

JUST AS THE APRIL SHOWERS BRING FORTH MAY FLOWERS

So does the sunshine bring forth Spring Suits. There is no other time in the whole year when everything seems so bright and fresh as the spring. Just the minute you feel that you can go without your top coat you realize that the old suit won't stand inspection in the bright sunshine, and so you are forced to purchase something more suited to the season. Perhaps it never occurred to you that during the long, cold season of winter we prepared your new spring attire for you? But we did, and now we have the new spring models ready for you to slip into, with a choice of patterns and fabrics that will please every good taste.

To enumerate our lines individually we would have to buy all the space in this paper and then leave some good things unsaid, so we just boil it down to a short space, and the most cordial invitation we can extend to you to come and make your selection from the best range of suits that we have ever shown you from Ten Dollars up to Thirty-eight. We are satisfied that our methods and treatment of you will hold your future business for us. Might sound a little like boasting, but it isn't.

FAIR TREATMENT IS INSISTED ON

College Street Landholders Need Not Worry About the University.

WILL BE PROTECTED

Government Will Not Proclaim the Act if There is "Bulldozing."

Sir James Whitney yesterday assured the members of the legislature that the bill providing for the release of the building restrictions on College street by the university would not be made law until a proclamation had been made by the government, and that such proclamation would never be made if the university authorities in making arrangements with the property holders acted unfairly with or tried to bulldoze them. On this assurance of the premier the Toronto members called a halt in their objections to Hon. J. J. Foy's bill, which then passed its third reading. The effect of Sir James' decision to legalize the bill only by proclamation is that the property owners and the ratepayers may now get together and come to a just agreement. When the bill came up N. W. Rowell was the first to offer any criticism. The leader of the opposition stated that when the Y. M. C. A. declined to build on College street it had the assurance that no saloons, billiard parlors or houses of entertainment would be allowed in the neighborhood. Now the university proposed to waive all its claims on the property in return for cash payments by the property holders. Mr. Rowell suggested that the bill should protect the Y. M. C. A. and make provision that no business places of this character should be allowed. Mr. Foy then stated that this proposal would be made to the university authorities, and if they wanted to take the bill with that stipulation they could do so. If not, no proclamation would be made. Hon. Thomas Crawford claimed that in dealing with the property owners on the street the university was discriminating. "I think that in passing this bill it should be specifically stated that all property owners should be put on an equal footing." Mr. Crawford also stated that if the two parties could not come to an agreement as to the price of release the matter should be submitted to arbitration.

Not All the Same. In answer to Mr. Crawford, Mr. Foy stated that the university could not be expected to deal with all the property owners in the same way. He pointed out that the university might have strong objections to a business house going up near the technical school, but might not have similar objections to such a building being built nearer Yonge street. "It's quite clear," he said, "that they're not willing to treat every property owner the same." Mr. Crawford again raised his objections. He stated that as the act stood the property owners were at the mercy of the university. W. K. McNaught was of the same opinion as Mr. Crawford. "College street," he said, "is bound to be a business street eventually. The very reason it isn't a business street now is because of these restrictions." He thought that in dealing with the property owners there should be no discrimination. Sir James Whitney then cleared the air by declaring that he would see that the property owners were dealt with fairly by the university. Time would be given for the parties concerned to make agreements, and if disputes arose which could not be settled the bill would not become law.

INQUIRY CLOSED DESPITE PROTEST

Opposition Members Wanted Public Accounts Committee to Continue Work.

HE WOULD NOT ANSWER

F. H. McGuigan Again Refused to Tell of Settlement of Claim.

By voting down motions made by J. C. Elliott, West Minister, the public accounts committee of the legislature yesterday wound up its enquiries into the 1912 expenditure of the government. The opposition members fought tooth and nail for further sittings, claiming that certain men who were summoned to appear as witnesses had stayed away, leaving sick notes. Mr. Elliott's amendment asked that a commission should be appointed by the committee to continue the enquiry, and that it should be given power to cross the line into the United States to take the evidence of P. W. Sothman, formerly chief engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission, and J. King of New York and of C. L. DeMuralt of Ann Arbor, Mich. In the argument that followed the proposal, F. W. McGarry (South Rentree) heated the opposition members and exposed the plot which they had invented. He stated that he had learned that Mr. Sothman was not sick as he had stated when asked to attend the enquiry, that he was afraid to attend the enquiry and make the statement which he was reported to have made to certain individuals, that in New York he could make statements libelling Canadians without any fear of being tried for perjury, and that it was for the purpose of securing these libelous statements that the Liberals were anxious to cross the line to examine him. Mr. McGarry further claimed that to appoint a commission to carry on the enquiry of the public accounts committee would be to delegate the powers of the committee to the committee, a step which the committee could not take.

Wanted Commission.

Charles M. Bowyer (Bruce) thought that the facts warranted the appointment of a commission, and he asked that the motion should be passed. Mr. McGarry moved in amendment that the committee should present its report to the legislature, and when the matter went to a vote the opposition's proposal was carried under, and the meetings of the committee for the present session came to an end.

F. H. McGuigan of the McGuigan Construction Company was the last witness heard by the committee. For the third or fourth time since the beginning of the session he was examined by N. W. Rowell, who asked him the settlement of the claim which he had against the government.

Would Not Answer.

"You have stated that if you did not get a settlement you would expose something," asked Mr. Rowell. "He had answered that question before," declared Chairman Ferguson. "Well, I want him to answer it again," said Mr. Rowell.

"I decline to answer the question," said McGuigan. There was one question which Mr. McGuigan did answer, however, and it would have been just as good for the purpose of the enquiry if it had been asked, for the answer shows that the circumstances under which the McGuigan Construction Company obtained the contract were not so peculiar as at first reported.

The facts are that the DeMuralt tender, which was withdrawn after Mr. McGuigan had "fixed" Mr. DeMuralt was not $200,000 lower than the tender taken as the basis for the computation of the lump sum tender, but only $100,000 lower. Had the unit tenders been accepted, all that could have been saved would have been $100,000 at the outside, and in the opinion of the commission a lump sum tender was more in the interest of the province than many unit tenders.

Poor Excuse.

At the conclusion of Mr. McGuigan's testimony, Mr. Elliott complained of Col. Belcher's failure to attend the enquiry to answer questions with regard to his political activities during the last election in East Kent. The opposition claimed that Col. Belcher, while employed in the register-general's department, did campaign work in the interest of Philip Bowyer, the Conservative candidate, who was defeated by W. H. Ferguson. The Liberals claimed that during his absence Col. Belcher was paid by the department.

J. C. Elliott claimed that the medical certificate that was produced was a poor excuse for the failure of Col. Belcher to attend the enquiry. "The certificate," he said, "states that Col. Belcher has a cold in the chest, and it is advisable that he remain in a day or so."

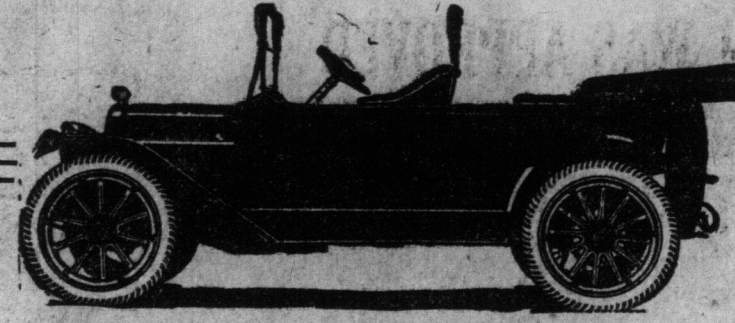

CAPT. GOODWIN MAKES DENIAL

Mr. Dinnis' Statement is Contradicted by People Who Saw Fire Tug at Work.

Many people who saw the fire-tug Joe Goodwin at work at the island fire last Sunday have taken exception to the statement made to the board of control by Arthur Dinnis on Tuesday, that the fireboat "could not throw stream 20 feet in the air." Even some of those who lost heavily as a result of the coronation fire felt that this was an unjust allegation on the part of Mr. Dinnis. Witnesses declare that from the time the boat arrived the fire was practically under headway. The captain took up his position by Arthur Dinnis' house and so good was the pressure from the pumps that he ripped the shingles off the roof of the building, which is at least 35 feet from the ground. Capt. Goodwin worked until fatigue overtook him, and then he was taken to hospital. It has been done him by the report.

Authorities Everywhere Endorse The Russell-Knight Car

MEN who know cars—men who have run them since "the early days" and who have made a careful comparison of the Russell-Knight with other high-grade cars are unanimous in their approval of its all-round superiority.

The design is later and will be standard, not only for 1913, but for 1914 as well. The Russell-Knight Engine is an advance upon even the Knight Engines in the European and United States licensees' cars. It is absolutely the "latest" Knight model, passed and approved by a corps of engineers second to none in the world. Model "28" today is a proved success.

The body is of an entirely new design—not a part or accessory is visible upon it. It is a handsome body, designed to be comfortable and spacious.

The Russell Left Drive leaves all four doors available. The driver has a clear view in both directions before turning into passing traffic.

The Rear Windshield—a unique and exclusive Russell feature, is a great boon when winds are high or roads are dusty.

Demountable Rims and the Square Rim save many a roadside repair. The ample clearance and low centre of gravity make it the ideal car for Canadian road conditions. The Power Tire Pump eliminates all labor in re-inflating tires.

SIR JAMES GIVEN A HANDSOME CAR

Prime Minister Honored by His Followers in the Legislature.

PURSE OF GOLD ALSO

Leader Was Taken by Surprise, But Spoke Quite Feelingly.

An atmosphere of rare good fellowship filled the room of the Conservative members of the legislature, as they assembled at noon yesterday to signify in hearty fashion appreciation of their leader, Sir James Whitney. In the shape of an automobile of excellent design and British workmanship, and a purse of gold, the well wishes of all his loyal supporters were centred and the occasion of its presentation will live long in the memories of all present, as one of the most enjoyable since the Whitney regime began in Ontario.

It was to a unanimous cheer and the strains of "For He is a Jolly Good Fellow" that the premier entered the room, and when the applause had died away, Dr. R. F. Preston, the party whip, read a few well-chosen words, expressing the heartfelt confidence and fidelity which each individual in the government held towards the chief man in all the house. At no period in the span of years in which the hon. member has been in the house had their appreciation of his ability been more clearly vindicated than in the session which was now nearing its close. His skill as a parliamentarian had never appeared so conspicuous, and the uprightness and dignity which had always been associated with his character, were even more apparent. That his devotion to public duty was unlimited, was evidenced in the imperial dignities which had been granted to him in recognition, a recognition which all his associates in the house were happy to rejoice in.

The surprise of the premier at the occurrence and the natural play upon his emotions, following such an enthusiastic tribute, left him at a loss for a moment as to a reply. "It would be difficult to summon up at a moment's notice, enough apt and fitting words to express even faintly my appreciation of this act," he said, feeling that anything he might say would be inadequate to express the earnestness he desired to show, or the driving power of his actual sentiment.

"As men go and as parties go, and as British institutions pass, and history makes up the records, I think that we may say that the record we have made is not one that those who come after will have reason to be ashamed of. It is one that those who come in the future will learn to appreciate."

Times had changed since he had come as a young leader, with a limited knowledge of party procedure, but with one great ideal in mind—the strength and permanency of British institutions.

The Conservative party had been blessed beyond other in their capacity to fulfil the demands of the country. There was nothing to regret and everything to be proud of. Beyond a few missteps, which naturally were attendant upon all mortals who were not perfect, there was every reason for self-congratulation. As long as they remain faithful to the ideals which he confessed had somewhat distinguished them from others they might rest assured of the continued support of the people.

WOULD SEND SUFFS. ON TRIP AROUND WORLD

MANCHESTER, Eng., April 23.—In sentencing two militant suffragettes, Mrs. Forrester and Miss Manista, at the Manchester Assizes today, Justice Sir John Eldon Bankes said: "I would send you round the world in a sailing ship if the law permitted me so to dispose of you."

The women were brought up at the assizes for trial on the charge of raiding on April 3, the Manchester art gallery, and smashing the glass of thirteen famous pictures.

The judge declared that failing the remedy he suggested as a cure for suffragette militancy, he would have to send them to jail for three months and a month respectively, and they would have to serve additional terms of six months and four months respectively unless they found surety for their good behavior on leaving jail.

TORONTO BILL WAS APPROVED BY LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE BUT VOTE MUST BE SEPARATE

Negotiations For Purchase of Toronto Electric Light Company Must Be Made Under Old Bill, But Street Railway Purchase Was Approved—Personalities Exchanged at Meeting and Hon. Thos. Crawford Called a "Bulldozer and Bullchaser"—"Man Who Says That Is a Liar," Says Crawford.

To ratify an agreement upon purchase price of the Toronto Electric Light Company, two bylaws must be submitted to the ratifiers. This was decided by the private bills committee on a vote of 23 to 9.

Hon. Thos. Crawford, who led the forces against the bill, put himself on record at the outset as objecting to any legislation under the agreement had been reached, and the bylaws submitted and carried.

Hon. I. B. Lucas, chairman of the committee, insisted, however, that the majority of the members were in favor of granting legislation at once, and that it was to be decided whether one or two bylaws should be submitted to the ratifiers of Toronto.

McNaught introduced the case of Toronto, and was most ably supported by Mayor Hocken and Controller McCarthy. Hon. Thos. Crawford interrupted Toronto's representatives repeatedly, but did not succeed in preventing them getting the bill passed.

No Breach of Faith. "Toronto does not want this bill, if it makes a breach of faith with the grouped municipalities," W. K. McNaught declared. "The bill safeguards the interests of the grouped municipalities."

Favors Two Bylaws. "The general impression in Toronto is that the proposition is a good scheme," said George Gooderham, "understand that when the Toronto Electric Light and the Toronto Street Railway companies were marketed some of the securities in England, they put forward the claim that the Toronto Power Company was behind the two bylaws submitted, and I would more than the railway system is worth to get it for Toronto."

AT THE START we did not anticipate that the demand for Seymour Eaton's book, entitled "One Hundred Lessons in Business," would create such a demand.

Every boy and girl who aspires to a business career should possess one. Every Father and Mother should give that boy or girl a chance to do so.

CLEARING THE WAY

CHARGES AGAINST WHITNEY AND HANNA CLASSIFIED AS SLANDER AND BLACKMAIL

Women who owned property the right to amend money bylaws, and was also defeated. The feature of the night session of the house, other than the charges made by William Proudfoot, Centre Huron, against Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna, was the gist of amendments made to Hon. J. S. Duff's Factory Act by the James McQueen South Westwiron.

The four men went to the factory just as the burglars came out of the building. While the police were scrambling with Mr. Hudson after he had been shot, the burglars got away.

In the Spring the Blood is Thin

The body of man can be influenced in health or disease only through the medium of two channels—the blood and the nerves. When the blood is thin and watery, as it usually is in the spring, the nerves are starved and depleted, and every organ in the human body is less capable of performing its natural functions.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes directly to the formation of new, rich blood, and on this account is a restorative of exceptional value.

Health and Beauty Answers

Either: I was glad to read that you are recommending my almond wrinkle-removing jelly recipe to your friends. The shampoo recipe you ask for consists only of one teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. It lathers freely and will thoroughly cleanse the scalp and make the hair feel good. By shampooing the hair with canthrox every two or three weeks, it will remain soft and fluffy. Canthrox also relieves itching and irritation of the scalp. (If troubled with dandruff, read answer to No. 12.)

Worried: Waste no time on liquid preparations. Use a delatone paste, made by mixing together a teaspoonful of delatone and water. Apply to hairs not wanted, and in two or three minutes rub off, wash the skin, and the hairs are entirely dissolved. This is a quick, harmless method, but be sure you get the delatone in an original package.

Mrs. G.: Try pyroxin on your eyebrows, and you will be delighted on how thickly they will grow. By the same treatment you can make short, straggly eyelashes come out curly. Apply the pyroxin at lath-roots with thumb and forefinger. You can buy pyroxin in a small, original package, but be careful and don't get anywhere no hair is wanted.

Birdie: I agree with you. A bright, clear, youthful eye is always attractive and admired. Most girls neglect to give the eyes proper care. Very few use an eye-tonic, which I think essential in caring for the eyes. I have found the following tonic to be fine for weak, tired and inflamed eyes: Go to your druggist and get one ounce of crystals and dissolve it in a pint of water. Use two or three drops in each eye night and morning. It will not smart. The inexpensive eye-tonic will do you lots of good and relieve you of that dull, tired feeling above the eyes.

Beulah: You are not the only girl with a sallow complexion and oily skin who cannot find a face powder that pleases her. But you need not despair. There are other aids to beauty more satisfactory than face powder, and the use of washes is becoming more popular everywhere. Here is a recipe for a wash that, much less than any manufactured brand, and add two teaspoonfuls of spumax in a half-pint of witch hazel or of water, and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. This will make a complexion beautifier that whitens and softens the skin, without the use of powder, and it also tends to remove pimples, tan and freckles.

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

Avoid pleasures in crowds and attend to things of more use to you. Your year holds more than ordinary chances of success with corresponding risks and trouble. Strict attention and foresight will show you the way.

Those born today will have frivolous tendencies, but wonderful talents for constructive mathematics, sciences and exact calculations. If these are encouraged in youth they will furnish some serious purpose to save the career from going to pieces in the shallows of society.

NURSERY

FRESH AIR

One hour of bad air will do more harm than good air for the other twenty-three hours will undo. Therefore, keep baby's room well ventilated night and day. If the rooms in the house open into each other, one or two open windows in the proper place will furnish fresh air for the whole house. In a small apartment keep baby in a room where the windows may be opened top and bottom, and from which the fresh air may circulate without causing too much of a breeze. At any cost keep the air good every moment of the time.

The temperature of the room should be sixty-five to seventy degrees. A thermometer should hang in the rooms that are most frequented by the children, and at the height of their heads. Overheating is very common in the city, especially in apartment houses. In the country the mistake is generally drafty floors and cold halls. Babies, beginning at six weeks, should be taken out for their airing every day. In the winter, at the time when the sun is warmest; in summer, when it is coolest. At first one hour every day is enough, then one hour in the morning and another in the afternoon. At six months three or four hours in the open air is a necessity every day. After that, the more, the better. Of course, the baby that sleeps in the open every day does not need to be wheeled about the dusty streets, except for the sake of exercising his mother. But if you are fortunate enough to live near a park, a real park of trees and springy grass, take the children there every day for as long a playtime as you find possible. High Park is the greatest place I know, for babies and grownups, too.

The sleeping room should have one or more windows wide open at top and bottom throughout the year. The bed should be as far away from the windows as possible, in a corner out of direct draft. If the air is very cold, the blanket or quilt around the crib, and have the bed-clothing very warm. This applies to well babies remember, and to those over six weeks of age. However, the day of shutting up weak babies in close, hot rooms is past, and the delicate child often requires more fresh air than the well child. The appetite is improved and the strength increased by good, pure air, and many a restless baby falls into a slumber as soon as he is put outdoors. Sleeping porches are a splendid institution. Have one if it is at all possible, and don't forget what I said in a previous article about a sun-sleep and complete rest for mother as well as baby in the middle of the day.

SCHOOL GARDENING

Editor World: Many citizens having become interested in the school gardening propaganda, it has been suggested that a considerable impetus would be given to this movement if vegetable and flower plants could be donated. Each year, those who own large gardens with hotbeds and green-houses usually have a quantity of surplus vegetable and flowering plants, which are not utilized. If these could be made available for the school gardens, it would add materially to the interest taken by the children and they would not have so long to wait for results as if the plants were grown from seed.

Another year, hotbeds might be arranged for, in a corner of the school grounds, and the boys and girls would become interested in watching their plants growing from day to day.

If any of the citizens who have a surplus of such plants and are willing to contribute them, would communicate with me, I would arrange with the officers of the Toronto Horticultural Society to have the plants distributed to the teachers in the schools, who have expressed their willingness to help on this laudable scheme.

The hearty co-operation of all earnestly requested in encouraging the children to become interested in the growing of plants and flowers.

Miss Sneath's Recital

Last evening a recital was given at the Toronto Conservatory of Music by Miss Isabel Sneath, A.T.C.M., pupil of Dr. Edward Fisher, assisted by Miss Jean Mitchell Hunter, solo violinist, and by Miss Mary Morley, A.T.C.M., at second piano. The selections chosen by Miss Sneath embraced a clever mingling of old and new, the program opening with Mendelssohn's Scherzo Capriccio, and closing with Schutt's F minor Concerto, the numbers in between being a group by Chopin and pieces by Debussy, Schumann and Moszkowski. In all these Miss Sneath displayed an exceptional wealth of technical resource, coupled with a grace and vivacity of movement quite her own, which rendered her performance captivating in the extreme. She also revealed powers of expression and sentiment in the G major nocturne and romance by Schumann, and altogether reflected the highest credit on her instructor, Dr. Fisher, who for so long has been identified with the art of piano-playing. Miss Sneath was admirably sound and musically attractive in Tartini Sonata and in a group of shorter pieces, and Miss Mary Morley played the second part of the Schutt concerto with her accustomed dash.

HORSE SHOW SEATS

The reserve seat sale for the Horse Show will start this morning, at Tyrrell's King street east, and will continue until 6 o'clock each day of the show. The entry list is the largest of any show ever held in Canada, and as the quantity is represented, the show should go down in history as one of the best ever held in the Dominion.

His Honor, Lieut-Governor D. C. Cameron of Manitoba, is the first of the out of town exhibitors to arrive, and the others have written that they will be here by the last of the week, while their exhibits will arrive sooner, in order that they may have a few days to get accustomed to the ring.

Invitations for the luncheon on Tuesday afternoon, at the Armouries, have been issued and are meeting with hearty responses.

Woman in Pain For Three Years

With an Aching Shoulder and Lame Back That Seemed Incurable.

Tells of Her Remarkable Cure.

"Very few people could so patiently suffer for three years as I did," writes Mrs. M. D. Durand, from her home in August. "Sometimes I did feel very discouraged, but knew that a remedy would some day turn up with the power to relieve my sufferings. Nervine was the one thing that ever did me real good. It had the power to sink into my stiff, sore muscles, and it drew out the pain and gave me relief from such distress as few people know. My condition was largely Rheumatic, and on this account I do urge every person with Rheumatic tendencies to use Nervine—rub it in frequently and bind a hot flannel cloth over the aching parts. This is very soothing and will surely cure."

It is just such cases as this that have made Nervine famous in many lands. Its influence is so penetrating, so strong, so pain-subduing, its influence over Neuralgia, Lumbago, Sciatica and Rheumatism is simply a marvel. Thousands of actual permanent cures prove this. In the home Nervine is so useful because it can be taken internally with sure results, for cramps, stomach pains, and diarrhoea. It stops vomiting, cures nausea and sick headache.

No home complete without Nervine. Family size bottles 50c; trial size 25c; at all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarroch Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

What one woman does

Every Tuesday during the warm weather she takes her basket of clothes, ironing board and Electric Iron out on the verandah and sits down while she does a whole family ironing in cool comfort.

She does better work and she saves her strength for her other duties, because the iron, being always at right heat, there's no hard rubbing.

"Why," said she when she stopped to chat to the demonstrator one day, "why, there's no comparison between the old and new way of ironing. All the drudgery has gone out of it!"

But imagine sitting down to an ironing! Did you ever hear of it before?

That just gives you an inkling of what the Electric Iron will do for you.

Recipes for Wrinkles and Bad Complexions

(From Art and Nature.)

Of all the beauty recipes in my scrap book, here are two that have always given completely satisfactory results.

Wrinkle Remover—One ounce powdered zinc oxide, dissolved in 1/2 pint witch hazel. Use as a wash lotion. It brings instantaneous results.

Face Peeler—Pure mercuric wax, applied at night, cleanses the skin, rubs in; wash off in the morning. It rubbed the worn-out scarf skin to come off in tiny, almost invisible flakes, a little each day, until the fresh young under-skin is wholly in evidence. The beautiful rose-tinted complexion thus obtained is not to be compared with one made over with cosmetics. If the old skin is treated with freckles, pimples or other blemishes, these defects are of course discarded with the skin itself. An ounce of the wax is sufficient in any case.

The ingredients named are inexpensive and can be found in any drug store—

MARRIAGE BILL TO TAKE EFFECT

Will Come Into Force in May Two Years Hence.

SESSION HAS CLOSED

Many Opposition Amendments Were Voted Down in Last Hours.

A whole slew of opposition amendments were slaughtered in the closing hours of the session yesterday afternoon. One by one they came up bravely to enjoy their little day, and then bowing to the storm of popular disapproval, vanished from sight. With the appearance of every batch of paper being carried to the gallery, a groaning in spirit was heard from the government benches, for all hearts were tuned to adjournment for the year, but one after another, pretentious or otherwise, all travelled the same path and the order paper of the last day showed signs of clearance.

The Municipal Act, the Marriage Act, matters relating to the civil service, the sale of timber, suffrage problems, T.N. O. taxation, assessment of unimproved lands in northern Ontario, and a host of other matters provided subjects to fill the reams of paper which the opposition stenographers labored upon all afternoon. In all there were three divisions in the afternoon which set the bells ringing, and, as usual, the majorities stood approximately at 63 to 18 in every case.

One of the more interesting discussions of the afternoon centered about the proposal of Dr. McQueen to change a part of the Marriage Act to remove the liability of penalty from a clergyman who marries an irresponsible party, and to require the certificate of a qualified medical practitioner as to the sanity of those interested instead. Also the house provided subjects to be taken in short order, an important announcement was made by Hon. W. J. Hugga. The bill was taken into committee to be amended, so that it comes into effect on May 15, 1915.

Beyond the recurring introduction of amendments and their dismissal, the house was void of interesting features.

Brussels Sprouts.

This crop is closely related to cabbage and cauliflower, and may be grown in the same manner. Instead of a single head, Brussels sprouts form a large number of heads in the axils of the leaves. As the heads begin to crowd, the leaves should be broken from the stem of the plant to give the heads more room. A few leaves should be left at the top of the stem, where the new heads are being formed. Brussels sprouts are more hardy than cabbage. For winter use, take up plants that are well laden with heads, and set them close together in a pit, cold frame or cellar, with a little soil around the roots. The use of Brussels sprouts are similar to those of cabbage, but they are considered to be of a superior flavor.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING BY HENRIETTA D. GRAUEL DOMESTIC SCIENCE LECTURER

ASPARAGUS

In the days of the Caesars, we are told, three stems of asparagus weighed a pound. From this it would seem that these world conquerors understood market gardening thoroughly, but today these gross stems would not be esteemed on the table of the epicure; delicate green arrows, just tinged with pink, are preferred.

Pliny thought that this vegetable was intended by nature to grow everywhere, but nature, unassisted, does not produce an article that has such flavor. Cultivation and much fertilizer, in the form of ammonia, have improved it until now it has enough individuality to take place among the vegetables that may be served as a salad or in a separate course.

Asparagus is frequently ruined by overboiling; like so many vegetables, it is far better steamed until tender. If you have no steamer you can improvise one with a strainer or a colander and a kettle of hot water. That all the scales and rough places are reached. Soak it in cold salt water for a few minutes to freshen and to remove any insect life that has evaded the brush. Cook until the tips are just tender enough to break of their own weight; the handle or base of the stalk will never grow tender by continued cooking, and is not eaten, but left on to facilitate handling the vegetable.

Eating asparagus is not a graceful employment, but with long practice you may learn to catch the inverted apex at exactly the proper angle. Considerate cooks now remove the tips and reserve the stalks for purees and vegetable soups.

The tips are seasoned with salt while cooking, and when served are dressed with melted butter and pepper or with cream exactly as are green peas. A morsel of soda added to the water, if they are boiled, will add to their tenderness and keep their color bright.

When the tips are dressed with the sauce it should be of such consistency as to adhere to them.

If you have stock, cook the remaining stalks, from which the tips have been cooked, in it for an hour. Pass thru a vegetable press or a colander. Add cream and the crushed yolks of two hard-boiled eggs and seasoning of salt and pepper only, and return to stock.

This makes a very delicate cream soup—it is sometimes called velvet puree—and the vegetables may be varied. It is a favorite for ladies' luncheons.

If you have not stock on hand, cook the asparagus in a quantity of salted water, and after it is put thru the strainer, and before the cream is added, season with a dissolved bouillon cube. Finish as directed.

After the asparagus is wanted cooked in the whole bunch, tie it together after it is washed, stand it upright in a quart tin canister, pour in enough water to reach the tips but not cover them. By this method the tips will not break before the stems are done.

The Daily Children's Story

By H. R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE BALLOON MAN

(Copyright, 1913, by Howard R. Garis) "Ah, ha!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, the rabbit gentleman, as he got out of his bed in the hollow-stump-house one morning, and looked out of the window. "This is the kind of weather I do like to see. I shall take a long ride in my auto today."

And, really, the weather was nice enough for any one. The sun was shining, and the sky was blue and the birds were singing, and the flowers were beginning to blossom, and the leaves on the trees were getting greener and greener.

"No sooner said than done!" spoke the man. "Here are the balloons." Uncle Wiggly paid for them, and the man and all the animal children helped fasten them on the auto's wheels. Then the machine got a spin.

"I really am getting thinner!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly in delight. For you know, Dr. Poesum had said the old rabbit gentleman was getting too fat, and that is why he had to ride in the sharp points cut into so they would not scratch any one, or even tickle the soup-plate.

So in they jumped, as glad as anything, and Uncle Wiggly blew "Moo! Moo!" on the cow's horn, so no one would get in his auto's way, and off they started once more.

They had not gone very far before they met Woodie and Waddie, the woodchuck boys, and Friskie, the sister. And these three animal children were running along as fast as they could, Friskie's braids of hair going flip-flop over her shoulders.

"Why are you so rushed?" asked Uncle Wiggly, pleasant-like. "Oh, we are almost late to school!" explained Friskie, in a hurry.

"Was you clock slow also?" inquired the rabbit gentleman. "No," answered Friskie, "but my brothers, Woodie and Waddie, stopped on their way to school, and I had to hurry, they would not. Now we'll be late!"

"We've—didn't mean it," said Waddie. "Never mind—I won't see you get late," spoke Uncle Wiggly. "Hop up in my auto with Buddy and Brighteyes, and I'll have you to school in no time."

So up they hopped, and the old rabbit gentleman tickled the wibble-ton wibble-ton of his auto with a piece of cheese and made it enee-ah, enee-ah, they went on again, Uncle Wiggly steering by the turnip wheel, and making the rest of his auto sing.

Well, they had not gone very far before they met Tommie and Jole and Kittle Kat, the three little kitten children, and they were crying as hard as anything, and Uncle Wiggly, who had her brothers, Tommie and Jole, didn't shed so many tears.

"Holtie-toltie!" cried Uncle Wiggly, as he stopped, and asked, "What is the trouble here? Did your brothers stop to play marbles, Kittle?"

"No," she said, "but they couldn't find their caps, and I'm sure they lost them so long that I'm sure they've taken them home." "Oh, no, you won't!" said Uncle Wiggly kindly. "Just hop up in here with the rest of your friends, and I'll soon have you out and away from the trouble here."

"Oh, no, you won't!" said Uncle Wiggly kindly. "Just hop up in here with the rest of your friends, and I'll soon have you out and away from the trouble here."

"Well, never mind," spoke Uncle Wiggly. "Hop up and away we'll go. So in climbed Tommie, Jole and Kittle Kat, and away went the auto again."

It had not gone very far before there sounded a noise as if a gun had been shot off. My! I wish you could have seen those animal children quickly hide under the seats, for you know that they had got into the hollow-stump school, where Professor Choo-Choo taught, that a gun is dangerous. It means that hunters are about.

"My! What was that?" asked Waddie Chuck. "Some one is shooting at us!" said Woodie. "Hop up, Uncle Wiggly!"

"Then came another bang-bang!" "Oh, mercy me sakes alive and some buttered toast!" cried Brighteyes Pig. "Don't be frightened, children," said Uncle Wiggly, calmly. "It is only that some of the German bologna sausage tires on my auto have exploded. I guess some ants must have eaten holes in them."

"But before he could finish what he was saying two more bangs sounded, and the auto, which had been going slower and slower, suddenly came to a stop."

"There go the other two tires!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "All four of them are broken. I can't go on now until they are fixed. Oh, my! I think I can't."

"Will we be late for school?" asked Friskie Chuck. "I very much regret to have to report that I fear you will," said Uncle Wiggly, sad like. "However, I'll see if I can fix the tires."

UNCLE WIGGLY AND THE BALLOON MAN

"You are going to be late for school, I fear, and it is my fault. If I had let you run on by yourselves you might have gotten there in time. For you could cut across lots, while I had to come the longer way in the auto. Oh, dear!"

Well, he was feeling badly, and so were the animal children, who did not want to be late for school when, all at once along came a man selling a lot of red, white, blue and green circus balloons. They were all filled with air, and were floating over his head tied by long strings. As soon as Uncle Wiggly saw the balloons, he cried out:

"I have it! Quick, sell me all your balloons! They are filled with air, just as auto tires ought to be, and I will tie a lot of the balloons on the wheels of my machine and get to school in no time!"

"No sooner said than done!" spoke the man. "Here are the balloons." Uncle Wiggly paid for them, and the man and all the animal children helped fasten them on the auto's wheels. Then the machine got a spin.

"But a funny thing happened. The balloons were so light that they lifted the auto right off the ground, and when Uncle Wiggly started he rode thru the air like an aeroplane, and he went so fast that the children got to school in less than half an hour, and so they weren't late. And wasn't Uncle Wiggly smart?"

Well, I guess so! And tomorrow night if the man digging our garden doesn't get bit by an angle worm so he can't go hunting in the tin bank for gold fish, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggly and Sammie's kite.

PRIMROSES

Primrose! What visions and dreams and fairy tales the very word brings in the mind. Meadows starred with twinkling bloom, old orchards fragrant with the drifting perfume, sloping brookside embroidered with the wandering little tramps, walled gardens dear to the heart of our grandmothers have no end to the train of associations that the mere name brings up. Forever linked with the name of old England, the primrose comes to us with a long, long history and song, beloved for generations by countless throngs.

One could no more think of an English springtime without primroses than we Canadians could think of a Canadian spring without maple syrup! And yet the English primrose will grow here in our own Canada, and, moreover, will grow well, too, in the not the Canadian variety that is so hard on the little plant as to render its life here difficult; it is the intense heat of our August and September! This being guarded against, the English primrose will grow here, quite contentedly.

In Canada, two varieties of primrose are cultivated; polyanthus and the common primrose. Polyanthus is in some respects a little the hardier of the two, gives more color, with a little protection from the intense heat of the sun, and these two old-world plants will flourish and blossom away, year after year, as contented as they were at home, across the sea. Blooming at the same time as the moss pink, and the forget-me-not, the beautiful, coarse leaves are not less attractive than the delightful flowers.

Polyanthus produces tall, erect flower shapes of a velvet reddish-brown, with a bright yellow centre, and golden border, sometimes with one or two, like a double flower-head. A good, well established clump will have from ten to fifteen splendid flower-scapes, forming grand glowing tresses of color.

Primrose, vulgaris is the true English plant, a low, tufted plant, some six inches tall, very free blooming, very early, with the most delightful

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

THE floors and doors appear to wait until the dust germs congregate; the housewife hails each dawning day with grim and harrowing dismay. Says she: "My work will NEVER end; o'er dusty stretches I must bend, until, with aching back and hands I finish what the day demands."

The "Floor-and-Door-a" Girl

Then Mrs. Jones, one afternoon, dropped in, at time most opportune. An optimist, she knew the wiles of household work—its sighs and smiles. She told of how she polished floors and woodwork and the endless doors, until when Hubby saw them, too, reflections said: "Why, howdy-do!"

"The Gold Dust Twins," said she, "I find, help leave the woes of sticky hands on doors, each tread of mucky feet on floors, all fade before the slightest touch of Gold Dust, and the work is such that, when the woodwork has been done, I find said work was only fun." This line of reasoning must show that those who've tried it OUGHT to know. If you, in one day's duties, find that there's a Grouch in ev'ry Grind, invite the Gold Dust Twins to share such tasks as tire and fret and wear.

From kitchen floor to bedroom suite, these tireless little chaps make neat, and best of all, the sum expense is measured up in meager cents. They put both dust and dirt to rout and run the last old microbe out.

elusive fragrance that only a true English primrose can produce; the colors range from palest yellow to pinkish purple and lilac.

Seedlings should be started in May and June for flowering the following season. The stock may be increased by division of root, after the first year.

There are some fine rock plants among the Chinese primroses. These are obtained from seed planted in open ground in May. By fall the plants will be ready to transplant into beds for the next spring's blooming, and should be carefully wintered for early blooming.

Primrose growing is not by any means as difficult as most people think. One needs but to buy a packet of seed, sow in open ground, and wait for the sentimental "Process" as usual in such cases, with all perennial and the delightful surprise received the following season is well worth working for.

By this time, those who have been following our garden talks will have learned how simple the matter of raising perennials is at all times. For further details of the results are, lift the sashes off the hot-beds first thing every morning, now, replacing them if the night gives promise of too great chilliness.

How to Have a Nice Lawn. To ensure a rapid luxuriant and continuous growth of grass on your lawn (either new or old), make an application of Davies' Lawn Dressing Fertilizer at once. A MAN IN THE OPEN

By ROGER POCOCK

(Copyrighted 1912, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.)

Were there any funds to promote black pines and mosquitoes as an attraction to millionaires? Brooke in his folly had divined that foolish scheme, sufficient to complete the ruin of a poor wretched woman, before he abandoned her interests to seek his own. Was it true? I went straight to Captain Taylor.

For a week past my refractory patient had insisted upon living entirely upon cheese, a seemingly fatal diet, which, to confess the truth, had done him a world of good. Save for the loss of his sight he was quite his dear old self and glad of a gossip.

"Yes, Kate," he chuckled, "the murderer's out at last. You see, I'm not exactly prosperous, and my retired pay is a drop in my bucket of debts. And then our good friend Polly invested all her wealth in buying up the mortgage on this ranch."

"But why?" "For fun. For the pleasure of turning it into a farm. Ancestors ought to have permission to sleep in that old barn which used to belong to my fox, but then, you see, I really couldn't be under his obligations to society—you remember they're dead, and they'd rather be buried, too, than be claimed as Polly's heirs."

"And the Star Pack-train?" "A half interest, my dear, a half interest, that's all." "So you're in partnership?"

"Oh, yes, I managed to say, 'it's all right—such funny legal jargon.' I looked at the names of the witnesses, Cultus McTavish and Low-lived Joe, the worst characters in our district mind. I was dead, and the old blind man had been, no doubt, destroyed. The deed actually signed made Polly sole owner of the famous pack-train. My friend had been cheated."

"You've told Pete?" "No, I suppose I've got to own up." "You don't want Pete to be cheated by the partner who swears well worth the trouble the results are."

CHAPTER V. The Cargador. Kate's Narrative. It was sixty degrees below zero. The moonlight lay in silver on the pines, the hundred-and-four-mile cabin, deep buried among the drifts glittered along the eaves with icicles, the smoke went up into the sky as if dead, and the light in the frosted window would glow till nearly dawn.

"Within, Pete sat upon his shiny bench, rolling, and upon his shiny knee, and tautened his double stitches thru the night, scarcely feeling the need of sleep. His new apparatus, stacked as they were in his hand, and gradually crowded poor Mrs. Pete into her last stronghold, the corner between the woodbox and the bunk. Fiercely she resisted the filling of her bunk with her own, of her bunk with scrap leather, which scratched her, she said. Wedged into her last corner, she would patch disgraceful old shoes while Pete, at his sewing crooned "One More River," or some indecent ballad of the gold mines.

"Mother, Pete would look up from his bench. "You had spoken to her here right to this very cabin, with Father Jared, and the Baby, David?" "That makes you hover, Pete?" "I've mind that David's."

"Didn't I nurse him?" said the old woman softly. "He'd red hair like his stuck-up mother, blue eyes same as Jesse's. Hop up, and away we'll go. Now did you ask her about that birthmark?"

I told her," said Pete, "that a suspicious female, with a face like a grebe and an inquiring mind, is wishful to inspect David's kidneys."

"Mother wagged her head. "I own I like to believe Kate Smith is back in this country, but you're such a continuous and enduring liar."

"That's so," said Pete. One day when the sun shone brightly into the cabin, Billy arrived with a letter from Captain Taylor. Pete would not give it to mother, or read it aloud, or even tell the news. He danced and an inquiry, and mother had to shake him.

"Oh, a woman's tender care. Cease toward the child She-Bear? In the Old town. "To-night, my Be-Bee!" "Now, what on air's the matter with yew?" mother bellowed over. "Yes, she maw forgetful Be. Yet, will I—remember Me. "Finish them riggings by first Maw," says he.

"Says the old Obadiah to the young Obadiah. Obadiah, Obadiah! Oh, be damned!" "Says I'm partner and boss of the outfit, and running the whole shootin' match, and I'll get more wealth than'll patch hell a mile, and "Thar's none like Nancy Lee, I trow. Ow! Ow!"

"Oh, mother, Bolt's give me a half interest, and ain't this a happy little home, my darlin'!" At that Mrs. Pete flung her skinny arms around his neck, and the two silly old things sobbed together. A week later, when to save Pete a long tramp, Billy rode down with the rations, he found the old people concerned "about this here partnership."

THURSDAY MORNING APRIL 24 1913

CLEARING THE ISSUE.

Mr. Thomas Crawford, M.L.A., in the private bills committee, warned Mayor Hocken that he had better be careful in his dealings with the Street Railway Company, because in former days when Mr. Crawford was an alderman, there were men—Mr. Crawford said, "there was men"—who had to leave the country. Mr. Crawford allied himself with the other Tommy interests, and interrupted Mr. McNaught, Mayor Hocken and Controller McCarthy at almost every sentence, until Chairman Lucas had to call him down. He announced his position as being opposed to granting any legislation to the city at all. The city could go ahead and negotiate, he said, and when an agreement had been made, the city could come to Sir James Whitney, and he believed the premier would give an assurance of legislation next session. Chairman Lucas stated his belief that the committee did not see Mr. Crawford's way at all, and pointed out that there was only one element of disagreement, as to whether there should be a joint bylaw or two separate ones.

Controller McCarthy, who made a lucid statement, why it was impossible to delay action, declared that it would tend to obscure the issue to submit two bylaws when everybody knew that whether separated or not, they must be voted on together and carried together or not at all. This point was quite lost by other speakers, Mr. Beck basing his argument on the rule of the house on the Municipal Act. Mr. Beck was not opposed to the purchase of the railway or of the Electric Light Company, and the bill requires the agreement, if one is arrived at, to be satisfactory to the hydro-electric commission.

The bill, with the amendments agreed to by Mayor Hocken, was reported. The city will now be in a position to carry on the negotiations. Premature attempts to denounce the terms before these are disclosed need not be characterized.

APPRAISING THE SITUATION.

Mayor Hocken explained to the Private Bills Committee yesterday how the city came to approach Sir William Mackenzie with a proposal to buy the Street Railway Co. It was the $25,000 report of the traffic experts that suggested to him the necessity of securing the unification of the city's railway lines. There are 100,000 people outside the limits of the street railway company's operations. These are to be served by stub lines as far as possible, but these lines are run at a loss, and a double fare is imposed on all who have to come into the old city limits. Most of these 100,000 belong to the working classes, so called. Mr. Gooderham, who drives motor cars and is rarely or never inside a street car, expressed a great deal of indignation over Mayor Hocken's attempt to relieve the situation for these citizens. We believe Mayor Hocken has taken a better business view of the question than Mr. Gooderham, who appeared to have been led like some other members, into playing politics, and very small politics at that. The force of circumstances, however, is with Mayor Hocken. He is absolutely disinterested. He is the level-headed mayor the city has had since Mayor Clarke. In him the people have found a champion.

FUTURE OF ELECTRIC SUPPLY.

There is a possibility that the alleged want of confidence may have been of a double-edged nature. No one can understand why Hon. Adam Beck should have shown such feeling over not having been taken into consultation in the street railway matter. But certain statements were made in the private bills committee yesterday that go to show that the city might show some feeling in not having been taken into consultation with regard to the Electrical Development Company. It appears that the Hydro-Electric Commission have more business in sight than they can handle. It appears that new sources of power must be sought. Was all the display of feeling the result of the city having forestalled a move which the chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission had in contemplation but had not taken the city into his confidence about? No man in Ontario has the hydro-electric interests of the province more at heart than Hon. Adam Beck. He may also have contemplated a coup such as Mayor Hocken has pulled off, and if this be the case he may be forgiven if it appears to him that the city deal may in some way embarrass a provincial deal.

It is unlikely that the purchase of the city electric interests would hinder in any way the equipment of the Electrical Development Company by the Hydro-Electric Commission. The co-operation of Toronto could be relied upon absolutely, and, in fact, the development of the use of power in Toronto will in a few years necessitate the possession of such a plant as the Development Company's. The Hydro Commission must provide for the supply of power to the street railway should the railway be taken over eight years hence. If the city takes up the electric light franchise in seven years the Hydro Commission must supply power for that purpose. Where can this power be had?

It seems clear that the province will shortly be negotiating with Sir William Mackenzie for his Niagara interests. It is possible that this has been already contemplated, and that the two Tommies are farther out than ever on their extraordinary view of Mayor Hocken's proposals. If Mr. Beck undertakes to purchase the Electrical Development Company it will be a case of three aces against two jacks.

THE EUROPEAN OUTLOOK.

Montenegro's capture of Scutari introduces a complication into the Balkan question that might have been avoided. It is the direct result of the long delay by the great powers in arriving at an agreement and may reopen the old difficulties in even more aggravated form. This procrastination enabled the Servians to aid their allies, especially with the powerful guns that could alone overcome the Turkish artillery and open the way for direct assault. But for this assistance it is improbable that the garrison would have yielded to anything but lack of food. But whatever might have happened had coercive action been earlier applied to the Montenegrins is immaterial now that they have gained their object. For, as Sir Edward Grey pointed out in the house of commons, so far as Montenegro was concerned the war was one of pure aggression.

Austria-Hungary is the power upon which the matter of peace or war mainly rests. Her policy and ambitions are well known and the fact that the most important of her aims is now to present appearance beyond her reach, will render her all the more insistent that the division of the conquered territory will be to her liking. Saloniki, the finest port on the Aegean, was the goal of Austria's desires, and the hope of ultimately reaching it may not even now be abandoned. Austria's imperative demand for an autonomous Albania, which she hopes to dominate, is the first step on the march to Saloniki, over whose possession the three principal of the allies are already quarreling. Unless they can reach an agreement Saloniki will not improbably become a free port under the protection of the great powers.

Italy is equally concerned with Austria in the control of the eastern shore of the Adriatic and will be no less anxious to establish Italian influence in Albania, with which it has greater racial affinity than Austria. This is another of the points that illustrate the artificial division of Europe. Austria and Italy cannot be in any true sense allies, yet they are both members of the Triple Alliance. German statesmen are fully aware of this weak link and have acknowledged it by recognizing the right of Italy to reserve liberty of action in its relations to Britain and France. Here is the explanation in part of the greater cordiality between Britain and Germany to which Sir Edward Grey and the German chancellor recently bore witness. In it lies the hope of European peace.

MOTOR SPIRIT FROM COAL.

In the current weekly report of the department of trade and commerce Mr. E. D. Arnold, Canadian commissioner at Bristol, refers to a motor spirit produced by a new method of coal distillation, known as the Dol Monte process. By it a spirit more efficient than ordinary petrol has been obtained that can be placed on the market at as low a price as 20 cents per gallon, or even less. This has been demonstrated during the last few weeks at two experimental plants, one, the larger, laid down at West Bromwich, and the other and smaller near London. The tests were conducted under the supervision of eminent chemists, engineers and colliery owners and proved so successful that the commissioner says the invention cannot be otherwise described than revolutionary in its results.

Writing on March 28 Mr. Arnold reported that the spirit had for some days previous been subjected to exhaustive trials. Two cars were driven by it from London to Brighton, thence to Worthing and back to London, the route selected being a hilly and trying one. This and further experiments on other roads have demonstrated that a gallon of the new fuel will, on an average, carry an ordinary car 3 1/2 miles further than a gallon of the best petrol. The invention consists of a specially designed retort, by which all the oils that coal contains are extracted cheaply and efficiently. Ten million tons of coal it is calculated will supply all the motor spirit needed in Britain and place the motor industry in an independent position. This quantity is a small fraction of the 265,000,000 tons yearly mined in Great Britain.

The Philosopher of Folly. By Sherwood Hart. FACING FATE.

This life is a mixture of joys and of woes—today we're parading in suits of fustian and bells on our toes, and wads of long green in our purses; tomorrow we're huddled in rags and carrying our lunch in a pail and help dole drams for the wing on the fall—tomorrow we're huddled on mallards and quail on lobster and real old green turtle; one day we are buying up guaranteed stocks, arrayed in silk topers and waistcoats and socks, the next day may find us aground on the rocks while over us hurricanes hurtle. That life is a riddle we all of us feel, but when we are thrown by a turn of Fate's wheel, it surely is foolish to lie there and squeal—to weep and to wall and make faces; there's always a balm in life's bitterest dregs—when ever an engine runs over our legs 'tis plain that we cannot have corns on the pegs the doctors will put in their places. When trouble looms large as a ninety-foot whale and we are the one that's heaved over the rail, what good does it do us to weep and to wall and tear at our hair and kimonos? The billows may roar and the tempests may howl, but if we are not to be made up like some of the fellows in port, the mayeb we'll pull like Jonah.

CRIMEAN VETERAN DEAD.

BROCKVILLE, April 23.—(Special.)—The death occurred at his home here of Robert Belmont, aged 82. He came to this country from Oxford, England, and lived for some years in Prescott before coming to Brockville. He was one of the British soldiers at the siege of Sebastopol, and later took up arms in the Indian mutiny. He was also a Fenian raid veteran, and in those times was a member of the Ottawa Rifles at Prescott. His widow and seven children survive.

KINGSTON, April 23.—(Special.)—Mr. Eccles, proprietor of the Grand Opera House Hotel, cut off in a reduction a year ago, has applied for a license. He says false statements were made last year about his house, and that he was not given fair treatment. He has secured counsel to fight the case. Only 15 licenses are to be granted, which means that one must be dropped if his request is granted.

Laidlaw, K.C., for plaintiff, appealed from order of the master in chambers dismissing motion for judgment on a bond under C.R. 603. G. H. Klimer, K.C., for defendant. Judgment (v. v.). The case presents unusual features, but nevertheless, I cannot disregard the long line of modern decisions gradually restricting the plaintiff's right to get judgment under the rule, and so I think the master was right and have nothing to add to his judgment. I do not see my way to making any special order or condition as to payment of money.

Single Court. Before Falconbridge, C.J. Re Abell and City of Toronto—C. A. Moss, for Abell, on motion to quash bylaw, stated that negotiations for settlement pending and asked that motion be enlarged sine die. Enlarged accordingly.

Court of Appeal. McKenzie v. Elliott—Yesterday's report of this case it was stated that judgment was awarded plaintiff for $8315, but the amount is in addition to $300 paid by defendant to plaintiff before action, so that the price paid for the barn is $8315.

Appellate Division. Before Meredith, C.J.O.; Maclean, J. A. Magee, J.A.; Hodgins, A. Alabastine Co. of Paris v. Canada Producer and Gas Engine Co.—I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., and W. A. Re Nichols Hall v. Wildman—H. T. Beck for defendant; G. H. Watson, K.C., and L. M. Hayes, K.C., for estate of Nichols. Appeal by defendant from order of Latchford, J., of March 10, 1913. The order complained of was made on appeal by Marianna Wildman, from the report of local master at Peterboro, under order for administration taken out by Hall and Innes, the executors, which declared that the executors were not liable to indemnify Mrs. Wildman against a certain judgment, and dismissing her claim that they should account to her for $200 which they retained from her in 1881, to meet possible contingencies. The order of Latchford, J., held that executors were liable to account for the $200, and for Mrs. Wildman's share as residuary legatee in so much of $600 and $348.98, as may not have been expended in administering estate, but might claim compensation, and in other respects dismissed appeal with costs to executors out of fund. Appeal partly argued and enlarged until May 5.

Judgment: We agree with the judgment of the chancellor for the reason stated by him therein and would dismiss the appeal with costs.

SCUTARI'S FALL IS CELEBRATED. Montenegrins Wild With Joy Over Success of Long Siege.

SCUTARINE, Montenegro, April 23.—(Can. Press.)—The first tidings of the fall of Scutari were received at two o'clock in the morning in a telegram from the crown prince to the king. The populace were immediately apprised of the glad news by the firing of salutes of artillery and the ringing of church bells. Tumbling out of bed the people assembled at the palace, cheering enthusiastically.

From the balcony King Nicholas addressed his people and embraced the representatives of the allies, who called to congratulate him. The Turks before capitulating had nearly exhausted their ammunition. By the terms of the surrender they marched out of town with the honors of war, leaving their small arms and retaining also some light guns.

Fought Hand to Hand. The final attack began Monday night and fighting continued almost incessantly for 24 hours. The Montenegrins pushed right up to the defence and engaged in bayonet fighting with the Turks. Despite desperate counter-attacks, the invaders obtained a footing in the fortress at midnight and at four o'clock detachments entered the city. The siege lasted six months, having begun in the middle of October. Servian troops did not take part in the final assault, but the Servian cannon were used with great effect. There are other versions that Essaad Pasha, the Turkish commander, gave up the defence after the outlying key position of Bataehoch had fallen, and that negotiations for the surrender had been in progress since Monday.

ENTER OFFICIAL EXECUTION CHILDREN. Incident at Haileybury Shows Bilingual Agitation Not Yet Dead.

HAILEYBURY, April 23.—When ordered back into the separate school after recess, 50 children of one of the primary rooms immediately fled into the school and then out by the fire escape. The Protestant Supervising Inspector White of North Bay, was visiting the separate school here. The pupils in one of the smaller rooms attempted to leave the school room also, but the teacher barred the door and then stood guard and kept them back.

White visited the higher classes of the school, but in the majority of the rooms no adverse notice was taken of him. That is the first trouble over the bilingual school question which has confronted the Haileybury board.

In Cochrane, on the previous day, nearly all the scholars of the separate school left when Inspector White called.

DIED BY ALCOHOLISM. At the city morgue last night a jury was empaneled by Coroner Dr. Singer to enquire into the cause of the death of John Regan, late of 706 Dundas St. W., who was found lying at the rear of Clifford St. on Monday, April 14. Dr. Graham, who gave evidence of post-mortem examination, stated that Regan had taken an excessive amount of alcohol, which poisoned the stomach, and that his heart was diseased. Several of the neighboring residents who saw Regan also gave evidence. The jury returned a verdict of "Alcoholic poison and heart trouble."

BUFFALO ARE HOPEFUL

Only Visitor to Land a Championship at Canadian Tourney — Riversides Clean Up.

The finals of the Canadian boxing championships produced an unusually fine class and lots of milling. There were seventeen bouts in all, most of them going the limit, Joe Smith defeating the only of Montreal in the middleweight semi-final in an extra round, and then going out before his business from Buffalo. Several of the awards were unpopular, but that was the mistake of the crowd, the judges being likely correct in every one of their decisions. Bill Hitchin, who won the semi-final and final at 125 lbs., was probably the class of the tournament for style, clean two-hand offensive and defensive work and magnanimity towards his adversaries. That is saying a good deal, for right up to the middle-weights the boys showed great ability. The Riversides cleaned up five of the seven divisions, the middles going to Joe Smith of Harry Weston's Beaver A.C., and the top class to the white hope from Buffalo. Every other outdoor was beaten—Tomkins, also Toronto; McGraw of Hamilton and Hill, McMurtry and Crossley of Montreal.

The attendance was between three and four thousand. The bouts were necessarily run off promptly, lasting from shortly after 8 o'clock until 12:30.

Fights in Review.
In the opening bout, Majury of St. Charles put McEwen of Hamilton down for the rest in the first round and had him fired when the gong sounded, but in the second McEwen was able to hold his own, but in the third Majury took the lead and easily took the 105 lbs. semi-final.

Crossley of Montreal nearly wound up the career of Joe Smith of the Beaver A. C. in the first round of the 125 lbs. semi-final by putting him down twice, but in the second and third Smith evened it up and won by a good margin in the extra round, although the sympathies of the crowd were with the Beaver.

Peter Jackson of the West Ends, who won from Urquhart of Vancouver, looked good for the first 125 lbs. semi-final, but in every round and easily won the decision. Goodly, West Toronto, and Harris, Riversides, put up a slugging fight in the first 145 lbs. semi-final. There was little to choose between them and Harris was given the decision.

McMurtry of Montreal had it on Hovaw of Buffalo from the start in the second, 155 lbs. semi-final and had things nearly all his own way in the first round, but in the second and third Smith evened things up and it was anybody's fight. When the third started McMurtry, however, made good his left jab and was given the decision.

Hitchin of the Riversides qualified to meet Tomkins of Buffalo for the championship by stopping Bill Jacobs of the St. Charles in the third round. It was a hard bout with Jackson and Harris in the better of the argument all the way.

The semi-final between Phyllis of the St. Charles and Jackson of Riversides at 125 lbs. was one great bout. The St. Charles boy stood up and exchanged wallop for wallop with Jackson and made him do all he knew. The Riversides boy had a good margin at the finish, but the crowd did not think so and made their dissatisfaction known in no uncertain way.

Robinson of Montreal took a good beating from Alf Saunders of the B.U.A.C. in the second 145 lbs. semi-final. Saunders was the best and won easily.

Smith of Buffalo took the heavy weight semi-final from McNab of the Kelso School. McNab claimed to have been hit low in the first round and would not go on.

A Slugging Match.
The 145-lb. semi-final between Halligan of the Beaver A.C. and Harris, Riversides, was a slugging match from the start. Harris was in his second bout of the night, but won easily.

Williams of the Riversides took the 105-lb. championship from the St. Charles by a good margin. Williams was fresh and certainly had the better of the bout, but the crowd was anything but satisfied. Majury had had a hard semi-final bout earlier in the evening.

Price and Pacey, both of the Riversides, provided the wind-up in the 115-lb. final. Although the boys were club-mates it did not help matters any and they were all they knew. Pacey was a winner.

McMurtry, Montreal, and Joe Smith of the Beavers were the final at 125 lbs. McMurtry had had a hard bout with Hovaw of Buffalo and both were in bad shape when he started and Smith opened up a cut in the first that bled through the contest, but the boy was game and although Smith was given the decision the Montrealer got great applause when he left the ring.

Hill, Montreal, and Jackson, Riversides, were the contestants in the 135-lb. final. Hill on the first night looked like the worst of the Montreal bunch, but he gave the great Jackson the worst few minutes

MONTREAL SAYS THINGS OF OUR AMATEUR BOXING

According to Frank Calder in The Herald the Bouts Should Be Fought Over Again.

Likely chagrined because they failed to land the honor, Montreal has things to say concerning our boxing championships. Here is Frank Calder's wall in 'The Herald':

If the statement from Toronto that the ring in which the Canadian amateur boxing championships at the Toronto Arena are being fought is a fourteen-foot affair, an effort will be made to have the decision of the championship results, and to have the battles fought over again.

The rules distinctly state that the ring in which the Canadian amateur boxing championships shall be fought shall not be less than sixteen feet square, at the arena.

One of the direct results was that Harry Beveridge, the M.A.A.A. crack, was knocked out in the first round. Beveridge is a boxer. As a boxer he is one of the bravest and cleverest of his class among the amateurs. But as a boxer he must have room to move. Put a man of his class in a ring with a "slugger," who has little or nothing but a "kick" and the result is almost a foregone conclusion.

Hill, the St. Patrick's lightweight, who he entered for the championships, did not box last night. He was in a fourteen-foot ring and in the first round he was knocked out by a boxer of the "slugger" class, there is likely to be a repetition of the Beveridge incident.

The whole indicates once more the absolute incompetency of the authorities in Toronto to handle amateur boxing championships as they should be handled. Looking back over the record of amateur boxing championship tournaments held in Toronto, one finds that almost every time the best in the show was description or other. If the ring was not too small, "ringers" were pulled into the game. If there were no ringers, professional pugilists found their way into the competition.

The amateur boxing championships, as handled by Toronto, have been more or less of a joke as sport. But financially they have been successful, and the A. A. U. needs the money.

It is a pity that the best of the championship tournament this fall, but it was "pulled" back to Toronto. If it ends in a fiasco because of the fourteen-foot ring, Vancouver will have the laugh.

YOUR SUMMER VACATION.

A most interesting and well printed publication has just been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System, dealing with the attractions of the well known Algonquin National Park of Ontario, and copies may be had from any of their city ticket offices.

The territory dealt with is a thoroughly universal vacation one, combining high altitude (2000 feet), pure air, unspoiled forest, beautiful lakes, splendid fishing, much wild game, hotel or camp life, in close touch with civilization or entirely apart from it, and satisfying alike to novice and veteran.

Included in this publication is a description of the "Némigan Camp," situated on Smoke Lake, the centre of one of the finest fishing grounds in Canada, and which will be open for the first time this year, with accommodation for 60 people. This idea of a log cabin camp is an innovation in Canada, but one that has become most popular and attractive to a large number of summer playground seekers in the Rangely Lakes, Maine. Good hotel accommodation is offered at the "Highland Inn" and the rates are most reasonable.

The publication is well written and the map that accompanies it gives one a good idea of the 2,500,000 acres that are found within the park boundaries.

French and N. Y. Boxing Authorities Co-Operate

New York, April 23.—Co-operation between the French and New York state authorities controlling boxing was made effective today in the case of George Gunther, the Philadelphia heavyweight, and Tom Lewis, the state boxing commission upheld the action of the French Federation of Boxing Clubs in suspending Gunther and Lewis, the former for failing to fulfill a contract to fight and the latter for fouling.

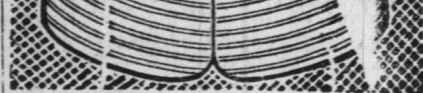

The suspension of each is for three months. The French commission sent word also that Billy Papke had been suspended for the rest of the year for the willful fouling of Frank Klaus.

The state body did not act in this case, because Papke already is under indefinite suspension here.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

St. Cyrilians will play Bayside Baracas on Vermont Park Saturday at 3 p.m. All players are requested to be on hand.

The Dufferins of City Amateur League will practice on the diamond at Dufferin Park tonight, Thursday. All players are requested to turn out at 8:15 sharp. Spring and Woods will do the battery work Saturday against the Iron Dukes.

The following players of the Belleair ball team (seniors) and any others whose names have not been mentioned are requested to be on hand at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon at the Judds' grounds: N. English, E. Miller, W. McCaffery, E. and B. Hurd, G. McGee, Y. Thompson, S. Cochrane, C. Sharpe, S. Adams, J. Beaumont and S. Cook.

The Junior Belleairs must turn out early to the Y.M.C.A. field on Saturday, where they will play East Toronto. The members of the Broadview Y. M. C. A., recognizing the fact that they have an institution with an equipment and staff capable of accommodating two thousand members have inaugurated a membership campaign with this object in view.

Commencing with a membership banquet at which Messrs. Finlay and Warburton were the principal speakers, they proceeded to organize the men along unique and up-to-date lines.

Two leagues were formed to be known as the "National" and "International," with a president at the head of each. Each league was composed of eight teams, and the men all being signed up by contract. The teams in each league battle between themselves each day, the one securing the largest membership winning the game.

The league standing is announced on the score board each day, the points being given according to the membership actually secured by the different teams. As a result of the activities mentioned above the "Y" is the busiest place in Riverside these days and the next week promises to break all membership records.

Last Wednesday night over two hundred men from the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Co.'s factory were entertained by an indoor athletic meet with all its frills and also a social evening. Tonight the men from the Gourlay, Winter & Leeming factory, to the number of about seventy-five will enjoy a similar evening, and next week the men in other Riverside factories will be similarly entertained.

Broadview men are particularly proud of their athletic field, which is one of the finest enclosed playing grounds east of Yonge street. Their Harrier Club won the Dunlop trophy last fall, and prospects are very bright for their big Inter-Association Field Day in June.

In addition to the field privilege, the swimming pool is interesting many people, and should help to make the sweltering hot days of summer seem shorter and more enjoyable.

The men in charge of the campaign at Broadview would like very much to have the opportunity of showing a larger number of men and boys the facilities which they have for the making of better citizenship, and anyone interested should leave his name at the Y. M. C. A. building on Broadview avenue, and one of the membership committee would be delighted to make an appointment with him.

The Blue Label Baseball team of the Cigar Makers' Union, have organized for the season and will join the Don Valley Senior League, and Acting Manager J. Haslan has signed the following players: J. Jackson, Haine, Englers, G. Beatty, J. Milan, S. Paul, Mark McGuire, D. Clark. A meeting will be held Friday next at St. Paul's Hall, corner of Queen and Parliament streets, at 5 p.m. Any good senior players desiring a tryout kindly attend said meeting.

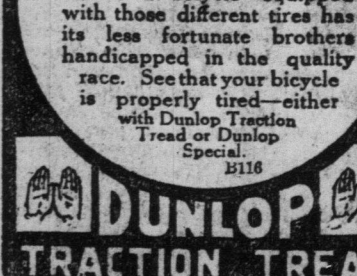

Luther McCarty, Tom McCarney's white heavyweight champion, who tried himself out by whipping Flynn, declares he will take on all comers now, and expects to be busy until July 4th with a short bout every two weeks. The Glorious Fourth will see him battling Jess Willard or Gunboat Smith at Los Angeles.

FAVORITES HAVE THEIR INNINGS

Trumps Wins Lassie Stakes and John Furlong Captures the Handicap at Havre de Grace.

HAVRE DE GRACE, April 23.—With cloudy weather and a fast track there was good sport here today. Favorites won the majority of the events, but there were enough backers of the others to make things interesting for the bookmakers. The Lassie Stakes was decidedly H. P. Whitney's from the start, the only question being whether Troxler on Trumps or Burns on Vega would flash first beneath the wire. John Furlong was considered by the talent the most likely mount in the handicap, but he was not by any means a sure thing. He won handsily, with Flying Yankee next in favor, in second place. The favorite, Moncrief, regarded as absolutely sure to win the first event of the day, had to give way to Miss Momenia, the Parkville entry, while Clem Beachy surprised even his most ardent admirers by winning over Henry Hutchinson in the second. The fifth and sixth were run as expected, going to odds-on favorites. Summary:

FIRST RACE—Three-year-olds and up, selling, 4 1/2 furlongs:
 1. Miss Momenia, 119 (Teehan), 7 to 1, 2 to 1 and 4 to 5.

Spring Time Is Cycle Time

Do you remember when spring time was marked by unbounded enthusiasm for the bicycle on the part of almost every young man and young woman in the country? Those were the days when the bicycle was a fad.

Perhaps you would be surprised to know that it is hailed just as heartily to-day by people who find in the bicycle its real use and its real pleasure. Last year was the biggest year bicycles ever knew in some countries. This year we find the bicycle is going to have the best year it has had in the last ten years.

Surely this recommends to you the possible use and pleasure that you might get from a good wheel. There is keen pleasure in wheeling through beautiful country, there is genuine health in the fresh air exercise provided by the bicycle which brings good digestion, strong nerves and a clear brain.

But you should be careful in your selection of the wheel. You should select a—because for years it has maintained an immense popularity based on sterling construction and unsurpassed merit. Some of the principles of construction that enter into the making of this wheel are famous in all parts of the world.

The power plant of the Cleveland wheel is a wonderful example of strength, reliability, simplicity of adjustment. It gives maximum speed with minimum effort.

AQUATIC MEN'S SPRING TRIALS

Oarsmen and Paddlers Training Hard—Senior Argos Down to Real Hard Work.

The aquatic weather has arrived, and the enthusiasts are taking full advantage of it every evening. From about five o'clock until dusk the whole bay front is littered with the watermen, and each in his own line of sport is sparing nothing to get into shape for the season. It is one of the greatest seasons in the history of aquatic sports in Canada. Last evening no less than a half-dozen fours, two eights and two or three singles were out, and they ripped things up in great style. The boys are turning out well, however, for so early in the season. Now the T.C.C. boys contemplate another successful season.

Several dinghies gave their canvas a preliminary stretching before starting the regular boating season, which will most likely begin on this coming Saturday or the week after, and, although the breeze was rather light, it was enough to keep the canvas taut. Most of the boats are sporting new coats of paint, while amateur crews are working hard on the different yacht clubs.

BASEBALL NOT A MINT SAYS PHILLIES' LEADER

Many Clubs, Both Major and Minor, Dropped Money Through Big Salaries.

NEW YORK, April 23.—"If a congressional investigating committee is appointed to look into the financial condition of baseball," declared W. H. Lusk, the new president of the Philadelphia National League club, "the interesting fact will be made public that fifty per cent. of the major league clubs and seventy-five per cent. of the minor league clubs lost money last season. This was due to the high salaries paid to the players and the heavy traveling expenses which were incurred with the big money spent in rebuilding ballparks.

The major leagues have contracted to pay nearly $2,000,000 in salaries this season. Under the provisions of the national agreement, the player must receive every dollar no matter how much the club may lose. Each club stands on its own bottom. The player must indicate ownership, and neither the National nor American League is incorporated.

"As for the so-called reserve rule, professional baseball would become chaotic if it were not for the fact that the larger clubs from the smaller and weaker clubs are able to buy up the best players before they get to the big clubs. It would not be long before New York and Chicago would control the best men in the market.

"I will venture to say that more than ninety per cent. of the major league players of today are well satisfied with existing conditions, and would oppose any attempt to revise the foundations of organized baseball. I hope the congress will turn on the searchlight, if only to show the city which organized baseball is unwarranted."

LONDON LIKES ITS TEAM

LONDON, April 23.—(Special.)—Manager Deneu of the London Baseball Club has no less than 100 ball players out at work for their initial spring training this afternoon. From the manner in which they showed up at the ball field it is evident that London has corralled a very formidable aggregation and already the local fans, who had gathered in large numbers to witness the manoeuvres can see a pennant for the London Falcons.

The players who have reported to date are: Pitchers Chaput, Hubbell, Mich; Fitzpatrick, Buffalo, N.Y.; Pureseddon, Toronto; Higgins, Moundville, W. Va.; and Talbot, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Catcher Lynn, Henrysburg, W. Va.; Infielders: Berbauer, Buffalo, N.Y.; Myers, Caldwell, O.; Marshall, Columbus, O.; Lyon and Gimbel of Cleveland; Fox, Buffalo, N.Y.; Outfielders: Chickenger, Columbus, O.; Dickson, Owen Sound, Ont.; Larragh, Yonkers, N.Y. More players are expected tonight and morning practice starts tomorrow.

TWENTY-TWO AT ST. THOMAS.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 23.—(Special.)—Third Baseman Wright, Catcher Kieft and Pitcher Green joined the club today. This makes a total of twenty-two players at the training camp, with Pitcher Zuebach and Clements yet to report. The players were put thru a fast work-out this afternoon, and are beginning to show form already. Pinetree Park is being rapidly put in playing shape, and Manager Ott hopes to be able to move the training quarters there in a few days. A number of exhibition games are booked for next week.

The Horse Show.

Exhibitors in the qualified hunting classes at the Horse Show next week at the armories are reminded that they must secure qualification from the Canadian Hunt Association before they will be allowed to exhibit.

Class 42, open to all jumpers, has the big entry list of 78, which is a record entry for any class at a Canadian Horse Show. This class last year had 52 entries.

Those old-time rivals, Crow & Murray and Yeager, have again made large entries, despite the fact that they have had many buyers during the past winter.

The reserve seat sale commences this morning at 95 East King street.

Sporting Notes.

Jim Flynn, who used to think that he was a white hope, must have lost all such impressions in his recent six-round go with Luther McCarty in Philadelphia. About all that Jim did was to show that he had remarkable ability to stand punishment. He made a good chopping block. His clinching ability indicated that he might well forego the light game and take a whiff at wrestling.

PHILLIES INCORPORATE

HARRISBURG, April 23.—(Special.)—The Philadelphia National League Club was incorporated yesterday at the state department, the charter providing for a capital stock of $30,000, divided into 600 shares of $50 each. The incorporators own 5 per cent. of the stock.

The incorporators and the number of shares each holds are as follows: Edward L. Scholl, Philadelphia, 20 shares; Samuel J. Ferguson, Philadelphia, 20 shares; Robert F. Irwin jr., Lansdowne, 10 shares. Mr. Irwin is treasurer.

GUELPH LEAFS COMPLETE.

GUELPH, Ont., April 23.—(Special.)—With the arrival of "King" Brady tonight, nearly every member of the Maple Leaf Baseball Club has reported to Manager Cook. The only exceptions are Fry, who has a sprained ankle, and will not be able to report until next week, and Joe Dunn, who will be here on May 1. From present appearances the Leafs this year will be a hard team to beat. Some excellent pitching material has shown up in Lefty Durbach, Anderson, McEwan and Tiese, and these, along with Schaeffer and Schuyler, should make a strong pitching staff. The weather for the past week has been ideal for practice, and the three exhibition games which are scheduled for next week with Abby Johnson's St. Catharines Niagara Leaguers should just about put the boys right on edge.

M'CONNELL DROVE IN THREE RUNS HEARNE WORKED LIKE A VETERAN

Skeeters Beaten When Recruit Pitcher Tightened Up in the Pinches — Amby's Homer Helped It Along — Leaf's Scored a Shut-Out.

JERSEY CITY, April 23.—(Special.)—The champions have at last hit their stride. Kelley and his Maple Leaf team from Toronto annexed another game from the Jersey City Skeeters at West Side Park today by the same score as on Tuesday, 4 runs to 0. This time it was Charley Hearne who handed the Pests a coat of whitewash.

Hearne pitched a brilliant game for the champions and only once did the recruited pitcher get into the home plate. He received the support of his team-mates, and allowed the Pests only seven hits, well scattered. Hearne displayed plenty of nerve in the seventh inning, when, with only one out and the bases full, he retired the next two Jersey City batters without any damage.

Kelley started the Skeeters' luck with a clean single. Barry was retired on a single to left and Kelly moved up to third base. Hearne then lost control of the game, but Kelly Knight received a pass, Tim Jordan and McConnell walked over to the pitcher and said a few encouraging words to him. They worked the magic for Hearne settled down and fanned Manager Larry Schlichty though he could break up the game and proceeded to bat for Mains, who started the game for the Skeeters in the box. Hearne made the filling the bases with an outpour and popped up behind the plate, Bemis grabbing the sphere.

The champions only secured five hits off Mains in the seventh inning, he occupied the box. Two of these were long drives for extra bases and resulted in the Toronto wins.

Holly Drove in the First One. Neither side scored in the first inning. Tim Jordan began the second chapter with a clean single to right. Bill Bradley laid down a pretty sacrifice bunt down to the third base line and Jordan advanced to the middle station. Holly brought the first baseman home with a long drive to right, which netted the shortstop two bases.

The Leafs settled the game in the fourth inning when they tallied two runs. Mains, Hub Northern began the bombardment by working the pitcher for a pass to

PEERLESS MATTY TURNED THE TRICK

More Report at Berlin.

BERLIN, Ont., April 23.—(Special.)—There will be no exhibition games played by Keenan's Berlin before the season opens, excepting with local talent. The decision to train at home finds much favor, as today's fine weather brought out an interesting crowd. The following players reported today: Ed. Ward, Utica; C. Morrison and W. Stroh, Syracuse; Karanauich, New York; Hammond and Rowley, Cortland, N.Y.; and Bradshaw, Chicago. Manager Keenan had a dozen men with him in the morning, but only a few were seen at the club. Bradshaw is in the best of health and is expected to play in the near future. Bradshaw is in the best of health and is expected to play in the near future.

PHILADELPHIA, April 23.—Ray Keating held the home team to three hits and won the game by 4 to 0. Keating is the first pitcher to twist a full nine innings game against Philadelphia this season. The locals did not get a man reached that station. Two of the hits in the home team were made in the infield in the first inning, and the other was a single to centre-field by Murphy in the eighth. EXPORT BUSINESS LIFTS UP PRICES

Reports of Big Sales Stir Up Bullish Sentiment at Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Export business gave a sharp uplift to wheat here today, closing prices showing a gain of from 7-8c to 1 1/2c. Corn finished unchanged to 3-4c lower, oats made a net drop of 1-3c to 1/2c, and provisions closed 1/2c to 1c off.

Messages from Duluth today confirmed reports put out yesterday of a sale of 79 boatloads of export wheat. Many traders who had sold earlier on news of much-needed rains in the southwest turned active buyers, and the market became very strong. News of the fall of Secular to the Montenegro also helped bullish sentiment, because of possible effect in complicating the European political situation. Later export reports told of additional sales of wheat today at Duluth, the amount being placed at 250, 000 bushels. Foreign strength was also a factor in the uplift here.

Big Foreign Demand.
A survey of the international situation showed that large foreign requirements of wheat would soon be in order. All these influences offset generally favorable domestic crop news, large increases in primary receipts and the fact that a fleet of wheat-laden boats got thru the Soo today. Strong northwest markets led support to prices here. Winnipeg being especially strong and Minneapolis and Duluth also showing up well. Primary receipts of wheat today were 454,000 bushels, against 243,000 last year.

Large increases in receipts, estimated for next week, depressed corn.
A little show of strength was made on the upturn in wheat, but it did not last. The oats market was dull and narrow.

Lowering of hog prices at the yards had a weakening effect on prices.
There was a good deal of selling pressure, especially on lard.
