GALT TO-DAY HAS FLOOD-- BRANTFORD HAS NO WORRY

Several Front Street Concerns Under Water in Galt.

Ice Jam Broken in Brantford, and Danger is Over.

[Canadian Press Despatch]

GALT, Ont., March 14.—The annual spring freshet of the Grand River came down at 8 o'clock this morning. The basements of the majority of the buildings on the east side of the river in the lower portion of the town were flooded and considerable damage to household effects was caused. The heaviest losers however, will be C. Turnbull Knitting Company. The ice smashed through the lower windows and great pieces were scoured in among the machinery racks and goods. No accurate estimation of the damage here can be made at this time. Several other industries located along the bank will be out of commission for a couple of days, owing to the machinery being stopped as a result of the flood. J. Hunt, Water street north, lost a horse. When the water first began to rise his son James led one of the animals in the barn out to safety, but in his attempt to rescue the second, he was thrown from his feet and only saved himself from drowning by grabbing the clothes line and juggling himself up to higher ground. The horse was caught in the current and carried down stream. The water flooded over on to the street South and the road is blocked with huge pieces of ice from the overflowing river. Fortunately the water remained at its height for only a short time and this was a great factor in lessening the damage which otherwise would have been wrought. The fire department were called out to rescue Mrs. Munroe, an old invalided lady who lived in the water tower. She had been in her dining room, it was not necessary to take her out.

Employees and factory owners will use much on account of the time lost in operation of the works and plants. The Local Situation on the rampage once more but at present there is no sign of a flood and danger of such is not anticipated. As far as West Brantford and Eggle Place are concerned, as the water seems to have a clear course and is open for some distance past Onondaga.

Ice Broke Last Night
The ice in the vicinity of Lorne broke away about half past seven o'clock last night and a number of men who were standing on the bridge at the time bade a fond good-bye to the ice.

Took Precautions
City Engineer Jones had men stationing on both sides of the river bank last night to watch the state of affairs and if anything serious loomed it would have given the alarm.

Mayor Hartman
Mayor Hartman called up Galt on the long distance phone at eleven o'clock last night and was advised by a gentleman named Jones that at that time the ice in the river was solid at that point.

Called Paris
His Worship then called up Mayor Peterson of Paris, who advised him that the ice was breaking up there. At half past eleven word was received that the ice was moving and that there had a clear passage.

DIRECT MAIL TO OLD LAND

It is understood a further effort will be made to have a direct English mail from Brantford to the ocean liner which carries the mail to the Old Land. At present the English mail is closed several hours before it is closed in Hamilton, and the Brantford mail is made up in the Ambitious City for its despatch. Local post office authorities state that Old Country mail here has become so heavy that there is no reason why it cannot be despatched direct from Brantford.

PRINCIPAL'S NEW SCHEME

Mr. William Park of King Edward School Has Astronomical Machine.

Principal Wiliam Park of King Edward School leaves shortly on a business trip to New York and other centres, whereby he hopes to place upon the market a machine which will revolutionize the way in which school children look at the moon, and will be of great value to astronomical work. Mr. Park has secured leave of absence from the school, and has organized a company whereby he will place the machine on the market. He has exhibited his invention to local educational authorities who declare that it will prove a success. During his absence from the city, Principal Park's duties at King Edward will be assumed by Mr. White, of Smithville.

One Minute Interviews

Mr. John Fair, Chairman Water Commission.—"Twenty years ago the city paid the commissioners the same yearly salary as they are paying now. The water supply is now three million gallons daily, where it was formerly one-quarter million. There is also an expenditure of $150,000 to be supervised this year. Guess when you talk about salaries, $150 per year is good pay for this kind of work—I guess not."

School Inspector Kilmer.—"Every time a child gets whooping cough, chickenpox, measles, etc., the school-room is thoroughly disinfected. This, we believe, has reduced such contagious diseases to a minimum throughout the city."

THE PROBS

WILL ALTERNATE RAILWAY ROUTE BE SIDE-TRACKED BY COMMISSION?

City Engineer Jones was asked by a Courier reporter yesterday what effect the sanction of the Minister of Railways on the north side river route of the Lake Erie & Northern Railway would have in connection with alternate plans prepared by himself. The City Engineer replied that, according to the Railway Act, where the Minister had approved of a route, the Dominion Railway Board could only vary that route a mile either way from the plans approved by the Minister of Railways. Mr. Jones admitted that the alternate route prepared under his direction was at one point considerably more than a mile away from the route applied for by the Lake Erie & Northern Railway. The point involved under the Railway Act is that the alternate route plans prepared by the city at considerable expense are not likely to be considered by the Railway Board at all.

Engineer Kellett, when asked if the contention above was correct, declined to discuss the legal phase of the situation. It was learned from other quarters, however, that the Lake Erie & Northern Company, as a result of the approval of the Minister of Railways, has very strong legal grounds. Mr. Kellett further declared that, outside of any legalities, the route planned by the company was much more feasible and practical in every way than that submitted by City Engineer Jones.

Who Sent That Message Which Got Police Out of Their Beds? No Strike is Now Likely

Such is the Query Which Civic Authorities are Directing Toward the Police Authorities To-day, There Will be no Strike of the Men in Spite of Alleged Inspiration Given to Them.

"Who sent the message out to get the police out of their beds to attend the meeting?" This is the question civic authorities are firing to-day towards police headquarters. Who sent the message? Was the action of the men inspired by the "higher-ups"? That's the query. Civic authorities declare that it must remain unanswered. The effort to "show up" the City Council has failed, and there will be no strike of the men, who are quite satisfied that the aldermen are favorably disposed towards their claim, although under no consideration could the demands be entertained if a threat to strike accompanied the same. Police authorities to-day are grumbling. How did the news leak to the Courier? What busted the strike? Is discipline on the police force gone entirely? Will there be a new police force? These and other questions are asked on all sides to-day. The control of the purse has been fought for and won by the City Council, in an effort to make both ends meet in this city. Prodigal expenditure is a thing of the past. As far as the police board is concerned, the majority of the board is working in harmony with the Council, and a happy state of affairs has been reached, and this without injustice to the men, whose claims for a raise in pay are generally considered fair and just. There will be no strike to-morrow morning at the tragic hour of 9 o'clock!

There will be no police strike in Brantford, in spite of the fact, as announced exclusively in the Courier last night, that Mayor Hartman had summoned a meeting of all the committee chairmen at the city hall yesterday afternoon to consider the ultimatum from the men. The ultimatum of the men was to the effect that they had to receive an answer to their demands by Friday night. General denials of any intention to strike are made by some of the men to-day. The ultimatum, as alleged and intended, was not to be read differently. Five of the men, it is stated, had other jobs to go to, and wanted to know if they were to receive increases. As a matter of fact, the Courier was authoritatively informed yesterday, and was again informed to-day, that a walk-out of the men was planned for Saturday morning, notwithstanding the fact that they are engaged and paid by the month. This sudden departure, as planned, would only be designated as a strike, and strike it would have been had they not been loyal and cooler reflection of the "morning after the night before" prevailed.

The rank and file of the police force have learned that in being made stool pigeons to serve the purposes of others, which purposes conflicted with civic interests, they were alienating their best friends, the members of the City Council. Incidentally, they have learned that the City Council had made arrangements whereby extra money was to be voted to the police board to give the men a raise this year, but the extra would not cover an increase in salary for the Chief. But the threatened strike, which was discussed at the meeting of Mayor Hartman and various chairmen yesterday, for the time being upset all arrangements which had been made to advance the salary schedule of the rank and file. It is announced that the City Council is a unit in absolutely refusing to meet demands made under an implied threat to strike.

It is probable, however, that the men will receive an increase, largely because the City Council appreciates the fairness of their claims. But this increase had been provided for before any ultimatum was issued. Various aldermen, in view of this, were in a hostile frame of mind when the ultimatum was received. Some of the aldermen thought it would prove a good thing if a strike was precipitated and a reorganization of the whole force effected from top down. It was felt that the men had been "used"—made "stool pigeons"—in a grandstand effort to embarrass the City Council and give the aldermen a showing-up. The men, although they were merely fighting their own battles, and not any one else's.

At any rate, the situation is considerably cleared up to-day, and the men will probably patiently await favorable action by the City Council in the future. It is felt by several of the men that a strike was made in sending the ultimatum. In the meantime, the City Council's attitude is simply to await events. The reply of the Mayor, which was framed after consultation with the City Solicitor, leaves no room for doubt that any proposal to strike, or any threats, will greatly prejudice the men's claims. The correspondence is given in full below.

The Mayor's Letter.
Brantford, March 13, 1913
Charles S'emin, Esq.
Chief Constable, City:
Sir,—I am in receipt of your favor of the 12th inst., enclosing a copy of a resolution which purports to be signed by twelve police constables of the City of Brantford, and requesting a definite answer by the night of the 14th inst. In reply, I beg to say that the members of the police force are not authorized to make such a request for an increase of pay is now under consideration by the board, where so far as I am concerned, it will be considered on its merits. If the request of the constables is to be deemed a threat of any kind, then I shall be glad if the constables will understand that their application can suffer nothing but prejudice from anything of the kind.

Yours truly,
CHAS. H. HARTMAN,
Mayor.
The Chief's Letter.
Brantford, Ont., 13th March, 1913
His Worship Mayor Hartman,
City Hall:
As requested by you over the telephone this morning, I beg to enclose herewith copy of a resolution of the constables, for the reconsideration of the decision of the Board of Police Commissioners in the matter of salaries. This was only handed to me yesterday, after 6 p.m.
Your obedient servant,
CHAS. S'EMIN,
Chief Constable.

Churchill Brings Down Naval Estimates in British Commons

[Canadian Press Despatch]
NEW YORK, March 14.—A cable to the Tribune from London says:—The Navy estimates published last night are not likely to arouse enthusiasm on either the ministerial or the opposition benches in the House of Commons. Liberals are dismayed at the prospect of more than 46,000,000 pounds sterling being spent on the navy during the coming year, and there will be much labor grumbling at this figure. Pacifists will also have something to say at the absence of any response to the German offer of sixteen keels to ten, and Mr. Churchill's silence on this point is certainly to be keenly criticized in ministerial circles.

The fact that it is proposed to lay down five new Dreadnoughts in 1913-14, irrespective of the latest German attitude, will be regarded as highly provocative.
For their part Unionists regard the Navy estimates, as distinctly disappointing in two most important points. The personnel of the services is to be increased to 146,000 officers and men, a figure which is held to be quite inadequate. The second point is the continued neglect of the air service. Here are two characteristic comments. "Europe" mad very quickly that this intolerable burden of armaments."

sterling on the amount which those who realize the pressing needs of the navy regarded as a minimum cannot, in my opinion, be achieved without some sacrifice of naval strength which we may urgently need at the shortest possible notice. It appears to me to be gambling with the very life of the empire.
James Keir Hardie:—"I wish the decrease had been five millions instead of three. It would lead more quickly to the inevitable revolt against bloated armaments.
"Whom the Gods would destroy they first make mad," and they are making Europe mad very quickly with this intolerable burden of armaments."

CANADA STANDS BEHIND PREMIER BORDEN'S PLAN

WORK YOU TURTLE, WORK!
[Canadian Press Despatch]
NEW YORK, March 14.
A young man who received an injection of the turtle bacillus administered by Dr. Friedrich F. Friedman last Saturday claims, according to the Tribune this morning, to have already improved materially, and tells an interesting tale of the sensations he felt soon after taking the treatment.
"About five hours after the time of the injection I felt a strange sensation in the calf of my leg," he said. "It was like a violent pulsation or motion. It began to spread until a tingling sensation thrilled my entire body. I felt that it must be the culture spreading through my whole system, and I put my hands on my head and shouted, 'Work, you turtle, work!'
"I feel in every way like a different man."

HYDRO-ELECTRIC INSTALLATION

Commissioner Fair States
That it Works Like a Charm at London Pumping Plant.

Mr. John Fair, Chairman of the Water Commissioners made a recent trip to London, where he looked into the Hydro Electric power end of the Water Works system. Mr. Fair returned to the city enthusiastic about the electric pumps.

To a Courier reporter this morning he declared that with a big saving of $38.50 per horsepower, at the price of $3.00 per horsepower in the Brantford Water Works by the installation of electric pumps. "The plan works like a charm in London," declared Mr. Fair.

The Chairman of the board further stated that installation of Hydro-Electric was a matter of business and not a matter of sentiment, and it was from a business point of view that he had expressed his opinion.

RURAL MAIL IMPROVEMENT

Brant County Residents Secure
Additional Advantages
From System.

It will be of considerable interest to Brant County residents to learn that the advantages of the Canadian Rural Mail Delivery system have recently been increased, under a new regulation of the department, which requires rural mail couriers to transport Money Order and Postal Note to the respective routes, and also to carry a supply of postage stamps, sufficient to meet the requirements of the patrons, and to accept letters for registration from box-holders, and give receipts therefor.

In this way the Rural Mail Delivery system will become a post office on wheels, and will add much to the increasing conveniences of rural life. Patrons of rural delivery will be supplied with blank applications for Money Orders and Postal Notes, to be used as occasion arises. The patron will prepare the application and hand it, together with the purchase money, to the courier, who will give a receipt therefor, and will purchase the money order or postal note at the distributing office, and deliver it to the box holder, on his next trip; or the courier may be entrusted with the open letter in which to enclose the Money Order or Postal Note, and thus save time.

In the case of registered letters for box-holders, the postmaster of the distributing office will notify box-holders they will be required to give the courier an order on the postmaster to deliver the article to the courier, and the box-holder will be expected to meet the courier on his next trip, and give a receipt on delivery of the article.
Registered letters on which the postage and registration fees have been fully paid, will be accepted by the courier and receipt given therefor.

Messages of Cheer From All Parts of the Dominion.

Let Canada at Once Give Assistance to the Empire.

OTTAWA, March 14.—"My colleagues join with me in expressing our admiration at the splendid fight you are making on the naval question and your determination that Canada shall at once give assistance for the defence of the Empire until a permanent policy is decided on. You have the support of the people of British Columbia, and the great majority of Canadians must feel you are acting in the best interests of the country."

The above telegram has been received by Premier Borden from the Prime Minister of British Columbia, Sir Richard McBride.
Mr. Borden has replied as follows: Sir Richard McBride, Victoria, B.C. "My colleagues and I appreciate warmly the endorsement of our attitude. Notwithstanding the unworthy obstruction with which we are confronted it is our firm determination to press to a conclusion our proposals for effective aid in the common defence of the Empire."

From Saskatchewan, Sir Richard McBride's message is only one of the scores which are coming in daily from every part of the Dominion, from the Old Country and from Canadians resident in the United States. One of the messages voices the sentiment of the people of the prairies. It comes from the district of Saskatchewan represented by Messrs. Knowles (Moose Jaw), McCrae (Saskatoon), and Champagne (Battleford), all Liberals, and is a strong endorsement of the stand taken by the Government.
The district thus represented comprises 3,800,000 acres.

Yet another message which may be quoted is the following, dated March 10th, and comes from a Canadian living in the United States:—"A Canadian, a life-long Liberal, let me make bold enough to write you a word concerning the Naval Bill, so conspicuously before Parliament and the Dominion. I urge you most affirmatively not to swerve for a moment from the reasonable and genuinely Imperial standpoint you have taken. The future untrammeled progress of Canada, requires your present utmost tenacity. My interest in writing is absolutely non-partisan and Canadian."

The Liberals in the House are no longer able to present a united front in the blockade. There have been a number of desertions, some of the best blockers having withdrawn from the useless struggle.

The Ring Narrowing.
The ring of obstructionists is noticeably narrowing. It is now made up principally of Liberals from Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, with E. M. Macdonald and Hon. William Pugsley in charge. The threatened collapse of the blockade has caused consternation among the members of the Board of Strategy, who have been directing the obstruction from outside of the House, through the reporters put them. Hon. Sydney Fisher, one of the aforesaid strategists, was present in the lobbies last night in earnest conversation with other strategists possessed of seats. Presumably he was counselling them to go on obstructing.

The time-killing in the House yesterday would have been without incident but for a further statement by the Prime Minister in reference to the Churchill memorandum and correspondence. He showed conclusively that the information which was included in the Admiralty memorandum of October 25 was before the Government as far back as the end of September, before the Monk resignation, and was far from being the new made-to-order thing that irate Liberal blockers have described it to be. There were some indications last night of coming developments in the political situation, but no hint is forthcoming as to the nature of these developments. Parliament will adjourn on Friday.

Music and Drama

A most notable event, outside from the great dramatic successes of the latter part of last season, and one which promises to surpass any of the hits of this one, will be the presentation of Gen. Stratton Porter's greatest success "FRECKLES" which will be the attraction at the Grand, Saturday. Mr. A. G. Delamater, who has in the past given to the stage some of its most worthy successes, is responsible for its staging, and as in "Beverly", and others, has left nothing to be suggested—in company, scenery and effects.
"When it is remembered that 'Freckles' has been read by over a million souls; that it proved the best of the best-sellers, the great demand to see it on the stage, with its living, breathing characters, is readily understood. There is an intense desire to see 'Freckles'—the namesake waif, to follow him through his adventures in the great 'Lumberlog Swamp,' with his engaging personality, and his love story with 'The Angel,' to become acquainted with his benefactor, McLeaff; to see Mrs. Duncan, with her motherly love for Freckles, and all the other well-drawn characters. There are tears to be shed over the vicissitudes of his life, and there are many laughs coming from his quaint philosophy and ready wit.

ONCE MORE.

The Courier has yet to see a better interior building than that of Brantford's Couriers, and it is necessary to expect a quarter-of-a-million on a new building. Consistent with the virtues of the modern era, the Courier is the product of a modern era. You're wrong as usual. This great family journal consistently shown up the traditions of its exceedingly good work and proposes to continue to do so. Now as to the above. A new and properly equipped building has been needed in Brantford for many years. A Crit Government, when admitted that fact but refused to build. They could build docks on low Sea and put up new buildings in the Sarawak Islands, but the interests of its customers could go hang. It is true, that backed by position they made an offer, Lloyd Harris, then M.P., by to grab half the market, by nothing, but that was only as to the need for an new City Hall, the Courier of this time, with so much of outlays to face, see the matter light. The antiquated structure, near the market, should be down, the sooner the better, send a quarter of a million to house about a dozen papers, another matter. Our coffee do that in its own business, one else. The present Post Office, quarters, will for years be good.

THE BRANTFORD COURIER LIMITED

Friday, March 14, 1913

ONCE MORE.

The Courier has yet to explain why an inferior building is good enough for Brantford's city hall, and it is necessary to expend about a quarter-of-a-million on a government building.

You're wrong as usual. This great family journal has consistently shown up the many contradictions of its exceedingly esteemed cotem and proposes to continue in the good work.

A new and properly equipped public building has been needed and warranted in Brantford for many years. A Grit Government, when in office, admitted that fact but refused to do anything.

They could build docks on the Yellow Sea and put up new post offices in the Sarawak Islands, but Brantford and the interests of its inhabitants could go hang.

It is true, that backed by the Expositor they made an offer, via, Mr. Lloyd Harris, then M.P., for seeking to grab half the market square for nothing, but that was only a bluff.

As to the need for an expensive new City Hall, the Courier cannot at this time, with so much expensive outlays to have, see the matter in that light.

The antiquated structure which mars the market block should be torn down, the sooner the better, but to spend a quarter of a million dollars on a new one, when a dozen people, in a year, can get it down, is not their own business or anyone else's.

Represent Post Office, or other will for years be quite adequate to take care of the excellent set of ladies and gents who at present look after civic interests.

HON. JOHN HAGGART.

The death of Hon. Mr. Haggart, removes a prominent figure from public life. He held the unique distinction of having sat continuously in the Dominion House for a longer period than any other man and that too for the same constituency, South Lanark.

In later years all the hon. gentlemen used to do was to put a card in a local paper announcing his candidacy and the electors always did the rest, last time by a majority of 1167.

As a matter of political gossip it might be mentioned that he and Hon Mr. Paterson entered the House in the same year, 1872. Up until 1911, they held the joint record of Parliamentary longevity, although Mr. Paterson, during the period, represented three constituencies, South Brant, North Grey and North Brant.

It is a matter of record that in those early days of warm blood and intense feeling, each used to have the idea that if the other took off his boots a cloven hoof would be disclosed, but time mellowed everything and for many years they had been warm friends.

In fact each time both emerged successfully one more from the fray those two political veterans used to hunt each other up and shake hands, the sort of feeling which was far too much lacking in earlier days and fortunately has become much more general in these times.

He was not a brilliant man and not a powerful orator, but he was the possessor of excellent judgment and a steady prop for many years of Sir John A. Macdonald. He was Postmaster-General from 1888 to 1892 and Minister of Railways and Canals from the latter year until 1896.

In both capacities he did excellent work.

For this country to build such vessels right off would be about as absurd as to expect a small holding farmer in Great Britain to buy a steam gang plow to work his land.

When Laurier and his associates talk of building Dreadnoughts and manning them, they are uttering the most arrant kind of trash.

ONE SENSIBLE LIBERAL PAPER.

The Montreal Herald is a staunch Liberal paper but it has the faculty of approaching extraneous incidents upon their merits.

For instance on the subject of the Churchill correspondence with Premier Borden it says during the course of an article:

"We have recognized in our legislation, that some manufacturing developments may be secured at too great a cost; that there are economic reasons why certain industries cannot thrive under Canadian skies, and that, in other cases, the growth of the country does not yet justify attempts to create industries involving intricate processes, employing highly specialized labor, and the products of which the demand is not yet large or constant."

THIS CHARGE IS SERIOUS

John Ragan is Sought by the Police for Attempting to Blow up Factory.

John Ragan, who for some time has been employed in the capacity of fireman by the Canada-Glue Company, is wanted by the police on a very serious charge.

It is alleged that Ragan deliberately attempted to damage the boilers at the company's premises at Echo Place on Wednesday night, and would have done so had not the night watchman been on the alert.

It is alleged that he intentionally drained the water out of the boilers and then fired up, but fortunately his act was discovered in time.

It is stated that Ragan admitted his guilt to County Constable Kerr when he served him with a summons, stating that he was intoxicated at the time.

There is no disgrace in that, for we have depended absolutely on British protection freely given, and it has not been necessary to develop the output of modern fighting machines.

Even supposing Canada was a separate nation the order for Dreadnoughts if thought to be necessary would undoubtedly be placed in British yards.

For this country to build such vessels right off would be about as absurd as to expect a small holding farmer in Great Britain to buy a steam gang plow to work his land.

When Laurier and his associates talk of building Dreadnoughts and manning them, they are uttering the most arrant kind of trash.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

The blockers at Ottawa are down to a few in number, but what they lack in ability they make up in gab.

Indications are that a general election for the House of Commons in the immediate future is a certainty. The Expositor is advised that local Conservatives received word from Ottawa, yesterday, to prepare for an election about May 20th.—Expositor.

You're just about as much right on that as when you said Reciprocity would win.

With the Police

The three foreigners who created the disturbance in the vicinity of Zion Church appeared this morning. They were charged with disorderly conduct and obstructing the police.

The trouble arose between Soman Augapian and Hachig Darderian. They had been out at a friend's on Darling street and were returning home about 2.30 in the morning.

When they reached Victoria Park, Darderian tried to get Augapian to go home with him, and Augapian tried to get Darderian to return with him.

The controversy grew quite noisy and drew the police, and they arrested Hachig Darderian. When Coran Mooradian and Archig Darderian were asked why they followed the patrol and wanted to get him away, Mooradian said he merely came to "buy Darderian out," meaning to bail him out.

His Worship, after hearing the evidence, said "These people get excited and then noisy. It reminds me of a case on the Midway at the World's Fair. A lady went up to an Armenian vendor of antiques, and priced an article, the vendor replying, "Cheap, cheap." She, however, went away, but he followed her, and grabbing her by the hair repeated again "Cheap, cheap." He didn't think he was assaulting her, nor did these men. They'll have to pay costs, however."

Simo Augapian paid costs amounting to $11.85, Hachig Darderian $4.85, Arcon Darderian $9.85.

John Montgomery and Bert Meates were charged with stealing a horse, the property of Eli Loser. Mr. Hollinrake, who appeared for Montgomery, was not ready to go on with the case, so it was adjourned till Monday.

Mr. Henderson appeared for Loser. John Pentland, better known as "Doc," was arrested this morning, coming down Dalhousie street in a circular fashion, carrying an old teapot, in which he evidently hoped to secure some more of the hot stuff.

He was not in a fit state to face his Worship at the court hour, so will likely appear to-morrow.

Toronto Telegram Tips. These be the great days when the Ottawa Opposition is often on its feet and always on its uppers.

If the Ottawa Opposition does concede from the British Empire the latter will lose a whole lot of talk and not much else.

Obstruction at Ottawa is the not irresistible obstacle that will soon meet with an immovable body—to wit, closure.

Gen. Obstruction has superseded that other great warrior, Col. Sam Hughes, in the command at Ottawa, while the country is dominated by Gen. Disgust.

Debate at Ottawa is now reduced to its simplest terms and most primitive forms, the gentlemen of the Opposition being liable to up and ask the government as follows—"Is that you spoke or a cabbage head busted?"

CYCLONE WAS TERRIFIC ONE

(Canadian Press Dispatch)

NEW YORK, March 14—Wide-spread storms of cyclonic intensity sweeping over the middle west and south during the past 24 hours cut their way through towns and cities of five states, snuffing out scores of lives, made hundreds homeless, and destroyed property valued in the millions.

At noon to-day fifty-one persons were reported killed and the death list was growing.

Other sections of the country from the Great Lakes to the Gulf, and the eastern seaboard to the Rockies were swept to-day by gales, rain and snow. The storm took its heaviest toll of life in Alabama, Tennessee and Northwestern Georgia. From Nashville and Memphis came reports of cyclones half a mile wide, sweeping through five counties, brushing a dozen towns of homes, brushing a dozen towns and killing twenty persons.

Borden's Plan

The Government is wearing down the obstruction, but the process is slow and it does not look as if the Government will wait for the blockade to die a natural death. The blockers know their spectacular effort has failed, and they are talking now in the hope that the Government will offer them terms or bring down a closure. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is still absent from the House with a cold. There are conflicting reports as to the severity of the attack.

CAN LAUGH AT LIFE'S MINORILLS

SINCE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HER KIDNEY DISEASE.

New Brunswick Woman Tells How She Was Rescued from Ill Health by the Twin Remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.
NEGUAC ALLAIN, P. O. N. B. Mar. 10—(Special)—Mrs. Jos. G. Savoy, a well known resident of this place, whose illhealth has been a matter of much concern to her friends, is telling of the cure she found for all her troubles in Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.
"My health is fine now," Mrs. Savoy says, in an interview. "The pains are gone from my side and back and when I go to bed I can sleep. Before I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills and Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, I could not eat anything hearty, such as meat, but now I can eat practically what I please with no ill effects."
Mrs. Savoy was in a generally run-down condition, and her cure came about by using the natural remedies, Dodd's Kidney Pills cured and invigorated her kidneys, thus purifying her blood and improving the circulation.
Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets insured proper digestion of her food, thus furnishing the body with the nutrition it requires. Women with healthy kidneys and sound digestion can afford to laugh at the minor ills of life.

G. COMPANY'S FINE EVENT

Annual Supper and Theatre Party Was Held Last Night

That theatre parties are becoming very popular among the military men of the city is evident by the large turnout of members of G. Company, 38th Duffins, who attended in a body the Colonial theatre last night and enjoyed the pictures and program which were on the boards at the King street playhouse. The members of G. Company, looking smart in their new khaki uniforms, assembled at the armories early in the evening and amused themselves playing different games until it was time to fall in and march to the theatre.

Arriving there, the always smiling and courteous manager, Edward Symons, ushered the men to their seats. During the time the khaki-clad company were at the theatre, Caterer Crumback made himself extra busy, and when the company returned to the men's quarters he had one of his tasty lunches prepared for the loyal subjects of his Majesty the King. The men were not a bit "backward" in coming forward, and did not wait for any introduction to the lunch, but "dug right in."

After calling the members of the company to attention, Lieut. Emmons passed the toast list to Color Sergt. Kellogg, who called on Colonel Howard, who on rising stated that he was very much interested in G. Company, and asked the men to support Lieut. Emmons in building up the company. The Colonel stated that he did not want anybody but good clean men in the regiment, that will be a credit to the Canadian militia.

At the camp at Niagara last year the Colonel said that the 38th were the strongest regiment under canvas, and he asked those present to try and arrange their affairs so as to be able to attend camp this summer. He requested the boys to endeavor to secure good recruits for G. Company. Colonel Howard spoke very highly of Lieut. Emmons, Burrows and Miller, and then he said G. Company has three energetic officers, who will be faithful to the company, and if the men will support them and put their shoulder to the wheel G. Company will soon make rapid strides.

Corp. Branson delighted those present with a piano solo, which was played in capital style.

Bugler Bert Wright gave a whistling solo and imitated a number of different kind of birds.

Major General was then called upon and immediately took up his hobby, the Rifle Ranges, and urged the men to take a particular interest in shooting and try to make himself a marksman. The Major said he was pleased to be able to announce that the room for the men will be fitted up at once, the formal opening to take place on Saturday, and concluded by wishing the officers and men of G. Company every success.

Mr. Stanley, the possessor of a rich bass voice, enlivened the affair by singing a rousing bass song, "True to Death."

Lieut. Emmons addressed the men, and dwelt upon the importance of being able to shoot. He asked the men to turn out to drill, and hoped by next fall that the company would be very proficient in their work. Lieut. Emmons stated that prizes would be given for attendance at drills and shooting at the ranges.

A song by Pte. McLeod was much enjoyed.

Lieut. F. Miller said that one of the first duties of a Canadian was to join the militia, and requested the men to secure good recruits for G. Company. He wanted the men to take more interest in the regimental sports.

Pte. Unsworth sang "All Alone," and was forced to give an encore.

Lieut. W. A. Burrows, on rising, was given a great reception, as this was his first appearance among the men of G. Company. Lieut. Burrows stated that the previous officers had covered the ground so well that there was nothing left for him to say. The new Lieutenant said, "as short speeches are the order of the evening," he was through.

Mr. King sang a comic song and was recalled for another.

C. B. Todd sang two songs, one a parody entitled "The Brick Bats at the Station Doors."

Lloyd Moore got off a few good jokes.

After singing the national anthem the members of the company dispersed.

At Zion Church. It was Educational evening on Monday at the Y. P. G. of Zion Church. Rev. Mr. Lavell of Brant Ave. Church addressed the meeting on "Travel." Very humorously he sketched the troubles of travelling, and showed how many of these troubles the traveller brings upon himself. He also spoke in a very interesting and educative way of the pleasures and benefits of travel, and advised those present to travel whenever the opportunity presented itself, and if travel was impossible, to "travel by books," as a very great deal of pleasure and profit might be thus derived. The meeting was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Fine Concert. A most delightful concert was held last evening in Ballou St. Presbyterian Church, under the auspices of Mr. E. Danby's S. S. Class. There was a good attendance, and the programme was exceptionally good. Special mention should be made of the ladies' quartette of Alexandra Presbyterian Church. The Male Quartette of the Y.M.C.A. composed of Messrs. Chrysler, Lemon, Widdis and Raynor assisted Mr. Reginald Cinnamon in a most efficient manner. The soloists were in fine form while Miss Mitchell and Miss Hamilton brought down the house with their witty readings. Miss Edna Williams, Miss C. McIntosh and Mr. H. A. Chrysler were excellent accompanists. The Orchestra of Balfour St. Church contributed much to the excellence of the programme, under the leadership of Mr. Macdonald. Mr. T. L. Wood occupied the chair. The following took part in the program: Miss C. McIntosh, Miss J. Mitchell, Alexandra Ladies' Quartette, Miss C. Chave, Mr. R. Cinnamon, Mrs. T. Humble, Miss Hamilton, Mr. T. FINE EVENT.

Young Men Minstrels at the Y. M. C. A. Made Big Hit.

The Young Men's Minstrel Club under the able direction of Mr. D. F. Thompson, held the first of two concerts they are giving in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. last night. The hall, though not packed, was quite comfortably filled. The chorus numbered about twenty-five, including many very humorous characters as well as many very capable singers. Mr. Wray Youmans, made a very fluent and active interlocutor. Among the minstrels the title roles were ably filled by Harry Sills, Arthur Dunstan, Bill Ryan, and Dode Howarth, who got away with many witticisms at the city's expense. One heard was—"Mr. Interlocutor, did you hear about Chief Slemm, arresting Janitor Smith of the City Hall?"
"No, sir," I did not," replied Interlocutor, "What for was he arrested?"
"Oh, he was riding a bicycle down the street," said the minstrel.
"Well, what's the crime in that?"
"Well, Chief Slemm says he was peddling without a license," replied the colored gent.
The quartette composed of Messrs. Bill Johnson, Dode Howarth, Harry Houlding and Archie Wallace was especially good, rendering two or three numbers in fine form.
"The Ghost in the Pawnshop," a little burlesque after piece, was the best bit of the evening, the parts being admirably taken. Mr. Bill Ryan, the colored waiter, also the originator of the burlesque took his part exceedingly well.
The minstrels are not only clever comedians but have enough good voices in the circle to make the concert a decided success. The club will

ECZEMA IS CAUSED BY IMPURE BLOOD

Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Because They Make Pure Blood
Ask any doctor and he will tell you the eczema is caused by impurities in the blood; that nothing can cure it that does not reach the blood—that salves and outward applications are worthless and a waste of money. The reason why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have always been so successful in curing this most annoying trouble is because they act directly on the blood, reaching the root of the trouble and driving out all impurities. They banish eczema, salt rheum, and unsightly pimples and eruptions, relieve the irritation and itching and give perfect health.
Mrs. A. Pulung, of Milestone, Sask., says: "I was affected with a blood called eczema, but which did not yield in the least to his treatment. I was covered with sores and in very bad shape. A friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and after using eight or nine boxes I was completely cured. I can strongly recommend the Pills to anyone suffering from that trouble."
A medicine that can make new red blood will cure not only skin troubles, but also anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, indigestion, and a cause these troubles are the result of bad blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make new blood and under their use blood and nerve troubles disappear. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

Small Fire.

DISGRACEFUL STATEMENT

Principal Burt's Scalp Not the Least Bit in Danger—A Canard.

The article in The Expositor last evening stating that members of the Collegiate board were after Principal Burt's scalp and an investigation would be held was inspired entirely by ill-will towards Mr. Burt and not the slightest foundation.
"Please make it as strong as you possibly can that the board in general has nothing to investigate regarding Mr. Burt. Such a disgraceful canard never should have been published."
The above statement was made by Dr. Hart, chairman of the Collegiate Institute Board to The Courier to-day, when asked if there was any truth in the report that an investigation was to be held into Principal Burt's regime. The statement of Dr. Hart, who for years has been a valuable member of the board, speaks for itself.
Another prominent member of the board spoke to The Courier about the matter this morning. When it came to looking into little matters of discipline it was a matter for any board to look into things, but it was not a case of going after the principal or anyone else.
Dr. Hart in conversation with The Courier further stated that a silly story about girls dressing up as boys on the occasion of a recent girls' evening was a harmless affair, at which two of the lady teachers were present. "Girls—especially young girls—were sure at times to display high spirits in an innocent way, and I cannot see how The Expositor could make a story out of an incident of that kind."
The effort evidently made to embarrass Principal Burt with the trustees is bound to fail. Mr. Burt has had an enviable record for many years as principal of the Collegiate, and the effort made to belittle the record of a tried and trusted servant in a sensational and unfounded way is characterized on all sides as a disgraceful proceeding.

At Galt

Valley Railway was interviewed by a Courier representative this morning, to whom he stated "that the tracks just out of Galt were completely covered with water and was undermining the ties and roadbed and the huge pieces of ice were playing havoc with the poles supporting the trolley wires as half a dozen of them were reported to have been broken."
Up till the time of going to press there has not been a Grand Valley car in or out of Galt on the line to-day.

At Onondaga

Mr. Hilton Hill of the Department of Indian affairs stated that he was at the river bank at Onondaga this morning about seven o'clock and the ice was broken there and the water was flowing peacefully along and showed no signs of a flood.

City Engineer Jones.
City Engineer Jones when interviewed, stated that he expected no flood or trouble whatever at present, and was of the opinion that the ice from Galt would likely pass through here about half past two this afternoon.

Lorne Bridge

Lorne Bridge was the mecca of sight-seers to-day. All day long citizens went down to look at the river and watch the ice go floating past.
As far as the eye can reach, there appears to be a clear channel in the river and unless predictions go wrong the old Noble Grand will not seriously molest property to any great extent this spring.

In the Night

Last evening the heavy ice jam in the Noble Grand was causing a good deal of worry especially to those near the vicinity of the river. About five o'clock the river was quite high, entirely covering the island; the jam about the dam was quite serious, and had not broken up as was reported by a local paper yesterday.
In the night, however, the ice broke away and to-day is passing away quite peacefully. The river has gone down considerably, with the result that all danger of any flood is practically over for this year.
A couple of watchmen are stationed on the new wing of the G. T. R. bridge, which has just recently been completed, watching that the ice does not affect the new piers.
The ice last night just oozed away and did not pass away with the usual rush. There was no worry at all over the outlook, and no trouble whatever is expected this year. The flood period is now playing its part in an emotional address, and the temperate and nerve she has shown in her part have been a surprise to the public. Successful before, this last evidence of her versatile talent has gained her new and enthusiastic recognition from her audiences. Miss Burke is accompanied by her mother, who is always with her and has her own "car."

SPORTING COMMENT

By FREE LANCE

News of the death of Chaucer Elliott, who caught for Knotty Lee's Brantford team here in 1905 and who managed the St. Thomas Canadian League team in 1911, will be received with widespread and heartfelt regret by local fans. Chaucer was a noted Canadian athlete and sportsman. He piloted the McGill Rugby team one year to a championship, and was the king pin hockey referee of the country. He was never a great ball player, although he was a good judge of the other fellows' ability, and in St. Thomas he produced, under trying circumstances, a fine team. It is not so much as an athlete that Canada mourns the loss, but as a real sportsman and good fellow. He was a good game. Irishman, a man with a fighting but genial disposition, a friend to even the hat boy, and one whom sporting circles will miss. Chaucer made many friends in Brantford, the fans used to delight to see him here with St. Thomas, and it is sad to think that an injury sustained years ago in football gradually developed into that dread disease, cancer, and resulted in his passing. Chaucer fought even the ravages of the disease as gamely as he ever fought on the field, but all to no avail. His letters to Brantford friends when first he was taken ill, were cheerful. "I know what I am up against," he said while at New York where specialists performed an operation, "but the old boy is going to put up one grand fight." Elliott was in the prime of Canadian manhood, and his loss is heavy.

President Nelson is satisfied with the Canadian League schedule which will be out to-morrow. The schedule gives Brantford eight Saturdays at home and all the holidays. In addition the Red Sox will open up at Peterboro and at Ottawa. The Senators play the opening engagement here May 7, and President Fitzgerald, with a coterie of his Toronto friends, has announced that he will come to Brantford on the big occasion. A half holiday to greet the Provincial Secretary, Hon. W. J. Hanna, as he pitches the first ball this summer over the Brantford plate, is wanted. Let's all get together and pull hard to bring a pennant to Dyckville this summer.

About the best thing we have heard about pitcher Nick Cullop, who expects to southpaw his way into the American League via the Naps, is that he is a smart pitcher.

All that nonsensical dope about the Cleveland club paying $25,000 for him failed to appeal, but the information that he is well versed in the matter of sociology, masters the weaknesses of batters quickly and knows how to hold unscrupulous base-runners close to the sacks, is worth receiving joyfully. The added news that he is a better fielder causes no sorrow. Cullop is twenty-two years old, is said to be a twin brother to good habits and wise enough to tell a manager when he is not feeling well.

If Cullop's behaviour and the press notices jibe Van Gregg should find the kid pitcher a good running mate.

Mark Griffiths hates to embarrass a young ball player—if that player happens to be a member of his team. That is the reason why no names are mentioned in the following little yarn told by the leader of the Nationals.

A young pitcher reported to me whose size compared favorably with that of the Eiffel tower. He had arms like flails and when he spoke, his voice rumbled like the reverberations of a gunshot in the chambers of a mammoth cave.

"He had a peculiar habit when pitching. After delivering the ball to the batter he dashed forward flapping his fingers and yelling like a thoroughly soured Comanche.

"I warned him several times to eliminate the stuff, but he refused to hear.

"That's my way to keep them from hitting. I frighten them to death," was his explanation.

One day he tried to frighten Sam

Crawford. As he dashed forward Sam connected with the ball. It struck the youngster squarely in the dining room. He was laid up for two weeks. And he hasn't tried the stunt since.

It's quite an event when Joe Jackson of Cleveland, arrives at the spring training camp. In the first place the hotel flag is put at full mast. The bell-hops comb their kinky hair, and the elevator boy brushes the dust off the lattice work in his car. The recruits back away from the register and peek over Joe's shoulder while he inscribes his autograph. The clerk brings a new pen into action to jot down the room number—AND JOE'S ARRIVED. Along with Joe to the ball field the first day go six bats—with Joe's picture on them—a pair of ball shoes, a glove, a sweater, and a troop of pickaninnies.

Of the 70 races rowed between Oxford and Cambridge since 1829, Oxford has won 39, Cambridge 30 and one (that of 1877) was a dead heat. Cambridge won in 1849 for the first time in ten years, and repeated in 1910, but in 1901 and 1908 Cambridge again won. In 1902, 1903, and 1904 Cambridge won easily, in 1905, Oxford secured the victory by three lengths. The fastest time on record for the race is 18:20, made by Oxford in 1911. In 1912 the race had to be rowed over because on the first occasion both boats swamped, although Oxford resumed and finished.

BREEZY FOOTBALL NOTES FROM THE OLD LAND

(By Tom Watson)

It must have been a great game at Newcastle yesterday when the local United and Sunderland met to repay their English Cup tie, which was left drawn at Roger Park on Saturday. There was an immense attendance, estimated at 70,000 people, and the greatest excitement prevailed. At the end of the ordinary ninety minutes play the teams were still level, and not one goal had been scored. As the teams turned about to start the extra half hour the excitement was intense. In the short space of time it was conceded that a snap goal either way would decide the issue, but that snap goal never came and both teams lay to resume their great contest on Monday next.

When a Cup tie is drawn for the second time it is customary for the teams to have their third game on neutral ground unless the clubs can agree mutually as to one or other of their own grounds. From reports to hand, it would appear that Newcastle and Sunderland have agreed to keep "their ain fish guts for their ain sea maws", and spinning the coin for choice of home territory Newcastle won and at St. James' Park the third trial between the great rivals will take place. There are thousands in Toronto who would give any amount to be temporarily transported just to see that game.

Manchester Now Leads. By their victory over Oldham Athletic yesterday, Manchester City regained the leading position in the English League table and with one point ahead and a game more in hand than their nearest rivals, their prospects look bright. There may be many slips made yet, of course, and I look for the championship being in doubt up till the very end.

Breezy Letter by Christy Mathewson

The Giant Star Tells How Things are Conducted in a Big Training Camp.

Written by "Christy" Mathewson, Star Pitcher of the New York Giants.

MARLIN, Texas, March 14.—Certain clubs within the last three or four seasons have attempted to restrict the habits of their players by inserting anti-booze and anti-cigarette clauses in the contracts, and making the use of either liquor or cigarette subject to a fine. It's an old theory of some managers that "lips that touch liquor or cigarettes shall never moisten a spitball for me."

Now it strikes me that such sweeping restrictions are of little benefit either to the club owners or the players. It smacks too much of the police system, and acts as a sort of flaming challenge to the players all season. Whenever they desire a smoke they have to sneak off and sift the smoke out from behind their hands the way I have observed some women doing in hotel dining rooms and cafes, where they are not permitted to smoke, when the head waiter is not looking. It is a cinch that these clauses do not prevent smoking or drinking, but they force a player to sneak a glass of beer or a smoke if he wants it.

Reflection on the Players. Such clauses reflect on the intelligence and manliness of the ball players to-day, to my mind, because there are few in the game at present who need any censorship of their habits.

They are the same methods as those adopted for a lot of schoolboys, and it is not taken for granted by the persons making these conditions that they apply to grown men playing ball for their living. In the more acute cases, of which there are very few in the big leagues at present, such contracts may be all right, although I have honest doubts as to whether they are of any value. The system of giving the erratic player a bonus at the end of the season for good behaviour is much more satisfactory I think. Without mentioning any names I will say that, when a man wants a drink and it is his habit, he generally gets the ammunition. Ball players who are bad actors, remain bad actors in spite of all the anti-booze clauses in the world. The idea of having a man sign a pledge and then expect him to take it out and look at it every time he feels thirsty or wants a smoke is not much good.

McGraw's Opinion. "It does not hurt a player any to smoke in moderation," McGraw told the recruits here recently, in talking to them about condition. "There are no anti-smoking and anti-drinking rules in this club. I do not mind if a player wants to take a glass of beer after a game or if he likes to smoke after dinner and in moderation. But this statement must not be misunderstood. Any excess will be followed by a heavy fine. Two excesses are liable to be followed by a heavier fine and a suspension. What we want on this club is the pink of condition. To insist on this I have all my players, the stars and the recruits alike, in the club house at the Polo grounds each morning at 10 o'clock. If a man is out there promptly at 10 it is a cinch he has been to bed early the night before, and is taking care of himself. Of course if he looks heavy-eyed and seems to be weary, his case is investigated. On the road I watch the men closely, and you might as well ask the regular players here about my methods if any are found to be staying in late or over-stepping the mark in drinking. A few of the boys used to like to sit up and play poker last season. They will tell you how I broke up this habit. It cost them some money."

That is all McGraw had to say about it. He won't mention the matter again unless he discovers some player overstepping the mark. Then he is liable to get personal, and something will drop. Baseball men say that the Giants are generally the best conditioned team in the league. Nearly all of them smoke, and I would mention the brand of cigarette if I were getting anything for plugging it, but I am not. If they smoke enough to hurt their wind they are warned. If a man makes what is a three base hit and stops for a second because he is all out of breath and cannot continue the journey, his case is investigated. Or if he slides into third and has to lie still for a minute to get his wind before he can rise, he is warned and had better show improved shape pretty soon. But McGraw is against any comprehensive and drastic action.

The Cigarette Habit. Few of the Giants drink anything at all above an occasional glass of beer. Several of them do this after every game and frequently with their meals, but there has been no trouble with that feature of training on the New York Club for two or three years. Ames used to smoke a good many cigarettes and this seemed to hurt his pitching, as he is known as

LONGBOAT BEAT VISCOUNT IN A NEW YORK RACE

NEW YORK, March 14.—Tom Longboat of Toronto beat Mauro Viscount of the same city here last night in a 15-mile race. Britisher Claims Ritchie's Crown.

London, March 13.—Freddie Welsh is going to sail for New York March 22, and carry with him a claim that he's the real world's lightweight champion. Incidentally he'll use that claim to boost along his efforts for a match with Willie Ritchie for the world's lightweight championship.

Freddie bases his claim on a decision he won over Ritchie a year before he won the title from Wolgas. Sporting authorities' poor-pooch Welsh's claim and declare you can't take away a fighter's championship before he wins it.

Packey-Ritchie Bout Seems Off.

CHICAGO, March 13.—Willie Ritchie and Packey McFarland will never clash for lightweight honors unless Ritchie changes his mind and allows McFarland to make 135 lbs. at 3 o'clock on the day of the battle.

Emil Thiry, McFarland's manager, said to-day that it would be impossible for him to agree to Nolan's terms. Ritchie insists on 133.

SCOTTISH PLAYERS UNDER THEIR JURISDICTION JOINING THE PARTY.

A communication on the subject has been sent to the Transvaal by mail. An ex-soldier named H. Russell, the 1st. Lancashire Regiment, recently home from India, was given a trial with the Fulliam Reserves against the Coldstream Guards. So well did he play that he has been engaged as a professional. He plays centre half-back.

A New Pensioner

Chelsea are to be congratulated on obtaining the transfer of John Brown the Glasgow Celtic outside left. The amount of the transfer fee was not made known. Last season Brown played for the Scottish League against the English League at Middlesbrough. He is well built and fast, while he has the reputation of being a powerful shot. Previous to joining Celtic he was with Falkirk, and before that with Alloa Athletic.

Players Exchanged.

The Airdrieonians have secured the transfer from Portsmouth of Thomas Murray, a right-back, who used to play for Patrick Thistle. In return, the Airdrieonians have transferred to Portsmouth Samuel Young, their Irish international forward. Young, who has had few chances this season owing to the brilliance of Reid, can play either at centre forward or at inside left.

For South Africa

After all a Scottish team may tour South Africa this season. Mr. David Butchart of the Witwatersrand Exploration Co., has just left Glasgow with the assurance that a picked team will do the journey. Many of the leading South African mining houses are backing the movement. With their co-operation a team composed entirely of Scottish international players was suggested. Some of them are starring in English clubs. The trip will be organized from Scotland, and a Scottish club manager will be in charge of the players. The S.F.A. Major Hamilton on Recent Trip West Meets Many Old Brantfordites—A Letter

Brantford Boys Getting Along Fine in the Canadian West—The Major Extends the Glad Hand—Real Estate Business and Other Conditions Are Discussed in An Interesting Way for Courier Readers.

Dear Sir:—Thinking it might interest your readers, I made a few notes of my trip west last week. The trip was made on the Pacific Coast.

Leaving Brantford at 6:45 p.m. on February fourteenth, the C. P. R. train left Toronto two hours later. We arrived at Sudbury the next morning—three hours behind time. There was good sleighing the morning was bright, the temperature a little below zero, and the numerous new buildings showed that Sudbury has been making good progress. We had a train of ten coaches, but there was no one I knew on board. However, we had some very nice people amongst them an Englishman going out to look after the investments of a Belgian syndicate. During the day I could see little change in the town and villages we passed. We awoke next morning at Lennox, and four hours later reached Kenora four hours late. We reached Winnipeg at five p.m. and one hour later our train left again for the coast. The next morning we reached Moosejaw, passing Swift Current and many smaller places. Medicine Hat is considered to be the town now being boomed. It is claimed that natural gas is cheaper and more plentiful here than any other place on the continent. The hotels were said to be crowded and the skating rink was being divided into bedrooms to accommodate the rush of land speculators. Calgary was passed in the night, and on awakening next morning we find ourselves at Laggan, amongst the Rockies. The snowfalls this winter have been very heavy and fears were expressed that we would meet with snow slides before we got through the mountains. However, nothing of the kind occurred, and night found us at Kamloops, and at five next morning we reached Vancouver nearly six hours late.

After breakfast I met Mr. J. T. Addison on Hastings St. He was formerly a student with Dr. E. Hart in Brantford. Later I was hailed by Mr. A. J. Duncan, a Norwich boy, who studied law in Wilson & Smyth's office in Brantford. He is practicing law, but has also been over an office building he had just completed at a cost of two hundred thousand dollars. It is known as the "Duncan Block." Afterwards I looked up Mr. David Grant. He has opened up a new real estate business on Pendleton street. His firm is Grant and Maskell. I then went to call on Capt. Wm. Grant, at 908 Broughton street, and spent a pleasant half hour with the Captain and Miss Grant. I was glad to see that the Captain had so far recovered that he could walk with the aid of a cane. Saying good-bye a few minutes walk brought me to Mr. David Simpson's house at 1743 Haro street. Mr. Simpson is something of a specialist at Brantford and is a son-in-law of the late Mr. D. Brooker. In Hastings street I met Percy Logan, formerly a clerk in Agnew's shoe store. Brantford and now in the shoe department of Spence and Co's departmental store. I left by steamer that night and at seven the next morning we were lying at the dock in Victoria. Calling at the Bank of British North America I found my old friend, Mr. David Doig, the manager, looking hale and hearty. He lived in Brantford over thirty years ago. The accountant, Mr. F. W. Clarke was also formerly stationed in Brantford. On inquiry, I found that Mr. A. J. C. Gallately, formerly manager of the Bank of Montreal, Brantford, had been retired on pension, and with his wife was on a trip around the world. I met Mr. Garvin H. Burns, in real estate here. He was in the Bank of Montreal in Brantford in 1874.

Calling at the Union Bank I found Major A. E. Christie, the manager. He was arranging to move to Vancouver to take over the branch there. Later I met Mr. James Frank, who made many enquiries about old Brantford friends. There are several other Brantford people here, but I did not have time to look them up. In the year I could see that Victoria had been making good progress. That night I went to my cabin on the steamer, and the next morning at seven reached Vancouver. After breakfast I met Clarence Jarvis, an old Brantford boy, on Cordova St. He is in the grocery and brokerage line and doing a large business. He was good enough to offer to take me in his motor to the Heights, and Point Grey. The Heights has some very fine residences, and nothing else can be built there. There are no streets in blocks, all are winding or circular. We went on to Point Grey, on what is called the "Marine Drive." It is a smooth road all the way. In the land we passed great stumps are being removed and put in immense piles for burning, and here and there are some very good houses. Mr. Jarvis showed me a two acre lot he bought two years ago for two thousand dollars, and said he could get five thousand for it now. The run was made in an hour and twenty minutes, and the distance was about twenty-five miles. The beauty and extent of this part of Vancouver was a revelation to me. Saying good-bye to Mr. Jarvis and his son, I called at the Bank of Hamilton to see Mr. Ewing Buchan, the manager. He is an old Brantford County boy and was born at 'Brasserie,' near Paris. He looked very well, and is optimistic about the future of Vancouver. At 12:15 p.m. found me in the B. C. electric train bound for the Chilliwack Valley. It is four years since I travelled to New Westminster in daylight, and the changes in little stations and settlements were surprising. We change trains at New Westminster, which has improved very much, and after a four hour run through the valley reached the pretty town of Chilliwack.

Mr. N. S. Mackenzie, a son of Rev. Dr. Mackenzie of Brantford, and manager of the Merchants Bank here met me at the station and took me to his house. Afterwards we drove out a couple of miles to see a relative there. Even in a year I could see that marked improvement has been made in this section. I noticed numerous pits in the fields, and was told that they contained potatoes. Most of them had been raised by Chinese on rented land, and they were so plentiful that they could be bought for fifteen cents a bushel. This, it was said, would hardly pay the rent of the land.

On arriving at Mr. Tryon's place I could see he had been improving it. He seemed satisfied with his progress. Returning to Chilliwack, we passed through the village of Sardis where there is a large Indian school and extensive hop houses and fields. I called to see Mr. A. S. Watson, formerly a farmer in Brantford Township but now in the real estate business here. Next morning I said good-bye to Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie and drove three miles by stage to the bank of the Chilliwack river. A small steamer took us over to Harrison's mills, four miles distant. Here there is a large saw mill and owned by a large company who have closed several of their mills. An hour later we take the cast-bound train for Sicamous Junction and arrive shortly after ten. The next morning at 10 o'clock I left by train for Vernon, in the Okanagan Valley, where we arrived about noon. I was met at the station by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Watts, and remained with them three days. The only other Brantford people here are L. J. Ball, of Vernon News, and his wife. Vernon is a very pretty town, is beautifully situated, and has many wealthy people residing in the town and surrounding country. The climate the year round is delightful. Leaving Vernon on February 26th, I met Capt. John Breddon at the Endrey station, looking well. Leaving Sicamous Junction at 10:30 p.m. I awoke in the morning at Fife. The thermometer stood at zero, and the day was bright, and after a delightful run through the Rockies we reached Calgary at 3 p.m. Getting off the train I met the depot master, Mr. W. Vickery, some years ago employed at the G. T. R. station in Brantford, and at the ticket office wicket Mr. F. E. Eacrett, a son of License Inspector Eacrett of Brantford. Calling on Mr. Gibson, the assistant manager of the Bank of Commerce, formerly of the office in the late Mr. Robert's time. Later I called at Mr. Alex. Moffat's jewelry store. He has two Brantford boys, E. Mitchell and E. Sims in his employ.

I left Calgary for High River at 6 o'clock and arrived there two hours later. I spent the evening with Mr. Alex. Ballachy, an old Brantford boy, who has a lucrative law business here. In addition to this he owns considerable land. Last year he put six hundred acres in crop. A. G. Verchere, an old Brantford man here is the manager of the Bank of Commerce, formerly a clerk in the Brantford office. I was told that Mrs. M. R. Brown, formerly of Brantford Township, was here on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Hunt. Mr. Hunt is in the real estate business.

I left High River the next morning in company with Mr. George Lane, in company stockholder in the Bar U Ranch, situated about 20 miles west of High River. This company have at present about 11,000 head of cattle and 1,300 head of Percheron horses. This ranch feeds about thirty tons of chopped barley and oats per day. Oats at High River are worth twenty-two cents per bushel. We arrived at Calgary before noon and at 3 p.m. left for Edmonton, which was reached at 10:30 p.m. I went to the Alberta Hotel, the proprietor, Mr. Rooke, was formerly in the Montreal telegraph office at Brantford. The next day I met Mr. Herbert Fairchild, who had been telegraphed for on account of his brother Courtland's serious illness. Later I called on Mr. L. G. McHaiffe, manager of the Bank of British North America, and Mr. G. W. Swaisland, manager of the Merchants Bank, both old Brantford boys. Later in company with Mr. J. C. F. Bown, the City Solicitor of Edmonton, I called on Mr. Balmer Watt, now one of the editors of the Edmonton Journal, Dr. C. U. Holmes, formerly physician at the Indian Reserve, Mr. F. D. MacMahon, now in the brokerage business here, and Capt. Leslie D. Brown, now in the law business on his own account.

Met Mr. A. Colquhoun of the Indian Reserve, Mr. J. W. Wilson, a cousin of Jas. Harley of Brantford. He is in the brick business at Edmonton and Saskatoon. Saying good-bye to Mr. Brown, I left at 9 p.m. for Vermillion, where I spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. James Hagen and their two sons, who drove twenty miles to meet me. There is very little change in Vermillion, although a land syndicate is doing its best to boom it. Here I met Mr. A. Colquhoun of Neepawa, a cousin of Capt. Colquhoun of Brantford. The next night I left Vermillion and awoke at Delmas. This village is in the centre of an Indian reserve sold nearly five years ago. A Brantford syndicate have thirty-five hundred acres of this land. Later we reached North Battleford, which has now a population of 5,000 and is seeking incorporation as a city. We arrived at Saskatoon at 11:30 a.m. and after lunch I called on Mr. George Weir, manager of the British Bank. I found that he was leaving in a few days to open a branch for his bank at Regina. As I was leaving the bank I met David D. Campbell, formerly of Mount Pleasant, but now farming near Saskatoon. Close by is the Imperial Bank, and here I found another old Brantford boy, Mr. Gordon Duncan, the manager, calling later at the Cocksfoot Plow Co's. I found Mr. Fred Pickels and Mr. Adams both glad to meet an old Brantford friend, and on my way to the station I met F. B. McEwan, formerly in Balmain's hardware store, Brantford, and now in real estate in Saskatoon.

At 8 p.m. we leave by the C.N.R. for Regina and arrive six hours later. The next morning, in company with Mr. Clayton Peterson, proprietor of the Hotel Clayton, and a son of County Attorney Peterson of Guelph I went to the new premises buildings. They are easily reached by the new car line and are well worthy of a visit. Later, on the corner of Hamilton street and Eleventh Avenue I saw a sign for a sign, Fred and Co., merchant tailor, residing in and found Mr. Fred Barber, formerly of Galbuck and Barber, Brantford. Fred was glad to see me, and said they were doing well. I also called on Mr. J. Nicoll, the popular postmaster, formerly of T. R. agent at Brantford, and later on Mr. E. A. Jolly, who has just completed a fine drug store. Others I met here were G. B. Salmond, managing a book store; Sergt. David Thomson, old members of the Brantford police force, now members of the Regina force, and Fred Irwin of the fire department, formerly of the Brantford force. Later at the fine new building of the Cocksfoot Plow Co., built at a cost of $120,000, I met the general manager, Samuel Harold, a son of Mr. Massey-Harris Co. who repaired their building, partly wrecked by the tornado. Mr. C. W. Westaway and Mr. Geo. Forsythe are in charge, and Mr. Jack Turnbull, another old Brantford boy was good enough to come and say good-bye to me at the 8:30 p.m. train for Winnipeg.

Winnipeg was reached at 6 a.m. After looking after business matters I looked up Major W. A. Wilkes at the Court House. Mr. Jack Wallace, Brown, wholesale grocer, a son of Mr. J. F. Wallace of this city. Mr. C. H. Whittaker, of the Massey-Harris Company, and Mr. E. A. Western, managing director of the Cocksfoot Plow Co., all looking well, and glad to meet an old townsman. On my way to the train I met Mr. Passmore, who has a government position at Winnipeg. My train left the C. P. R. station at 5 p.m. and I had barely time to say a hurried good-bye to Mr. Bruce Walker, Dominion Emigration Commissioner at his office near the station. Leaving by the south branch of the C. P. R., Minneapolis was reached at 7 a.m. the next day, and taking the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul line to Chicago and Grand Trunk from there, the run from Winnipeg to Brantford was made in 45 hours. In this flying trip through the Canadian Northwest I could see that although the country as a whole had been prospering, that an end had come to wild cat booming and that values in the future would be more on a real basis. Property in the business or residential parts of the larger cities will always command good prices, but I think that many people in Eastern Canada and elsewhere who have been buying lots in so-called city sub-divisions would do well to take a trip west and see their investments before making further payments.

BIG DEMAND FOR LABORERS

Industrial Commissioner Emerson Issues Statement re Local Situation.

Industrial Commissioner Emerson to-day issued the following statement re the local labor situation: In both Canada and the United States the large iron and steel industries are dependent for carrying on their manufacturing operations upon foreign labor. The Polacks especially appear to be particularly adapted to this kind of work. They are a class an industrious, thrifty and home-loving people. They will not settle in any community where they cannot secure properties of their own. With the above additions that have been made to the Pratt & Litchworth Company and the American Radiator Company large numbers of these people will be required in Brantford. The vice-president of the American Radiator Company has stated that the future development of his industry in this city is dependent upon securing this class of labor, and if the proper conditions prevail the present plant will be ultimately enlarged. In most iron centres the policy of segregation has been adopted. The foreigners, as a rule, prefer having a community of their own. One of the cleanest and most up-to-date sections of Welland is composed entirely of Pollocks. The same conditions prevail in Cleveland, where the great portion of the South Side is owned by them. While many experts contend that are carried on more rapidly when the community idea is not adhered to, yet in these days we are compelled to defer to the instincts of the people themselves. Some prominent citizens have declared their willingness to build all the houses required, with a view to selling them on the easy payment plan. The problem now confronting us is what section of the city shall be secured for this purpose. An acre or more must be provided. If those who have large areas of land will communicate with Mr. Emerson, it is probable that satisfactory negotiations may be entered upon with a view to solving this important problem.

Lady Marjorie's Love

"I suppose it is unfortunate that I am different, Fenella," said Marjorie quietly.

"Oh suppose. My good child, it is most unfortunate. I really don't know where you get your extraordinary romantic, milkmaid kind of ideas from. And even if this ridiculous entanglement with Mr. Bligh were out of the way I don't know that it would better things much. You are so impracticable you see. If I did take you and some suitable man did present himself, you would be nearly certain to dislike him, or to fancy you did, or to raise objections of some kind. As I said, I really don't want to say anything to hurt you but—well you know how perverse you have shown yourself already."

"The was an open allusion to Mr. Tom Jocelyn whose downfall was one of the few circumstances within her immediate sphere of which the Countess had not become mysteriously cognizant. Marjorie raised her head, two scarlet spots burning in her pale little face.
"My engagement to Loftus does exist Fenella. I don't think it is of any use talking like this."
"Oh, not the least use in the world, child!" Lady Marlingford relapsed from irritability to resignation. "I am too well aware of that unfortunately. But it is only right that I should tell you plainly why I don't do what I should consider it my duty to do if you were different—endeavor to establish you in life in a proper manner. Now let me finish what I was going to say. Something must be done with you—you can't remain here after I am gone."
"I suppose not."
"My dear Marjorie. You 'suppose' not! In a stranger's house and in a bachelor's establishment—for that is what Mr. Chadburn's will be. You talk like a child! You can't remain here and it follows that I must place you with somebody, and there is only one person whose business it is to provide you with a home."
"You mean Loftus?" Marjorie flushed and started.
"Loftus?" The Countess expressed the perfect incompetency of Mr. Bligh to do anything of the kind and put him contemptuously out of the question with one gesture of her white hand. "I have done what she should not have left it for me to do," she said. "I have written to the Dowager."
"To grandamma Marlingford?"
"Certainly. I consider that she has been most negligent since your father's death. She has left you and the disposal of your future entirely to me. She is your father's mother, your nearest responsible relative, and it is her duty to give you a home now that you have none of your own. I have written to her explaining what my own plans are and telling her as much. I repeat that she should not have needed the telling."

Marjorie sat dumb bewildered. A vision of the Dowager's sharp, bitter, keen-tongued, wrinkled hard-eyed, with her spectacles, her Irish brogue, her cruel, little crackling laugh, her obsolete emerald necklace, awful to behold, twinkling on the wrinkled old neck which she vowed had once been the neck of a beauty, her ancient, brocades and satins, her bonnet that was like no other bonnet, her sharp, harrying and pitiless worrying, her whole personality, surely that of the most unlovable and terrible old woman under the sun—dilated before her mental vision and blotted out everything else.
The Countess rose, thinking that she had said enough, and shaking out her stiff crepe-covered skirt again before she moved away.

"I have suggested," she paused to say to her shoulder, "that your grandmother should come here for a week or two. I dare say she will do so as in her last letter she spoke of coming to London to consult Dr. Hallaghan. It is quite useless to do so of course, for her lameness has become chronic and will never be cured, but she pins the most extraordinary faith in him, because he is an Irishman I presume. I hope she will come for it is so difficult to make arrangements by letter and it would be convenient if she would take you back with her. Probably you will like Ireland."

The Countess walked towards the staircase and ascended it, vanishing in the gallery overhead, all with a stiff rustle and crackle of skirts. Marjorie stood up mechanically, her hands hanging clenched at her sides, her eyes dilated still, Jack, puzzled, stood up on the window-seat with his paws on her shoulder, and put his cold inquisitive nose to her cold cheek. She turned to him with a passionate gesture and clasped him tight.
"Oh Jack," she cried in a stifled voice—"oh, little man, what shall we do?"
She was not capable of giving herself an answer. The sensations of that other day, the helpless, terrified sense of isolation and helplessness came rushing over her again with tenfold force and misery, and brimmed her heart and eyes. Poor little Lady Marjorie dropped down upon the window seat again and began to sob as though her heart was broken.

Wells Fights To-Night Against Gunboat Smith

English Scrapper Will Have His Chance in New York City.

NEW YORK, March 14.—Bombardier Wells, who has met with many disappointments as Dr. Friedman, in trying to demonstrate his worth outside of his own country, will be given his opportunity at Madison Square Gardens to-night. The English heavyweight will go ten rounds with Gunboat Smith, the California rough-house, whose long list of knockouts makes him look like an executioner who inherited his job. Wells is keenly disappointed at not having a chance to meet Luther McCarty, who is considered the best of the heavies now doing honor to the name. As soon as the Englishman heard of Luther's spectacular victory over Al Palzer he threw his golf cap into a suitcase, grabbed himself a wife and jumped on the first boat for America.
Smith Hard Proposition
But when he landed here McCarty and his manager only consented to fight him provided they were given a half interest in the Standard Oil for their share of the purse. Wells was not very intimate with the Rockefeller, so he had to forego the pleasure of meeting Luther and take the next best thing. That happened to be a match with Gunboat Smith. Smith is by no means a soft proposition. He has fought them all. He loves to get very intimate with his scelerate he goes into mourning until his next fight. Gunboat has knocked out Jim Stewart, H. Weust, Al McCloskey, Sailor White, Al Kubacki, Jim Savage and a number of others, and beat Frank Moran in twenty rounds out in 'Fisco. Wells should beat Smith in easy style. He claims to be stronger than when he first visited America, and is more scientific than any of our heavies. The Briton's personal popularity will draw a large crowd to the Gardens when he makes his first appearance since coming back to visit us.

THIRD ROUND'S BIG FIGURES
Only in one of the eight matches in the third round of the English Cup, viz. at Bristol, did the receipts fall short of four figures, though it must be borne in mind that, warned by recent events, the precaution was taken of raising the prices. Even then the gates had to be closed, at Roker Park three-quarters of an hour before the time arranged for the kick-off, which was, however, brought forward 15 minutes. The following were the official returns: Attendance Receipts.
Liverpool v. Newcastle £ 37,805 £1,224
Bury v. Middlesbrough 30,000 1,579

Athletics
NEW YORK, March 14.—Packer McFarland of Chicago has agreed to meet Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, at the Olympia, London, providing he received a guarantee of $10,000 and $500 expenses, the bout to take place on a date to be named by himself. This was the outcome of a cable received by Billy Gibson, his representative, from George Macdonald of London, offering McFarland $7,500 and $500 expenses.

Sunderland v. Swindon 24,885 1,650
Aston Villa v. Crystal Pal. 27,000 1,567
Oxford Utd. v. Middlesbrough 27,000 1,494
Reading v. Blackburn R. 39,928 1,330
Sheff. Wednesday v. Reading 34,000 1,311
Nottingham v. Everton 15,119 835
This gives a total of over 220,000 spectators and receipts not far short of £12,000 or something approaching £1,500 per match.

Christy Mathewson

what is a mouth breather. He cannot breathe well through his nose, and on this account he is usually better in the cooler weather when the temperature is not so wearing. Fans frequently wonder why Ames shows so much better advantage in the spring and fall. That is the reason. He also goes quickly in a game when he begins to tire. But "Red" has practically cut out cigarettes this year, and he is working like a soldier to get into condition. He believes the cigarettes irritated his nose. He is also developing a spitter, and I look to see him have one of the best years of his career in 1913.

It Worked in Pittsburg.

There was an anti-cigarette clause put into the contracts of the Pittsburg players last year which worked out pretty well. But they were permitted to smoke cigars, the theory being that they confined themselves to cigars. This worked out all right, as it was a logical notion, but it did not win the Pirates pennants. I do not believe, of course, that the club would have won pennants anyway. I have been told that they used to smoke cigarettes when they were in out-of-the-way places, that is, those who were inclined to the habit. Therefore, the whole restricting system seems to sit down to this, the players must be in condition. McGraw says that if they smoke or drink enough to hurt their physical condition, they must cut it out. But you know that the ministers' sons who are never permitted to look at the label of a bottle around the house, are often the best friends of the brewers when they get outside. It is like the man on the water wagon, this universal restricting clause. He is afraid of himself and admits it, and, when he falls off, you can hear the splash for miles around.

A Wise Limitation.

George Stovall, the latest manager of the St. Louis Browns, had made a wise move in regard to tobacco. He has forbidden the use of it before breakfast. There are few ball players who smoke before breakfast anyway, as it is usually only the veteran smokers who feel the need of a "pill" before the morning meal. Physicians assert that this is injurious to the stomach and a ball player must have a good stomach above all things. Most of them have, as you would observe.

What Matty Does Himself.

As for myself, for about six weeks or two months each spring, I stop smoking before going south, and I do not take it up until after the season has started. In this way, I work a sort of spring housecleaning, and it seems to set me right for the whole year. I smoke mostly cigars, and in moderation. This year I made a wager with a friend of mine, named DeMar, an officer in the Bank of Washington Heights, where most of the Giants keep their rolls, that he would smoke before I did. At last report we were both tied. I do not know why he stopped unless it is to get into condition to count the players' share of the world's series receipts next fall when the Giants' bank the winner's portion. I only mention this because I get innumerable letters from fans asking me if I smoke.

A Tragedy in Camp.

Not since I have been going to the South on training trips with a big league club has there been a sadder or more tragic event than the death of young "Tom" Hanley, who quit the game here last Sunday. He was one of the most promising young pitchers I have ever seen and he was liked by all the men who got acquainted with him. Many of the regulars did not know him well, and a few of them had never seen him alive because he was confined to his room almost continuously after the death of a veteran army soldier who died a gloom over the camp.

Hanley was very quiet, but he was game right through. The last time he appeared on Emerson Field he pitched several innings of a practice game with alumping pain in his right side, where the disease was taking hold.

"Why didn't you cut it out?" Wilbert Robinson, who was his particular friend and adviser, as he is of all the young pitchers, asked Hanley when confined to his bed.

"I didn't want McGraw to think I was a quitter," replied the young pitcher.

It's Good Advertising.

Once more there is a crusade to stop the baseball players writing for the newspapers. Have any of the ball players tried to stop the newspaper writers playing ball? Well, anyway it is good advertising for the stuff.

Lacrosse

In order to meet the changed situation one of the proposed amendments for the approaching convention of the Canadian Lacrosse Association is the change of name to the Central Lacrosse Association, or the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse League. Under the new title the entire lacrosse membership in the province can be enrolled, making one body for Ontario in the Dominion body, the Canadian Amateur Lacrosse Association.

Another proposal is to adopt the O. H. A. principle of not permitting clubs to play in the name of a commercial organization.

President Kelly proposes that the governing body should receive ten per cent. of the receipts at district ties and semi-final games.

Another suggestion is that new clubs should be entitled to receive representation and voting rights whenever passed by the Executive, instead of not until after the convention, as at present.

Neil Johnson well known in sporting circles, and a Brantford boy who has been away playing baseball for a number of years, will bid his friends good-bye to-day. He has been working at his trade all winter—but he must leave for Minneapolis.

Red Ames has New Spit Ball.

MARLIN, Texas, March 13—Wilbert Robinson took Leon Ames away over by the fence Tuesday and spent nearly an hour with him. When they quit the veteran catcher declared that if Red is to control his new spit ball he will be one of the sensations of the coming season. He has a drop that is even better than Bugs Raymond had on his when the late pitcher was at his best.
