

NOTED QUEBEC LEADER HERE FOR CONVOCATION

JEAN LESAGE

The Hon. Jean Lesage, Prime Minister of Quebec, will deliver the convocation address at the University of New Brunswick in graduation ceremonies Thursday, October 10.

The University will confer upon the Prime Minister an honorary Doctor of Civil Law degree at that time. The announcement was made today by University President Dr. Colin B. Mackay.

Mr. Lesage was elected leader of the Quebec Liberal Party in 1958 and was sworn in as prime minister in 1960. He was first elected to the House of Commons in the general election of 1945 and was re-elected four years later. On April 1, 1961, he added to his duties those of the Minister of Federal — Provincial Affairs.

He has taken active part in House of Commons' debates on constitutional, financial, and economic questions. He has been vice-chairman of the Committee on Banking and Commerce and chairman of the Committee on Old Age Security. The latter report has been accepted by the federal government as the basis for the new Old Age Pension Plan.

Mr. Lesage has distinguished record of service in foreign affairs.

He was Canadian representative to the United Nations General Assembly in 1950 and a year later was appointed Parliamentary Assistant to the Secretary of State for External Affairs. In the same year he was named President of the Canadian Delegation to ECOSOC, Geneva.

The Prime Minister also served as vice-president of the Canadian Delegation for the second part of the General Assembly of the United Nations in 1952; President, United Nations Technical Assistance Conference, Paris, 1953; President Canadian Delegation to ECOSOC, New York, 1952.

At home Mr. Lesage was appointed Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of Finance in 1953 and was re-elected in a general election in that year. Later he was named Minister of Resources and Development and Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources in June 1957 and March of 1958 he was re-elected to the House of Commons.

Mr. Lesage is a native of New York. He was educated at the Quebec Seminary, Bachelor of Arts, 1931, and Laval University, LL.L.

Following private law practise he was named Crown Attorney from 1939 to 1944.

Mr. Lesage holds honorary degrees from Bishops University, University of Toronto, Mount Allison, University of Sherbrooke, University of Ottawa, McGill University and Laval University.

ST. THOMAS ...

ON THE MOVE

Officials have completed plans to move St. Thomas University to the hillside campus of the University of New Brunswick by the autumn of 1964.

Announcement of the move was made jointly Friday in Chatham and Fredericton. Tenders for new buildings have been called with construction scheduled to begin this fall.

Under the agreement of affiliation, discussion of which first began in the mid 1930's, UNB will provide the site for buildings to be erected by St. Thomas.

Initial construction will include a residence for men, an academic building having administrative offices and classrooms, dining facilities and a chapel. They will be located on acreage above King's College Road where it meets the UNB campus.

The affiliation of the two universities follows similar patterns elsewhere in Canada. The University of Toronto, a provincial institution, and St. Michaels is a notable example of such a successful venture, officials point out. It also is in keeping with the recommendations of the Deutsch Royal Commission on Higher Education in New Brunswick.

Under the agreement St. Thomas will retain the right to confer degrees in Arts and Education. In addition to these fields UNB will provide for study in pure and applied science, in the professional schools and at the graduate level.

With regard to affiliation the Deutsch report reads:

"At present the Province's institutions of higher education have inadequate resources to carry on the basic services required of them. The need for the Province to place significantly greater emphasis on the development of higher education is, therefore, abundantly clear.

"Yet the existing institutional framework of six independent universities is so fraught with opportunities for wasteful duplication and dispersion of effort that the Commission can find in it no sound basis for the additional Provincial Government support necessary to provide an adequate system of higher education.

"If the Province's very limited resources are to be effectively employed, it will be necessary to bring about a fundamental consolidation of efforts."

The Commission also called for special transfer grants.

"Special transitional assistance for St. Thomas amounting to $25,000 annually for the five academic years ending 1966-67, but not to continue beyond that time, with respect to the requirement to assist needy students from the Chatham-Newcastle area engaged in full-time study at St. Thomas University at the time of transfer to the University of New Brunswick campus in Fredericton, and the establishment of services by St. Thomas in Fredericton and in the Saint John area."

The Very Rev. Donald C. Duffie, President of St. Thomas University, commented on the move from Chatham to Fredericton.

"I am pleased that arrangements have been finalized and am most happy with the generous cooperation of UNB and its officials," he said. "I am confident that the affiliation will be advantageous to St. Thomas and UNB and also will be of great benefit to education generally in this province."

Msgr. Duffie said St. Thomas authorities did not ignore the sympathies of many close to the university who opposed the move.

"We have in mind the sentiments they possess and we have the highest regard for them. But progress brings necessary changes and it will be to their benefit as well that this move is being made."

UNB President Dr. Colin B. MacKay pointed out that the idea of affiliation was not new.

"The UNB Senate first discussed the idea of federation between both universities in the mid 1930's," Dr. Mackay began. "It has been under active consideration since 1956. The Royal Commission brought in recommendations which followed the general pattern of discussions in recent years."

The president said he was pleased that St. Thomas had seen fit to implement this recommendation of the report.

The Space Problem

The Memorial Student Centre has reached the end of an era. If the familiar student bee-hive is not enlarged, pretty soon there won't even be room for the coffee-cups. The student body has, of course, every reason to be proud of the building, and grateful for the facilities it does provide, but the fact remains, it has become too small to handle the needs of a student population the size of ours. Many will recall the endless arguments of last year regarding our proposed Student Union. One year has passed, and we are still no nearer to a solution of the problem: namely, of providing additional space somewhere on campus for the many and varied activities and organizations that are at present taxing the Student Centre to the limit. Office space in the Student Centre is so limited that every conceivable nook and cranny has been turned into some semblance of an office.

Needless to say, it is much easier to criticize than to offer concrete suggestions. In the future, there will certainly be no fewer meetings, dances et al than there are at the present time. It is the opinion of the Brunswickan, in view of the over-crowding and constant demands on the available space in the Student Centre, that groups and organizations planning to use a certain room or area of the building, should let the "powers that be" know well in advance so as to avoid last minute confusion and conflict. The much debated Student Union Building is still a long way from reality. It's something to look forward to and to work for, but for the present, we gotta do with what we got. In the meantime, am I the only one who's feeling a little hemmed in. . . . ?

Dithering on Gripes

It's about these women drivers downtown. Take my advice, if you and one of them see a parking place at the same time, for Pete's sake, let her have it. These women are homicidal, unmerciful, and drive their cars like Sherman tanks. You don't stand a chance. You're lucky if you escape with the doorhandles still on the car.

And then there's this bright idea of having the Fall Formal so early in the year that most of us have barely managed to get our trunks unpacked. At this rate, we'll have to start coming back in the middle of August just to be on time to get a date for it. It really shakes the coeds up too. They haven't had time enough to get acquainted with the seven or eight guys the ratio allows them — really bad news.

What really gets me, though, are these people who send letters to the Brunswickan and don't sign them — we want constructive criticism, student contributions, etc., but please endorse them even if your name is Hep-sibah Ginklehoople.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

The appointment of the Campus Police Chief on this campus is to the average student, a matter of much concern and mystery. A quick glance through the Constitution shows that the President of the S.R.C. and the Chairman of the S.D.C. select the members of the S.D.C. according to the specifications of Article II (11), the secretary of the S.D.C. being the only member not falling under rigid specifications. Nothing is mentioned in this section about our Campus Police Chief. It is rumoured that the Applications Committee select our Campus P.C., but what are his qualifications and who except the Applications Committee know these qualifications? Lately, it seems to this student, that the qualifications accepted were that he has had previous experience on the C.P. force, he is a reliable person, and he is going into his last year in Forestry.

Certainly, anyone having a personal acquaintance with last year's Campus Police Chief will know that the job required hours and hours of organization, meetings, and oral lashings with few people to thank him for filling a position of great responsibility.

To occupy the position to the greater glory of the S.D.C. is, to put it mildly, ridiculous. The meagre incentive now offered in the form of activity awards and honorariums will not induce, in coming years, the best man for one of the most important and demanding positions on campus.

Mr. Marshall, up until now, has not had a chance to show his talents as Campus Police Chief, however in the next months, his actions will bear close attention by the student body — a high wire few people would enjoy walking. Mr. Marshall's friends express strong confidence in his ability to accomplish his task of following the tradition of past Campus Police Chiefs. Let us see the S.R.C. do something concrete for once, to assure that only the highest calibre man acquire this position, and maintain the high standard set last year and hopefully this year.

The Brunswickan

Dear Sir:

We would like to take exception with the remarks on the Model Parliament in an article entitled "The Good Word" in last week's Brunswickan.

It attributes the sad condition of Model Parliament to a clause in the Model Parliament Constitution requiring a petition signed by 600 students to admit a club without national political affiliation to Model Parliament. It claims that the resulting exclusion of such other clubs is the cause of a poor Model Parliament.

We quite agree that last year's Model Parliament went to pot. However, we would like to point out that the major cause of this was the sloppy preparations made for last year's Model Parliament that were the responsibility of the chairman of the Model Parliament Committee. These preparations were so ill-attended to that the actual session had to be postponed to a date which conflicted with the Senior Class Party, and on which many other participants were unable to attend for a number of other reasons. Significantly, the chairmanship of the Model Parliament, which by tradition rotates annually among the participating clubs, was in the hands of a non-affiliated club. In other years, when the affiliated clubs have had the task of leading the organization of Model Parliament, no such fiasco resulted.

We would suggest that this is because the affiliated clubs take Model Parliament seriously, which non-affiliated clubs as a rule do not. Affiliated clubs also take a genuine interest and do not just participate for the "kicks" as evidenced by the fact that when Model Parliament was finally held last year (when the "kicks" were elsewhere), the affiliated clubs at least endeavoured to fill their seats while the non-affiliated club from the very first had no more than 3 of its 12 seats occupied.

We would also like to point out that the petition requirement was introduced only two years ago to prevent recurrence of the disgraceful action (which included the theft of the ballot boxes and almost forced cancellation of Model Parliament), on the part of a small minority in trying to force their admittance to Model Parliament. They had been excluded by the Model Parliament Committee because they attempted to enter Model Parliament only at the last minute, and had taken no part in the planning which must go into every Model Parliament.

With the Model Parliament Committee again under the chairmanship of an affiliated club this year, we are sure every effort will be made to insure that a successful Model Parliament will result.

Yours very truly,

Isn't it time we stopped playing follow-the-leader and did a bit of thinking for ourselves? Our complacency and desire to suppress our own individuality is an extremely dangerous tendency. We press too much for security. There is the feeling today, that if everyone does not love you, you are a failure.

Examples of this are only too evident. Very few people "have the time" to write to this paper. What they mean to say is they don't have the guts. What will mother say or the guy down the hall? If I say anything I'll probably get kicked out of the university. . . . Supposing no one agrees with me? . . . Well, who gives a DAMN? What does it matter? If you have something to say, for the love of Pete, SAY IT. It's your world and your university.

Notice how many hep expressions everyone uses? Aren't they picturesque? They really mean a lot don't they? For example: "I couldn't care less", "Don't do anything I wouldn't do", "Let's split this scene", "Past my bedtime", "Be good", "I need it like a hole in the head", "Little Girls Room", "posalutely", "absitively", "anyhoo", "Bass ackwards", "the whole fam damily", "d r i n k y - p o o", "cigg-y-boo", to name just a few of these ridiculous abortions. Recognize any of them? They're yours. Just don't use them when I'm around.

One final example: Giving blood is very noble, providing the individual does it of his own volition. To some people, blood is very personal property. We have no right whatsoever to in any way coerce them into giving just to win a tinny little trophy. The end does not justify means. The sacrifice of one person's individuality, and the permanent hard feelings that result, are not worth it.

I do not advocate that any person not give blood just to stand alone. Sharing your blood is one of the most important services which a person can give for obvious reasons. The point is, a trophy, which everyone wants to win, should not be the reason for a person to give blood.

Security in a crowd. What a false statement. Not being used to standing on your own two feet, how can you possibly call yourself a member of the human race? Security in a crowd. Let's not think for ourselves. Let's not make any progress. Isn't it fun to be secure kiddies?

some people very mad, because when they're mad, they're interested, and there is no better way to insure a successful Model Parliament.

THE

SELF PRAISE IS NO PRAISE...

Here We are, all going to UNB, the "Greatest University" ... but IS it the greatest university? The very confident McGill student asks: "And what university do YOU attend?" and you reply with equal confidence, "UNB" ... "Oh yes", he says, "In Halifax" ... or "What are you taking, FORESTRY???" ... and, quite often, "Oh, yes, UNB ... that's UN Booze, isn't it???" ... Why this apathy, this ignorance of the reputation of the World renowned (at least in England) University of New Brunswick? Could it be that since "Iron Bars do Not a Prison Make" perhaps "Red Brick Buildings Do Not a University Make" ... it is the Students that make the reputation of a bow college ... because that is really what we are and it is our fault. The fact that our academic refugees keep "bragging up" our university without academic justification for it does not impress the better equipped, better educated, better oriented students of Canada's BETTER universities ...

MUD FOR THE BEAVER DAM...

Every so often in the contemporary scene people, through their own hard work, integrity, and application to their work achieve the right to be called "Great" ... doctors, diplomats, writers, and even movie stars gain it ... Liz Taylor ... Then there are others; the Will Rogers Juniors, the Ted Kennedys, etc., who live in the reflected glory of their famous kins ...

UNB played host to one of these last week ... a man rich in mis-information, facetiousness, and lack of cooperation ... an insult to the intelligence of even the most uninformed university student ... In spite of the publicity testifying to the immense store of experience, success, and personality of "X", the questions put to him by the UNB student body, were, in many cases poorly answered or not answered at all ...

True, in a university the calibre of ours, the quality of questions may not be as high as they would be from the British colleges, still, whether he was impressed or not, he was here as a guest of the school, and should have given honest, if not satisfactory, answers to the students questions. Some of our scholars even took time out from their coffee breaks to attend the lectures ... but many students are complaining about the visit generally agreeing that they were disappointed, slighted, and even insulted by our guest's apparent lack of interest in us and our opinions ...

ART-I-FACTS

Let's get with it, Artistsmen! We would like to see a really big crowd at the next meeting of the Arts Society on Thursday, October 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Tartan Room of the Students Centre.

Now, many people may be somewhat confused as to the purposes and activities of the Arts Society. The name itself tends to conjure up images of a group of austere, eccentric pseudo-intellectuals who gather periodically for dull discussions and a steady diet of classical music. Nothing could be further from the truth. Our purpose is to bring the members of a large and diversified faculty together for group participation in campus activities, friendly exchange of ideas, and a really good time. In the Society, you can find a worthwhile investment of your time, talents, interests and ideas.

The Arts Society has planned several new and interesting activities for the coming year. The most immediate of these is, of course, Arts Week, which falls at the end of this month, and which will be climaxed by the presentation of this year's Arts Queen. Nominations for Arts Queen should be given to either Janet Stuart or Flossie Stickle at or before Thursday's meeting.

During Arts Week we will publish a special issue of the Brunswickan. To make this a real success we need your active cooperation. Poems, short stories, and general articles are all needed. These may be given to either Warren Mizener at Jones House or to Flossie Stickle.

Consolidation of our plans for Arts Week will be the main item on Thursday's agenda. Come along and give us your opinions and suggestions. Remember, you can only expect of your Society what you are willing to put into it.

'A MORAL STORY'

It was two weeks before the class from the military academy graduated ... and then off to the Great War. The studies had been hard, the discipline harder ... and before them was war. The chief interest of each of the cadets was one last fling at the joys of civilization before descending into the inferno. And that of course meant women in the big city ...

Now in the big city was a lady named Monique, whose fame for her charms had spread far and wide. But alas! An evening with Monique cost $2000, and this was far beyond the means of any of the cadets. However, a few of the more enterprising cadets hit upon a plan. Why should the honour of the corps be wasted on anything but the best? A lottery could be arranged at $5 a ticket; the winner would take the whole $2000 and have the ecstasy of a night in the arms of Monique!

The contest was duly held, and the whole amount was thrust into the hands of a handsome cadet named Jean. His rejoicing was cut short by an order to appear immediately in the office of the commandant, where the following conversation ensued:

"My boy, the secrecy concerning your lottery is to no avail. I know that you won, and that your assignment is tonight. Son, I envy you! Ah! To sample the charms of Monique. That too has been my own greatest dream. But you must not keep the lady waiting. You will be making a great contribution to the morale of the corps, the fulfilment of a cherished dream ... But you must go in the style which befits the honour of the task. You shall have my car and driver. Godspeed!"

It was thus that Jean arrived at the secluded estate where so many men had fancied to go. He was received by the lady in a most gracious manner ... She took his coat and money ... and wine was served ... and music was played ... and the joys of the evening exceeded even his wildest expectations ...

As the sun crept over the horizon the next morning, Monique awoke. As she looked at the strong, young face on the pillow beside her ... so fresh and innocent in sleep ... she wept at the agony which she knew must come to this face and so many like it. She must do something for these men of the corps, so eager and so brave. She smiled and went to get her purse ...

After Jean had breakfasted and was ready at the door to take his leave, Monique reached up and kissed him wistfully on the cheek, slipping a crumpled banknote into his hand:

"Good luck, mon petit ... return to your regiment and give them my love. You may tell them that my heart is with them and that for the honour of the corps, you are the only man to ever sleep in this house without it costing him a cent. Au revoir."

Jean entered the waiting auto and sank back into the soft seat with a sigh of gratitude. Oh! To have been so lucky! To have spent a night with Monique, and to have gotten his money back ... He opened his hand ... and stared in amazement at the sight of a crumpled five dollar bill.

Laff

'Who's that girl?'
'Didn't I tell you? That's the girl I slept with.'
'Oh? Where?'
'In Economics class.'

That girl says she wouldn't stay out so late if the boys didn't make her.

EDMONTON (CUP) — Despite threats of an English-French split in the National Federation of Canadian University Students (NFCUS), the 27th National Congress met here in a spirit of cooperation.

"The challenge that faces our country today is the challenge that faces NFCUS this week," said former NFCUS President Stewart Goodings, addressing the first plenary session Sunday night (Sept. 29).

Added Goodings, "I think a satisfactory and fair solution is possible."

Pierre Marois, president of Montreal Student Government issued an ultimatum to NFCUS earlier last month on the question of 'binationalism'. He said that if NFCUS would not accept the suggestion of division of the organization (into French and English), they would be signing their own death warrant.

French students are asking for separate English and French organizations with a National superstructure.

Issues before Congress include: Biculturalism and binationalism; reorganization of the structure of NFCUS to accommodate the needs of the French-speaking students; support for publications on Student Union Buildings (how to build a SUB).

NFCUS will send a brief to the Royal Commission on Biculturalism and Binationalism.

C.B.C. PRESENTS

As the last hollow echoes of laughter drift about the now vacant student centre, let us take a long, completely biased look at the last person to leave — that slightly ludicrous figure strutting homeward. Short moments ago he could be heard disclaiming violently. What was he disclaiming? EVERYTHING! This Mr. Wordly Wiseman, who knows what is really happening, behind the mask of everyday life, considers it his duty to deride just about everything, person and idea with which he is confronted. You can hear this central cripple every night at the student centre (if you have nothing better to do. And if you haven't, God help you). Fellow students, English literature, religion — they all wither and disappear helplessly under his scathing attack. (Honestly, they really do! Just ask him).

He's the person who tells freshmen how boring and trivial Winter Carnival really is. (He didn't get a date last year). According to him, lectures are useless, professors worse than senseless things. (That's Mr. Cynic two rows over. Yes, the one nodding sagely in accordance with the professor's views. Listen. Now you can hear his laughter filling the room as the prof concludes a not very successful attempt at humour).

This idiot's fierce denunciation of co-eds, untempered by the fact that he has tried vainly to get a date for the past month, drives many a young and eager freshman to social suicide.

We could go on and on and on, but perhaps this short account will be of some aid in your efforts to avoid this maniac. (There is no other word). And you'll have to work hard to avoid him. He'll pursue you down the dark streets, hurling his blasphemies after your fleeing figure. Run, run, run.

This is the first in a series of articles by R. Brabander, Bill Cox, and Bob Cox.

It was a struggle to scrounge up some challenging yet solvable problems for this week's Brunswickan. But as usual, I found something. Good luck. Here they are.

1) Two ladders, one twenty feet long, the other thirty, are standing in an alleyway such that they cross at a point ten feet above the ground. How wide is the alley?

2) A two-volume dictionary sitting on a shelf has a total of two thousand pages, one thousand in each book. The last page is, of course, page two thousand. How many pages are there between the front and back covers?

3) If 'M', 'E', 'C', 'B', 'H', are proper fractions, and if in Mount Allison 'M' of the students failed math, 'E' English, 'C' classics, 'B' biology and 'H' failed history, what is the least possible number (out of 1000, say) who have failed all five?

4) If an infinite number of yardsticks are broken, find the probability that one will be broken in the middle. If the sticks are broken into three pieces, what is the fraction that will be able to form a triangle?

5) How can you tell when an elephant is going to charge? When he takes out his Diner's Club Card.

NEPTUNE THEATRE

The well known 'NEPTUNE THEATRE' from Halifax is scheduled to present two plays in Fredericton this month.

In the Fredericton High School auditorium at 8:30 on Wednesday, October 16 they will present 'Major Barbara', a light comedy by George Bernard Shaw. On the following evening at the same time and place, the curtain will go up on their second production, Jean Anouilh's 'Antigone'. This is a very wonderful, very dramatic play.

Tickets will be available to all U.N.B. students at the Mens' Residence Office in McConnell Hall.

Change in Program

The Creative Arts Committee has announced a slight change from their program as it was originally published. The concert by Mile. Pierrette Lepage, which was to have begun the Canada Council Series on November 6 will now take place on January 10, 1964. The series will still be inaugurated on Nov. 6, but the first performance will be by Michel Dussault, the other pianist in the series. The other concerts in the series remain unchanged.

WEST INDIES CONFERENCE

Are you interested in the West Indies?

Then you will be interested in a conference to be held on campus October 25-27.

The University and the Canadian Institute of International Affairs are sponsoring jointly a conference called "Commonwealth Partners in the West Indies" whose aim will be to focus attention on the future development of Canada and the West Indies. Emphasis will be on trade and an examination of related problems in the Atlantic Provinces.

All students interested in attending are asked to contact Prof. R. T. McKinnell, Department of Economics and Political Science, Room 122, Thomas Carleton Hall. Early inquiries are necessary.

THE HARVEY STUDIOS

Portrait Photographers since 1884

I, Michelangelo DeGrado, do now declare myself a critic of all things, and I do hereby absolve from any responsibility for these opinions all Brunswickaners, S.R.C. Members, and other innocent individuals. No longer can I stand the internal strain of bearing the burden of unanswered questions. The truth must come out somewhere!

The first thing I want to cut apart is that class of egocentric individuals whose pride demands a two-column head for their attempts at writing. Why must they splash this extravagance all over our dear paper?

If the student body is not in favour of something, should the S.R.C. advocate it anyway? By "Not in favour", I include the state of indifference, apathy, if you will. The object in point is the Student Building Committee. Even from the start, only a small group of individuals favoured the idea of hauling two-thousand-plus a year out of S.R.C. fees to be donated to this "cause", and those few planned it because it was, they thought, for the good of the students. Well, I say it's ridiculous. The S.B.C. has done but NOTHING this year, and, of course, nobody cares. The feeble attempt last spring to stimulate interest proved to be a joke, a miser-asm is itself the "thumbs down" able flop. This lack of enthusiasm is itself the "thumbs down" on the whole deal. Let's give the S.R.C. the stagnant two thousand from last year and really lift our spirits.

Consider the perpetuation of the really valuable U.N.B. functions . . . Drama, Radio, Red 'N Black and Carnival, for example . . . how much equipment can you get for two thousand dollars?

Let's all get together and s-t on the 1963 Yearbook. Let's face it, it stank. This year, let's give the graduates bigger pictures and more complimentary write-ups, and reduce wastage like the six pages for the Drama Society (even if they were great); the 5 full pages for football; the six pages for hockey; the five for Red 'N Black; and four for the yearbook. Even the S.R.C. has four full pages. The individual residence hodge-podges weren't really necessary, nor were all the extravagant colour pictures in the front. The thirty-seven pages mentioned could easily have been reduced to twelve or thirteen without loss of class, and then the grads could have had a little more breathing space. The advertising "index" was a laugh. It listed the advertisers in order of appearance. Some index!

But why go on? There is too much more. Maybe this year's yearbook staff will be wise and learn from last year's blunders. Maybe this year slashes and cuts will not appear through the whole book (see page 44 for J.L.G.; see page 153 at the bottom; see page 191. How crude! Maybe this year the staff will take a lesson from the first-rate book put out for the 1961 grads. Maybe extravagance - I mean WASTAGE - will be cut down.

Before you scream back at me, look at your yearbook. (The cover was nice, though.)

by C. J. LEE

You may not realize it, but the SRC has a great deal of power over you and what you do on this campus. Any Student organization to which you belong is responsible to the Students' Council, no such organization can exist without the Council's approval, and in many cases the SRC is the main source of club finances. Even the officers you elect must be approved by the Council. Not only that, through the SDC, it has the jurisdiction to deal with you when you behave in an "unbecoming" manner at any University function, on the Campus, or at any place that might give the University a bad name. So try and think twice (if you are in any condition to think at all) before you decide to have a snake dance on Queen Street at four o'clock in the morning.

Looking on the brighter side of things, the SRC also has the power to deal with any matter of student interest, and since it is the only "recognized medium" between the students and the university powers and the public, this would be a good way to pass the buck and get the SRC to tell off those Profs who insist on having Roll Call at 8:30 classes. Of course one must take into consideration that the members may find this rather trivial, but there's no harm in trying.

Actually since you elect these people to their positions on the Council, YOU are the ones who control them. If you think something should be done about anything, all you have to do is to go to your representative and tell him or her to bring it up at the next SRC meeting — and make sure he does! If you feel he isn't doing his job (but make sure you have given him a chance to represent your opinions), then you have the right to recall him from his position, that is if you have a petition signed by twenty per cent of the students entitled to vote for that person. (I hope you like canvassing for names — it's a great way to get to know people). And if you think that something ought to be done or changed (that is, anything reasonable — after all, it would be rather difficult to have a tunnel from Aitken House to LDH) on or about the Campus, it can be done if you have a petition to present to the SRC president signed by twenty per cent of the student body. In a similar manner you can protest anything done by the SRC.

So you're not really railroaded into things — if you have an honest, serious (as in not foolish), sincere complaint, you CAN do something about it. Make use of your SRC representatives, you elected them.

ATHLETIC SCHOLARSHIPS . . . PROS AND CONS

What attracts an athlete to a university? It has to be one of two things - either the athlete is being offered financial remuneration for his services or he is attracted to the school because of a fine athletic tradition. If an athlete can meet the standards and requirements of the institution academically then some concessions might be permissible but under no circumstances should a school compromise its standards for the advancement of its athletic reputation. The degree which is offered upon the completion of a course of study is the ultimate goal of all university students. If the university lowers the value of the degree by admitting and advancing students who are incapable of meeting the prescribed requirements, then every student at the institution should be justly offended. Certain parochial schools in the Maritimes offer such scholarships but in my humble opinion neither their degrees nor their sportsmanship is of any great worth. If such tragic sacrifices must be waylaid in order to produce championship teams then I contend that the price is far too expensive and the end result is worthless.

Varsity Tennis

by BILL REDDIN

L. to R. - Duquette, Gunter, Campbell, Basset, Aiers

The Maritime Intercollegiate Tennis Championships will be declared on Oct. 12. All matches will be played at the Wilnot Park Tennis Courts in Fredericton. Teams are expected representing St. F. X., Dalhousie, King's, St. Mary's and N. S. Tech.

U.N.B. will be represented by a five man team. Dave Basset will defend his M.I.A.U. Singles Crown and Bob Piers will combine with Austin Duquette to defend the Doubles Title won last year by U.N.B.'s Harold Nickerson and Bill Redden. Gord Campbell is the Manager of the squad and Bill Gunter is the Alternate Player.

Basset paired with his father to capture the 1963 Ontario Father and Son Championship. He won the Alberta Open Singles Crown in 1960 and has been the Campus Champ for the past two years. Piers is current New Brunswick Open Tennis Champion and in the summer of 1962 paired with three different Canadians to win three major Junior Doubles Titles; The Canadian Nationals, The Ontario and The British Columbia. Duquette is ranked third in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan and second in the Sault. Campbell is fifth amongst the Fredericton Men and Bill Gunter is a former New Brunswick Junior Tennis star.

If you are in Fredericton on Oct. 12 why not drop up to the Wilnot Park Tennis Courts and watch the M.I.A.U. Tennis Championships; U.N.B. has one of the finest Intercollegiate Tennis Teams in the Nation.

Harriers Win Again

by ARNOLD ASKER

The Harriers repeated a pattern of three years standing as they downed the University of Maine Freshmen in a close battle on Saturday. Despite the record-breaking performances of Chris Williamson and Peter Schuddeboom, it was a hard-fought team effort all the way as the other five members were threatened constantly by a solid Freshman squad. The short, fast 2.7 mile course brought forth some superlative performances from the UNB runners, who haven't the speed for a short cross country course.

In the lead, it was Williamson and Schuddeboom all the way, Williamson spurred out with a brisk first mile with Schuddeboom close on his heels. Although the course was 33 yards longer than last year's version, Williamson bettered his old record by 24 seconds with a 12:54.6. His team-mate, lowered his own personal mark by a considerable amount and beat the old 1961 course record in the process. Behind the two, the race was providing some thrills and anxious moments. Two Maine contenders edged out Freshman star Clarence Smith, and a third placed sixth. Reliable Peter Price drove across the tape with a sprint beyond the call of duty, barely nipping fast man Donnell of Maine. At this point, the win could have fallen in the hands of either team, but the turn of victory came ten seconds later as Chris Sproule, Bob Jarvis, and Charlie Cleary were cheered across the line, displacing the fifth Maine counter. It was a happy moment for coach Amby Legere, who had seen the seven give all they had in a splendid team effort.

UNB was invited to run in the meet through the kindness of Maine Faculty Manager of Athletics, Ted Curtis, when he was informed that the UNB-Ricker meet was cancelled. It was originally scheduled to have been run as a triangle contest involving Maine and two high schools, Piscataquis and Milo.

The team returns to the University of Maine in two weeks for their regular duel with the Freshmen. Since the race will be run on the same course, Legere is using Saturday's results as a criterion of improvement. Next weekend, they will send 7 runners to Bangor for the North-East College Conference Meet.

Results: (To score, add up the places of the first five men on each team. Low score wins)

Red Shirts Draw Blood

by HARRY BURSEY

To begin what may become a winning season, THE UNB RED SHIRTS travelled to Ricker College and in an exhibition soccer game defeated Ricker College 6-1.

In the early stages of the game both teams appeared evenly matched, but this didn't last too long. Once accustomed to a small field and American rules, the Red Shirts shot into the lead with a goal from the swift boot of Emylm Norman at the ten minute mark. Moments later he added an insurance marker. Billy Grunough made it 3-0 before the Ricker team made the scoresheet, making the halftime score 3-1.

After half-time the Red Shirts didn't look back with three unanswered goals from Billy Greenough, Garry Duperrault and Dennis Furlong. With fine defensive work and good goal-kicking by Robert Sherry the win was a certainty. The Ricker team made up in brawn what they lacked in finesse and the second half saw both Duperrault and Sam Gache leave the field as a result of hard TACKLES.

Starring for Ricker was goalkeeper Beers whose saves foiled the UNB attack on several occasions.

Next weekend UNB opens their regular MIAU schedule with games against Dalhousie and Kings College. So, if you are spending Thanksgiving weekend in Fredericton, get down to College Field and support the Red Shirts. Game times are, Saturday against Dal. at 3:30 P.M. and Monday against Kings at 2:00 P.M. Several weeks ago, a MARITIMER supported Canadian Football, now its time the Upper and Lower Canadians supported the Red Shirts, our winning team.

Lineup for UNB -
Sherry, Batoko, Hillcut, Bunner, Irungu, Drover, Ouma, Manbert, Wanyeki, Greenough, Searles, Norman, Duperrault, Gache and Furlong.

THE SAGA OF CHRIS WILLIAMSON

by DAVE CLARK

Each weekday from 8:30 in the morning to 4:30 in the afternoon Chris Williamson is just another of the trecking masses plodding from one lecture to another. The feature which distinguishes Chris from the others is that he does not suffer from the universal affliction of the "Hill" climbers . . . oxygen debt. The task of navigating the sloping paths of the UNB campus is not an arduous one for Chris as it is for the others. Why?

Since his final year at Fredericton H. S. Chris has devoted all of his spare time to middle distance and cross-country running. In the four short ensuing years Chris has battled his way to a position amongst the top three middle distance runners in Canada. This admirable status has been achieved through hard work, uncompromising fortitude, an iron will and burning desire. Where is Chris going in such a hurry? To the Olympics, where else?

Chris first came to prominence in New Brunswick cross country circles when he won the intermediate individual honors at the New Brunswick Interscholastic Cross Country Meet. This win in addition to two other cross-country wins and two victories over Minto's Walter Williams in the 880 and mile events at the York-Sunbury Meet won Chris a substitute position on the New Brunswick team which went to the Canadian Age-Class Championships at Regina in the summer of 1961. Due to an injury to another team member Chris was afforded the opportunity to compete in Regina. Fortunately for New Brunswick Chris competed. He came from behind to capture the juvenile mile in 4:26.4 which was his fastest time to that point.

Later that summer Chris placed second in the mile at the Canadian Legion at Toronto. Chris then placed second in the juvenile mile and third in the juvenile 880 yard dash at Halifax in the Eastern Canadian Age Class Championships. Anne Banks, one of the New Brunswick coaches to travel with the team that summer wrote, "Perhaps the youngster with the greatest potential is Fredericton's Chris Williamson. Here's a boy who should go far - he has what it takes in ability plus more than what it takes up top."

In the fall of '61 Chris entered the University of New Brunswick in the faculty of Arts. This freshman present was to the surprise of no one, one of the finest gifts that Amby Legere has ever received. That fall Chris set a new intercollegiate mile mark at Antigonish with a time of 4:26, considerably reducing the old mark of 4:35.8. Chris led the Harriers to an undefeated season, personally finishing first in every meet. At Minto he clipped four seconds off the course record with 13:43.2 minutes over the 2.6 mile course.

In March of '62, Chris travelled to Winnipeg to compete in the Canadian Indoor Track and Field Championships. His performance was admirable considering that this was his first real taste of international competition. Chris placed third in the two mile event behind two seasoned American performers.

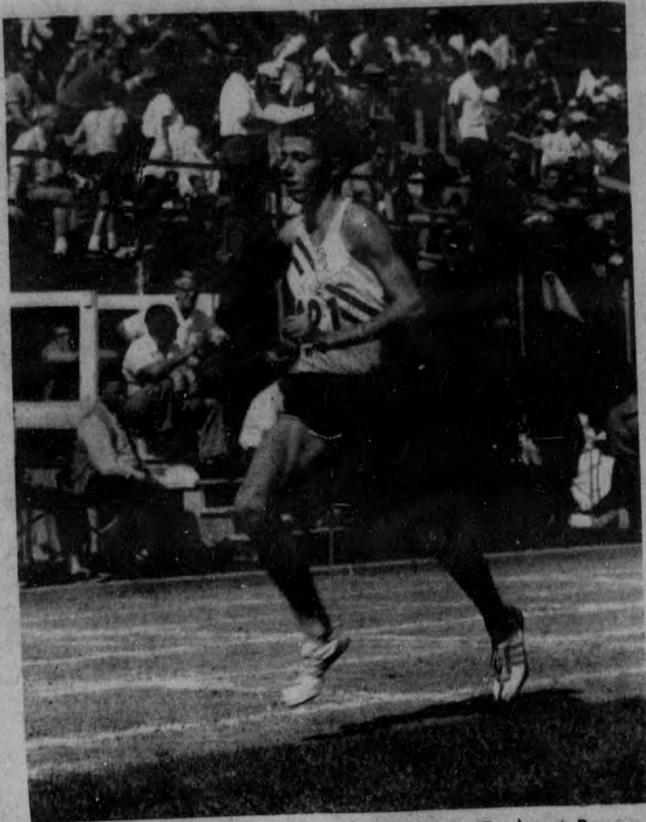

Chris spent the best part of the following summer in England where he enjoyed an overseas vacation while he continued to train and compete in meets in that country. He returned to run in the Canadian Age-Class Championships at Waterloo, Ont. This time there was no doubt as to whether Chris was going to represent New Brunswick. With the additional years experience, Chris had shown potential greatness in every outing. In the 3000 metre event Chris hit the tape in 8:51.7 minutes to establish the Canadian junior record for the distance.

Chris returned to UNB in the fall of '62 to again lead the Harriers to an undefeated season. In the process, he broke the Ricker College course record by covering the 4.1 mile course in 20:26 minutes. That same fall, Chris erased the old Maritime Intercollegiate mile mark of 4:26 by running it in 4:19.3 minutes. Chris and three of his Harrier teammates were chosen to run for New Brunswick in the Senior Six-mile National Cross Country Championships at Hamilton, Ont. Chris ran extremely well considering that it was the first time that he had competed at this distance and that the course was impaired by ice, snow, slush and mud. He finished in third place just 29 seconds behind the winner in 33:12 minutes.

Last winter Chris again travelled to Winnipeg to compete in the Royal Canadian Legion Golden Boy Track and Field Meet held indoors. In the two mile event Chris beat out Dave Ellis the British runner in the time of 9:2.3 minutes. In March, Chris ran the mile at the University of Maine indoor track in 4:09 which was a personal best up to that time. At the annual athletic awards dinner at UNB last spring Chris was chosen the most valuable athlete in track and field.

This summer Chris went to Toronto to work so that he might run with the East York Track Club and benefit by the competition in that area. While in Toronto he stayed with Orville Atkins, a long distance runner with the E.Y.T.C. and worked as an office clerk with the R. Williams Sales Company. Each night Chris worked out with the Track club under the experienced tutelage of Fred Foote, the coach of Bruce Kidd.

At Hamilton Chris came third in the National Steel Car War Veterans annual two and one half mile junior road race finishing behind Kidd and Dan Shaugenessey. Again at Hamilton Chris came second behind Kidd in the two mile event at the National 10 mile championship meet. At Windsor Chris was edged by Steve Ball in the mile event at the International Freedom Festival Meet. In the Eastern Canadian Age Class Championships in St. John, New Brunswick, Chris broke Bruce Kidd's junior Canadian mile record in 4:07.3. Chris came fifth in the mile event at the Toonto Police Games. In August, Chris was a member of the E.Y.T.C. relay team that broke the Canadian four mile record by running the distance in 16:50.3. At the Canadian Age Class Championships at Waterloo, Ontario, Chris, running the 5,000 metre for the first time knocked almost 11 seconds off the junior Canadian record set by Bruce Kidd with a time of 14:40.4.

The climax to a very profitable summer came on September 3rd when Chris won the two mile race at the Canadian National Exhibition Invitational Track and Field Meet when he outdistanced Kidd, Pat Clohessey, an Australian British Empire Games Winner and Charlie Clark of Los Angeles. Chris completed the event in 8:55.1. He gained the lead in the sixth lap from Clohessey and was timed for the lap in 60.6 seconds. Clohessey is quoted as having said, "He's a comer. When you consider that the track wasn't great and there was interference from the wind, you'll find that was a very respectable time." Chris felt that it was a great way to end the season and remarked, "When I made my move they didn't take me seriously. I saw Kidd's head wagging and I knew that Clohessey wasn't coming with me." By way of reward for this fine demonstration of running, Chris was chosen the meet's outstanding athlete. This was an exceptional honor considering some of the Great American stars that were present such as Jim Dupree, John Pannel and Hayes Jones.

How does Chris feel about his summer under Foote? If I am permitted to use a secondary source, Chris' father, Mr. W. Alex Williamson said that Chris went to Toronto primarily for the competition. He enjoyed running for Foote who changed Chris' style to some extent. Foote shortened Chris' stride and gave him a higher knee kick after the European fashion which is designed to conserve energy over the course of the race. Other than this innovation, Mr. Williamson felt that Chris prefers to run for our own Amby Legere.

What does the future hold for Chris Williamson? The Olympics, Gold medals, world records and world recognition. Only time will tell. If these things unfold on the path of success of Chris Williamson then they will do so with the blessings of every student at the University of New Brunswick, all the people of Fredericton and New Brunswick and every Canadian across the country. To borrow a time worn cliché which is most applicable in Chris' case . . . It couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

The secret to Chris' success is formulated in a poem which is pasted in the front of Mrs. Williamson's scrap book. I would like to take the liberty of reprinting it.

If you think you are beaten, you are,
If you think you dare not, you don't,
If you'd like to win, but think you can't,
It's almost a cinch you won't.

If you think you'll lose, your lost,
For out of the world we find,
Success begins with a fellows will,
It's all in the state of mind.

If you think your outclassed, you are,
You've got to think high to rise,
You've got to be sure of yourself,
Before you can win a prize.

Life's battles don't always go,
To the stronger or faster man,
For sooner or later the man who wins,
Is the one who thinks he can.

BEST WISHES, CHRIS, WE ARE ALL BEHIND YOU.

Bumps & Bruises

"PETERED PIGSKIN"

After last weeks crushing defeat at the hands of the MOUNT ALLISON MOUNTIES, there were many people on this campus who fully expected to see the BOMBERS give up and die. I, am very happy to report that quite the opposite has happened. The Bombers appear to have hit bottom and are on the up-swing.

The practices this week have been designed to weed out the men from the boys. Gone is the attitude which has prevailed in the past were Coach Nelson pampered his ball-players, once the season had started. For the past week and a half the boys have been driven through a series of practices which stressed continuous body contact and increased physical conditioning. In fact the players have done so much running that some of them are beginning to think they are on the track team.

It is my opinion that this is just what the team needed, for the first time in many years the players are really hitting and what's more relishing the contact.

Many of the Bombers fans may be wondering what exactly the team is doing at about 7:00 o'clock each evening. For your information they are being put through a specializing form of Circuit Training set up by Professor Walters of the Physical Education Department.

The Circuit consists of 10 football orientated events. There are 3 levels red or (softies) green, (tough-guys), and Black (pros.) Each of these levels, is divided into 3 parts Red 1-2-3.

Each player starts at Red 1. At each section they must perform the designed exercises with the correct number of repetitions.

Each player must complete the circuit 3 times each night. When they have done so under 14 minutes for two days in a row they can move up a section.

To date there are only 3 players at Green 2. Coach Nelson has now set a time limit on the circuit. All must be in Green section in two weeks.

Even Jack (the Duck) Dedman is working hard to get out of the softy zone. He is followed closely by Rolley Labonte and Mike Ross. Gabe Barban and Pete Bjorn are the top linemen in the green zone.

In the next issue the leaders in the circuit will be posted along with the summeries of our wins, Saint Dunstons, Saint Mary's and Acadia.
