The Drunkard frightened by his own example.

The following story, whether new or old, is good enough to be read more than once; and whether founded on fact or not, it illustrates very forcibly what we have no doubt is true—that a drunkard would be alarmed to have his wife and children imitate his example.

Thomas Smeddale is the name that we shall assign to a very worthy, industrious, thriving mechanic, who became a burden to himself, a curse to his family, and a nuisance to society at large in a short, one of the most shameful and abandoned drunkards that ever took the measure of an unmade grave. He was not weaned from his degrading propensity by means which have cured others, but there was one that proved to be successful.

Though he had a wife and five beautiful children, Tom seemed to be unconscious of the fact. He neglected his work, squandered his wages, which daily grew smaller, and spent his time at the pot-house, till the near prostration of all his faculties, or the distasteful words, "No more trust," warned him to seek the shelter of his wife's care and protection.

His children could not go to school because leaping was dear and rum was cheap; the landlord dunned for his rent, and Mrs. Smeddale was obliged to keep at home, as she had no dress fit to appear abroad in, having pawned the last to pay a fine imposed upon her husband by the police court. Misery, utter destitution and famine stared the wretched family in the face. It is impossible to exaggerate the picture even had we room or inclination.

Mrs. S. was a heroine, though not of romance. She loved her worthless husband, and had borne his neglect, the tears of her children, the grips of famine, and the railing of the drunkard, without repining.

Never had her exertions slackened, never had a harsh word passed her lips.

At night, when she put her children to sleep, she wept and watched for his coming; and when he did come, drunk as usual, she undressed and assisted him to bed without a reproach. At length, her courage, well nigh exhausted, she resolved on one last and desperate effort.

At night having disposed of her three eldest children, she took the two youngest by the hand, and bent her steps to the pot-house her husband was accustomed to frequent.

She looked in at the window, and there he sat, in the midst of boon companions, with his pipe in his mouth, and his glass in hand. He was evidently excited, though not drunk. Great was the astonishment of that had company, and enormous Mr. Smeddale's dismay and confusion, when his wife, pale as marble, and leading two tattered and bare-foot babes, called for three glasses of brandy and water, and then sat down by his side.

"What in the world brings you here, Mary?" said he, morosely.

"It is very lonely at home, and your business seldom allows you to be there," replied the meek wife. "There is no company like your's, and as you cannot come to me, I must come to you. I have a right to share your pleasures as well as your sorrows."

"But to come to such a place as this," expostulated Tom.

"No place can be improper where my husband is," said poor Mary. "Whom God had put together, let no man put asunder." She took up the glass of spirits.

"Surely you are not going to drink that?" asked Tom in full astonishment.

"Why not? You say you drink to forget sorrow, and if brandy has that effect, I am sure no living creature has so good an excuse for drinking as I. Besides, I have not eaten a mouthful to-day, and I really need something to support my strength."

"Woman, woman, you are not going to give the children such stuff as that?" cried Tom, as she handed each of the children a glass of liquor.

"Why not? Can children have a better example than their father's? Is not what is good for him good for them also? It will put them to sleep, and they will forget that they are cold and hungry. Drink, my children, this is fire, and bed, and clothing. Drink, you can see how much good it does your father."

With seeming reluctance Mary suffered her husband to lead her home, and that night he prayed long and fervently, which he had not done before for years. The next evening, as he returned homeward, with a steady step, he saw his eldest boy run into the house, and heard him exclaim, "O, mother, here comes father, and he is not drunk!" Tears came down the parent's cheek, and from that hour he has not tasted drink. He had never been vicious or unfeeling; and as soon as his emancipation from the thrall of a debasing appetite became known, friends, employment, and prosperity returned to him. As for Mrs. S., she is one of the happiest of women, and never thinks, without joy and gratitude, of her first and last visit to the pot-house.

The following Report was sent us for insertion some time since, but did not reach the Office. We have much pleasure in publishing it, and assure our friends of the Society, that the mistake was not ours.

Report of the St. Croix Total Abstinence Society.

The Annual Meeting of this Society was held at the Baptist Meeting House in the Parish of St. Andrews; the meeting was opened by the President, who offered the following report, which was read and accepted.

"Impressed with gratitude to the Giver of every good and perfect gift, who has sustained us and blessed us with so large a share of health, and prospered this our society, I present you, with this our First Annual Report."

Our society at present numbers one hundred and twenty-two members, of whom an equal number are males and females in good standing; still there is an exception, and while we deplore the departure of any member from our established rules, it becomes our duty to admonish them in the spirit of love and friendship, of their sacred pledge given to this society, and of the dreadful result which inevitably attends such a course of conduct, but in no case give them up to certain destruction, and renew every effort for their salvation from the Drunkards curse.

We feel grateful to the young men belonging to this society, for the zeal and ability which they have displayed in their various addresses at our stated meetings, and have no doubt the benefit conferred on this society by their exertions, will have a reflex tendency to establish themselves in the practice of temperance and manly virtue.

By a resolve passed in May 1845, it was concluded that a subscription of one penny per month be taken from one member of each family belonging to this society, it would be well to have that resolve acted upon at the next meeting, after providing lights, &c. one or two copies of the Temperance Telegraph would be useful, the remainder would furnish funds to meet an occasional Lecture from any qualified person, and be subject to the vote of this society.

We regret the withdrawal of the names of three individuals members of this society, and trust they will be convinced, if any misapprehension remains, which led to such withdrawal, and again come forward in this good cause.

To the Ladies "Heavens last best gift to Man" we feel deeply indebted; always foremost in every good work, they have by their countenance and approbation strengthened our hands in this cause, we still hope for their aid, and trust the time will arrive to the young and unmarried, when the appearance of their names on a temperance list, may be the means of procuring them a worthy helpmate, for where can the female character appear to greater advantage than adorning the fair page of Temperance.

I shall conclude this report, wishing that the exertions of our society may be amply rewarded in realizing the beneficial result which follows the practice of temperance throughout the land."

The officers for the ensuing year were elected, and a resolution passed that the Editors of the Standard and Temperance Telegraph publish the report.

Valuable Manuscripts.—The London Quarterly Review for December, received by the Librarian contains an interesting article on valuable manuscripts, recently obtained in England from some monasteries in Upper Egypt. In the prosecution of efforts to obtain manuscripts in Coptic for a Coptic Lexicon which he was making, Rev. Henry Tatam, in 1828 induced Lord Proudhon to visit the convents of the Nation Lakes in Egypt. His Lordship did so, and in these convents, which had been visited at times during the last ten centuries by Western travellers, found that there still remained considerable parts of their libraries, which were formerly very valuable. I descended, he says, candle in hand, into a small room where books and parts of books and scattered leaves, in Coptic, Ethiopic, Syriac and Arabic were lying in a mass, on which I stood.

The existence of such a deposit aroused the enthusiasm of one and another English scholar, and between that time and this, almost all these treasures have found their way to England. The accounts of their purchase by different rogues is very amusing. The monks were wholly ignorant of their value, and had critical knowledge of the languages in which most of them were written, so that it cannot be regretted that they have been purchased, and transferred to places where they may be consulted and studied.

Their ages vary from A. D. 411 downward. A manuscript dated 464 of the Syrian version (Peshito) of the Pentateuch is the oldest biblical manuscript. There are about thirty volumes of this version of different parts of the Old Testament dated about the sixth century. Of the Peshito version of the New Testament there are forty manuscripts of a bout the same dates.—The age of these, and the authority of this version, will make them of great value to critics.

Besides these there are a large number of theological authors of the same early time. One of these is Eusebius on the Divine Manifestation of Christ, in a Syrian version. Only two or three fragments of this were before known. It is now published in London with an English version. There are translations from Titus, bishop of Bostra, Athanasius, Ignatius, Clement of Alexandria, Basil, the Gregorians, Chrysostom, Proclus, Cyril and later divines. The contributions to Ecclesiastical history will be of great value. These are Syrian versions. There are also several writings by original Syrian authors, among which is the recension of the Old and New Testament by Mar Jacob, bishop of Edessa. Some Syrian translations from scientific works close the collection.

The Quarterly Review regrets that there is in England no body of scholars of sufficient knowledge of Syriac to edit or make use of these treasures. We cannot doubt however that scholars will immediately train themselves for so important and interesting duties. We are sure that in America, or in Germany, there would be no lack of such scholars many months after the call for their labours.

It will be remembered that the Syriac or Aramaic language, is supposed to represent almost exactly the dialect spoken by our Saviour and his Apostles.

We have before us, the proceedings for 1844 and 1845, of the Syro Egyptian Society instituted in London for the precise purpose of stimulating researches into these interesting archaeological subjects. The Society already numbers more than a hundred members, and has received several interesting papers and begun a museum and library.—[American.]

NEW WORKS.

The Comic Blackstone. By Gilbert Abbott Beckett; with Illustrations by George Cruikshank.

"WHAT IS IMPRISONMENT?"

Unlawfully detaining a man in any way, is imprisonment; and semble that if you take your neighbour by the button, and cause him to listen to a long story, you are guilty of imprisonment. An Omnibus driver, who loiters on the road, and thus detains his passengers, is also guilty of imprisonment.

Every Englishman has a right to live in England; or at least, if he cannot live, he may have the glorious privilege of starving there. The sovereign may not send a subject even to Scotland, Guernsey, or Sark, though George the Fourth sent Brummell to Coventry; and our present Queen has been heard to tell Sir Robert Peel to go to Bath, when he has proposed measures contrary to the welfare and happiness of the people. The third right is the right of property, which the law peculiarly regards, and will not allow a man to be deprived of his property, except by the law itself, which often, says Pletia, "hath a happier knack of stripping him."

It is a beautiful fiction of the English law that no man pays taxes without his own consent; and, from this assertion, it would naturally be supposed that the tax-gatherers were the very idols of the people, who flocked round them, tendering specie and asking receipts for it. By legal imagery, the people are declared to tax themselves; but Bracton, in a learned note, added "hooky" to this assertion; while Mr. Selden, by way of strengthening the comment, has subjoined "Walker," with his customary quaintness.

The right of petitioning is another glorious privilege of Englishmen; but they do not often get much by it. Puffendorf, or somebody else, has said, "They who don't ask, don't want; but they who do want, shan't have; and semble that this is the sort of view which Parliament takes of any wishes, expressed or not expressed, which do not happen to coincide with the wishes of the legislature."

Under the laws as it regards husband and wife, or Baron et Feme, we find—

It has been laid down very clearly in all the books, that in general all persons are able to marry, unless they are unable; and the fine old constitutional maxim, that a man may not marry his grandmother, ought to be written in letters of gold over every domestic hearth in the British dominions.

If a father's heart should happen to be particularly flinty, a child under age has no remedy, but a stony guardian may be made, mixed by the Court of Chancery; that is to say, a marriage to which he objects may be ordered to take place, in spite of it. Another incapacity is, want of reason in either of the parties; but if want of reason really prevented a marriage from taking place, there would be an end to half the matches that are entered into.

Marriages could formerly only be dissolved by death or divorce; but the new Poor Law puts an end to the union between man and wife directly they enter into a parishial

Union. Divorce, except in the instance just alluded to, is a luxury confined only to those who can afford to pay for it; and a husband is compelled to allow money—called alimony—to the wife he seeks to be divorced from. Marriages, it is said, are made in heaven, but unless the office of the registrar be a little paradise, we don't see how a marriage made before that functionary, can come under the category alluded to.

By the old law, a husband might give his wife moderate correction; but it is declared in black and white that he may not beat her black and blue, though the civil law allowed any man on whom a woman bestowed her hand, to bestow his fists upon her at his own discretion. The common people, who are much attached to the common law, still exert the privilege of beating their wives; and a woman in the lower ranks of life, if she falls in love with a man, is liable, after marriage, to be a good deal struck by him.

Extraordinary Escape from Death.—On Monday last the mother of a numerous family in this Town, at the moment she was about to leave her house on some errand, heard the voice of her youngest child, a fine boy nearly four years of age, as it in distress, and conceiving he had shut himself in one of the upper rooms, called her daughter Margaret, then with others of the children in a room below, and desired her to run up and fetch the child down, waiting herself at the stairs foot until she returned. To her great surprise Margaret came down saying, that although she could hear the child crying for help, he was not to be found in any of the rooms. Some of the younger children now took the alarm, and a general search commenced throughout the house, even to the cellar. As the voice of the child apparently at some distance was still heard supplicating for help, the mother now seriously alarmed, and convinced the sound came from above, ran up stairs, and at the moment she was about to enter, one of the children's sleeping rooms, Margaret, who had just gone in before her, exclaimed, where are you? where are you? to which the child responded, O here, Maggy, Maggy, I'm choking, I'm choking. The poor girl's consternation may be more easily conceived than described, especially as a very close attachment subsisted between the child and herself; and now the singular thought entered her mind that the child had by some unaccountable means fallen down behind the plaster of the room, and full of this terrible idea she flew as it were to the attic to ascertain if it were possible he could have done so, but on creeping under the eaves of the roof, and finding no opening she at once returned to the room where she had first heard the voice, and where her mother, now stood almost petrified with astonishment and terror. Again the child's voice was feebly heard, I'm choking, I'm choking—almost frantic, the mother dashed open the door of an inner room, suddenly imagining that the child had lifted up the window and that the sash had fallen on his neck; finding it shut, she instantly returned to the outer room again, to hear the wail of her apparently expiring child. For an instant, quick as thought, her eyes glanced upon the furniture of the room, the drawers, beds, every spot was scanned as it were on a moment, when for the first time she noticed a small trunk on the floor, almost touched by her trembling feet, and seizing the lid, the little fellow doubled as it were together, and literally bathed in tears and perspiration, was presented to the view of the astonished mother, who had now become almost incapable of any effort, and the next moment found him sobbing in his poor Maggy's bosom.

Some idea of the child's horrible situation may be conceived from the fact, that the trunk is only one inch longer than half his length, and an inch narrower than his breadth across the shoulders; and it would seem, as if in a playful mood he had crowded himself into the trunk, and the lid had accidentally fallen down, and that from the awkwardness of his position, his efforts to escape had been made against the sides of the trunk, instead of upwards. Had the mother left the house without hearing his cry, there can be no doubt but the child would have perished in this miserable manner, as the rest of the family were all out of the reach of his voice; and from the appearance he presented when found, there is every reason to believe, a few minutes longer would have terminated his existence.—Charlottetown P. E. I. paper, Feb. 28.

Bank Protection.—A gentleman gave up the other day a description of the contrivance which Banker Rothschild, has upon the door of his vault to prevent incursions of thieves to his pile. It is a wonderful piece of mechanism, and we suppose if the fact of its existence was generally known, his money bags would be perfectly safe. If a person attempts the lock, or tamper with it in the slightest degree, an iron hand and arm is thrust out from the door, clutches the offender and holds him motionless in its iron embrace, while at the same instant a bell is struck in a room overhead, occupied by a watchman, giving him notice that his presence is required below. Should this watchman not get down to the assistance and release the wretch held by the iron arm in 15 minutes time, then a blunderbuss is discharged into the body of the trespasser. Thus he is mercifully allowed fifteen minutes grace to reflect upon the enormity of his offence. We were told, that a few years since, a man was caught by the iron nippers and the watchman came to his relief only two minutes before the blunderbuss would have been discharged.—Atlas.

WAR.
Do those men who are so clamorous for war, or for measures that will inevitably lead to war, know what war is, on a great scale, between first rate powers? Are they conversant with the history of the wars that grew out of the French Revolution? Have they marked the tremendous vicissitudes of those wars, the results so contrary to the purposes for which they were undertaken, in the arrangement of human power and ambition.

We are told that England dare not go to war! Dare not! The nation that for a quarter of a century, by her indomitable energy and resources, combated successfully a host of enemies, and at one time a world in arms against her. Dare not indeed!

The power that met Napoleon wherever he led his hosts, and foiled him by her sword and her gold,—from Egypt to the Pyrenees,—from the plains of Moscow to the Rock of St. Helena,—dare not assert her rights, or vindicate her honor!

She is not, in the opinion of those persons, restrained by magnanimity, by a love of peace, and its concomitant blessings,—by the spirit of a high civilization,—by the true charity and principles of Christianity. No; her professions of all these points are hypocritical; her feelings alone restrain her—she dare not!

When is this vulgar enemy to England? The very language in which it is breathed, reproaches the avarice of such malignity. Do they not owe her their ancestral origin, their language, the spirit of their laws, their religion, their literature, and their science? These are matters for affection and reverence—not jealousy and hatred.

Instead of inflaming a senseless hostility upon all occasions, by dilating upon the alleged ambition of England, let them, in a true spirit of Christian charity, rather seek to palliate her faults by a due appreciation of the benefits she has conferred on the whole human family. She is ambitious, if you please, gentlemen,—but she gave us the steam engine. She pushes her power into every region of the earth,—but we owe the railroad to her.

The science of Newton, and the immortal writings of Shakespeare and Milton, we inherit from her mental wealth. The opinions and decisions of her judges as standards of wisdom, are daily appealed to in our courts. Our institutions of benevolence and civilization have their counterpart in her models.—In short, she is our Parent! entitled to our respect for her age and experience; to our love, for the good we derive from her, and to our charity, for her human fallibility.

New York, March, 1846. PEACE.

Select Thoughts.—Proud men never have friends, neither in prosperity, because they know nobody; nor in adversity, for nobody knows them. Of all the divisions of life, there is none so proper to fill up its empty spaces as the reading of useful and entertaining authors; and with that the conversation of a well chosen friend.

extraordinary panic to day.

Well informed parties who have spoken at all on this subject, consider that the state of affairs between Great Britain and the United States has never assumed so warlike an aspect before.

Time has not yet permitted a full expression of public feeling on this news.

In yesterday's money article in the Morning Post of to day, it is said that "the American question creates little present uneasiness. It may be said to have been generally dismissed from the minds of speculators, as an element of disturbance in a monetary point of view."

This remark shows how totally unprepared commercial classes were for the alarming news received to day.

The Sun and the Globe say "the money market is rather unsettled by the hostile tone of the American accounts to day."

The Standard, semi-official government organ, says—"the accounts received this morning from the United States have taken all reflecting persons by surprise. It is now considered a settled question, that the maintenance of peaceful relations between the two countries does not depend upon the sense of justice or the wisdom and discretion of the American executive, and dreadful as the alternative of war is, it will be with the utmost difficulty that any British ministry can now escape from it, with honor. Such is the universal expression of feeling this morning, under the idea that every honorable mode of conciliatory compromise has been exhausted."

The Morning Herald, has from the first advocated peace, and has done much to calm the public mind, at different times, when Oregon difficulties have assumed a threatening aspect; but to day this Journal says: "It is with regret we give publicity to the intelligence this arrival communicates in as much as it is of a character which completely reverses our former hopes of a peaceable settlement of the Oregon differences. Mr. President Polk and his advisers have now rushed into extremes, and appear determined to place the whole matter in the most aggressive position to England."

With regard to Parliamentary affairs, the debate on the Corn law question commenced on the 9th February, in the House of Commons, and did not terminate until the 25th ult. The House then divided, and the majority against Mr. Miles' amendment to postpone the subject was 97. This was considered by the free trade party a great triumph.

The packet ship Patrick Henry arrived at Liverpool on the 2d, and the news which she took out, to the 9th ult., of the refusal of the American government to accept any arbitration on the Oregon question, was so wholly unexpected, that it caused quite a panic in commercial and political circles in London on the 3d inst.

The John J. Romer, pilot boat, which which sailed a few hours before the Patrick Henry had not arrived.

The potato rot continues to make great havoc in Ireland, and the poorer classes are in a most deplorable situation. Government however, have ordered large supplies of Indian corn, and are taking such other measures, as to prevent starvation.

In the recent engagements with the Sikh Army, the British lost 63 officers including Sir Robert Sale. 3,300 of British and Native troops killed and wounded—and the reported loss of the Sikhs amounts to 30,000.

Riots at Perth.—Some desperate affairs have taken place between English and Irish labourers, employed at the works of the Lancaster, Carlisle and other Railways.

General Sir Geo. Anson, has been appointed Lieut. Gov. of Chelsea Hospital.

Died 'on the 14th ult. at Dublin, Miss Moore only surviving sister of Thomas Moore the poet.

Money among the trading classes in England is scarce, owing to the large amount kept from general circulation on account of Railway deposits.

Ireland.—The destitution caused by the failure of the potato crop is rapidly increasing. Government has made arrangements for providing immediate employment to the poor in Clare, where the supply of food of thousands is entirely exhausted.

The Belfast Vindicator says "In the Counties of Down and Antrim the reality of the distress surpasses anything that has yet been said about it."

Her Majesty's expected Accouchment is confidently stated will take place before the end of May.—Court Journal

The Earl of Lincoln has accepted the offer of the Chief Secretary of Ireland.

Wilmer and Smith's European Times of the 4th says—"It will gratify our friends in America—it will gratify, more immediately, our old and excellent friend, Dr. Bartlett, of the New York Albion, to know that Indian corn will shortly be as popular an article of food on this side of the Atlantic as it has long been on the other. The worthy doctor's admirable pamphlet on the economical and nutritious virtues of maize has excited general attention in England; the press has eulogised it; its recipes have been put in practical operation, and, at no distant day, Indian corn will form a prominent article of American exports."

In the monster debate on the Corn Laws, there were many soporific and a few brilliant speeches. Amongst the latter, and indeed at the head of them, may be placed Sir Robert Peel's. Old and practised an orator as he is—educated amongst a galaxy of great men—the contemporary, youthful, though he was at the time, of the gifted spirits who threw a halo round the close of the last, and the first quarter of the present, century—he was never known to be so sound in argument so pointed in satire, so overwhelmingly crushing by his facts, figures, and deductions, as on this memorable occasion. Taken in all its bearings, the speech will stand the test of comparison with the most successful efforts of oratory in ancient or modern times. It was the speech of his life; he has never excelled, and never can surpass it. This great effort, which will be found at considerable length in our columns, must have had its effect in swelling the majority to ninety-seven; it must surely have proved an exception to the remark which was once made by a Scotch member—"I have heard many a speech which changed my opinion, but I never heard one which changed my vote."

The weather in England continues unusually mild, and the effect cannot fail to make itself felt on the growing crops. Vegetation is extremely forward; and, during the months of January and February, we appeared to be in the midst of May. The winter altogether has been one of the most unwinterly on record. We allude to the circumstance here for the purpose of stating that, as regards the produce of the field, the result is most discouraging, and fears for the future are already uppermost in men's minds. If the prevailing mildness is to be succeeded by frost, the young wheat will be seriously, perhaps fatally injured.

Want of space prevents our giving Mr. Brown's excellent speech on the Education Bill, in the present impression. We shall publish it and as much of the debate in our next, as space will permit. We regret to learn that the Bill has been lost by a vote 16 to 14 on the 18th inst.

As usual the English news by the R. Mail Steamer was received here, via Boston THREE DAYS in advance of the Halifax mail. Truly the American cable requires cleansing—petitions and remonstrances have been made in vain for a removal of the grievance. The news by the American Express Agent to Granville within three or four hours said of St. John, in 13 hours after the arrival of the Steamer at Halifax, while the good people of St. John, had not received the mail on Saturday evening or 100 hours after! We are happy to notice that a Public Meeting has been called of the inhabitants of St. John, "to take into consideration this great evil, to the end that it may be immediately removed."

Important Discovery in Tanning.—Dr. Turnbull of London, has made an important discovery in the art of tanning which is said to eclipse every thing that has been discovered in the practical arts for the last hundred years. The Doctor's process will tan an ox hide in 14 days with 100 lbs of bark and give an extra weight of leather varying from 15 to 25 per cent. By the ordinary process of tanning it requires eighteen months to tan an ox hide and 400 lbs. of bark. In our next we will give a full description of the improvement.

British Silver.—The Merchants and Traders of this Town, have entered into an agreement, that from and after the first of May next, to receive and pay out the British Silver at its legal value as a tender, and no other, viz

British Crowns 6s Half Crown 3s,

Do Shillings 1s 2s 1-2, Sixpences 7d,

Sovereigns 24s 6d.

Free Church—Canada West.—In the course of last summer, Mrs. McKean, late of Carlisle, near Creetown, sent out a complete service of Communion plate and table linen, as a gift to the congregation, in connection with the Free Church of Scotland, in the township of Tuckersmith, near Godrich, and received in return a letter of thanks dated "Manse of Tuckersmith, 27th Oct, 1845."

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.
On the 19th inst the House went into Committee of the whole on the Message of His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor; and a good deal of excitement was elicited on the subject of the late grant of land to Colonel Marks coming up for discussion. The circumstances of this case will be remembered. A Resolution passed the House of Assembly during the last Session, having its origin in certain circumstances connected with an extensive sale of Crown Lands to Col. Marks, to the prejudice of the Messrs. Porter, then in possession of the Reserve. The House however then recommended the passing of Col. Marks' grant, on the condition of his paying a balance of £785 then due by him on the premises. The grant has since been found to have issued without the payment of the above sum; and not only is the House surprised, but even the late Executive who authorized the issue of the grant, seem to be equally at a loss to ascertain the cause of their own act. The whole appears to have originated in some misapprehension. Its further investigation is, on motion of Mr. Partelow, referred to a select Committee.—Rep.

In consequence of the difficulty which the shipping masters at New Orleans meet with in procuring seamen, the wages have risen from forty to fifty dollars, and even higher. We have heard, (says the Delta) for the run from New Orleans to Liverpool.

A Diseased Stomach.—Cure Extraordinary by Holloway's Pills! Mrs. Atkins widow of the late Captain Atkins, residing at Connaught-terrace, Edgeware road. This lady had been in India, where her liver and stomach had become diseased, so much so that she could scarcely keep the slightest food on her stomach. She was very weak and debilitated, and suffered continually from sick head-aches, besides a nervousness, and lowness of spirits. In six weeks, however wonderful it may appear, she was restored to a high state of health by this unrivalled medicine, which is a certain remedy in all liver, bilious, and stomach complaints, however bad the case may be.

MARRIED.

At St. John, on the 19th instant, by the Rev. R. bert Irvine, Mr. Thomas Nelson, of the parish of Portland, to Isabella, eldest daughter of Mr. John Rabb, of the Parish of Petersville Q. C.

DIED.

At St. John, on Sunday morning, Edward A. Smith, Esq., Surgeon, in the 34th year of his age.

At St. Stephen, on the 14th inst. Miss Emily P. Andrews, in the 27th year of her age—Miss A. was a person of amiable disposition and genuine piety—She was for upwards of eight years a worthy and exemplary member of the Wesleyan Church. In her last affliction, which was consumption, she manifested great patience and resignation to the will of God; and when she entered the valley and shadow of death it was with a serene and certain hope of the resurrection to Eternal life.

On the 2nd instant, on board of the Packet Ship Columbo, on her passage from Liverpool to Boston, in consequence of injuries received by a fall from the topmast, while in the act of taking in sail, three days previous, Mr. James D. Wolfe, son of Mr. John DeWolfe of this place, aged 25 years. Mr. DeWolfe left this town as Mate of the Brig Princess Regal in Sept. last, and was returning home, when he met with the fatal accident, which has deprived his afflicted parents and their family of a most dutiful and affectionate Son and Brother, and this community, of another of those promising young men, who left their home, and friends to seek their fortune on the tempestuous sea. His best exertions have always been devoted to the support, and comfort of his parents; and his numerous acts of kindness, will long be remembered with gratitude, by those who have had the best opportunity of appreciating his praise worthy and exemplary conduct.

CONSUMPTION.

A THOUSAND CURES in cases deemed utterly hopeless have firmly established its value as a remedy over every former medical discovery. It has always been styled "Nature's own Prescription," being a blend chiefly from chemical extracts from Wild Cherry Bark and Tar—two trees that are thickly centered wherever disease of the lungs prevails. We give a few instances of its extraordinary power, from a catalogue almost without end.
A lady (address will be given at the New York Agency) who was given up by all orderly physicians to die of consumption, had a hard struggle for months on the side—raised among large quantities of matter a sort of bony substance—and taken no medicine for two months before past all hope—entirely cured by a few bottles of this Balsam in September and October, 1844.
A Williams, Esq., Attorney, &c. New-York, cured of granular asthma of 25 years standing, certified to by Recorder Fairbridge and J. Power, D. D.
A Canadian, New York city, who had not sleep, lying down, for 7 years (being obliged to sleep in a sitting posture) so far cured as to attend to his business in the most stormy winter.
Thomas Butler, Esq., J. P. Jamaica, L.
L. cured of asthma of 40 years' standing.
Mrs. Anna D. Hopkins, of Knowlesville, N. Y. entirely cured of liver complaint and general debility of eighteen months' standing.
Jacob Hollman, M. D. Huntington, cured a child of P. Schrocke, of obstinate disease of the lungs after he had tried all the usual remedies in vain.

BY HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!
FIFTY ULCERS CURED IN SIX WEEKS
Extract of Letter from John Martin, Esq., of "The Courier," Belfast, Belfast, February 20, 1846.

To PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.
Sir—I beg to inform you that the Inhabitants of this Island especially those who cannot find to employ medical gentlemen, are very successful having your Ointment Medicine within their reach, from the immense benefits some of them have derived from their use, as they have been found here, in several cases, to cure Sores and Ulcers of the most malignant and dangerous kind.
One gentleman in this Island, who had, I believe, about fifty running ulcers about his legs, arms, and body, who had tried all other Medicines before the arrival of yours, but all of which did him no good, but yours cured him in about six weeks, and he is now, by their means alone, quite restored to health and vigour.

(Signed) JOHN MARTIN.
FILES, FISTULAS, AND BEAVER-HOLES.
A remarkable Cure by these Pills and Ointment.
A half my lieutenant, lately reading Mr.
Holloway's Journal, whose name by request is withheld, had for three years suffered from piles and beaver holes, a general heaving down, of the most distressing nature. He had twice undergone an operation, but to no purpose, and at last gave himself up to despair. Yet, notwithstanding this complication of complaints, together with a debilitated constitution, he was completely cured of all his afflictions and restored to the full enjoyment of health by these justly renowned medicines, which every other method had failed.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE IN THE WEST INDIES, OF LEPROSY AND OTHER DISORDERS OF THE SKIN.

Mr. LEWIS REEDON, of Georgetown, in the months, writes under the above date—that Holloway's Pills and Ointment have cured him of leprosy, a disease which could manage, ulcers and sores that were of the most dreadful description, as likewise lep-rosy, blotches, scales and other skin diseases of the most frightful nature, and that the cure effected were amongst the noblest population.
CANCER—A WONDERFUL CURE.
Copy of a Letter from Richard Bull, Esq., of London, near Southampton.
February 9th, 1846

To PROFESSOR HOLLOWAY.
Sir—The Lord has permitted me to be witness a wonderful cure of Cancer or Abscess, &c. &c. a years' standing, in my wife's breast. In the last part of the time, when wounds were open, the Faculty declared the case as past cure, and I pieces of bone had come away, and I expected that my poor wife would soon have been taken from me. It was then that a friend recommended the use of your Pills and Ointment, which, by an order sent me, in the space of about three months, healed up the breast as soundly as ever it was in her life.

"I shall ever remain
Your most grateful and obedient servant,
(Signed) RICHARD BULL.
Wheezing on the Chest and Shortness of Breath.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. J. Casey No. 1, Compton place, Compton street, Birmingham—opening plates, London, April 25th, 1846.

Sir—I beg to inform you that I believe I have been, for more than three years, one of the greatest sufferers in the world with Chronic Asthma.
For weeks together my breath was frequently so short, that I was obliged every moment of time, to choose with pillars. I never went into a house very often indeed, I have been obliged to pass the night without being able to recline sufficiently.
I lay my head on a table, but I should be unwilling to say that I should live over the water.
One day I expected myself, but I am happy to say that I am now able to work from morning to night, and that I sleep as well as ever I did in my life and this miracle (I may say) was effected by making your invaluable Ointment twice a day, and my chest, and taking ten of your Pills at bedtime, and two again in the morning, for about three months.

IN ALL DISEASES OF THE SKIN.

Bad Legs, Old Wounds, and Ulcers, Head Scabs, Sore Nipples, Stomach and Ulcers, and Cancers, Tumours, Swellings Gout Rheumatism and Lumbago, likewise in cases of Piles the Pills in all the above cases, ought to be used with the Ointment; as by this medicine will be effected with a much greater effect, and in half the time that it would be effected by using the Ointment alone. The Oinment is proved to be a certain remedy for the bite of Mosquitoes, Sand-flies, Chigoeftoot Worms, and Cock-bay
Bares, Scabs, Chills, Crapped Hands and Lips, and Blisters and soft Corns, will be immediately cured by the use of the Ointment.
THE PILLS are not only the finest remedy known when used with the Ointment, but as a general Medicine there is nothing equal to them. In nervous affections, as well as in all cases of general debility, or where there is a want of purity in the blood and fluids, they will insure HEALTH TO ALL!

The following Medicines are for sale by Henry McLeavy St. Andrews.

CONNELL'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR.

The great healing sale.—It seems hardly worth while that we should add our testimony to the overwhelming mass that has already been procured by that inestimable balm, specific called Connell's Magical Pain Extractor, but we might as well say it exceeds anything we ever heard of for the rapid and thorough cure of the following complaints which have been tested in this city, viz: Burns, scalds, tender and sore feet, chilblains, wounds and old sores, bruises and cold in wounds, inflammation, salt-rheum, rheumatism, erysipelas, sore eyes and nipples, eruptions and scrofula chaps, &c. &c. in their worst form. No family should be without this wonderful balm. Sold genuine, at 19 Tremont Row, in 13.

SALT-RHEUM, PIMPLES AND SORE ON THE FACE, AND ALL CUTANEOUS AFFECTIONS.

The great virtue of Sarsaparilla as a restorative of purity to the blood, and consequently a cure for maladies arising from its impurity, is well known to every one. To get it concentrated in its essence, most eminent of all, Messrs. Connell & Co. have given much attention to this article, and have a length brought forth an article far superior to anything now in use. We advise every person to use this celebrated extract, as it not only effectually purifies the blood from all its morbid humors and unhealthy particles, but regulates the stomach, promotes digestion and give increased strength and vigor. As an effectual alterative to the system, it is unequalled. Sold at 19 Tremont Row, only. Price 50 cents per bottle. $4 per dozen.

CURE FOR PILES.—For 5 years I was afflicted with what the doctors told me were the itching piles. I had applied to several physicians and used many medicines without any relief, till I used the Hays' Liniment, which I purchased of Connell and Ross, No. 19 Tremont Row, which cured me before I had used all of one bottle. I was greatly relieved upon the first one of two applications. Most seriously do I urge upon the afflicted to use this remedy before all others. My object entirely in making my case public, is hoping I may benefit the afflicted sufferer.

ELIZ. TOWNSEND, No. 4, Alliston St.

MR. SINGULAR AND TRUE.—A lady called upon me the other day, and stated that her husband, son and Indian Vegetable Elixir and Liniment, sold by CONNELL & ROSS, 19 Tremont Row. She did not wish her name published, but gave us liberty to give it to any person afflicted, and have them call upon her and she would tell them the particulars. It was a constitutional family complaint, and they have all been permanently cured with the above Elixirs. This great remedy is worthy of the attention of the public. My 19.

THE NATURAL HAIR DYE.—For some unaccountable reason, for the last one or two years, many young people, both male and female, have had the misfortune to have their hair turn permanently grey. We have been frequently applied to for something to turn the hair back to its natural color, which has induced us to go to much trouble and expense in order to furnish our customers and the public generally with a new and improved Hair Dye—one that is nearly effectual, and not the least injurious to the head or hair, for the moderate price of 50 cents per bottle. We have succeeded beyond our expectations. This article we offer to the public with great confidence. We have had it thoroughly tested time after time, before we could offer it for sale. The price is such that we can afford to do so, and in consequence we believe to be superior to any ever before made.

CONNELL & ROSS 19 Tremont Row. RHEUMATISM AND GOUT.—There are many things advertised and offered to the public, claiming to cure Rheumatism and Gout, that are of little or no account, they may relieve for a short time, but will not cure. We therefore feel it our duty for the benefit of the afflicted to say what we know of the Hays' Vegetable Elixir and Liniment and Indian Vegetable Elixir, which is offered for that purpose. It is simply this, that it is the most extraordinary article we ever saw. To our certain knowledge, the following gentlemen have been long standing or ailing with Rheumatism and Gout, and are now cured, and are increasing daily in strength.

ESCH FLEMMER, Esq., No. 18 Crescent Place. REUBEN RED, Esq., 32 Elm street. DWIGHT PORTY, 44 Bridge street. Gen. JOHN T. BAKER, Cambridgeport. Mr. E. JENKINS, Chelsea. Mr. CHARLES E. FIELD, do. HORACE RICHMOND, Esq., Medway. W. S. HOWARD, No. 5 Walley street, East Boston.

We could add many more, but think this quite enough to convince the afflicted that they had better try it. The above named persons procured it from the proprietors, CONNELL AND ROSS, No. 19 Tremont Row.

Kolmstock's Vermifuge.

This remedy for worms is one of the most extraordinary ever used. It effectually eradicates worms of all sorts, from children and adults.

THOUSANDS perish by worms without the real cause being known. Some other reason is assigned for their sickness, until too late to cure the real cause.

What should be done? The answer is plain. Give this vermifuge, which will be sure to do good, if they have no worms; and if they have, it will destroy and eradicate them with a certainty and precision truly astonishing.

It cannot harm the smallest infant or the strongest adult. There is no mercury or mineral in it. Mercury is the basis of most worm remedies, and the remedy is sometimes worse than the disease. So never use lozenges, but rely upon this. Every person will be convinced on one trial, that is the most perfect cure ever invented. Remember and ask for Kolmstock's Vermifuge.

FRENCH DEPILATORY.

This article, used for taking off superfluous hair from the face and neck, is sold at 50 cents per bottle.

All of the above valuable medicines are sold by CONNELL & ROSS, No. 19 Tremont Row—BOSTON.
