GELDART ADMITS STEALING THE STOVE Says He Was Talked Into the Crime. Said Stove, Refrigerator, Freezer and Other Goods to Peterson on the Installation Plan.

The case against Geldart and Peterson, charged with stealing a stove and other articles from the McClary-Mac Company, was resumed in the police court this morning. Manager Irwin of the company was in court ready to give evidence, but Mr. Baxter, who represented the prisoner Geldart, informed the court that he had had a conference with his client and Geldart was prepared to admit the misappropriation of the company's goods and that it was not necessary to go on with any further evidence.

Mr. Macrae then called on Geldart as a witness, but this was strongly objected to by Mr. Mullin and Mr. Baxter. The latter as counsel for Geldart, said he wished the entire statement struck out. This was done and the charge was again read to the prisoner and he pleaded guilty.

After some argument as to whether the prisoner could be called as a witness the magistrate allowed him to be sworn and he gave about the same evidence as he did in his statement with the exception that he added that Peterson did not get No. 70 refrigerator. He got a No. 48 or No. 47 refrigerator and gave a payment five dollars for it. The value was about nine dollars, he said. He also got some enamelled ware from witness and an ice cream freezer for fifty cents. After it was out that the stoves were taken from the warehouse, witness said he went to see Peterson, and asked Peterson what he thought he had better do. Peterson said not to do anything as he was well acquainted with the police and they would never go to his house in search of anything. "After I had admitted to Mr. Irwin about taking the stuff I went to see Peterson and he said that he would get a No. 70 refrigerator that he got from me and asked him what he had done with the other. He said it was none of my business. I told him he either traded or sold it. He called me a liar and threatened to cut my throat. I left him and went away."

MANY WOMEN DUPED BY A BOGUS BARON Ran Matrimonial Agency in Conjunction With Actress and Lived on Swindle.

PARIS, June 8.—A bogus matrimonial agency, recalling that carried on at Versailles by Mme. Gestron, has just been broken up by the Paris police. The principal, a Frenchman, who went by the name of "Baron de Mery," has been arrested on charges of fraud. He worked in conjunction with a woman who was formerly a well-known Paris music hall star. The baron inserted advertisements in French newspapers setting out that a gentleman with an income of $3,000 wished to marry a French lady with $750 to $1,000. There was a plentiful supply of dupes. The rendezvous was always at the house of the actress, who introduced the "baron" as the eligible party. In the course of a few months the "baron" became engaged to several women. During the engagement, on several pretences, he contrived to obtain possession of their spare cash, after which he generally vanished, leaving his numerous fiancées lamenting their broken engagements and the loss of their money.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., June 8.—Mrs. Ida Toney, whom Harry Orchard married in Cripple Creek, left for Boise yesterday to appear as a witness for the defense in the Haywood trial.

DEATH. AMOY, China, June 7.—The Chinese cruisers Hai Chen, and Hai Yung, arrived here today. River navigation to Chang Kow is now open, the objectionable taxes which caused its suspension having been withdrawn. The Mandarins suppressed all native newspapers which published accounts of the insurrection and the telegraph service declines to forward messages regarding the uprising.

TERRORISM AGAIN RAMPANT IN RUSSIA Unknown Men Kill Watchman and Policeman, Wound Cashier and Loot Safe.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—Terrorism seems to have taken a fresh lease of life. At the Obolensk railway station, near St. Petersburg, a crowd of young unknown men, probably factory hands, appeared at 1 o'clock this morning, killed the watchman and the policeman in charge, wounded the cashier and forced the safe. But it contained only $12.50. They decamped into the adjoining forest, so one seeking to stop them. Colonel Maximov immediately proceeded to the spot from St. Petersburg with a force of police and Cossacks and made elaborate arrangements for surrounding the forest. But the criminals mysteriously escaped. Toward midnight on Wednesday a bomb exploded in the tea house of the Union of True Russian People without doing much damage. Later a second bomb was discovered. The union is frequently blamed for being concerned in outrages. The publication of the Russ (Liberal) has again been stopped. During the recent troubles this was a frequent occurrence, which the publishers surmised by issuing it under a new name. The newspaper has had at least half a dozen aliases.

TWO WERE KILLED IN A WABASH WRECK WASHINGTON, Penna., June 7.—Two men and eleven horses were killed in a wreck on the Wabash R. R., one mile east of Hickory near here, today, when the "Polecat" express, carrying 100 passengers, crashed into a coal train on a siding, telescoping the smoker and Pullman car. The flagman of the coal train who is said to be responsible for letting the passenger train in on the siding occupied by the coal train, disappeared immediately after the crash. The dead are: Frank Blanco, and Anthony Spilume, miners of Avella. A relief train was made up and the injured taken to hospitals.

CROKER'S HORSE WILL NOT ENTER ASCOT RACES LONDON, June 7.—Richard Croker has decided that Ory, the winner of the Derby, shall not fulfil the engagements to race at the Ascot meeting. With reference to the parliamentary gossip that he would seek election to parliament as a Nationalist, Mr. Croker today reiterated that there was not the remotest chance of this, he had done with politics, he said, and he did not wish to lose his American citizenship.

AMOIY, China, June 7.—The Chinese cruisers Hai Chen, and Hai Yung, arrived here today. River navigation to Chang Kow is now open, the objectionable taxes which caused its suspension having been withdrawn. MICHAEL GILLEN KILLED AT NEW BANK Was Crushed by Heavy Door of the Vault Which Fell Out of Its Place—He Was Taken to Hospital and Died in an Hour.

A fatal accident occurred at the new Royal Bank building this morning. Michael Gillen, of Union street, was assisting in putting a heavy vault door into place when the block which supported it, gave away and the door fell, carrying Gillen to the ground, crushing him badly. The injured man was at once sent to the hospital where he died an hour later. The accident was witnessed by a large number of the men employed on the building and they say that the occurrence could have been prevented by them. The door was falling with great force when they first saw it. Several ribs as well as Gillen's collar bone were broken. Michael Gillen was about 48 years of age and is survived by his wife and several children. This is the first fatal accident which has occurred on the new building.

KARL HAU LEARNING OF HIS WIFE'S SUICIDE Admits the Crime Which He Had Previously Denied—He Was Well Known in America

KARLSRUHE, Germany, June 8.—Karl Hau, who has been under arrest here for some time charged with murder of his mother-in-law, Frau Molter, at Badenbaden in November last, confessed today that he was guilty of the crime. Hau's confession followed the news that his wife had committed suicide by throwing herself in a lake in Switzerland whether she had gone after the double affliction of the death of her mother and the arrest of her husband had broken her. Hau was told of her death today and this culminating tragedy apparently was too much for him as he broke down and confessed that he was guilty of his wife's mother's death, a crime he had hitherto strenuously denied. His case attracted much attention in Germany, England and America. Although a German by birth, he lived for some time in Washington, where he was well known, both socially and in the legal profession. Money troubles caused his crime.

Mayor Sears will be at the Every-day Club at a public meeting on Monday evening present the prizes won in the sports on May 24th. Owing to the wet grounds there will be no baseball game on the Champlain grounds this afternoon, but there will be a game tonight at 6.45.

POLICE COURT. In the police court this morning there were five prisoners. Two drunks were fined $4 each. J. Dacy charged with lying and lurking in Peter's tannery yard said he was on his way to the country, called at the tannery and asked for shelter until daylight. He was told that he shouldn't be hanging about people's yards at such an hour, and was fined $8 which was allowed to stand against him. Kelly charged with assaulting a man named Riley on Main street yesterday pleaded guilty and was fined $20 or two months in jail. Mary Gloss, a colored woman who got out of jail only a couple of weeks ago, is back again. She was drunk on Union street this morning about 3 o'clock and was sent to jail in default of paying a fine of $8.

FRANCE IN FAVOR OF LIMITATION POLICY

Foreign Minister Defines His Country's Position. Will Lead the Conference in the Direction of Compulsory Arbitration—Address Well Received

PARIS, June 8.—Speaking in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday, Foreign Minister Pichon defined France's position at the Hague peace conference, saying it would be one of moderation and conciliation. M. De Pressens, who presented an interpellation on this subject urged it to be the duty of the republic to take an advanced position in favor of the reduction of armaments. War was weighing Europe down, the speaker contended, and the questions rendering war less ruinous and savage were secondary and could not be treated with success unless the main problem was served. He urged that this be accomplished either by proposing that each country maintain a peace army in proportion to its population or that each be assigned a maximum sum for military expenditures.

In opening his address M. Pichon paid a warm tribute to the work of the first peace conference and then declared the approaching conference must normally develop the work then begun. The importance of this second conference is increased by the larger number of countries represented, he said, and it would consider means of making war less evil and more humane. The government, in formulating its instructions to the French delegates to the Hague, M. Pichon declared, intends to allow them the fullest liberty of action, confident that they will always be actuated by the lofty principle of substituting a policy of peace for one of war. The government, the foreign minister continued, had been urged to force the question of compulsory arbitration; it asked nothing better, and as for the limitation of armaments, Great Britain, Spain, and the United States had already announced their purpose to submit propositions in this end. The French Government would willingly participate in the discussion, but in order to arrive at any result a concrete formula should be unanimously adopted. Such a formula had not been found and unanimity was still further away. Prince Von Bismarck, the German Imperial Chancellor, had declared Germany would not participate in the discussion of a proposition which, in his opinion, if not dangerous, was certainly impracticable. Austria took a similar position and Italy and Japan was ready to discuss the matter, but under the reserve of full liberty of decision.

THE RUSSIAN DUMA IN A HARD CONTEST ST. PETERSBURG, June 8.—The critical moment in the life of the Duma has arrived, and Premier Stolypin and the Constitutional Democrats are fighting with two fronts to save the young government. The battle within the cabinet between M. Stolypin's backers and the Reactionaries is proceeding vigorously and each faction is maneuvering for support at Petrograd. No decision has yet been reached, but the latest indications are that the premier is winning out. The Constitutional Democrats are bending all their might to secure a majority. To compass this, they are even willing to shelve common sense in their room today at Fort Sam Houston and died tonight. Examination disclosed the use of morphine and prussic acid. A note saying the act had been inevitable since last November, was found on a nearby table. Richardson was to have married a Brownsville, Texas, girl some weeks ago but failed to appear for the wedding. The scandal following his jilting of his fiancée caused his resignation.

TORNADO IN ILLINOIS DUQUIN, Ill., June 7.—A tornado tonight struck Duquin and wrought excessive damage to residential property and crops. The wind swept over the residence part of the city, uprooting trees, lifting roofs and carrying several houses off their foundations. A number of injuries are reported, though none is thought to be fatal. William Burns, of Dorchester, N. B., is in the city. He is a brother of Thomas Burns, of the board of health. The death occurred at 9 o'clock this morning of Mrs. Amy L. Vanwart, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Vanwart, of 106 Adelaide street. She had been ill with consumption since March last, and was 11 years of age. Besides the parents, one sister and three brothers survive. The Dominion government steamer Stanley left Charlottetown yesterday for Pictou where she will coal up and start for Scotland to be strengthened and repaired by her builders on the Clyde and put in good shape for next season's ice fishing.

WANT AMERICAN HORSES BARRED

Agitation on Foot to Allow Them to Come in, Vigorously Opposed by Local Horsemen.

Speaking of the attempt that is being made to allow American horses to compete at Provincial track meets, Fred Duncan said last night that he was strongly opposed to it, as were many other owners. He said it was manifestly unfair to the men who own horses in the Province, as the American drivers can find out what horses there are available for the different classes and then hunt around for faster ones. As they have large stables to draw from they usually succeed in carrying off the bulk of the money.

Nearly all the Provincial tracks had decided to bar American horses this year, but an agitation to rescind this rule has lately developed among interested parties, and with a strong probability of success. Local horsemen will send a protest to all the different Associations in the Maritime Provinces to try and have this regulation adhered to.

Mr. Duncan will move his string of horses to Moosepath today to begin active training. His stable includes Conroy, the free-for-aller, Laura Merrill and Etha Mac. Fred Fraser, of Sydney, has been engaged to drive for him this year.

PEARL INDUSTRY WAS EPHEMERAL

Arkansas Rivers Were Soon Cleaned Out

Illiterate Negro Family Baited House, Bought Launch and Horses and Hired White Servants

The latest of all the chapters in the history of jewel hunting in the States is that which tells the story of the rise and fall of the pearl seekers. No other is so picturesque, so crowded with human interest, so tragic. Fortunes were made, squandered, made again and usually lost again—and then came the end. "We have worked out the beds! The industry is killed!"

The Battle liner Pydna arrived at New York yesterday with a cargo of pearls. The pearls were from the Black River of Arkansas, and an old fisherman was the cause of it. He was fishing from a skiff, anchored in mid-stream, when his bait ran out. The bait was a piece of fish that had a few clams from the river bed. The first bivalve he brought up was an enormous one, with nothing at all in its appearance to foreshadow the excitement to come.

But that retirement lasted less than a week. The report of the spread far and wide, and the inhabitants of the whole country came rushing to the sand beds at the bottom of Black River, and the fisherman, with the pearl fever germ stoutly established in his system, fell into line. It may be said that the dealer who had paid one hundred dollars for the jewel sent it to New York, where he received twenty-five dollars.

Among the passengers on board the Orinoco, which arrived from the West Indies yesterday, was Ensign McEachern of the C. F. R., who is en route from Bermuda to Toronto. Miss McEachern is a St. John lady and has been living in the West Indies for the past few years.

The large vacant lot at Indiantown between the wharves and Main street is rapidly becoming a beauty spot. The grass has been well trimmed and benches have been placed along the walks. Yesterday afternoon several men were engaged planting flower beds on the site of the vacant lot.

N. R. DesBrisay, who for some time past has been employed in the ticket office of the C. F. R., will shortly be promoted to ticket agent on one of the Empire steamships. During his stay in this city, Mr. DesBrisay has become a very popular official. He took a prominent place in athletics, being a member of the Beaver football and hockey teams. Mr. DesBrisay is a graduate of the Rothery Collegiate school, and his matriculation in that school was a great success.

The annual meeting of the hospital commission was held yesterday and little business was transacted. Miss N. E. L. McDonald was graduated from the hospital training course here, having completed successfully her three years of training.

David Cotterly of the North End, lost four fingers as a result of having his hand caught in the sausage machine in the meat shop of Frank M. Gorham, Main street, the accident took place about six o'clock last night. Dr. McInerney was summoned and rendered the necessary medical assistance. The injured man was later taken to the Public Hospital.

As early as 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning people began to gather in front of Waterbury & Rising's Union street store waiting an opportunity to be the first to purchase the new line of boots and shoes so extensively advertised during the past week. Anticipating a big rush a large staff of salesmen were in readiness, and the goods had been so conveniently and mysteriously arranged that purchasers were able to make their selections with little or no trouble. That genuine bargains are to be had is evidenced from the fact that the biggest day's business ever done in a shoe store in St. John was recorded there yesterday.

ATTACHED BY WOLVES
Two Turner Lumber Company Employees Tread by Band

WORTHINGTON, Algona, June 7.—While Donald McDonald and August Nitz, land inspectors for the Turner Lumber Company, were carrying their camping outfit and canoe from a lumber camp to a small lake about a mile from the camp, they were attacked by a band of wolves. McDonald was travelling a few rods in advance of Nitz when the wolves attacked him. Nitz, seeing the danger, dropped the canoe and made his way up a tree, but his partner was not so lucky, and he had to face the pack, with nothing but a small axe. With this he succeeded in killing one of the savage animals, Nitz then seeing McDonald's danger endeavored to attract their attention by taking off his coat and waving it in the air. This brought the whole pack down to Nitz, and gave McDonald a chance to make his way up a tree. Here he had to remain for several hours until the wolves gave up the watch. Then they came down and returned for their rifles and went in pursuit of the wolves. They succeeded in killing another wolf, and returned to camp with the two wolves, none the worse for their dangerous encounter.

During his stay in this city, Mr. DesBrisay has become a very popular official. He took a prominent place in athletics, being a member of the Beaver football and hockey teams. Mr. DesBrisay is a graduate of the Rothery Collegiate school, and his matriculation in that school was a great success.

The annual meeting of the hospital commission was held yesterday and little business was transacted. Miss N. E. L. McDonald was graduated from the hospital training course here, having completed successfully her three years of training.

David Cotterly of the North End, lost four fingers as a result of having his hand caught in the sausage machine in the meat shop of Frank M. Gorham, Main street, the accident took place about six o'clock last night. Dr. McInerney was summoned and rendered the necessary medical assistance. The injured man was later taken to the Public Hospital.

As early as 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning people began to gather in front of Waterbury & Rising's Union street store waiting an opportunity to be the first to purchase the new line of boots and shoes so extensively advertised during the past week. Anticipating a big rush a large staff of salesmen were in readiness, and the goods had been so conveniently and mysteriously arranged that purchasers were able to make their selections with little or no trouble. That genuine bargains are to be had is evidenced from the fact that the biggest day's business ever done in a shoe store in St. John was recorded there yesterday.

Two Turner Lumber Company Employees Tread by Band

WORTHINGTON, Algona, June 7.—While Donald McDonald and August Nitz, land inspectors for the Turner Lumber Company, were carrying their camping outfit and canoe from a lumber camp to a small lake about a mile from the camp, they were attacked by a band of wolves. McDonald was travelling a few rods in advance of Nitz when the wolves attacked him. Nitz, seeing the danger, dropped the canoe and made his way up a tree, but his partner was not so lucky, and he had to face the pack, with nothing but a small axe. With this he succeeded in killing one of the savage animals, Nitz then seeing McDonald's danger endeavored to attract their attention by taking off his coat and waving it in the air. This brought the whole pack down to Nitz, and gave McDonald a chance to make his way up a tree. Here he had to remain for several hours until the wolves gave up the watch. Then they came down and returned for their rifles and went in pursuit of the wolves. They succeeded in killing another wolf, and returned to camp with the two wolves, none the worse for their dangerous encounter.

COUNCIL RATIFIED CUSHING'S DISMISSAL BY BOARD OF WORKS, HAMM AND LEWIS MAY

Latter Thinks That Ex-Director Will Have Claim Against the City—Recorder Will Look Into the Matter—Ald. Baxter's Strong Speech—Engineer Peters Appointed Director Temporarily—Council Refused Chipman House as Gift.

After a stormy session the Common Council yesterday afternoon accepted the recommendation of the Board of Works and R. H. Cushing has been retired from the position of director of public works. Until the next appointment is made Consulting Engineer Peters will be in charge of the department. As a result of the council's decision on this question, they did not pass the recommendation that the director be instructed to proceed at once with the restoration of Union street according to the plan and estimate submitted by him, which estimate amounted to $25,750. This question is sent back to the board with power to act. Ald. Kelley strongly opposed the city having anything to do with the Chipman House, and as a result the offer of the building board of the Y. M. C. A. to give the city the building was declined with thanks.

The following were present: Mayor Deane, presiding; Aldermen Yarnart, Lewis, Hamm, Willet, Holder, Sprague, Rowan, Sproule, Kelley, Baxter, Christie, Baskin, McGoldrick and Pickett.

The recommendations of the Board of Water and Sewerage were first read.

The Entering Wedge

Ald. McGoldrick said that from conversation with Engineer Barbour he understood that nearly all the pipes in the city have to be renewed. These recommendations are just the entering wedge. There is no telling, he said, where the expenditure will end. The taxes are already too high.

Ald. Baxter said that Ald. McGoldrick's remarks were to the point. There was no doubt from the engineer's report that a good many of the pipes through the city are in a bad state of decay. The report from Engineer Hunter is also not far from reassuring in regard to the extension work. The conduit on No. 2 section is not yet satisfactory. Testing has shown numerous leaks. A large amount of work may yet have to be done.

Barbour's Remuneration

Ald. Frink thought that there should be some arrangement between Engineer Barbour and the city and the engineer's remuneration fixed for the work during the distribution testing. There had been a definite rate of remuneration while the work of construction was going on.

Some of the aldermen offered the information that the engineer was to be paid $25 a day and expenses while here on the city's affairs. Engineer Hunter receives $200 a month.

Ald. Baskin thought that there should be a clear understanding in the matter. He moved that the chairman of the water board look into the question and report.

Ald. Frink said that he would do so. The report of the public works was then taken up.

MINNESOTA WOULD SHUT OUT THE STANDARD OIL

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 6.—The State of Minnesota through Attorney General A. E. T. Young is about to begin suit to oust the Standard Oil Company from the state. The suit will be based upon an alleged violation of the so-called Hinton law which provides that the price of oil must be uniform throughout the state, allowance being made for shipping charges. Independent oil dealers have complained to the attorney general that May 13 the Standard Oil Company was selling in St. Paul a brand of oil known as "water white" for seven and a half cents a gallon, while the same oil was being sold in other communities at from 10 to 12 1/2 cents a gallon.

AUTOMOBILE TEST RACE ENDED IN ONE DEATH

But Two Other Persons Were Badly Injured—One of the Autos Collided With an Electric Car.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 6.—The 300 mile endurance automobile run under the auspices of the Albany Automobile Club, ended in the loss of one life and the more or less serious injury to two other persons, about three miles east of Albany, shortly after six o'clock tonight, when one of the automobiles crashed into an electric car. Clarence McKenzie, of New York, president of the Standard Brake Company, was killed instantly.

W. H. Mosier, a New York bicycle policeman, and W. J. Swan, of New Britain, Conn., chauffeur, are in the local hospitals. Mosier is badly hurt. Swan is said not to be seriously hurt.

The scene of the collision was at Clinton Heights, a station on the Albany & Hudson third rail electric system. The main road, a state highway, crosses the tracks at this point and there is steep incline, the automobile going down the hill and the car coming up a steep grade. The machine was making good time when it crashed into the car. The occupants were thrown from the automobile. McKenzie being hurled over an electric cable suspended several feet above the ground. His head was badly crushed and it is believed that death was instantaneous. The injured men were taken to hospitals in Albany.

McKenzie's body was taken to Rensselaer, Swan, New Dover, a well-known automobilist. Eighteen of the machines which started from New York finished before 11 o'clock tonight, the first arriving shortly after 6 o'clock and the others coming in at short intervals.

The automobilists reported that the trip was a hard one, the rain and poor roads interfering with both speed and pleasure.

SIMPLE DEMOCRACY.

(Winnipeg Telegram.)

The American College of Arms, with the United States business acumen and knowledge of the advantages of a practical Protective doctrine, announces that it will send you the certificate, reproducing your crest and arms in color, and on parchment, and giving your family a prior right to use them in America.

There is a rent of international difficulties in the last statement. It may be that the Governor-General of Canada, on a visit to New York, will find that John, Peter, or Robert Grey, of Siskont, Michigan, has an exclusive right to the Grey crest and that he will be compelled to use the hotel-stationery.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 8, 1907.

THE RUMMAGE SALE.

The Rummage Sale, so-called, has had a remarkable development in St. John, and is now regarded with greater favor as a money-making institution than almost any other of those functions in the management of which women excel and in a very short space of time this popularity has been achieved. This is due to the fact that these alleged sales are money savers for those who dispose of goods as well as those who buy. Formerly householders paid teamsters for hauling rubbish to the dumps, today they send a message to the promoters of a sale and have it carried away for nothing. They rid their houses of useless litter and at the same time assist not only the poor, but whatever charitable organization may be in need of funds.

Some three years ago the first genuine rubbish sale in the present day was held in St. John, in the store on Union street now occupied by Mr. Brown. All persons were requested to send clothing, hats, boots, dishes, books, furniture, and articles of any description whatever, which had outlived their usefulness to the owners but which might be of some little value to others. The response was overwhelming, and in spite of the fact that ridiculously low prices were demanded, the sale netted upwards of three hundred dollars. That started the game, and since then there have been rummage or rubbish sales so limited to the amount of stuff to be disposed of, and the crowds thronging the bargain counters would almost indicate that half the people of St. John are seeking cheap clothing. There are many unpleasant features about these sales. The ladies in charge are called upon to work strenuously in an atmosphere of dust, microbes and peculiar smells. All sorts and conditions of people haunt the rooms; shop-lifters, second-hand dealers, and idlers mingle with earnest buyers and deserving poor and it is most difficult to properly deal with all. There is more work about one rummage sale than in half a dozen church teas; and the patrons criticize the goods offered, even though they are practically given away in a most heart-breaking manner. Still the sales are always successful. If some "second hand" man succeeds in selling a pair of shoes, a hat, or a coat, he knows that numbers of deserving persons have been made happy. There are funny incidents to be witnessed, and pathetic ones too, for comedy and pathos are always intermingled when human nature is given free play as is done at these sales. Long live the rubbish, and those who sell it.

LOCH LOMOND EXTENSION.

There is every indication that before very long the Loch Lomond water extension will develop into one of the most serious complications with which the government of this city has ever been called upon to deal. Already a sum amounting to half a million dollars has been spent; the job has been delayed more than a year longer than was anticipated, and the new pipe lines are not yet perfect. The contractors are unpaid, and while the work has in a sense been taken over by the city, large sums are being held back until the engineers submit reports to the effect that everything is satisfactory. There will without doubt be litigation over what shall be allowed as extras, and it is intimated that when the matter comes before the courts some rather startling evidence will be submitted. The engineer feels that certain portions of the work should be regarded as coming under the contract; the men who built the pipe lines insist that owing to imperfect information in the preparing of plans it was necessary to perform more than was anticipated. This dispute will lead on to others and there is every prospect of a long drawn out and costly struggle. The extra outlay of a few thousand dollars will not be regarded as anything serious provided the new system is what it was expected to be, but whether it will prove thoroughly satisfactory or not will not be known until a proper working test has been made and this cannot be done for some considerable time.

AN OLD NEWSPAPER.

A despatch from Peking says, "The newspaper King Pao Metropolitan News has just celebrated the 50th anniversary of its existence. During these centuries it has not been a rare occurrence for the editorial staff to be headed in front of or even inside the editorial offices when the news which the paper printed displaced the court, but there has never been a time when persons could not be found who were willing to risk their lives by accepting the position of editor of the King Pao."

As it was in the days of old, so is it at the present time. There are always men ready to risk their scalps, but in this age few are called upon to part with them. Newspaper writers are seldom killed, though people often feel like putting them out of the way.

EARLY MORNING.

When steals the gloom of early morn,
Sweet tincturing the Eastern sky,
With colors from Aurora's brush,
Brighter than gold or Tyrean dye,

The balmy breeze, with scented breath,
All freighted with the song of birds,
Low whispers from the leafy bowers,
And lowing of the distant herds.

Through ambient air, the sunshine's touch
Rouses from sleep the drowsy earth,
While nodding flowers obtrude make,
And with sweet incense greet its birth.

Like wavelets on a golden sea,
All sparkling with the vernal rain,
The shadows of the fleecy clouds
Fit softly o'er the bending grain.

On river's bank the lily sweet
Drinks fragrance from the mountain stream,
Whose flashing waters wildly leap,
Bathed in the sunshine's fitful gleam.

The pale mists on the distant hills,
Reluctant leave their ancient seat,
As coy and sad they fade away
Before the morning's tripping feet.

A wealth of beauty floods the sky,
A wealth of fragrance fills the air;
And gladdened Nature lifts her voice
To banish darkness and despair.

"That house I have taken from you," said the dissatisfied tenant, "is horribly drafty. When I am sitting in the middle of the room my hair blows all over my head. Can't you do something for the windows?"

"Don't you think, sir," replied the house agent, suavely, "it would be easier and cheaper for you to get your hair cut?"

"Yes," said the young man, pensively, "a dog I once had saved my life." "Tell me about it," said the young woman, with eager earnestness.

"I sold him for £2," said the young man, "when I was nearly starving."

"They tell me you kissed Miss Sonnet, the poetess, on yesterday's automobile excursion," said the young woman, with eager earnestness.

"Indeed! And how did you—ah—find her?"

"Miss Sonnet has a marked literary taste."

Patience—The girl that goes about with an anchor embroidered on the sleeve of her jacket, is she a yachtswoman?

"Not at all, then?"

"Oh, you know, an anchor is the symbol of hope."

SATURDAY SERMONETTE

PLANNING FOR VACATION.

Some people have been planning all winter. They laid their plans when they wrote to Uncle Rubie to "come down to the city and bring Aunt Jerushie with you and make us a good, long visit."

Although Uncle Rubie couldn't leave home and Aunt Jerushie went down one day and back the next, that invitation and Aunt Jerushie's call ought to be good for three or four weeks out-put at the farm, and so in the good old strawberry and cream time the city cousins will come down to Uncle Rubie's like the "wolf on the fold," and the poor old farmer will come to the conclusion that he would rather have a mortgage on the farm than a city family on for six weeks. Oh, you are going to give your country cousins a good time and make them very glad this summer, and don't you forget it, but the best time you will give them and the gladdest day they will have will be the day you pack your trunks and say "good bye, my dear," and the city cousins will come down to Uncle Rubie's like the "wolf on the fold," and the poor old farmer will come to the conclusion that he would rather have a mortgage on the farm than a city family on for six weeks.

Do you know what a hard time you gave them at the farm? No, you don't, for you don't know enough. Let me tell you.

First, they have to work hard, for you know how hard it is to get help, and instead of your helping you hindered. "Oh, but I helped to wash the dishes and set the table, and peeled the potatoes and hulled the strawberries, and did ever so many things besides, and auntie said I was a great help." Yes, and you got into such a "fix" when you washed the dishes that you broke a plate and one of the best cups, and threw a spoon and fork out with the dish water, and when you peeled the potatoes instead of peeling half an inch thick and potatoes two dollars a barrel—and when you hulled the strawberries, the third one went into your mouth, and your aunt had to say, "no, I don't care for strawberries, thank you, for you ate her share up when you hulled them."

And then you flirted with Cousin Sue's beau and took them until the next Christmas to make up, and you flirted with Fred, your cousin, until the hunch basket, and when you were gone she had a good rest and signed with content as she said, "now for a good long day without the bother of them girls."

When the whole family goes to the country the children get the new drive the "setting" hen off the nest, leave the gates open, tramp through the garden, and when you are gone you get sick and won't die.

"How much longer them folks going to stay, mother?" asks Joshua when all the hunch basket, and when you are gone she had a good rest and signed with content as she said, "now for a good long day without the bother of them girls."

SOCIALIST SUNDAY

SCHOOLS IN LONDON

Where Children are Taught the Advanced Principles

And are Urged to Look Upon the Wealthy Classes as Undesirables and the Poor as Martyrs.

LONDON, June 8.—The Socialist Sunday schools continue to prosper and some of the members of the Liberal government are trying to plan a way to put an end to these Sunday schools as they are at present constituted without interfering with the traditional British right to free speech.

Here are some extracts from the Socialist Sunday school catechism: How many classes are there? Two. Aristocrats and working people. Who are the aristocrats? Those who enjoy wealth without working for it. Who are the workers? Men who work for wages and receive only a portion of what they earn, the other part going to keep the idle classes.

The rich capitalist class who will not employ men unless they can make a profit. What is the consequence? The men able and willing to work for food cannot get food for their wives and children. Do men and women die of hunger in England? Yes, in the midst of plenty. Do savages starve in the midst of plenty? No, when there is plenty of food they all rejoice and feast and make merry. Here are a few lines from the Socialist Sunday school hymn book:

These kings defile us with their power,
We want no war within the land;
Let soldiers strike; for peace call louder,
Lay down arms and join hand in hand.

Should these vile monsters still determine
They'll know full soon the kind of
Our bullets hit in this last fight.

Mrs. (Capt) Clinch and her sister, Miss Mabel Thomson, arrived in the city yesterday on the Montreal train. Miss Thomson has been visiting Mrs. Clinch in India.

A. D. McRae of Halifax is registered at the Royal.

A QUEER COINCIDENCE

While a serial story was running in a certain magazine a lady in Johannesburg wrote to the publisher asking whether Christian Lys (the author's nom de plume) was assumed or not. She herself was a Mrs. Lys, who was trying to trace an ancestor of her late husband, who was a descendant of John of Arc. Mr. Brebner, the author in question, wrote assuring her that his pen name was a family one, his forbears having come from Aberdeen. Strangely enough, it came out that her family name was also Brebner—Fall Mall Gazette.

ANARCHISTS IN PLOT TO KILL THE KAISER

Thirty-Five Persons Arrested in Raid on Russian Reds in Berlin.

BERLIN, June 8.—Wholesale arrests of Russian students which were carried out with all secrecy by the Berlin police yesterday, were the result of accumulative evidence that the arrested persons were associated with a Russian-German anarchist plot to assassinate the Kaiser.

Among the incriminating matter which has fallen into the hands of the police, are recipes for the manufacture of explosives and bombs and definite proofs that the leading anarchists have been unduly concerned themselves with the person and movements of the emperor. Thirty-five persons were taken into custody altogether, including three women. Twenty-five were released later in the day upon the establishment of their comparative innocence. The remaining ten were kept in jail over night, and today six of them, including one woman, were expelled from the country as "obnoxious foreigners." The other four are held for trial—three on a charge of criminal conspiracy and one for resisting arrest.

It was necessary for the police to proceed harshly while carrying out the arrests, for one woman and one man made desperate efforts to escape.

The places raided were two so-called "reading rooms," maintained in different parts of the city as the ostensible headquarters for Russian men and women, studying at the University of Berlin, the technical school at Charlottenburg, and other local institutions. It came to the knowledge of the police some days ago, however, that the rooms were really the headquarters of large numbers of Russian students who comprise the "Berlin Group of the Russian Terrorists League," and were used as bases of co-operation with the most dangerous German anarchist groups for the propagation of terrorism's principles.

Among the documents and articles captured during yesterday's raid were numerous copies of German and Russian anarchist publications, incriminating correspondence of various kinds, and elaborate paraphernalia for the production of false passports for fugitive Russian terrorists and Socialists.

Miss Hooper of Kingston arrived in the city yesterday and will visit Mrs. James F. Robertson at Rothesay.

AVALANCHE THREATENS A SWISS VILLAGE

Already Several Houses Have Been Carried Away—The Baker Sinks to His Work.

GENEVA, June 8.—Federal engineers and peasants are making a brave effort to save the little tourist resort of Chaudes-Fasses, which was swept away by the slowly advancing avalanche.

Walls have been hastily erected and trenches dug in the hope of checking vance steadily and is increasing in breadth and height.

Two more houses have been destroyed within a week. The Bear Hotel which is in the path of the avalanche has been deserted. A baker, named Brove, is one of the few residents of the village who absolutely refuses to quit his home. He is still daily baking bread for the rescuers.

The Swiss government has taken official cognizance of the matter and has despatched $100 for the relief of the suffering and the homeless.

To our minds our name, "The National Cloak Co.," is our principal asset. We regard those four little words to be worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, and it is advertising sales that have given them this value.—G. Rosenbaum, National Cloak Co., N. Y.

to know the purport of the telegram and eagerness to hear more of the conversation between the Merridews. She decided in favor of the former, and leaving her hiding place, she ran down stairs after the valet. As she reached the hall she saw that the door leading to the disused wing of the house stood open; and in an instant guessed what it meant.

where she had hidden it, and was positive that no one had a suspicion that any such thing was even in the house. It must have been changed while in Mrs. Taunton's keeping; or else the wrong paper had been stolen in the first instance.

a pair of small brown eyes, restless, furtive, and hunted in expression. Old, haggard, lined and repugnant as the face was, Olive recognized at once as that of the man whose photograph she had found in Mrs. Merridew's desk—George Purvis; and it suggested a resemblance to some other face she had seen recently, but could not place.

coolness of long experience. "Why did you come here?" "That's a good one, that is. Where should I come if not home? I suppose you thought I should trot off to Chicago, eh? Satisfied you deal better, wouldn't it?"

He'd better get out. The same house won't hold us two long, and I'm going to have the say so in this house; mind that."

wife, she must have married him, knowing well that she was already married to her father, supposing that that marriage had really taken place; and it was with a sinking heart that she saw how Purvis's story, so far as she had heard it, confirmed the Merridews' statement.

She shrank close into her hiding-place as he came on. "I recognized that the sooner the fell work was done the less would be the risk? Was murder in his thoughts?"

Easily Laundered Shirtwaist Suits

Illustration by Anna M. Hays

EVERY woman knows the disadvantage of possessing soft, white, filmy and diaphanous gowns, except for really "dress-up" occasions. Granting that there is nothing quite so beautiful as the sheer white gown, on the other hand there is nothing more extravagant because of the exquisite care and careful handling it must receive. The delicate blues and pinks also belong in the same category as the white gown, if they, too, are of the sheerest material.

Shirtwaist suits, while not so soft and clinging as the dainty batistes, mousselines and milks, have the distinct advantage of being easily laundered, and their wearers always look fresh and cool, even when the mercury is in the nineties. Each season, too, brings out more attractive materials, which make up charmingly, and the lines suitable for shirtwaist suits were certainly never lovelier than they are this year.

The first model shown today is of natural colored linen with bands of the same material on the skirt. The yoke and collar are formed of two bands of Irish lace, one being used for the collar, the other for the shallow yoke, which is applied on soft white handkerchief linen. The waist proper has two stitched side pleats on each shoulder, to give the necessary fullness to it, and it is cut into a low square in an imitation wall-of-Troy design. Pearl buttons are used for trimming. Deep caps of linen form the upper sleeves, while the under sleeves are of soft white handkerchief linen, with cuffs of Irish lace to match the yoke. A mushroom panama, with a band of pongee colored ribbon thrust jauntily through a gilt buckle, is worn with this little suit. Pongee may also be used to develop the gown.

Another graceful costume, which has a slight sweep and is developed in a soft violet gingham, is not only inexpensive, but easy to make. The skirt has a stitched box pleat in front, with a side pleat on each side. The side gores give the effect of inverted plaits, which have three stitched straps, trimmed with pearl buttons. The waist is rather strictly tailored in the same box-pleated effect as the skirt, with two additional side pleats on each side. The yoke is cut quite deep, in a novel shape, and the shoulder seams are adorned with pearl buttons. The collar is of hand-tucked soft white linen, and has as a finishing touch a cravat of black. Striped black-and-white gingham also makes up effectively in this style. A large white chip hat, edged with black taffeta and with a huge bow of black taffeta ribbon, is worn with this costume.

The third frock is exceptionally girlish, and is developed in pale pink linen, trimmed with white embroidery, put on in a new and Frenchy way. The use of lace edging is much newer and more effective, by the way, than insertion. The skirt is made very full, with a box pleat in front and graduated side tucks, in order to insure a perfect fit over the hips. Two rows of tucks, in clusters of four, edged with embroidery, run around the skirt. The blouse, which is in jumper effect, has tucks over the bust, also, to give additional fullness. The upper part is finished with embroidery, and trimming of the same runs in band effect from yoke to waist line. The yoke is of allover embroidery. A full puff, with a band of the embroidery and an undersleeve of pink linen, finishes this charming costume. The black ribbon velvet bows and pink hat worn is of soft material, with roses.

Costume No. 4 is of white linen, and has a nine-gored sweep skirt with four bands of linen all around. This sweep, by the way, is a characteristic of all the French models, which are either very long or in round length. The American woman, however, who has become emancipated, so far as skirts are concerned, will be very apt to cut hers much shorter. The jumper waist has stitched bands, also, and is left open in front to show the embroidered underblouse. Straps are cut on the right side of waist, and finish underneath the left side, with hooks and eyes. White pearl buttons finish these straps. A black straw hat with a sweeping plume is worn with this gown.

Shirtwaist suits are not only made of linens, ginghams and pongees, but they are to be seen in white flannels, also, for seashore and general outing wear.

The belts worn with these gowns are of moire ribbon bolting, in plain colors, and also in stripes and plaids. Many shirtwaist suits are shown in stripes and plaids, particularly blacks and whites, and with these the black belt is worn.

Women with good figures still like the corselet skirt. A smart suit recently seen was in hop-green chiffon broadcloth, worn with a wide-sleeved bolero, embroidered and applied with stitched strappings. With it was worn a chemise of Alencon and Irish lace.

Silver in braids or fancy trimmings is much used on the pale gray fabrics now so much in vogue.

A novelty in high shoes is of mordore leather, fastened with little tabs instead of buttons or laces.

Taffeta petticoats, trimmed with embroideries, are a decided novelty.

Fashion Jottings

LACE on lingerie, while still much in favor, is less popular than embroidery for trimming the corset cover intended for ordinary wear. The latter both lasts longer and washes better than lace, even the durable German valenciennes.

A simple dress may be given quite an air by wearing with it one of the new ruches that are so fashionable just now. The latest ones are long and stole shaped. A lovely one recently seen was made of cluny lace, the design lightly covered with tiny ruches, but not so closely as to conceal the pattern of the lace.

A very novel collar is made of many ruches of tulle mixed with velvet baby ribbon in black and white, the black velvet forming flowers.

A striking new hat pin is of the mother of pearl now so fashionable for trimmings, belt buckles, studs and cuff buttons. It has a head as large as a pigeon's egg.

The quaint and becoming cloche shape so much in evidence this season may be developed charmingly in a hat of fine chip in a soft pastel pink, with a full wreath of shaded pink roses for the chief trimming. The flowers pass over the brim toward the back, and are arranged under the brim in a decorative choux of tulle and a knot of black velvet ribbon.

the frills and dounces to which it lends itself. Real lace will be worn by every one who can possibly afford it, and real cluny or bruges is seen even on simple morning frocks of batiste or linen.

A new neckpiece of chiffon is a kind of ruche, wide at the back and narrowing to the front, made like the ruffs of the time of Henry IV. There is a knot of black velvet at the back, with ends and loops falling to the waist.

Gilt or silvered ribbon maintains its popularity.

A stylish hat to accompany a tailor suit is of rough straw in royal blue, trimmed with a parrot with a fine tail, and two "arral" quills. The drapery of brick red silk matches the color of the bird's tail.

THE PRINCE OF MONACO IS NOT POPULAR IN GERMANY

People Believe He is Working in the Interests of France—A Syndicate of Kings Build a Monument to the Prince.

MONTRE CARLO, June 8.—The latest thing in syndicates is a syndicate of Kings which has been got together by the German Emperor. The object of its formation was to present to the Prince of Monaco a monument in recognition of his services to science. It is to be erected in the Museum of Deep Sea Exploration erected by the Prince of Monaco near Monte Carlo. The money for this monument has been raised by the Kaiser and the other sovereigns of Europe. The execution of the monument was entrusted to M. Dreyfus, the celebrated French sculptor. It represents Prince Albert on the bridge of his yacht, his mirror in his hand, looking thoughtfully out into the distance. The Prince of Monaco has taken the leading part in the erecting of this monument has not given much pleasure in Berlin where the Prince of Monaco happens not to be very popular. In political circles it is considered that the Prince is simply an underdog. Felix Faure saw. It was half an hour after the Prince of Monaco left the Elysee that Faure was struck by that apopleptic stroke which carried him off. The prince had just returned from Berlin and the communication which he brought the president of the republic in regard to the Dreyfus affair was that he would be possible to resist the demand for a revision. The president of the republic, however, was opposed by one of the Chamber and the owner of a powerful newspaper, with certain views of a scandalous nature into his (the president's) family if he dared to make any move against the second government. The prince's views were directly but not a scandalous one. It was the terrible dilemma in which he found himself that brought about the second apopleptic stroke to which he succumbed. So bitter were the struggles between the Dreyfus and the Kaiser that there were even wild rumors at one time that he committed suicide rather than he would be forced to see the Kaiser again put his good offices at the disposal of the German government. He has done his best to smooth away the Moroccan imbroglio. This has earned for him a reputation as a man of peace and of things the Order of the Black Eagle.

FINE ENTERTAINMENT BY LOCAL AMATEURS

The Empire Dramatic Club carried out an interesting programme last night in the rooms of the Every Day Club to assist the grounds fund of the club. "The Troubles of Moses," and "A Visit from Mayfair," were admirably presented and the actors, who include two or three gentlemen whose faces are familiar in newspaper news, represented the various characters in a style which would be a credit to professionals. The list of those taking part included: A. E. McGinley, A. G. Boyne, Jr., Mrs. H. G. Taylor, Miss Laura Gleason and Miss Agatha Maxwell. The musical programme, which was of a high character, included whistling solos by Walter Nixon, vocal solos by Master Henry H. Freeto and Miss Edw. Wallace, the accompanists being A. G. French Ambassador, and that he devotes his whole influence with the Emperor (which happens to be considered a fair and a judicial view of all of these matters, affecting as they did the French as well as the Germans, the last person whom M. Felix Faure saw. It was half an hour after the Prince of Monaco left the Elysee that Faure was struck by that apopleptic stroke which carried him off. The prince had just returned from Berlin and the communication which he brought the president of the republic in regard to the Dreyfus affair was that he would be possible to resist the demand for a revision. The president of the republic, however, was opposed by one of the Chamber and the owner of a powerful newspaper, with certain views of a scandalous nature into his (the president's) family if he dared to make any move against the second government. The prince's views were directly but not a scandalous one. It was the terrible dilemma in which he found himself that brought about the second apopleptic stroke to which he succumbed. So bitter were the struggles between the Dreyfus and the Kaiser that there were even wild rumors at one time that he committed suicide rather than he would be forced to see the Kaiser again put his good offices at the disposal of the German government. He has done his best to smooth away the Moroccan imbroglio. This has earned for him a reputation as a man of peace and of things the Order of the Black Eagle.

SECOND BIGGEST BOULDER WAS DUG UP THURSDAY

It Weighed Upwards of Sixty Tons—Lots of Heavy Rock on the New Wharf Site.

The Beaver has been doing some heavy lifting this week at the west side. In the wharf site which is now being dug another lot of boulders has been found, and on one day no less than thirteen were taken out. On Thursday, however, the dredge found one much larger than the rest. After an hour's work it was safely lifted and deposited on the bank in the rear of the old wharf where it is now being drilled preparatory to dynamiting. This boulder measured about twenty-six cubic yards and could largest that has yet been found, and largest that has yet been found.

NICKEL LOBBY LIKE A HOME NURSERY

Mispep Mother and Her Children, Mistaking the Hour of Opening, Camped Out and Were Happy.

The tidy lobby of the Nickel Theatre looked much like a nursery yesterday forenoon when a Mispep mother and her interesting family of four little children arrived too early for the opening performance.
The woman from outside town told the Nickel people that she mistook the hour of opening and had come a long distance, whereupon she and her children were made quite comfortable, and at dinner time a lunch was produced for the toddling wee girls and boys, likewise the infant in arms.
When the show started the children and parent were delighted, for they saw it over twice, and it is doubtful if ever the affectionate mother was so busy in giving a pleasant day's outing to her pretty babies.
Indeed Nickel attendants are called upon daily to exercise some judgment in affairs having a domestic phase, and children are as safe in their care as if home with father or a big brother.

TWO ST. JOHN BABIES ARE UNDER SPECIAL TREATMENT

The child was born with a slight deformity, which parents and medical advisers say might be rectified before the child becomes older. However, the operation is said to be a precarious one.

WHARFAGE RATES TO BE INCREASED

Aldermen and Transportation Officials to Meet

For the Purpose of Re-arranging the Present Schedule—Want More Revenue To Meet Expenses

A meeting will be called for some day early next week to consider a re-adjustment of the schedule of harbor fees as applied to winterport freight. Representatives of the various transportation companies will be asked to attend to participate in the discussion. It is the purpose to increase the wharfage tolls that they may provide a larger revenue for the city, and more nearly approach the rates paid in Montreal and other ports.

St. John first asked the steamship companies to pay during the winter of 1906, and for the portion of that year the receipts amounted to, roughly, seventeen thousand dollars. During the past year there has been an increase, the revenue being slightly over twenty-one thousand, but this would have been even better were it not that the trade fell off owing to peculiar weather conditions.

The schedule at present in effect, and which was arranged after consultation with its shipping companies, was originally regarded as tentative only, merely a start for a proper system of rates to be afterwards adjusted according to the growth of traffic. It is now felt that St. John, which is annually spending very large sums not only in the general maintenance of the deep water wharves but in providing interest and sinking fund for the indebtedness incurred for construction, should receive a more adequate return.

The revenue during the past year or two has not been sufficient to meet running expenses and should at least be doubled. The existing rates are for different classes of goods, from twenty-five to seventy-five per cent. lower than those paid at Montreal, and it is felt that a marked increase might be made without imposing any unfair tax on the transportation companies.
It is proposed to increase not only the wharfage charges, but also the storage rates paid by merchants for goods in warehouses or on the wharves for months. An extra five cents per ton was put on coal a short time ago, and it is proposed to be made to apply to other commodities.

W. E. SCULLY IS EVIDENTLY SPOILING FOR A FIGHT

He Dares the St. John Ice Co. to Continue the Case Against Him.

To the Editor of the "Star."
Sir—The Saint John Ice Company are making a big blow over what they call their victory over me. What does it all amount to? They made two charges to the Railway Commission; namely, first that the New Brunswick Southern Railway Company was making an unlawful discrimination in carrying for me ice by the cartload at the price of five dollars per car and that this price was refused to them; second, that there was no tariff for ice, and that the Railway Commission charging a rate per cartload.
The first charge was found against them, the evidence given on my part as to discrimination not being endorsed. On the second charge it was admitted by the Railway Commission that there was a technical violation of the railway law in neglecting to file a special tariff for cartload lots.
You will see by examining the report of the Commissioner that he states this was not wilfully done by Mr. Wetmore. The Saint John Ice Company have evidently taken this prosecution to drive me out of business. Since the ice business was started at Spruce Lake (over twenty years ago) the rate has always been by cartload lots. Let me say this to the Saint John Ice Company: They cannot buy me out or frighten me out of business. I propose to continue. Everyone knows that if I time ago, and that the price of ice would go up to twice the figure it is now selling for. I defy the ice company to continue proceedings against me. I propose to fight them to the end. British justice will never allow the law to be used to prosecute a business rival and create a monopoly.
W. E. SCULLY.

PYTHIANS NOT IN FAVOR OF STRIPES ON THEIR TROUSERS

NORFOLK, Va., June 7.—The Supreme Assembly of the Uniform Rank, Knights of Pythias of the world today voted down the proposition for a change in uniform so as to place stripes down the side of the trousers as a mark of distinction. Massachusetts and New Jersey alone favored it. General Land, of Chicago, declared that his brigade would not march in line with the Massachusetts brigade if the latter placed stripes on the trousers.

GETTING ALONG WELL WITH THE ROCKWOOD PAVILION

Rapid progress is being made in the construction of Frank White's pavilion at Rockwood Park. For some weeks past, a large crew of men have been employed and Mr. White desires to have the large structure completed about July 1st. The pavilion is situated on the northern side of the lake. It is on a hill almost directly in the rear of the boat house. The site chosen is a prominent one, and persons see the building when first entering the park property.
One attraction which is to be offered this summer and which is sure to be a success, is the renting of boats. Some years ago boats were for hire on the lake and on a fine afternoon or evening the lake would be crowded with persons enjoying a row. The bus service to the park this summer will be the best that can be provided. Buses will leave the head of King street at appointed hours and persons desiring to go to the park will only be required to walk to King street. The fare will be five cents.
