ent accounts from Prance lead as to believe the President, Louis Napoleon, is meditaling a Palat of some kind, which is to have the if successful, of receiving his power over tepublic permanent, either by continuing his at office for an indefinite period, or by his at of the Imperial Throne. This can only be explained by means of the army, and not even hem, provided the Netional Guards of Paris, possed almost entirely of the middle chases, possed to this ambitious man's project. Care-reading and comparing the different accounts, the we find in the London papers, it certainly seen that he has made himself very popular to the army which composes the opears that he has made himself very popular with a large part of the army which composes the arrison of Paris. At a recent review, held in the lain of Satory, the mest unequivocal demonstrations were made by several regiments. It is said, ast when the Carabiniers, two of the most superbigiments in the French army, defiled before the test-dent, they shook their long swords in the arith loud shouts of "Vies Napoleon," "Vies P. Interest " some regiments of Lancers did the same signants, forether with those of the Culturaliers. thing, and it is seed to that the Colonis of their regiments, together with those of the Cuimmiers lead their men in this demonstration. The Artil-lers and Infentry confined themselves to abouting "Vise Napoleon," Vise Le President," but it was noticed, as an ominous fact, that, in a wass of twenty-five thousand men, not one of them said as you La Republique;" but the Cavalry, fifty-two androns of whom were passed in review, appear have been the most enthusiastic in their demor iona of regard for the person of Prince Louis At these reviews, no means is left unturned to win the affections of the soldiery. Refreshments are provided for the men-wine, cold ment, and cigars—while for the officers there is a superb mpagne lunch set out; the President walks ut among the groups of soldiers, holding fami-converse with them, rewarding with decorations of honor those who are named to him as most expert in their exercises. So great is the alarm in Paris, that the funds fell on the day of the last review, for some people's fears actually led them to believe that the President would seize the

in, and march with the troops into Paris, oror. We believe that the Republic was never with the French army, and such a move at, and its success, would not surprise us. Then comes the question, would the National Guard do its duty to the Republic, and engage is a contest with the troops of the line 1. We have r doubts, for this reason: the great majority of National Guards are men in business; men battle. Paris must be considered, not alone as he Capital of France, but as one of the centres of European civilization, and, consequently, when things are in a settled condition, it is througed with crowds of wealthy foreigners, who spend thousands of pounds a day, to the profit of Mes—this branch of science that has yet appeared in any has been transferred, but it is doubtful if there ever sioure the merchants, shop-keepers, and artigans. Don't of the world, and we should think it will be existed a legal Company. In say last, I referred who constitute the majority of the National Guards very needed to Photographic Artists, of whom it is volves a frightful street buttle, all these foreign-ers, naturally and prudently, decamp—so do a very great number of the wealthiest Freuch relents, and, for two or three months, the stude of is ruined. Now men will make great a in behalf of liberty; but the query is, sacrifices in behalf of liberty; but the query is, have the French were better off under Charles the East.

French were better off under Charles the Tenth, or any of the Bourbon Princes, than they have been since 1830. If this be the case—and we think it would be easy to prove it—week two with the middle classes gain by fighting for a mere abstract principle, for to them it can make very little difference whether their liberaties are abridged, their Press all, but suppressed, their carnings taxed, by a President and Convention, or by a King and a Parliament? Then, again, there is the danger that in an insurrection to resist Napaleon and the army, the closus feer grouses, the borrid writtens of the Embargement who, et all other times then those of myster commotion, are hid from the face of day is noisome collars, and other haunts of the vile, will descend into the streets, bringing with them make deer, rupine, and incondurating all of which will fall, not on the soldiery whose property is in their large, and incondurating all of which will fall, not on the soldiery whose property is in their largescents, and who have nothing to defend but their lives, but on Messieurs the National Guarde, their families and property, and on those of other decent citizens. At the end of a month she sgain declared herself excenties, and the Pashs was the most delighted of men, but he was soon whiged to set out for London, and his vite was left of Constantinople to complete her accountement. This was all the Greak desired, and using the same means as before, she presented one fine monting to her assembled slawes and to a few persons of her husband's family, a fine child of the male ser, who received the name of Usund Bey. After the lapse of a few days the child fell seriously ill, and was sent, by order of the physicians, to Pera, ander the care of he governess. Pera, as every one kn ws, i a suturb of Constantinople, inhabited by the mercantile community, and by the European Ambassacors. Its sir is purer than that of the city, and, accordingly, young Usund was soon brought back in peri of health by his governess—the same woman who had performed the office of surse as the birth of Belgrade. Singularly enough, however, an old black curiuch, who had brought up the Pasha, posessed his entire co-fidence, and managed his entire household, could by a means recognise Usund Bey in the child which was thus brought back, and, in the presence of several slaves, said to his mistres, "Well, by lady, if that whild be Usund Bey, he has become singularly altered by his so-journ at Pera, among the infidels." Shortly before the time of afternoon prayer, she sent for the eunuch, and was told that he was taking a bath. No sconer did she hear this than her project was immediately formed. The old man, as we have said, was governor of the Pasha's household, and, as such, occupied a sumptuous upertment; to which a bath room was attached for his private use; it was here that his mistress sought him out. The eunuch was attached by two slaves; she dismissed them with an imperious gesture, and remained alone with the old man. "You were determined to find it out." "To whom have you spoken about what you discovered?" "To no one yet, but I shall write to my master." "How much de you want to hold your tongue?" "Nething, I am determined to speak." "And to write?" "Yes, I mean to write?" "Then take that to seal your letter with!" At these words she threw a noose around the neck of the wrethed old man, and commenced strangling him. The ennuch was feeble, and, taken by surprise, could offer but little resistance. He straggled in vain; his assasian continued to draw the taked one of the surprise and tighter still, and as she redoubled her efforts she exclaimed with the rage of a lury, "Ah! you wanted to know all—you shall know more than you here's cternal darkness for you! Now write to your master: write, old too! "At the vociferations of the assassian, and the groans of the ments, and at the sight of the formula." The house, is murdering the khonum is strangling the sunuch? A scene of general confusion ensued. Some of the slaves rushed, terror stuck, into the street, repeating one after the other, "The heaves is murdering the khonum is murdering." Others hastened to the bath room, and only reached it, as the old eunush, Hineks has been elected President of the Great Western Railway, at a salary of £700 a year. Wm. Sra,—Since you are desirous to ascertain the effect which the Waters of the Point du Jour Springs have produced on myself, I must inform you, that I have used them medicinally at their Source, and hire found them highly sulbrious. I was at the lime so affected by the consequences of a severe disease of the Digestive Organs, that my Physician judged it right to asspend for a time all active remedies, even for the repression of Dyspepsis and an absolute Retention of the Rowels, under both of which I was suffering severely. He prescribed for my relief the Mineral Waters, and I made use of those foot the Point du Jour, as being the nearest. I was at the time so week, that it was with difficulty I kept my feet. However, at the exprasion of three weeks, I was restored by using the Waters. HERE IS THE PROOF.

There is no other remedy that claims to subdue the eruel pany so fpan in seconds, minutes, or even hours. They require the patient to use dose after dose before a favorable change is promissed. Not so with Radway's Ready Relief. Its effects are instantaneous; the first dose that is taken; or the first external application commences its great work of relief from pain.

That Radway's Ready Relief will cure either of the above-mentioned Diseases in one-tenth

That Radway's Ready Relief will cure either of the above-mentioned Diseases in one-tenth the time it takes any other Remedy to give event Partial Relief.

This sentence is coastantly in the mouth of every person, in order to explain certain complaints. Those who use it often, we think, have but a faint idea of its precise meaning. We will offer an explanation, which we believe to be the opinion of a majority of the most learned physicians. A person, for instance, has been over azerting any purticular set of muscles—of the throat, from violent speaking—of the toisis, by too much stooping or bending, or these or any other part of the body: these parts or muscles are, consequently, weakened and relaxed, and become a fair prey for any disease. The person who has been thus acting, accidentally or otherwise, exposes himself to the cold air, the perspiration immediately ceases, and the blood, which had been but just now circularing rapidly throughout the surface of the body, is repetled inwardly, and is sure to set le in those parts which have been previously wearied and relaxed. Here, then, we have an accumulation of blood, a congestion, which gives rise to all the pain and stiffness attendant upon such complaint. When this takes place in the throat, we have went is asiled Sore Throat; when in the hoins, Lombago or Suff Back; when in the chest, Fleurisy. We asso have it in the shoulder-blade, side, and other parts.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF,

Taken Internally and applied Externally.

Its first action, when freely applied, is to blunt the acute sensibilities of the 1 erves, and almost instantly relieves the pain; its secondary fection is to exectic perspiration, and redden the parts over which it is applied almost to a glow, thereby retermining the blood from the injured parts to the surface. In these cases, the READY RELIEF should be applied freely, at the same time rubbing the parts with a piece of finnel, and it will be found in every case to give immediate and personnent relief.

N.B.—If convenient, a piece of finnels saturated with the RELIEF, and tied or pinned around the parts, does good service.

THE LADIES.

THE GENUINE BALM OF COLUMBIA FOR RESTORING THE HAIR.

"Long has is a glory to woman," says Pabl, And all feel the truth of the pious quotation; Preserve it then, ladies—your glory may fall, I Unleas you protect it with this preparation. If you wish a rich, tuxuriant head of hair, free from dandraff and scurf, do not fail to procure the genuine Hain of Columbia. In cases of baldness, it will more than exceed your expectuations. Many who have lost their hair for twenty years, have had it restored to its original perfection by the use of this balm. Age, state, or condition, appears to be no obstatele whatever; it also causes the find to flow with which the delicate hair tubes is filled, by which means thousands (whose hair was gray as the Asiatic eagle) have had their hair restored to its natural color by this invaluable remedy. In all cases of fever it will be found the most pleasant wash that can be used,—A few applications only are necessary to keep the hair from falling out. It strengthens the roots, it never fails to impart a rich glossy appearance, and as a perfume for the toilet it is unequalled. It holds three times as much as other miscalled hair restoratives, and is more effectual.

E CAUTION,—Never buy it unless you find the name of Comstock & Co., Proprietors, on the wrapper of each bottle, or you are chented with a counterfeit article.
