The provision is made in view of the fact that the seamless coat is understood to be preserved in the Cathedral at Treves.

R. M. Ballantyne's Death. London, Feb. 13.—There are few boys that will not feel sorry to hear of the death of Mr. R. M. Bailantyne. He wrote his first story for boys in 1848, when he was 23 years of age, and after he had been for six years a resident of the Hudson Bay Company's territories. Before he exhausted that field he traveled extensively in other countries, so that his numerous stories cover a great part of the world.

The Latest Outrage. Paris, Feb. 13 .- The excitement occasioned by the bomb explosion at the cafe of the Hotel Terminus at the St. Lazare railway station last night has not abated, and the outrage is the subject of discussion in all public placez. It has been ascertained definitely that at least 25 persons were hurt. The name of the bomb thrower is Leon Breton. The police believe he is a member of an Anarchist group who have their headquarters at Neuilly-Suc-Seine.

Now We Can Sleep. BERLIN, Feb. 13.-The Hanover Tageblatt says that Emperor William and the Duke of Cumberland have agreed upon terms settling the question of the Brunswick succession. The Duke of Cumberland resigns all his rights to the succession in favor of his eldest son, George Ludwig, who beginning immediately after Easter will study at Dresden. Later he will serve in the Prussian army and upon coming of age he will succeed to the title of Duke of Brunswick, first renouncing all claims to the throne of Hanover. Killed by Falling Debris.

BERLIN, Feb. 13 .- Reports of the loss of life and damage to property by yesterday's storm continues to be received from all parts of the country.

At Radeburg, a scaffolding upon which a number of men were working was blown down and four of the workmen were inscantly killed and a number injured. At Penzlin, a house was blown down and all the inmates were buried in the ruins. The debris was soon cleared away, when it was found that several children had either been crushed to death or suffocated.

At Rintein, the tall chimney of the stove and glass works was blown over, and some of the bricks struck three persons, killing them instantly. At Sonderburg, a bridge collapsed and several persons were killed. At Luckenwald, Bradenburg, a factory chimney was blown down and ten workmen were killed and many injured. The storm was the most violent experienced in many furore of enthusiasm in a speech at Ports- |] mouth this evening by declaring that the Government had determined to negative all amendments made by the House of Lords. The Government will not submit, he said, to being dictated by the Peers. A number of Radical meetings were held in the provinces last evening, at which the consensus was in favor of abolishing the House of Lords. The agitation against the Lords is increasing daily. The Radical newspapers are filled with accounts of the movement, the ordinary news of the day being curtailed.

Parliament-The British Councils

London, Feb. 13.—The Parish Councils Bill passed its third reading in the House of Lords to-day. The bill was greatly mutilated by the amendments made to it in the Upper House. The silver question was up again in the House of Commons. Replying to questions on the subject, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, declared that it was not intended to reopen the mints of India to the free coinage of silver nor to readopt a minimum rate for the sale of India Council bills. The Government did not intend to tax imports of silver nor to change its present policy. The Indian Government has not exhausted its borrowing powers, being inside the limit of £9,500,000. The Government accepted the amendment offered by Mr. Cobb to the Employers' Liability Bill, suspending for three years the operation of the bill in cases where there are existing workmen's insurance funds.

Mr. Cobb's amendment to the Employers' Liability Bill was carried by a vote life. She has declined an offer to visit the of 215 to 213. The announcement of the figures was received with wild Unionist cheers. The smallness of the majority was due largely to the absence of Irish mem-

BEDFORD FIRE-SWEPT.

A $30,000 Blaze in the Quebec Town. BEDFORD, Que., Feb. 14.-The most destructive fire that ever swept through Bedford happened last night about 11 o'clock. The fire started in the tailoring department of V. Brosseau's general store in the center of the C. P. R. block. The flames quickly spread to the jewelry store of Wm. Kennean, and the barber shop and grocery store of J. T. Rollands. There were only two small force pumps available, and a small force pump owned by E. Cossett which was frozen at the start. They however, got it to work and managed to save the grist mill. The horse barn of Mr. Cossett was burned with the store lately occupied and owned by Mr. Martin. Mills Compelled to Stop for Lack of Water.

Train Service at Stratford in Terribly Disordered State-Demoralization at Ramilton and Niagara.

MERRITTON, Feb. 13.—The high easterly gale of last night lowered the water in Lake Erie at Port Colborne so much that there is not sufficient feed in the old Welland Canal to run the manufactories, and the water wheels have all been stopped until the water rises in the lake. The mills have never been compelled to shut down for shortness of water in this way before.

STRATFORD, Feb. 13.—The snow and wind storm which raged yesterday played havoc with the train arrangements for some hours. The train from Woodstock, due here at 7 o'clock last evening, was has lost four children with diphtheria quarter of a mile from Tavistock and did not reach here until 11 o'clock this morning. The train from Buffalo, due here at 9:20 p.m., spent the night at Paris, reaching here this afternoon. The London train, also due at 7 p.m., was stuck all night somewhere between Thorndale and St. Marys. Trains were also canceled on the Goderich and Wiarton branches. The main line was comparatively clear, and tonight passenger trains were running as NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 13 .- The great blizzard continued throughout the night, only abating in its furyabout 10 o'clock this morning. All the Grand Trunk lines were paralyzed, it being next thing to impossible to move trains of any description, but most of the roads will be able to move freights to-night, and by to-morrow it is expected the passenger trains will be again run on schedule time.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 .- Several fishing schooners belonging to this port were caught in the fierce storm off the coast last night and it is feared the New London Emma was lost with ten men.

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 13 .- Reports received here to-day from Oklahoma and the Indian Territory make it almost certain that at east 30 lives were lost during the great storm of Sunday. Many isolated homesteads where the families were poorly prepared for the winter cannot be heard from for days and possibly weeks, and there is reason to believe 30 will not represent the total number of dead. In Western and Southwestern Kansas there was great suffering, and it is probable that in more than one sod house dead bodies will some day be

New York, Feb. 13. -The snow storm of yesterday and to-day was characterized at the office of the local weather bureau as the severest of its kind that has visited this vicinity since the memorable storm of 1888. Last year was exceptional for its many and heavy snow storms, but no individual storm of 1893 equaled this in severity. Exactly one foot had fallen by 8 o'clock this morning, and there was a fall of two inches more by 11 o'clock. About noon the weather partly cleared up.

GUTHRIE, Okla., Feb. 13. - Besides two families reported frozen near Cross, an unknown man was found near the Ponca Indian agency frozen stiff. Near Stillwater another man was frozen to death under his house, and south of Cleveland county a family of three perished. Two Tonakwa Indians are reported to have been found dead in a hut. Near Andarka three Indian children who were caught out in the storm perished. Scores of cattle and horses perished in the Strip and on the Osage and Kiowa reservations. The numbers of dead cattle will reach thousands.

(Special to the ADVERTISER.) TORONTO, Feb. 14 - 3:15 p.m. - The fourth session of the present Assembly met in the Legislative Chamber this afternoon. No. 2 Company of the R. C. I. and "A" Troop Royal Dragoons acted as a guard of honor and escort to the Lieutenant-Governor, who, after the usual formularies, read the following clerk, Barrie, died of heart disease very Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the Legislative Speech from the Throne. Assembly:

It is with much pleasure that I once more meet you assembled for the dispatch of the business of the Province and the legislation which the public interests require.

PROGRESS OF THE DAIRIES. While in the last year the grain crops and the live stock trade have not been so remunerative as in former years, I am pleased to know that the products of our dairies are steadily increasing, and by reason of the improved quality command higher prices than at any time in recent years.

PROGRESS IN THE COUNTRY. The numerous agricultural organizations which are aided by the Legislature have original poem on "The Life of Moses," been increasingly active; the membership of most of them has largely increased, and the demands for their reports published by the Department of Agriculture is evidence service was held, after which Mrs. (Rev.) of the interest taken in the good work in Ira Smith spoke a few words of welcome.

which these organizations are engaged in. ege is larger than at any time in its history; the accommodation for the regular son Jamieson, hygiene and heredity; course has been taxed to its utmost. The summer course for teachers proved a most successful experiment and will be repeated during the present year. The large number in attendance at the special dairy school has fully justified your action in providing increas

ONTARIO AT THE GREAT FAIR. The signal success of the Province at the World's Columbian Exposition has been a matter of just pride and satisfaction to our people. By our exhibits of live stock, grain, fruit, honey, cheese, minerals, timber, natural history and education, we have shown that Ontario possesses great the privilege of hearing the celebrated natural resources, and in their development has kept pace with wealthier and more populous countries.

THE LUMBER TRADE continued active and the markets good during the early part of the last year, and until the monetary stringency in the United States caused much depression in tusiness in that country. Prices since then have not been so high nor the market so active. Notwithstanding this the receipts from woods and forests have, I am pleased to say, more than equaled the estimated revenue from that source. NEW SETTLEMENTS. A considerable area of fertile land has now been surveyed about Lake Temiscamingue, is easy of access and capable of sustaining a large population. During the year a crown land agency has been established at Haileybury at the northern end of the and several townships have been opened for sale to actual settlers. There is reason to hope that an important settlement may soon be formed to take advantage of the great natural resources of this northern

THE NEW ASYLUM FOR THE INSANE. Satisfactory progress has been made in the erection of the new buildings at Brockville intended for the further accommoda tion of the steadily increasing number of insane patients, for whom provision must be made. It is expected that before the end of the present year the main building will be ready for occupation.

THE NEGLECTED LITTLE ONES. The act passed during the last session of the Legislature for the prevention of cruelty and the better protection of children has been favorably received and a gratifying disposition has been manifested by the police to take advantage of its provisions. The rescuing of children from lives of crime and placing them in the way of becoming useful and honorable citizens is a work which may well engage the best consideration and attention of the community. NEW LEGISLATION PROMISED.

Amongst the bills in preparation for your consideration are a bill respecting the representation in the Provincial Assembly; a bill making further provision to prevent the personation of voters; a bill for the organization of the judicial district of Nippissing; a bill to further facilitate the administration of justice in certain matters; a bill respecting councils of conciliation; a bill affecting mining interests; a bill respecting the management of Upper Canada College; a bill respecting the law of libel; a bill respecting bills of sale; a bill respecting goods intrusted to agents, and a bill to make Rondeau Point a public park.

The bills to consolidate and amend the drainage laws and the Ditches and Watercourses Act, prepared by the commission on the drainage laws with some changes, will again be submitted to you. PAYMENT OF OFFICERS.

There having been considerable discussion of late with respect to the mode of remunerating and appointing certain provincial officials, and with respect to the extent of their allowances, it is my intention to issue a commission for the facts bearing on the various views which have been expressed on these subjects, including the practice and experience of other countries, the commissioners to report thereon with all convenient speed. THE PLEBISCITE upon the question of prohibition was, in pursuance of the act of last session, duly taken at the recent municipal elections and a large majority pronounced in favor of prohibition. POLITICAL POINTS.

Lincoln Patrons Disclaim Any P. P. A. Affiliation.

Lambton Patrons Reorganize But Defer Nominating a Candidate.

LAMBTON PATRONS. PETROLEA, Feb. 13 .- The annual meeting of the Patrons of Industry for the county of Lambton met in the council chamber today. The attendance of delegates was very limited. The chair was occupied by John Munro, Rutherford, vice-president, the association having suffered by the death of Joseph Beatie, president of the Lambton Association. The auditors' report showed a balance of $2,185. Officers appointed for the present year are: President, J. Munro; Rutherford; vice-president, Wm. Jordan, Rutherford; secretary-treasurer, D. S. Robertson, Wyoming; sentinel, John Marden, Oakdale; auditors, J. L. Wilson and John Dupee; county trustees, Joseph Osborne, John Hunter and D. Brownlee, all of Wyoming; delegate to Grand Association, J. C. Wood, Florence, alternate delegate, John Munro. The advisability of bringing out Patron candidates for both Houses of Parliament was discussed at some length, but it was decided to take no action at present. PATRONS AND THE P. P. A. The St. Catharines Journal says: "At the recent meeting of the County Association of Patrons of Industry a resolution was passed disavowing any connection with or indorsation of the P. P. A. candidate, Major Hiscott. The resolution, which was moved by Mr. S. J. Crowe, seconded by Mr. Edward Webb, sets forth that the Patrons of Industry recognize all Christian religious and people as equal, and disavows emphatically, on the part of the delegates assembled, any knowledge or intention of officially supporting the P. P. A. nominee."

POLITICAL NOTES. The Patrons of Industry convention is to be held at Aylmer to-day (Wednesday) to nominate a cardidate for the Dominion for the east riding of Elgin. The Patrons of Industry were to convene at Napanee Tuesday, but on account of the storm and bad roads the meeting was poorly attended and was adjourned till Feb. 20.

THE CATTLE TRADE.

No Fneumonia in Canada-A Report Sent to the Home Government.

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 13.-Hon. A. R. Angiers states that a very long and interesting report on the Canadian export cattle trade had been forwarded to the Imperial Government. Until such time as it reached the Colonial Office it would not be made public, out of deference to the British authorities.

It is understood that the report goes to establish beyond contradiction that there is not now, nor has there been at any time, since the whole controversy started betwen the two Governments, any pleuropneumonia in Canada. This is shown by the reports of the Government's veterinary inspectors and others appointed to investigate the matter. Every point raised by the British Board of Agriculture has been answered satisfactorily. There is therefore a strong hope in official circles that the report will be the means of removing the embargo imposed against Canadian cattle by the British Government.

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 .- The Star's special cables from London savs: "The Right Hon. Herbert Gardner, president of the Board of Agriculture, in writing to the Dundee cattle traders, says that he is most anxious to reopen British ports to Canadian cattle. Communications on the various points disputed have been made through the Colonial Office to the Canadian Government, and as soon as an answer is received the subject will again receive the most careful consideration by the Board of Agriculture.

COURTSHIP AND MARRIAGE.

Rev. J. W. Annis on the Duties of

When to Marry-Who to Marry-Who Should Have the Right to Authority ?-Good Advice.

Rev. J. W. Annis lectured to a large audience in Queen's Avenue Church last night on 'Courtship and Marriage." The address was delivered in Mr. Annis' scholarly style. It was an elocutionary treat—a rippling lake of smiles, as well as a fount of wisdom and advice to those of his hearens who have not been a found of the second state of

"No subject on earth is of such profound interest to the young," said he, "as is the marriage question. Naturally as the bird sings, the thought of youth turns to love. This tendency is implanted in their being by an Almighty hand; it pervades nearly all the literature they read, is inseparable from their dreams of the future and is largely the dominant thought of their lives. The marriage tie, with its silken bond of love, is a seraph's wing to lift the soul to all that is pure and strong and good. But when unloving souls are bound by the iron links of law they are weighed down by all that is ignoble and low and bad. This whole subject should cease to be made a thing for pretended sneer and stale jest, but be treated with the seriousness it deserves." "Is it wise to marry?" Married life was advised as the best for young people. Young women were advised to give their hearts as well as their hands, or else to go through life maids—angels of mercy in a sorrowful world. When young men were in a position to care for a home they were recommended to marry, and under ordinary circumstances early marriages were advisable. Men more often retrieved failure when married than if they were single. A witty young woman said "If the Almighty thought it so wrong for Adam to live alone when there was no woman in the world that He made one for him, what must He think now of old bachelors. The said organized with Dr. Clarke as chairman, Jamez Sadleir, secretary, and J. W. "What is wanted? Young man, what do you seek-a walking millinery shop, a bundle of drygoods, or do you seek for money or a pretty face? If you want a wife to love and to be worthy of you, then bundle of drygoods, or do you seek for money or a pretty face? If you want a wife to love and to be worthy of you, then get character. Seek the loving and obedient daughter of a wise and virtuous mother and you will find a wife beyond gold or riches. In the days of life's prosperity she will make a heaven of your home, and in the hour of life's adversity she will be as an angel to strengthen and inspire and bless. Then there should be proper preparation for married life. Young ladies ought to have intelligence. A young man does not care to marry an automatic carpet sweeper or a mechanical dish-washer. She should have a knowledge of home and know how to take care of it. She should acquire tact and taste. Young men should preserve their section on Monday.

> One Man Makes Three Trips Into a Eurning Building and Brings Out Six Persons.

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 .- A man rescued six persons from fire Sunday night in Long Island City. One of those he gallantly carried through the flames may die.

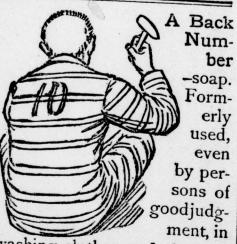

Shortly before midnight James Maloney, pound-master of Long Island City, who was passing through Eighth street, on his way home, saw the house of a neighbor in flames. William McGibney lived in the house, with his wife and four children. All were asleep when the fire broke out. There was no sign of life about the house or the neighborhood when Mr. Maloney saw the

Taking a stick, he broke in a window and climbed to the sill and looked in. The flames had attacked the room into which he looked. Through the smoke he could see the six members of the family curled up in a corner. They had evidently been awakened by the fire and smoke, and started to make their way out. The flames cut off their escape, and, blinded with the smoke, they sank down suffocated where they were.

Mr. Maloney did not wait to give an alarm. After houting "Fire" a couple of times, he wrapped his thick overcoat about his head and plunged through the flames to their rescue.

He carried Mrs. McGibney and one of the children out and then returned. On the second trip he brought two more of the children. On the third trip he brought out Mr. McGibney and the remaining child. By this time the neighborhood had been aroused, and when he struggled through the flame and smoke to the window on his third trip he was only too glad of the willing hands which helped him through the window. He was almost overcome.

Mrs. McGibney and two of the children were taken to a neighbor's house. They are not seriously burned. McGibney and the other two, a boy of 10 and a girl of 8 years, had to be removed to St. John's Hospital. It is feared McGibney will die. The house was badly damaged.

NO MORE BREWERY BOSSING.

A newspaper mouthpiece of the Brewery interests sighs for a return of the days when the ward bosses had the control of the saloons and when places for the sale of intoxicating liquors were open at almost every street corner in the city. Then the Brewery drew up the mayoralty and aldermanic slate and invariably brought influences to bear that secured a majority favorable to the boss.

In vain is the longing of our contemporary. The day when such things could be done with impunity is the people will never vote for its know that the present system of control is Dominion for such objects is upwards infinitely superior to the former demoraliz- spoken of by our opponents as an expendiwhen Mr. Meredith and his followers had for their policy the repeal of the Ontario License Act, and a reversion to Ward Boss control, the Methodist General Conference passed a resolution unanimously affirming, with reference to the present law: "We would emphatically deprecate any legislation that would impair its efficacy, and we would respectfully recommend our people, where this law obtains, to use their voice and franchise to prevent the control of this license system reverting to the municipalities, where the industrious ward politician and the interested liquor dealer so largely manipulate the election."

This view has been sustained in election after election by the large majority of the people, and will continue to prevail. It is useless for the advocate of the Brewery to kick against public opinion of so decided and so wholesome a character.

It is related of him by the Hamilton Times that on one occasion he was replying in the House to a French speaker who had made quite a lengthy speech, says: The Reform members desired to prolong the debate in order to insure the attendance of some members who had sent word that they were on the way. Mr. McKellar got up and spoke for half an hour in French in reply to the previous speaker. The gentleman from Lower Canada did not like Mr.

ONTARIO'S RESOURCES.

Liberals in Whitby, last week Sir Oliver Mowat gave a clear exposition of the Provincial assets and expenditures, one or two phases of which have already been touched upon by the ADVERTISER. He pointed out by Sir Oliver: that, in accordance with the policy inaugurated by Hon. Sandfield Macdonald, ministration had, up to the 31st December, 1893, paid in cash for railway aid nearly $6,000,000 (or, more exactly, $5,813,-667), $2,000,000 more than the aggregate amount of the accumulations during Mr. Macdonald's Premiership. Sir Oliver con-

"Besides this expenditure in aiding railways, large sums of our capital and revenue have also been expended, in and since 1872, in finishing buildings previously begun by Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's Government, and by all these means the highest prices and not completed at the time of his defeat and resignation. Also, in needed additions to these buildings from time to time since; and in new buildings and other public works. The total expenditure on public buildings and public works from 1872 to 1892, inclusive, was nearly $9,000,000 (or, more exactly, $8,846,945), or more than double the amount of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's investments and cash deposits. These two heads of expenditure alone amount to (in round numbers) $13,000,000, or more than four times Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's investments and deposits."

But the grants for public purposes, made out of the provincial revenues, have not ended with these expenditures, as Sir

"Besides the expenditure on railways and for needed public buildings and public works, large sums have gone annually for various objects in relief of the municipalities, such as the administration of justice, education, agriculture and arts, industrial farms, the maintenance of such public institutions as the asylums, the Central Prison, the Penetanguishene Reformatory, aid to hospitals and charities, various other objects of municipal interest and colonization roads, not to speak of the distribution in 1874 and subsequent years of more than $3,000,000 ($3,-288,377) amongst the principal municipalities of the Province in connection with the settlement of the municipal loan fund indebtedness of other municipalities. If the Province had not had the early investments and the subsequent timber sales (of which I shall speak) to assist, no such expenditure could have been made for the important public purposes mentioned without going into debt (as is done elsewhere). or meeting the expense by a large direct tax on the real and personal property of the whole people of the Province, in the same manner as municipal funds are raised. Expenditure on buildings and works by the other Provinces, and by the Dominion, as well as by other countries, is made While the traffic remains by incurring debts. There are few, if any, States of the Union which have not incurred debts for some or all of these of $200,000,000. Our expenditure is ture "for carrying on the Government"-Six years after the change, at a time an expression which, used in this way, is misleading, and, I am afraid, is often used in order to mislead. The only items of expenditure for carrying on the Government, in the proper sense of that expression, are the expenses for civil government, legislation and the administration of justice. These three items amounted, in 1892, to little over $300,000 (only $328,959), but it would be a very poor political party which would confine attention to those objects and leave undone everything else which the Province has been doing through the expenditure of its money since Confederation. and with such satisfactory results."

Sir Oliver stated the remaining assets of the Province in these terms:

"1. Standing timber on some 170,000 square miles of territory. 2. Unsold Crown lands, including fisheries and mines of gold, silver, copper, nickel, etc. 3. Unpaid purchase moneys on Crown lands heretofore sold and not yet patented. 4. A perpetual annuity or subsidy of about $1,200,000 ($1,196,872), to which the Province is entitled from the Dominion under the B. N. A. Act, and which is payable every half year. Also a further annual sum of $142,. 000 payable in like manner under Dominion acts and passed in 1873 and 1884."

When the last return was presented to the Legislature (in 1890) 20,000 square miles of timber were under license. Of this official statement, the Premier said:

"These licenses gave to the licensees (subject to certain conditions) the right to cut the timber on their limits, and for this right they pay the annual rent, and also pay specified dues on the timber which from time to time they cut. This licensed territory of 20,000 square miles was estimated to contain at the time of the valuation 500,000 feet to the square mile, the stipulated dues on which will alone be $10,.

Of the 63,410 square miles of unlicensed territory Sir Oliver remarked:

"On that part of it which forms the territory formerly in dispute between can get even with those who assess him if Ontario and Manitoba, say 39,000 square miles, Col. Dennis, as Deputy Minister of the Interior, officially estimated the timber at 26,000 millions of feet (b. m.). The officers of the department estimated the remainder of the 63,410 square miles then unlicensed as containing 1,000,000 feet to the square mile. The dues payable to the Province in respect of this quantity of timber as estimated by Mr. Dennis and Crown lands officers would be $50,410,000, and, assuming the quantity of timber to be substantially as estimated, the bonus obtainable for the 63,410 square miles will be $75,615,000, or about an average of $1,200 a square mile.' To avoid all possible controversy in regard to the worth of our timber resources. Sir Oliver sets down the worth of the unlicensed limits at $50,000,000-a sum less than half what all the facts in the possession of the Government would indicate to be the correct sum. Sir Oliver further

"The prices have been steadily rising hitherto, and in the judgment of experts are more likely to rise beyond present prices than to fall below them. The Opposition say so also; they argue that because prices are sure to rise we should not sell our timber territory at all, whatever their party does at Ottawa, and whatever the same pressure would make them do at Toronto it, unfortunately, they should ob-McKellar's accent, and suggested that the tain power at Toronto as well as at Ottawa. member from Kent should speak in his own | Such a system as the Dominion Government ge, whereupon Mr. McKellar sailed has pursued in regard to Dominion lands, a and spoke for four solid hours in Gaelie! or out of Parliament, would easily deprive DROP. TRY THEM.

A CONTEMPLATED ATTACK ON the Province of the millions which our unsold limits are destined to realize under the Speaking at the great mass meeting of policy pursued by the Reform Government of the Province.

How much better the Liberal system of managing the timber resources of the Province is than that pursued by their Conservative opponents is thus demonstrated

"The Province has realized so far from the bonuses obtained for timber limits nearly $6,000,000 ($5,359,592), besides then Premier of Ontario, the present Ad- [ground rents and timber dues. The amount realized, including rents and timber dues, according to last printed papers, is nearly $16,000,000 ($15,745,526). This large sum, as I have already intimated, has helped to enable grants to be made in aid of important railways, and for the erection of buildings and other works needed for the public service. To get the best prices for the timber limits, times of prosperity have been chosen for the sales; the sales have been largely advertised; they have been made by auction; the limits have gone to the highest bidders, whether these bidders happened to be political friends or political foes; going at the time of the sales or before the sales have in every instance been obtained. The way of our opponents in dealing with the timber limits of the Dominion, where unhappily they have had power, has been different. Their sales, as a rule, have brought a mere song; they have not been advertised beforehand; have not been by auction; have been made privately, and the purchasers have, as a rule, been political friends of the Dominion Government, or the associates of political friends, often members of Parliament, and not persons engaged or intending to engage in the manufacture of lumber. These persons are allowed to buy at nominal prices in order that they may put either into their own pockets or into the political election fund the difference between what they pay and what would be obtained if the sales were conducted like those of the Reform Government of the Province. To prevent such scandals in future Mr. Blake, in 1882, moved in the House of Commons that "it is expedient to apply the just principle of public competition to the granting of timber limits," and the motion was negatived by a party vote. The party wished to retain the power of rewarding in this way political friends or of obtaining money for elections."

Take, for example, the case of White

Fish Reserve, said the Premier: "This reserve was one of the limits sold by the Province in 1872, and before my premiership. The land was then supposed to belong to the Province. The price obtained at the sale was $9,000, or about $100 per square mile. The locality was at that time wild. There were no railways of which advantage could be taken, and the limit was, in consequence, difficult of access. All these circumstances affected the value. The Dominion Government afterwards discovered that the limit was an Indian reserve, and in 1885 they resold it privately and secretly, without advertising, without communication with us, and without our knowledge. The limit had increased in value since 1872, the C. P. R. having in the interval been constructed through the limit and the country opened up, good facilities created for getting in supplies and getting out logs and timber; and there had been no depreciation in any other respect. Yet, with all these reasons for an increased price, in 1885 what did the Dominion Government accept from their friend who purchased? It is almost incredible, but the undoubted fact is that not only did they not demand an increased price, but they did not demand or obtain one-tenth of the sum which our sale of thirteen years before had produced; in fact not much more than one-thirtieth. In a word, the trifling sum of $316 was accepted instead of the $9,000 which we had got thirteen years before, or $3 50 a mile instead of our $100 a mile. There is no pretense that this sale can be defended as correct or proper. The purchaser shortly afterwards sold for $15,000 the interest he had bought for $316, and in a short time afterwards there was a re-sale at a still

Hunter's Island was another illustration. Sir Oliver spoke of this scandal as fol-

"The island was in the disputed territory, and contained a large quantity of valuable timber. Long after the award had been made deciding the island to be within our boundaries, and while the Dominion Government was, notwithstanding, disputing with us as to the title, that Government undertook, without any communication with us, and without advertising, to sell this limit also to a number of persons, and without exacting any bonus whatever. The purchasers immediately after their purchase put the limit into the market at $600,000, and would have got the sum from Chicago purchasers, but the intending purchasers discovered in time that the Ontario Government claimed the island, and they therefore declined to pay. What the Dominion Government had attempted was to give away without any bonus a property estimated at $600,000. The Province could not stand that way of dealing with the property of the Province."

Another scandalous purchase was that made by Mr. Rykert while M. P. for Lincoln. Of it Sir Oliver said:

"That gentleman was at the time a member of the House of Commons, and he got at private sale, without any bonus, a limit for which he and his partner in the transaction almost immediately afterwards received $200,000. This was not in Ontario territory. The sworn evidence in the Mc-Greevy case shows that the parties who get wrengful profits in transactions with the Government are expected to turn ever a large share of these wrongful profits to the election purposes of the party, and that they do so accordingly."

After such flagrant mismanagement upon the part of the men behind those who now wish to replace Sir Oliver Mowat's Government in the administration of Ontario affairs, is it surprising that the veteran Premier of the Province should point out the dangers from such a change? It is a fact that the men who are trying the hardest to secure the defeat of the inflexibly honest defenders of Ontario's resources have all along been the warmest apologists for the rascality and prodigal waste that has prevailed at Ottawa.

Forewarned is forearmed. The boodle gang must not be let loose in this fair Province.

REMINISCENCES OF SHERIFF MCKELLAR

How He Got the Best of a Political Op. ponent, and How a Hand-Organ and a Monkey Bested Him and Sir John A. Macdonald.

The late Sheriff McKellar was one of the most effective stump speakers in the Province. Many stories are told of his tact in getting the best of an opponent at a meeting. One published some time ago is that once he attended a meeting called by Mr. Beecher, who was running for Parliament, in Aldborough, and that when he was invited to speak he arose and said he felt such a responsibility resting upon him that he could not properly express himself in the English language, and that he must be excused if he spoke in his own native tongue -the Gaelic. The audience, being composed principally of Highland Scotch, did not object to this, though Mr. Beecher protested on the grounds that he did not understand Gaelic, and therefore would not be able to answer Mr. McKellar, but the protest did not avail and the orator proceeded.

The paper have attacked Beecher if the speaker had gave a brief history of St. John's work, the not pleaded with them to spare the poor goods sent to the poorer Indians in the chief who had no idea how bad he himself Northwest, and the good effect the receivwas. Mr. Beecher asked one of his friends, | ing the gifts had on the aborigines. Miss who understood the Gaelic, what McKellar was saying, and his reply was, "It is awful, Mr. Beecher, it is awful." When around to Beecher and said, "I am done Beocher did not answer him, and being a poor speaker he did not leave a very favorable impression upon the audience, following as he did so effective an orator who had spoken in the musical dialect of the ably been found to be true. Mr. McKellar told a good story about a meeting or meetings held in Simcoe many years ago when he and John A. were in their prime. Tory and Grit meetings were announced to be held in that town on the same day, and each party, to insure success, had secured its most prominent man as speaker. The Tory headquarters were at allowance in support of the cause.

John A. and McKellar saw the danger of the situation at the same time and with renewed vigor did their utmost to make their shows more interesting than the man with the monkey. But they failed, and in five minutes neither one had a listener, except the old men who were too badly crippled with rheumatism to walk and the chairmen. When McKellar met John A. at Ottawa, at the beginning of the following session, there was a hot discussion between them as to which crowd deserted to the monkey first.

Mrs. Boomer dealt chiefly with the work conducted among the Indians in the Northwest Territories. Many thrilling incidents in the lives of the men and women who had devoted themselves to the work were related. Especially trying were the hardships undergone by the bishop of Mackenzie River and Bishop Ridley, but in spite of all drawbacks success was attending their efforts. MUSIC AND THE DRAMA.

The Play of "Playmates" at the Grand -A "Canine Paradox" Promised-"After the Ball."

"PLAYMATES." The versatile Bessie Bonehill and her talented company presented this breezy farce comedy to a good audience at the Grand last night. It is the funniest show in the same line that has been here this season. Besides the rollicking merriment, the troupe includes some excellent voices and capital instrumental players, so that the musical portion was a treat in itself. Bessie Bonehill was continually on the stage, and established a reputation as a lightning change artist. She wore a variety of costumes, and the transformations were effected with incredible quickness. The company is a galaxy of stars, and most of them had unique specialties. The Jeromes were very droll comedians, and the house was in a continual rear.

PROF. NORRIS' DOG SHOW. Prof. C. Norris has arrived in town, and is arranging for his canine paradox, 50 in number, at the Grand on Saturday, matinee and night. He comes very highly recommended, traveling in his own special car. He promises to give a grand exhibition of canine intelligence-a two hours' show in four acts, given entirely by dogs. This is a big treat for the little ones, and every man, woman and child who is a lover of trained animals should take advantage of this opportunity and go and see this astonishing exhibit.

Over $5,000 was realized and the sum will be equally distributed among the poor of the first, second, third and fifth wards, and that part of the eighth ward south of Spring street. Thirty well-known performers on the variety stage appeared and seventeen young women connected with the theaters in the city sold flowers to the audience. The flower girls were empty-handed before 8:20 o'clock. All who appeared were volunteers.

FIFTEEN LIVES IN PERIL.

A Cave-in Entombs a Number of Miners.

It Will Be Days and Possibly Weeks Before Their Fate Is Known.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Feb. 13.-It is reported that seventeen men have been killed in an explosion in a mine near Plymouth.

SCRANTON, Pa., Feb. 13.-The accident at Plymouth is due to a cave-in of a large area of surface over the slope of the Gaylord colliery of the Kingston Coal Company. Fifteen men only are caught in the workings of the affected part. Their fate is not yet known, although rescuing parties are searching the mine for them.

The caved-in portion of the mine covers an area of 30 acres. Thirteen men are positively known to be entombed behind the obstructions which block the gangways, with no chance of reaching them inside of two and perhaps three weeks. Great excitement prevails about the mine opening and in the town of Plymouth. Business generally was suspended in anxiety to learn if the men are alive.

At 12:30 o'clock this afternoon there was a strong disposition on the part of men who are well acquainted with the men to say that there is little hope of their being reached, especially if the fall is one that has had sufficient force and no resistance to fill up the worked-out gangways and chambers of the Baltimore veins. It will be several days, and the most heroic work must be done, before the men can be reached and their fate ascer ained.

A number of mine foremen and their assistants, led by John B. Davis, superintendent of the Gaylord workings, who had been in the mine all afternoon, came out at 5 o'clock and reported that all the outlets in the mines are closed, also the rock tunnel and the entrances. The cave-in covers an area of about a mile, it having extended since noon to-day, and affects the central portion of the town of Plymouth. A few cracks can be seen on the surface, but this has not become seriously affected as yet. The rescuing party were obliged to retreat on account of the further caving in of the

Should the shaft be closed all hope of rescuing the men will have to be abandoned for an indefinite time. All the men but two were married. In order to get to the men hundreds of feet of rock and coal will have to be penetrated.

POSSIBLY KICKED TO DEATH.

Sad Fate of a Little Boy in Hamilton—A Schoolmate Said to be Implicated.

Hamilton, Feb. 13 .- Charles Flanders, 1-year-old son of Conductor C. W. Flanders, died yesterday morning while in his mother's arms. An inquest was held to day, and the evidence went to show that young Flanders had been fearfully kicked in the side by a schoolboy named Clarence Book. This occurred a week ago, and the boy had been confined to his home suffering severe pains up till the time of his death. The facts came out after the boy's death. The inquest was adjourned till Thursday evening, when young Book will be given a chance to tell his story.

The Toronto Industrial.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.—The revenue of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition for the year was $87,247 30. Of the disbursements $32,582 went to the prize account, which included $1,305 for judges' fees. A balance of $1,216 is carried to the general account. Collision at Comber.

COMBER, Feb. 13.—Yesterday about noon Conductor Cousins' west-bound freight ran into the rear of Conductor Hutchinson's west-bound freight, which was standing on the main line of the M. C. R. at Comber. The first train had a flag out, but owing to the blinding snow storm the engineer of the second did not see it. The caboose of the first train was wrecked, which was the principal damage done.

Death from a Pin and a Splinter. New York. Feb. 13.—Irwin Thompson, weeks old, of 551 West Thirtieth street, died from a pin scratch the other night. While dressing the child the nurse accidentally scratched it on the face with a brass pin. Blood poisoning set in and caused the child's death ten days later. George Pretz, a carpenter, 26 years old, died in Mount Sinai Hospital yesterday. While he was sawing a piece of wood splinter recoiled from the saw, striking him in the abdomen. There was no external sign of injury, but an autopsy showed that the blow had upturned the bowel, causing general peritonitis.

The Dentist's Peril. (The Chicago Herald,)

An error, grave and deplorable, has been committed. A wife with a troublesome tooth sought a Chicago dentist. The man of pincers, following a practice well founded in medical dentistry, killed the nerve under the tooth, not however, without severe pain to the wife, who reported the matter to her husband. The chivalric nature of the husband was fired, and straightway he sought out the dentist and administered to him, & sound thrashing. The error lies in the dentist not killing the husband's nerve.

CANADA and the other wheat producing countries will probably in a year or so have a rival in Argentina as regards the export of wheat. In 1880 there were, it is estimated, ale 490,000 acres under wheat in Argen-.d in 1890 the area was put at 2,800. 000 acres, whereas for 1893 the estimated extent of the wheat fields was 6,100,000 acres.

A PHYSICIAN who got rid of some of his steel instruments and bought others made of aluminum says that he is sorry that he changed. The aluminum probes, sounds, tongue depressers, and that sort of thing do not exidize, to be sure, but he findt that they are deficient in elasticity, and stay bent after pressure. He declares, moreover, that he likes to feel as if he had a hold on something when he uses an instrument, and aluminum is so light that it makes him feel as if he could put no trust in it.

Liberal Tariff Platform.

We, the Liberal party of Canada, in convention assembled declare: That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the require-

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance. Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

Wheat deliveries were light during the week just closed owing to rough weather and bad roads. This was also the case with all other kinds of grain and produce. The only lines that changed in value were hay and oats. Hay sold up to $9 toward the end of the week, and on Tuesday and to-day's market oats sold at $1. Meats were steady and unchanged.
Vegetables quiet, with very little business

Butter and eggs steady, with a slight improvment in eggs.

Timothy and clover seed quiet, very little doing. Outside markets easier on clover. General values as follows:

"Had it not been for his kindness," the letter reads, "she would probably have soon fainted from fatigue and possibly have lost her life."

-Special services are now being conducted in Weilington Street Methodist Church. The pastor, Rev. J. R. Gundy, is ably assisted by Evangelist Park and wife, who are most earnest and devout workers. Considerable interest is felt in these services, and it is hoped that during the few weeks that they will be conducted special good may be done.

until 6 o'clock Monday morning. If the lodger went to the bartender before 7 o'clock and gave him money to supply him with liquor there would be no violation of the law, as the liquor would be purchased before the closing hour. If the guest bought the liquor before that hour he could consume it in his room, as he was exempted under the act.

-A young woman brought in a runaway horse attached to a cutter this morning and reported her find to the police. "What is your name?" asked the sergeant at the desk as he went to record the affair. "Oh, never you mind my name-you just take the horse," the young woman replied as she backed out of the door. She had found the horse roaming in London township, but had a horror of Police Court books. The animal was afterwards claimed by Miss Keyes, of London township.

-The Ministerial Association have made arrangements for a series of meetings on Monday and Tuesday, Feb. 26 and 27, to be addressed by Rev. A. T. Pierson, D.D., who occupied Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit for over a year and is now editor of the Missionary Review of the World, and also Rev. Dr. Gordon, the noted Boston divine. These gentlemen are specialists on foreign missionary work, and the meetings will be an event in the religious circles of London. They will be held in the First Presbyterian, Queen's Avenue Methodist, Dundas Street Methodist and St. Andrew's Presbyterian. Detailed announcement as to subjects, etc., will be made in next week's paper. It is expected that there will be a large attendance also from surrounding towns. Chartered Stenographers.

These examinations have been fixed for Friday and Saturday, Feb. 23-24, in Coronto, and candidates who desire to try for idiplomas or certificates must send in their names to the secretary, Mr. N. S. Dunlop, 110 King street west, Toronto, on or before Friday of this week. The diplema of the Chartered Association is evidently much prized, judging from the number of candidates thus far enrolled. London Beaten at Stratford.

The London Hockey Club went to Stratford last night to play an exhibition game, and suffered the first defeat by a score of 5 to 2. The Stratfords were a heavier set of men, and played a rough game. There was a have the names of non-qualified persons great deal of trouble with the referee, who was called upon to make several important decisions, which generally favored the Stratford club. The London team was composed of Becher, goal; Brown, point; Beltz, cover point, and Johnson, Skey, R. Lind and Hobbs, forwards. A return match will be played at an early date.

The Choral Society. The practice last night by the London Choral Society was most enthusiastic. The various choruses were sung in a highly satisfactory manner, especially "The Night is Departing" which will no doubt be the gem of the programme; and it certainly is the most difficult number in the grand "Hymn choruses are most beautiful pieces and will no doubt be extremly pleasing to the audience. The work of the society should be recognized by the public as it cannot fail to elevate the musical standard of the city and develop a higher taste for art. A fine audience is assured for the concert in the Grand Opera House to-morrow night.

The London West Council met last night with all the members present and Reeve Spence in the chair. The auditors' accounts of $20 each, from J. C. Stewart and R. H. Morrison, were referred to the finance committee. Reeve Spence reported that the county council had appropriated $100 to Mrs. Susan Smith for the support of her three imbecile children. As the money has to be paid by the village and repaid by the county, $25 was on motion of Messrs. Hammond and Hamilton, ordered to be paid at once. Constable Ward will be paid expenses incurred in removing an old man to the House of Refuge. The auditors' statement was referred to the finance committee. Deputy Reeve Scarrow presented a copy of the proposed petition and bill re the consolidation of the village debt. On motion of Messrs. Scarrow and Hamilton the amount to be borrowed was placed at $39,500, and the same will be inserted in the bill and petition. It was moved by Councilors Moore and Hamilton that Reeve Spence and Deputy Scarrow be a deputation to promote the bill at Toronto, with power to employ counsel. Electric lighting accounts for November and December last, amounting to $160 65, were ordered to be paid.

Fortune of $20,000 Reduced to Nothing in Court-A Peculiar Will Case. CAMDEN, N. J., Feb. 14 .- Some years go George Bowers, an eccentric old resident of Ancoria, Camden county, died, leaving $18,000 or $20,000. The greater part of his estate he willed to Henry George, the single tax advocate, for the dissemination of the latter's book, "Progress and Poverty." Western relatives obiected to the money being used for such purpose, and went into the Court of Chancery to prevent the bequest. They claimed that as the book to be disseminated struck at existing laws, the money could not be devoted to that purpose. Vice Chancellor Bird decided in favor of the opponents of Henry George, but the latter carried it to the Court of Appeal where the decision was reversed. Meantime the original fortune of $20,000 was reduced by court and counsel fees to less than half that amount. Then other litigation arose which further reduced the sum until finally the case reached against 90 during the Camden Circuit Court yesterday with only $200 left. This sum was ordered to be paid into court. The widow of the man at the same time were 37 carloads. The demand is less active, and a number of loads were left unsold. Out of the Workhouse

The haughty one led the way into a fit-ling-room, whence Beil emerged in half an nour blushing and transmogrified. A slow mile came over the old man's face; he sat and drank in every detail of the transformation with delight. He said nothing, but lrew a long, satisfied breath. Mr. Wilbraham, for the first time, saw that the little maid was fair-she had capacities not unworthy of her role, and he smiled a satisfied and patronizing smile. Her grandfather took her neatly gloved hand.

"Come, my wench," he said softly, and with a gleam of love in his dim eyes, "we'll be going now they've made thee so fine. No more torn gowns and big aprons—thee's a lady now, Bell, mind that."

"Shall we go to the hotel and have some tea?" asked the lawyer, not oblivious, as the old man was, of the staring crowd. "I've one more call to pay first," Lucas returned, the old grim look coming back as the smile faded. "We'll let Mat and his wife see how fine we be. Tell the man to drive to Matthew Lucas's place; he'll Don't let's go there, granddad," Bell whispered, holding his arm with her two hands, and looking imploringly.

"I shall, I tell thee," he answered angrily;

don't be a fool! It'll be nuts to me to let em see us. Lord, how mad they'll be-me to be rich, and them not a penny the better! Why, it'll pay me for the workhouse!"

When the fly stopped, tired as he was already, the rheumatic old man painfully got down and hobbled into the kitchen, drawing the reluctant girl after him. The Lucases were at tea in their usual litter of children and dirt. The man and his wife stood up, trying vainly to seem civil, conciliatory, at ease, as the stern, rugged face of the old grandfather confronted them. He made a kind of awkward, mocking bow.

"Well, Mat," says he, with a contortion of face meant for a sarcastic smile. "I've come to say good-bye to the lot of you. I'm going to set up in style, and it won't be proper for me to visit at a place like this. Least said, sconest mended, with what's come and gone. If you'd 'a knowed, my son, as I was going to be a rich man, you'd a bin ready enough to keep a roof over my head, and a bit in my supboard for your own sake. But you see you didn't know, and packed me off yonder. 'Twas a pity, for it'il make a deal o' difference to you. Bell, here, she stuck by me; she was good to her old granddad. I shan't forget her, nor you. Bell's my flesh and blood; she'll have all I have while I lives, and arter I'm gone. But as for you"—he swept his arm round contemptuously—"you're none o' mine. You let me go into the House—you may end your days there yourselves, for what I care.

Good-day to you, Mr. Matthew Lucas!" He turned his back on them, while his son stammered apologies, explanations, entreaties, the wife standing silent in impotent rage and regret. At the door old Lucas wheeled round again with a harsh laugh.

"Come, I'll be better than my word. I'll allow you, Mat, double what I asked you to a low me to keep me out o' the House. The lawyer here shall pay you 10 shillings a week while I live—when I'm gone the money'll be Bell's to do as she likes with. Come, many a little makes a mickle—that's a favorite sayin' o' yourn. You'll not be too proud to stomach 10 shillings a week, Mat? You'll never get a penny more, so help me

And the Lucas couple were left to digest these words as best they might. Mr. Wilbraham, senior, was a clever law-yer, an agreeable host, and a good man of business, respected by all who knew him, but liked by few. His only son, on the other hand. John Linton Wilbraham, better was a universal favorite. He had not distinguished himself at school or college; he J. G. B. Siegert & Sons. was idle, and but a dilettante in his profession, which was the same as his father's; but he was so kind-hearted, genial, and straightforward, that it was almost impossible to find fault with him. He, his father, and an amiable nonentity of an aunt kept house together in a comfortable mansion in Regent's They were well off, though not fashionable people, yet Mr. Wilbraham was always eager to increase his income. He was delighted at the prospect of managing this large fortune of old Lucas's, and anticipated considerable profit from the handling of so ignorant a client. Every one knew that Mr. Wilbraham was "sharp;" few suspected in him capacities for being a little more than sharp.

When Jack Wilbranam, who, of course, had heard all about the pauper heir, received his father's telegram, he transferred the order to his aunt Maria, who at once set about the preparations necessary. Who the "young lady" might be neither had the least idea. It was ten oclock that evening when the carriage arrived at the door, and Jack went out to welcome the new-comers. With a cheery greeting he helped out first his father, next an old man, whose tired, dazed looks and feeble movements gave him a teeling of pity which would beforehand have seemed strangely out of place, but it struck him that in this case fortune had relented too late. Last, a young slip of a thing was discovered shrinking in an agony of shyness, Jack gave her his hand. "Poor child," he thought, "who is she?" and his father answered the unspoken question.

"This is Miss Robertson, Jack, Mr.
Lucas's granddaughter. I hope your aunt has everything ready and comfortable for Comfortable! The little ex-servant hought she was in a palace when she found herself taken into a large bedroom where ire and candle-light, softly mingled, fell on urniture such as she had never seen before. Her grandfather, in the next room, one less lainty but not less luxurious, took it all nore stolidly. He refused help from the manservant, and asked for his granddaughter, who came to help him to bed, where Miss Wilbraham insisted he should have a cup of soup since he refused to touch the inviting little supper laid ready down-stairs. He thanked her kindly, but he was tired, and would get to bed. When Bell came to him, he said, half exulting, but with a quaver of dread in his voice. "Well, my wench, this ain't what we've been accus-tomed to, be it? This is what money'll do. What would them over yonder say to it, d'ye think?"

"It's beautiful—too beautiful, granddad—it frightens me," Bell said, with tears in her eyes and voice. "I'll never get used to it never. You'll never make a lady o' me.' "Hold thy jaw," said the old man angrily; thee'lt find it come easy enough in time—at thy age. I'll grant thee I'll have to bide as I am. I'll be old Peter Lucas to the end. Seventy-three's too old to change one's ways. But I'll live to see thee a lady, Bell. See thee! Thee mustn't be so down-hearted and give in; perk up a bit, my wench; take notice o' what t'others do, and act according. Thee looks a lady a'ready in thy fine new gown, and to-morrow we'll rig thee out like a queen." His voice, as ne went on, had grown kind, and he patted her as if she had been still the little thing that clung to his knee when her mother brought her home had to learn appalled her. Her one comfort was a remembrance, on which she fell aslesp at last, of a pair of kind blue eyes, and a gentle but manly voice which had given her her first hearty welcome into this new and terrifying world. She woke as usual at six o'clock, and started up fancying she heard Mrs. Jenkins calling her. But the only sound was of the distant traffic, and she sank bach upon her pillow, half relieved, half frightened, at the responsibilities of a new day. She got up directly the maid had left her, and so was the first in the dining-room, where the breakfast was laid amid what seemed to her ignorant eyes a scene of extraordinay splendor. She went softly about the room with wide-open, astonished eyes, touching here and there with trembling finger-tips, marveling at everything. As she stood in the window recess, drawing in de-lightedly the scent of the flowers that filled it, a voice behind her made her start as if caught stealing. She turned, blushing timidly, to me the same kind glance that had cheered her the night before. Jack was not handsome, but fresh and smiling; he looked handsome to her, and her hand in-wished her good-morning.

"Why, how early you are, Miss Robertson! I generally get down first to have a look at the Times before the governor bags it. I hope you slept well after your journey." His father had told him of Bell's previous condition, and her air of simple refinement

stinctively clung to his as he cheerily was an agreeable surprese to him.

"Oh, very well, thank you, sir," she answered, suddenly warm and happy with a sense of friendliness and protection over her; "it's such a beautiful bed, such a lovely room!—you won't be surprised at my think ing so, sir. You know how poor we've been. "Yes, yes, I know. But you must forget all that. You're a rich lady now, and you'll soon be used to it. First of all, please forget to call me sir. "Oh, what shall I call you, sir? I beg your pardon.' "Anything but that, or nothing."

"Mr.—Mr. Wilbraham? But that's your father."

"Yes, I'm only Jack."

"Mr. Jack, then?"

He laughed. "If you like. Of course I know it must all be very queer to you."

"Oh, that it is! It frightens me sir—Mr. I sake I've got such heaps to learn How-Jack—I've got such heaps to learn How-ever shall I set about it?"

"Oh, things will soon shake down. You'll get into it without knowing. Aunt Maria's a good sort; you can ask her anything."
"Mayn't I ask you?" The unconscious emphasis on the pronoun did not escape him. He felt a little awkward. He was only five-and-twenty.

"Why, of course you may," he said abruptly, and turned to take up the folded newspaper; then, feeling as if he had been snubbing, he looked at her again with his kind smile. "You'll get on best with a woman, I fancy. I know a nice lady, a distant cousin of ours, who'll be only too glad to help you. And I'm sure it won't take you long to learn." While he was speaking, a responsive smile dawned on Bell's face that went to his heart, and did not escape his father's keen eyes as he entered the room. Breakfast was embarrassing to a girl like Bell. She could not swallow the stewed kidney she found on her plate, and she sat stupidly staring at it till Jack took it away, and gave her a boiled egg instead. On the whole, she got on much better than she expected, thanks to her entertainers' kindly tact.

Her spirits rose, and she blossomed into a shy prettiness which somewhat surprised Mr. Wilbraham.

NOVELTIES IN READING.

The complete novel in the February number of Lippincott's is "The Picture of Las Cruces," by Christian Reid. The scene is laid in Mexico, and chiefly in the ancient house of a noble family, where an American artist undergoes a curious experience. Gilbert Parker's serial story, "The Trespasser," reaches its sixth chapter, and makes its hero acquainted with his uncle, who is the villain of the tale, and with sundry other factors in his new life. "Dr. Pennington's Country Practice," by Butler Munroe, is a lively and amusing story. "Dick," by George Grantham Bain, tells of an office-boy whose unobtrusive virtues wrought a reform among editors and reporters. "A House that Jack Built," by Philo Andrews Tucker, is a quaint sketch with a moral. Champion Bissel contributes a careful and interesting "Study of Pawnbrokers." Alice Wellington Rollins writes on "The Science and the Art of Dramatic Expression." Hjalmar Hjorth Boyesen tells us about "Norwegian Hospitality," and Charles Robinson about "Freaks." In "Talks with the Trade," the question, "Have Young Writers a Chance?" is dis-

The Arena Boston, for February is a magnificent midwinter issue, containing 164 pages. Among the contributors are, Rev. M. J. Savage, Rev. Washington Gladden, D. D., Heinrich Hensoldt, Ph. D., Congressman John Davis, Stinson Jarvis, Rabbi Solomon Schindler, Helen Campbell, and Rev. Hiram Vrooman. The editor contributes two important papers : one dealing with uninvited poverty, the other an argument against medical monoply. A striking feature is a symposium by six well known American women on "Rational Dress for Women." This symposium is profusely illustrated. Altogether, no review of the month will be so attractive to progressive persons as the midwinter Arena. The publishers announce that hereafter the Arena will contain 144 pages, making it the largest monthly review published.

Outing for February opens with a curious story, "Invisible Chains," by Louise D. Mitchell. Some excellent character sketching and the strange workings of abnormal emotions, verging on insanity, lend a peculiar interest to the tale. Other prominent features of a most readable number are: "The Home of the Hulere," "The Price of a Name," "Hunting in Polar Regions," and "The Land of Josephine."

Worthington's Magazine for February opens with a good article on "Peasant Life in Picardy," by Helen Evertson Smith. It is illustrated by the frontispiece "Father is Coming," besides numerous other wellchosen illustrations. It is written in an easy conversational style and reads almost like a story. This number is characterized by several very pretty poems and stories, notably "Memories," a poem by Richard Burton; "Threads of Fate," a story by Martha McCulloch Williams, and "Disenchanted," a story, by A. H. Holden. (Hartford, Ct.: A. D. Worthington.)

Robert Barr, [probably the wittiest and most ingenious of the writers of short stories, and a Canadian, has a thoroughly characteristic story of the "holding up" of an express train, in McClure's Magazine for February. The story is admirably illustrated.

FOREST AND STREAM speaks of a curious find in the Cape Ann fish market, at Gloucester, Mass. It was nothing less than a mackerel with a rubber band around the body. The band had been put on the fish when quite small, and stayed there in spite of the rapid growth of the wearer. The fish's body under the band did not grow, which caused a depression in the full-grown body of about three inches in depth. The depression was covered with a healthy skin in no way unlike that on the rest of the body. The fish measured in length fourteen inches, diameter of body each side of the depression, seven and three-fourths inches, diameter of de-pression, five inches. The fish was undoubtedly in a healthy condition, and the band was sound and could be stretched like any other band.

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd. cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea-the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children." Dr. G. C. OSGOOD, Lewell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. KINCHELOE.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria. and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Monday's Electrical Storm.

Mr. Wardell, chief operator in the G. N. W. telegraph office in this city says: "The electrical storm which accompanied vesterday's blizzard came in waves, moving from west to east. We noticed it first between 1 and 2 o'clock p.m., between Detroit and Chatham. Shortly afterwards it reached here, demoralizing some of the lines running east and west all the afternoon, and was so strong at times that we removed the batteries from the lines affected, and worked them at intervals without the main batteries. Even then the circuit was so strong as to make it appear that the lines were crossed with a powerful electric light wire. We had two or three spring jacks burned out at the switch-board. The storm lasted till late in the evening.'

THE OPEN FORUM.

A Caution to Farmers.

To the Editor of the ADVERTISER: At the next Dominion election the following argument will be trotted out by the Adonis of Ottawa, the post-prandial blue book: 1. That there has been a wave of commercial depression all over the world. 2. That Canada has only partaken of her share of the universal depression. 3. That the protective tariff has had nothing to do with said depression. We will accept the two first propositions without comment. The third is not true. Protection in Canada has increased the general depression in Canada. It has caused an unnatural growth of manufactories in Canada, congestion of the market has resulted, which has entailed a loss on all sides. Besides, protection has after the young woman had a slight kemorincreased the price of articles in the small, contracted markets of Canada. Let the divulged. farmer ask the candidate these questions: 1. Why should I pay more than other people for the same article? A five-pronged dung fork costs in Manitoba $1 25, 30 cents in England and 35 cents in the States. At the present price of wheat it takes three bushels of wheat in Manitoba to buy a five-pronged dung fork, Now, in a Premier of the Catholic Province of four-pronged fork there is just a pound Quebec. and three-quarters of cast steel at 5 cents per pound. In a large factory-for the workmanship-they can be turned out for about $1 20 per dozen. The prime cost of a handle is 5 cents. The entire fork would cost about 23% cents. The duties on four, five and six-pronged forks is $2 per dozen and 20 per cent., or a fraction over 90 per cent. Now, what is true of dung forks is true of everything else 2. Why, if I have to sell my wheat at free trade prices, should I have to buy everything at protection prices? Farmers of Manitoba, when protection candidates come round with their sweet words and sweeter promises do not forget that five-pronged fork and the fact that you paid three bushels of wheat for it. I am, sir, yours faithfully, H. AUBREY HUSBAND. Wawanesa, Jan. 30.
