Unexampled Prosperity on Every Hand-Harvest This Year a Record One.

He said:

"I cannot say very much more about the exhibits than has already appeared, except that the successes at Winnipeg and Brandon were repeated at Indian Head and Regina. The displays of apples and plums were much better at the last named places, being much better developed and better colored. It was almost necessary in discussing exhibits with visitors to emphasize the fact that all the fruit shown was this year's production. Visitors from the eastern and central states were perhaps even more

"I cannot speak positively about the total attendance at the Winnipeg exhibition, but on citizens' day it exceeded that of any previous year. At Brandon the attendance was much greater than last year. More than 30,000 persons passed the gates on the principal day, and they were largely from the country. of the climatic conditions of the Pacific province.

"All the principal fruit growing districts of the province are represented, including the famous Okanagan valley settlements of Kelowus, Peachland, Summerland and ernon. Kamloops is well to the fore with fine exhibits of apples, pears and peaches. Victoria makes a splendid showing in cherries, tomatoes and apples; there are also apples, plums and blackberries from Hammond, Wharnock and Mt. Lehman in the Fraser valley.

"The exhibit is in charge of R. M. Palmer, secretary of the bureau of provincial information, assisted by Mr. W. J. Brandrith, and information is cheerfully given in regard to the fruit and fruit growing districts of the province.

"We are informed that the fruit inguistry is growing very fast, and large areas of orchards have been planted during the last two or three years. It is estimated that there will be fully twenty thousand acres planted by the spring of 1906. The principal market for the output will be found in Manitoba and the Northwest, particularly in soft fruits, such as peaches, plums and cherries, but shipments of apples have also been made to Australia and to the old country, with very gratifying results, and this trade is expected to develop extensively."

Tomorrow, in the ordinary course of proceedings, the first great stumbling block to a treaty of peace should be reached, as, after Port Arthur and the leases of Liaotung which are included in Article IV., and which M. But it is by no means certain that when this obstacle is reached it will not be postponed until all the articles upon which agreement is easy or impossible are disposed of.

The Japanese reply to all such arguments is that, having entered into this agreement at the suggestion of Russia, it is not for Japan to break it. The special privileges enjoyed by Russia in Manchuria, the retrocession of which is provided for in Article II, include many concessions, none of which, however, is said to have great importance the privilege of the said to have great incortance the privilege of the said to have great incortance the privilege of the said to have great incortance the privilege of the said to have great incortance the said to have great incortance the said to have great incortance the said to be sa importance, the prince-pal one being the mining rights in the province of

Among the delegates of the respective sides who remained behind at the hotel today, it was insisted that each side was sincerely anxious to conclude a treaty of peace, and it was evident there is no be a rupture, as the best informed believe there will be. Each side will manoeuvre to place the responsibility on the other. The Japanese seem disposed to throw out the intimation that M. Witte is trying to wear out his adversaries and compel them to break off negotiations. The intimation is indignantly repudiated by the Russians, who contend, as does their principal, that Russia is ready and willing to have the fullest publicity given to the proceedings in order that the world may judge between them. It will be several days at the present rate of progress, before either of the crucial points of difference is reached. The exact order of the conditions is not yet known, but it is practically certain that the demand for the reimpursement of the expenses of the war precedes that of the cession of Sakhalien.

those countries of the world in which are still to be found splendid architectural remains of bygone civilizations, the aames of Egypt, India, Syria and Mexico would at once be forthcoming; but few yould place the Island of Java on the list; yet not one of these could show ruins more numerous or more splendid. This may seem an exaggeration, but the same opinion has been universally expressed by the most eminent writers on the subject. As to the data of the rise and fall of a civilization which has left behind it such splendid memorials authorities are much at variance, but for the most part they are placed between the beginning of the eighth or ninth centuries of our era. Certain it is, however, that at one time the island must have been ruled by a Hindu or must have been ruled by a Hindu or by Buddhist people far advanced in the arts of architecture and sculpture.

"Moreover," said this Japanese authority, "all international precedent and usage favored the rule of secrecy."

It would be manifestly improper for a great international issue to be tried in the newspapers day by day and hour by hour. Publicity would necessarily hamper and harass the negotiations. In the peace conference at Paris following your Spanish-American war that rule obtained, and it was not until some time after the conference adjourned that the proceedings became public.

M. Witte, however, still insists that he courts, on behalf of the Russians, the widest publicity of the proceedings. Paris, Aug. 15.—M. San Francisco, Aug. 15.—J. W. Davidson, acting United States consulgeneral at Shanghal, who arrived from the Orient today, says that the cause of the Chinese boycott is the discourteous treatment which the sons of influential Chinese officials have received at the hands of immigration officials on landing at San Francisco. Won Kal Kah, a Chinese merchant who arrived today, said he wished to impress on the American people that the Chinese government has nothing to do with the boycott on American goods. He says that this is a private enterprise on the part of the merchants and the gentry of the Flowery Kingdom, and is the result of American reatment of the cultured classes who come to this country. He said today. "I shall probably go to the different commercial centres which have trade with our country. I have nothing to do with the boycott, nor is my mission to the United States with reference to it. I want it to be understood that there is not an official in China who has anything to do with the crisis in the peace negotiations.

It is understood that the recent high still kept coming in, and was actually being shipped from Ontario, illustrating the folly of shipping coals to Newcastle. As a matter of fact the farmer never at any time got more than about $1.15 a bushel. A leading grain firm caught "short" in the deal appealed to the grain exchange, which ordered setvet who has been most hurt, the people who tried to corner the market or those who sold and couldn't deliver the goods. It is generally agreed, however, that the farmer got the best of it. Wheat at $1.35 was altogether too high-a purely artificial price. Wheat at about $1.15 seems to represent what is now normal terview with Mr. R. M. Palmer, provin- and legitimate, affording sufficient profit for the consumer, but nevertheless too great deal of which, probably one-half, became profitless and worthless. It was said that Great Britain had a blanket mortgage over the whole of that country. The money loaned throughout the West by New York houses was really British capital borrowed at a low rate of interest. Now that state of things has altered to a large degree and New York is an important money contractive.

Why are men, whose administration of public affairs up to the 31st of August is pronounced honest and efficient, unfit to continue the work on the left Sentember of the sum lines? It is understood that the recent high price to which wheat went in Winnipeg was the result of manipulation rather than legitimate demand. There is an interesting inside history to it. One of the big milling firms undertook to corner the supply, and in a way it was legitimate because the wheat was actually wanted for grinding purposes. However, after it was thought all the avaitable supply was in hand and the price had sky-rocketed to $1.36 a bushel, it are the special and peculiar circumstants.

No presentation of the case could be clearer than the above. It would be difficult to find an abler one. What, however, appears to more strengly influence Mr. Haultain's mind than anything else are the special and peculiar circumstances under which the new provinces enter Confederation, and having these, after dealing with the school question, he says:

The Potato Crop.—The potato crop this year promises to be both good and abundant. For many years past the farmers kept on using the same seed, with the result that the quality of the crop deteriorated. The Brackman-Ker Milling Company imported some seed pototoes from Yakima, Wash., and these have been used extensively in British Columbia this year with splendid results.

Let us suppose then that a ten-acre plot of cleared land has been purchased at from fifty to one hundred and fifty dollars an acre. The first care will be to see that it is well drained unless there is a natural drainage, which is not very often the case. The cost of this will vary according to the land and the facifities for an outlet; often it almost equals the cost of the land. The fact that high lands are always chosen for fruit makes the draining question easier than it would otherwise be.

The first plowing should be done as deeply as possible so that everything will be covered. This will cost about $4 an it the other trees are in hearing and as the cost of the land.

The first plowing should be done as deeply as possible so that everything will be covered. This will cost about $4$ an acre, but after the first ploughing the light horse that would be kept for delivering the fruit at the shipping centre could do all the cultivating and ploughing in g a little at a time. If the plot is purchasing in October this may be done and the land ready for planting early in the new year. Much will depend upon the weather as to when the planting should be done, but as a general rule one might say: "Plant as early as possible." Any time before April will do, but may prefer planting in the fall.

Another general rule should be: "Never plant less than fifty trees of any."

Twenty-one thousand strawberry plants will be required to plant four rows between these trees and they will probably cost about $150. or rather more than that amount. They may be planted any time before the end of April and must be carefully cultivated the runners cut off, and the first year's blossoms picked. If allowed to bear the first year they will not fill the boxes as well afterwards, and the first year's fruit is not worth much.

Another—general—rule—should—be: "Never plant less than fifty trees of any one variety. This is for the sake of economy in packing. Allow the older hands to do the experimenting and plant varieties that have been thoroughly tested both for bearing and marketing, the latter being most important.

Beginning with the plum, then buy fifty each, either one or two year trees, of peach plum, Columbia plum, Pond's seedling, Italian prune and Grand Duke.

As the sour cooking cherries have the readier sale, plant fifty each of Olivet and Murillo, both good cookers and easily marketed.

The land may be bought on easy terms and second hand implements used instead of new ones, but if one can afford it new implements.

Of pears the Bartlett is not always as successful here as to the south, although there is generally a ready market for this variety. In preference choose fifty of Louise Bonne. These will need fertillizing but will be more satisfactory than any.

There are a good many apples to choose from but one cannot be wrong in planting fifty each of Duchess of Oldenburg, Wealthy and Alexander. Trees of the last named should head not less than three feet from the ground as the limbs tend to bend downwards. The Wealthy grows well on a heavy clay, while the Alexander needs a light soil.

Optional Courses in Science a Commercial Course and Art Studies.

Upon the opening of Victoria College and High School on the 28th instant, several new and progressive features will be introduced into the work of that institution. Among them will be optional courses in science, a commercial course, and the addition of a sophomore or second-year course in arts.

in arts.

The distinctive commercial course has for the present been determined as a two-year course, ending with what is known as the junior grade. Upon the completion of this two-year course, examinations will be held by the education department and certificates awarded to successful candidates. An additional or post-graduate course of one year, co-terminous with the matriculation grade in arts or science, will also be furnished, and successful students in this course will receive diplomas from the Victoria High school.

OVEN ERECTED

Rumor of Railroad Construction Causes Rush to Big Bend.

Believing that the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad will build a branch through House Pass, in the Rockies, to the north of Beavermouth, timber speculators have planned a raid on the vast bodies of timber struated on Canoe creek and the north fork of the Columbia, in the neighborhood of the Big Bend district.

George Nelson, who arrived in Seattle from a cruiser through that section, states that the country has been overrun with timber erusers for the past few weeks and that many locations have been made during the oresent summer on the supposition that the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific will tap this rich timber belt. Mr. Nelson estimates that fully 150 square miles of timber lands will be located on or before the end of this month.

The raid was started with the early spring, and a large proportion of the best-timber has already been located, but new cruisers are continually appearing in the district and by fall it is expected that marily all of the timber will have been alled on by timber speculators.

In this section lies one of the largest bodies of timber in the West. Owing to its location the timber is practically value-less at this time, and the fact that parties who are sunnosed to be closely associated with the Grand Trunk Pacific were the first to make locations, is taken by them work on the soad is to be commenced this year. When the road is built the line must run in close proximity to this immense timber belt.

the court had no jurisdiction to try the action for maintenance, as desertion must be shown to exist for a year before it became a cause for action. Collins stated he had never delivered the answer in the maintenance charge, having signed it and left it on his desk, from where it had presumably been removed by a clerk. He had not been informed of the court's action regarding the answer in connection with the application for alimony until 5 p. m. on the day of the trial, and when he heard of the night session he told his counsel, J. S. Meyer, not to appear. The superior court never sits at night in California in civil cases unless a jury is out, and he decided to pay no attention to it. The hearing that night, when the alimony order was given by Judge Grahame, was ex-parte as far as he was concerned, and was a star chamber proceeding. He had received no notice of it, and in sitting at night to the court had transcended its jurisdiction.

"These ovens," said the professor, indicating the new structure, "are merely for the purpose of testing the coal, not for the purpose of applying my system. That will require machinery and an extensive plant. The advantage of this system over others, the 'Beehive,' for example, is that it not only gives 80 per cent. of coke, as against the 'Beehive,' for example, is that it not only gives 80 per cent. from the same quantity of coal; but it produces an infinitely harder and more serviceable article, and what is, as all iron men well know, a matter of inestimable importance, it eliminates the sulphur in the coal, which is so detrimental an element where iron is concerned.
