A DUTIFUL SON-IN-LAW. Rome, June 1.-Prince Leinguagelossa, son-in-law of Premier Crispi, has challenged Deputy Felice Cavallatti, the leader of the extreme Radicals, on account of the latter's accusations against Signor Crispi.

ASIATIC CHOLERA.

A telegram from the United States consul at Tarsus, Asia Minor, announces the appearance of cholera there. At Mecca between April 22 and May 15 there were over 125 cases of the disease, all of which proved fatal. Steps are being taken to prevent the spread of the disease.

WILDE'S PUNISHMENT. London, June 2.—Oscar Wilde will serve his two years' sentence in Wormwood Scrubbs Prison. The prison doctors affirm that his heart is weak, and he has therefore not been placed on the treadmill, but has been compelled to pick oakum. His health is broken and he hardly sleeps. Taylor, his accomplice, takes prison life in a lighter man-

SARA'S REAPPEARANCE. London, June 2.—The principal event of the week in the theatrical world has been the reappearance of Sara Bernhardt, at Daly's Theater. The drama, "Gismonda," which the great actress presented for the first time in London, is a powerful one and has drawn crowd-Mme. Bernhardt and her company 100 successive nights. There are no fewer than 30 speaking parts in the list of

THE QUEEN AT BALMORAL. London, June 2.—Her doctors having advised the Queen that she should live as much as possible in the open air, her Majesty spends the chief working part of the day at Balmoral in a three-roomed structure, half cottage and half tent. One end is entirely open. The place is secluded from the castle by dense shrubberies, and there is a pleasant outlook. Here she often takes her breakfasts and either writes or dic-

IN MEMORY OF GARIBALDI. Rome, June 2.-Today was the fifteenth anniversary of the death of Gen. Garibaldi. The popular societies marched to the capitol, where they deposited wreaths on the liberator's monument. As the line was moving to the capitol four revolutionary societies quitted the procession on seeing a Crispi society appear. A Garibaldian colonel harangued the crowd at the capitol. He denounced the Government and recalled Garibaldi's devotion to morality and social justice. No Socialists spoke, but some of them cheered for De Felice. the Socialist deputy. The demonstration was orderly. Garibaldi's family observed the day at Caprera. LONDON SWELTERING.

London, June 2.—Cable dispatches received here tell of the intense heat which has been prevailing in New York, and so it may interest people on the other side of the Atlantic to know that London has been sweltering in sympathy. The metropolis has had a full week of blazing sunshine and intense heat. On Thursday the thermometer registered 86 degrees in the shade, the highest figures recorded here on May 30 in 27 years. But the heat has had a good effect upon certain lines of business, as ladies, in cosequence of the torrid weather, have been wearing the lightest and prettlest toilets, and the men in Hyde Park and other such places during the mornings have been trying to keep themselves cool in gray hannels and straw hats, which were exchanged for the afternoons for white duck trousers and frock coats. In fact, this cool costume was worn even in the sedate House of Commons, and handreds of ladies might have been seen daily taking tea on the terrace of the House of Commons. The House proper, however, has been deserted, while the terrace referred to has presented one of the gayest scenes in Lon-

THE BUCKINGHAM PALACE BALL. London, June 2.-The State ball at Buckingham Palace on Thursday was the most brilliant affair of the kind in years past. The local majority of the gentlemen were very showy uniforms, their breasts covered with glittering orders, while the ladies in their charming dresses and jewels, formed a pretty contrast to the picturesque Afghans of the suite of Nazrulla Khan, whose gorgeous eastern robes added additional luster to the scene. There was a wonderful display of gold plate in the supper room. Many of the richest and heaviest pieces were fixed as ornaments to the walls, while the tables and the magnificent buffet were covered by some of the most valuable and highly prized specimens of the goldsmith's art. Besides this remarkable display of goldware there were several Oriental show pieces, which were displayed in honor of the Afghan prince. Among them was a peacock composed of precious stones and valued at $150,000. Two thousand invitations were issued for the State ball, and it is safe to say that more than that number of people were present. The representatives of the royal family entered the ballroom at 11 p.m., in a procession, headed by the Princess of Wales and the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, the great officers of state, with their wands of office, killed, walking backwards before the head of the procession. Directly after the members of the royal family were seated. dancing began. There were very few Americans present, and it was noticeable that the published list of persons invited did not include the names of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Goelet, of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Winslow, or, in fact, of any of the Prince of Wales' Riviera friends. Lady Beresford (the Duchess of Marlborough) was one of the Americans present. She wore a dress of pale brocade, ornamented with beautiful violet flowers and wonderful diamonds. Mrs. George Curzon, Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain and Mrs. Hearst, of San Francisco, were also present.

THE AMEER'S SON

Is Not Altogether a Social Success Among His English Entertainers.

London, June 2.-Nasrulla Khan, the second son of the Ameer of Afghanistan, who is now visiting England, is not a social success. When he makes visits, accompanied by some of the members of his suite, he becomes a social anxiety. The natives of the party live in barbaric style at Dorchester House. They sleep on mattresses placed on the floor and cover themselves with rugs, declining to use the more comfortable beds. The English officials who are supervising the party had to correct their habit of pocketing the silverware from the tables of their entertainers-a habit which occasioned more or less adverse comment during their stay in India, but which, it appears, they were then allowed to follow if they could escape the observation of their hosts. According to the Afghan idea, this plate was intended as a present to Nasrulla Khan, and his followers therefore felt themselves at liberty to appropriate it to their own Nasrulla Khan can use a knife and fork in eating, but he prefers to use his fingers, disdaining the table implements of civilization. A pipe bearer attends Nasrulla Khan, and at every opportunity he hands his master a pipe loaded with tobacco strongly charged with

The dignity of the Afghan prince approaches sulkiness. He is greatly amazed by the position held by ladies in society here, and refuses to be re-conciled thereto. At Lady Tweedmouth's party, where he first saw a gathering of ladies in evening dress, he refused to go into the drawing-room and declined to give Lady Lansdowne his arm into tea. He scanned Lady Lansdowne attentively, and then marched several paces in front of her into the supper-room, Lady Lansdowne following, half-amused, half-indig-nat. In his audience with the Queen Nasrulla Khan spoke in broken French, the Queen helping him now and again to a timely word. He afterwards exed houses. "Gismonda" was performed at the Renaissance Theater in Paris by Majesty speaking Hindu to her attendants, Munshi and Abdul Karim.

At the Derby he said he supposed it was all arranged beforehand that the Prince of Wales would win the first race and the Prime Minister the second. He added that it would have been so in Cabul.

The India Office allotted $250,000 for the entertainment of the prince and his suite. This money will be chiefly expended in presents.

Johnston, Pa., June 2.-The Cambria Iron Company has advanced wages in all departments 10 per cent. This will increase the pay rolls $20,000 a month and affects 3,000 men. Pittsburg, P., June 2.-The Carnegie Steel Company has voluntarily increased the wages of all tonnage, day and turn men in its mills 10 per cent, advance to date from today. About 30,-000 participate in the increase.

Galesburg, Ill., June 2.-The convention of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen adopted the system of the State Legislative Board to look after legislation friendly to railroad labor in the several States. The grand master and the first vice grand master were given greater authority regarding the disposition of misunderstandings. The convention indorsed the policy of the grand officers during the last year by which strikes were avoided and the men lived up to their contracts with the railroad companies. It adopted the Cedar Rapids plan for the federation of the brotherhoods of engineers, firemen, conductors, trainmen and telepraphers.

"HANDS UP!"

A Boy Eight Years Old Shoots a Com-

Buffalo, N. Y., June 2.-Yesterday afternoon Charley Victor, aged 8, invited Freddy Holdermiller into the Victor House to play tag. Freddy assented, and when the boys had got into the house Charley went into a room, picked up a loaded shot gun, commanded 'hands up" and immediately discharged the weapon, Freddy dropping to the floor dead.

The parents of the dead boy say that there was some ill-feeling between the lads, and that the deed was for revenge.

The boy Victor asserts that he did not intend to kill his companion, but that he only wanted to frighten him. BRIGHTER PROSPECTS

For Newfoundland Owing to the Success of the Loan:

St. Johns, Nfld., June 2.-Reports from the country towns show a general satisfaction at the obtaining of the loan. The people rejoice at the preservation of automony and the collapse of the proposal for a crown colony. The Whitewayite supporters here were preparing a reception for Colonial Secretary Bond, but he has gone to England to conclude the loan negotiations, so the demonstartion has been postponed. The effect of the loan is already seen in trade. Business men announce an increase in orders. Stocks are being ordered from abroad, and everything betokens a vigorous rebound towards

DROWNED IN THE THAMES, Sad Fate of a Young Girl Who Was Visiting Near Thamesville.

Thamesville, Ont., June 2.-A sad accident happened today, whereby Annie, the only daughter of H. Wibberly, of the Western Hotel, was drowned near the Tecumseh farm, east of this village. She left here last night to spend Sunday with the family of Mr. D. Boam, and in company with the son, John, his cousin, Ella May Boam, and a young man named Wilcox, was wading in the Thames rapids, near the bank in shallow water. When they came where the current had washed a deep hole the girl lost her footing and slipped in. She caught Wilcox, the only member of the party who could swim, and was pulling him under when Robert McGregor, who lives on the opposite side of the river, heard cries for help, hastened to the scene of the accident and succeeded in rescuing Wilcox, wno was completely exhausted, but the girl sunk, to rise no more. The body was recovered.

UNCLE SAM'S INDEBTEDNESS. Washington, June 2.—The public debt statement issued yesterday by the Treasury Department shows the debt of the United States, less cash in the treasury, to have been $912,363,292. This does not take into account $573,366,743 in certificates and treasury notes outstading, against which there is an equal amount of cash in the treasury. The debt on May 13 is therefore $5,386,611 less than on April 30.

Opinions Expressed in Quebec With Regard to the New Specific.

Quebec, June 3.-There has been considerable discussion in this city, both among the members of the medical fraternity and private citizens, with regard to the numerous undisputed cures from various diseases of the kidneys through the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The matter has been not only discussed privately among the friends and acquaintances of those who have received benefits from the use of the remedy named, but has been chronicled in the public press. The general consensus of opinion is that the medicine has undergone a thorough test, and has proved itself fully deserving of the great praise which has been bestowed upon it.

Saturday Was a Busy Day at the Convention.

The Treasurer's Report and Election of Managers.

O. C. W. B. M. Also Elect Officers-Services Yesterday Disciples in City Pulpits.

Saturday was a busy day at the convention of Disciples of Christ-yesterday was even more so. The more progressive of the Co-operation were jubilant over the victory gained on the Bible School question, and believe that the continuance of the school recently started in Toronto marks an era in the history of the body. It practically means the inception of what may in years to come prove a worthy competitor with the number of far-famed Bible colleges supported by the body in the United States. Ar interesting feature of the division was the fact that lady delegates voted, and the majority were on the side of progress and the school. Another feature of the division was the readiness with which the minority bowed to the will of the majority, and the leader of the opposition was the first to move that the matter be made unanimous. The routine work was pleasantly diversified during the afternoon, when a number of little children, representing the mission bands of the Church of the Disciples in St. Thomas and Mr. Fowler's church at Elizabeth street, gave a number of very cleverly-executed kindergarten exercises. They were directed by Mrs. W. W. Coulter, St. Thomas, and Miss Libby Pitcher, London, and the drill reflected credit both on the patience of the teachers and the aptitude of the children. The ladies of the O. C. W. B. M. surrendered an hour or so of time, as did their brethren in convention, and afterwards the two conferences resumed. The Disciples elected their board of managers, which is, with one exception, the same as last year. Mr. R. N. Rice, St. Thomas, takes the place of Mr. A. J. Thompson, Hillsbury. The other managers are: President, Hugh Black, Rockwood; vice president, John Campbell Erie Mills, St. Thomas; recording secretary, J. W. Kilgour, Guelph; corresponding secretary, T. L. Fowler, Toronto; treasurer, John McKinnon, Everton; J. H. H. Jury, Bowmanyille; Thos. Whitehead, Walkerton; John Black, Rockwood; S. F. McKee, Erin; George

Munro, Hamilton. The committee on nominations placed themselves on record by dropping from the board the names of those pastors whose churches were in receipt of funds controlled by the board. But the convention would not hear of losing the services of such tried and true men as Rev. George Munro, Hamilton; T. L. Fowler, West Lorne, and J. W. Kilgour, Guelph, and the arguments put forth so convinced even the members of the committee themselves that they were foremost in replacing the names. Mr. John McKinnon, treasurer, read the financial statement. The home mission receipts for the year ending June 1, 1895, were $2,454 99; expenditure. $2.055 31. Educational fund-Receipts, $467 75 expenditure, $467.75 (and balance of $149 15 due Rev. T. L. Fowler); receipt from endowment fund, $45.

Farewell legacy account-Receipts, $4,572 44; expenditure, $4,165 22; balance, $407 22. The ladies of the O. C. W. B. M. elected the following officers before finally adjourning: President, Mrs. S. Brown, Wiarton; vice-president, Mrs. George Munro, Hamilton; Mrs. W. B. Malcolm, Toronto; Mrs. D. Oliphant, London, and Mrs. E. McLurg, Ivan; corresponding secretary, Miss L. V. Rioch, Hamilton; recording secretary,

Miss M. A. Sinclair, Poplar Hill; treasurer, Miss Jennie Flemming, Kilsyth. The report was adopted. On Saturday evening Mrs. C. L. Smith, a returned Japanese missionary, gave a very interesting statement of the work in that country. Rev. F. M, Rains, of Cincinnati, O., corresponding secretary of the foreign mission board. supplemented Mrs. Smith's remarks by a vigorous appeal, which was especialy directed to the children. Service was held in the church on Sunday morning, when Rev. J. H. Hardin, Cincinnati, O., and secretary of the United States home mission board, delivered any interesting and instructive discourse. In the atternoon Rev. F. M. Rains addressed a large audience in the agricultural hall, in Queen's Park. His theme was missionary work, and his remarks were based on Paul's missionary catechim, as recorded in a portion of Romans, chapter x. Paul's missionary catechism was evangelical, the preacher said. There was no difference between men in the sight of God. There was only one test with God-"Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." This was the only test. God loved the lowliest man in the world as well as the greatest. It was no mere accident that people today had all the privileges of the gospel. It was the result of the efforts of the noble men who carried the gospel to their forefathers. It was a mistaken idea that God had special love for the English-speaking or other civilized races and none for the natives of China, India or the isles of the sea. It was the supreme object of the church to send the gospel to the heathen. Midnight darkness was resting on more than half of the world today, and it was for the support of missions, and made a lasting impression. Rev. J. H. Hardin preached again in the evening.

At the close of the morning service the Lord's Supper was administered by Revs. George Fowler and George Munro.

Three of the city churches—the Centennial, Grosvenor Street Baptist and the Hamilton Road Methodist-extended invitations to the Disciples to occupy their pulpits. Rev. Mr. Lediard, Owen Sound, preached at the Hamilton Road in the morning, and Rev. P. Baker, of Everton, in the evening. Rev. Mr. Sinclair, Ivan, preached in the Grosvenor Street Church in the morning, and Rev. Mr. Lhamon in the evening. The latter preached at the Centennial in the morning. THE WIND-UP. The Disciples of Christ concluded their annual meeting in the Elizabeth Street Christian Church at noon today. The pricinpal business of the morning was the adoption of the report of the committeee on resolutions. In the report gratitude was first expressed to Almighty God for loving kindnesses. Sympathy was extended to the president, Mr. Hugh Black, Rockwood, in his bereavement. Deep sorrow and sympathy was expressed with Miss Bella Sinclair, Ivan, a member of the educational committee, in her long and continued illness. It was resolved to receive the hearty Christian greetings of Brothers Rains and Hardin, of Cincinnati, and to send by them fraternal love and sympathy to the brethren in the States. The brethren and sisters of the Elizabeth Street Church were thanked for the kindnesses and consideration shown the delegates, and thanks were also extended to those churches that had thrown open their doors to the Disci-"Resolved, while not going back to the law of Moses for authority therefor, nor regarding it as the Jewish Sabbath day, nevertheless we regard the first day of the week as a day that should, as far as possible, be set apart to religious exercises, and made, as it really is, the Lord's Day.' Further, the excellent work of "The Disciple of Christ and Canadian Evano gelist" was appreciated, and the editorial work of Bro, Munro, Hamilton, commended. The press were thanked for excellent reports, and the faithful work of the board of managers and officers also mentioned

The report was adopted. The following resolution touching the Manitoba school case was also adopted: "Resolved, that we deprecate the interference, or attempted interference, on the part of the Federal Government with provincial legislation upon public school questions, especially as regards pending questions in Manitoba."

nati, spoke in favor of the affiliation of the Ontario Co-operation with the G. C. M. C. (the sister body in the States). The question was vigorously debated. and as it was found that such action would be unconstitutional, a resolution extending sympathy and fellowship was adopted instead.

Rink Meetings.

Over 500 Souls Converted as a Result-The Financial Part Satisfactory-Mr. Yatman Will Return to London. With the rink thermometer registering 102, over 4,000 persons crowded into the Princess Rink last night to hear the closing sermon by Rev. Mr. Yatman, of New York. The rink was not built for ventilation, but the interest in the final meeting was so great that every one remained to the close. The singing was even better than upon any preceding occasion. The choir loft was filled, and the ladies and gentlemen rendered splendid aid, led by Mr. J. W. Fetherston, Prof. Whyte, the singing several times. Mr. Yatman appeared to be very weary after the exertion of the three weeks' work. Still his words were full of hopefulness. He said that in September next he will sail from San Francisco for Honolulu, then to New Zealand, Australia and Cape Town. Skirting the coat of Africa, he will go to England.

"And in one year from now," Mr. Yatman went on, "I will come back to Lon-one to be delivered in the new Y. M. C. A. building, another in the new Queen's Avenue Church, and the other in the Dundas Street Church." The evangelist's remarks were brief. The text was "Galley slaves, or rowers that pulled to the death." At the conclusion he asked all who wished to get aboard the good old ship Zion to stand, and nearly everybody in the rink stood and joined in singing "Shall we gather at the river." In conclusion the choir sang "God be with you till we meet again." It is estimated that 500 conversions have resulted from the meetings. The financial part of the meetings has been satisfactory. The expenses were all met, and Rev. Mr. Yatman was given the collections of the last four days. amount was not counted, but it will be a tidy sum. The arrangement with him was that he should have one whole day's collection for each Sunday he was here. Rev. Mr. Yatman left today at 12:20 by the G. T. R. for New York, Prof.

certain personage whom she declines to ENGLISH WOMEN CRITICISED. The criticisms of Alphonse Daudet, the distinguished French author, who has been visiting England, are raising quite a storm in social circles. He said that English women are utter strangers to elegance and good taste, add-"The English we encounter in Paris, with flattened down hair and huge feet, I found differed in no single par-ticular from the English lady of rank whom he met in London. They are not handsome in features, and there is nething seductive about their physical

THE FATHER OF THE HOUSE. Mr. Villiers, the father of the House of Commons, and its oldest member, a man who has had a seat at St. Stephen's for 60 years, has given an evening paper a suggestive account of his views upon the comparative merits of the Parliament of the past and present. He is entitled to speak on the subject out of an experience equaled by no living man, with the single exception of Mr. Gladstone, and not surpassed even by him.

And this is the opinion of the veteran Liberal who issued his first electoral address when William IV. was king: "I think," says Mr. Villiers, "in some spects it (the House of Commons) has somewhat lost credit with the country. It does not hold the same posi-tion in men's minds that it used to hold. It has not the same power." The causes to which he assigns the decline of the Commons may be summarized as the rise and growth of outside influence, the press, the platform, the system of political organization, which did not exist in his early days. At a time when it is considered flat blasphemy, from the Laberal point of view. To question the all-wisdom of the Commons, this frank opinion of Mr. Villiers has puzzled his copartisans. One Radical writer ex-plains it as "the harmless chatter of a benevolent old gentleman who lives, and for two decades has lived, in an idealized past." The Tory estimate is different. 'Few men who are as old are so sensible,' is the retort of a sprightly commentator. And so the merry war goes on.

DERBY. Englishmen may claim with patriotic pride that the Derby of 1895 had all the national characteristics, and the Ameer's son, who gazed upon the scene almost with fear at its vastness and infinite variety, will have something to think of for the rest of his life. Most | death. particularly must he have been impressed by the flavor of piety given to gespel booths, wherein fervid missionaries between races exhorted sinners to fiee from the wrath to come. Truly the sinners predominated. Betting and all serts of gambling went on unchecked. Drink booths dispensed incessantly liquor which set women as well as men reeling about the beautiful Downs mad drunk. Thieves worked merrily and profitably, and vice held open market: but tracts were distributed with lavish generosity, and at 1 o'clock prayer meetings were held all over the race-

THE PRINCE'S NEW HONOR. A curious little intrigue resulted today in the official announcement that the Prince of Wales has been graciously pleased to accept the nomination to the dignified post of Chancellor of the University of Wales. By a peculiar coincidence the Prince's letter announcing his decision was dated on Wednesday, when he had been having a good time at Epsom, betting on the Derby, winning a race with one of his own horses, entertaining a bachelor party of choice spirits at Marlborough House, and generally enjoying himself in a way calculated to shock the feelings of the straight-laced gentlemen who constitute the University Council, and in some respects to justify the sturdy Radical coucilmen who had objected to conferring the honor of chancellorship on a man who, whatever his other qualifications might happen to be, is neither a learned scholar nor a Welshman born. These Radicals have give a good deal of trouble to the fervid Royalists in the council, and at one time it looked as though it would be impossible to obtain that unanimous invitation without which, the Prince had intimated, he would be unable to accept the nomination. Much pressure, social and political, had therefore to be brought to bear upon the malcontents, who finally yielded, with one exception, and he was ultimately induced to confine his opposition to the passive form of being absent when the vote was taken.

The Prince's Derby day letter of acceptance was a very neat bit of work. The Prince had, he said, "observed with much satisfaction the love of learning displayed by the Welsh people, especially as evinced by the creation of this university," and therefore if the council did him the honor of electing him he would not fail to do his utmost to foster the important work in which it is engaged, and so on.

It is absurd to suppose that the Prince has either the inclination or the time to perform the important work of chancellor of a university, and his election is really due to toadies who hope to gain personal advantage from an occasional rubbing of shoulders with him at council meetings. That, at any rate, is the opinion of the dissentient member of the council, who, by the way, is the elected representative in that body of the working miners of Wales.

CARDINAL GIBBONS INTER-VIEWED

Cardinal Gibbons spent two days in Paris on his way to Rome and talked with characteristic freedom to newspaper interviewers. "American priests," he said, "would be delighted to help the French Church to shake off its old errors and its sloth. Instead of praying and waiting in the obscure silence of the temples, the French clergy ought to organize a serious propaganda among the people. The sound of bells is no longer sufficient to draw people to church in France. The clergy is earnest, learned and pious, but it is timid. There is no place for timid people in the world nowadays. Priests must be hardy and valiant. As a matter of fact the priests of America have greater influence over 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 Catholicts among a population of 60,000,000 than the French have over 3,000,000 Catholics among a population of 36,000,000.

"Priests ought to be well acquainted with three things-the Gospel, man and human society. They ought to go among the people, taking part in and under standing their daily lives. They should study social questions—the relations of capital to labor, divorce, the woman's movement; in short, everything that goes to make up the present social life.' MUTINOUS INDIANS.

On Thursday the soldiers of the Ameer's son became so mutinous that, at an English officer's suggestion, the Prince's body guard were allowed out in the park in charge of Sergt. Rawley, of the Eighteenth Hussars, and on the horses belonging to that regiment. They were on parole and behaved very well, but on the same evening, when the foot soldiers were taken out for an airing in a wagonette, several of them bolted, and the last straggler was not brought in until the small hours of the morning. Saturday morning an English army surgeon made an inspection of the stables, with the result that the whole contingent, horse, foot and artillery, were taken in the afternoon in wagonettes to St. George's baths to perform much needed ablutions. Mops, pails, brooms and water hose were briskly applied at Dorchester House during their absence. Next week Prince Nazrula will start on his tour of the provinces, and, as it would be impossible to take all his people with him, the London authorities are nervously apprehensive of what may occur when the restraining presence of their prince is removed from

THE Y. P. S. C. E.

Fourth Middlesex County Convention at

Glencoe, May 28 and 29. The Glencoe Convention to which so many Endeavorers had looked forward is now a thing of the past. However, it will not soon be forgotten by those who attended. The Glencoe people spared no time or trouble in making the delegates enjoy themselves. The music was excellent and gave evidence of careful training and good voices. Miss Sexmith sang a delightful solo with violin accompaniment on Wednesday evening. The churches are very handsome. The Episcopal and Methodist face the Presbyterian. They were very convenient for convention purposes. The first meeting, on Tuesday evening, was held in the Methodist Church; also the sun-rise prayer-meeting the next morning. Then the remainder of the sessions took place in the Presbyterian Church. After the afternoon session the delegates were invited to take tea in the Methodist Church. The first meeting, after a short song service, was opened by the president, Rev. T. E. Harrison. The usual address of welcome was given by Rev. C. W. Brown, Glencoe, and was responded to by Rev. W. Johnston, of Wardsville. Then followed the address of the evening, "Our Ideal," by Rev. Dr. Dickson, of Galt, who remained through all the sessions and addressed the convention when the sessions and addressed the convention the sessions and addressed the sessions are sessions and addressed the sessions and addressed the sessions and addressed the sessions are sessions and addressed the sessions are sessions and addressed the sessions are sessions and sessions are sessions as a session and sessions are sessions and sessions are sessions as a session and sessions are sessions. Then followed the address of the evenon Wednesday. He was the guiding spirit of the convention, and his inspiring words will not soon be forgotten. The sun-rise meeting on Wednesday morning was a solemn fitting beginning to the day's work. The topic was "Singleness of Purpose," and was admirably explained by Mr. H. W. Baker,

B.A., of Glencoe. The morning session opened with devotional exercises, after which the president, Rev. T. E. Harrison, gave an enthusiastic address, reviewing the work for the past year. It was full of encouragement, showing an increase of 21 societies, also a marked increase in the contributions to missions. There were also great advances made in junior work. Then came the secretary-treasurer's report, by Miss M. S. Drynan, of Strathroy, showing the increasing strength of Christian Endeavor in Middlesex. She found much trouble communicating with societies on account of the change made in corresponding secretaries. The office should be a permanent one (Art. 5, Model Constitution). When change is necessary the county secretary should be notified at once.

Three very interesting papers then followed. The first, "How to Conduct the Missionary Meeting," by Dr. Jennie Carson, of Newbury, was full of interesting points. "How to Conduct the Consecration Meeting," by Mr. Hugh McGougan, of Glencoe, was ably handled. "The Ideal Prayer-Meeting" was then described by Mr. C. E. German, of Strathroy. His earnest and practical suggestions showed a very careful preparation.

An interesting discussion followed the papers, and it was moved, seconded and carried that the papers be printed and circulated through the different socie-

The roll was then called by the president, and minute reports were heard from every society represented giving encouraging features of their work. Rev. R. W. Ross read the report of the nominating committee, which was received and adopted. The following officers were elected: President-Rev. W. Johnston, Wards

Vice-presidents-Rev. D. L. Dewar. Ailsa Craig; Mr. H. W. Baker, Glencoe;

Mr. McDermid, London; Miss Tena Mc-Vicar, Glencoe; Mr. Richards, London. Miss M. S. Drynan was unanimously re-elected secretary treasurer for the ensuing year.

Councilors—Rev. W. A. Cook, Dor-chester; Rev. R. W. Ross, Glencoe; Rev. T. E. Harrison, Melbourne. It was recommended by the executive that upon the receipt of a very hearty invitation from Ailsa Craig the next convention be held there. The new president was then called upon, and expressed his hearty thanks for the confidence reposed in him and promised faithful work only. The afternoon session opened with a Christian Endeavor prayer-meeting, led by Rev. T. L. Dewar, of Ailsa Craig, the subject being "Utilizing the Latent Power in a Church." As Christian Endeavorers, Mr. Dewar held they were to execute this work: (1) by being loyal to the objects of the society; (2) by being true to our pledge; (3) by every committee being alive to its duties; (4) by having "Mizpah" indellibly written on our hearts. Remarks were made on the subjeet by Revs. Cook, Jordan and Dr. Dickson, after which Dr. Dickson concluded the service with prayer. Next followed a most interesting address on temperance by Mrs. May Thornley, of London. She spoke of the continual apology for intemperance in the church-its compromises with sin in Christians signing petitions for license and in business when it costs. She closed with a very pathetic story, which the delegates will remember with softened hearts.

Mr. H. E. Matthews, of London, gave

U., W. F. M. S. and Mission Band, Ladies' Aid of St. John's Church and Glencoe Council of Royal Templars. Dr. Dickson took charge of the question drawer, after which an adjournment was made to the Methodist Church, where refreshments were served. In spite of the intense heat the church was filled to overflowing at the concluding session. The addresses of the evening were given by Rev. W. G. Jordan, of Strathroy, on "Reverence in the House of God," and Dr. Dickson on "Influence." Mr. Jordan took for his theme that sentence of Gladstone's-"Reverence is essential, and where there is reverence I am not disposed to quarrel with my brother about ritual. In opening his remarks Dr. Dickson made some forcible comments on Mr Jordan's address, and then gave his address on "Influence." The fund of illustrations which Dr. Dickson had at his disposal added greatly to the interest of his remarks. Rev. Mr. Cook, of Dorchester, and

Rev. T. E. Harrison, of Melbourne, conducted the solemn closing service, the consecration meeting.

A RAT HOLE ALWAYS OPEN.

According to the estimates submitted to Parliament, the revision of the Dominion voters' lists, which will be antiquated before an election takes place, cost the ratepayers $240,000. In addition to this, the worthless measure cost each of the political parties a very large sum. Before the close of election day, another heavy expenditure will be necessitated. But after all this enormous expenditure the list will be grossly inaccurate, if meant to represent the legitimate voters in the country. What honest electors, anxious for a fair field and no favor, can oppose tre repeal of

WHEAT PRICES THEN AND NOW. In an able discussion of the wheat question, the Toronto Monetary Times, the chief commercial periodical of Can-

"Ontario wheat at $1 02, the quoted price at the time of writing, is still below the average of a May market. Taking the average of Toronto prices in the last week of May since Confederation, we find $1 10 is the normal price of No. 1 Ontario wheat. The average price for the first ten years of Confederation at the same period was $1 30 per bushel; the quotations of the last ten years of Confederation yield an average of only 39 cents per bushel. Three times within 28 years has the May market witnessed Ontario wheat over the $1 50 mark. In the year 1868, wheat was quoted at $1 80; inclay the price was $1 53, while in May, 1877, quotations ranged so high as $1 80 per bushel." It will be observed that wheat prices ruled far higher in Canada under a low tariff than under a high tariff. We do not mean to say that any Government In Canada can, by its legislation, advance the price of wheat or of other products of which our people market a surplus. Only foolish high tax advocates insult the intelligence of Canadians by so arguing. But we desire to point out that if it is asserted that the present advance in the price of wheat is, in any degree, due to the policy of high taxation in Canada, then must the high tax policy be held responsible for the remarkable falling away in the average price of wheat since the so-called "protective" law was passed.

Very few farmers, according to our commercial contemporary, will make anything out of the present rise in wheat. It explains:

"The improvement in wheat has come too late to materially benefit many farmers, and so far as producers are concerned, the crop of 1894 must pass into history as a failure. An average by months, of the prices paid on the Toronto market during the season, yields the following: October, winter, 60 cents; spring, 52 cents; Manitoba, 62 cents. November, winter, 53 cents; spring, 55 cents; Manitoba, 66 cents. December, winter, 59 cents; spring, 60 cents; Manitoba, 73 cents. January, winter, 59 cents; spring, 62 cents; Mani-toba, 78 cents. February, winter, 60 cents; spring, 63 cents; Manitoba, 79 cents. March, winter, 63 cents; spring, 56 cents; Manitoba, 81 cents. April, winter, 69 cents; spring, 71 cents; Manitoba, 83 cents. May, winter, 87 cents; spring 87 cents; Manitoba, 97 cents per bushel. The months in which the wheat was marketed by the growers yielded very poor results. Farmers are not alone in their complaints; for so hopeless seemed the future, that dealers were only an advance of several cents on the purchase price, and only a fortunate few will make any considerable profit by the upward turn of the market." This statement is in accordance with information received by us from many parts of Ontario. The politician who claims that a high tax policy has advanced the price of wheat has only to be asked why his friends did not order the advance when wheat was selling at 50 and 55 cents to be made extremely ridiculous in the eyes of his fellowcitizens.

That was a curious incident at the recent Women's Council meeting in Toronto where the proposition to open the proceedings with (in addition to a few moments of silent prayer) the Lord's Prayer audibly repeated in unison was voted down by 71 to 41 votes. The 71 by so voting put their foot in it up to the ears, and should proceed to rectify the mistake, to speak mildly, at the earliest possible moment. No explanations-such, for example, as that the Lord's Prayer was rejected to please the Jews-can be given that will make the decision appear any the better. We must compliment the delegates from London on the ability and firmness with which, even though temporarily outvoted, they championed the right view.

Not content with the feat of picking the pockets of a policeman while that official was wide awake and in plain clothes, the light-fingered gentry (?) of Toronto have taken to visiting the churches and actually filching purses out of the depth and maze of women's pockets. When one observes the searching and wriggling of a lady in trying to locate her own pocket and insert her hand into it, the last thing likely to occur to him is that a lady can have her pocket picked by anyone short of a combination-safe expert. Yet it is vouched for on good clerical authority that at the meetings of the Baptist convention in Toronto several ladies were relieved of their purses on successive nights. Can it be, we wonder, that the light fingers belonged to persons of the same sex? It is hardly conceivable that any male person could have the wit to succeed in such an enterprise; and we are constantly being informed that in these days there is a strong desire at least on one side to attain to an equality of the

THE PUBLIC HAVE RIGHTS.

The franchises of companies are being better guarded in the public interest now than they were a few years ago, Buffalo is making very strict terms with the Niagara Power Company, in spite of the fact that a great boon is being conferred upon the city by this company's enterprise. Among other things the franchise for the distribution of power and light provides that a uniform price must be charged by the company in all parts of the city, so that a consumer in one part shall not be able to obtain a cheaper rate than a manufacturer in another section, and the price cannot be raised. It also provides that, if the city demands, the company must furnish power for the waterworks at a rate not to exceed $20 per annual horse-power, and street lights at a cost not to exceed $50 a year each. The company, too, is bound to extend its power within six months to consumers who may petition for it if it is required, to the amount of 2,000 horsepower, within the radius of a mile from its lines. The company is required to have the current ready for delivery to consumers in the city by the 1st of next January, in quantities of not less than 10,000 horse-power, and to furnish at least 10,000 horse-power a year for the succeeding four years, providing there is a demand for so much. The term of the franchise is for 25 years, but liable to forfeiture if any of the provisions are violated, and at the end of that time the city may buy the company's plant inside its lines at a valuation. It is quite proper that the public rights should be very clearly safeguarded in the ways here indicated, and municipal corporations have much to learn from each other in the making of terms where monopolies of any kind are conceded. The time will probably come when other concerns besides street railways, electric power and gas companies will be required to pay for the privileges they acquire, instead of, as is often the case, being paid bonuses and granted concessions for the boon they are supposed to bestow.

A BONUS, NOT THE N. P. Let us see: For fifteen years the N. P. was tried and failed to "stimulate" smelting works here. Then Hamilton taxpayers went down into their pockets, and gave a firm of "promoters" a present large enough to pay for a plant, and now it is probable an attempt will be made to smelt iron, and every Tory organ insists that the people should glorify the N. P., which builds iron works .- Hamilton Times.

A Parliamentary Party May Attend the "Soo" Canal Opening.

First Provincial High Court Convention of Catholic Foresters.

(Specially telegraphed by our own representative.) Ottawa, June 2.-It is said to be the Intention of the Government to organize a Parliamentary party to go to the Soo and attend the opening of the canal on the 13th.

A bill has been introduced in the House of Commons to incorporate the Dominion Trusts Company. The incorporators are James Armstrong, J. W. Dowd, James Todhunter and J. J. Cook, Toronto; H. Cargill, M.P., Dr. Roome, M.P.; J. J. Fraser, Woodbridge; J. H. Hughes, M.P., J. D. Miles, M.P., Alex. Stuart and Donald Cameron, both of London. The head office is to be in Toronto, and they will have all the powers of a general trust company. The capital stock is to be $200,000, with power to increase to $500,000.

The first convention of the Provincial High Court, Catholic Order of Foresters in Ontario, concluded its work last night. The departure in the government of the order thus inaugurated proved a complete success, and will effect a saving of many thousands of dollars. Toronto was chosen as the place of the next convention. The following officers were elected: W. T. Lee, Toronto, provincial high chief ranger; vice-high chief ranger, C. S. O. Poudreault, Ottawa; high secretary, A Morel, Ottawa; high treasurer, G. W. Seguin, Ottawa; high trustees, W. E. Mullins, London; J. P. Bryson, Peterboro; John A. Chisholm, Cornwall; C. P. Baby, Windsor; B. McCullough, Ottawa. Delegates to the High Court international convention, to be held in Ottawa in September: W. J. Cleary, Ottawa; J. C. Howard, Hastings; F. A. Robert, Chatham; W. T. Lee, Toronto; S. H. Cross. Considerable legislation of a character to promote the interests of the order was passed. A proposition by the Ottawa court to exclude liquor dealers from future membership was rejected. On the question of graded assessment about to be introduced in the international convention, the principle of graded assessment was adopted. The proposition to start the graded system at 60 cents at the age of 20 was protested against as being too high. High Secretary Thiele, of Chicago, presided at the meetings. The constitution was drafted by W. T. Lee, Toronto, chairman of the committee. One of the amendments adopted was to restrict the number of courts over which district deputies to be appointed by the high ranger would have jurisdiction to three. The delegates were much pleased at the reception given them at Ottawa. George T. Duval, Q.C., chief reporter and precis writer to the Supreme Court of Canada, died today, aged 53. The Name is Everything

The many tricks of trade that are practised in these times are justified by a prominent soap manufacturer as being positively necessary to influence a stupid public to buy what is for their benefit. The article in which he takes the most pride is a pure Castile soap, purer and better than that made in Castile. He stamped it as American Castile and was unable to sell any quantity. The people would not buy what little was taken by retail dealers. Under these circumstances the manufacturer changed the stamp on his soap to one abounding in Spanish words which meant the same thing. Since the change in stamp the sales have been remarkable and the soap is ever gaining in popularity.

Crying as a Symptom of Disease.

To tell the nature of a young child's ailment is not always easy even for the most experienced physician. Sometimes it is quite impossible to make the necessary examination, especially if the malady involves the glands and muscles of the mouth and neck. In the crying of sick children, however, there are many peculiarities which when differentiated lead to correct conclusions. Dr. Hill, a Canadian physician, gives some points of value in this regard that will assist a parent who may be compelled to depend upon herself for at least the early care of her baby.

In pneumonia and capillary bronchitis the cry is moderate and peevish and muffled, as if the door were shut between child and hearer. The cry of croup is hoarse, brassy and metallic, with a crowing inspiration. That of cerebral disease, particularly hydrocephalus, is short, sharp, shrill, and solitary. Marasmus and tubercular peritonitis are manifested by moaning and wailing. Obstinate, passionate, and long-continued crying tells of earache, thirst, hunger, original meanness or the pricking of a pin. The pleuritic cry is louder and shriller than the pneumonic, and is evoked by moving the child or on coughing. The cry of intestinal ailments is often accompanied by wriggling and writhing before defecation, an indication that the nurse soon learns to interpret. Exhaustion is manifested with a whine. Crying only, or just after coughing, indicates pain caused by the act. The return or inspiratory part of the cry grows weaker toward the fatal end of all disease, while the absence of crying during disease is often of graver import than its presence. as it shows exhaustion and loss of power. Loud, intense screaming sometimes tells of gravel.—Phrenological Journal.

Guelph Maple Leafs Defeat the Alert s in a Close Game.

Close of the Hamilton Turf Meeting-Bicycle Races at Toronte-Various Sporting Events.

BASEBALL -LOST TO GUELPH. The London Alerts had just eleven runs to spare at the end of the fourth inning at Guelph on Saturday. Yet with that immense lead at that stage of the game, they lost. The Alerts jumped onto Bradford's curves in the first five innings, and piled up a total of 15 runs. Then they stopped, and Guelph had their turn. The home team did a little circiling in the third, fourth and sixth, but in the eighth tied the score with seven runs, and won in the ninth by going one better. The eighth was the off inning for the Alerts, costing them their first game in the champion ship series. The batting of both clubs was very heavy, two two-baggers, two three-baggers and five home runs being made. The score:

Found Hewson's Cane.

Lizzie Walters Picked It Up Under a Freight Platform

While Playing Hide and Seek With Other Children-Will the Watch and Chain Also Turn Up?

The much controverted theory as to how Robert Hewson came to his death bids fair to be revived with the finding of the cane carried by deceased the night that he came to his death. It will be remembered that the body of Robert Hewson, formerly a corporal at the Military School, was found on the C. P. R. tracks, between William and Adelaide streets, early in February. The body was found lying face upwards and nearly cut in half. There was much conjecture as to how Hewson came to be lying on the track in such a position, especially on a switching line, and as his pocketbook and watch and chain, and cane, were missing suspicions of foul play were aroused. There were no other marks on the body save the awful gash where the wheels passed-over, but a theory was advanced by a juryman that Hewson might liave been stabbed in the abdomen and then placed where the engine, in backing to roundhouse, would run over it and hide all traces of the crime, Atlany; rate, the jury felt justified in bringing in a verdict tantamount to foul play; and the matter dropped. On Thursday afternoon last little Livrie and Willie Walters, children of

John Walters, a wellknown city contractor, thought it would be a splendid thing, in view of the warmth of the day and their abhortence of lessons, to play truant. The Walters live on Pall Mail street, about three doors from where the date Robert Hewson boarded with Mr. Weston. Child-like, the youngsters selected the railway track as a good place to spend the afternoon. On the west side of Adelaide street, and about 30 yards south of where Hewson's body was found, is a freight platform used at Fair time to unload cattle, A switch runs back to the platform from near William street, and between the platform and the track where the tragedy occurred is a wide ditch, and the bed of a steam which develops periodically according to the rainfall. About this platform the Walters, with other children, began to play hide-and-seek. Near the center of the platform the little girl stumbled across a walking stick, and seeing that it was in a fair state of preservation she took it home. It lay about the Walters cottage for a couple of days, and on Saturday night Mr. Walters noticed it. He made inquiries as to where it came from, and the youngsters told the story of the afternoon. But the truancy was lost sight of as an idea that it might be the cane carried by Hewson flashed across Mr. Walters' mind. He carried the cane to Mr. Weston (where Hewson bearded), and it was immediately recognized, especially by the little girl, who said she had often carried it upstairs to Hewson's room when he left it downstairs. Then Mr. Walters went to the house of the affianced of deeased-Miss Ada Tulett, Elias street, Miss Tulett was not at home, and the other members of the family were not positive as to the identity of the stick. To place the matter beyond a doubt Walters went to the barracks. "Did you ever see this cane before"

e asked of Corporal Beaumont, who was on duty. "Why, that is Bob Hewson's cane." replied Beaumont, without the slight-hesitation. It was recognized in a similar manner by Corp. Cockburn, Sergt, Cranston, Corp. Millie and several others. On Saturday night Detectives Nickle and Rider secured the cane at Walters house, and it is now at the police sta-tion. It is called blackthorn, but is very light, and with a raised spiral portion running from top to bottom. The varnish has entirely worn off. Since Saturday Messrs. Tulett and Walters have searched under the platform from end to end, but have not succeeded in finding any of the other missing things. The discovery of the cane causes many to believe that the other missing articles may turn up in the same manner.

Fibre Chamots. The uses to which wood pulp and wood fibre are being put in this age of machinery and advancement seem limitless. From car wheels to clothing is a long step, but wood fibre covers it, and satisfactorily too, if the demand and sale is any indication. A short time since it was learned that a fine soft yarn was being spun from wood fibre that was much cheaper than cotton, that took the dye well, and was being worked with great success into hosiery, knitted underwear, etc. There has lately appeared on the Canadian markets a new interlining for clothing named fibre chamois, made from wood pulp, that, judging from the way the dry goods and clothing trade have taken hold of it, is an excellent article and will become a staple line in the future. The claims made for it are that it is not affected by dampness or moisture, as all other linings are relying entirely on the natural stiffness of the fibre, that it is cheaper and more durable and satisfactory than hair cloth, buckram, crinoline etc., that creasing and crushing does not injure it; that it has a smooth, soft finish that cannot injure the finest fabric; that it is wind proof and will make a grand lining for cloaks, jackets, overcoats, uniforms of our policemen. motormen, postmen, commercial travelers on their driving trips etc., but is porous and will allow ventilation and absorption to go on unchecked. Withal it is light in weight, cheap in price, and will not add bulk to any garment on account of taking the place of padding and other bulky linings.

A Woman Farmer,

Lady farmer, or let us hope rather woman farmer, will soon be the companion fitle to gentleman farmer, and a Lady (or Woman) Farmers' Club will be necessary. Kate Sanborn has just been in New York or her spring shopping trip and says that she has now really settled down to be a real farmer. Miss Sanborn's first experiences, which are now almost famous, began with an abandoned farm in Massachusetts. That she gave up and leased another with option of purchase. Largely she has found a third in Metcalfe, Mass., of about eighty acres, and has become its owner. There is no make-believe about her farming now. She has among other furnishings a good herd of cows, and has already gone into the milk business. Her chief pride is in fine stock, and she proposes to raise prize animals on the new farm. Sie has not given up writing by any means, and there are no traces of "farm" about the elegant gowns she wears. Miss Sanborn, by the way, is said case yesterday, in which W. W. RISE OF THE WOMAN M. D.

It is Estimated that 15,006 of Them are A Species Which Bears a Number of Blos-Practicing in the U. S. and Canada.

In the United States and Canada there are forty-seven medical colleges open to both sexes, and mine cfor women alone. The average number of graduates each year from all of the colleges is about eight hundred, and as most of the colleges have been established from periods ranging from ten to forty years, it is estimated that there are nearly fifteen thousand women physicians practising in the States and Canada.

Belgium, England, Finland, France, Iceland, Italy, Norway, Switzerland and Wales have universities where wemen may study, and they allow these women to practise also, differing in that respect from Desmark, Holland, Ireland, Roumania, Scotland, and Sweden, where women may study, but may not practise. In Germany, with magnificent educational advantages for men, it is impossible for women to obtain medical education, and only under certain conditions are they allowed to practise. There are now nine women practising in Germany and thirteen in Russia.

- Taking Things for Granted. -There are few things in this world which wound us so deeply as the feeling that we are ignered by our fellow-beings, that we are passed by or looked over Deny it as much as we may, every human creature craves notice. We all like attentions, and yet it is astonishing how few properly recognize an attention when it is shown them. For the most part we take altogether too many things in this world for granted, as if they were our due, as if it were only right that they should come to us. Often some fancied superiority, either mentally or socially, makes us feel that certain attentions are due us and that they are ours by right. More often, L think, however, the feeling is born of thoughtlessness.

Nothing in the world is so discouraging in extending a courtesy as to feel that the thought which inspired it, or the trouble which it east, is taken for granted, as if it were something which it was only right that one should do. One sees this in so many things-particularly in the small things of life. Some people seem to possess the idea that gratifude is only called for where some special witers tion is snown, where the courtesy is one of magnitude. Whether it is that we are growing too much accustomed in this country to doing everything on a large scale, or whatever it is the fact remains and August-hot and dry-a full stand that we are altogether too prone to disregard the little courtesies of life as courtesies. The most subtle thought is often shown in the smallest attention. We all know that the greatest pleasures in this life come from the smaller things not from the larger, Again and again we have seen this remissness on the part of an excellent fall pasture, and matures in people. A man shows some little atten- the spring about one month earlier than tion to a woman and it gees unneticed, A young man shows a courtesy to a girl, and it is received as her right. Hospitality is extended, and remains unacknowledged. Letters, of Congratulation are written, and go unanswered. It is in these smaller things that we are lacking the heads and seeds are larger and it is in the true spirit of gratitinde. We take them for granted, absolutely forgetting that nothing is ours by right in this world; that whatever comes to us in the way of attention, be it ever so small, is average is nearer six to seven bushels. an attention and comes by favor. - We wish that girls particularly might think a spring seeding where poor catches of other little more of this. A Great Educator.

The home is baby's school and to a conscientious parent a child is the greatest of self-educators, for he feels, that he himself must be whatever he would have his child to be ... A child of tenderest years is both imitator and critic. You can teach your child far better by example than by precept, for he will heed the former when be will pay no attention to the latter. He will do as he sees you do rather than as you tell him to do. If you are courteous to his mother, he will be polito to women at home and abroad. You may think he is too young to take notice of the dispute you are carrying on with your wife, but it is making an impression on him that he will carry through life. As you treat your wife so will he most likely treat his mother and sisters. You may send him to a highpriced school to acquire "polish" but it will be only veneer. In the privacy of home he will drop it like a garment. He will still lack the true refinement that can be taught only in the home circle.

child for displaying temper unduly if he has ever seen you fall into a passion. You cannot lecture him on the beauty of truthfulness if he has ever known you to prevaricate. Nor on honesty, if he hears you tell in the family of certain "sharp" dealings of your own. Remember that you are training the future husband and father while you are also training yourself.

You can the more easily rebuke your soms on One Stalk.

One who will glance over the list of standard lilies new in cultivation in this country will be struck with the fact that very few are natives of America. A large proportion have been brought from Europe and Asia, in fact almost all that come under the head of cultivated lilies. the few purely American species being largely wild, and but little thought of, although their beauty warrants more generous treatment. Among the lilies for which we are indebted to Asia is a group distinguished by its white flowers. Lilium candidum (shown in the accompanying illustration), speciosum and long! florum. These flowers are worthy of more general cultivation, even, than they now have, because of their beauty for decorative purposes, great masses of such magnificent white bloom being especially suits able for altar decoration in churches, and for decoration elsewhere, where pure white flowers are especially appropriate. Lilium candidum is perhaps as satisfactory to grow as any of those mentioned, from the fact that it bears so many blossoms upon one stalk, whereas the others usually bear but one. Such lilies are very attractive when growing in a little cluster by themselves upon a wellkept lawn, their erect stalk and many nodding flowers giving them a very graceful and beautiful appearance against a background of green turf.

Crimson, Clover.

There has been a very rapid increase in the area of crimson clover grown in New Jersey in the past two years... From the best data available it is estimated that at least 12,000 acres were seeded during the summer and fall of 1894. Owing to the very unfavorable weather during July was not secured in all, cases. Recent observations; however, show that, notwithstanding this, a very largely increased erop will be harvested this year, having successfully withstood the severe-winter. Crimson clover is a rapid grower. When seeded in July and August it makes the common red clover. It probably does not contain more of the manurial elements than the red clover for the same sized crop, grown under the same conditions. It will produce more seed than the common or "Mammoth" clover, since

Seven experiments upon spring seeding in the state last year were all failures, both when seeded in raw ground ever, are not conclusive, inasmuch as the

Special to C. E. Turner, broker, Masonic Temple, from Kennett, Hopkins Company.

Chicago, June 1 .- The market opened strong, and about one cent higher on States, a half cent break following a have extended no farther south than Thirty-first street; but in a few minutes the decline was recovered. It is a weather market, and if it should be dry and hot on Monday morning, as indicated, higher prices would unquestionably result. Exports for the week were fair, but primary receipts were more liberal, and the visible supply is not exected to decrease more than 2,-000,000 bushels. Crop reports from Indiana, Michigan and Illinois continue to come in bad. The Modern Miller reduces its estimate for winter wheat ten points. Rain is badly needed; if it comes copiously soon lower prices will doubtless follow, at least temporarily, but so much damage l:as already been done that it looks as if another bull movement would grow out of any material break. Corn and oats have traveled within a narrow range, and prices are hinging on weather conditions the same as WEDDING IN LONDON WEST. At St. George's Church, London West, this morning, James W. Davidson, of Detroit, formerly of London, led to the altar Miss Ida Mason, of 148 Sydenham street, daughter of Mrs. Jane Mason. Rev. G. B. Sage performed the marriage ceremony.

Miss Annie Mason, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Florence Mason, also sister of the bride, as maid of honor, while Mr. Frank Davidson, brother of the groom, acted as "best man." Mr. Charles Mason gave the bride away. The bride looked charming dressed in cream cashmere and carrying cream roses. After the ceremony the party repaired to the home of the bride's mother, where a wedding breakfast was in the absence of rain in the winter wheat readiness. Rumors That the Permanent Force Here Will Be Reduced.

There is more or less consternation in the ranks of No. 1 Company of the permanent force at the barracks over an order that has been received from headquarters to reduce the strength of the corps to 104 men at the end of this month. The strength now is 117, and thirteen soldiers will have to be laid off. In the meantime the order is being held up as a means to produce good behavior. Men who are court martialed for even petty crimes are told that they had better look out or they will receive their discharge on the last day in June. Many who have heretofore been free and careless have suddenly become careful soldiers-they don't care to be part of the unlucky thirteen. There have been three deserters this spring. The authorities take very lit-tle trouble over such matters, and appear to consider themselves well rid of such soldiers. Private T. L. Davis, of this city, has been absent for eight days without leave. If he remains away 21 days "deserted" will be written af-

No. I Company will erect the canvas for the camp this month. The men will also go under canvas, and their quarers will be handed over to the Twenty-irst Fusiliers. There is considerable grumbling over the order. The barracks' baseball club will play game with Leonard's on Thursday.

HE STOLE THE COODS.

John Burke Convicted and Sentenced to the Central.

John Burke was convicted at the Police Court this morning on three charges of stealing, and for each offense was given six months in the Central Prison, sentences to run concurrently

Burke some time ago launched into the restaurant business at the corner of Talbot street and the Market Square. The place was upstairs, over Fitzallen's grocery, and shortly after Burke began, Mr. Fitzallen frequently missed quantities of tea, coffee, etc. While the grocer was losing goods, residences were being deprived of electric doorbells, and finally Fitzallen became suspicious. He had a search warrant issued and Burke's quarters examined, the result being that large quantities of groceries, door-bells, an enunciator, a "billy" and other articles were found, and Burke was arrested.

He faced the magistrate this morning with a smile, and pleaded not guilty to the four charges: 1. Stealing from Fitzallen's; 2. Stealing door-bells and enunciator from a Waterloo street residence. 3. Stealing a door-bell from Dr. Maclaren. 4. The theft of two revolutions. LOST-A BUNCH OF KEYS-FINDER will be rewarded on leaving at this office. will be rewarded on leaving at this office. Hendershott and Welter Must Hang for Their Crime.

Toronto, June 3.—Deputy-Attorney General Cartwright has carefully gone over the evidence taken at the trial of Duncan Hendershott and W. D. Welter, sentenced to be executed at St. Thomas on June 18 for the murder of the former's nephew, and has decided to refuse the application of the counsel for the prisoners for a new trial. Mr. Cartwright has given the matter the fullest attention and reviewed the various points submitted by the counsel, and has arrived at the coclusion that the prisoners have had a fair and impartial trial, and he sees no reason whatever why a new trial should be granted.

The only hope left for the accused now is the commutation of their sentence to imprisonment for life, which has been applied for from the Deputy Minister of Justice. In view of the nature of the crime, it is highly improbable that the commutation will be granted, and the law will probably be allowed to take its course. The condemned men have commenced ly is this the case with Hendershott, who is growing very uneasy as the time execution draws near. He sleeps very little and passes the long nights in walking about his narrow cell, occasionally reading.

Both prisoners seemed much affected when told that Chattelle had been exe-cuted at Stratford. The only impression made upon them by any visiting clergymen was by Messrs. Crossley and Hunter, the evangelists. They still read the Bible continuously, and an effort will now be made to prepare them for the fate which awaits them.

JUNE SESSIONS ARE ON.

And the Six Civil Cases Have Been Disposed Of.

Affairs took a very unusual turn at the Middlesex June sessions this afternoon. The court was opened at 1 o'clock before Judge Wm. Elliott, with four criminal and six civil cases on the calendar. After the opening "Oh, yes," etc., by the crier, the calling and addressing of the grand jury, the lawyers interested in the civil proceedings one by one announced their cases settled or asked for a postponement until the list was cleared. The cases were: Shillington vs. Davis—To establish the will of the late Mrs. Hart, of South London. Amicably settled. Empire Oil Company vs. Valloran-Action on a disputed account. Adjourned until June 11, when it will be heard in chambers. Marshall vs. Hyslop-To recover the value of goods destroyed by fire in Napanee. Settled.

Macfie vs. Perry—To be heard in chambers on Monday next at 11 a.m.

Hutchinson vs. Donohue and Connolly vs. Coon postponed until next court. A court with no civil suits is a very unusual thing, but will very likely be acceptable to the judge in this warm weather. The criminal cases will last about four days.

The grand jury comprises. George Ireland, Adelaide; Wm. Armitage, lot 14, con. 4, and William Revington, lot 16, con. 2. Biddulph; F. F. Barker, lot con. 1, Delaware; Wm. F. Scott, lot Jones, Wharncliff road, London West, and Ramsay Hamilton, of Maple street, London West; Ebenezer North, 14 Grosvenor street, city; Daniel Erskine, lot 8, con. 8, McGillivray; Wm. Hawkshaw, Lucan; James Harding, lot 15, con. 3. West Nissouri; Samuel Mc-Dougall, lot 15, con. 12, Metcalfe; Andrew Routledge, Westminster. Wm. Hawkshaw is foreman. In his address Judge Elliot outlined the cases which would be brought before them.

ORGANIZATION OF FARMERS

A FEATURE OF THE DAY.

James Rogers Speaks Earnestly.

The development of Farmers' Institutes and other means of education on successful practical farming has proven beyond a doubt that the present-day farmer requires to be a student of his work. The most successful ones are not as a rule those who do the greatest amount of manual labor, but they are found ranking first as prize-winners on all agricultural products. James Rogers, a resident of Tilsonburg, Oxford county, Ont., for 45 years, has taken numerous first prizes during the year. A successful, reliable man, his statement will be of interest to many: "I have suffered for seven or eight years with Itching Piles; the torture and agony I cannot here find words to describe. Night after night was kept awake with the painful itching. I tried all the physicians and every known remedy all to no account not even relief. In talking over my curious trouble with Mr. Charles Thomson, our wellknown druggist, he recommended Chase's Ointment. To my wonder and surprise I got relief from the second application. I firmly believe one box is sufficient to cure any case of Itching Piles, no matter of how long duration. I would not be without it for ten times is cost. In volunteering this testimony and my consent for the manufacturers of Chase's Ointment to use it as they wish, it is that like sufferers may know they can be cured."

She was not on very familiar terms with Lady Val, and had been startled to hear of her visit. She was grateful for Lady Val's care of Molly, but she felt hat she did not understand it, and supposed that it would have to go unexplained, in common with many other things. But Lady Val was not minded to have it so. Later in the evening, she begged her hostess to sit with her for a ittle while over her bedroom fire, so that she might talk with her before going to rest. Stella came willingly; yet he was conscious of a certain fear of That Lady Val was going to say. Lady Val was not apt to mince matters, and here was no knowing what view she rould take of John Hannington's deinquencies. So Stella, with her pretty golden hair all down her back, rested by the fire, nd waited rather nervously for her isitor's communications. Lady Val sat n a stool, almost at Stella's feet-for Ars. Moncrieff had been installed in a reat chintz-covered chair, which Lady al called the seat of honor, and for come time did hot speak at all. "I am going to make a general con-fession to you. Mrs. Monerfelf," she said at last. "Or-may I call you Stella, as Bertle does? I should like to, if you will let me; and I hope you will reciprocate, and call be Val."

"I shall be very glad."
"It is about Molly and Jack Han-nington that I want to talk. You know that he is one of my oldest acquaint-ances, perhaps."

"I have heard so." Yes, we know each other very well, Jack and I," said Lady Val, leaning her chin on her clasped hands and gazing thoughtfully into the fire. "We were playmates, companions, friends—lovers, Terwards; and enemies now, I am afraid. No, not enemies. I can never e Jack's enemy, although he is mine and Molly's and yours, and his own to Stella had started slightly at the word "lovers," but she did not speak. "Jack Hannington," Lady Val went on, "has a heart, though you may not think it. I am going to tell you something. Stella, that I have never told to nortal ears before; because I want you o understand his position a little better. He has a heart, and he has-or had—some sort of a conscience; but both, I acknowledge, are in a bad way. He was brought up to be a rich man, and e was made a poor one by the raud and trickery of a near relative is that which ruined him. He got into lebt; he was in constant difficulties, and the one thing that everybody pressd upon him was the necessity that he Lady Val's eyes suddenly flashed. 'Why not?" she said. "This is just the ery time, in my opinion. He has noroughly disgraced himself; nobody will ever forget, who hears the story, hat he turned his wife out of doors on stormy night in November; even the world, which is so ready to pardon, will not pardon that. Is it not the very me, then, for a true friend to say what he can in his defense?" 'You are right." said Stella, with a people would have cried, "all suffered lear, don't fook so shocked; I don't mean to be flippant, but,"—taking Stel-a's hand caressingly—"is it not true? You were engaged to him for a little time. I believe? And he broke it off—"

"Did he tell you"
"I gathered it chiefly for myself, by putting two and two together. He proposed to you because he thought you were rich, and then when he found you were not, he broke off the engagement. Was it not so? Well, you were lucky, With poor Molly he thought that he had found a prize. And she is not so rich as he fancied, and he is disappointed."

"I was not his wife; he had a right to break off his engagement with me if he chose, Lam very thankful now that it happened so," said Stella, the color ising in her cheeks. 'But that is no excuse for his treatment of Molly."

"Of course it isn't. I am not making excuses for it. I only want you to unrerstand him a little better. Let me tell you what happened to myself. Stella. When we were boy and girl we loved each other; yes, he loved me, little s you may think that he knows how to ove, and we hoped at one time that we hould be able to marry. But the everasting money question rose up. He the two together were not thought nough to justify us in marrying. So our parents kept us apart until we had grown more sensible. When we were Httle older we made love as a sort of toke whenever we saw each other; but we had not the least serious thought of marrying. I used always to advise him to marry for money: I used to point out rich heiresses to him, and plan good matches for him till I was tired. I advised him to follow up his acquaint-ance with you, I remember. That does not vex you now, does it?"

"Not in the least." "I have often thought," said Lady cure it for you, Val, breaking off her reminiscences, and looking reflectively into the fire again, "that all our miseries come from our wordliness. If, a few years ago, he and I had had the pluck to say, 'We'l go out into the world together and work for a living; we will be economical and laborious, and love one another, how much we should all have been saved! Molly would be still a child at Torresmuir; and you, Stella, dear, would not have had the pain which I know you suffered once; and I-I-I might have been a happy wife and mother, and my poor Jack a good man after all! You remember Browning's

'This could have happened but once, And we missed it, lost it forever.' By my own fault, too. We were worldly, cowardly and base, and we reap exactly what we have sown." Her dark eyes were softened beneath a mist of tears. Stella put her hand caressingly round her neck, and for a few moments they were silent. Then Valencia brushed away her tears and "I don't often lapse into the moralizing vein, I fancy; and no doubt you have had enough of it. Let me come back to the relation of my experiences. I heard that Jack was making love by stealth to Molly, and I told you of it, thinking to put you on your guard. Jack was too clever for you, Stella. He got Molly away and married her. And I, like the great fool I was, thought that as I had warned you, the matter was settled, and so deferred to tell Jack of the prospect of wealth that was just then before me. It I had told him in time, I don't think that it is derogatory to Molly to say that he would have broken with her at once, as he did with you. But, unfortunately, I did not see him early enough. I met him one day In Glasgow, and persuaded him to take tea with me while I told him my news. I was rich-I could give him everything he wanted, and I loved him: would he marry me? That was, in effect, what I said to him, Stella, and you can guess what answer I got for my pains."

"It was too late? "He had married Molly that morn-

"And then?" "Then! What was there to do but to say good-bye?"

"Was he so faithful to Molly?" "Oh, Stella, you are a witch!-I suppose if I had been weak he would have been weak, too-and cursed me for it afterwards. Men are like that, you know. They always say, 'The woman tempted me. as soon as the apple turns to ashes in their mouths. That is all I can tell you. We did say good-bye, and we are here.'

'You must have been very brave, dear," said Stella, softly.

"Brave? Not I. But I was angry, which did as well. The upshot of all this is, Stella, that Molly has got wind of my old love for Jack, and that if has helped to cause her unhappiness. I am sure of that; although we have said nothing. You know how things are understood without saying amongst women. But she is needlessly unhappy about it and I want her to know that since that day I have never spoken to her husband-never seen him, save at a distance. Don't you think it would be well if she knew this?"

"It might be. But it is a difficult matter to speak of—unless she were to mention it."

"I don't suppose she will ever do that," said Lady Valencia, with a sigh, A few minutes' silence followed, and then, rousing herself, she added more briskly: "I'm an old friend of the family, Stella, and therefore I dare ask questions which nobody else can put. What makes Alan Moncrieff so unforgiving to his pretty daughter? Why have not she and Jack made their footing good here? It is a little mysterious of me." Stella blushed vividly. "I cannot tell you," she said.

GOOD OLD MIDDLESEX.

A Lobo correspondent writes: "People in this vicinity will deeply regret to hear of the death of Duncan Brown, son of the late John Brown, of Lobo, which took place at his home in Niles, Mich., on May 24. Mr. Brown, while in health, was a fine specimen of physical manhood, weighing about 250 pounds, and was noted for his great muscular strength and activity. At the time of his death, and for a number of years previous, he held a very responsible position on the west end of the M. C. R., and was known from one end of the road to the other as a man who discharged his duty without fear or favor. When the end came the com-pany, to show their respect for him, sent a special coach from Chicago to convey his remains to his old home in Monroe, Mich., for interment; also a very beautiful wreath of flowers to place upon the casket. The funeral are most nearly equi-distant is Holland. took place on Monday afternoon. FORESTERS AT CHURCH.

Annual Sunday Parade of the C. O. F .-The Brethren Addressed by Rev. W. H. Moorehouse - A Kindly Hint.

Yesterday afternoon the Canadian Order of Foresters held their annual parade and attended divine service, and although the mercury must have been in close proximity to the century point a good number of the brethren turned out. Sherwood Hall, Richmond street, the local headquarters of Canadian Forestry, was the assembly place, and when the parade began, with the Hussars' Band in the lead, the following courts were well represented: Victory, No. 4; Benance, No. 7; Eclipse, No. 54; Robin Hood, No. 59; Wolseley, No. 101; Middlesex, No. 118; London City, 226; and Orient, No. 331. Marshaled by Messrs. George Adams and F. G. Brown, the procession proceeded by way of Richmond, Dundas and Wellington streets, to Christ Church, where the service was held.

The sermon was delivered by Rev. W. H. Moorehouse, the rector, who chose for his text St. John, xiii., 34: 'A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another, as I have loved you, that ye also love one an-Mr. Moorehouse pointed out in a very clear manner several reasons why the commandment should be obeyed. Love was a power. It would find entrance where pride would seek in vain. Often a hardened criminal would yield to the influence of love, to the memory that spoks of childhood's innocence. And when God gave to the world an exhibition of his love by sending his Son-we had the greatest exhibition of love. So in keeping with love and benevolence people were taught to pray for the fatherless children and the oppressed, and as the preacher understood it, the main object of the Canadian Foresters was to look after these slasses. Again, love should be practiced because it was within the reach of all. All men were not favored with mighty intel-All men have not wealth. The great mass of mankind are in comparatively humble circumstances, and all persons do not occupy high positions of ank and office; but while there are any things which are not within the each of all, it was not so with love, "And will you permit me," said Rev. Mr. Moorehouse, "to mention one feature in the work of these various, societies which I would be very pleased to have changed. I do so in nothing but a friendly spirit. I would be glad when the time comes that the societies decide to have their services on week nights. One of the reasons is that in many places parades on Sunday afternoons have a very disturbing effect on the Sunday schools. Therefore I think if the societies could agree to have their services on a week day afternoon or evening a step in the right direction would be taken. I wish you godspeed in all truly benevolent work. After the service the brethren march-

DRIVING ROD BROKE And the Crash Threw Fireman Austin on the Coal,

Narrow Escape of a Fireman on the I. E.

and D. R. Engine. Every now and then narrow escapes are recorded of enginemen in connection with breaking driving rods. City railway men are talking about the narrow escape of Fireman Austin on the Lake Erie and Detroit River train on Saturday morning. The engine of this train came from Walkerville with the original train, and while not exactly new, has a good strong pull and a very healthy sound. Driver Porteous was handling the throttle on Saturday morning, and Fireman Austin was shoveling coal and plying the bell rope and whis-tle cord. The train was well filled, and while moving at a rapid rate near White's the two men on the engine heard a crack. Half a second later the floor of the tender under Mr. Austin's feet received a blow that raised him up and landed him backward several feet on the coals. Then the broken rod, which had cracked near the wrist-pin, dragged, and as soon as possible the train was brought to a standstill. A delay occurred until a fresh engine could be secured from London. Had the break happened in a different portion of the rod, causing it to swing over and back,
