FREDERICTON, April 30.—The fifth session of the eighth New Brunswick Legislature prologued shortly after 3 o'clock this afternoon. The session, which opened seven weeks ago, was the longest in New Brunswick since 1917, and the main feature was the legislation relating to the Grand Falls hydro electric development.

When the House resumed at 3 o'clock after taking recess shortly after 12 noon, J. E. McLeod, Minister without portfolio tabled replies to two enquiries and immediately after His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, W. F. Todd, arrived at the Legislative buildings and the formal proceedings in the connection with the prorogation were carried out.

BUSY SESSION

From a legislative standpoint the session proved busy and productive. It is anticipated that all 103 bills were introduced, but an unusually large percentage—11 in all—were killed in committee. The session was marked by the passage of 92 bills, 38 of which were assented to by the House today. The session was also marked by the passage of 11 bills which were assented to by the House today, which left 88 to be assented to this afternoon.

The Lieutenant-Governor's speech was as follows:
In bringing the present session to a close and relieving you from further attendance, I desire to express my appreciation of the careful attention given to the discharge of your duties. In addition to acts of a private character which have been passed, you have been asked to consider much important legislation and measures for the prosperity and good government of the province. Among the latter are: An act enabling the Hydro Commission to proceed with the development of an electric power station in the province; an act respecting the encouragement to be given to the establishment of an asphaltic in the provinces; an act respecting the children born out of wedlock; an act giving the right to married women to vote at school district meetings and act as trustees; an act known as the Widows' Protection Act.

SOUND REASON FOR EXPECTING BETTER TIMES

New Secretary of Retail Merchants Association Optimistic

IMPRESSED WITH EASTERN CANADA

Norman B. Douglass, Recently Appointed to Office, Visits City

"Perhaps no section of people in any country exemplifies the life and activities of its community more clearly than the retail merchants..."

Big Organization.

The new secretary said that the R. M. A. includes in its membership thousands of representatives embracing 22 districts retail lines of trade, 40 of which are specifically represented in a sub-organization known as trade sections.

While the Retail Merchants' Association was operated obviously for the benefit of the retail trade, Mr. Douglass says, its ideals and principles are rounded to the benefit of the community as a whole and it was one of the upbuilding elements in Canadian life.

CONDITIONS IN CANADA.

Concerning trade matters and financial conditions in Canada at present, Mr. Douglass said he would be frank enough to say that conditions were not of the best, but Canada must face the situation cheerfully, and there was sound reason for the optimistic conclusion that times would be much better soon.

Mr. Douglass has not held any meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association here, but will do so later. He will go to St. Stephen tonight and is to be the speaker at a merchants' banquet in Montreal on Friday. He will return to Saint John in the fall for a convention.

St. Paul's Girls Branch of the W. A. held its closing meeting last evening in the school room. The reports of the officers were received. In view of the fact that the branch has been in existence for but two seasons their reports are very encouraging.

The treasurer reported all pledges that had been received for the coming season. The reports of the officers showed that in addition to the generous Christmas box that the branch supplied, quite a quantity of undergarments and knitted caps and scarves were made for the missionary sale. Also two quilts were made and sold. The total cash receipts for the year were $110.

Mrs. Kirby presented to Miss Florence Young, the treasurer, a beautifully bound copy of Archbishop Patterson-Smythies' "Life of Christ." The branch will lose an efficient treasurer, and a very dear friend when Miss Young leaves for her home in Nova Scotia, very soon.

Ship Robert Reid Stays in City Despite Offer From States

Sentiment overcame any monetary consideration with Thomas Killen, one of the veterans in the postal service for 1897, when he was asked to set a price on the old "Robert Reid" by an American artist, who wanted it for his studio. The ship, which measures 14 feet, is full rigged, and is the only remaining relic of the day when the sod was first turned for the Intercolonial Railway, now the Canadian National.

Mr. Killen spoke reminiscently this morning of the day when the Ship-laborers' Union of Saint John exhibited the ship in a Labor Day parade in 1897. Since then it has been in possession of Mr. Killen who keeps the ship in the exhibition building. He said that it did not seem fitting that such a historic possession should become an alien in its old days, and so the artist will either have to set up his studio here to get the picture he desires, or seek some other subject for his work.

ARE 21 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. John Sergeant of Sand Cove Road Are Honored.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sergeant, of Sand Cove road, formerly of Glasgow, Scotland, were given evidence of their welcome as citizens of Fairville, when a large party of friends gathered at their home last evening to celebrate their 21st wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Sergeant moved from Glasgow to the prairie district near Calgary in 1907, and came to Fairville three years ago. Last evening's demonstration testified to their success in making themselves a part of the community in such a short time. They are a musical family and entertained with vocal selections by Mrs. Sergeant, who also gave much enjoyment with anecdotes of Scottish life. Joseph Sergeant, his wife and Miss Evelyn, sang several songs. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sergeant and her two daughters, Miss Letta and Miss Evelyn, sang several songs. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sergeant and her two daughters, Miss Letta and Miss Evelyn, sang several songs.

Imperial has entered into a contract with the United Artists' Corporation of New York for the showing here next week of the Douglas Fairbanks masterpiece, "The Thief of Baghdad," which is the leading film attraction in the world today, still enjoying extended runs at opera prices in principal centres of population. It is the grandest achievement of the cinematographic art, eclipsing everything heretofore shown in splendor, marvellous mechanical effects and truthful illustration of a subject, which in this case is none other than a translation of the Arabian Nights' Entertainment. While Mr. Fairbanks is the ideal actor for the role of the Thief of Baghdad his outstanding personality is in itself only a detail of the wonder-ful. So fantastic and unbelievable as "The Arabian Nights' Entertainment" has always been to book lovers the moving picture version, made for us by Imperial, follows it page for page with bewildering effect. The Imperial will not charge upper Canadian prices for this picture but will adhere to its 50¢ top price, the lowest admission fee yet asked in Canada for this elaborate entertainment. Because of the length of the picture there will be only one matinee, beginning at 2:30 o'clock but two exhibitions at night, 7 and 9 o'clock.

Lack of accommodation at the General Public Hospital was causing the staff and commissioners a lot of worry these days, it was said this morning by Mrs. J. V. McLellan, commissioner for the month, and R. H. Gale, superintendent.

This morning there was only one bed available in the hospital and that was in the male segregation ward. The institution had 160 patients, of whom 145 were in the main building and five in the annex.

The congestion was worse in the female wards, where they had a waiting list of eight women. On several occasions it has been found necessary to use the recovery room for the overflow from the wards, the superintendent said.

Rev. Dr. D. J. Fraser, principal of the Presbyterian Theological College in Montreal, mentioned in a despatch yesterday relative to church union matters, was formerly in charge of St. Stephen's (now Knox) church here. He was minister for several years and left about 15 years ago to take the principalship of the college in Montreal. He is president of the Presbyterian Church Association of Canada which is organized to oppose church union.

VENIOT PLANS FOR ROAD WORK ARE ATTACKED

Premier Answers Opposition Leader in Debate in Legislature

TO BORROW $500,000 FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Several Bills Given Final Reading at Last Night's Session.

FREDERICTON, April 29.—Provision of the Legislature is scheduled to take place tomorrow afternoon. When the House adjourned shortly before 12 o'clock tonight there remained only the Grand Bill of Finance to be considered. This bill will be taken up in committee of the whole House tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock and it is understood that the measure will be reported for third reading before the noon adjournment.

MEASURE PASSED. The Government measure which empowers the Government to borrow an additional $500,000 to be used for road construction was passed after a brief debate tonight. Last year the House passed legislation which provided for borrowing $150,000 for road construction, this amount to be expended in yearly allotments of $250,000. Tonight Premier Veniot said that only $50,000 of this amount remained available for road expenditure and this caused Mr. Richards to launch an attack on the Minister of Public Works. The leader of the Opposition said this over-expenditure by the Premier was just another indication of his utter disregard for the votes of the House and the statutes as passed by his Government.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., APRIL 30, 1925.

NOVA SCOTIA'S ACTION.

By the resolution passed in the Nova Scotia Legislature yesterday, a vote of eighteen to eleven, not served upon the Dominion Government that Nova Scotia demands all the benefits and consideration due the province "ethically and technically" under Confederation, and that, failing satisfactory action at Ottawa to meet these requirements, the province seeks liberty to make its own trading and taxation arrangements.
Premier Armstrong and Mr. O'Hearn, the Attorney-General, who were the leading speakers in favor of the resolution, contended that it was not to be interpreted as a threat of secession, but merely as a demand that the peculiar requirements of the Maritime Provinces and of Nova Scotia in particular be met by the Dominion in framing its fiscal policy. Otherwise, they said, Nova Scotia must be allowed to work out its own salvation in the matter of taxation, and the control of trade and fisheries.

The Premier, in putting through the House on the eve of a general election a resolution of this character, which is without parallel in any of the provinces in a generation, nevertheless declared that he is not a secessionist and is not preaching "blue ruin." He does not expect of the province, notwithstanding the handicaps against which it strives, but he says its interests have been prejudiced and neglected in comparison with those of the Central Provinces, and he tells the Legislature that he no longer tolerated.

It may be thought that this resolution, placed on the record just before the coming elections in Nova Scotia, is expected by Premier Armstrong and his supporters to produce some action at Ottawa, where Maritime problems have not elicited as much practical discussion in the House of Commons up to date as might have been expected.

It is a matter for regret that the three Maritime Provinces have not within the last year, and particularly within the last six months, arranged a representative conference and prepared a statement of Maritime requirements satisfactory to all. This may come later. Certainly it must be within that period that united action by the provinces would give much better hope of satisfactory results than individual action can do, though the Government of Nova Scotia is not to be criticized for taking its own course in view of the peculiar difficulties confronting that province today, and considering also the fact that the provincial elections are at hand.

BADLY TIMED.

The German Chancellor has chosen a bad time in seeking to hurry the withdrawal of Allied troops from the Cologne region. On the very day following the election of Hindenburg as President, on a day when most of the civilized world was expressing rather sharply its disappointment and disgust over the action of the German Chancellor in raising the question of the Cologne occupation, saying that the question of security and of European peace was being delayed by the failure of the Allies to take their soldiers out of the Cologne area.
This utterance, which had less significance had it not come so close upon the heels of the Hindenburg victory. Timed as it was, other nations are likely to see in it an exhibition of that very spirit of defiance which animated the German people in electing the former Field Marshal. That election is certain to delay the evacuation of Cologne, since it gives a chill to the efforts of Britain, France and Belgium to reach some arrangement which will satisfy France that it is reasonably secure against future German aggression.

A "NATIONAL TARIFF."

In commenting upon the speech of Hon. F. B. McCurdy the Toronto Globe says that in asking that Nova Scotia shall be allowed to work out a trade policy of its own, the former Minister of Public Works "is, in fact, advocating the partial secession of Nova Scotia from the rest of Canada." If Nova Scotia is to have its own tariff, the Globe continues, "the Prairie Provinces and all the other provinces must have the same privilege, and if they demand and exercise it the commercial unity of Canada will be gone."
What, then, is to be done? The Globe answers that question, but rather indefinitely, saying that the need is for "a national tariff, and the task of making it fair for every part of Canada is one for practical statesmanship and for broad outlook, not for hatched sectionalism." That unheeded sectionalism is an evil and a danger is not to be disputed. But just

A Box of Mystery

(Ottawa Journal.)
Johann Southcott has long held the honorable rank of prophet among the people of England. She was born in Devon, 1750, and lived the life of a dairymaid on the downs of that country which gave to literature the immortal Lorna Doone. She was, however, intensely religious at a period in British history when emotionalism was general, and in time became a mystic. Whether or not an interrupted love affair had anything to do with her taking up the prophetic role is neither here nor there. She wrote books, and these books made a profound impression in their time on the British mind, which was peculiarly receptive to emotional religion during the great Wesley and Whitfield revivals. She was accepted by many as one who could live into the future. She gained credit for having foretold events which did come to pass. Then after long sections of her life, she closed her life by depositing in a sealed box the sum of her prophecies and conclusions, and this box was committed to trustees on the express condition that it should not be opened until a century had elapsed.

Ten Men Beat Up 25 In New York Factory

(New York Times.)
NEW YORK, April 29.—Ten men armed with blackjacks and iron pipes invaded the East Side Clink and Suit factory of Schneider, Shansofsky and Saldman this morning, beat up 25 persons in the shop and wrecked several thousand dollars worth of machinery and cloth.
Police believed the attack was the outgrowth of a union fight. Philip Shansofsky, one of the owners of the factory, may die of injuries inflicted by the men. Charles McGarry, city fireman, was seriously injured. One of the men was captured but the others escaped in two automobiles which were kept waiting for them.

Her Hands Were Free.

The nature of the understanding which Britain, prior to 1914, had with France is made very clear in Lord Grey's memoirs. The French were told that if they were attacked that Britain would intervene on their side. But after the war came on, the naval and military authorities consulted with those of both sides, and the result was the plan that was adopted in case the three nations joined forces, but no obligation on Britain's part to intervene in any way.
During the war Germany, in defending its course, had much to say about these arrangements, but they were merely of a precautionary character they cannot be regarded as having committed Britain to any course of action in France and Russia, irrespective of the origin of the conflict. The motherland was perfectly free to take what course it deemed proper under the circumstances. When she went into the war it was simply because Germany had precipitated it. But as Lord Grey explains, the line taken by the government, in which he was foreign minister was the only one that was possible at that time. "No one," he writes, "could then have pledged this country in advance to go to war on pretext of knowing, but it says that "it looks as if Canada were in a fair way to find out."

Mr. Motherwell's Wild Oats.

(Montreal Standard.)
The Hon. W. R. Motherwell has been the victim of a strange accident. Some weeks ago he went to his doctor with a pain in his ear. The doctor thought little of it at the time and so did the Minister of Agriculture, who perhaps put it down to the usual aches and pains of a busy man. But when his hearing listening for valid objections to his estimate. The Minister has a habit of repeating what he says when his estimates are going through, and with one ear forward and the other back to catch every breath of opinion, a stumble may have awkward results.
At all events, Mr. Motherwell got a slight pain in his ear, in a right ear which probably was not pinned back as it should have been, and the family doctor treated it with patience and sweet oil. But the pain continued and Mr. Motherwell took his ear to a specialist who got to work with probes and X-rays and presently discovered that an oat had lodged in the outer labyrinth and was sprouting. It proved a good crop but a lot of trouble for Mr. Motherwell who, as a politician, may have his ear to the ground but not close enough one fancies to raise oats in it.
Mr. Motherwell does not know how the oat got there but his friends are suggesting that he may have picked it up two years ago when the Grain Inquiry was on and his ears were open to that subject. Another suggestion is that he got it listening to the Winnipeg wheat market zooming up to two dollars and twenty, but how a man can get oats in his ear while he is listening for wheat, is, of course another story.

Stevenson's Tomb.

(London Observer.)
The news that the tomb of R. L. Stevenson in Samoa is defaced by the scavenging of tourists is what might have been expected. The fith to visit one's name in inappropriate places is one of the most deep-rooted in human nature; a vain effort, perhaps, after an immortality not otherwise to be secured. In some cases it has its success, like the unauthorized signatures on the pyramid. But there seems a peculiar meanness in competing with a man for remembrance on his own tombstone.

STRONG APPEAL MADE FOR KING'S COLLEGE

Addresses Given by Rev. Canon Gould and Rev. D. M. Rose Yesterday.

W. Shives Fisher, Saint John, was elected first president of the Fredericton Diocesan Laymen's Committee at the organization meeting last evening in Saint John's Stone church...

A plea in aid of King's College was made by Rev. A. H. Moore, president of King's, at the session yesterday afternoon...

Last evening, the lay delegates were entertained at a banquet in Stone church. The clergy in the evening attended a quiet hour in Trinity church...

DEANERY REPRESENTATIVES

Deanery representatives of the diocesan Laymen's Committee elected were as follows: Saint John, C. C. Kirby, vice-chairman, Stanley G. Olive and Lt.-Col. W. H. Harrison; Kingston, Charles Coster, vice-chairman, Dr. Acheson and Lt.-Col. B. R. Armstrong; Woodstock, Hon. W. P. Jones, vice-chairman, Alexander Ritchie and Herbert F. Seelye...

AT BANQUET

At the banquet preceding the meeting F. T. Short was chairman. His Lordship Bishop Richardson spoke briefly endorsing heartily the laymen's movement and visioning its vast possibilities...

EVENING SESSION

At the laymen's conference last night F. T. Short presided. J. Y. Ormsby, the first speaker, hoped the laymen's movement would not be stamped as being behind only one phase of the church's work...

LITERATURE WOULD NOT DO THE WORK

Rowland Frith spoke on diocesan needs, under the headings of prayer, service and money. He hoped a laymen's committee would be formed in each parish. He wanted laymen to give more service in visiting the sick and those in jail or in need, and doing works of mercy...

SUGGEST REPORTS

Mr. Short thought the clergy should give a resume of the synod transactions on the first Sunday following. W. S. Fisher suggested it might be even more effective to have laymen give this resume of synod transactions. Mr. Ormsby said this resume should be given in the school room where questions could be asked...

AFTERNOON SESSION

It was agreed that a collection for the New Brunswick Protestant Orphanage be taken up as usual the first Sunday in November. The synod resolved itself into a committee of the whole for a laymen's conference. Rev. Canon S. Gould recalled how the laymen's movement had arisen spontaneously at the last triennial meeting of the general synod with the aim of keeping active the laymen's organizations formed for the forward movement appeal of 1921...

BEAUTIFYING PLOT AT CENTRAL CHURCH

The board of trustees of Central Baptist church are making a beautiful spot out of the smaller plot on the Carmarthen street side of their church. They are preparing the ground for grass seed and some hardy flowers. Shrubs and vines will be planted. H. S. Wansmaker, chairman of the board, said yesterday. It is planned to plant vines in the soil between the coping and the church. The men on the trustee board are giving their labor to the improvements, avoiding any unnecessary money raising schemes. The plot being seeded this year measures 60 x 15 feet. The large lot on the other side of the church will be worked at and improved gradually.

MOTHERS' UNION MEETS

The Mothers' Union of St. Paul's church was joyfully entertained in the church hall yesterday afternoon. There was first a hearty sing-song, led by Mrs. John Pike, and then an amusing play entitled "At Mrs. Jones'." Mrs. William Sargeant, who ably took the part of Mrs. Jones, was presented a beautiful bouquet of red tulips. Miss DeVoe presided at the piano.

FORWARD MOVEMENT

Rev. Mr. Rose described the Forward Movement as the biggest thing in the history of the church. There were, he said, about 1,600 clergy serving about 2,000 or 3,000 parochial units. Only by having the clergy backed by united informed laymen could the information be spread. The question of money was not to be side-tracked, as the channel of money

First President

was one of the first channels of service. He believed the prime need of the church was a realization of corporate responsibility and that the basis of budget apportionment should be accepted as a debt of honor.

NEW SETTLERS

Col. Montgomery Campbell asked whether there was any movement to bring church people from England to the Maritimes, where they would find conditions they could better cope with, or if all were to go to the West. The bishop said he understood the church people would be brought to all localities of Canada according to their power of assimilation.

PER CAPITA OUTLAY

Rowland Frith said while Fredericton diocese had a budget of $42,000 only 67 per cent was raised. He thought the diocese should be able to raise $50,000 for the budget. He found the M. S. C. C. contribution in 1924 was only about the same as it had been in 1917 although parochial expenditure had jumped from $88,000 to $148,000.

Mr. Rose said the amount actually paid on the budget in the diocese had been on an average of four cents per communicant per week and to raise the full amount required only seven cents per communicant per week. Archbishop Newham quoted similar figures.

The bishop asked if there was any parish where on an average every communicant did not give 10 cents a week for outside work. The synod members answered "No." He said that he said it was clearly organization that was needed.

SYNOD RESUMES

At the close of the conference the synod resumed. The committee on mutual insurance had its report ready but it was deferred until this morning. Rev. A. H. Moore, president, was heard in the interests of King's College. Last year the synod refused to elect governors for the college and Mr. Moore said he had paused before committing to become president of the college knowing he was not to have the support of his esteemed friend, Bishop Richardson, and the synod of Fredericton.

He pictured the sad straits of the college with its deficit of $27,000. The challenge of King's College, he declared, was the challenge to preserve the prestige of the Church of England in the Maritime Provinces. His emphatic announcement was greeted with loud applause.

Mr. Moore read a resolution from the Nova Scotia synod regretting misunderstanding with the Fredericton synod and urging the Fredericton synod to co-operate in upholding the college. Bishop Richardson said that at the last synod meeting no such frank statement of the King's College situation had been presented as was given that afternoon.

NO STR INTEREST

In connection with the Anglican laymen's movement a mass meeting will be held in St. George's church hall Friday night for the men of the congregations of St. George, St. Jude and the Good Shepherd churches. Rev. D. M. Rose, representative of the national laymen's committee, a missionary home on furlough, will be the chief speaker at the meeting and one or more laymen will also give addresses.

Mr. Rose will visit several provincial centres in the interests of the laymen's movement and will be accompanied by one or more laymen from Saint John. He will be in Sussex on Monday, Moncton on Tuesday, Chatham on Wednesday, Woodstock on Friday and Fredericton on Monday, May 11.

Adventures of the Twins

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON. THE TWO GOLDEN CROWNS.

Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz didn't look much larger on top of the giant policeman's hat in Beantalk Land. "I hope we don't fall," said Mister Whizz, looking down over the edge. "It's as high as Niagara Falls, and we would be smashed to pieces if we lost our balance."

As Nick spoke the policeman clicked his heels together and stood very straight, and everybody else crowded to the edge of the pavement to see the royal coach go by. As the three little people were so much higher than anybody else, they had a perfect view. They could see the top of the carriage as well as the rest of it—and, if you please, who should be riding in state on top of the king's carriage, blew the snuff inside where His Royal Highness the King and her Royal Highness the Queen were sitting.

the policeman's hat, surrounding Nancy and Nick and Mister Whizz like a fence. "A-a-a-chooooo!" went the queen also. And her crown flew off and fell right on top of the other crown. "Aha!" cried the giant king. "That's the finest sneeze I've had since I had the influenza. Stop, driver, and tell that policeman that one crown is enough for his head. Three are entirely too many."

When the king and queen got their crowns back they never noticed that company had come. The Twins were holding tight to the king's crown and Mister Whizz to the other. "If Snitcher Snatch is going to ride with royalty, so shall we," said they. To Be Continued.

THE plaited skirt which is the vogue for sports costumes and sweaters is also worn with chic in the more elaborate costume for afternoons. The jacket, which is so stunning, introduces the peasant sleeve in the afternoon mode. It is large and exquisitely embroidered in the manner of the peasant lands of Europe. It is the sleeve of this jacket which first catches the eye, for it is both unusual and very lovely. The jacket, which is short, gives a definite impression of youth. The collar, which is so handsomely outlined in fur, is high, and the cuffs and front are also banded in the beaver.

N. S. ASKS MORE PROFIT FROM CONFEDERATION

Premier Calls On Dominion to Fulfill Pledges Made in Union Pact

DENIES SECESSION HINT IN RESOLUTION

Interests Prejudiced and Neglected for Central Provinces, Is Claim.

HALIFAX, April 29.—The time had come when Nova Scotia should make a determined stand before the Dominion government in a demand for all the benefits and consideration due the province ethically and technically under the pact of confederation, and that the Provincial House brook no further delay in fulfillment of all the promises made in this connection by the "Fathers of Confederation."

This was the substance of a resolution moved in the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly by Hon. E. H. Armstrong, premier of the province, at this afternoon's session and seconded by Hon. W. J. O'Hearn, Attorney General, at the night session.

ADOPTED BY 18 TO 11.
The resolution was adopted by a vote of 18 to 11 late tonight after Dr. B. A. LeBlanc, Conservative, Richmond, had moved an amendment striking out the whole of the document beginning at the first "whereas" and substituting a lengthy preamble blaming the local government for inaction, describing it as being without mandate or endorsement of the people and resolving that it be dissolved and a general election be held so that a new Government might be appointed by the people to grapple with the problems of Nova Scotia's handicaps. The amendment was defeated by a vote of 18 to 11.

NO HINT OF SECESSION.
Both speakers emphasized that there was no hint of secession in the resolution, but simply a demand that the peculiar requirements of the Maritime Provinces and Nova Scotia, in particular, be taken into serious consideration in the formation of the Dominion's fiscal policy, or that the province be allowed to work out its own salvation in the matter of taxes, control of trade and fisheries.

OPPOSES "BLUE RUIN"
Premier Armstrong refused to class himself with the "blue ruin" preachers and declared that in spite of the great handicaps under which the province has labored because of the non-fulfillment of Confederation promises, Nova Scotia had made great strides and would give second place to no other province. Nevertheless, the interests of the province had been prejudiced and neglected in the interests of the central provinces and the time has come, he asserted, when neglect was to be no longer tolerated.

QUESTION OF PROBLEMS.
Hon. Mr. O'Hearn said the question was not one of Maritime rights, but one of Maritime problems and he held that any action the province might take to force the Federal Government to safeguard Nova Scotia's interests or to allow the province to work out its own salvation, was not treason to the Empire, even though Nova Scotians took up arms to gain their just deserts.

CALLS IT UNNECESSARY.
A. R. Richardson, Independent, Cape Breton, spoke against the resolution, which he said should not be necessary.

MANIAC KILLS WIFE WHO GUARDED HIM

Shooting is Sequel to Her Plea That Keep Him From Asylum.

HUNTINGTON, L. I., April 29.—Six months ago the wife of John Davern, former telephone company foreman and night watchman at the Marshall Field estate at Lloyd's Neck, prevailed on a local health officer not to sign the paper committing her husband to the insane asylum. Early last night he shot and killed her while their four children were away. His wife died on the way to the hospital. Davern was captured by Constable Walker and Traffic Policeman Phillips.

Davern and his wife, Elizabeth, have been married twenty-five years, fifteen of which they have spent here. About two years ago Davern left the employ of the New York Telephone Company and took the job of night watchman at the Marshall Field estate. When he began to show signs of derangement last year he left that position also. Neighbors, alarmed at his symptoms, called in Dr. B. P. Maclean, the health officer, who decided to commit him to the State Hospital for the Insane at Kings Park.

Were Alone.
At Mrs. Davern's earnest solicitation he did not sign the papers, which had already been drawn up. For a time Davern's condition improved. The couple were alone when the shooting happened. The four children had gone for a motor ride. No one saw the killing, but from what the constable and the policeman found when they rushed in it was believed that the first shot was fired in the dining room. Mrs. Davern had evidently been trying to calm her husband when he drew a pistol and fired.

He was a Confederationist all his life and believed that the requirements of Nova Scotia could be attended to by the Nova Scotia members in the House of Commons, if proper action were taken. He did not believe that the fiscal policy could be changed in such a way as to bring prosperity to Nova Scotia. The remedy for Maritime ills rested with the Maritime people, he said.

ACCUSES GOVERNMENT.
Dr. B. A. LeBlanc, Conservative, Richmond, accused the Government with bringing in a resolution identical with that moved two years ago by Howard Corning, Conservative, Yarmouth, and strongly opposed by the Government and objected to its having been brought down on the eve of its passage to be followed at once by a general election.

MOTHER IN LAW SUED FOR ALIENATION

Mrs. McCormick - Goodheart Brings Action For $200,000 - Divorce May Follow.

CHICAGO, April 30.—International complications enter into the suit brought today, wherein Mrs. Gladys McCormick-Goodhart, the English wife of P. Hamilton McCormick-Goodhart, asks $200,000 damages from her mother-in-law, Mrs. Nettie McCormick-Goodhart, daughter of the late Leander J. McCormick.

The suit grows out of the separation of the P. Hamilton McCormick-Goodharts. It is intimated another suit, probably for divorce and asking custody of the two children of the couple, may follow the alienation suit.

Mrs. Nettie McCormick-Goodhart, the defendant, is living in Washington N. Y., a cousin, is the residuary legatee and has the custody of one of the children. Her husband, Frederick K. McCormick-Goodhart, died last September. Mrs. Nettie McCormick-Goodhart is in Washington to be near her son, Leander J., who is an attaché of the British Embassy. After her marriage to the English lawyer she linked her family name with his, explaining the McCormick-Goodhart.

We All Pay.
(Winnipeg Tribune.)
It cannot be too strongly emphasized that all the burden of cost of transportation services, beyond the point where they are merely adequate, falls on Canadian trade and industry. Every time a dining-car or parlor-car service is added to a train, not because there is a profitable demand for it but because the other railway offers the service, the load is increased. Every time two trains start out over the competing lines where one would serve the need of the people, all industry is taxed to pay for them.

What the country wants is keen examination by the railway heads to cut out every dollar of such unnecessary expense—in brief, the conduct of the transportation business of the country as if it were in the hands of a single company. When that is accomplished both the railways and the country will be far more prosperous.

This rather pretty girl is Lucille Upton, young sister of the much-married Peggy Joyce. The photograph was sent out to newspapers by a theatrical press agent, with the announcement that Martin B. This circumstance, so the story ran, had led friends of Miss Upton to believe that the engagement had been broken, since Miss Upton had not been at the pier to see him off. All of which made a bit of light gossip for the light-heads of Broadway. Also, it put the name of Miss Upton prominently in the prints. However, the next day word was sent out that the engagement had not been broken and that she wedding had been set for September. Miss Upton's career on the stage has been rather an obscure one. That of her sister Peggy would have been just as obscure had it not been for the prominence of her marital affairs.

QUORNTON AGAINST FUSION OF RAILWAYS

C. N. R. CHIEF IS IN FAVOR OF CO-OPERATION

Tells Newspaper People Why Scheme of Amalgamation Would Not Work

TOO BIG SYSTEM FOR PRIVATE OPERATION

Under Public Control, Question of Patronage Would Cause Difficulties.

By Canadian Press. TORONTO, April 30.—Co-operation between the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific Railways, with the aim of eliminating waste and improving the financial position of both systems, rather than amalgamation, was the policy advocated by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C. N. R., at the annual dinner of the Canadian Daily Newspaper Association last night.

Sir Henry said he appreciated that there has been a great deal of speculation as to the possible attitude or action of the two railways, with regard to amalgamation, but so far as he could see, it would not matter what form any amalgamation took, there would be criticism from the public.

PRIVATE OWNERSHIP For instance, if the systems should be amalgamated, and should come under private ownership, the public would immediately cry that it was too big a system to come under a privately owned monopoly. And if on the other hand it became a state-owned system, the public would also object to the effect that, through the purchasing services which would be established, there would be the possibility of political power being able to retain the seats of offices through the patronage which would be extended to any case there through the disaffection and criticism.

FINANCE QUESTION Sir Henry also felt that there was a great deal of misconception both in Canada and the United States, with regard to the ownership of Canadian National. State ownership of railways must not be condemned on the showing of the C. N. R. The railway problem in Canada, he continued, was the subject of a great deal of loose talk, and a false impression had spread into the United States.

Before the situation could be analyzed, he said, it should be borne in mind that the C. N. R. system did not exist as a state ownership proposition because the principle of the government considered the advisability of a state ownership system and decided upon it. The situation was far different from that. It was, instead, a case of taking over the lines as a state ownership proposition and saving the investment of the Dominion, or following them to fall into the hands of the receiver. So state ownership should not be judged under conditions such as that.

One-Piece Bathing Suit in Palestine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 30.—One-piece bathing suits are worn by the women in Palestine, while the men wear nothing but swimming trunks, according to Benjamin Lipschutz of Philadelphia, a cigar manufacturer, who has just returned from Europe. "I gave this information to Mayor Edward L. Bader, who regulates the bathing suit styles on the beach here. 'At one of the beaches at Tel-Aviv, Palestine,' said Mr. Lipschutz, 'the Annette Kellerman suit for women is the rule. I was shocked, but was advised that it was not necessary for me to look. I am certain that the surf attire in the Palestine would not pass the regulations on the Atlantic City beach.'

H. Armstrong, following the adjournment of tonight's session of the House of Assembly.

CONSERVATIVES OPPOSE; VOTE, 31 TO 12

Flewelling Amendment, Termed Low Political Manoeuvring, Is Lost.

By D. LEO DOLAN. Times-Star Staff Correspondent. FREDERICTON, April 29.—Following a debate, which, though brief, was productive of some interesting speeches, the Government's Grand Falls legislation passed second reading in the House at 8:45 o'clock tonight with a majority of 19.

The bill received the unanimous support of both the Liberals and Progressives in the House, while the entire Conservative opposition voted for the Flewelling amendment which requested in effect that the actual work of construction at Grand Falls be deferred until after the general elections this year.

Thirty-one members of the House registered their vote in support of the bill, while the opposition was able to muster but 12 supporters for the Flewelling amendment. Although Scott D. Gupill, of Charlottetown, sits with the Farmers' group in the House, it is known to be a supporter of the Conservatives in the province, and his vote in favor of the Flewelling amendment occasioned no surprise. However, 12 official farmers' bloc followed their leader A. Chase Pawcutt, of Westmorland, who spoke in support of the measure early in the afternoon, and tonight Sampey J. Burlock, of Carleton, made one of the strongest supporting speeches of the debate, endorsing the Grand Falls undertaking and making a rather pointed attack on the opposition amendment.

There were three absentees from the Merseaux ranks tonight, Hon. D. W. Merseaux, Minister of Agriculture, being confined to his home at Fredericton Junction; George H. King, of Queens, being forced to leave for his home this evening owing to illness, and J. D. McKenna being out of the House owing to urgent private business.

Mr. King was paired with Mr. Peck, of Albert, and after the vote had been recorded, the latter declared that he had not been paired, he would have supported the amendment.

MANY DEBATE FEATURES. There were many features to the debate today, first came Premier Veniot's declaration that the Grand Falls project would be undertaken this year as a government-controlled and operated government-owned project.

BILL FOR ABATTOIR PASSES N. B. HOUSE

Members of All Three Parties Unite in Measure to Guarantee Bonds.

With members of all parties in the House expressing approval of the legislation, the Government bill which provides for the guaranteeing of bonds to an amount not exceeding $100,000 to aid in the establishment of a pork packing plant, abattoir and cold storage in Saint John was adopted last night in the Legislature at Fredericton.

enterprise. Then followed the speech of C. D. Richards, leader of the Opposition, who vigorously assailed the Government for its haste in forcing in the legislation through the House, declared that no interest in the province would suffer by the delay, and wound up with a sensational attack on the veracity of the Premier.

RAND'S CONTRIBUTION.
But the most delectable contribution to the debate came from Hon. Ivan C. Rand, Attorney-General, whose speech today was just such an effort as to maintain him in his position as the debating ace of the Government. Delivered with a vigor and animation that stirred the House, and particularly the government supporters. Hon. Mr. Rand's speech was replete with ridicule of the opposition amendment.

CALLS MOTION NAMES.

Mr. Rand answered Mr. Richards' attack on the bill in words that left no occasion for doubt as to their meaning calling the Flewelling amendment as low, small, mean, petty political maneuvering and jockeying by a party that throughout the session had given the most complete exhibition of political paralysis ever witnessed in the legislative halls of any country.

Mr. Rand also took occasion to reply to Mr. Richards' attack on the Premier, declaring that the reference made by the leader of the Opposition to the connection between the International Paper Company and the Government might "be worthy of the man who made it but unworthy before the House of which he was a member."

Mr. Rand's effort was a forcible analysis of the Opposition's amendment, a speech that started the Government of which he is such a brilliant member on the offensive and practically closed the case for the Liberal party in the House.

It is significant that after Mr. Rand's address the Liberal members refrained from taking any further part in the debate and were satisfied to await the division which came early in the evening.

PREMIER'S CHARGES.

Premier Veniot confined his remarks on the amendment almost entirely to a statement that he had prepared and which he read to the House. He declared that the amendment was solely a method adopted by the Opposition to delay the Grand Falls project and charged further that the tactics adopted by the Opposition were the same as those being utilized by the "big interests" who are endeavoring as far as possible to monopolize the most valuable of New Brunswick's resources. Further, the Premier asserted in strong language that the Opposition had made reference to the debt of the province in the hope of blinding the real issue and he went on to tell of the immense amount of data and information that had been given by the Government rela-

"All the good airplanes can do in civil life," Sir Hugh said, "cannot balance the harm they may do in war."

SURVEY HARD WOODS IN MAINE COUNTIES

Experts to Investigate Possibilities of Getting Materials For Furniture.

The Bangor and Aroostook Railroad has informed Governor Brewster of Maine that it has engaged the services of one of the country's experts on the subject of hard woods and that he will begin making a study of the hard wood resources of the state May 1, particularly in Aroostook, Piscataquis and Penobscot counties, with reference to its use in manufacturing.

Blaine S. Viles of Augusta also has informed Governor Brewster that he has engaged the services of an expert in the use of hard wood and will have a survey made of Somerset, Oxford and Hancock counties to see what they have to offer that might prove attractive to manufacturers.

These experts are men who are in close touch with the furniture manufacturers of Michigan and other states where the hard wood industry has achieved great proportions and if their surveys are satisfactory their reports will have considerable weight in establishing these manufacturers in establishing branches of their business in Maine. The intention is to examine the character of the hard woods that are to be found in the sections of the state which are to be examined and to report upon the method by which they can be transported so as to be made available to industries of various kinds. Governor Brewster also has been assured of some co-operation at the hands of the Federal Government officials in carrying on this survey and it is anticipated that as a result of what is to be done, encouragement may be given manufacturers in other parts of the country to establish plants in Maine.

INDIFFERENCE OF VOTERS HELPS TO LABOR CAUSE

Effect of This Is Seen in Local Elections in England

ANXIOUS OVER EARL BALFOUR IN EAST

Alarm Caused by Damascus Rioting—News Topics of London.

Correspondence of The Times-Star. LONDON, April 29.—A notable example of minority control through majority subservience is afforded by the local elections throughout the country. Though the full returns of these contests are never published, there is adequate evidence that owing to a farcical percentage of non-voters, the Labor Party's gains are steadily growing, and most of the Labor men and women returned to take part in local government are of the most advanced views. Liberals are much perturbed by the extent to which in many parts of the country their cause is apparently being eliminated. It seems that more even than in parliamentary politics the tendency is to a popular inclination to avoid "the middleman." It has been said that the Liberal Party in the present House of Commons could travel in a motor-bus. The Liberal Party in the L. C. C. could do so now in a taxi.

EARL BALFOUR'S TOUR
Anxiety as to Earl Balfour's Middle East trip, widely entertained by his friends and admirers when the veteran statesman set out for Jerusalem, deepened into real alarm when the Damascus rioting occurred. Happily, "A. J. B." seems to have come through a testing ordeal with his usual sangfroid, and the casualties involved are reported to be slight. But there is much indignation in London over the way Earl Balfour's trip has been managed. It was well-known that his Damascus visit was menaced by ugly possibilities, and in the circumstances it is inexplicable that Palestine officials allowed him to run such needless and serious risks. What was likely to ensue when Earl Balfour went to Damascus, was presumably as well-known to the intelligence staff as to the French, and it was indicated by at least one newspaper correspondent. Official inquiries are likely to be made as to why no warning was conveyed to the veteran earl.

DECREPIT LONDON
The old nursery song about London Bridge is coming too true of London as a whole. We are suffering from extreme architectural decrepitude, perhaps hastened by the shocks of aerial warfare. It is curious that suddenly such famous edifices as Waterloo Bridge, St. Paul's, and 10 Downing street should be menaced with collapse, and remarkable that, while these comparatively youthful buildings show emulthood, such century-beaten veterans as Westminster Hall and the Tower still stand hale and hearty. Doubtless the world's most famous city de sac, where British history is written, and famous personages consort. About 50 years ago it was rebuilt, all except Numbers 10 and 11, the official homes of the Prime Minister and the Chancellor of the Exchequer, which date back about two centuries. It was in Downing street that Nelson and Wellington met for the only time in their lives.

far from his office, a small forgotten city backwater, where for weeks he left his car daily without molestation from the police or motor thieves. One lunch hour, going for his car, he found two constables making elaborate notes of his number, &c. He backed out of view, went back to his office and, ringing up Scotland Yard, asked assistance in finding his missing car which had "disappeared" from his office front door. Later, Scotland Yard elatedly informed him that the "stolen" car was recovered and directed him where to find it. As he released the catches and prepared to drive off the city man warmly congratulated the police on their smart work.

DINING FOR A LIVING
It is not only the dancing man who can earn an occasional guinea by his social accomplishments, as a young friend of mine discovered to his embarrassment last night. He had been invited to dine at the house of a well-known lady, whom he did not know very well, and found himself one of 24 guests. About ten he made his hostess good-night, but was kept for a minute or two on the doorstep while the footman called a taxi. As he stood there his hostess' secretary ran down the stairs, and thrust an envelope into his hand. Inside it he found a guinea, and a slip of paper reading: "Fee agreed with Mr. Blank." This morning he wonders if he ought to return the guinea, and admit he knows some of the guests were hired talkers, or keep it, and spare his hostess embarrassment.

A MODEL FAMILY
In the Bohemian quarter of Tottenham Court Road there is a family group of 16 Italians, all of whom earn or add to their income by acting as artists' models. They are all remarkable either for perfect features or perfect physique. The father was Italian, and used to sit to painters in his own country. His four children, Leopoldine (17), Gilda (16), Marietta (17), and Victor (18), are all models. Leopoldine, a girl with perfect figure and features, sat for a statue exhibited at Wembley last year, and Marietta was model for an old painting also exhibited there. Another branch of the family, numbering 11, all sit for artists. Most of them began as babies. All six have the wonderful olive coloring that artists love.

RUGGER PLAYERS

It is amusing to note how most of the London sporting writers comment on the France and England rugger match. The English side is referred to as a team of elderly dodderers who were extremely lucky to snatch a narrow victory over younger and more alert opponents. Coming down to inconvenient facts, the average age of the French team was slightly more than that of our men, and, as to the "luck" the rugger rules provide that, with normal place-kicking, a try scored right behind the posts, penetrating the enemy's centre, is more valuable than one scored far out on the wings. The English captain, the redoubtable "Wakers," who is nearly the veteran of the English side, played one of the greatest games of his career, and is, after all, merely an old gentleman of 31. I understand that he has no pashillanous thoughts of retirement yet awhile, and, though several of this season's English "caps" will disappear from next season's team, the English selection committee has several eligible youngsters just down from public school rugger to fill the vacancies.

ANOTHER VETERAN

I wonder what the London critics would have said about some of the famous giants of past rugger days—men like Arthur Gould, the Welsh captain and incomparable three-quarter, for example. He played well past athletic middle-age, without much diminution of brilliance in his form, and I remember manoeuvring against "Jim" Valentine, perhaps the greatest three-quarter of all time, when the sturdy Swinton collier was 42. There was nothing much the matter with "Jim" as a county player then. An old member of the Stratford-on-Avon rugger team, which was a fine side before the war, tells me Arthur Gould once played for them. They found out he was visiting friends near Shakespeare's town, and he readily consented to turn out for them one Saturday. He was quite a veteran then, but his contribution to the afternoon's debate consisted of seven tries.

INDIAN CHIEF IS SEEKING HOLIDAY

Wants Special Day For People of His Race in Colorado—Educational Matter.

DENVER, Colo., April 29.—Indians in Colorado, led by Chief White Eagle Craig, a descendant of the San Juan tradition, have started a movement to designate as Indian Day by the state legislature with the ultimate view of making it a national holiday.

On that day Chief White Eagle advocates that all grade school children in the United States be taught Indian ways, folklore and tradition in order that the illusion now surrounding that race be dispelled.

Chief White Eagle, an official of the American Indian Teepee organization, has made several speeches over the West, each time appearing in the full regalia of his tribe. He wears a huge eagle feather headdress, and a customary blanket with beads and fanciful embroidery. He carries a stone tomahawk.

In a recent speech to the Colorado legislature, the picturesque Indian chief bitterly denounced eastern manufacturers who make cheap Indian products and sell them over the country as the genuine articles. The United States Government, he said, should forbid such practices.

Education Matter.
Present methods of schooling Indian children do not meet the approval of the San Juan tribesman.

"Why relegate the Indians, whom President Coolidge last year admitted to the franchise, to special Indian schools?" he asks. "Why permit them the white man's education and then ostracize them from the advantages and social relations of white children?"

Concerning the matter of modern dances, Chief White Eagle is especially vehement. He pleads for the preservation of the primitive Indian dances, which, he says, are among the sacred traditions of the Indians. All of them are of a religious nature, he says.

"If any dances should be forbidden," he insists, "they should be the American chicken-yard dances. I ask you if any American buck would dance all night without a 'jane' on his arm?"

Indian bucks and squaws always dance by themselves, he said.

A prairie chicken stopped a fast express train in Canada by flying into the headlights and extinguishing it.

HURLS ACID ON GIRL

Man Then Burns Hands Trying to Remove Fluid From Her Face.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Theodore Giguere, a chauffeur, splashed the contents of a five-ounce bottle of nitric acid into the face of Miss Marie Ladurantaye when she told him that she did not love him any more and was going to leave him after having lived with him for two years. A moment later, as the girl lay screaming on the ground, Giguere burned his own hands trying to wipe the acid from her face.

Giguere told the police Miss Ladurantaye was 27 years old, a seamstress, and that her home was at Montreal.

During the last 50 years deaths in New York City from tuberculosis have decreased 46 per cent, while those from heart disease have increased 42 per cent.

Present methods of schooling Indian children do not meet the approval of the San Juan tribesman.

"Why relegate the Indians, whom President Coolidge last year admitted to the franchise, to special Indian schools?" he asks. "Why permit them the white man's education and then ostracize them from the advantages and social relations of white children?"

Concerning the matter of modern dances, Chief White Eagle is especially vehement. He pleads for the preservation of the primitive Indian dances, which, he says, are among the sacred traditions of the Indians. All of them are of a religious nature, he says.

"If any dances should be forbidden," he insists, "they should be the American chicken-yard dances. I ask you if any American buck would dance all night without a 'jane' on his arm?"

Indian bucks and squaws always dance by themselves, he said.

INDIAN CHIEF IS SEEKING HOLIDAY

Wants Special Day For People of His Race in Colorado—Educational Matter.

DENVER, Colo., April 29.—Indians in Colorado, led by Chief White Eagle Craig, a descendant of the San Juan tradition, have started a movement to designate as Indian Day by the state legislature with the ultimate view of making it a national holiday.

On that day Chief White Eagle advocates that all grade school children in the United States be taught Indian ways, folklore and tradition in order that the illusion now surrounding that race be dispelled.

Chief White Eagle, an official of the American Indian Teepee organization, has made several speeches over the West, each time appearing in the full regalia of his tribe. He wears a huge eagle feather headdress, and a customary blanket with beads and fanciful embroidery. He carries a stone tomahawk.

In a recent speech to the Colorado legislature, the picturesque Indian chief bitterly denounced eastern manufacturers who make cheap Indian products and sell them over the country as the genuine articles. The United States Government, he said, should forbid such practices.

Color is highly important both inside and outside painting. Painting to protect property gives the opportunity of creating beauty, which adds to value.

In all communities colors on adjoining places should be considered. A house between two brightly colored ones may adopt a neutral shade. Light colors become a home set well back among trees and shrubs.

Strong, warm colors with slight contrast between body, trim and roof tints make a house seem bigger, while darker or medium shades show to advantage on larger houses.

A painter or dealer can explain many ways to get fine effects and to bring out the best points in every home. Then again, paint manufacturers will gladly supply color information.

A Bicycle Built for Two!
OF course, you would not often see a C.C.M. Bicycle carrying two people as shown in the picture.
But it is amply strong enough to do so. A C.C.M. is in reality "A Bicycle Built For Two".
This surplus strength is built into the C.C.M. without adding an ounce of unnecessary weight. It is achieved by the use of the very best materials, by special reinforcements of the frame and by rigidity of construction.
This reserve strength is more important than you might, at first, think. It means safety for the rider and long life for the bicycle. The C.C.M. will withstand unusual strains, sudden jolts, unexpected jars far better than a cheaper machine, while bumping over ruts, railway crossings, stones and rough ground is all in the day's work for the C.C.M.
As an example of the reserve strength of the C.C.M., take the frame. It is not of just ordinary quality. It is of English Seamless Tubing, reinforced at the joints. The forks, too, have a drop forged crown, making them practically unbreakable. The bearings are of flint-hard steel. The spokes of specially-drawn and heat-treated wire. The rims of clear maple, tested for strength.
In fact, every one of the 1,761 parts of a C.C.M. is of superior quality and strength. And when you have

1,761 parts, all of superior quality and strength, the result is a bicycle with a wide margin of safety, superiority and long life—in truth, "A Bicycle Built for Two".

Prices Again Reduced
This year C.C.M. prices have again been reduced. They are now selling at the lowest prices since pre-war days—$20 to $25 less than the after-war "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest.

Cold Weather and Wet Grounds Force Postponement of League Games

Along The Sport Trail

By RAY HANSEN

THE G. W. V. A. are figuring on placing another baseball team on the diamond this summer. With that object in view they have called a meeting for tonight and are to determine on definite action. As has already been mentioned Joe Dever is organizing a team, which is practically composed of the players who held the championship of the Maritime Provinces for several years. If the Vets are reorganized it may mean some more thrilling games between these rival organizations. Thomas Mullet is also endeavoring to form a team so the outlook for pro ball here this summer is bright. It may be that Joe Dever's team will carry on under their old colors, green and white, and if they do fans will eagerly await the day when the Saints take the field against the Vets. It looks as if the good old days are due for a comeback.

WHAT'S THE MATTER with the officials of the South End and the City Leagues? No progress was made at the meeting last evening and the amateur situation is still up in the air. It is time the skirmishes were over. Let them get together, fight their battles and reach a decision one way or another.

ACCORDING TO an account in one of the Halifax papers members of the Middleton Baseball Club, a professional organization, expect to be reinstated to the ranks of the "simon pures." What next? It is hard to understand how any professional baseball team can hope to be reinstated as amateurs. No team, or member of a team, becomes a professional by accident. They are well aware when they join up with the money men that they are, according to the present ruling of the A. A. U. of C., "out for life," so why endeavor to seek reinstatement when they know that no official can conscientiously even enter a plea on their behalf? "Oh, however, of some of the amateur officials last winter might be considered inconsistent. If it is true that Middleton played professional baseball all last summer then they have no more license to get back into the amateur ranks than many local boys. If, as is intimated, that an official of the A. A. U. of C. is behind their move for reinstatement then the sooner he is banished from the ranks the better. If some of the officials are bent on disrupting the organization then it is high time for drastic action. Either amateurism should be adhered to strictly or else it should be taken "holus bolus" and thrown into the discard.

ONE OF THE sport writers in Glace Bay seems to be quite peeved because the boaters there are sending out labelled amateurs are falling to pass the board of censors. He must forget the little fracas which was stirred up after the staging of the Maritime championships in this city. If he does then it might be timely to remind him that the contingent from his home town came here camouflaged as amateurs while in reality they were bona fide pros. They won honors, but soon had them taken away and passed on to legitimate contenders. If Glace Bay boys want to appear in preliminary bouts at professional shows then they should be content to stay in their own class and let real amateurs fight their own battles.

BUYS THE TANK

Dr. McIntosh of Hartland Has Purchased Bay Parcel For Circuit.

The Tank, 210 1/2, a bay pacer by General Dewey, which had an impressive campaign in the stable of Aubrey Rodney on the eastern half mile track last season, has lately been purchased by Dr. L. deC. McIntosh, of Hartland, whose racing stable is now located at Connell Park, Woodstock, in charge of Diver Langille. The Tank is a 230 class eligible, and, inasmuch as he showed ability last season to race in 2:10 and thereabouts on half mile tracks, he should be an important factor in Maine and New Brunswick circuit races this season. That the General Dewey pacer is a heart for work was made evident last season when, although he never won a first money, he was raced steady-

PHILLIES DRIVE THREE PITCHERS TO THE SHOWERS

Boston Braves Humble Dodgers-Tigers Win Game

NEW YORK, April 30.—Cold weather and wet grounds forced the postponement of all but three major league games yesterday. At New York, the Phillies emerged victorious for the second consecutive time by the score of 18 to 9, after bombarding three Giant pitchers and hitting four of their own twisters to stay the attack of the National League champions.

Hit Unmercifully. Virgil Barnes rubbed into the box in the eighth after Dean and Greenfield had faced the ambitious Phillies, was hit unmercifully, and before the smoke had cleared in that inning, the visitors had recorded four tallies, including their winning run.

Over in Brooklyn, the lowly Boston Braves humbled the Brooklyn Dodgers 10 to 8. Four moundmen were sent against the Braves. Thormalden started well enough but weakened after the fifth. He was succeeded by Rush, Hubbell and Osceger. The Boston players registered 17 hits, while the Dodgers counted 12 times off Jess Barnes, formerly of the St. Louis Browns, who did 11 to 6 marking their first victory in the last eight starts. Siler stretched his continuous hit record to the fifteenth game by connecting safely three times.

NATIONAL LEAGUE. Boston 10, Brooklyn 8. Philadelphia 15, New York 9. POSTPONED GAMES. Chicago-Cincinnati, rain. Pittsburgh-St. Louis, rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE. Detroit 11, St. Louis 5. POSTPONED GAMES. New York-Philadelphia, rain and cold weather. Washington-Boston, cold weather. Cleveland-Chicago, wet grounds.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE. Jersey City 10, Buffalo 2. Toronto 6, Baltimore 4. Rochester 11, Reading 6. Syracuse 15, Newark 14.

WRESTLING

Roy Mitchell To Meet Edgar Martin

ROY MITCHELL, probably the best heavyweight boxer of the Maritime Provinces, will meet Edgar Martin, Joggins' heavyweight, in the Wonderland Theatre of Joggins on May 7, says the Amherst Press. Mitchell, who is being handled by Frankie Burns, was a former resident of Saint John, and responded to Martin's sweeping challenge to face any heavyweight in Canada. There will be a number of preliminaries held in connection with this 10-round bout, and it is expected that the heavyweight contest will draw a record crowd to Joggins.

BREAKS 3 RECORDS IN SINGLE CONTEST

Nurmi Sets New Records For 1 1/2, 1 1/4 Miles and 2,000 Yards Run.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 30.—Paavo Nurmi, the phantom Finn, thrilled 32,000 fans at a track meet in the Coliseum here last night by topping from his 30-year-old pedestal T. H. Conner's world record of six minutes and 46 2-5 seconds for one and one-half mile run. He ran the distance in 6:42.5. Besides breaking the mile and one-half record, Nurmi smashed in the same race the world's records for the 1 1/2 mile and 2,000 yard distances. His time at the 1 1/2 mile mark was five minutes and 35 seconds, and at the 2,000 yards mark five minutes and 6 1/2 seconds.

A new world's record for the 2,000 metre walk was established by Willie Plant. The time was 10 minutes and 39 seconds. The former record, 10 minutes and 47 1/2 seconds, was made by Ego Fegierio in Italy.

FORMER RACING STARS OF N. B. TURF TRAINING

Bill Sharen, Jenny H. and Gertrude Tood Show Speed

The trotters and pacers which are to race this year are so well forward in their preparation that the training grounds have taken on for the railroads a midwifing attractiveness that is unusual, writes Frank G. Trott in the Boston Globe.

Bill Sharen Worked in 2:22 1/2. Harry Brusie gave hte horses in his stable an airing Friday morning. Charles Direct, Bill Sharen and Kazoff worked in 2:22 1/2, last half in 1:07, and the last quarter in 32 seconds.

Jenny H. and Gertrude Tood. The Hedgewood Boy mare, Jenny H., looks like ready money this spring. She has been engaged all the way down the line and may create a lot of trouble in the 2:10 classes before the sulks are hung up next fall. John H. Dillon of New Haven, Conn., has purchased her sister, Amy K., which joined Rod's stable last week.

Gertrude Tood is one of Will Keyes' western selections. He purchased her out of Henry Hawkins' stable at Springfield, Ill., after she had made a time record of 2:08. Last year Keyes raced her in Maine and New Brunswick where he never failed to get the money, and also won six races. Gertrude Tood is by Todd Mack out of the dam Supenor, 2:07 1/2. She has perfect manners and is apt to be an important factor on the New England half-mile tracks this year.

BELDING CALLS ON MARITIMES TO ACT JOINTLY

Asks Rotarians to Aid in Solving Problems of 3 Provinces

LONE HAND PLAYED BY NOVA SCOTIANS

Dr. Spangler Urges More Work Towards Ideal—New Governor Elected.

YARMOUTH, N. S., April 29.—A. M. Belding of the Saint John Telegraph-Journal today urged in an address before the Rotarian convention here the Maritimes to act together in presenting their cause to the Dominion government.

DOES EVERY MEAL CAUSE YOU DISTRESS? IF IT DOES YOU SHOULD TAKE BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mr. M. P. Eldridge, Beaver Harbor, N. B., writes:—"I was troubled with my stomach for some time, and everything I ate seemed to distress me. I tried many different medicines, but without any results. Finally I was advised to try B. B. B., and after having taken several bottles I was completely relieved of my trouble. I can now eat anything I wish, thanks to B. B. B."

Burdock Blood Bitters puts the stomach into perfect shape by promoting proper digestion, and during the past 46 years it has been on the market has made a reputation, second to none, for relieving all stomach troubles.

ROTARIANS OF CANADA, EAST AND WEST TO PURSUE REVIEWS PROGRESS.

Rotarian Belding in opening reviewed the progress of the Dominion from the days of Confederation all down through the years until the Great War had come and gone. He was after that the depression was felt and it was then our people realized that they must take stock.

The Maritime Provinces discovered that they were getting the worst of the bargain, that there were problems and that the machinery of Confederation was not of the best for this section of the Dominion.

Mr. Belding told of his trip across Canada to the Pacific Coast and of the conditions as he had found them. He had thought as he started on that trip it was only the Maritimes which had their troubles, but as he progressed he found that the West also had similar difficulties to face.

He had spoken in many cities and towns and men had asked regarding the conditions of the Maritimes and they had also asked as to what is to be done? That question is a difficult one for any person to answer, for it has never yet been known of any body of men meeting together to thrash the matter out.

N. S. ACTING ALONE.—The Nova Scotia Government, said Mr. Belding, is now acting, but is New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island being considered?

Mr. Belding's subject was "Canada, East and West," and he was introduced by Governor Baker. He showed that there was a real work for the

DOCTOR ADVISED AN OPERATION

Read Alberta Woman's Experience With Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in a bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I have a bonny baby girl four months old. I do my housework and help a little with the chores. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. Adams, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Pains in Left Side.—Lachine, Quebec.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was in this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and am willing for you to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. M. W. Ross, 880 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

was Pearl O. Soule, President of the Halifax Club, who spoke on Rotary and the crippled child. This subject is a large one and the speaker dealt with it very thoroughly, as he explained what the city of Halifax Rotarians were doing along these lines. He also referred to the work of the Mystic Shiners and the millions they were spending in the establishment of hospitals for the treatment of such children. He urged that the Rotarians take into consideration the immense undertakings of that order, and that the Rotarians stand solidly behind them, prepared to render any assistance possible. He said it was too great a problem for Rotarians to take up hurriedly and he expressed the opinion that whatever they did they would accomplish more by working through the Shrine. The election of Governor was called and John A. Young, of Saint John, C. B., was elected unanimously.

QUESTION OF MOVING TIME RAISED AGAIN

Custom, Not Law, Is Declaration Made By Investigators

MAY 1 DEEMED NOT SUITABLE DATE

Local Lawyer Speaks of It—A Word for Household Pets

Although tomorrow is the time limit for changing residences under the moving-day custom which has ruled in this part of Canada for generations, scores of families with their chattels were in a state of transit in last night's cold drizzle and again today. The blustery spring rain evidently turned the thoughts of householders again to the suggestion occasionally thrown out that some concerted action be taken to change moving day out of the chilly spring period to May 15 or as late as June 1st.

AN ENGLISH CUSTOM

Civic officials in Saint John have often mooted this plan, but nobody has pressed it to a decision. It was said today there is no law either English or Canadian, nor is there any civic by-law or regulation making May 1 the end or beginning of a rental year. It is supposed the custom has become a fixture because in earlier years English tenants sought to change their residences on about May-Day, which in that country is usually a balmy, flowery, fragrant time of year.

The late Dr. Earle, learned lawyer of this city, told the newspapers some years ago that the rules governing landlords and tenants, notices to quit, liabilities for rent and rental periods, were based upon an English enactment known as The Bill of Frauds, passed in the reign of Charles II, when the Mother-in-law was a popular and desirable social requirement. There was nothing, however, that made May 1 a compulsory terminating point for rentals.

CARE OF PETS. "Will you please write something in your paper about care of pets at moving time?" was the plea of a member of the Animal Rescue League. She went on to say that she had weaned somewhat of feeding stray cats owned by people quite as able to look after their animals as she. She said if cats were kept in for a few days after moving to a new residence they would settle down happily.

Families moving to the country who did not wish to take pets along, could hand them over to the Animal Rescue League for disposal, or to be boarded for a small sum.

Yesterday a supply of shrubs for planting in the various squares was ordered and will be set out during the summer.

The report of the building inspector here for the month of April shows a big increase in the value of new buildings for the month and for the first four months of this year, as compared with 1924. The permits issued for April numbered 5, with a valuation of $410,530 as compared with 4 for April, 1924, with a valuation of $24,000. The value of new buildings for the same period in 1924 was $95,450. The increase is due to the erection of the vocational school.

Those taking out permits this month were: W. E. Emerson, dwelling in Duke street, West Saint John, $3,500; School Trustees, vocational school, $292,000; R. Carson, two-story street dwelling, $6,000; G. F. Kelly, Brunswick Place, dwelling, $6,000; Kenneth Raymond, Queen street, alterations, $3,000.
