Little States Staking There All on the Chance For Which They Have Been Waiting—Turkey, Meanwhile, Declared Ready For Fight—A Call Home to Bulgarians and Others in America

London, Oct. 2—The whole of the Balkan peninsula is being rapidly transformed into an armed camp. London, Oct. 2—A cable to the Tribune from Constantinople says: "Elaborate defensive preparations occupy the leaders of the government and army. The Ottoman government trusts neither the Balkan states nor the great powers, holding that they are all ready to turn their backs on Turkey if they see a chance to do so."

A Familiar Type of Bore

By RUTH CAMERON

HERE are some people in this world whose only interest in other folks' remarks is to use them as a prologue to introduce their own observations.

Surely you know this type; for it is as common as life and death, and as unavoidable as death and taxes.

Sometimes the vacant expression of those people while others are talking shows that they are far away on Elysian Isles where they hold the centre of the stage and others listen.

Again they appear to listen to you with parted lips and bated breath, but you need not feel flattered. They are not really listening to what you say at all. In reality they are watching for an opportunity to break in with "Yes," "I," or "That reminds me," or some similar grab at the centre of the conversational stage.

These people never comment upon or answer other people's remarks. They simply cut them with remarks of their own.

For instance, you see a picture of Maude Adams and say that you saw her in "As You Like It." Whereupon it never occurs to this type of person to ask if you enjoyed the play. Instead he volunteers the important information that he never saw that, but that he once saw Julia Marlowe in "Romeo and Juliet."

Some clever conversationalist is telling a very interesting story of an unusual vacation trip. The rest of the company listen with genuine attention. Being intelligent, open-minded people, they like to hear about new places and customs. But the "that reminds me" lady has the faraway look of rapt self-communion until the speaker happens to say the name of some place which is familiar to her. At that she comes back to earth and breaks into the conversation with some inspiring bit of information such as "Did you say Grand Manan? I thought of going there last summer," or "Nantucket, why that's where my sister-in-law spent her vacation two years ago."

Of course, to this type of people other folks' anecdotes are never anything but an introduction to their own. Sometimes they pass long enough to say a word or two of applause before they tell you the infinitely more interesting story they heard. Sometimes they don't risk losing their opportunity by indulging in that courtesy.

Whenever I meet people like this and feel irritated by them I always pause a moment and remember Bishop Selwyn's definition of a bore, which I think I have previously quoted to you—"A bore is a person who insists upon talking about himself when you want to talk about yourself."

Of course, there is always a possibility that the person you are putting in the "that reminds me" class has just about the same opinion of you.

But there is one sure way to avoid this. And that is to exert yourself to take such a genuine interest in what other people are saying that no one will find of classing you with the "that reminds me" folks.

IN LITTLE MISS FIXIT, ALICE LLOYD EXPLAINS THE LATEST IN ENTERTAINMENTS—CABARET SHOW

Cabaret shows are now running riot in New York and Chicago, and there are few of the well restaurants that do not have a plan of entertainment in operation.

But the first of the standard theatrical productions to be seen outside of New York including this style of performance is Little Miss Fixit with dainty Alice Lloyd, the English singer as its star. It is also of interest to theatre-goers that the only other production having such a performance is that of Eddie Foy in Over the River, which is also produced by Wertheim and Luetcher to whom the world owes thanks for their fine presentation of The Spyglass and The Rose Maid.

In Little Miss Fixit a parlor scene crowded with guests, homelike in atmosphere, suddenly becomes charged with the electric current of "something about to happen." Among her laughing and applauding guests, dainty Alice Lloyd, the most famous of singing comedienne who have come to America from old England, sings some songs that the English-speaking people have cheered from London to San Francisco and from Cape Town to Winnipeg. In this cabaret performance Miss Lloyd will sing the saucy Master Cupid, The Cockney, Who Are You Getting At, the burlesque fashion-plate number, The Hobbles Promenade, and rarely has she been able to end her entertainment without singing the greatest favorite of her career, Ship Ahoj and Splash Me.

The introduction of the quaint novelty in cabaret entertainment also gives splendid opportunity for the unusual drolery of Lionel Walsh, another English player, whose amusing style has helped Miss Lloyd to make Little Miss Fixit one of the most modern stage productions of its time. The engagement here is for two days only and next Friday and Saturday are the dates chosen.

Hon. William Cadogan to Be Envoy to Prince of Wales General French on His Way to United States.

(Copyright, 1912 by the Brentwood Company)

King George's nomination of Major the Hon. William Cadogan of the Tenth Hussar Regiment to the position of envoy to the Prince of Wales, is a very interesting appointment, as it means that the major has been selected to act as one of the chief mentors of his future sovereign. As envoy, he will be in constant attendance on the prince, since the etiquette inaugurated by Queen Victoria requires that the heir apparent should be invariably accompanied by an equester, who acts as his shadow, and is morally responsible, not only for his safety, but for keeping him out of every kind of trouble and scrape. It is a very responsible office, and is the first one that has hitherto been made in connection with the separate household now being organized for the young prince.

It is in many ways a suitable one, for the Tenth Hussars has always been known as "The Prince of Wales's Own," its titular colonel being held by the heir to the crown, who also receives, at any rate his cavalry training in its ranks. It may be remembered that King Edward's favorite uniform prior to his accession to the throne was that of colonel-in-chief of the Tenth Hussars, in which corps his eldest son, the late Duke of Clarence, likewise held a commission.

Major William Cadogan, moreover, is no stranger to King George. The latter has known him since his childhood, for the first wife of the Earl of Cadogan was one of the most intimate persons of Queen Alexandra, and her children were the principal associates and playmates of the young royals at Marlborough House. Major Cadogan is the third of the sons of Lord Cadogan, stands second in line of succession to his father's peerage and valuable landed property, which comprises the greater part of the Chelsea district of London, and has served throughout the war, and acted as A. D. C. to King George and Queen Mary on the occasion of their first visit to India during the reign of King Edward. Major Cadogan's elder brother, Viscount Chelsea, is married but has no children.

Although the Cadogan earldom dates only from the time of the younger Pitt, at the close of the eighteenth century, the lineage of the family is extremely ancient, it having been founded by a Welsh Prince of Powys, who had a son named Cadogan. The earl's town house is one of the finest in the British metropolis, and is famous for its marble statues, its great marble hall, and its stately marble staircase. It is of modern construction, but stands on the site of an ancient mansion, which belonged in turn to Queen Catherine Parr, one of the many wives of Henry VIII., to the Protector Duke of Somerset of Reformation times, and to Sir Hans Sloane.

General Sir John French, now crossing the ocean bound for New York, is believed to be the last of his name, which is due the day after tomorrow, is the chief of the imperial general staff, and is one of the most distinguished military members of the army council, with a salary of $15,000 a year, in addition to the army as a bonus effect. He holds the position, which, according to statements by the present government in parliament would be that of a general, in supreme command of the British forces in the event of war, and it is no secret in military and official circles that he has been his presence at the war department in London that has contributed to the success of the operations of Field Marshal Lord Kitchener to diplomatic and administrative employment in Egypt.

Sir John, the son and grandson of naval officers, was originally intended for the sea, but he turned his mind to the army and after attaining the rank of lieutenant, quitted the sea in order to study the army as a student officer. He enjoyed the well merited reputation of the most stable cavalry leader of the English army, and was famous as such during the Boer war. But with all that, he still rides like a steeple. Indeed, he is not a good rider, which is all the more astonishing in view of his prowess—while a young subaltern, in regimental steeplechase.

He first saw active service in Egypt, and took part in the unsuccessful Nile expedition under Lord Wolseley, for the relief of General "Chama" Gordon at Khartoum. Later on, while stationed at Aldershot, he incurred a good deal of criticism, and even censure, on the part of his military superiors for embarking on a cavalry tactics that did not commend themselves to the generals of the old school, and his career was regarded by many in consequence thereof as ended. But the late General Sir Redvers Buller gave him his chance when the Boer war broke out, selected him as a member of his staff, and ended by placing him in command of his cavalry in South Africa. It was in the head of the latter, by means of a forced march, that he relieved the siege of Kimberley and further assisted Lord Kitchener in the crushing of Cronje, and in the capture of his entire force.

There has always been a good deal of discussion as to whom the merit of Cronje's defeat chiefly belonged, and the holding that has existed on the part of French towards Kitchener dates from that time. Sir John, a very short, stout man, of barely five feet five, with a white moustache, is not popular in the service, where he is accused of undue favoritism, especially where officers of birth and title are concerned. He is charged with being extremely amenable to social influences, presenting a striking contrast in this respect to Kitchener, and since his position as chief member of the army council invests him, in fact, with the chairmanship of the board of selection for promotion, it is argued that these shortcomings work to the detriment of the army.

MISS THEORA CARTER, DISCIPLE OF GOSPEL OF THE TOOTHBRUSH

"We were crossing Bilahoo Pass at about an 18,000-foot height, when an Italian porter named Clemens, who was carrying the rope, strode ahead. I was about three paces behind him when suddenly without a word or a cry he disappeared, carrying the rope, which was the only means of extrication. Having only one extra rope remaining, the head guide called down the crevasse and a faint reply showed that Clemens, who was far below, was still alive. She started after the head guide, who was back in an hour and a half, when Clemens was extricated from an 80-foot depth. He was still conscious and was carried to camp. Everything possible was done for him, but he died the same night from shock."

The letter describes the work of the expedition on the Siachen, or Rose Glacier, which is the largest and longest in Asia. During nine days in July Dr. and Mrs. Workman and three Italian guides made the first ascent of four important snow passes at two sources of this glacier, the heights varying from 19,500 to 21,000 feet, which constitutes a record for glacial exploration.

For six weeks all the camps were above 17,000 feet and the cold was often intense. Grant Peterkin, a London surveyor, was enabled, owing to favorable weather, to map the entire Rose Glacier. Mrs. Workman's expeditions of 1911 and 1912 make the hitherto unexplored Siachen the most thoroughly explored of any of the Himalayan glaciers.

It was Black '47, the famine time in Ireland, when Jack Keely, from Carlow, arrived in New York. He was soon hailed by a policeman, who asked him where he belonged.

"Well," answered the Irishman, "it was in a horrible state when I left."

The Evening Times and Star

ST. JOHN, N. B., OCTOBER 2, 1912. The St. John Evening Times is printed at 27 and 29 Canterbury Street every evening (Sunday excepted) by the St. John Times Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., a company incorporated under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

From an interview with Mr. Frank Clements, of the Clements Company, wholesale produce dealer of St. John, printed by the Standard on September 24.

"Asked about the price of potatoes," Mr. Clements said that the price this season was only sixty cents a barrel. The decline in price was, he said, due to the fact that the farmers in Ontario, Quebec and the western provinces had large crops of potatoes this year. He added that the shippers here were looking to the Cuban market to take a large quantity of New Brunswick potatoes this year, but at the present time it would only be guesswork to make any forecasts about the probable quantity which could be disposed of in the Cuban market.

It is unfortunate that the director of the Standard's editorial columns last Monday did not consult the Standard's local columns and read with care the authoritative statement credited to Mr. Clements before attempting to contradict the Telegraph's Harland correspondent, who said that potatoes were being sold at from fifty to sixty cents a barrel. Editorially the Standard on Monday asserted that New Brunswick potatoes were being sold at quite as good a price as can be obtained for stock of equal quality in the American market—an assertion to which the Clements interview in the Standard gives an effective answer.

Correspondents of the Telegraph in Woodstock and in Harland present in today's issue corroboration of the earlier report from Harland, and show that while Acrostock potatoes are being sold at from $1 to $1.25 per barrel, the prices in Carleton county range from fifty cents to seventy cents, and that the starch factory of Maine are paying for undressed and imperfect potatoes virtually the same price that is being received for good potatoes in New Brunswick.

The Standard's explanation of the low price in Carleton county is that "dealers dropped the price the other day to sixty cents to prevent a lot of poor quality potatoes getting on the market." This carelessness on the part of the dealer, and the double delight all farmers who draw instruction from the Conservative newspaper. There is one aspect of the trade question with respect to potatoes which all Standardists ought to consider, and which all rural readers undoubtedly have considered already. If the American price for potatoes is not higher than the New Brunswick price, no New Brunswick potato will cross the border, and there will be no harm done, even from the Standard's viewpoint. As the Standard contends that the home market affords the farmer as good a price as he can secure anywhere, but as the farmer does not think so, and even adduces evidence to support his belief, the fair thing to do is to permit him to try the American market, since it is certain that he will not trade across the line at a loss.

If the Standard is still afraid that the sale of Canadian potatoes in the United States will lead to "an entangling trade alliance with a foreign country," it should explain to the farmer how it is that the Canadian manufacturers were able recently to place $150,000,000 worth of insurance with American companies without involving us in one of those undesirable alliances, and how Canadian milling companies, at certain seasons, proceed to purchase American wheat without wrecking the Imperial fabric.

Is the loyalty of the farmer less valuable, or less reliable, than the loyalty of the manufacturer? Also, the Conservative journal should not fail to remember that a majority of the people of New Brunswick voted for free access to additional markets, and that, with the exception of Ontario, a considerable majority of the people of the whole Dominion did likewise.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING For reasons that are not wholly clear, but mainly because they wish to buttress the cause of high protection in Canada, Conservative journals in this country are continually misrepresenting trade conditions in Great Britain. Canadians are daily told by these agents of the "interests" that the Old Country is being ruined by free trade, and that it is absolutely necessary to place the British manufacturer protection against Germany and the United States. Anyone honestly desiring to know what the truth is should read the following editorial paragraph from the London Daily News:

"The tariff reformers who under the inspiring leadership of the Duke of Westminster promise us a revival of protectionist propaganda, will not, we may be sure, place the new volume issued by the board of trade in the forefront of their campaign. But it will be well for free traders to supply the deficiency. For the Statistical Abstract of the United Kingdom abridges the whole basis upon which tariff reform was constructed. It was in 1900 that Mr. Chamberlain launched his scheme. He launched it on the assumption that the sun of British industry was setting—had, indeed, almost set. Wherever he looked he saw ruin and decay. 'Agriculture,' he said, 'has been practically destroyed, sugar has gone, silk has gone, iron is threatened, wool is threatened, cotton will go.' The dirge is familiar; but we make no apology for repeating it, for it is upon that nightmare vision that the whole case of the tariff reformer rests. Nine years have passed, and today we have before us the record of the progress of British industry during the past fifteen years.

ST. JOHN'S POSITION IN RECIPROcity TREATY WITH WEST INDIES

By R. M. RIVE. To the Editor of the Times: Sir—At the next meeting of parliament a very important measure will come up for the consideration of the people's representatives which should have a particular interest to the people of St. John. I refer to the Canadian West Indies reciprocity treaty.

As I understand this treaty, if adopted, it offers to a certain class of Canadian manufacturers and products a tariff preference of twenty per cent in the West Indian markets over the manufacturers and products of other countries and "vice versa" allows a preference to the products of the West Indies coming into Canada. These are the main features of the agreement. But there are two clauses which may be added to the treaty to which I wish to call particular attention and the insertion of which will mean a great deal to the City of St. John and the Province of New Brunswick.

These are the clauses:— Firstly—That the governments of any of the West Indies accepting the agreement may provide that to be entitled to the concessions granted under the treaty the products of Canada shall be conveyed by ship direct without transshipment from a Canadian port into the West Indies. Secondly—That the government of Canada may provide that to be entitled to comcessions granted to the West Indies their products shall be conveyed by ship direct without transshipment from the West Indies into a sea or river port of Canada. Now these are the clauses that particularly interest the people of the maritime provinces. They are the clauses which our representatives must have inserted in the agreement. Without these clauses the treaty will not give the maritime provinces and particularly the ports of St. John and Halifax, the benefits which are expected to flow from it.

As matters stand today New York is the chief point of export and import for Canada and the United States to the West Indies. St. John or Halifax cannot today compete with New York. The latter port is nearer the West Indies than St. John or Halifax, has steamship lines, and good ones, already established and in fact is as near if not nearer to the Canadian manufacturing centres. The manufacturers and Canadian produce which under the treaty Canada expects to sell to the West Indies, will be shipped through New York under the treaty just as they have been before, unless these clauses as to direct communication between the West Indies and Canada are adopted. But on the contrary give St. John and Halifax a preference of twenty per cent over New York and the Canadian trade, which at present goes through New York will be diverted to the Canadian ports.

Further, with a direct line of steamships between St. John or Halifax and the West Indies, West farmers and manufacturers of the maritime provinces will have a good market right at their doors for their produce and their manufacturers will have no doubt that it would make very little difference to the interests of Quebec or Ontario or the west, whether St. John or New York were the port, except that any stipulation which would favor Canadian ports would only strengthen the policy of "Canada for the Canadians."

St. John will reap the benefits of such an agreement properly drafted. It is the nearest Canadian port between the manufacturing centres of Canada and the West Indies. As a result of this treaty the West Indian trade should flow through St. John, to borrow a familiar expression, like water through a mill-race.

The West Indian trade is one not to be neglected. The agreement between the countries dissimilar in what they produce and which they offer for exchange with each other. These two groups of countries for a reciprocity pact and one by which both countries should profit owing to the lack of competition.

It is for the people of the maritime provinces and their representatives to see to it that this treaty is so drafted as to give them the greatest possible benefit. The purpose of this letter is to awaken the attention of the people to the question. If wrong I would be pleased to be corrected. If right I hope I have awakened an interest in an agreement which I hope will have no other effect than to add to the welfare and prosperity of which St. John is at present riding.

Yours truly, R. M. RIVE. St. John, N. B., Oct. 1, 1912.

FALSE ALARM

WHAT do you expect out of a pig but a grunt? No use to "nag" a drunken man. All the talk you can pour out of you, along with good advice, won't do any good, "unless it is, you talk him to sleep." The next morning he has forgotten all; sometimes doesn't remember how he got home; possibly forgot what he has done with his money. He gave it to some good friend to keep for him. Doesn't know how much and cares less. He still has a bank book, and so long as he can issue cheques and find people to cash them he will stay drunk until he is all in. Nothing in it. But still we do it. When that unexpected friend arrives in town, or old pal comes along, it usually winds up in a spree. These periodical drunks cost money, and every one seems to get worse. Why not cut the whole thing out and be in a position so it doesn't tempt you. Instead of wanting the drink you really hate the sight of it. Come up and see. No danger attached to it; and if you really want to be cleaned up and put on your feet again, the Neal treatment will do the work. NEAL INSTITUTE, 46 Crown St., Corner King Street East. MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRE

About $1,000,000 is the estimated damage from a disastrous fire in Philadelphia yesterday. The fire originated on the pier owned by the Baltimore & Erie railway, valued at $200,000, and it with much merchandise stored nearby was totally destroyed.

Captain Wright of Moncton was arrested yesterday on the charge of keeping liquor for sale and also for selling liquor to Samuel Rockford. The latter was arrested on drunkenness charge, and the arrest of Captain Wright resulted, six bottles of whiskey and two bottles of brandy were found on his premises. He pleaded not guilty. At a meeting of the Fredericton city council last night the matter of leasing the Opera House to A. K. Munde of this city was brought up and Chairman O'Neil and Manager McGready of the Opera House were appointed to look further into the matter and report later. There is some opposition to leasing to anybody.

Plays and Players

CHATTY MEWS OF THE GREEN ROOM

No billiard expert, or bowling champion, or star athlete has a greater collection of loving cups, trophies, medals, and odds and ends of prizes, than Miss Alice Lloyd, the dainty, dimpled little singing star of "Little Miss Fix-it." They comprise all sizes and sorts of sentimental souvenirs and gifts, from a mammoth half-gallon silver loving cup publicly presented to her on the stage of the New York Theatre, three years ago, when she was the toast of the town and the biggest sensation American vaudeville ever had known—a testimonial from her then managers, Klaw and Erlanger—to gifts from East Indian Maharajahs and a tiny but beautiful diamond studded watch from Oom Paul.

Alice Lloyd belongs to a theatrical family whose name in England has been for two decades a household word and most prominent of whom is Miss Alice, her sister Miss Marie Lloyd, adored of the London "Ails," but it remained for sweet Alice, the then baby actress of the family, to make that name actually famous internationally, for while Miss Marie had visited America previous to Miss Alice, her artistic efforts—which, incidentally, are more of the robust order—were practically confined to a limited New York engagement.

It remained, therefore, for demure Alice to really make friends with the whole American people, and this she has done, captivatingly.

Miss Lloyd's collection includes a large and handsome diamond bedecked gold medal awarded by vote of the play goers of London to the most popular and talented of the singing comedienne in all the Christmas pantomimes, and a beautiful diamond studded Elks badge presented to her by New York Lodge of Elks.

Those who had the pleasure, last season, of seeing the great English character comedian William Hawtrev in "Billy" will be pleased to know that he will again appear at the Opera House in a few weeks in "Dandy Dick."

The success, which attended the presentation of Mr. Hawtrev, and his all-English company in "Dear Old Billy" last season has warranted A. G. DeLamar, producer of clean plays, in again engaging Mr. Hawtrev and an all-English company of London favorites for the coming season in the London comedy success entitled "Dandy Dick," by Sir Arthur Pinero, author of "The Amazons," "The Magistrate," and "The Admirable Crichton," which was produced at the New Theatre in New York, "The School Mistress," "The Magistrate," and "The Admirable Crichton," which was produced at the New Theatre in New York, "The School Mistress," "The Magistrate," and "The Admirable Crichton," which was produced at the New Theatre in New York.

The company will open the tour in Halifax, and will play the important cities from Nova Scotia to Vancouver, and will then appear for an extended engagement in Chicago.

The Billboard this week publishes the portrait of Miss Willette Kershaw, who was here with Harkins some years ago, styling her as an "actress of no mean histrionic ability." She is appearing in Chicago in a new play which she wrote there last week, "How Helen Are You?"

It is interesting to read of an old friend with St. John audience, Edward Ellis, who made a fine impression here a few years ago when he played with the American company, mostly in English comedies. In the new play "The Man Higher Up," written by his sister, Mrs. Ellis, which has added to his laurels, and is materially helpful in making the play the success it is, prominent among the comedies of the kindliest of words of him in its criticism—Edward Ellis, as Robert McAdoo, the politician, who is anything so well in his long career, not excepting his "Blackie Daw" in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," Mr. Ellis presents a worthy and finished impersonation of this greatest politician of modern fiction.

Most of the critics speak well of Mr. Ellis' work. He is most favorably recalled here for his splendid acting in "Sherlock Holmes," as well as for his playing of English comedies.

It is almost certain that Nat C. Goodwin, comedian, never again will appear on the stage to play a part.

A letter received from New York last week by his friend, John Ernest Warren, secretary of the American Dramatists' Association, brought the news from California that the actor is paralyzed in his lower limbs.

Mr. Warren recently visited Goodwin at his home, near Los Angeles, on business connected with the publishing of Goodwin's "Memoirs," which the actor is editing for publication this winter.

The letter received by Mr. Warren contains the stories of Goodwin's career.

The Most Stylish of The Season's Coats for Ladies Misses, Juniors and Children

If you were to go direct to New York you would not find a more representative exhibit of the most striking of the new styles, for all of these coats are late arrivals and indicate exactly the models now being specially featured in the best stores of the largest cities.

Comfort is suggested in every line of these coats and the materials present a warm, cosy appearance in fancy and mixed Tweeds, Curl Cloths, Nap Cloths, Blanket Cloths, Chevots, Diagonal Wale Serges in two-tone effects, also Velvets and Velours.

Navy, browns and greys in the wool goods are the leading colors, while black is the leader in the velour and velour models. Tweeds have the plain dark tones picked out with bright flecks of color, blues, reds, greens, etc.

Coats for juniors in the plain dark tones are finished by brightly colored collars and cuffs.

Included in this display are the Johnny Coats, at present the "craze" in New York and being introduced elsewhere. Three-quarters in length, cut in one or two pieces, and rather severely plain, they are entirely different from anything that has been offered for some time.

Ladies' Coats, from $ 5.75 to $50.00
Misses' Coats, from 5.75 to 25.00
Juniors' Coats, from 10.00 to 20.00
Children's Coats, from 2.75 to 12.00

hap, which were published, have been misleading, and that fact of his accidents and his condition had been inaccurately given.

The facts as detailed by the Californian friends of the actor are that Goodwin is suffering from a fracture of the pelvis, which was not discovered for a long time after he was thrown out of the boat and received his injuries.

Since the accident, the actor's friends have feared a breaking up of his mental powers. He is said to have become morose and to have lost his ability to do his work. He is now being treated at the Hotel de Ville, Paris.

The Angulus, a new play in three acts, by Neil Twomey, who is favorably known in St. John from his playing of "The Man Higher Up," is being produced at the Grand Theatre in New York.

Kate Manche, a favorite here some years ago, is playing the role of "The Marriage Market" with Donald Brian, said to be a former St. John actor, as the star.

Charles Frohman's next musical comedy, "The Garden of Allah," having broken the house in which the ex-president was born, the Garden of Allah, having broken the house in which the ex-president was born, the Garden of Allah, having broken the house in which the ex-president was born.

Men and women—do you want a splendid head of luxuriant hair free from scalp itch and dandruff?

Do you want hair so bewitchingly radiant that it compels the admiration of all who see it?

Do you want a scalp so immaculately clean and bright as a newly-minted coin? Do you want to wear a hair dressing that will surely prevent baldness, that all ways refreshes and invigorates and makes your entire head feel fine?

Lillie Miss Williams attempted to secure an accident insurance policy to cover her risk, but was unable to find a company that would write such a policy.

John Campbell, the Selig director, who has been operating at Catalina among the California missions, has returned to the Edendale studios, where he will begin work on other subjects.

Frank Powell, who was in St. John some years ago, has resigned as director of the general assembly hall of some of the larger New York schools, where motion pictures have been introduced as a means of instruction, and expects to devote some time to perfecting several scenarios.

John Stepping, who played in St. John with Toleno and whose recent appearance in other quarters has caused some comment as to whether he is still with the Chicago Essanay studio and at work again. The departure was a matter of course.

The experiments during the last year in the general assembly hall of some of the larger New York schools, where motion pictures have been introduced as a means of instruction, have proven so successful that the proposition will be adopted this fall.

W. A. Whitecar, a favorite with W. S. Harkins in St. John, is playing in Allis Jimmy Edwards, this season, and in Paris, where geography, history and civics have been successfully taught by this means.

W. S. Harkins is organizing his company for his tour of the maritime provinces and the West Indies. Sue Van Duser will be his leading lady. Others in the company are—Mona Ryan, Clara Liman, Adelle Vaughan, H. Orta Holland, Jack Rigney, John M. Waller, Thomas J. Livan, Arthur Price, L. O. Lewis and Harry Stubbs. They will be in Sydney Thanksgiving Day.

Zoe Barnett's work was rather cut down during the first performance of The Red Rose at Hamilton, Ont., owing to an injury to her right wrist and arm, which she sustained when she slipped and fell just after her first entrance. Her part was filled by her understudy, and so well was the thing done that some present did not know that the accident had taken place. Miss Barnett was able to return later, and appeared throughout the rest of the performance.

Winifred Florence, who was here with the New York Opera Company, has been engaged for The Rose Maid.

There are four companies playing The Fortune Hunter this season. The Eastern company is playing now in St. John.

The fellow who is always on the fence does the most crawling.

FOSTER TO BE IMPERIAL MINISTER IN LONDON?

It is said that Hon. George E. Foster will take up duties in London next year as "imperial minister," from Canada, with a salary of $15,000 a year and possibly a residence and other allowances in the way of living expenses. Steps are now being taken for the purchase of a Canadian office in London near Westminster Abbey and adjacent to the houses of parliament.

SYRUP OF FIGS IS BEST FOR A CHILD

If Its Little Tongue is Coated, Breath Fervid, Stomach Sour and Bowels Clogged

Every mother immediately realizes after giving her child delicious Syrup of Figs that this is the ideal laxative and physic for the children. Nothing else regulates the little one's stomach, liver and bowels so promptly, besides they taste so delectable.

When cross, irritable, feverish, clammy, sour, breath bad or your little one has stomachache, diarrhoea, sore throat, full of cold, tongue coated; give a teaspoonful of Syrup of Figs and in a few hours all the foul, constipated, clogged up waste, undigested food and sour bile will gently move on and out of its little bowels without nausea, griping or weakness, and you will surely have a well, happy and smiling child again shortly.

With Syrup of Figs you are not drug-giving your children, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, it cannot be harmful.

Mothers should always keep Syrup of Figs handy. It is the only stomach, liver and bowel cleanser and regulator needed—a little given today will save a sick child tomorrow.

Full directions for children of all ages and grown-ups plainly printed on the package.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna," prepared by the California Fig Syrup Co. This is the only safe sign that it is a genuine article and offers reliable relief. Refuse anything else offered.

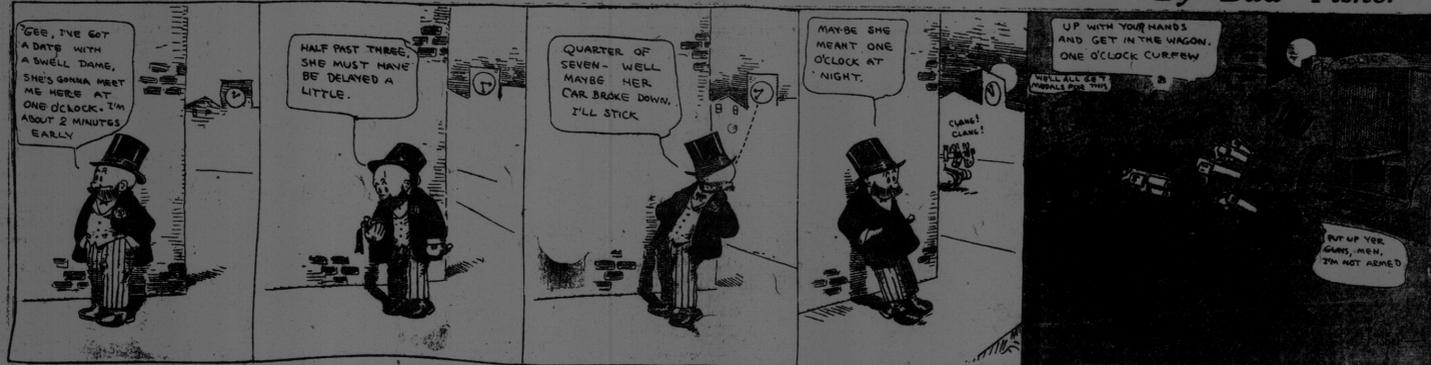

FIND RELICS OF GIANT RACE

Victoria, B. C., Oct. 1.—As a result of a visit made by H. M. S. Algonquin, now overhauling at Esquimalt, not long ago to Easter Island, a 20-ton auxiliary schooner has been launched at Whistler, England, to carry a party of scientists headed by W. S. Routledge, M. A., who will investigate reports of remains of a lost race of giants.

The island is the most eastern of the Polynesians, being about 2,000 miles from the coast of South America, and is believed to have been the last pinnacle of a submerged continent which occupied the greater part of the South Pacific and possibly joined Asia with America.

The Montreal train was delayed last night in departure for about one hour. The cause was a late shipment of fish for the Upper Canadian market at the D. R. The consignment was a large one of herring haddies.

THE MARKET.
The fall hours for the opening and closing of the country market went into effect today. During October the market will be opened at seven o'clock and will close at half-past five. On November 1st the market will go into effect, open at half-past seven and close at five o'clock.

THE VALLEY RAILWAY
The extra cost of crossing the Kennebec river at Goudalia Point instead of at Perry's Point, as has been proposed, is declared one of the chief difficulties in the way of the shorter route for the Valley Railway. As the federal government is to contribute to the cost of bridges their consent will have to be secured before the change can be made. It is authorized by the provincial government. Owing to this and to the fact that the matter is not likely to be dealt with by the local government until their next session the Board of Trade has not as yet renewed their agitation for immediate action regarding the change in the plans.

C. Herbert Clinch has sold to Joseph A. Likely lot No. 8 in Dorchester street, having forty feet frontage, at present occupied by the Western Union Telegraph Co., and for stable and iver. The sale was made by Jardine & River.
Owing to numerous changes which have been made for the purpose of adding attractiveness and convenience of the building, the plans for the new building of the Bank of British North America, which is to be erected at the corner of Market Square and Dock street have not yet been completed. It is possible that, owing to the lateness of the season, the work will not be undertaken until the spring.

HOME TO GREECE TO WED BOYHOOD SWEETHEART

Mill Street Fruit Dealer is to Bring Bride to St. John

Michael Mercurio is wearing a happy smile these days. He is going about his business in his fruit store in Mill street with a cheerful expression of anticipated joy upon his sunny countenance, and there's a reason for the same. Michael is to be married, and not only that but he is to return to his native land in distant Greece, to the far away islands of the Grecian Archipelago where he spent his boyhood days, and where a dainty little maiden, Miss Stannatoli N. Toont, with a sweetheart's welcome, is awaiting his return, and where a dear old mother is longing once again to kiss her boy.

Michael has done very well since coming to America twelve years ago. He was back to Greece about three years ago and on his return here brought with him his nephew Aristides Drakakis, a bright lad of twelve years, who will accompany him home and probably remain for several years. It is not likely that the benediction will depart for Greece for a few weeks as business is pretty good at present and he and his brother are needed to attend to it for, in addition to the fruit store, they have a shoe establishment. While he will be glad to return to his home land Michael does not intend to stay there, but will bring his bride to St. John to make their home. He will spend some time with his mother and visiting the scenes about his old home, but the friends of his boyhood days have gone and with them a certain interest in the old-time spots. Many of them are dead, but most have left for other shores, Canada and the states, to make their fortunes. Since coming here Michael has made many friends who will wish him a pleasant trip home and a prosperous wedded life.

PRESBYTERIAN BOYS' SCHOOL AT PINE HILL

Pine Hill, N. S., Oct. 2.—The Presbyterian synod this morning considered the founding of a boys' school in Halifax at Pine Hill. It is proposed to remove the theological college to the Dalhousie campus, the school to occupy the vacated building. The proposal was presented by Rev. J. A. MacLachlan of Sydney and supported by Dr. McLean and Dr. Jack of North Sydney. It was favorably received and remitted to a committee. Reports on Sabbath schools and young people's societies will come up this afternoon.

NEW BUILDING LAW NEXT MONTH

St. John Code to Be Improved—Stricter Fire Regulations Also

A new code of building laws is being drafted by the department of public safety, and when completed will probably be a model of its kind. A careful investigation of the building laws of other cities has been made and the codes of Boston, Toronto and Vancouver have been found to contain many features which, with suitable modifications, would add to the efficacy of the local regulations and these will be incorporated. The draft will be completed by November and will be ready for presentation at the next session of the provincial legislature. The fire laws are also receiving attention and the morning session of the city commissioners was devoted to a discussion of the changes to be made. Among other reforms, all owners of buildings will be required to keep their basements clear of rubbish and ashes, and all ashes are to be kept in metal receptacles. In order to provide free access for firemen in case of fire the new regulations will forbid the erection of doors, windows or stairways in warehouses or business buildings by the placing of merchandise in such a way as to block the passages. Afters two feet in width will be required between all piles of merchandise in warehouses. The enforcement of the fire laws will be placed in the hands of the district engineers who will be required to patrol their districts and see that the laws are carried out. A penalty of $100 is provided for violation of the law and $50 for disregard of instructions given by the district engineers.

MR. McGAFFIGAN GETS MOOSE, TWO DEER AND A BAG OF PARTRIDGE

J. J. McGaffigan lets no hunting season pass without a visit to the woods. He is a big game hunter and good shot at a bird and none like better than the relaxation of a couple of weeks in the woods. This time he has been in New Canada forest and came home yesterday with a moose, two deer and some partridge, having a little more than two weeks away. He saw many moose but some with extra good heads. The one he brought home was a fine specimen. They were returning to the house when they soon had a sight of the bull and with him a cow and two calves, twins in all likelihood, said the people of the district. Mr. McGaffigan describes the sight as a beautiful one and he would have preferred a camera to a rifle at the moment. He brought down the bull with two well placed shots.

CASE AGAINST PARK COMPLETED

The preliminary hearing in the case of Albert Park, charged with breaking and entering the office of the Canadian Cereal & Milling Company, and also for breaking, entering and stealing money from the Salvation Army headquarters in Prince William street, was concluded in the police court this morning. Detective Killen told of making the arrest and of finding some of the stolen goods on the prisoner. The latter had told him that he had come to St. John in a steamer. In reply to a question by the court, the witness said that there had been many petty robberies during September, and they were made in much the same way as the two breaks for which the prisoner was arrested. However, there was no evidence to connect him with any other than these two. Park was asked if he had anything to say. He replied in the negative, and was remanded. There were no arrests made by the police last night and the police court about this morning was blank. The only case to come up for hearing was that of James McKinney, charged with allowing his two horses to run at large in Bessley street. The defendant's brother said that the defendant was too ill to attend court today, and the case was allowed to stand over until tomorrow morning. "This practice of allowing horses and cattle to run at large in the public streets is getting to be a nuisance," said His Honor, and a stop has got to be put to it at once."

PROMINENT REDEMPTORISTS MAKE VISIT TO ST. PETER'S

Two interesting visitors to the city today were Very Rev. Father Schneider, C. S. R., of Baltimore, and Rev. Patrick Brick, C. S. R., of Toronto. They arrived last evening on a visit of inspection to the Redemptorist House at St. Peter's, North End. This is the first visit of either to the city since they have taken the higher offices in the order. Rev. Father Schneider being provincial of the Baltimore province of the Congregation of the Most Holy Redeemer, and Rev. Father Brick has recently been made provincial of the English province established some weeks ago in Canada. They have been making visits to the various houses.
