DON'T GIVE UP

The use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One bottle may not cure "right off" a complaint, but a general rule, improvement follows shortly after beginning the use of this medicine. With many people, the effect is immediately noticeable, but some constitutions are less susceptible to medicinal influences than others, and the curative process may, therefore, in such cases, be less prompt. Persistence in using this remedy is sure of its reward at last. Sooner or later, the most stubborn blood diseases yield to

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For several years, in the spring months, I used to be troubled with a jumpy, tired feeling, and a dull pain in the small of my back, so bad, at times, as to prevent my being able to walk, the least motion causing me severe distress. Frequently, boils and rashes would break out on various parts of the body. By the advice of friends, and my family physician, I began the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla and continued it till the poison in my blood was thoroughly eradicated. L. W. English, Montpelier, Vt., Nov. 1887. "My system was all run down; my skin rough and yellowish. I tried various remedies, and while some of them gave me temporary relief, none of them did my permanent good. At last I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, continuing it exclusively for a considerable time, and am pleased to say that it completely

I presume my liver was very much out of order, and the blood impure in consequence. I feel that I cannot too highly recommend Ayer's Sarsaparilla to any one afflicted as I was. —Mrs. N. A. Smith, Glover, Vt. "For years I suffered from scrofula and blood diseases. The doctors' prescriptions and several so-called blood-purifiers being of no avail, I was at last advised by a friend to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I did so, and now feel like a new man, being fully restored to health." —C. N. Fink, Decatur, Iowa.

A TIMELY WITNESS; OR THE COXSAIN'S SENTENCE.

BY RUFUS HALE.

For many long days the Dauntless, brig-of-war, one of the vessels of our commodore's squadron for the suppression of piracy, had vainly cut and about the rocks and islands in search of the fierce desperadoes who were said to infest these shores.

One morning, while the red sunlight was struggling through a gathering haze which had just veiled from our sight a ship in the offing, a man was seen standing on a distant rock signalling the brig. The captain sent Mr. Marker—a rather supercilious young midshipman—with a cutter, containing a swivel and twenty armed men to ascertain if the signalling stranger wanted to come aboard. As the boat proceeded, and the fog thickened, Mr. Marker began to upbraid the coxswain, Granger, for his steering, though it could not be excused.

"If you don't do better," he shouted angrily, "I will have you reported."

This coxswain was particularly obnoxious to Mr. Marker, because he had lately saved the life of one of the midshipmen while he (Marker) was thinking about it. It had happened during a heavy gale. A little midshipman—the first lieutenant's son—had fallen overboard, and while Mr. Marker—whose thought was to be cautious—was hesitating as to whether he could rescue him by tying a rope to his breast and jumping overboard after him, Granger, one of the fore-mast hands, who was a spirited, intelligent young fellow of seventeen, full of quick decision and ready daring, performed the manœuvre successfully, and I brought the little fellow safely aboard. "For this little gallantry," Mr. Marker was thinking about it.

"Now mind yourself," continued Mr. Marker, as the boat approached the rock on which the form of the stranger could be dimly made out through the fog. "Be careful how you steer, or I will have you broken and put back where you were before."

The young coxswain controlled his temper, though it was hard to do so. Meanwhile the stranger descended the rock.

"You want to board the brig?" said the midshipman, watching him askance.

"He was a middle-aged man, with keen eyes, a nose slightly hooked, and he wore a long, closely fitting surtout.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

"Well, my orders were to bring you aboard—so step in, if you please."

The other entered the boat quietly, and then came the order to give way.

Just then, emerging from behind a rock, and taking a position directly ahead of the cutter at the end of a narrow passage, between two reefs appeared a large boat containing about twenty desperado-looking cutthroats, wearing woolen caps, broad sashes, and armed with pistols and dirks.

There was no mistaking these swartly fellows with their fierce, lowering visages; they belonged to the numerous horde of pirates for whom the man-of-war's men had been searching. On the evil face of the steersman, a gleam of size, might have been observed a triumphant, sardonic grin.

"Hold my fine fellows, we have you fast!" he shouted. "The hunted now have the best of the hunters!"

"We will see about that!" replied Mr. Marker. "Now, boys," he added, addressing his crew, "we must fight, and I hope you will give a good account of yourselves."

As he spoke he looked at the stranger who had been taken off the rock. The keen eyes of this man were fixed upon the outlaws, and he had produced a pistol from under his coat; but Marker suspected that he was some traitor who had purposely brought about this meeting with the pirates.

"Had not you better make use of your swivel before you close with the rascals?" he said, in a deeper voice.

"I know my own business best," answered the midshipman.

Then a troubled look crossed his face for now another boat containing a dozen more pirates, appeared from out the mist, astern of the cutter!

"We are hemmed in!" he muttered. "Traitor!" he added, addressing the stranger, "this is your work!"

"You are mistaken," was the cool reply.

"I shall keep an eye on you, at all events. Back water!" he continued, speaking to the crew. "The rascals are too many for us!"

"What do you propose to do?" inquired the stranger.

"To get out of this the best way I can, if you would like to know. Slight the swivel," he added, to the boys, "and ply the fellows ahead with it, while we try to get through that opening in the reef. Lively, boys!"

Some of the pirates already had begun to fire their pistols at the cutter's people, while the rest pulled towards the reefing boat.

An old man-of-war's man shot dead, and two others were wounded.

Then the report of the swivel was heard, but the pirates, lying well over, avoided the shot.

Before the piece could be re-labeled, the bullets from the foe were again flying thick and fast, and an hour man fell dead.

"There is a shoal astern of us, sir. We shall probably ground upon it," cried the young coxswain, Granger. "Then the pirates will have us at their mercy. Had not we better make a dash at the rascals who are firing at us? We can whip them before the others come up."

"Ay, ay, that's the best thing to do, come the deep voice of the stranger.

"Mind your own business, both of you," said Marker. "As for you, Granger, don't let me hear another word from you, or I will have you up for mutiny!"

Ere he could finish the sentence, a bullet struck him slanting on the head, inflicting a painful though not mortal wound, which threw him down dazed and bewildered, unfitting him for the command, which thus devolved upon Granger.

"Now, boys, have at them!" the coxswain shouted. "Pull ahead!"

This order was obeyed with alacrity, and with a hearty cheer.

As the cutter rapidly advanced upon the pirates, the swivel which had been re-loaded, was fired at the outlaws, killing several of their number.

Mr. Marker's eyes began to roll. He gazed round him in a bewildered manner.

"You are going the wrong way," he said in a faint voice, "or is it because my brain is whirling that I am mistaken? Retreat! We must retreat!" as his head drooped upon his breast.

"No! no! A few more strokes ahead, my lads, and we will be upon them," shouted Granger, in a ringing voice.

The next moment the cutter crashed against the other boat, with a desperate combat ensued. The pirates fought fiercely. But their opponents wielded their cut-throats and used their pistols with daring intrepidity, and with the determined energy of plucky men trained for conflict. Cheering then on, Granger threw himself into the thick of the fray, slashing right and left with a powerful arm. The stranger, with a cutlass snatched from a fallen sailor, fought like a lion, his strong, deep voice blending with the coxswain's as he laid about him with might and main. The clash of steel, the report of small arms, the hoarse cries of the cutter's men, and the tiger-like "Hi-yahs" of the pirates, echoed with strange din among the rocks. At length the outlaws were so badly cut up that they would have retreated but for the approach of their other boat with its reinforcements.

As it drew near, however, the stranger contrived to bring the swivel to bear upon this craft, and fired a shot that stove the boat, when seeing there was no longer hope for them, all the pirates made off, disappearing among the rocks.

"We are the victors," said the stranger, quietly. "A bold dash, even with the odds against you, is often better than a retreat."

"True," said Granger. "Had we continued to back away from the pirates, we should have grounded, and had the rascals in both boats upon us."

"You—ah—you disobeyed orders," said Mr. Marker, when a sip of brandy had slightly strengthened him. "I—I—will have you shot for mutiny!"

"From first to last, after you were hit, you were not fit to command, sir," replied the coxswain.

"We will see what a court martial has to say on the subject!" retorted the midshipman.

The cutter now was headed in search of the brig, which was at last sighted through the fog and boister.

The captain, on seeing the stranger, started as if surprised; then, as the latter said something to him in a low voice, he accompanied him into the cabin.

Meanwhile Mr. Marker proceeded to describe to the officer of the deck what he was pleased to term his coxswain's disobedience of orders, when the officer at once ordered Granger to be arrested and put in the brig—a place between two guns, forward, where delinquents were confined.

Sad and disconsolate, Granger now anticipated the punishment inflicted on a mutiny—death at the gallows, or by the bullets of the marines. And yet he had performed a gallant action—the only one that had saved the man-of-war's men and given them the victory. When he took upon himself the command he had known that Mr. Marker, who opposed the movement, was too much jaded and bewildered to clearly realize what he was about, but was there any hope that the members of the court-martial would believe him when he said so?

The long day and the night passed. Several times Granger had seen groups of men near him, and heard them conversing in low voices, while they glanced ominously towards him.

Next morning, just after daybreak, the boatswain was heard piping all hands on deck. Then followed the roll of the drum, after which was heard the harsh voice of the lieutenant of marines. The clattering of muskets succeeded, then the master-at-arms made his appearance in the 'brig.'

"What's up Thompson?" inquired Granger, sally.

"You're to go on deck with me," answered Thompson, with a gloomy face. "God only knows what they are going to do with you, but there's a file of marines in the gangway, with loaded muskets."

The master-at-arms, as he led the prisoner on deck. The file of marines stood like statues in the gangway. Near them was the captain, and close to him the stranger who had been taken from the rock. The crew were ranged further forward.

"Mr. Marker," said the stranger, turning to the midshipman, who stood a few paces off, "you think that a few shots would serve this fellow right?" pointing to Granger as he spoke.

"Ay, for his mutiny, his disobedience of orders," answered Marker fiercely.

"Marines," continued the stranger, "do your duty. Give the coxswain a volley—a volley in his honor. Fire over his head."

The crew started in wonder. Mr. Marker started. The marines did not budge, but looked in surprise at the speaker, who neither they nor any of the sailors had ever seen before he was seized on the rock, and yet who ordered them so peremptorily! But now quickly divesting himself of his surtout, the stranger, while at the same time the captain shouted:

"Do as you are bid, marines! He whom you see is the commodore of the squadron!"

In an instant the muskets were raised, and the volley of honor roared over Granger's head.

"Now off with his ions!" cried the commodore.

The handcuffs were quickly whipped off by the delighted master-at-arms; then the commodore addressing the crew, exhorting Granger's conduct in taking command of, and in maneuvering the cutter as he had done, after Midshipman Marker was dazed by the shot which struck him, and which, from first to last, united him for giving proper orders.

"Aye," he continued, "and I am now glad that I remained on the rock to take a view of the channels and reefs near it, while I sent my ship's barge to explore some of the labyrinthine of the isles—am ever glad that the men of the barge, for some reason or other, could not find their way back to me, so it has enabled me to be a witness to this brave coxswain's behavior, of which I fully approve, and for which he deserves reward instead of punishment. Therefore, as soon as possible, I shall see that he is promoted by receiving a midshipman's warrant, which was never more worthily earned or better deserved."

Words could not describe Granger's joy and the mortification of Mr. Marker. Many a grateful shake of the hand did the cordial coxswain receive from his shipmates and chiefs, young and old, while all hands joined in applauding the conduct of the noble and just-hearted commodore.

Local Legislature.

FREDERICTON, March 19.—On a motion to go into supply, Dr. Atwood addressed the house at some length, and a debate extending until near midnight was the result.

The house then went into committee of supply and passed several items.

Mr. Pinney asked the attorney-general, chairman of the committee on privileges, when he intended calling the committee together to consider the Kent election matter.

Mr. Blair said he had written to Mr. LeBlanc to see whether or not he desired to appear before the committee.

Mr. Hanington questioned the propriety of Mr. Blair's course in writing to Mr. LeBlanc before calling the meeting.

After some discussion in the matter the house adjourned after 1 o'clock this Friday morning.

FREDERICTON, March 20.—The house after transacting routine business this morning, adjourned until after dinner.

Mr. Melanson made his motion, seconded by Dr. Stockton, re travelling expenses of the heads of departments, etc.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell—Any information not contained in the auditor general's report will be furnished.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell submitted supplementary estimates. They are as follows: to provide for the over-expenditure of the department of public works at 31st December, 1890, including amounts voted in 1890 and not drawn, $20,972; to provide for the purchase of cattle and sheep, $20,000.

Mr. Palmer from the municipality committee submitted a report.

Hon. Mr. Blair introduced a bill respecting railways. He stated that it was intended that all railway charters should come under the general provisions of the act.

The house went into committee of supply, Mr. Palmer in the chair. When the item for public printing was under consideration Dr. Stockton said all the items for public printing should be included under that heading. Now and for some time past items that should be charged under the heading of printing were charged under other headings.

This year the bill for printing was meant to appear less than it really should be. The public printing should be put up to tender even if the competitors only included friends of the government.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell said the old government made an attempt to put up the public printing to tenders. The result had to be abandoned and the present system maintained. It was idle to suppose that fancy prices were paid for good printing. The rate on a fixed scale arranged some years ago by the Queen's printer and it was in no sense an excessive one. As to the suggestion to have all the items for public printing under one heading, the most that could be gained would be to save the opposition a little trouble in looking over the different accounts. The present method of making up the accounts showed at a glance what the printing of each department cost.

A long debate then ensued on the subject of public printing, members of both sides of the house taking part therein, at the close of which the item passed.

When the item of $95,000 for great roads and bridges was reached, Chief Commissioner Ryan addressed the committee. He said he desired while this item was under consideration to make an explanation of the expenditures in connection with the department. The total amount expended by the department last year was $143,867, as against $162,445 the year before. The difference in these amounts is made up almost altogether by the expenditures on account of the new departmental building and the lunatic asylum annex. The amount paid out during the year for roads and bridges and for general repairs was $110,408. The different items that go to make up this amount will be found in the report of the department, which report has been laid on the desks of hon. members. The amount paid to supervisors on account of new bridges, repairs of roads and culverts was $37,985 and the amount expended on bridges under special supervision was $29,253. The miscellaneous expenditures, which include amounts for road works and extra repairs to roads amounted to $13,159. The expenditure on legislative buildings and public office was $8,069, on normal school and grammar schools on lunatic asylum $1,380. It will be seen that the latter amount is greater than for the year before but hon. members would remember that last year he explained that it was necessary to provide fire escapes, so that in case of fire the unfortunates in that institution might be got out in safety. These escapes and the steam fittings and pipes, as well as the cost of insurance, accounted for the greater portion of the expenditure. Only a very small sum was expended for repairs on the asylum buildings. The amount would probably not exceed $200. The expenditure on government house was $852. This included the salary of the caretaker, the purchase of a little furniture and the expenditure on the public wharf. Next year it is estimated that the expenditure on government house will not exceed $500. The expenditure on account of steam navigation was $8,300, the estimate for this service was $6,000, but by an oversight we failed to estimate for $2,300 less on account of the Bay of Fundy service for 1889. At the close of 1889 there was an over-expenditure of $14,910 at the close of the year there appeared to be an over-expenditure of $27,017; but in order to get at the year's transactions it would be necessary to deduct the amounts provided for by a vote of last session. These amounts were as follows: for iron bridges, $6,044; for heating the new wing of the lunatic asylum, $2,255; for the balance of departmental building, $7,248; for steam navigation, $1,800; making a total of $17,348. Deduct that sum from the apparent over expenditure at the close of the year and the real balance is $9,369, as against a balance in 1889 of $14,910.

At two o'clock this morning the item passed after criticisms by Messrs. Stockton, Melanson, Hanington, Atkinson, McKeown, Phinney, Shaw and others and the house adjourned.

FREDERICTON, March 21.—No business was transacted in the house this morning.

The house went into supply this afternoon. Continuing his explanation of the previous year of the expenditures in connection with his department, Hon. Mr. Ryan said: Last year the amount paid out after the close of the fiscal year and up to the opening of the session last year was $62,066. That was exclusive of the $14,910 that appeared in the reports as over-expended in 1889. This year there had been paid out between the close of the fiscal year and the opening of this session $53,358, or $8,708 less in 1889 than in 1890. There should be deducted from the $53,358 the sum of $2,065 paid out on account of the Black River and Hampton bridges, which amount the legislature had authorized to be charged to capital account. That would leave the net amount paid out on current account since the close of the last fiscal year up to the opening of this session $50,985, as against the $62,066 paid out between the close of the fiscal year 1889 and the opening of the session of 1890.

The deficit in his department, which the opposition had charged up, was entirely an imaginary one. The over expenditure at the close of the year was as he had stated, $9,369, as against $14,910 at the close of the year 1889. While the opposition were claiming that there had been a large over expenditure in connection with his department last year, they were also finding fault because he had not expended large enough sums on the roads and bridges, which was rather an inconsistent contention. The amount appropriated for great roads and bridges was the same last year as it always had been, and no part of that was wasted so far as it was in his power to contract it.

In addition to items of expenditure enumerated by the Chief Commissioner, he said they had constructed out of current revenue the large bridge across the southwest branch of the Miramichi at a cost of $22,000. In consequence of these expenditures and having to pay some $50,000 to replace the bridges destroyed by the heavy freshets, some few years ago, the department of public works got considerably behind. He had hoped after getting through with the larger expenditures to recover from the embarrassed position in which these expenditures had placed the department. Unfortunately he had found it difficult to do so, and the result was that he had to give the Bank of British North America a letter of guarantee so as to carry over portions of amounts due from year to year for the past three years. That, no doubt, accounts for the opposition story that drafts against the department are held by persons all over the country.

He would now speak of a claim, the payment of which by this government was charged by opposition speakers and papers as being one of the conditions of the so-called Northumberland deal. He referred to the claim for extras made by John O'Brien on the bridge built some years ago by him. It was not true that the government had agreed to pay that claim. When Messrs. Gillespie and Turner were members of the board of works, they went to Newcastle and agreed to pay Mr. O'Brien $3,000 on account of a change in the specifications. That amount was paid Mr. O'Brien. After the bridge was completed Mr. O'Brien considered that he had a large claim for other work, but the amount of which he (Mr. Ryan) and Mr. O'Brien had not been able to agree upon, as Mr. O'Brien and he could never agree in respect to it. This claim had remained unadjusted to this day. That hon. gentleman is still pressing for payment of this claim, and is now a member of the so-called Northumberland deal. EDITORIAL NOTES.

As soon as the result of the late election was realized the liberal leaders and agitators of Ontario commenced to abuse the people of the Maritime Provinces because they voted to sustain the government by large majorities, and Sir Richard Cartwright in a letter to his constituents, attributed the defeat of a dozen minor provinces; draws together by the adhesion of plunder; and Mr. Laurier in a speech the other evening declared that the country would not be ruled by the tail of the Dominion, referring to New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

In referring to this matter the Toronto "Empire" says:—"For a few days past the Grit organs have not been abusing the Maritime Provinces so hard as they did at first. The wisdom of this course is apparent, for the indignation down by the sea as the wanton insults of the Grit press is very great and threatens to wipe out what is left of the party in the bye-elections. In view of this a wall came from the party managers in the east to stop the criticism, and in obedience to this sorrowful cry the organs have done, and the indignation that they were bought at so much per head is likely to rankle long in the minds of the people there."

Hon. Mr. Howland of P. E. Island, who resigned his seat in the Senate to contest Prince County in the interest of the government, and to further the interests of the tight little island by the construction of the much talked of and much needed tunnel across the Straits of Northumberland to connect it with the main land, has been sent to London to confer with Sir Douglas Fox, a celebrated civil engineer, in reference to this work. For years Senator Howland has been working most energetically to further the tunnel enterprise and a more suitable person could not be found to send on such an important errand. The location of P. E. Island has perhaps been more marked during the past winter than any year since it joined the Dominion, as owing to the extreme cold and the quantity of ice the trips of the Stanley have been most irregular and unsatisfactory and not wonder that the present time is looked upon as a favorable one to push that enterprise. The isolation of that island has been most practically illustrated this season by the scarcity of fodder, and while cattle and horses were in some places starving yet with abundance of hay on the main land, but in a few miles distant noise could be procured.

The matter will no doubt be brought before the Dominion Parliament at the approaching session, and should the scheme be a feasible one it will be a step not too great, we expect to see it strongly supported.

Taking the Census.

Next week the work of taking the census will be commenced all over the Dominion. There are no less than eight schedules to fill out, and each schedule contains a number of questions about health, age, religion, and many other topics of public interest. There need be no hesitancy to promptly and correctly answering these questions as the information given will only be used for the purpose intended, as the enumerators are sworn to secrecy. It is hoped the enumerators will receive the required information from all without any unnecessary delay as it is important that the returns be sent to Ottawa as early as possible. The following is the list of enumerators for the various parishes of this county, who are under the direction of Mr. Donald Morrison.

The curling season has been anything but a success, the Dominion election having put a stop to our favorite winter game. Seldom have we had a winter better adapted to make ice and yet since parliament was dissolved hardly a game has been played, and the usual cup matches but two is completed, those for the Club Cup and the Brown Cup while the competition for the Tree Urn has not passed the first series, and the match between the Newcastle and Chatham Clubs for the Highland society cup was not played at all and not a single foreign match was played although it was expected that games would be played with rinks from Bathurst, Moncton and St. Andrews' Club of St. John.

The last games played in Brown Cup contests was between Sains Street and Robinson, with the following rinks, the former winning by one point—J. Lambert Dr. Nicholson Geo. Hilderbrand, James Stewart, John Morrison, Chas. McLaggan, E. Lee Street, skip, 15 J. Robinson, skip, 12

Personal.

At the Cabinet meeting held at Ottawa on the 21st March, Hon. G. W. Howland, of P. E. Island was reappointed Senator. Mr. Howland resigned to contest Prince County in the Conservative interest but was defeated.

MR. BENNETT'S TRIUMPH.—Hon. R. B. Bennett, who is again in Hon. R. B. Tweedie's office, Chatham, was at Dalhousie Law School, Halifax, until February, after which he took a hand in the election campaign in Albert county. He appears to have made a sweep of honors as we observe by the report of the Law Examiners at Dalhousie that he leads his class, being first in three subjects—Crim., Contracts and Torts; and second in the other two—Constitutional History and Real Property.—Adze.

Mr. C. N. Vroom, a thorough temperance man and friend of prohibition, has been elected Mayor of St. Stephen. He will doubtless keep the Scott Act Inspector of that town up to his duty in enforcing the Scott Act, or know the reason why.

Rev. F. Harrison spent a portion of last week in Newcastle and Chatham for a much needed rest. His many friends were glad to welcome him. Mr. Wm. Draper, of Dalhousie, spent a few days visiting old friends here. He returned home on Monday.

Hon. C. C. Colby, president of the Council, on being asked about his political future by a newspaper correspondent, said:—"I do not know my intentions but you may rest assured that there will be another contest in the county, as I have proof of wholesale bribery by my opponents. I have desired for a long time to retire from politics and would take advantage of the present occasion if the circumstances were different."

Mr. F. Morley, who has a school at Bellefleur, Gloucester, spent Friday and Saturday among his old friends in Newcastle. As the country schools only have Good Friday for the holiday he was obliged to be back by Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Manroe of this place, started for Chatham (Newcastle) on Saturday last, via the Canada Eastern. William will see his wife safe there, and will in a few days return home, but his wife with her little baby will make a protracted visit of at least a month at that place.—Nashua correspondent of the Gleaner. Miss Annie and Miss Sadie Bamford, of Blissfield have been spending a few days visiting Newcastle friends. They left for home early yesterday morning.

Rev. F. E. Bill has resigned the pastorate of the West Yarmouth Baptist church, Chebogue, and accepted the charge of the Liverpool Baptist Ch. He leaves about the middle of April. Mr. Bill has been in this county for five years, during which time he has not only made a marked name for himself by his indefatigable exertions on their behalf and to further the interest of his denomination, but has won the respect and high esteem of the people of this county of all denominations, by his kindly dealings with his brethren and his outspoken manliness on the public platform.—Yarmouth Times.

It is our painful duty to record the death of one of our most prominent citizens, Robert Young Snowball, which occurred at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

Death of R. Y. Snowball.

It is our painful duty to record the death of one of our most prominent citizens, Robert Young Snowball, which occurred at 8 o'clock Monday morning. He was a native of the British possessions, and when 21 years of age moved from Canada to California. He had received a college education and had partially learned the printing trade when at home, and after reaching San Francisco, he commenced work as a printer, started the San Francisco Call and ran that paper successfully until 1867, when it was sold to the present proprietors. Mr. Snowball was a practical printer and his work on the Call was the subject of advertisements. When the Call was sold he went to the printing business and having accumulated quite a fortune he opened a stock-broker's office in San Francisco. At times he was worth large sums of money, his fortune at one time reached $100,000. Misfortune overtook him in the last part of the year, and he was left with a few years ago purchased 160 acres of land near St. Helena on which he has resided ever since.

Bathurst Schools.

The following is the petition presented to the Legislature in reference to school matters in Bathurst:—

Enacted, March 25.—As the subject of the petition respecting schools in Bathurst, introduced in the house to-day by Mr. Murray, is one which has caused a great deal of discussion before the session, the protest of the Protestants in the petition is of interest. It is as follows:—"That some months ago the members of a religious order of the Catholic Church, the sisters of charity, were brought in relation with the authorities of said church, and the trustees of the public schools were asked to engage these sisters and to pay them salaries at the same time as we were asked to do for the same in the village."

"That the trustees of the public schools were asked to do for the same in the village, and three in a convent in town. They hold local licenses only and they are not recognized as teachers under the law but they are being paid as such. This is a violation of the letter and spirit of school law which says:—"All schools conducted under the provisions of this chapter shall be non-sectarian."

"The subscribers are convinced that the present school system is sectarian and that they are conducted in the interest of the Roman Catholic church; that if the law is not enforced, the trustees of the public schools are being paid as such. This is a violation of the letter and spirit of school law which says:—"All schools conducted under the provisions of this chapter shall be non-sectarian."

One Secret of Health and Happiness.

The political battle is over, but the battle with disease must be constantly and unceasingly fought. The secret of health and happiness is to be found in the blood. The blood is the life of the body, and it is the duty of every man and woman to keep it pure and healthy. The best way to do this is by using a medicine that will purify the blood and strengthen the system. The best medicine for this purpose is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It is a simple, natural, and effective remedy that will do more for the blood than any other medicine. It is the secret of health and happiness, and it is the duty of every man and woman to use it.

The Weather.

In spite of the raw easterly winds the snow is fast disappearing and the travelling on the river is about done, and is anything but safe. A heavy fog on Monday about the middle of the river and there was a rush with ropes to haul the animal out, which was safely done. The crust is all there to be depended upon when that is gone there is every prospect that quite unexpectedly the traveller may get a dip in the river through the slush which only bides it from view.

The World of Saturday says:—"There is the travelling on the ice now, up and down river, but the ice will not stand much warmer weather. Some dangerous cracks have already appeared. A horse got into one on Friday near Oak Point, and one of its hind legs were broken."

Bathurst Jottings.

March 28th, 1891. PERSONAL.—Miss L. Fowler, of Miramichi, has been for the week of Miramichi, and will be home on Monday. The Hon. K. F. Burns, M. P., has left here for England, and I am sure that all his friends wish him a safe and speedy journey. There is no doubt that his visit now to the old country will prove a boon to this county, I, with others wish him every success. I am also informed that Mr. H. White is to accompany him.

John Siverwright, Esq., has returned here on his visit to Fredericton which has been for a short time. RACES.—Last Monday there was quite a stir by the trotting of some fast horses at Petit Rocher. The ice was not all that could have been desired, but Mr. Barbour was in no way put out as his first horses, I am informed brought him in the sum of sixty five dollars, and I am sure it would pay that gentleman to see the horses trot again in the week.

Musical.—On Thursday night last there was an entertainment given in the School house at what is termed Sutherland's point. I am sure that those who left Bathurst were in no wise disappointed, as I have never spent a more enjoyable evening for some time past. I have heard several others make very similar remarks and every credit is due to Miss Ross for the admirable manner in which she conducted the dialogues. Those who took a prominent part are as follows:—

Mr. Ross, the Misses Ratemans and several other young ladies among the gentlemen I noticed Mr. H. McLellan, who acted his part in a creditable manner, also Mr. Eddie Eady, who also figured in like manner. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hinton patronized the entertainment, as did also Miss McPherson from Yarmouth. Misses Amy, Mrs. Eady, Miss A. Hodgins, from town and Mr. F. Eady and last but not least Mr. Rankin Nivis, who sided largely the evening's amusement in the singing of some very fine songs which are seldom heard outside of an opera company.

Did an Old Westminister.

Mr. Thomas Mowat, Inspector of Fisheries for the province of British Columbia, died at his home in New Westminster, on the 4th of March, after an illness of two weeks. Mr. Mowat was a native of Campbellton, in this province, and was only 36 years of age. His wife, by whom he had two children, belonged to Petrolia. The Vancouver "World" says of him:—"He was a great favorite. His bright, sunny disposition and sympathetic, kindly ways made it a pleasure to meet him and his private life was as stainless as his public was useful."

Miss Kerr's Departure.

Miss Kerr has closed her studio in Chatham and gone to St. Stephen to reside. She taught drawing and painting here for three years, and was kept busy with the time with classes, private lessons, and the filling of orders for art work. She had to refuse several orders after death to change her field of operations, and was sure of a good class for the summer if she had remained. She is a tasteful and painstaking teacher, a most enthusiastic devotee of art, and a great favorite with her pupils. In chthon painting and fring Miss Kerr has no superior in New Brunswick.—World.

Death of an Old Resident.

My friends will bear with regret the death of Mr. William C. Fleming, which occurred at his residence on Water Street at 7:30 this morning after a few days illness of paralysis of the heart which he was attacked on Wednesday last. Deceased was born at Campbellton, Scotland, and came to St. John in 1841. He was in the employ of there of Jardine & Matheson for a number of years. He came to Moncton in 1852 and since that time has been the exception of a few years been a resident of this place. He leaves a wife, four sons and one daughter. His sons are Henry B. and Murray residing in Moncton, the former being I. C. R. train dispatcher; John, station master at Newcastle, and William F., now a resident of Boston. His daughter is the wife of Mr. J. E. Price, I. C. R. division superintendent at Campbellton. Deceased had not been in active business for a number of years, but he well known about town and greatly respected on all classes. The funeral will take place on Wednesday.—Moncton Times.

Mr. Fleming resided in the Newcastle for several years, having been employed by the firm of Messrs. Fleming, in the city of Montreal, where he was engaged in shipping and lumbering. He was a man of high character, and one who knew his mind and his health will be long remembered by many old friends in this county.

Obituary.

CAPT. THOMAS HALL, of Petit Rocher, had the sympathy of a large number of friends in his sad bereavement. Mrs. HALL had been sick for some four months, but her friends expected her recovery within a few hours of her death which occurred on the morning of Thursday the 19th inst. After a painful and anxious life she has been called home, and her remains were interred in the Cemetery of St. Luke's Church, Bathurst, on Saturday. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Thomas Gordon, who was reported as seriously ill in our last issue, died on Friday. He was about 40 years of age and was highly respected by all who knew him. He was unmarried. His funeral on Monday afternoon was largely attended. His remains were interred in St. James' Church burial ground, the funeral services being conducted by the Rev. Wm. Aitken.

Mr. McKenzie, manager and Mr. W. H. White, electrician, of the Miramichi Telephone Exchange, are at the Kent Hotel. They are very prospect of Telephone Exchange being located in Richibucto and Kingston as our enterprising citizens are anxious for a closer connection with sister towns. If successful, Mr. Mackenzie says a line will be constructed from Richibucto through St. Louis which will be of service not only to the business men of the community but also to the farmers of that part of the County. We trust the enterprise will be successful and meet with the hearty support of our citizens.—Revue.

Social.

The beard and coffee social in the Masonic Hall on Monday is said to have been a most enjoyable affair, and the members of the committee are highly commended for their efforts to make the evening pass off pleasantly. There were about one hundred couples present. The music consisted of two violins and organ accompaniment, which made excellent music. Messrs. Williamson and D. Thibault were the musicians. The young folks spent so enjoyable an evening that they talk of having another social about the middle of May.

Local Legislation.

(Continued from First Page.) Hon. Mr. Mitchell submitted a return in answer to Mr. Hanington's motion regarding the bank balances etc. He also submitted returns in answer to Mr. Hanington's motion for a statement of warrants issued 1st of January to 14th of March.

After speeches by Messrs. Alward, McQueen, Stockton, Pugsley and Mitchell the item passed and the house adjourned at half past one o'clock this morning.

FRÉDÉRICTON, March 24.—Mr. Labilliois introduced a bill authorizing the Restigouche municipality to issue debentures for building a new jail.

In supply, $20,972 was voted to provide for over expenditure of the public works department, and $30,000 to provide for the importation of cattle and sheep. Further consideration of supply was set down for Tuesday next.

Answering Dr. Stockton, Hon. Mr. Blair said the committee on privileges would meet to-morrow morning. House adjourned at 10:30 o'clock.

FRÉDÉRICTON, March 25.—The house only transacted routine business this morning.

In the afternoon Mr. Perley made his motion, seconded by Dr. Stockton, for particulars of the expenditure of $1,384, mentioned on page 104 of the auditor general's report.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell said the information asked for would be found on page 216 of the public accounts. The warrants were before the public accounts committee and the hon. member could get a copy of the warrants by application to that committee.

Mr. Perley charged that there had been a misappropriation of the public funds in Sunbury largely in the interest of Mr. Harrison's friends.

Burchill sang "Don't You Put on Airs. Mr. McDele declined to sing, but made abundantly by reciting in a manner worthy of Ned Warriner in his palmist days the mutual address of Spirit with the Roman gladiators. There were calls for Annie Ronney by Mr. McKeown and for "Our Own Canadian Home" by Mr. Hetherington, but the selective clang of the dinner bell emptied their chamber before either of these calls could be responded to.

Mr. Burchill and Mr. McKeown received several notes to-night from fair correspondents praying for a repetition of the concert some evening next week. Mr. McKeown is willing, but Mr. Burchill insists that the rule of the house requiring two days notice of motion should be formally adhered to in this case. The settlement of the matter will be left to Mr. McQueen on his return from Westmorland, whither he has gone to spend the Easter holidays.

Hon. Mr. Perley was warmly congratulated to-day, it being the 70th anniversary of his birthday. The member for Sunbury is in splendid health and full of hope, that ere long he will see the downfall of the most corrupt government that has ever ruled New Brunswick.

Mr. Barlaie will not call up Mr. Fallow's case in the legislative council till Tuesday next.

The government are happy on all sides and expect to prorogue the house within a fortnight, unless something as yet unexpected occurs.

Up to a date the committee on privileges have not been called together to deal with the case of Mr. LeBlanc, and there is a steady growing impression that nothing will be done this session. The attorney general intends to back up his colleague in the cabinet as long as he possibly can without exhausting the resources of civilization. To this the ministers are compelled to say, yes, you, though they know as well as men know anything that Mr. LeBlanc deliberately forfeited his seat by running for the dominion commons.

Bridges are not the only thing in New Brunswick simultaneously falling into decay.

There are rumors that President Ryan of the legislative council and Speaker White of the assembly will give a grand bill towards the close of the session.

BY TELEGRAPH.

FRÉDÉRICTON, March 31, 1891.—When the appropriation bills came up for a vote in the House of Commons on Tuesday the government had taken up the bills in the absence of himself and other members of the opposition. The attorney general had suggested that the government should take up the bills in the absence of himself and other members of the opposition. The attorney general had suggested that the government should take up the bills in the absence of himself and other members of the opposition.

THE DAKOTA EXODUS. VIOLENT ACTS OF MERCHANTS.—CANADIAN AGENTS WARNED TO LEAVE.

Winnipeg, March 25.—The wholesale exodus from Dakota to Manitoba is being up the merchants of the former state to deeds of violence. At Eureka, South Dakota, to-day the agents of the C. P. R. and Manitoba and North-Western railways were warned to leave town in two hours or they would be tarred and feathered. The cause of this was the departure this morning of 50 Russian immigrants from Eureka for the British Columbia coast.

Mr. Howland made a lengthy reply during which he delved into the asylum expenditures and the attorney general replied.
