty-seven reasons why I shouldn't give a cent to keep an' other man's kids—an' not one of 'em reasons 'ud be with a drop of water on a parched tongue when the reckoni' day comes. But while we're savin' the little fellers we orto be doin' somethin' more. We orto pass a law to gifter the critters that deserts their wives or won't work to feed their own families. The two things orto go together—yes, sir. But if we can't do both right now—let's save the kids, anyway."
