ROOSEVELT GETS REMARKABLE WELCOME

Million People at New York Cheer Ex-President After His Long Absence From America — Demonstration Without a Parallel.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Mr. Roosevelt is home, the happiest man alive. His reception in the gateway of his country went straight to his heart. He laughed like a boy. He wept unashamed.

Nothing in all his career—he said it with clinched jaws and a bang of his fist—so affected him as the fervency of the greeting he got on land and water yesterday. New York just reached out, gripped him by the hand, elated him on the back and said, "Teddy, you're mighty welcome home!"

From his year and a quarter of hunting and sightseeing and speechmaking he returned with no politics to declare. Afloat and ashore standpatters and insurgents cheered his smile, plucked at his sleeve and prayed for a declaration. He laughed them aside. He was in no mood, he told them all, for political discussion. The future? Well—and then he was dancing away, fiercely, feverishly intent on missing nothing of the spectacle in his honor.

Theodore Roosevelt was no man's critic yesterday. His delight embraced them all. For the strenuous, the molly-coddles, the soft body and the hard face, the fall from the heights of the world's estimation, he had the same smile and every degree of citizen cheer with the same enthusiasm. He said once that he felt like reaching out and giving the whole United States a hug. There you have him all day long.

The Biggest Ever.
It is the simple truth that to American was ever so mightily acclaimed as ex-President Roosevelt yesterday. Says the Sun to-day, describing the stay in New York boundaries he got every mark of honor that time and his own comfort permitted.

Twenty-one guns and more than a million people lined the waterways and the streets and cheered him every foot of his way.

"One thing I want now is privacy," he said to the reporters. "I want to close up like a native. I'll go to New York on Monday to attend my boy's wedding, and I will go to the city on Wednesday to see to my editorial duties. I have you representatives of the press will not come up here to Sagamore Hill, because I have nothing to say."

No Politics.
Mr. Roosevelt was asked if he had any statement whatever to make concerning political or other matters in which the public might be interested. He said he had not. He said he had nothing to say to have anything of importance to say for some time. Lloyd C. Griscom stepped up to him and suggested that he state a statement.

"I'm going to make as few public statements as I can," said Mr. Roosevelt. "I may take advantage of my momentary notoriety to relieve my mind of certain non-contentious matters. I think I may be something like the man to whom it was said, 'All we want from you is silence, and blame little of that.'"

His welcome began when the Hamburg-American steamship Kaiserin Victoria boomed at 8 a.m. through the mists of Sand Hook and it ended so far as this city is concerned, only when he went to his train for Oyster Bay at 4:30 p.m.

When the pilot scrambled aboard, about the first person he caught sight of was the ex-president standing at the rail. He rushed toward Mr. Roosevelt with his hand outstretched and said:

"Mr. President, I'm mighty glad to be the first man to shake hands with you." The colonel wrung his hand and said he was very glad to greet any member of the Pilots' Association, a body of men that he admired for their skill and bravery.

There was a surprise.
Roosevelt had only a partial idea of the magnitude of the reception that was awaiting him. The details of the elaborate welcome had not reached him in London and he was unaware of what really was going to take place when he entered New York harbor. At 8 o'clock off Quarantine he was received by representatives of President Taft and Gov. Hughes, the cabinet and governors and legislators had private citizens of distinction.

New York bay, under a splendid sun, was dotted with ships of war and merchant vessels assembled to escort him up the North River and back to the Battery. The battleship South Carolina's guns were firing the salute that is reserved to honor the first citizen of the republic and five of the most powerful torpedo boat destroyers of the United States navy were ready to show him the way home.

He came up the bay on the revenue cutter Androssogga after greeting on board the cutter Manhattan his children who had remained in this country and a few intimate friends. The reception committee selected by Mayor Gaynor surrounded him on the Androssogga and shook hands with him. For nearly every man who passed him in the line he had a few words of easy

"I am more glad than I can say to get home; to be back in my own country, back among people I love. And I am ready and eager to do my part so far as I am able in helping solve problems which must be solved if we of this, the greatest democratic republic upon which the sun has ever shone, are to see its destinies rise to the high level of our hopes and its opportunities."

SUICIDE OVERPOWERS HIS WOULD-BE RESCUER

Leaps From Lower Steel Arch Bridge Into Niagara River—Prevented Twice, Then Succeeds.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., June 19.—(Special.)—Leaping from the lower steel arch bridge shortly before 1 o'clock this morning, Frank Quinn, a 25-year-old St. Catharines man, committed suicide. A score of people saw the man climb the rail of the bridge and take the fatal plunge into the river. A sharp lookout was kept on the wharf all day, but nothing was seen of the body.

With two companions Quinn was returning from a night spent over the river on his way home to St. Catharines. A short distance from the American end of the bridge he attempted to climb the railing, telling his companions that he was going to end his life. They managed to drag him back to the footpath and the three resumed their journey across the bridge.

Another attempt was made by Quinn to get over the railing when the party reached the middle of the bridge. He was again prevented carrying out his desire to end his life, and another start was made for the Canadian shore. One of his companions went ahead to summon the police, who arrived just after Quinn went to his death. It was when the two men were within several hundred feet of the Canadian shore that Quinn succeeded in throwing off the clutch of his companion and climbed over the rail. As the man with him rushed to the assistance of the man who was holding the bridge, Quinn pleaded to be allowed to end his life, declaring that he preferred death to a life of agony.

He dropped into the water, while George Patterson and Thomas McGraw of this city, who were returning to the station here, rushed to the assistance of the man who was holding the bridge. He pleaded to be allowed to end his life, declaring that he preferred death to a life of agony.

For about three years Quinn has suffered from an incurable disease, and for some days has been melancholy. Just before his leap to death he had been drinking. His father is an insurance man in St. Catharines.

It Drifted Away and Swimmer Lost His Life Trying to Get Ashore.

NORTH BAY, June 19.—(Special.)—Norval Mathie, nineteen years of age, junior in the Traders Bank here, drowned last evening while swimming down Lake Nipissing. Mathie, who was in a canoe, drifted away from the shore and was unable to return. He was last seen about 10 p.m. and his body has not been recovered.

VILLE PREUX, France, June 19.—The Granville express yesterday crashed into the rear of a local train standing at the station here. Both trains were wrecked and the wreckage caught fire. Nineteen were dead and thirty injured and fourteen bodies taken from the wreck. The wreckage caught fire after the accident, and one of the trains was entirely consumed.

CHICAGO LIMITED WRECKED.

NORWICH, N.Y., June 19.—A passenger train loaded with emigrants, en route to the west, running as the section of No. 5, the Chicago Limited, on the Ontario & Western Railway, was wrecked at Parker, a small station sixteen miles east of this village at 2:15 o'clock this morning. Three passengers were killed and twenty-five injured.

The Summer Vest is the Thing.

Many a man like the two-piece suit, but do not care to wear it without a vest. This is where the white or light fancy vest finds its place. At Oak Hall's big new store at the corner of Yonge and Adelaide streets, summer vests are shown in linen, white fancy silk and wool, pure silk and fancy weaves. Many of these patterns are quite exclusive and cannot be duplicated. Prices range from $1 to $5.50. There is a wide variety to choose from, in sizes to suit all kinds of men. When down to-day drop in and look them over.

HONOR VETERANS FOR PRESENT GLORIES

Col. Sir Henry Pellatt's Tribute to the Used-to-be Riflemen—Stirring Address of Chaplain Llwyd at Impressive Open Air Service.

The Queen's Own Regiment.

Saturday.
Ten thousand attended garden party at exhibition grounds.
Two thousand at "smoker" in the evening.

Sunday.
Two thousand ex-members join regiment at divine service.

To-day.
Unveiling Ridgeway memorial window, university, 3:30.
First production of historical pageants at exhibition grounds—a brilliant spectacle with 1200 performers, 8.

Something unique in military records is the celebration of the Jubilee of the Second Regiment, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, long spoken of as Toronto's "crack corps." That 2000 "old boys" wearers of the rifle sash should be mustered together, headed by a band of former members, is a record to be proud of; when the number includes many who have risen to high rank in other regiments, it is all the more a matter for glory. Pity it was that Brigadier-General Ochterlony, a Canadian soldier, who commanded the Queen's Own in the old days, could not have been present for yesterday's church parade.

Saturday's garden party at the exhibition grounds was a most auspicious beginning for the week's program, while the smoking concert at the armories in the evening provided amusement for a big crowd and afforded opportunity for a testimonial presentation to Col. Sir Henry Pellatt from officers in the regiment formerly connected with the Queen's Own. "It is to the veteran members of the last 50 years, who built up and made the regiment what it is to-day, that we owe the reputation of the Queen's Own," said Col. Pellatt, in responding. "We are proud of maintaining the records you have made."

An impressively service. The scene and service Sunday will doubtless live long in the memories of the army of nearly 8000 for whom it was especially designed, and almost equally so in those of the several thousand citizens, their wives and families, who surrounded the enclosure, and who, in their summer attire, enhanced to no slight degree the striking effect of the military display.

Large as the public assemblage was, it would undoubtedly have been much stronger numerically but for the extreme sultriness. The sun's rays streaming down upon the scene, the glare of the campus and shining through the foliage of the trees would have delighted the soul of an artist, but unfortunately they were responsible for a measure of physical discomfort which made the service, brief and admirably conducted, too it was, somewhat trying, especially to the occupants of the chairs at the north end of the enclosure beyond the friendly zone of the sheltering trees. However, the parades of the ladies proved valuable aids. The long march in the hot sun was also very trying on a number of the "boys of the old brigade," and there were not a few grey-headed men who yesterday renewed the days of their youth when they were as smart in soldier togs as any of them.

The spot was one admirably chosen from the standpoint of sheer picturesque. On the north were the cool stone walls of the exhibition grounds and on the south the Ontario bulk of the convocation hall, while on the east stood buildings of the university group with a fringe of trees shading the roadway which formed the western boundary. Hardly a cloud flecked the sky, and leafy June was at its leafiest.

The vanguard of the parade came in view on the southeast at about 3:30 p.m. Its progress heralded by the strains of the "United Empire" march, played by the band composed of ex-members of the famous rifle regiment. The musicians were muffled clad, as were the ex-members who followed, marching in fours up the east side of the lawn.

There were to be seen in the ranks men who had served in the regiment years their junior, but who could also claim post-graduate honors in the crack corps. Some wore silk hats and coats of Prince Albert design, others looked more comfortable in Panamas and negligee vests. All exhibited in their demeanor pride in the old regiment. In their march movements they were the stirring times of '64, '70 and '80 and a distinguished group of military men, variously uniformed, who at one time or another were members of the Q.O.R.

Behind came the brass and bugle bands of the Queen's Own and the companies of the regiment in their dark, rifle green uniforms. They formed up before the pulpit, a table surmounted with drums, round which were grouped the cassocked and surpliced choir of St. James' Cathedral under Dr. Albert Ham.

The band struck up the opening bars of the militant hymn "Onward Christ." Continued on Page 10, Column 2.

CONFERENCE MAY END CRISIS AFTER ALL

Nation Weary of the Present Muddle, and Will Support His Majesty in an Effort to Find a Solution to the Vexed Problems.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The Tribune's London correspondent cables: The conference regarding the veto is accepted without enthusiasm as a political necessity for each side. Neither Premier Asquith nor Mr. J. Balfour can run counter to the King's wishes without incurring odium for disloyalty. Each is forced to face misgivings among his followers. Mr. Asquith's Radical adherents are secretly rebellious, but there is no sign of a premeditated revolt. David Lloyd-George and Winston Churchill are with him, and the Radical journals, which ordinarily receive their cues from them, are sullen but not openly hostile to Mr. Asquith, as they were at the beginning of the session.

The Morning Post also affects to be watching Mr. Balfour with profound misgiving, but its disquiet is not serious when the ardent tariff reformers have consulted Mr. Chamberlain and are convinced that the constitutional question must be disposed of before fiscal revision can be undertaken. The Nationalists in John Reed's group are strenuous opposers to peace and carry the Labor members and the unconditional Radicals with them.

Otherwise the advantages and disadvantages of a settlement are fairly equalized between the main parties, and this is a good augury for the success of the negotiations when the public conscience, a Republican party that has long outlasted its usefulness—these and many more things are all mixed up in the feelings and in the minds of the Ninety millions of people who are to-day thrilled by the return to America of a president who only quit office fifteen months ago, and who for some reason or other makes these ninety millions think that if some One Man cannot start the era of reform, then some kind of social revolution must do it!

Canada is only a few steps behind in the same situation. Does Sir Wilfrid Laurier know where he is going? Do the rich men in Toronto who regard the efforts of some of our men and leaders to arrest public rights, to teach and preach public ownership of great public utilities, as the efforts of demagogues and socialists, have they no ken of what they are doing, and how nearly related are their conduct and their ideas to the chaotic conditions that prevail in the states? Does Byron E. Walker, for instance, think when he deplores the efforts of the legislature of Ontario and the people, the cities and towns of Ontario to distribute electric energy, generated at the great Niagara Falls—God's gift to us all—at cost price—that he is not in the same boat with the Morgans, the sugar trust officials, who are guilty of crimes unparalleled in the history of crime? Mr. Walker and his friends, Colonel Pellatt, Senator Robert Jaffray, had better revise their compass, their ideas, and see if they are not trying to lead us whither the American people have landed, those ninety millions of people who identify Roosevelt as a Deliverer. Lincoln was a saviour but for a time; a saviour is still more needed now!

Are human rights of less importance than the rights of property. Are enormous property concentrated in a few? That's the question. Are the people less than Privilege, the Privileges of Property? Is Sir Wilfrid Laurier the mouthpiece of Privilege in Canada?

It is already intimated that the coronation will be attended by the colonial premiers, and that an important imperial conference will be held immediately afterward. Preferential tariffs will be debated if the Unionists are in power, and a larger measure of diplomatic representation for the colonies in London will be proposed if the Liberals are still in office.

RAIDED THE TRIBUNE

Employees Were Engaged in Poker Game When Police Interfered.

WINNIPEG, June 19.—A successful police raid was made last evening by Inspector Robertson when he entered The Tribune building and raided a room in which he discovered several employees of the paper playing poker.

"You had better cash in," said the inspector, and the players then handed their chips to a man named Orrie, and he paid their equivalent, establishing the case for the police. It is understood that they will all plead guilty.

Human Rights Against Property Rights

It is a little over three hundred years back to the times of Great Elizabeth, to Shakespeare, to Cecil. There are people here in America who, six handshakes or six curtsies back, are in touch with those spacious times! Not a great distance, not much of time, as history goes. The late Goldwin Smith must have seen men or women who had seen Prince Charlie, and these had seen men who had been with Cromwell, and these times with the Reformation mark the dawn of English freedom and the English system of government. The history of the Queen's Own Regiment is one-sixth of all that time!

That period has seen the settlement of America, of the French colonies, of the Spanish approach to America by the Gulf of Mexico, up the valley of the Mississippi and up the Pacific Coast, and finally the spreading of English ideas of government in America, of social conditions, modified to the new world, spread over the whole of this great continent.

A hundred and odd millions now speak that English tongue, are experimenting—only experimenting—in forms of government based on the models of the mother country! The history of the past one hundred and fifty years in government in America are the most pregnant for us, probably for humanity, in the history of the world.

And where have we landed? Not on any very definite standing ground. It is still an experiment. For the United States, for us, we are somewhat at sea. Strange things have happened: the democracy, the simplicity, the equality in political power, the equality in social standing, has required a wrench, a wrench in the United States, has received a wrench, only last pronounced, in Canada.

Political power, wealth, social superiority, have been, are being concentrated in a few. Many millions of people, it is true, are better off, have more of the world's goods, more of the comforts of life; but above them are the few, are the concentrations of unprecedented political power, of wealth, of influence, the hands of individuals or of interests—of that new and terrible giant of this century which puts the control of much of the accumulated wealth, of power, of political influence, in the hands of a soulless board of managers, of a single dictator. There is no Elizabeth, there is no Cecil, there is no Cromwell; there is a Morgan, there is a Sugar Trust, there is a Railway Merger, a Banking Merger, a Wall Street, and the minor stock exchanges that are its satellites; there is no superlative poet or dramatist, but there is a press that has passed into the hands of the super-wealthy, the trusts, the interests. And what follows?

The American Republic that was supposed to be the home of a new and a better and greater democracy than the world had ever seen, is questioning it all, is doubtful of the present, still more doubtful of the future, is beginning to think that Bryan was more than half right and that Roosevelt is to be the Deliverer, because he is to smash the conditions that are, that he is to be the marking of a new departure, of a new heaven, at least of a new earth, of new equality, of a better distribution of wealth, of a dispersion of the awful conditions that prevail among ten millions of submerged humanity in the American cities, not to mention the ten millions of the colored race that are in a worse bondage, and of a more hopeless outlook than ever known to the past!

Roosevelt, the insurgent movement, the Bryan policies, the uprising against Cannon, against Aldrich, against a people's chamber that has lost its influence, a senate that has become an oligarchy of wealth, of trusts, of interests, a press that does not lead, that chloroforms the public conscience, a Republican party that has long outlasted its usefulness—these and many more things are all mixed up in the feelings and in the minds of the Ninety millions of people who are to-day thrilled by the return to America of a president who only quit office fifteen months ago, and who for some reason or other makes these ninety millions think that if some One Man cannot start the era of reform, then some kind of social revolution must do it!

Canada is only a few steps behind in the same situation. Does Sir Wilfrid Laurier know where he is going? Do the rich men in Toronto who regard the efforts of some of our men and leaders to arrest public rights, to teach and preach public ownership of great public utilities, as the efforts of demagogues and socialists, have they no ken of what they are doing, and how nearly related are their conduct and their ideas to the chaotic conditions that prevail in the states? Does Byron E. Walker, for instance, think when he deplores the efforts of the legislature of Ontario and the people, the cities and towns of Ontario to distribute electric energy, generated at the great Niagara Falls—God's gift to us all—at cost price—that he is not in the same boat with the Morgans, the sugar trust officials, who are guilty of crimes unparalleled in the history of crime? RAILWAYS WILL BUILD

DECLARES A. B. INGRAM

City Also Isn't Looking For Trouble, But Perhaps Expects It—Company's Officials Mum.

"I don't think the railway will appeal, but will accept the order all right and will proceed to construct the line."

This is the view taken by A. B. Ingram, vice-chairman of the Ontario Railway Board, regarding the outcome of the order issued by him on Saturday, on the authority of the board, ordering the company to start forthwith in the building of the line prescribed by the board on May 18 last.

Mayor Geary and the board of control assume, like Mr. Ingram, that the company will accept the order; that is, the city does not intend to go out of its way to look for trouble. The railway board and the city have done all that they need to do, and now simply await the company's compliance. If the railway decides to appeal later, that can't be helped, but the civic authorities are hoping their best that there will be no such unpleasantness. But what will the company do? There is no sign as yet. Manager Fleming said last night, "I haven't seen the order yet. I have nothing to say. Everything is in abeyance" and H. S. Oster, the company's solicitor, declared, "I have nothing to say about that matter. I can't talk about it at all."

LEVEL CROSSING CLAIMS THREE VICTIMS

Carriage Struck by Wabash Train Near Aylmer, Ont.—Man Killed Was Brother of Principal of Whitby Ladies' College—Thrown 50 Feet.

AYLMER, Ont., June 19.—Another fatal level crossing accident occurred to-day shortly after 1 o'clock, when a carriage containing Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hare, well-known farmers, living four miles from here, and Miss Scott, sister of Mrs. Hare, was struck by the second section of Wabash express No. 3 about ten miles from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hare were instantly killed, being thrown with terrific force over 50 feet. Miss Scott was terribly injured, and lived only about half an hour.

The train was in charge of Engineer Sanderson, one of the most careful and experienced employees of the Wabash Railway at St. Thomas. Sanderson stated after the accident that he had given the customary whistle signals, but the carriage had driven on to the tracks directly in front of the swift-moving train. An inquest will be held.

Mr. Hare was a brother of Dr. Hare, principal of the Ontario Ladies' College at Whitby. Miss Scott was a sister of Dr. Scott of Ottawa, and was on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Hare, at the time of the accident. Mr. Hare was 72 years of age, his wife was 66, and Miss Scott 60.

PAISED TORONTO CORPS

Gen. French Mistook Engineers for Regulars on Account of Smartness.

PETAWAWA, June 19.—(Special.)—Gen. Sir John French, K.C., M.G., and Major-Gen. Sir Perry Lascelles, inspected the troops at Petawawa camp just before church parade to-day. The men presented a fine appearance and made a good showing of Canadian engineering from Toronto. Gen. French mistook the company for regulars, on account of their smartness, neatness and steadiness on parade.

Gen. French will see the men carrying on the work of the camp to-morrow, which is more to his liking than ceremonial parades. Petawawa Toronto Battery and Engineers will likely leave for home the end of this week. They are the smartest corps in camp.

Gen. French will inspect a suspension bridge and various other works constructed by the Toronto Engineers. Major Carrey, the camp engineering instructor, has been in the line of excellence in this line in India, praised all this work and thought the bridge was the simplest, safest and quickest constructed of any he had ever seen.

WHERE WAS UNCLE NICHOLAS?

The representative of the Six Nations Indians from the Grand River Reserve who were in the city on Saturday and Sunday were looking for their old friend Nicholas Garland, but Nicholas was not in evidence, as far as The World knows. The Grand River man who is also an eminent citizen of Toronto and is still with us, Mr. Samuel May, should also have been out to smoke the pipe of peace with them in the exhibition grounds.

Another Torontonian, but of much less significance, but one who is in his boyhood knew these Indians, or rather their parents when the squaws were plus hair, breadcloth pants, moccasins and broadcloth blankets, met them in Eaton's grill room on Saturday night. He felt like giving the war whoop and suggesting a war dance on the sixth floor, but the political proportion persuaded him otherwise. But the member for South York nevertheless greeted them with the word of peace and said that the latching string to his lodge on Richmond-street would operate the door thereto at the slightest touch. They accorded.

WARM YESTERDAY.

Did you feel warm yesterday? It was really a real hot day, and the man with the straw hat and the light weight suit had it on the other fellow.

We fancy, however, that most every one was prepared, as far as the hat question was concerned. Dinsen Company reports that it broke all records in straw hat selling on Saturday. The stock, however, does not show any serious inroads, so if you have not purchased yet, drop in at Dinsen's to-day or this evening, for the store is open until 10 o'clock every night, splendid lines in Panamas and in English and American straw.

Scarfs and Ruchings

Paris, France, June 10.—No part of a woman's attire lends more elegance to the silhouette showing the personal grace of the wearer than the supple scarf, draped with art, following every motion of the figure. At all periods feminine coquetry has been aware of this fact, and when the Directory and First Empire revived the fashions of antiquity, no one knew better than Empress Josephine the manner of using the wonderful Oriental shawls brought back from Egypt by Bonaparte. She often wore them as scarfs, just as we do at present, in the evening; later they appeared larger, becoming real garments, costly marvels also, and their vogue reached its climax under the patronage of the most beautiful of our Sovereigns, Empress Eugénie. Her stately grace endowed them with a peculiar charm, and wrapping one's self became such an art that novelists of the time spoke of the question in their books. "A well-bred woman," says Balzac, the famous French author and psychologist, "has a way of her own to drape her shawl."

As in all things of this world, fashion brings a revival of the past, and scarfs to-day are growing so large that they recall these ancient shawls, without, however, adopting their complicated designs. By a remarkable fancy the taste for cashmere disappears when increases the favor for scarfs, and the soft draperies worn by our stylish women display for the greater part plain materials. A noticeable preference is marked for those fashioned in very supple black satin, lined in white or fancy color, bearing at each end large, heavy motifs of passementerie or bows of ribbon. In fact, these are all the rage; every woman, if she desires stylishness, absolutely must have one of these novelties. The scarf is placed at present in the following manner: Covering one shoulder, it follows the figure in the back, passes under the right arm, and is thrown over the left side, leaving only a single flap hanging in front. Occasionally a passementerie motif is set on the shoulder. They are more lithe and vaporous for lingerie gowns, but many will keep them dark in black tulle or mousseline de soie, or arranged of both materials, showing in transparency the embroideries of the frock, or else of Chantilly lined with white or pink mousseline de soie. Of linen, adorned with laces, matching those of the dress, they will look also very harmonious and original. Some fanciful models are seen of tulle, with large flossy flowers embroidered "au passe," and in etamine worked with variegated silks, beads even, forming rare beautiful designs in Russian or Byzantine styles. A white muslin scarf, entirely embroidered, with pearls of same hue, looked very attractive and novel.

In Midsummer, for driving, the stole will be replaced by "Pierrot ruches," which many good houses are preparing in pretty patterns of very filmy material mixed with large silk or crepe flowers, veiled by the tissue. One of these, in white tulle, displaying large, fully-blown roses, framed beautifully the lovely countenance of the wearer.

In the evening, besides Ninon veil, point applique and Bruges, we note gold and silver mesh, enhanced with metallic embroidery, and one of our most elegant society women wore lately, at the Opera, a black net scarf, dotted with rhinestones, producing a rare and sumptuous impression.

Brides' Lingerie Dresses Portraying Simple Elegance and Loveliness

These dainty dresses were never more popular than they are this season, hundreds of them playing important roles in wedding festivities.

Some of this season's most fashionable brides have chosen as "that all-important gown" these simple yet beautiful fine lingerie dresses. Bridesmaids and attendants have looked their fairest in charming frocks of the same style, and for the hot weather dress no prettier could be conceived. Standing by our reputation as "the bride's store," we have attended to her interests by preparing a special lot of dresses that, without a doubt, are the prettiest in every way that we've ever had for anything like the price.

We illustrate our special $20.00 gown; made in accordance with our own specifications; notice the beautifully defined waist line, the splendid fit of the shirt sleeves, the fashionable combination trimming (one of the newest features of imported gowns), showing row after row of German Val panels of lovely Swiss embroidery and flounces and rows of eyelet embroidery, and set into this soft mull dress in the most effective manner; if you'd secure one of the daintiest dresses of the season don't miss these; quantity limited; all sizes, from 32 to 42. Very special $20.00

Another handsome dress, deserving of special mention, is of all-over eyelet embroidery, not the ordinary kind that at once suggests itself to you, but a pattern decidedly distinctive in design; various widths are used for trimmings, the flounce being of wide embroidery; finished with rows of imitation bebe Irish insertion and German Val, giving the most charming effects; the waist is a combination of same, finished with low, square neck and short sleeves. All sizes $18.50

At $10.00—We've a dress that's nothing short of a marvel for the money; every seam and line seems curved to make the wearer appear to her best advantage; it's made of a beautiful quality of fine lawn, with profusion of lace and embroidery trimmed insertion in the most artistic fashions; the sleeves are long and fit the arm perfectly; finished with insertion; it's a dress that looks worth twice the money; all sizes. Special $10.00

The Ribbon Event a Hummer

The second of the three days of rare value-giving in rich and new fancy ribbons only the more strongly emphasizes the fact that all that goes to make up a "rousing success" is contained in liberal proportions in this bumper event.

The goods are amongst the best of their kind and come direct from famous Swiss and French looms; the patterns are fashion-favored, the color blendings perfect and of a high order. Through our readiness to unload overstocked manufacturers with quick cash offers you have the privilege of paying A THIRD LESS—A HALF LESS—than usual prices.

With these facts in mind it is difficult to understand how any woman with the ready money to fill future ribbon needs now would miss so profitable an opportunity. More favorable buying in desirable ribbons has not come under our observation this six months.

This attraction is now added to the first consignment:

At 29c per yard—An elegant taffeta ribbon, that would ordinarily command twice the price; it is 6 inches in width, and with some of the handsomest color combinations in the most elaborate patterns; rich verdure designs, shadow effects, dainty apple blossom patterns; some of these gorgeous arrangements have never before been attempted in ribbons; colors are sky, navy, wine, rose, pink, Nile, Tuscan, moss, myrtle, Alice; 6 inches wide; this is one of the most noteworthy values of the special selling, three-day clearance. Price, per yard 29c

Clearing a Special Purchase of Ostrich Plumes Tuesday

There are instances when the maker finds it imperative to dispose of his stock without reckoning cost or profits; this was one. Tuesday we offer the best feather value of many a day—feathers for the dress hat, the bridal hat, etc. It's undoubtedly the season of feathers, they're in evidence everywhere; for grace, beauty and elegance, nothing compares with them in the trimming line; season after season they can be used. Buy for your Summer needs, yes, and Winter, too, for such an event is not likely to be equaled again this season.

Just 600 in the lot; all are of beautiful quality, with long fibre and well curled; they come in a rich, glossy black and delicate ivory, different sizes; 18 inches long, $4.00; 20 inches long, $5.00; 21½ inches long $6.00

A System That Does Away With Paying Drivers at Your Door.

The "C.O.D." parcel is a convenience only as it serves to accommodate you in your phone orders, or as it occasionally comes to your aid when you would make a purchase and haven't the money with you.

But there is a system of "shopping without money" that combines all these possible benefits, and makes the "C.O.D." method appear very incomplete beside it. This is—

The Customers' Deposit Account

Works Out This Way—You deposit a sum of money at our "D. A." office, in Basement, thus opening an "account" with us; you then phone in your order to the City Order Department (or send it by mail, or shop in person), and advise us to charge that purchase to your "D. A." account; the money you have on deposit with us.

The Advantages Are, Briefly—No necessity to carry money while shopping, no paying drivers at door for phone orders and C.O.D. parcels.

A monthly statement sent you, showing in detail your purchases, deposits, withdrawals and balance at your credit. We allow interest on your daily credit balances.

Try the "D. A." system of shopping and phone in your orders. For further information call at Customers' Deposit Account Department, Basement, Centre Stairway.

BOTH BODIES RECOVERED

INQUEST OPENS TO-NIGHT

Chief Coroner Will Enquire Into Circumstances of Friday Night's Double Tragedy.

Both victims of Friday night's drowning catastrophes were recovered yesterday afternoon. Matt Aykroyd found the body of Miss Emma Carlaw at 2:35 p.m., and before the police patrol wagon which conveyed the remains to the morgue had returned to the stable the tug National of the city waterworks department recovered the remains of Mrs. Mabel Melrick. They were located within 50 feet of each other in 22 feet of water, and about 400 yards from the shore. The bodies had been seen to place the position of the tragedy.

Chief Coroner Arthur Jukes Johnson will open and conclude an inquest at the morgue to-night, after which the bodies will be returned to McCabe's undertaking rooms. Mrs. Melrick was in her 26th year, and Emma Carlaw was 21. Interment will take place to-morrow at Arthur, where the pastor of Horncliffe Mills Presbyterian Church will officiate. Mrs. William Dineen and Mrs. Charles Tompkins, 538 West Richmond street, are sisters.

WORLD'S EXCURSION ASSURED SUCCESS

Low Rate Trip to New York Arouses Much Public Interest.

There are a large number of people who have determined to go to New York this summer. That many of them will take advantage of The World's excursion is proved by the enquiries received at The World office. There are many reasons for the popularity of The World's trip. The rate is very low, the Lehigh Valley is the road used, and the excursion will be run at a time of the year when New York is at its loveliest. Besides these things, there is the fact that special rates have been arranged for World excursionists at two high-class hotels, the Bristol and the Arlington.

There will be no overcrowding on the trip, and the fact that the excursionists are to be given the Lehigh Valley is a sufficient assurance of their comfort and safety.

Tickets are good leaving Toronto on June 23, and leaving New York on and up to July 2. The round trip by rail will cost $14.25, and round trip partially by boat $12.50. This will be the last chance of a low rate. New York will be the latter part of August.

Further information may be obtained from the display and in another column, or The World office, where tickets are on sale.

NEW YORK CITY SWEEP BY A TERRIFIC STORM

Twelve Persons Are Known to Be Dead—Wind Attained Velocity of 58 Miles—Panic at Circus.

NEW YORK, June 19.—On the heels of the reception to Theodore Roosevelt to-day came the deluge. Two hours after the parade that escorted him up Fifth-avenue had disbanded, the whole metropolitan district was swept by the most violent downpour in months. In 20 minutes 3.50 of an inch of rain fell, while the wind at times attained a velocity of 58 miles an hour.

It caused the deaths of 12 people, injured many others, tied up traffic all over the city and threatened the lives of many people on the water for a day's excursion. It demolished numberless gas poles, church steeples and weak buildings, and thoroughly washed out the land.

In Brooklyn, Frank Ross was killed by a uprooted tree. In Flushing, L. J. Judas, 18 years old, was killed by lightning. The engineer of a Long Island railway was buried under a smokestack which lighting toppled over. He was killed.

An 11-year-old boy in Brooklyn was fatally hurt by a falling plate-glass and died to-night.

Nearly 6000 people were employed and employees of the Forepaugh & Seils Bros. Circus prevented a panic in the tents spread on Manhattan Field. Under the first blasts of the wind the big tent began ballooning and tugging at the guy ropes. Spectators began to rise in their seats, but the performers continued their acts and circus hands hurried thru the throng, warning all to remain seated.

Cottages and Hotels Struck.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 18.—Eleven cottages and hotels were struck by lightning during a terrific storm this evening. No one was hurt, and none of the places struck was set on fire or seriously damaged.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 18.—Fred Livsey, a New Haven brakeman, while working on a freight train near Worcester to-day, was struck by lightning, and fell from his train. His neck was broken and he died instantly.

Orville L. Ford, a clerk in the freight office of the New Haven Railroad, was completely paralyzed by a bolt of lightning which entered his office. He is not expected to live. A dozen houses in the city were struck by lightning.

FARMER KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

WINDTHORP, Sask., June 19.—John Fee, who lives in the Graystone District, was instantly killed by lightning while breaking prairie ground Saturday morning. He recently came from Ontario, where he leaves a wife and two children.

A number of fine-looking grain fields were destroyed by the same storm.

ROOSEVELT GETS RE-MARKABLE WELCOME

greeting. He was like a man on springs. He joked. He went back over the years and recalled this and that adventure. Now and then he went over his shoulder and saw the crowd of people who were following him. He was "I'm so glad!" "By George, this is good!" "Oh, oh, this is fine!" along the way for the miles of water.

Years in His Eyes Once.

He swept New York with an eager eye, standing alone on the bridge of the Androscoquin. The place, crowded and noisy, gave him a greeting and he swung his silk hat to Jersey and Manhattan. The deep and vibrant whistles greeted him and he laughed and waved his hand at the crowding steamboats. Not until the cutter had wheeled around opposite Fourteenth street and started back toward the Battery did he descend from this bridge.

Just before the Androscoquin wheeled around Roosevelt left the bridge and made his way down the ladder to the upper deck. The tears were rolling down his cheeks and his lips were pressed tightly together. The hail of which had been playing "Swanee River," had softly begun "Home, Sweet Home." He disappeared for a few minutes within the captain's cabin and when he came out again he was smiling and briskly intent on getting ashore.

The fervency of his welcome grew as he approached the land. When he touched foot on Manhattan Island at 10:55 a.m. there were 100,000 people around Battery Park to roar a welcome to the greatest man of the day.

Mayor Gaynor greeted him with the briefest of speeches and Col. Roosevelt, with almost equal brevity, assured the mayor and his fellow citizens that he was glad to be home and that no man could get such a reception without being made to feel very proud and satisfied.

And presently he was on his way up Broadway thru crowds that filled that canon. With the Rough Riders ahead of him, and the Rough Riders in the rear, he moved on. The citizens in carriages behind him, he moved with Mayor Gaynor and Cornelius Vanderbilt, and there was a shouting and cheering and a solid yell that veiled with him. The bandmen might have ceased from tooting, for none heard their toots as the colonel passed. The shouting and cheering was heard cheering from five miles of people.

As He Saw the Crowds.

As Mr. Roosevelt, rolled by Wall street, he saw the crowds of many flags down toward the subway and it may be that he smiled. It was said yesterday that a meeting committee had said jestingly that Wall street would be decorated with crepe. It was also said that the joke was not made, but that the colonel laughed over it very heartily. As he passed on and up the people cheered him from the windows and the balconies, and there was a shouting and cheering and a solid yell that veiled with him. The bandmen might have ceased from tooting, for none heard their toots as the colonel passed. The shouting and cheering was heard cheering from five miles of people.

On a ledge at the front of 301 Broadway the colonel saw something that pleased him. He pointed it out to Mr. Vanderbilt. A stuffed lion and a bear were placed there to each other, and the lion appeared to be backing away.

Rough Riders' Gun on View.

Canal street, which the colonel crossed at noon, gave him an especially loud cheer which ran for a full hour. The colonel was in a good way. The shop windows from now on interested him immensely. Many of them displayed his picture in colored or black and white. There were many placards of friendly or merry inscriptions which seemed to tickle him. Passing 501 Broadway, an army and navy outfitting concern looked up with exclamation of delight. A long, lean, wicked looking gun was protruding from an upper window. He did not need to look at the inscription under the big rifle to know what it was.

"Why, that's the Rough Riders' dynamite gun," said Col. Roosevelt. "I'm glad to see that old fellow again."

An enormous Teddy bear with a placard swung around its neck caught his eye. He looked at it for a moment and then he said: "That's a good one. I'm glad to see that old fellow again."

The placard had something to say about "Our Next President." Mr. Roosevelt smiled at the Teddy bear no doubt. He was in a good way. The shop windows from now on interested him immensely. Many of them displayed his picture in colored or black and white. There were many placards of friendly or merry inscriptions which seemed to tickle him. Passing 501 Broadway, an army and navy outfitting concern looked up with exclamation of delight. A long, lean, wicked looking gun was protruding from an upper window. He did not need to look at the inscription under the big rifle to know what it was.

Two Thousand War Veterans.

Then came another placard of the kind that Jonathan Bourne used to like: "We want you in 1912. Welcome Home, Teddy." There was hardly a shop from Canal street to Fourth street where there wasn't a picture of the colonel. The colonel was in a good way. The shop windows from now on interested him immensely. Many of them displayed his picture in colored or black and white. There were many placards of friendly or merry inscriptions which seemed to tickle him. Passing 501 Broadway, an army and navy outfitting concern looked up with exclamation of delight. A long, lean, wicked looking gun was protruding from an upper window. He did not need to look at the inscription under the big rifle to know what it was.

Shook Hands With Rough Riders.

The final scene of his welcome was as dramatic as any lover of sensations may hope for. The Rough Riders were drawn up facing down Fifth-avenue and the first thing he did was to stride from horse to horse and shake hands with every rider of them. The Spanish War veterans of the whole country presented to him an album of complimentary resolutions. In acceptance of which Mr. Roosevelt spoke a dozen earnest words. It was all over in a whiff at 1:35 p.m. he was speeding down Fifth-avenue in a motor car on his way to lunch at 433 Fifth-avenue.

The home of Mrs. H. A. Alexander, the mother of his son Theodore's fiancée, was the last place he visited. He was in a good way. The shop windows from now on interested him immensely. Many of them displayed his picture in colored or black and white. There were many placards of friendly or merry inscriptions which seemed to tickle him. Passing 501 Broadway, an army and navy outfitting concern looked up with exclamation of delight. A long, lean, wicked looking gun was protruding from an upper window. He did not need to look at the inscription under the big rifle to know what it was.

RESTRICTIONS ON EMIGRATION UNFAIR

Canadian Manufacturers' Association Protest to Government That Money Qualification as Worked is Discriminatory.

The following resolution was forwarded to Ottawa from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association Saturday: "Whereas it is obviously desirable in the interest of the individual as well as of the country as a whole, that Canada should encourage the maximum development of all her resources and all her industries, whether agricultural, lumbering, mining, fishing or manufacturing;

And whereas one of the first essentials to such development is an adequate supply of competent labor; And whereas the present immigration policy of the Dominion Government, while designed to care for the growing needs of the agricultural community, retards the progress of those engaged in other pursuits, by making it difficult for them to secure the skilled help of which they stand in need;

And whereas it is recognized that this unhappy result comes about, not from any wish on the part of the government to hamper the growth of legitimate industries, but rather from a laudable desire to maintain the quality of our immigration at a high standard;

Therefore be it resolved, that the executive council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association place itself on record as of the opinion: 1. That the design of the government to exclude undesirable immigration is to be commended, and that the present regulations, in so far as they contribute to that end, are deserving of hearty support;

2. That inasmuch as it has been customary to waive the money qualification in the case of farm laborers, and domestic servants who are going to steady employment, thereby establishing the principle that ability and certainty of self-support are sufficient to warrant free entry, a similar waiver should be granted in the case of mechanics and others who bring with them definite assurance of steady employment from reputable firms;

3. That without such waiver the regulations are doubly discriminatory, in that they favor one class of Canadian employers above another, which is unfair to ourselves, and one class of British workmen above another, which is unfair to the mother country;

The Dominion of Canada will undertake to admit to Canada any and all living along the western slopes of the Rockies, from the boundary to Yellowhead Pass and beyond. This vast territory is to be reserved from settlement or occupation, and is to be administered with a view to the proper utilization and reproduction of the forests, the protection of the water supply of the prairie provinces—in short, for the benefit of posterity.

VICTIMS OF THE HERALD HORROR BORNE TO TOMB

Thousands Lined the Streets—Only Four Bodies Now Unaccounted For.

MONTREAL, June 18.—The funerals of ten of the victims of The Herald disaster took place this afternoon, and constituted a combined expression of sorrow of the various organizations to which the deceased belonged.

Those buried were: Dorothy Ward, Duncan Miller, Reginald Harris, Campbell Morrison, Isaac Jones, George Gundy, Frank Jansen, Rene Littlejohn, William Murphy and Clement Borremans.

The mayor and corporation were represented and mounted police and fifty constables on foot headed the cortege. A firing party from the Prince of Wales Fusiliers also took part, as well as delegations from the Montreal Typographical Union, Knights of Pythias and Sons of England.

Six of the deceased were Protestants and four Roman Catholics, and the funeral procession was a joint one until the roads to the different cemeteries diverged.

The bodies were taken at 2.30 o'clock from the undertaking establishment on Mountain-street, where they were kept after services had been conducted by several clergymen.

The route was lined by an immense crowd of people and thousands showed their sympathy in different manners. Impassive services were conducted at both cemeteries and were attended by large gatherings.

With the identification of John Cunningham this morning and Clement Borremans last night, the list of known dead at The Herald fire is twenty-eight. This leaves four unaccounted for.

MUST BUILD AT ONCE
Ontario Railway Board Gives Instruction That Lines Begin Fortwith.

The street railway must begin at once the construction of the new lines ordered by the Ontario Railway Board on May 18 last.

So says the board in an order issued on Saturday morning. It probably came as no surprise to the company, whose next move will undoubtedly be to appeal to the courts against the enlarged jurisdiction of the board as provided by the Whitney Act of last session.

The board's order read as follows: It appearing upon the discussion by the parties relative to the settlement of the order of the 18th day of May, 1910, that the Toronto Railway Company declared they do not intend to proceed with the work.

The board of its own motion orders and directs that the said Toronto Railway Company shall forthwith proceed with the construction of the lines of railway referred to in the said order. And the board reserves leave to the Toronto Railway Company, and to the corporation of the City of Toronto, respectively, to apply to the board from time to time for directions relative to the carrying out of this order.

(Signed) A. B. Ingram, Vice-chairman of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board.

Mayor Geary, who returned Saturday, says he considers the city is now in "splendid shape regarding the new car lines, as it is up to the railway now to do what it has been asking for leave to do for years."

Manager Fleming's comment was brief.

Fleming is Mum.
"I have not seen the new order, and therefore have nothing to say," he said. "It was told there was a new order coming, but have not received it yet."

MAY SOON BE BREAKS IN LAURIER CABINET

Hon. Frank Oliver Said to Be One of Several Who Contemplate Early Retirement.

OTTAWA, June 18.—(Special.)—The first report, emanating from Winnipeg, to the effect that Hon. Frank Oliver would shortly resign from the government and be given the vacancy on the board of railway commissioners, was hardly credited, but later information, as well as the fact that the Liberal press generally has not thought fit to give the report the usual "official" denial, leads to the belief that the minister of the interior contemplates an early retirement from the field of parliamentary warfare.

The only thing that stands in the way of Mr. Oliver's intention is the probability of Sir Wilfrid Laurier putting his foot down and insisting that his ministers stay where they are. Running to cover is a bad business for any government that wishes to remain in power.

Hon. Sydney Fisher is anxious to become leader of the Liberal party in the senate, but he has struck a snag in Sir Richard Cartwright, who refuses to be shelved. Mr. Brodeur is waiting for Hon. Justice Girouard to resign from the supreme court bench, in order to take a seat there, but meantime Judge Girouard is not resigning.

The Hon. A. B. Aylesworth will not be in public life very much longer. It is understood that he will bid good-bye to active politics immediately after his return from The Hague.

Hon. William Patterson is also anxious to be relieved of the cares of office and spend the evening of his days in peace and quietness.

Altogether, the Laurier administration seems to have reached that stage when all, or nearly all, administrations reach, when their day has been lived. It has been inevitable that there will be radical changes in the complexion of the cabinet during the next few months. One change, it was anticipated, would have taken place, namely, the resignation of the Hon. J. P. Hynes, the architect, and it is expected that the entire work will be finished for Easter Sunday.

DIRIGIBLE TO FLY OVER ATLANTIC BEING MADE

Craft Will Be 1000 Feet Long—Aims to Make the Trip in Seventy-Two Hours.

LONDON, June 18.—A trip from England to America by airship will be possible next year, and according to Baron Roenne, a Russian, and the designer of the craft which is being built especially for trans-Atlantic travel, the craft will negotiate the distance in seventy-two hours.

The new vessel is at present being constructed about ten miles outside of London, and a group of English financiers are back of the proposition.

The craft will be a monster, and will be capable of carrying 38 tons with its own weight. It is to be one thousand feet in length, sixty-five in diameter, and will be driven by sixteen propellers.

It is to be a rigid dirigible with an outer-cover of an alloy called chromolum, the surface of which is to be so prepared as to resemble a mirror.

There is considerable local interest here regarding the big insurance amalgamation in England, because the two companies involved have branches in Toronto.

The Commercial Union Assurance Co. with assets of $60,000,000, has bought out the Ocean Guarantee and Accident Corporation with assets exceeding $10,000,000, or a total of practically $105,000,000 in assets.

The authorized capital of the latter company, which is in a flourishing condition, is $5,000,000, of which $3,107,700 is paid up.

CORNER STONE DULY LAID FOR R.C. CHURCH ADDITION

Ceremony at the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes—New Structure Will Be a Handsome One.

About 500 gathered on Sunday afternoon to witness the laying of the corner stone for the extension being made to the Church of Our Lady of Lourdes. It is estimated that the extension when completed will cost about $75,000, and will form the auditorium for congregational services, while the present church will be used as a sanctuary for the choir.

The ceremonies were most impressive. The stone was laid by Vicar General McCann, who was assisted by Rev. James Walsh, S.J., and Rev. Wm. McCann, S.J., sub-deacon. The water was blessed, which was afterwards used, through sprinkling the church inside and out. Inside the stone is placed a copper box containing copies of each of the city's daily papers, as well as copies of The Catholic Register and other records. A parchment giving an historical statement of the church is also inserted. On the face of the stone are three crosses and the letters A. M. D. G., significant of the greater honor and glory of God. The only other inscription on the stone is the year.

The sermon was preached by Rev. Dean Morrow of St. Catharines, who gave an eloquent discourse on the wonderful position which the cross of Calvary had in the Roman Catholic religion. Others on the platform included: Very Rev. Dean Hand, and Fathers O'Donnell, Minehan, Williams, Stacey, Murray, Sullivan, a Dollard, Cantelon, the pastor, Rev. Father Canine and the assistant pastor, Father Morrow.

On completion, it is expected that the new edifice will have a seating capacity of 550 people. It is to be built in Italian style, with the exterior in brick with stone dressings to match the old building. The columns and porticoes will be of stone. The nave of the interior will be a replica of the nave of the old church, and will be flanked by aisles. Confessionals will be placed in the arcades of columns on both sides. J. P. Hynes is the architect, and it is expected that the entire work will be finished for Easter Sunday.

BROCKVILLE AND OTTAWA LINE
Expect to Have Trains Running by Next Summer.

OTTAWA, June 18.—At a meeting of directors held here to-day, it was decided to go ahead at once with the construction of the Ottawa, Rideau Valley and Brockville Railway. The line will run from Brockville to Ottawa by way of Algonquin, North Otonago, Merrickville, Burritts Rapids and Manotick.

The line will probably be controlled by the Grand Trunk or some other of the big lines. The survey work will start at once, and it is the intention to make a beginning on the construction of the line this fall. It is hoped to have trains running next summer. The company also has the right to operate boats on the St. Lawrence, and an effort will probably be made to divert much tourist traffic to Ottawa.

MAYOR GEARY IS BACK TELLS OF HIS TRAVELS

Was Much Impressed by King's Funeral—Replies to Criticism of Automobile Tour.

Mayor Geary, who arrived on Saturday, after about five weeks' absence abroad, speaks in warm terms of the reception given the three Canadian mayors, Mayor Guerin of Montreal, Mayor Evans of Winnipeg, and himself, at the King's funeral.

"We were treated with the greatest consideration and really were made a great deal of as representing Canadian cities," he said. His worship was greatly impressed with the importance of the British Empire among the nations, at attested by representatives from every point of the earth at the obsequies, and as to the intense personal grief of the people.

The mayor said Canada seemed to be very much to the front in Britain, the name of the country being on everyone's lips. He looked into the state of Canadian securities in the financial houses and found the credit of the country high.

His worship, who spent the morning at the city hall, said he had no opinion to express on how local affairs had been shaping in his absence, as he was out of touch with the situation. He had not looked over the Toronto Electric Light Co.'s offer, and could not speak of its merits.

He remarked that he understood there had been some criticism of his motor tour thru France, but he didn't think anyone should begrudge him the time. He had paid his own expenses and enjoyed a pleasant time.

It is up to the mayor now to break the deadlock on the board of control over the appointment of a medical health officer.

NOTORIOUS BRIGAND CHIEF AND FIVE OF HIS BAND ARE CAPTURED.

LISBON, June 18.—A notorious brigand chief and five of his band, who for some months past have been carrying on a campaign of robbery and murder in the district of Pessegueiro, have just been captured by the police who had for some time past been keeping a careful watch in the district, which, owing to its rough, mountainous nature, and extensive tracts of lonely forest lands, affords favorable opportunity for the malpractice of robbers.

The robbers subsequently confessed the full extent of their malpractices, and led the way to their retreat—a cave in the very heart of the mountainous district, situated close to a deep precipice. It appeared that their procedure was to rob travelers and then hurl their bodies over the precipice; and, indeed, the police found a large number of corpses in the valley below.

FACES PERJURY CHARGE
Sensational Development in Shawville Shooting—Had Signed Affidavit.

BRYSON, June 18.—(Special.)—There was a new development in the Murphy case this morning, when the court directed a charge of perjury against Michael Murphy, after an affidavit was produced over Murphy's signature that he did not fire the fatal shots ending in the deaths of Howes and Dale, the two victims of the Shawville tragedy.

Mrs. Annie Murphy is on trial as alleged accomplice of her husband in the shooting of Howes and Dale and the defence is trying to prove that Murphy was not the man responsible for their deaths. In this way it is hoped to free Mrs. Murphy. Murphy also faces trial on the charge of threatening to leave Shawville in blood and ashes.

SERMON TO GRADUATES
Rev. Dr. MacNeill's Address to Moulton College Girls.

In Walmer-road Baptist Church yesterday morning, the annual sermon to the graduating class of Moulton Ladies' College was preached by Rev. Dr. MacNeill.

"Youth," said the preacher, "has in it the prospect of that which is to come. In every Christian nature there is some distant goal which commands all our energies. What and where our Jerusalem shall be must be discovered by ourselves; no one can tell it us. We must always remember that every individual life is a distinct and unique creation from the hands of the Eternal. The God who didn't need to make two leaves of the forest the same, didn't need to make two lives the same."

"The sadness of life is not what we do not reach our Jerusalem, but that sometimes we do not even attempt to reach it."

SOLDIER DECLINED TO SHOOT HIS OWN FATHER
BERLIN, June 18.—An infantryman is reported to have taken place in Albania in connection with the shooting of a rebel. According to a message from Constantinople, an Albanian of good family, who had joined the insurgents, was captured and was ordered to be shot.

Among the firing party from Uskub was the son of the condemned man. He demanded to be released from the duty, but the Turkish commander forced him to remain with the squad. But when the order to fire was given, the son aimed high in the air, and his father fell shot by the remainder of the firing party. The commander thereupon ordered the arrest of the son, and he was marched off to the military prison, where he hanged himself.

The officer in command was subsequently transferred to another garrison.

Cobalt Issues Bound Down by Dull Trading and Only Narrow Operations Are Possible.

World Office.
Saturday, evening, June 18.

Cobalt-silver shares on the local mining markets have drifted into a period of semi-stagnation of late. Speculation has governed transactions now for a considerable time, and up to this writing there has been little sign of improvement in this regard. Public trading in the markets during the past week especially, has been maintained at very low volume, and the exchanges at best have offered only narrow opportunities for scalping. Such transactions as have occurred have been to a large extent among floor traders, and until there is some disposition on the part of outside market followers to participate in trade operations, there is little hope of anything more than restricted movements.

no sign of any material buying power; but on the other hand there is not much inclination to liquidate the share holdings in this account. The fluctuations have been towards small fractions, but these in the majority of instances have been towards lower values. The net demonstrates a soft tendency, which values undergo adjustment from day to day, but the depression is not such as to induce reactions in expectation of further reactions.

There has been no news from the mining camp during the past week to influence values. Such developments as a rumored strike on Nova Scotia and the renewal of the Little Nipissing lease for another five years, induced some activity in their respective issues, but the shares did not respond to he reports with higher prices. The market seems altogether uninfluenced by outside news which might be expected to arouse bullish enthusiasm, and for this reason it is hard to see how any upward movement can be sustained at the moment.

Cobalt Central is still in the throes of the contest against the former management for control of the company. The Hitchings-Bradley faction have succeeded in having the liquidation proceedings stopped, and the court has ordered the liquidator formerly appointed to proceed with mining interactions at the property. Bradley Peterson has also been active in New York and have asked for powers of attorney from the shareholders so that a special meeting can be held and a new board of officers elected. It is understood that if the warring coterie successful in ousting the Nevins' family, the following will be the result:

management, the new board will file a counter-claim against Thomas Nene & Son on several charges. Whatever the outcome the company seems to mean no harm of the woods, and omises to be tied up for some time come in litigation.

NEW COMPANIES

fine market closes the week with no finite tendency exhibited. There is sufficient buying coming into the changes to warrant any bullish movement and until an improvement from the present lifeless speculation is manifest, no material change is likely occur.

LEASES RENEWED

Peterson Lake Directors Grant New Leases on Old Terms.

Peterson Lake directors have renewed the leases of all the leasing companies.

operating in Peterson Lake territory, and are eligible for renewals. Most of the leases are due to expire in a couple of years, and the companies have been granted new leases which have about seven years run, making them of similar length as the leases in Scotland lease. The new leases are for 7 years, whereas the old, with the one additional year, runs for 8 years. The following are the companies and their capital: $100,000; the Hall-Bareher Dress Form Company of Canada, Limited, $25,000; the Williamsport Natural Gas Company, the Williamsport, capital $10,000; the Highland Telephone Company, Limited, Rusksview, $2500; Tarentorus Telephone Company, Limited, Sault Ste. Tearing Down Precedes Building Up

IN the march of a city's progress it often happens that the good work of one generation must be undone by the next, not because of inferiority but because of the bigger, broader needs of the new era. Such is the case with the Wanless building which we are about to tear down, in order to rebuild on a scale commensurate with the times. In view of the early beginning of the work we are hastening the sale of Men's Summer Furnishings now stacked in the old Wanless building, and for to-morrow we announce:—
