

Who has fine hair, and desires to preserve it in its natural beauty, and to have it grow thick and luxuriant, should use Ayer's Hair Vigor as a dressing. It keeps the scalp clean and cool, and is the best preparation for the hair, and is the only one that will not injure it. It is the only one that will not injure it. It is the only one that will not injure it.

He Carth For You.

Oh soul, what means this striving For something thou canst not grasp Thy bitter tears,
Thy foolish fears,
That shrink at every blast.
Why should'st thou shrink from warfare Thy Captain stands by thy side, His gentle face,
So full of grace,
Tells thee in Him to abide.
He calls in tenderest patry, Thy sorrow He seeks to share,
"Come unto Me,
And be at My ease,
For I am a man of sorrow,
And I am acquainted with grief, I love thee so,
That long ago,
I died, for thy relief.
"My arms are strong and loving,
They will not let thee fall, Unlike the world Where darts are hurled, I'll share them, should they fall.

"Death's love, that in the morning Of life, seemed strong and true, When checks grow pale,
And light steps fall,
May turn dear heart to you.
"But if you love and trust Me, I'll love you just the same,
And "some sweet day"
I'll gather thee Home, with the golden grain."

"Girls Don't You Do It." Now is the time, most women say,
To wrangle
With stubborn nails and horrid, headless tacks;
To drag from dusty floors the dusty carpets,
And beat them well with many sounding whacks;
To march with pinning-gaze the crack and creases
For bits of "self" and "my" hidden "dirt";
To wash and wring, high the web of "suds";
Because the brood, noisy spring has come;
But girls, don't you do it.

Now is the time, they also say, for dashing Cold water gainst each window and its blind;
For hanging quilts and rags, and mats and blankets Out on the lines to fester in the wind,
To vex poor men so that they wildly swear Such words as strike their wives—a moment—dumb
The time to turn the whole home topsy turvy Because the frezy, "weezy spring has come;
But, girls, don't you do it.

Now is the time, they say, but I say, "Nonsense!" Better remain in peace till by and by;
Then, by degrees, set everything in order When days grow warm beneath a warmer sky, Let those who will bring to their homes discomfort,
And make their kith and kin look precious grim, Catch cold for want of fire—go faint and hungry,
And all because uneasy spring has
come;
But girls, don't you do it.

A Trying Night.
Holland is a very "singular" country, in that, you may travel all over it, and not find another one like it.
The whole region is below the level of the sea, which is striving constantly but fruitlessly to recover its ravished domain. The keels of its ships are above the chimneys of its buildings, and the frogs that croak in the burrows of its ditches look down upon the swallows twittering on its housetops.

Long years ago the ocean said to the Hollanders: "You shall have no country here."
But the Dutch people, who are a sturdy race and full of vim and vigor, in spite of their miserable, moist climate, which ranges from 20 deg. below zero to 105 above, replied to the ocean:
"We will have a country here." So instead of sitting down weeping and folding their arms, and letting their homes and their families, their flocks and their herds be swept away by the overflows of the sea, they went to work with a hearty will and preserved their lands from the winds and the water and the waves. Holland, more than any other region under the sun, illustrates the power of industry and perseverance. It shows from the first to the last that the active hand, and steady will nothing is impossible.

So they built along the line of coast huge dikes, somewhat resembling a mil-dam, and here and there they put up huge wooden gates, called sluices. They employed men, called sluicers, to open and shut these big oak gates or sluices, which close the entrance of the canals, and secure Holland from the danger to which it seems exposed, of finding itself under water rather than above it.

Now, the father of Hans was a sluicer, and it was his duty, when water was required to fill the canals, to raise the sluices and let the water come through, and then to close them carefully again, when no more water was needed, just as you shut off the water of a hydrant by turning the faucet, otherwise the water would flow into the canals, then overflow them and inundate the whole country.

Hans had often been with his father when he was attending to the sluices with the men in his employment. He knew that the canals were already so full they could hold no more water, and must overflow if more was poured into them. With the instant portion which every child in Holland would have, the boy saw that the water must soon enlarge the hole, through which it was now only dripping, and that utter and general ruin would be the consequence of the inundation that must follow.

The song died on his lips and his heart troubled with fears as he realized the danger which threatens his country.
There is no time to run home and tell his father. He knows that every moment is as precious as a diamond now.
To throw away the flowers in his hand, to climb from stone to stone until he reaches the hole and puts his finger in it is but the work of a moment, and to his great delight he finds that no more water is flowing through.

Oh, thank God, my little hand can stop the flow of these great waters, Hans said aloud, though there was no one to hear.
For a little while Hans thought only of the success of his plan. But the night was closing in and the cold winds were rising. The boy looked round in vain for some passer by who would help him. The Dutch people are very regular in their habit of early rising and retiring, and they are generally eating heavy suppers in their cottages when the night shadows fall.

Hans shouted at the top of his voice:
"Help! help!
Then he cried still louder:
"Fire! Fire!
Then he screamed until he thought his throat would burst with the effort he was making:
"Murder! murder!
There was no answer but the echo of his voice, the rippling of the water, the sighing of the winds and the barking of some dogs far away.
There is no help for it, said the brave little fellow to himself. I must stay here by myself all night if no one comes, and hold my finger in this hole and keep the water from breaking through and drowning all the people in the country. It will be hard work, but I will do it.
Every moment the cold was becoming more biting and the poor finger fixed in the hole began to feel numb and soon the numbness extended to the hand and thence throughout the whole arm.
The pain became still greater, yet the boy moved not from the cold, hard stone on which he sat. Tears rolled down his cheeks as he thought of his father, of his mother, of his warm little bed, where he might now be sleeping so soundly; still the brave little fellow stirred not, for he knew if he removed the small, slender finger which he had opposed to the escape of the water not only would he himself be drowned, but his parents, his brothers, his sisters, his neighbors—in fact, the whole village would be swept away.
Who can tell how often his courage faltered, how many times he felt his purpose failing during that long and terrible night.
At last the moon went down, the barking of the dogs ceased, there was darkness and stillness over all the earth. There was not even the howling of an owl to break the terrible silence that made the brave little heart quake with the fear that most children feel when alone in the dark. The wind blew keener and colder, and the boy's limbs ached like the toothache.
He heard some wings flapping over his head, and he shuddered with dread as he thought it might be one of the ghosts of which old Heinrich had often told him tales, or, what he feared almost as much, it might be one of those big bats that are said to fasten themselves in one's hair and never let go until it thunders.
The wings were brushing against his cheeks. With his left arm he struck a terrible blow at it, and to his great joy it fell dead at his feet. It was a bat.
Now the chickens in the distance began to announce by their crowing that the dawn was approaching. Soon the dogs began to bark, the owls to howl, the little birds sang their sweet morning songs, there were ermine pointed clouds in the east, and daylight was coming one more after a night that seemed a week long to the aching body of little Hans. Soon he knew some one would pass by and give assistance and release him from his painful position.
Oh, how the little fellow prayed for strength to hold out until that person came! But though his spirit was as Deaths from Strong Drink.

While for many years we were firmly convinced that the liquor habit was an evil, and more than an evil, and that continually; and while we believed that the moderate use of alcohol in health or disease was fraught with great danger, and while we believed and still believe that the absolute safety against the formation of this liquor habit with its inseparable evils, is total abstinence from its use, yet we were skeptical somewhat in regard to the alleged annual mortality from the use of alcohol in its various forms. When the statements were made that sixty (60) thousand people perish annually in the United States alone from intemperance and disease induced by the use of alcoholic liquors, we believed the figures large, if not greatly exaggerated.
Rev. Dr. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, a very careful and reliable paper, in the last issue of that paper, says—
"Dr. Norman Kerr, an eminent physician of England, believing the statement of temperance people to be extravagant, that 60,000 people die annually from the effects of strong drink, began as early as 1870 a personal inquiry, in connection expecting to quickly disprove the same.

According to their deductions the latest estimate of deaths of adults annually caused through intemperance is, in

000; in the United States, 80,000; or nearly half a million each year in three countries aggregating a population of 120,000,000."—Ex.

No ill-starred hamlets trailing, No ruins grim and black;
No harvest torn and trampled, No scenes of death and woe;
We shall bring no desolation, We shall cause no tears to flow.
Our mission's one of mercy, We bring but peace and joy, We come to raise the fallen—To save and not to destroy.
Then give us a kindly greeting And a Godspeed on our way, For, with heaven's help and blessing We are sure to win the day.
For ours is the pure white banner,
The flag of love and peace;
And oh, we'll sing Hosannah For the rule of might shall cease!

AMERICA'S W. C. T. U. extend most tender sympathy to Margaret Bright Hulse, president of England's W. C. T. U., upon the death of her brother the celebrated John Bright.
TEMPERANCE is making giant strides in Norway, and that country is said to bid fair to be the first in Europe to prohibit the manufacture and sale of alcoholic drinks.
WHAT a sad state of affairs! An exchange says, "A man can't get shaved, he can't get drunk, and he can't buy a cigar at St. Joseph, Mo., now on Sunday, all on account of the W. C. T. U."

A Victim of Alcohol.
KINGSTON, Ont., April 15.—Mrs.
MacDonald, a fine looking woman, the victim of alcohol, while intoxicated sank into a deep slumber in the old Catholic cemetery and died of exposure.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. of Upper Sackville was held at the home of Miss Emma George on April 4th. Mrs. W. K. Boyser was elected President for the coming year. Several excellent and instructive readings were given by different members, and various plans for future work were discussed, among which might be mentioned the management of the "Loyal Legion," numbering about 70 members, and of which Miss George is the efficient Superintendent.—Post.

Deaths from Strong Drink.
While for many years we were firmly
convinced that the liquor habit was an
evil, and more than an evil, and that
continually; and while we believed that
the moderate use of alcohol in health or
disease was fraught with great danger,
and while we believed and still believe
that the absolute safety against the formation of this liquor habit with its inseparable evils, is total abstinence from
from the use of alcohol in its various
forms. When the statements were made
annually in the United States alone from
use of alcoholic liquors, we believed the
figures large, if not greatly exaggerated.
Rev. Dr. Buckley, editor of the Christian Advocate, a very careful and reli-
paper, says—
"Dr. Norman Kerr, an eminent physician of England, believing the statement
of temperance people to be extravagant,
effects of strong drink, began as early as 1870 a personal inquiry, in connection with several medical men and experts, expecting to quickly disprove the same.
According to their deductions the latest
caused through intemperance is, in Great Britain, 120,000; in France, 142, 000; in the United States, 80,000; or nearly half a million each year in three
countries aggregating a population of 120,000,000."—Ex.

Observations.

Special Announcement.

We have made arrangements with Dr. E. J. Kendall Co., publishers of "A Treatise on the Horse and his Diseases," which will enable all our subscribers to obtain a copy of that valuable work free by sending their address (enclosing a two-cent stamp for mailing same) to Dr. E. J. KENDALL CO., KNOXBORO FALLS, VT. This book is now recognized as standard authority upon all diseases of the horse, as its phenomenal sale attests, over four million copies having been sold in the past ten years, a sale never before reached by any publication in the same period of time. We feel confident that our patrons will appreciate the work, and be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity of obtaining a valuable book.

Our Fisheries.

We have received the annual report of the Department of Fisheries for the year 1888. From it we learn that the total value of the fisheries of Canada for the year 1888 was $17,418,510.76, a decrease of $967,592.99 as compared with the year 1887. The total value of New Brunswick's fisheries was $2,941,863.05, a decrease of $617,643.84 last year. This heavy falling off is made up almost entirely of items of salmon, smelt and lobsters.

S. Stewart, overseer of fisheries for Albert County, reports: A poor catch of fish which he attributes to a declining interest in fishing operations in that agricultural and milling county, and to the injurious effects of sawdust on the fish that frequent the bay and streams. The fish-ways have been kept open and in repair, but it is doubtful if any salmon ever go through them.

The return for Albert County, in the district extending from Hopewell to Point Wolfe, gives 1 boat and 2 men engaged in the fisheries, with 275 fatness cans. Value of boat $50, of nets $100. Results: 2000 lbs. salmon, 35 bbls. herrings, 200 boxes smoked herrings, 25 ewt cod, 30 bbl. shad, 1000 lbs. trout, 3000 lbs. smelt, 20 gallons fish oil. Total value $1,238.

Is it Another "Recreation"?

At the last two local elections in this County the Maple Leaf strongly advocated the cause of lawyer Emmerston of Westmorland County, while it bitterly opposed the claims of the native candidates who were not lawyers. Last week the Maple Leaf quoted the following from correspondence in Moncton Times heading it "Felling the Trunk."

Now, Mr. Editor, we have arrived at the conclusion that you might just as well set a pack of wolves to look after a flock of sheep as to send lawyers to Fredericton to make laws that will increase litigation and costs. The battle in Nova Scotia over law reform was fought between laymen headed by Hon. Joseph Howe, and lawyers headed by Hon. George Young. Young contended that laymen had no right to interfere in such matters, but Joseph could not see it, and led his forces on to victory. The result was the proceeding in all the courts were simplified and the costs reduced more than fifty per cent. Law reform in New Brunswick has had just the opposite result, and the costs now in all our courts are from fifty to one hundred per cent higher than they were forty years ago.

The Maple Leaf must have either changed its views since our last local election, or else it does not desire to have "litigation and costs" decreased and "most proceedings simplified."

The Scott Act vs. a License Law.

A peculiar article in the Scott Act appeared in last week's Maple Leaf, under the signature L. M. W. We will notice a few of that writer's comments. In referring to Colechester, N. S., he says that County a few years ago "adopted the Scott Act by a majority of 1,415 to 184." He then states that "a few days ago the entire population joined the 184 and repealed the act." In the next sentence, however, he states the repeal "was actually opposed by the liquor interest." Some persons might wish to know how the entire population could have favored repeal if the liquor party opposed it, but that is not the point we wish to notice. What we take exception to is the insinuation of the writer that the temperance party (including the ministers) of Colechester thought the sale of liquor by licensed dealers preferable to the Scott Act. We think such an insinuation unfair to the great majority of the inhabitants of that temperance county. As we understood the situation there the Scott Act was used until the temperance people considered they had a better local law. Believing they could under their new local license law, prevent the granting of license in their county and therefore more easily restrict the sale of liquors than by means of the Scott Act they repealed the latter for the purpose of using the former. We think, however, we can safely assert that they have no intention of allowing liquor to be sold in their county by licensed vendors. No one has even intimated perfection for the Scott Act. Its advocates assert it is better than no law and, if properly enforced will greatly restrict the traffic in intoxicants.

Instead of the Scott Act being a faro we find it has accomplished much good wherever it has been properly enforced. In the city of Fredericton, in York County, in Carleton County, in Salisbury, in Amherst and Spring Hill, N. S., and in many other places we might mention, it has proved a terror to rum sellers, Even in Moncton, where it has been very imperfectly enforced, it has effected much good as is evident to any person familiar with the facts. A few years ago a person could not spend one half day in Moncton without witnessing the evil effects of intemperance at every street corner and licensed tavern. Fighting and rowdiness were then rampant in that town at all hours. At the present time, though the population has quadrupled, not one quarter part of the rowdiness and drunkenness is to be seen. A few years ago the result of an address and the presentation of a purse to one of Moncton's most noted vendors of the ardent, male or female, would not have elicited much unfavorable comment. Now no one knows better than L. M. W. how such an act is viewed by the great majority of the citizens of that growing town as well as by the public at large. What has effected such a mighty change? We believe the enforcement and attempted enforcement of the Scott Act has done much towards creating a temperance sentiment throughout these Maritime Provinces. Why do our rummellers show such bitter opposition to the Act if they think it cannot be made of any effect? Of course if the Act be not enforced it cannot prove of any benefit. The man who proclaims the Scott Act to be a failure in this County, where it has never been enforced, is like the printer who would print of itself, because his press would not print of itself. The Scott Act is only a tool to be worked by the temperance party in their endeavor to suppress the sale of liquor. If it be not put into action it cannot be expected to accomplish any good. Let a Scott Act Inspector be appointed and a fair trial be given it before it is condemned or pronounced an entire failure.

If we properly understand the tenor of his article, L. M. W. favors restricting the liquor traffic by allowing certain parties to sell by license. Should he really favor a license law we would like him to answer the following questions which have been frequently asked but yet remain unanswered.

If it is right to sell liquor at all why restrict the traffic to certain persons who are able to pay liberally for the privilege? Why not allow the poor equal privileges with the rich? If liquor selling is a moral evil does legalizing the traffic make it safe and harmless? Is it right to build churches to save men, and license shops to destroy them? Is it right to license a man to sell that which makes a man drunk, and then punish a man for being drunk? Is it right to license a man to make paupers, and then tax sober men to look after them? Is it right to license a drink shop to teach vice, and then tax people for schools to teach virtue? Is it right to derive a revenue out of a traffic which no decent man defers to? Is it right to teach your boy not to drink, and then vote to license a place where he may be taught to gamble? Is it right to teach a boy to restrain his passions, and then vote to license a place where his worst passions will be inflamed? Is it right to take care of your own boy, and vote to license a place which will ruin your neighbor's boy? Is it right to preach justice and charity, and then vote to license a thing which robs the widows and orphans of their bread?

Doings at Fredericton.

FREDERICTON, April 11.—Hon. Mr. Mitchell introduced a bill relating to game warden; read a first and second time.

Mr. Moore recommitted the bill incorporating the city of Fredericton and York County exhibition association. Mr. Russell in the chair; agreed to with an amendment.

Mr. Tweedie committed the bill authorizing the Northern and Western Railway Co. to change its name. Mr. Murray in the chair. Mr. Tweedie said it was proposed to amalgamate the Northern and Western and the Chatham Branch roads, the combined companies to be known as the Canada Eastern Railway Co. in the case of amalgamation. Hon. Mr. Turner doubted the wisdom of passing such a bill, and regarded it as a suspicious class of legislation.

Agreed to with amendments. Hon. Mr. Blair committed a bill relating to exhibitions associations. Mr. Hibbard in the chair.

Hon. Mr. Blair explained that the bill repeals section 16 of the bill incorporating the St. John Exhibition Association. Agreed to with an amended title.

Hon. Mr. McLellan submitted the appropriation bills which were read a first and second time and agreed to in committee of the whole. Mr. Palmer in the chair.

Hon. Mr. Ritchie committed the bill relating to intestate estates. Mr. Belamy in the chair.—Progress was reported with leave to sit again.

Hon. Mr. Phinney committed a bill in addition to and amendment of the law relating to the registry of bills of sale. Mr. Atkinson in the chair.

After supper, Mr. Phinney consented to have progress reported so as not to interfere with the consideration of the St. John bill.

Hon. Mr. Wilson moved, seconded by Hon. Mr. Mitchell, for the suspension of the rules to permit of the introduction of an act to amend the charter of the city of St. John, and the law relating to civic government.

act passed last year, with the addition of a preamble. Agreed to.—Recess.

Mr. Russell from the committee on agriculture reported as follows: At a meeting of the committee held this day the following resolutions were adopted: That in the opinion of this committee an importation of Hottentot bulls and sell the same under such restrictions as to keep as might appear desirable; that in the opinion of this committee agricultural societies in purchasing and disposing of seeds ought to be required to realize the cost and charges; that the committee urges upon the government the serious consideration of the advisability of discontinuing the present stock farm and the disposal of the unexpired term in the lease by way of subletting.

The report was adopted. Hon. Mr. Blair committed a bill relating to the siting in equity. Mr. Glazier in the chair. The bill provides that the stated or monthly sitting in equity, now directed to be held on the first Tuesday in October in each year, for the purpose of hearing all motions and causes cognizable in the said court, shall hereafter be held on the last Tuesday in September in each year, and the stated or monthly sitting appointed to be held on the last Tuesday in January in each year is hereby abolished. Agreed to.

Mr. Baird submitted a final report of the contingent committee. Before recess Hon. Mr. Blair expressed regret that the Union Bill was so long in reaching Fredericton, and commended the framers of that bill for not keeping their pledge to the government to have the bill ready in 10 days. Twenty days had passed and still the bill was not ready.

April 13.—Mr. Tweedie moved the house into committee to consider the amendment made by the legislative council to a bill authorizing the Northern and Western Railway to change its name. The council's amendment was to the effect that nothing contained in the bill shall in any way extend or reduce the Northern and Western Railway company from any act done or duty or liability heretofore incurred or in any way incurred or to be incurred by or for the company.

Mr. Tweedie said if he had been in his place the other day when this bill passed, he would have considered it a duty to have opposed it. He had opposed last year the bill enabling the company to lease the road, but had afterwards withdrawn his objection on learning that the company did not intend using the powers granted last year with a view of enabling them to float their bonds on the English money market. A subsequent report proved that he had made a mistake in not drawing his objections to last year's bill. Why change the name of this company? If the Northern and Western Railway company had a black mark written opposite its name in the money market of the old world, we should hesitate before passing legislation which would retroact their credit and enable them to float their bonds. He thought the amendments of the legislative council were well inserted. The passing of the amendment as proposed by Mr. Tweedie might affect proceedings already in the courts, and was in favor of the council's amendments and opposed to that moved by Mr. Tweedie.

Mr. Tweedie said Messrs. Gibson and Snowball had built the whole road before seeking to float their bonds. Why should they be charged with fraud? He thought that the rights of all parties would be carefully guarded by his amendment. The Northern and Western Railway company were in no way concerned in any suit now pending in court. Why, then, should he adopt the council's amendment which suggested that there were not only one but several suits against the company.

Mr. Hanington said the amendment proposed by Mr. Tweedie might affect a suit now before the courts. The amendment of the council was the usual one inserted in such cases. The company had a false credit by last year's legislation, and, according to Mr. Tweedie, they do not want it advertised that there are any suits against the company. The people who are expected to buy the bonds should know the facts, and he was opposed to making any alteration in the amendment of the legislative council.

Hon. Mr. Turner thought there was little doubt but that this year's bill was intended to give the company a false credit in England.

After a prolonged and lively talk between Messrs. Blair and Hanington Hon. Mr. Ritchie said he would refer the council's amendment to that proposed by Mr. Tweedie. He doubted if the latter's amendment would be a safeguard to all interests.

Mr. Tweedie's amendment was agreed to by the casting vote of the chair. Hon. Mr. Mitchell committed a bill relating to game warden. Mr. Glazier in the chair. Agreed to.

April 15.—No business was done in the house this afternoon. After supper, the rules having been suspended, Hon. Mr. Ritchie introduced a bill further amending the law relating to schools. It was read a first and second time.

On motion of Hon. Mr. Ritchie, the house went into committee of the whole on said bill. Mr. Phinney in the chair. The object of the bill is to amalgamate the school districts and school boards of St. John and Portland.

Progress was reported with leave to sit again.—Adjourned till tomorrow morning.

April 16.—The St. John Union bill was introduced by Mr. Wilson in an light speech and after discussion was passed by a large majority. The objectionable feature of the bill was the section authorizing the building of a free bridge between Carleton and St. John or making the ferry free.

committee on the amendment made to the union bill by the Legislative council, making it permissible for the common council to proceed with the construction of the bridge if they saw fit.

Mr. Pugsley said that, while he could not agree with the amendment passed by the upper house, yet in the present position of the bill a serious question arose as to what was the proper course to be taken by this committee. As he understood the matter it would be impossible to amend the amendment of the council without entirely rejecting it, and thus defeating the bill entirely. He did not think the house was prepared to take the responsibility of that step, when they had all been looking forward with such hopes to the consummation of this important scheme. But the amendment made by the legislative council, taken in connection with the other provisions of the bill, he thought would require that there should be a two-third vote of the common council before the debate could be held for the construction of the bridge. He did not think that this limitation should exist in the bill, but that a majority of the council should have the power of deciding this question. He would therefore move as an amendment to the amendment of the legislative council that after the words, "if they see fit" in section 33 there should be inserted the following: "by a vote of a majority of the council."

Mr. Hanington and Dr. Alward expressed similar views, the former regretting that the legislature had not been able to go even farther in the interests of Carleton County, and decided to pass, and both expressing the hope that the amendment now proposed would be favorably entertained by the legislative council. The amendment was carried and ordered to be sent to the legislative council.

The legislative council agreed to the amendment and the House was prorogued at 4 o'clock with the usual formalities.

Assented To. His Honor, Lieutenant Governor Tilley assented to the 68 following bills at the prorogation of the local House: Act to incorporate Victoria public hospital.

RAIN last Sunday. Do not fail to read Letter II on first page. REMEMBER the Public Auction, next Saturday. SUBSCRIBE FOR THE OBSERVER. Only 50 cents all January 1st, 1890. BAPTISM.—Rev. W. Camp immersed five persons at Salem last Sunday. ARRIVED.—Schr. Pearl, Wood, arrived at Harvey last Tuesday from St. John with freight. GODEY'S Lady's Book and THE WEEKLY OBSERVER one year for $2.25. See advertisement. DR. WELDON'S extradition bill, which was made a government measure, has been adopted with important amendments. TO VISIT SALEM.—Messrs. W. C. Steeves and W. E. Boggs of McMaster Hall, Toronto, expect to visit Salem, A. Co. next month. A. S. R.—Among the railway subsidies appears $31,771 to the Albert Southern railway, being balance of subsidy remaining unpaid. OVER thirty handsome pianos and organs in stock at Miller Bros. music store, Moncton, for sale on easy terms. Write for prices. "FANNY," whose letter will be found in another column, appears to be strongly in favor of woman suffrage and an ardent admirer of Mr. Emerson. A FADED and discolored beard is untidy and a misfortune. It may be prevented by using Buckingham's Dye for the Whiskers, a never failing remedy. DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT.—Mrs. Martha Steeves, mother of Jordan and William Steeves of Hillsboro, an old and much respected lady, died last Tuesday after a lingering illness. FARM SOLD.—A Harvey correspondent writes that S. C. Steevens of Harvey has sold his house, farm and stock to Capt. C. T. Wood of Hillsboro, who is to take possession next fall. SOLDIERS ENROLLED.—S. A. Staff Captain Southall of Moncton spent last Sunday in Hillsboro. He enrolled 72 soldiers here and some at Hopewell Cape on Saturday evening. W. C. T. U.—At the last meeting of the W. C. T. U. of this village, Mrs. C. T. Wood was appointed to visit the young lad now in jail at Hopewell Cape awaiting trial on a charge of burglary and theft. NEW GOODS.—Reverdy Steeves has just returned from St. John with a large and carefully selected stock of goods which he is selling at astonishingly low prices for cash. Look out for his new advertisement next week. FOR the delicate and aged and all in whom the vital current is impoverished and sluggish, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the very best tonic. It restores the wasted tissue, and imparts to the system spring elasticity and vigor. Price $1. Worth $5 a bottle. MILLINERY.—I have just returned from Paradise, Nova Scotia, and St. John, N. B., with a large and well selected supply of Millinery, and have opened a new Millinery Store opposite Co. Store. Thanking the public for their liberal patronage, and soliciting a continuance. E. A. MAINWARING. Hillsboro, A. Co., April 17, 1889. FOR nearly half a century Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been the most popular cough remedy in the world. This constantly increasing demand for this remedy proves it to be the very best specific for colds, coughs, and all diseases of the throat and lungs. AROUSED AT LAST.—The temperance people of Hillsboro appear to have aroused at last from their long sleep and are going to work in earnest. Subscriptions are now being solicited towards a fund for the prosecution of liquor sellers. We understand a respectable amount has already been subscribed and prosecutions will be undertaken at once. THE CHILDREN.—The juvenile department of the W. C. T. U. of Hillsboro is to be organized next Saturday afternoon in the Surrey Methodist church. We trust there will be a large attendance of children. Mrs. John I. Steeves and Mrs. T. E. Bray have charge of this department which could not be in better hands. LECTURE.—The 5th. lecture of the course under the auspices of the Hillsboro W. C. T. U. will be delivered by Prof. A. C. Smith D. D., of Seabville, to-morrow (Friday) evening, April 26, in the Hillsboro Baptist Church. The lecture, the subject of which is "From the Past to the Future," is very highly spoken of by pupil and press and will be worth hearing. Do not fail to attend.

Elgin Notes

Mr. Charles Goggin who lost all the fingers of his left hand by an accident in his steam mill here on the 15th inst. (an account of which appeared in last week's OBSERVER) is doing very well. The Drs. found it necessary to take the hand off about half way between the knuckle joints and the wrist. He bore the painful operation with wonderful fortitude. All that was mortal of little Eddie Robinson, the eldest and beloved child of Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Robinson, who died of membranous croup on the 17th inst., was consigned to his last resting place on Friday afternoon April 19th. Impressive funeral services were conducted at the house and the grave by the Revs. Messrs. Lavers and Parker, subject II Kings IV chap. 26 verse: Is it well with thee? is it well with thy husband? is it well with the child? And she answered it is well. M. Innes, a Parisian, of the Berlitz school has organized a class here consisting of 14 for the study of the French language. He is the colloquial or conversational system of teaching and he possesses the faculty of making his lessons very interesting. Elgin Division, Sons of Temperance, has started a manuscript paper called the Star. Rev. A. H. Lavers editor and H. T. Colpitts assistant. It is hoped that it may help to dispel the darkness that now broods over our village, caused by the ignorant traffic. At the last meeting of the "Elgin Literary Society" the old officers were re-elected for the coming term, H. T. Colpitts Pres.; Mrs. J. D. Steves Vice Pres.; Rev. A. H. Lavers Chap.; Mr. G. H. Joseph Sec. and Mr. Theodore Constantine Treas. This society is doing some excellent work. Wood's note of our literary friends in the county offer some cash prizes to be competed for by the members of this society? Let our public men who are supposed to direct thought and opinion express their willingness to furnish the prizes and the society will work out an equitable and just means of competition. What say you Dr. Weldon? What say you Mr. Emerson or Mr. Turner, or Mr. L. M. W. of the Maple Leaf; or Mr. OBSERVER man; or any other person who has an interest in the development of literary pursuits? Let this society have all the encouragement that its merits demand. Please communicate with the secretary.

Pleasant Vale Notes.

Allice Steves, who has been seriously ill with mumps, is slowly recovering. Messrs. Wright and Cushing, the great lumber operators on Little River, have their men rolling in logs and making ready for the spring driving which, on account of the scarcity of snow, must be short without a lengthy rain. The sugar-making season is fast drawing to a close. Those engaged in the business pronounce it one of the best seasons for a number of years. There were quite a number of visitors at Pleasant Vale last week. H. T. Colpitts A. B., teacher of the Superior School at Elgin Corner, with his wife and child, visited the home of his childhood last Sabbath, and in the evening Mr. C. read a most excellent sermon in the new church. R. A. Colpitts got ten day's leave of absence from Mr. Talbot of Alma, to visit his father and help him while he is afflicted. John Steeves and Calvin Jones visited friends in this place. Douglas Steeves and son visited the sugar camp. B. Beaumont of Hopewell has been here on business. Miss Elada Colpitts of this place, has gone to Hopewell to visit her sister, Mrs. E. P. Hoar. CONSERVATIVE. April 16, 1889. Grass is getting quite green, but farming has not begun here yet as the land is too wet. The farmers say we need some rain to dry up the land. Our very efficient and popular pastor, Rev. W. Camp, baptized five converts on Sunday 21 inst. as a partial result of our special services held here. Mrs. Nancy McLatchy of Weldon is visiting friends at this place. Hearty and Lotan Steeves of this village are building a large barn this spring. Harris Steeves has his new steam mill almost ready to start. Mr. Frank Steeves of Moncton visited this place last week. Mr. Abram Dawson of Dawsonville, A. Co., visited friends here last week. ACCIDENT. Mr. Winthrop Bishop, while working at or near Stephans Steeves saw mill on Saturday last, was very seriously hurt. Dr. Lewis and Randall are attending him.

Salisbury Notes.

Mary Ann Brown was convicted of a violation of the Soot Act on Monday and fined $50.00.

Good Friday and Easter services were held in the Methodist church and appropriate and excellent music was rendered by the choir. Mrs. E. C. Clark is organist, is enthusiastic in her work, and is ably supported by the choir. The first singers of the village were Mrs. Snott Wilson's case closed on the eighth of May after which she is to have peace from the same vendors.

Honor to Whom Honor is Due.

Our Legislature has been doing a retrogressive view "disorganizing" legislative, particularly in regard to the franchise. And in that the legislature has been attempted, which had been successful, would have conferred upon our woman the right of franchise which is but the birthright of intelligence and education. Mr. Emerson was unsuccessful in bringing about this reform, but there is no doubt in our minds of the understanding of the question, a deep hatred of prejudice, yet his constituency is less admitted that ability, coupled with a fearless energy, which Mr. Emerson has always displayed when battling for a triumph of truth, or when applying the hand of the weak or the oppressed. It is to a class of men who do not wish to protect or hedge themselves about by acts of parliament, or by statutory enactments to declare themselves the "Lords of Creation," and who wish to open up the avenues of honor and emolument to all those whose ability and sterling integrity are a passport to positions of trust and responsibility, irrespective of sex, that such men as Gladstone, Sir John A. McDonald, and Emerson long Men who, when occasion arises, battle against prejudice and strive to see the fruit of their toil, like bread cast upon the waters, return unto them multiplied with the grateful thanks of a reformed, ennobled and appreciative public. Yours, &c., FANNY Hillsboro, N. B., April 23, 1889.

American Enterprise.

No invention of the nineteenth century has worked a greater revolution in house-hold economy than the sewing machine. The first productions were crude and uncouth in the extreme, and it was reserved for American skill and ingenuity to bring forth a machine of any practical value. In order to appreciate the great advancement which has taken place in the necessary to compare one of the machines built during the infancy of the invention with one of the latest improved "Light-Running" New Home. All the really good points contained in other machines have been utilized in the construction. Many new improvements and devices have also been added, the result of which is a machine as easily carried as a pocket watch, and as simple in management and capacity for work as a "Light-Running" New Home. For simplicity, durability, ease of management and capacity for work, the "Light-Running" New Home is unrivalled, and the happy possessor of one may rest assured that he or she has the very best of the world.
