Bride be attended with all that is joyous and elevating in the commubial relation!"
As we read this we felt good-natured and said "Amen!" softly and tenderly. We really do hope that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Crotty will have a life of the old sort, with the usual variety of humdrum happiness and small spats meaning nothing. May Mr. Crotty never discover that he has a mission, or that his soul is of the elevated sort! May Mrs. Crotty boar children (dear little Crotties) and nursure them with no shadow of a theory in the best style. Call and see Specimens.

Old-Fashioned Notions. A good deal bored, not to say disgusted with the drift of current intelligence and sick of encountering in every newspaper of our heap, in adipose typography, Western House, "The B.-T. Scandal," we glanced despairingly at a sheet printed far down in Texas. There we read with something of Coldstream indifference, that in Gair veston, Aug. 8, 1874, Mr. John Crotty and Matilda Baker, maiden, were married in St. Mary's Cathedral. Crotty was nothing to us, and we, be it admitted, were nothing to Crotty; Matilda was nothing to us, save as we are a general admirer of the sex; and we should have thought no more of this matrimonial matter if somebody who cheerfully signed with three stars had not tacked a communication to the nuptial advertisement. It was a really kind communication, not to say gushing. It was in a strain of the highest hymenial rapture. It began thus in the fluest of language: "From the roseate blush of morn to the melancholy being a poet? Here is The Nation, whose editor used to live in Fredericton, the home of many poets, telling about having been "informed that the indigenous poetry of New Brunswick was all Lord Ripon's Conversi comprised in one effusion, descriptive of the achievement of some local hero who 'built a chimney' and 'made a contract." And then The Nation, referring to the fact that it was decided at the Wesleyan Conference that Governor Wilmot should sing a song of his own composition during the progress of the Conference, irreverently suggests that Judge Ritchie should have been called on for a song at the late Provincial Sy-

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. As was anticipated, the great internainal rifle match & Cree im or yesterd awakened the utmost enthusiasm among sportsmen. The fact that the crack riflenen of Great Britain and the heroes of skill with the representatives of the leadple, and the interest in the centest manifested by the friends of each party was ntense. During all the morning hardly a breath of air was stirring, and a better day for the shoeting could not be desired. Excursion trains were run out from the city, the railway company having made arrangements to carry out all who desirhow large the crowd might be. The Irish over the event of the day, and particularly over the Irish team. Creedmoor was in gala dress, and not less than 5,000 sportsmen and a large number of ladies witnessed the contests. Until yesterday the betting had been about even, but be fore the struggle for the supremacy be-gan the odds were in favor of the Americans, who had been displaying remark able skill as marksmen during their prac tice. The American team went to their work with a marked determination. The shooting, for accuracy, on the part o both teams, was the best ever witnessed parties had not been disturbed they on any shooting ground. Every shot would have succeeded, as there is no which made either a centre or a bull's eye was halled by the crowd with dwelling very near the store.

Firing a Pistol in the Street. John Burns, a colored youth, was atrested on information of J. B. Hamm, for firing a pistol in the street in Carleton, firing a pistol in the street in Carleton, and fined $6 in the Police Court this forenoon. Burns is one of a number of Carleton nuisances. One of them broke up a prayer meeting lately by trying to split open his brother's head. The people who are so unfortunate as to have them for neighbors assert that they are engaged in quarrelling and fighting the whole time. Their favorite night is Satirday, when they keep up their revels until late into Saturday morning. All M. W. Carey, A. m., assisted by the father of the hands appear to get drank, and their bride, James J. Bosewick, Esq., to Miss Portia shouts and yells make night hideous. The pistol shot for which Burus was fined was fired in the street, about one o'clock Sunday morning, after such a row had been made as to cause the neighbors to leave their beds to see what was wrong. Amongst others was Mr. Hamm, who caught Burns in the act. The boy said he did it in self defence, but such could not be shown. It is the intention of Mr. Hamm and others to have these people presented to the Grand Jury for indictment as nuisances.

On Saturday a brakesman named Hamilton, on the Pictou line, had his hand bad jammed while coupling cars. His two prefingers and one of his thumbs were so badly crushed that amputation was considered necessary. What appears to be a very extensive deposit of iron ore has been recently discovered at Big Pond, C. B. It is situated only four miles by an easy incline from a place where a ship of 500 tons can load, and by tunnelling a hill, the distance can be reduced to a mile and a half.

We hear that rather a serious affair oc curred last week at a point about twelve miles down the bay. It appears from vague rumors which are in circulation, that two men, named respectively Cook and Carty, traded horses, and Carty, after the bargain, being dissatisfied, proceeded to the house of Cook one day last week, in company with a constable, for the purpose of arresting Cook and recovering the horse. On arriving at the house, Carty proceeded to an adjoining field to procure the horse, leaving the constable to look after Cook, who defended himself with a pitchfork, and tabled the constable the const stabbed the constable three or four times.
