Lord Roberts Steadily Advancing Towards Pretoria Without Opposition.

General Buller Forces His Way Into the Transvaal Though the Boers Still Hold Laing's Nek -War Notes

Lord Roberts' advance is delayed at the Rhenoster River for a day or two by the depth of the stream, which is not fordable. The banks, which are precipitous, are 40 feet high. A pontion and temporary bridge constructions are under way. The railway has not been damaged to any great extent between Kroonstadt and the extent between Kroonstadt and the Rhenoster. The Transvaalers have offended the Free Staters by destroying their splendid bridges when retiring to Kroonstadt. They refrained from doing this on the retreat to the Rhenoster, but now they are destroying the railroads and bridges almost completely north of the Rhenoster. The British troops are in the form of a crescent, with horns thirty miles apart, with General French's cavalry on the left within 23 miles of the Vaal, and Gen. Ian Hamilton's mounted men on the right within 30 miles of the Vaal. The centre of the crescent is about forty miles from the Vaal. Seventy or eighty miles to the left Lord Methuen is advancing up the Vaal. Boer telegrams say that 3,000 British, with ten guns, are at Vredfort, which is close to the Vaal and close to Parys. One correspondent refers to the advance as a promenade. The other describes it as a Boer hunt. The Free Staters are pictured as "bolting like hares" at the first sight of the British. The latter, according to one writer, do not even find women and children, as the fleeing farmers take their families The British troops are in the

NO OPPOSITION.

London, May 25 .- A despatch from Rhenoster, dated Wednesday, May 23, 7,45 p. m., says: "The general opinion is that we will arrive at Pretoria as side that they intended to fight to the death." Gen. Ian Hamilton is coside that they intended to fight to the death." Gen. Ian Hamilton is cooperating in the advance on the right; thus Lord Roberts, who, presumably, is a few miles behind Gen. French, will reach the Vaal before the end of the week. Natives report that the Boses, have buried two guns in the Boers have buried two guns in the

BULLER IS ACROSS.

London, May 25.—In Natal, Gen. Buller's forces have crossed into the Transvaal near Ingogo, but are still held at Bay at Laing's Nek, where the Boers are entrenching themselves. With the exception of this pass, Natal is clear of Boers.

In Natal Gen. Dartnell's volunteers occupied Mount Prospect on Monday. Lord Dundomald's cavalry is at Firmstone's near Ingogo. His infantry rests at Schoenshoogte. These names are full of fateful memory in the first Boer war. They face Laing's Nek, where the Boers, through the range glasses of the British are occasionally visible. In the march across the Biggarsberg, all the farms, except one, were found vacant. A temporary bridge has been finished at Waschbank. Trains now go to Dundee.

THE TIME LIMIT

On Methodist Pastorates in the United States Abolished.

Chicago, May 25 .- By a vote of 433 to 238 the Methodist General Conference abolished the time limit of pastorates, thus finally disposing of pastorates, thus finally disposing of one of the most important questions before the great Methodist body and doing away with one of the fundamental features of the itinerant systems of the denomination. Hereafter, according to the amendment to the discipline adopted by the Conference, preachers will be appointed annually by the bishops, with no limit on the number of years a pastor may serve one congregation, except the on the number of years a passon may serve one congregation, except the limit imposed by his own ability and popularity with his congregation. DAILY AND WEEKLY Chatham, Ont.

FRANCE OVERWHELMINGLY RE-PUBLICAN IN SENTIMENT.

The French nationalists, after the recent municipal elections, triumphantly declared that the government had been mortally hit, and they announced namerous interpellations in the chamber, which, they predicted, would lead to the government's downfall. On reflection, however, and possibly after a computation of the respective force they backed down and withdrew the interpellations. The government had, with a view of forcing the hand of the nationalists, had M. Gousey, one of the government supporters, raise an interpellation, thus giving the premier an opportunity to state the government's policy clearly

M. Waldeck-Rousseau, by emphatically declaring that the government was apposed to reopening the Dreyfus agitation after the exposition, has taken a strong weapon from the hands of the nationalists. In the course of his speech he admitted that the government was influenced by the voice of Paris, undoubtedly hostile to a rerevival of the controversy.

"A government worthy of the name," said the premier, "must take into account the wishes of public opinion, and these definitely commit the government to the suppression of all efforts to throw France back into the Dreyfus vortex."

The divisions on M. Gousey's motion brought out the position of parties in the chamber. The first portion of the resolution, which divided the chamber into republicans and anti-republicans, showed 439 of the former and 56 of the latter; the second portion, which indicated the position of the Waldeck-Rousseau ministry itself, showed a muster of 274 ministerialists, while the combined opposition-nationalists, disaffected republicans and reactionists -totaled 226.

A REMARKABLE OLD MAN.

Canadians, irrespective of party will admit that Sir Charles Tupper is a wonderful old man. He is now eighty years of age. Forty-five years ago last Tuesday he entered public life by defeating, in the Nova Scotia provincial elections, of 1855, Hon. Joseph Howe, who afterwards became Lieut.-Governor of Nova Scotia. Sir Charles' entry into public life and his subsequent successes in Cumberland county won for him early in life the sobriquet of "The War Horse of the Cumbers land." His vigor to-day is most remarkable and his energy something that would be astonishing in a politician twenty years his junior. In parliament, on the anniversary just referred to, Sir Charles was given an ovation. The grand old political warrior bowed his acknowledgments of Nobody round the board said another rior bowed his acknowledgments. the reception given him, and asked indulgence while he replied to the kindly manner in which he had been received by both sides of the house. He thanked his friends on the opposition side for their remembrance of the anniversary of his entrance to public life 45 years ago, and he was grateful for the generous manner evinced by the honorable gentlemen opposed to him politically.

His latent humor came out when he declared that if he were as polite as Lord Chesterfield, who apologized to the friends who surrounded his deathbed for taking so long to die, he (Sir Charles), would apologize for so long holding a prominent place in public life. It was not his own desire to continue at the head of his party, but Gran. Sugar, per lb. 5c, 21 lbs. $1 as matters were now, it seemed that he would have to remain till the electors said which party's principles they were enamoured of.

Sir Charles' vitality was never more in evidence. Eighty years of age, and having spent nearly half a century as an active public man, he still appears as the most vigorous and magnetic man on the opposition benches.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier paid him a generous tribute. He was sure that he voiced the sentiments of the whole Canadian people when he said he was glad that he was able to see this day and to congratulate Sir Charles upon his career. It was one of the blessings of political life in Canada that it was possible for politicians to forget that they were divided in opinion-it was a blessing that though the strife of parties was often keen and bitter, yet times come when members of parliament cared to show that nobler sentiments actuated them.

It is noticeable that when anything good comes off in South Africa, the Canadian contingent is apt to be very close to the front.—Detroit News.

Exactly. They went there to fight, and they are doing themselves proud. What is still more impoftant is that if the Empire needed them Canada could turn out 100,000 more of the same kind of close-to-the-front fighters for foreign service, and probably half a million for home defence, The majority of them, too, at some stage of life have seen more or less military drill. Canada is not a military country, but if the necessity arose it could be quickly converted into one great armed camp.

Rumor has it in Ottawa that Sir Wilfrid Laurier privately admits that he anticipates a reverse at the coming general election.

Twenty-one war correspondents have been killed or have died of disease during the war. The result of this will probably be that in future campaigns the liberties of the war correspondent will be restricted. He has no business in or near the firing line If he is working simply for news his place is as close as possible to the commanding officer, for it is there all information centres.

At a meeting of the Toronto civic board of control it was proposed by Ald. Spence to abolish the committee controlling the fire brigade and give the chief the powers now possessed by it. The following interesting discus-

OF IMPORTANCE.

Never butter your pie plates, but dredge them lightly with flour. Cedar chests for clothing and divers articles are handy and ornamental too. Damascus blades and very old war relics and armor are prized for decorative purposes. The person afflicted with large pores must take the greater pains with her baths.

Put a little household ammonia on a rag and clean off the rolls of the wringer before putting it away. Never put a knife into hot grease, as it destroys its sharpness. Have a kitchen fork for turning meat or frying potatoes. If kerosene is rubbed with a flanner cloth, on steel knives that have become rusty, and they are put aside for day or two, the rust will be loosened and they may be very easily cleaned. Handkerchiefs bordered with black are no longer considered obligatory for one in mourning, but the white hemstitched border must be very nar-

It's a very simple matter to make a few mittens out of Turkish toweling to use after your cold water bath. They are much more convenient than a towel to rub with, and a goodly sup-ply insures plenty of clean ones at all

While it may be necessary occasionally to use borax, or some such cleanser, when washing the hair, it should be used sparingly unless your hair is very dark. A food hair-dresser will recommend for you a treatment that will cleanse without fading your locks. You will find much of your canned fruit can be utilized with good results in connection with your cereal dish at breakfast. Fresh fruits are better of course, but the other is very palatable. With a fancy jacket for morning and house wear many partly worn dress skirts can be made to do service and save the expense of an entirely new gown.

There are young women who have been in golf and walking skirts for so long that they actually appear awkward in long dresses.

Among the ardent admirers of Oliver Wendell Holmes there are thousands of women, many of whom have never come across the following beau-tiful tribute to themselves from the genial writer of the Autacrat of the Breakfast Table: An old method to get rid of cockroaches is both simple and efficient. This is by the use of the common red wafers that may be had at any stationer's and which are, it seems, a food much esteemed by the insec's. They eat them greedily and die from the effects.

Few housekeepers know what a good dish for supper is made by scalloping potatoes with Parmesan cheese. The bottom of a baking dish is covered with the sliced boiled potatoes, then pepper and salt and added, and a very pepper and sait and added, and a very little white sauce. A liberal amount of cheese is scattered over, and then another layer of potatoes. The cheese should form the top layer, and the whole should have a thorough cooking the cheese browning well at the last.

You talk of the fire of genius. Many a blessed woman, who dies unsung and unremembered, has given out more of the real vital heat that keeps life in human souls, without a spark flitting through her humble chimney to tell the world about it, than would set a dozen theories smoking, or a hundred odes simmering, in the brains of so many men of genius."

OF INTEREST.

Canada will give as many more men and as much more money as may be necessary to see the South African war to a satisfactory finish.

A famous artist is said to have replied to an inquiring visitor, when asked with what he mixed his colors, "With brains, sir!"

A good rule for deciding the height of a workbench is as follows:-Hang one arm naturally by your side, bend your wrist so as to cause your hand to be at right angles with your body. When standing thus the hand should pass just underneath the two-inch board forming the top of the bench.

The Victoria cross measures one inch and two-thirds square. The actual weight of the metal is 434 grains, just three and one-half grains less than an ounce. Its instrinsic value is a penny, and it is illegal in Great Britain for a pawnbroker to accept it as a pledge under any circumstances. Henry W. Fisher, a New York author, has brought suit against George Barrie & Son, of Philadelphia, for refusing to publish, after agreeing to do so, a book entitled "The Private Lives of William II and His Consort," in which he gave some sensational details, said to be taken from diaries.

Mr. Fisher indirectly accuses the Emperor of Germany of having caused the suppression of the book.

The attitude of the United States government in suggesting mediation to England seems to resemble the hint of Jeremy Diddler in "Raising the Wind." "Have you such a thing as a shilling in your pocket?" he timidly asked his friend. "Yes, I have, and it will stay there, too." "I only wanted to know," said Jeremy, hastily. The United States "only wanted to know," and found out quickly.

Speaking of the late Maud S., it is said that every evening at about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Maud Carey, of New York, calls up her father, Captain George S. When the taint of scrofula is in the blood it will be sure to show itself soon or late. Often its are as repulsive as they are painful.

Many people have been cured of scrofula in its most malignant forms by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medica Discovery. This remedy is remarkable for its power to purify the blood. It absolutely eliminates the corrupting elements. It makes the blood clean and rich. It increases the action of the blood-making glands, and so increases the quantity of pure blood supplied to the body.

THE DYNAMITERS ON TRIAL.

Welland, May 25.—The trial of the alleged canal dynamiters, Nolin. Walsh and Dullman, commenced at Welland yesterday. Forty-seven jurymen were challenged before twelve good men and true were secured. The witnesses called went into the details of the actions of Nolin and Walsh from the time they boarded the Niagara Central train at Niagara Falls for Thorold un-til they were arrested on their return to the falls. It was a straight case. They were in fact never lost sight of, even when lowering the dynamite into the dock. Evidence was then called to show that Dullman was frequently in their company and had visited the can-al and examined the locks prior to the explosion. The case is still in progress.

Boers Only Expected to Put up Two More Fights.

London, May 25.—Another advance along the railroad toward Pretoria has brought Roberts' troops to Vredeport road, a few miles north of Prospect, where they arrived at noon Thursday. This is only two marches from the Vaal. In the meanwhile Mathuen is progressing along the southern bank of the Vaal, with the object possibly of making a dash at Klerksdorp. Gen. Hutton's column, including the Canadians, is in the neighborhood of Vredeport, 15 miles west of the railroad, whence it threatens the federal right flank.

The next couple of days ought to flank.

The next couple of days ought to settle whether Roberts will encounter serious opposition south of the Vaal; but the best opinion believes the next big engagement will be fought just south of Johannesburg, and that the south of Johannesburg, and that the fight there and possibly one at Laing's nek, will prove the last pitch-The latest indications almost point to the latter being the more stubborn to the latter being the more studeoff of the two. It is hoped Buller will delay until Roberts is able to detach a force to seize Heidelberg and sever railroad communication between Johannesburg and Laing's nek.

The siege of Pretoria will likely begin early in June. Johannesburg will be occupied inside of a week.

General Hunter has taken Vryburg.

LEAMINGTON'S BLOWOUT. "Leamington celebrated the 24th in splendid style," said Detective Skirving, of the Lake Erie, this morning. "The Essex Fusiliers, under Major Bartlett, were in the town, and in the afternoon some fellows dressed up as Boers. The soldiers took after the Boers and when they were about to capture the Transvaalers the latter showed a white flag. Even this didn't deter the British from taking the enemy prisoners. They were paraded by emy prisoners. They were paraded by the conquerors in front of the grand stand, where they made a break for liberty, but were speedly brought to time by the sharp steel of the British time by the sharp steel of the British bayonets. There was a good crowd in Leamington and the celebration committee must have taken in $1,000. In the evening there was a tremendous crowd at the fireworks and each one paid a quarter. The Boys' Brigade, of Windsor, and the Daughters of the Regiment, from Windsor and Walkerville, were there. The latter is a corps of young ladies and they made a pretty figure in their attire of red waists with blue skirts trimmed with red braid. On the heads they with red braid. On the heads they wore soft felt slouch hats caught up on one side with a military button. About 600 left Walkerville in the morning."

OUR GERMAN BAND AT BLENHEIM At Blenheim the German band from this city furnished such music in the this city furnished such music in the calithumpian parade that they were granted first prize. They dished up a varied assortment of marches, cake walks and everything else except melody. Citizens of Blenheim objected to the prize going outside, however, so the Chatham band, got only fourth prize. Speaking of their treatment this morning, Drum Major Heath said: "The judges acted very courteously to-"The judges acted very courteously to-wards us and, when the kick was raised, they told us just how it was. We at once said that we had only come out for a little fun. We had not set eyes on the prize, nor dad we deside to do anything mean. If there were any thought we shouldn't have it, why we didn't want it. Of course it was a shabby trick, but that was their affair anaby trick, but that was all we cared for. The joke of the whole thing was that the Blenheim people all thought our band, was a take off on the Blenheim band. We had no such intention, for we didn't know that Blenheim had a band, but they have, and a rattling good on

THE QUEEN'S PLATE. Toronto, May 25.—Again the black and yellow colors win, and the blue Queen's Plate was the central feature of the opening day's racing of the O.

J. C. meet. The race was a splendid one, and the final struggle on the home stretch between Provost, Wm. Hendrie's best entry, and Dalmoor was watched with ibreathless interest by not less than 15,000 persons, including Gov. Gen. and Lady Minto. The victory of Dalmoor was largely due to the skill of Lewis, the jockey who brought the big bay along in the last few strides at an amazing pace, winning over Provost by a neck. Seagram has now won the Queen's plate nine times, a record.

BASEBALL

The morning game was all that could be desired. The Port Huron team has picked up wonderfully, and they have a good team now which ought to be well up in the game befor, very long. Barrett who pitched the game with the D. A. C.'s here on the opening of the season, was in the box for the visitors, and did good work. Bowen who played right field for the Saginawsis with Port Huron. He was playing centre field, and when he failed after a hard run to get near Conklin's 3 bagger, Manager Flaherty who also covers third base, took him in and put Barrie in his place. Thomson, the new pitcher, did good work for the Reds, and kept the hits well scattered. He is apparently a find. Chatham opened the scoring in the first inning with a single by Handibae and a three bagger by Conklin. Port Huron secured a run in the second on a hit by O'Connor, Connors' out at first, and Barrie's long fly.

Port Huron got their second run in the third on Lobeck's attempted sacrifice, Gallagher's out at first and Eltom's single. Chatham then went in and secured three runs on a base on balls, Handiboe's sacrifice, Conklin's second three bagger, Grimshaw's single and Neal's two base hit. Black's Indians added two more to their score in the fifth. Neal got to first on Sander's out at second, stole second and scored on Donovan's hit for two bases, and the latter scored on Klock's beautiful triplet. Neither, side scored, again till the eighth, when the men from the land of the Stars and Stripes put up two runs on Eltom's hit, Donovan's error, Connors' hit and Geiheen's hit. The Chatham team then went and did like-wise. Klock got a base on balls. BASEBALL

THE SECOND GAME. The afternoon game lacked the interest of the morning game for the simple reason that the Port Huron team took kindly to Habel's delivery while Black's Indians found it difficult to hat Long's much to have the second of the lack of the lack's second of the lack's second of the lack ficult to bat Long's curves.

Long did the twirling for the Yankeer and did it most effectively. Flaherty's favorites began the scoring in the first innings. Barrie got a hit, Eltom duplicated it and then Connors followed suit acoring Barrie. Another run was added in the third due to a hit by Eltom and a two-bagger by Connors. Three more were secured in the fourth. Lobeck got hit by the ball, Long landed on an inshoot for two bases, Gallagher showed his hand for a similar number of bases and Eltom got a single. It doesn't take long to tell but it meant three runs. Port Huron now had five runs but they retired from the fifth innings with another on a two base hit by Connors, two errors by Donavan and one by Handiboe. A batting streak in the sixth and another in the ninth brought in two more runs totaling eight runs. Elack's babes only scored in the third and sixth. In the third Donovan flew out to left field and Klock was fielded out at first. Habel singled and O'Connell did the same Handiboe was given first when Elton feli all over the ball. Then the Port Huron team went up in the air and Habel and O'Connell scored. Conklin scored Handiboe, with a single and was fielded out when Grimshaw hit to third. This closed the innings with Chatham one ahead.

Were the Speeches at the Central School Celebration

On Empire Day.-The Attendance was very Large-A Fine Program,

Wednesday afternoon the Central school celebrated Empire Day in a royal manner. Principal Smith's room was the centre of attraction, and there was the centre of attraction, and there was to be found congregated the largest number of parents. Principal Smith had been at great pains to give an elaborate afternoon and his efforts were highly successful. The pupils sang all the old popular national ballads and many new ones. The significance of these songs is more than ordinarily conspicuous just now, and the dinarily conspicuous just now, and the Principal, in consideration of this fact, had them handsomely printed in souyenir pamphlet form, colored, with the frontispiece a Union Jack. The Rev. R. McCosh said that he was The Rev. R. McCosh said that he was pleased to be present on such a patriotic occasion and join with the pupils in celebrating Empire Day. The day was a new feature in school life since he went to school, but a feature that could not fail to do good. It would strengthen the love of the young people for their great and rich country which the Almighty had bequeathed to them and would fill them with reverence for the old flag, which stood for newer, for protection, and for all for power, for protection, and for all that was best and noblest in the histhat was best and noblest in the history of the world.

Dr. Thornton sang a song composed by a friend of his in Brantford entitled "Take the Muzzle of the Lion." Miss Weese played the accompaniment. Miss Gertie Potter sang Her Majesty in a splendid manner and entered into the spirit of the piece. Miss Flo. Hillman played the accompaniment. Mr. Sullard then made one of his neat and eloquent speeches on the Empire. He spoke of the difference in the character of our Empire and that of the earlier empires. The Grecian and Roman empires had been founded by the sword and had crumbled to decay, while the British Empire was founded on the free will of the people and destined to future life and strength.

The Rev. Dr. Battisby made one of his happy addresses to the children. He spoke on the subject of loyalty. He said we ought to be loyal because we have one of the best sovereigns on the face of the earth.

The program was interspensed with choruses by the school. For all of which John Smith played the accompaniment.

The five classes downstairs assembled in the Kindergarten room and Mr. Scullard and Mr. Kerr made brief but happy speeches to the little ones.

She was a brilliant woman then, no expense having been spared to give her every worldly advantage. She was the belle of Westerly when he first saw her and paid her attentions. They were married, and if ever a redeeming opportunity entered the life of any woman it was at that moment, for she loved your father devotedly, so devotedly that she felt that every inci-dent in her past life should be revealed. His jealousy of her, added to these compunctions of conscience, yet made her afraid to tell him the truth. Col. Harold was fiving in Westerly at the time, and I saw a great deal of your mother. She was exceedingly fond of me, too, and shortly before your birth she confessed to me the trouble that weighed upon her spirits, and asked my advice. I urged her to tell my brother all, and end her distress. Is felt sure that she could trust his affection to pity more than cordemn, but the rigorous school in which she had been brought up made her pitifully fearful. She vacillated weakly in her determination, postponing the trial from day to day, and so lost the most favorably opportunity to make the disattribute your moods of de pression, my love, to direct inheritance of your mother's state of mind at that of your mother's state of mind at that time.) All this secrecy ended in estrangement from her husband, for though she could not herve herself to tell him, the deceit she practiced haunt ed her. For awhile she was possessed ed her. "My poor child, don't try to think; lie down here, and try to rest."

Edith obeyed in silence, but when Mrs. Harold had left her, with a kiss, and marmured prayer for God's blessing and protection upon her, she buried her face in the pillow and wept from a painful sense of sympa-thy. When Mrs. Harold returned, an hour later, she found her in a strangely excited state, her pulse quick, her words wild and feverish. Alarmed by the repeated questions if it really were all true, mingled with incoherent refdown beside her and vainly strove to divert her mind to calming thoughts. The morbid condition had continued too long, reaction set in with violence, and the over-strained system could find relief only by venting its pent up forces upon the brain. Her aunt had nursed hrough sickness before, but never during one of those doubly alarming cases where the mind had been the source of the disorder. All night she watched ere the mind had been the source of over the increasing delirium, and none could appreciate the gravity of the ordeal save those who have been situ-ated in a similar desolate position, the

The anxiety of those days cannot be described, when Steele's face became a daily visitor, and he and Mrs. Harold, daily visitor, and he and Mrs. Harold, feeling that all might have been avoided, with useless self reproach and aching hearts, well nigh despaired of the life of the sufferer, while Mr. and Mrs. White anxiously discussed the strain that Amy was enduring, and Juliet mored about longly and misarable at

When, after six weeks, the fever burned itself out, and Edith's natural strength of constitution prevailed, she woke to consciousness, frail and fair as any lily, too weak to talk or think, and lay in restful passivity in an atmosphere of gentle words and kindly attentions. Mr. White never failed to bring home some wild flowers from his walk around the plantation, his wife exerted all her skill in preparing dainty dishes, and Juliet checked her noisy enthusi-asm, to amuse her, and told her daily how beautiful she looked, comically de-

CHAPTER XVII.

EGERTON HEARS THE VOICE OF AN ANGEL. It was Sunday, a day of rest in every ense of the word, no sound breaking the stillness of the air save the hum of insects about the flower gardens of Dayton. The streets were almost deserted, for the church bells had long ceased ringing, and the devout inhabitants of the village were assembled in the various places of worship, when a solitary stranger emerged from the Tobin hotel, walking with nervous to keep the matter quiet, and treat the child as their own. Your mother never train, and his brow had a careworn, anxious expression. At the entrance of St. Stephen's chapel he paused and one of them dressed in deen mourning. The form he sought was not there. A sickening dread swept through his frame, and he leaned for support against the pillar, which screened him from the view of the pulpit. "Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth," was borne to his ear from with imitation under the solemn admo nition. A hush followed, and then the organ broke in upon the stillness with a deep throb of music. As the slow rolling notes vibrated through his being, he thought with a suffocating sensation of how she had told him that she loved their lengthened melancholy. There came a pause in the thrilling music, then its deep chords were repeated, and a voice well known, yet as an angel's voice above his head, seemed to float down from Heaven on the wings of song.

Oh how distinct were the words as he followed each accent of the beloved utterance:

"Still, still with Thee when purple morning breaketh When the bird waketh and the shadows flee Alone with Thee-

The voice faltered, and there was a world of hidden agony beneath the beauty of its articulation. "Amid the mystic shadows

The solemn hush of Nature newly born Alone with Thee.' And the word rung with the ecstacy of a soul that rose superior to the sens of isolation in the grandeur of that Loneliness.

Alone with Thee in breathless adoration

In the calm dew and freshness of the morn, As in the dawning o'er the waveless ocean, The image of the morning star doth rest So in this stillness Thou beholdest only Thine image in the waters of my breast." So shall it be at last in that bright morning. When the soul waketh and life's shadows flee Oh in that hour fairer than daylight dawning Shall rise the glorious thought, I am with Thee

The sweet voice died suddenly away but the ecstacy of triumph seemed to linger and echo through the arches werhead as the exalted strains reverberated in the hearts of their hearers in the still silence that ensued, but t that listener without their melody told a tale of pitiless self-abnegation, their beauty was as the voice of the swan, weetest in the pangs of death.

He could not stay when the sermon commenced, but hurried out into the street, again haunted by those notes which spoke of agony conquered, de-sire ended, but at what cost? He might not see again the girl, the trembling clinging child his heart remembered for behold, a scraph had answered him from the distance of imeasurable space that his pity was not required. Hers lation was accorded; and though his ardent desire to behold her beloved face once more was ungranted, Dr. Egerton proceeded on his way to Florida that night as he intended. Steele's sermon was not long that Gay, but how much its fervent delivery was inspired by the offertory hymn was the minister's own secret.

Mrs. Harold paused at the foot of the stairs that led to the choir, as her niece came down, accompanied by the fair-haired young tenor, who ardently admired her voice. Edith was more than beautiful that morning, in her simple white dress. The pale pink roses on her breast were less delicate in hue than the faint color in he cheeks, while the eyes that looked out from her spirituelle face seemed to have grown larger and deeper. With a gracious nod of dismissal to her escort, she passed her arm through her aunt's and joined the rest of their party, who waited, surrounded by their acquaintances, in cheerful interchange of greeting. For each Edith had a word, a smile of recognition, but once seated in the carriage, after a few solicitous cares that Mrs. Harold was well wrapped up, she leaned back silent, while her face settled into a submissive tranquility. Six months had elapsed since the events recorded in the last chapter, and the tamult of emotion which yet surged within her breast had been trained never to appear upon the placid surface.

"There are feelings which last on in spite of all struggles to quench them, I suppose, because they ought to last, because while they torture they will ennoble." So wrote one of the truest of Christians, one of the wisest and purest of English divines, who taught that the meaning of the strange riddle of life is concealed in an infinite Patience. God only knows why our heartaches are sent to us, the myste rious longing for some one apart from the sphere of our daily surroundings, or when such an attachment is once in-troduced into a life, all other joys are insipid and dull by comparison, and he soul refuses to be comforted. But with Edith this craving had not been indulged. Had she fought less hard, indeed, desire had perhaps sided sooner, in despairing recognition of the unattainable. But she had beat against the bars of her own love, desperately, resolved upon freedom, even taking a fierce pleasure in the pain her own blows inflicted; for pain and pleasure at their zenith present that strange phenomenon of resemblance produced cold, and the martyr has been known by the sensations of intense heat and to smile while the flames encircled him. The exultaion of her victory was that she could smile on the pain that duty inflicted, transforming it to rapture, and the result of those solitary con-flicts was that the unsatisfied yearning of her heart lavished its strong flood in kindly consideration, in little acts of tenderness that shed a heaven of love upon those who surrounded her. Patient, ch erful, devout, thus was the tenor of her daily life, and not in active in its piety, for recognizing that their circumstances were altered, she determined not to be a burden, and as oon as she recovered from her violent illness, insisted upon doing something for her own support. Perceiving that a sense of Lidependence would be a comfort, while the occupation would give employment to her mind, Mr. Steele exerted his influence to obtain for her the position of teacher in the county school. The old Methodist chapel, which was used for this purpose, was distant haif a mile from Mrs. Harold's home, but Edith did not object to the loneliness of her walk. After the passive indifference of convalescence, memory had revived with acute suffering, and the knowledge hat her whole sed experience had been reveated in her hours of delirium was a stinging torture, which made her shrink from the familiar faces and look upon her school duties as a blessed means of escape. She was fond of children, and while surrounded by their innocent prattle, her individual trials were in a measure dispelled. She was very patient with their duliness, and reach as the country urchins were, a certain loyalty sprung up in their midst toward the geutle teacher, the least rudeness to her being resented by the whole school. Often when less sons were over she would gather her pupils about her for a story, the promise of which had maintained order and bedience all day better than any severity. Sixteen-year-old Steve, clumsy and ly out of place among the first primarignorant, whose long limbs looked odd scholars, was her devoted slave, be-cause she did not laugh at him for his stupidity, and always encouraged him to persevere in learning to read whenever he bashfully escorted her home on dark winter evenings. Besides the care of her school, an other source of interest was opened to Edith. When Mr. Steele came to announce that St. Stephen's choir had sustained the loss of 'ts contralto, and to ask if the girl would consent to fill the vacancy, she readily consented, re joicing to be able to prove to him her gratitude by this service.

Mile Laurrine Mattilla is now at the Rankin-An Interview With The Planet.

Mile. Laurrine Mattilla, the successful lady palmist, is in the Maple City, a guest at the Hotel Rankin, where a large number of Chatham's best citizens have consulted her and expressed themselves as delighted with her accomplishments in solving the mys-teries in the hand.

Mile. Mattilla possesses an exceedingly attractive personality. She is a native of the southern "land of flowers," as she prettily put it. Born at Los Angeles, California, of Spanish and French descent, she early adapted herself to the study and practice of palmistry, in which she has met

"I have practiced palmistry now for several years," she said to The Planet, "with a success which has been a great cause of satisfaction to myself. I have personally a great deal of faith in the art and consider it in every way a science. The hand exhibits human activity in its entirety and is consequently one of the best indices to character and personality."

Beaking of her visit here Mile. Mattilla said she expected to remain for some days. "I am delighted with your Maple City," she said, "and its good people. My clientage here has been good enough to express pleasure and satisfaction."

Will Stevens and Arch. Campbell Are With a Surveying Party.

The Former Gives a Post Interesting Description of Their Trip From Toron o to Edmonton.

Will A. Stevens, son of N. H. Stevens, of this city, who has been in the mining school at Toronto for the last year, received a position along with Archie Campbell, son of A Campbell, M. P., with a surveying party under Mr. Duberger, and writes to his mother from Edmonton, Alberta, as folnother from Edn

Camp Eat-all, Edmonton, Alberta.

May 11th, 1900. Ma Chere Mere,-We arrived here to-day Ma Chere Mere,—We arrived here to day at 5 o'clock. Mr. Duberger, our chief, was at the station with a buckboard and broneo to meet us. He made us feel quite at home, and I feel quite flattered, sleeping in the same tent with him. There are eleven in the party, eight of whom are Frenchmen and can apeak but little Faglish. Mr. Duand can speak but little English. Mr. Du-berger, D. L. S., speaks both French and English. There are four tents, five wagons or carts, one buckboard and a saddle horse in our camp. Mr. Duberger asked us what we would like to do and gave us a hint that chaining was the easiest, so we said we would do chaining. We rre going to move camp to morrow afternoon if we can get away. Our permanent address is care of Mr. Duberger, D. L. Sr, Strathcona, Alberta berta.

I could not tell you much about our trip on the postal cards sent so will try and tell you more in this letter. We left Toronto Monday, the 7th inst, 2 p. m., and there was very little to be seen until we reached Allandale, a place near Barrie. There we had our first glimpse of the rocky wilds, nothing but rocks and small groves of pine and thing but rocks and small groves of pine and spruce timber until we passed North Bay we changed cars at North Bay, and we got in a colonist car which came through from Ottawa A lot of Galicians were in the car occupying every seat but one. This we took and I got up in the upper bunk to sleep, but one of these dirty fellows had his feet towards me and it was impossible to stay there, so I got back in the seat again with Archie Campbell and a fellow we fell in with on the way. Imagine three trying to sleep in one seat. But we managed to get about one hour's sleep. We found out at 4 o'clock a. m. that we could go in the next car, and that the Galicians could not come with us, so we quickly made our exit into that car. 'The country from North Bay to Fort The country from North Bay to Fort William is very thickly wooded, interspersed with pretty little lakes and rivers. We watched for deer, but could see none. The only signs of habitation we saw was a camp of men cutting timber for ties. The most picturesque of that part of our ride was from Schrieber; to Port Arthur, the country is all rocks, and it would be impossible to farm it. The railway follows the north shore of Lake Superior very closely, sometimes the road perior very closely, sometimes the road would go so close to the lake that I became uncomfortable until we had passed over the most dangerous looking places. The engine never slackened speed for curves. We timed them for fourteen miles of the worst rest of the road and found that the part of the road, and found that the train was going at the rate of thirty-three miles per hour. This was very Buffalo, N. Y.

The highest that art can do is to set before you the true image of the presence of a noble human being. It while we were at Fort William we While we were at Fort William added an hour to our existence turning our watches back to correspond with the Fort William time. We passed through no less than

Arrived at Winnipeg we called of
Mr. Isaac Campbell, who entertained Mr. Isaac Campberl, who entertained us at his club most royally, and gave us a little information about the country. We felt very thankful to Mr. Campbell for his kindness, and although we are quite a distance from home, Mr. Campbell made us so welcome, that we felt muite at home here. come that we felt quite at home here Game is very plentiful on the prairie, especially ducks. There were housands of them. We also saw a large flock of wild geese and a great many wild fowl and animals. The birds we saw were geese, ducks, prhirie chickens, jack-snipe, grouse and meadow larks, and the animals were intelopes, of which we saw twelve in one flock, saw one wolf, any amount of gophers, but no prairie dogs, as I said on my post card. What we thought were prairie dogs were gophers.

At Regina the Indian chiefs, all painted and feathered, stood at the station. They certainly did look like the warriors we have often seen in

In the western part of Assiniboia for miles the country is almost entirely devoted to sheep ranching. We saw flocks upon flocks of them. The Indians at Medicine Hat offered for sale some most beautiful buffalo horns, all fixed up for hanging hats or coats on, the prices ranging from 50c. to $2 a pair.

I said that Calgary was not very important, but that was before I took a look round. Going through the city I found it was quite a large place has four banks, a large post office besides numerous other large build-ings. Just outside Calgary is located P. Burns & Co's, large cold storage houses. A man told me monton we could see the snow-cupper mountains of the Rockies, which seen but in reality were over fifty, and probably one hundred and fifty.

The settlers are pouring into this country fast, but there is lots of room here for any number, as we passe through hundreds of miles of uninhal ited land, which appeared to have a rich soil. At one place we saw a muchouse. It had a frame-work of poles and the rest was filled up with sod. The fare out here was $41, in addition to our expenses on the train, and outfit, blankets, etc., about $10, which

First Presbyterian Ladies Pay a Warm Tribute to Mrs. Larkin.

Present Her With An Address and Life Certificate in the W.F M. Society.

A meeting of the Women's Foreign Mission Societies of St. Andrew's and the First Presbyterian Churches was held on Wednesday afternoon. An interesting report was received from Mrs. Duncan of the recent gathering held in Ottawa. The ladies present very much appreciated the report It was decided by the ladies of the First Presbyterian Church to confer a life membership certificate on Mrs. Larkin, who is shortly leaving for Seaforth. In connection with the presentation of this certificate, which was made by Mrs. Alister McKay on behalf of the society, Mrs T. C. Smith read the following ADDRESS. To our dear friend and honored president, Mrs. Larkin,—We deem this a fitting occasion in which to express to you our apsince you first came to us more than ten years ago. As a member of our auxiliary your example in faithfulness of attendance, in never shirking your share of the work, and in trying to bring in other workers, has been a stimulus to many of us; while as president for the past three years, we feel that it is largely due to your wise planning for and skilful conduct of the meetings that they have been so uniformally interesting, helpful and frictionless.

It is with feelings of sincere regret that we contemplate your removal from our midst. The loss to the cause here will indeed be great; but our consolation must be in the thought that the work is one, and that some other missionary society is and that some other missionary society is gaining in exact proportion to our loss.

Although you and our beloved pastor have been called to labor in another part of the Master's vineyard, there is no real separa-tion taking place between us, for nothing can ever break the ties of love and esteem which bind you so closely to your fellow workers in the auxiliary of the First Pres-byterian Church of Chatham. When you have gone from us it may be that our paths will never even touch again in this world; but they are all leading to the same place—to that home land where partings are unknown. As a practical expression of our regard we now ask you to accept this certificate of life membership in the W. F. M. Scoeity, praying that God's richest blessings may be vours all through life's journey.

After due acknowledgement by the Pre ident light refreshments were served and a sociable time spent. During the afternoon Miss Ross sang very beautifully "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."
