STREETS

If the old proverb that what everybody says must be true, be passably true itself, then the general election will take place ere the summer now at hand be over. Everybody who has recently been at Ottawa valks that way, the prevailing impression there being as above stated. It does seem, however, that the date given by the Globe, the 6th of June, is rather early. Some of Sir John's friends are pressing him to name the 17th of September, which they think would be a lucky day for the party. Both sides have long been making their preparations were more complete have long than the country by surprise is nonsense. It may be doubted whether there ever was an election in Canada for which they partitions, and already condidates for more than, half the constituencies have been mominated. It seems likely enough that railway influence will be felt in the contest, and to no small extent, either. The Syndicate will, of course, te on the side of the government, and it need not surprise anybody to find the Grand Trunk on the side of the opposition. These are the two contesting powers that now divide with the federal and provincial governments the rule of this country, and neither of the two is likely to look idly on while the contest is in progress. Railway influence will probably play a more important part in the coming election than ever before known in Canada. It is not for the country's good that this should be so, but the thing is on the cards, without doubt. It it not in favor of the reform party that it goes into the contest with its position on the trade question indefinite and undecided. In no other way can its position on this question be settled than by some very precise statements from Mr. Blake, which may yet be made, even at the eleventh hour. So far it looks, however, as if he had allowed the Globe and Sir Richard Cartwright to settle the position for him. This may probably be the last election in Canada with the two old parties standing against each other, "as they were," to vary Globe asked Mr. Brown for an increase in a military phrase. It is not going on now any more, except as regards ecclesiastical exemptions from taxation. Let it be remembered, meantime, that voting by ballot is a great innovation, a wonderful loosener of party bands. The reform party found this in 1878, and Sir John may find it now for all he knows. The ballot may likely be characterized as a promoter of unexpected results , and we may soon see results to sur

IMPROVING OR DEGENERATING Whether under the habits and circum stances of modern civilization the human race is improving or degenerating is a question that frequently come up. Recently Dr. Hamilton, of New York, declared that certain modern "improvements," so called, were bringing new dangers to health and life, and it will probably be safe to argue with him as to the fact. But we are not disposed to go farther, and to admit that these new dangers will not be successfully met. The more reasonable opinion is that scientific discovery will rapidly meet and watch every new danger that arises. The New York Sun states its objections to some recent criticisms of ways of living in American cities, from the London World and other sources. And we think that our American contemporary has the best of the argument.

It is a fact well known to insurance men that the average of human life is opinions that Tyndall or Pasteur would de molish in a sentence or two, are freely circulated, passing from one paper to another. But on the whole the public mind is being educated up to such an understanding of the laws of life and health as never before was known on the globe. People live in better and healthier houses now than of old. Costly mansions of the olden style, of most picturesque appearance outside, had, inside sometimes many dark or half lighted or almost dungeon-looking apartments. What we call sanitary arrangements were before of the most primitive kind. In this respect we have not reached perfection yet, but we are and a disgrace to the world. every year coming nearer to it, and pretty rapidly, too. way is simply overwhelming. THE RELIGIOUS PRESS,

The Bobcaygeon Independent has be preaching a sermon on the religious journals. According to the critic : "The religious press in Canada at the present moment is flavorless and unsavoury, and is absolutely rejected by the popular appetite. Is it not time that some more attractive mental food should be presented to the public This condition is not peculiar to the religious press of Canada. Inferiority is the badge of ail their tribe." The cure, says the Independent, is for the religious press to adopt the principles of secular journals and purchase talent wherever obtainable.

Without saying whether we agree with the Apostle of Advanced Thought we will quietly stand aside and give the clerical editors a chance to vindicate themselves. The Man of Bobcaygeon will probably wish he never was born.

HE DOES NOT EXPLAIN.

The Globe has been telling the workingman that the N. P. is robbing him right and left, that the cost of living is greatly increased, and that a dollar now goes a very short way in buying him a long-tailed shirt. But when the compositors of the the scale of wages he confronted them with the books, showing that printers earned reason in their request. He refused the advance, and he discountenances in the accord with the truth of history to say Globe the attempts of all workingmen now why he is trying to walk two planks at

STRIKES AND THE BUILDING TRADE. The letter in another column on this subject, from one of our leading architects, is worthy of serious consideration. If there is to be no fixity in the wages of masons, carpenters, plasterers, painters, plumbers, tinsmiths, laborers, etc., conractors will be unable to make close bids for work, and consequently much building will be deferred for a season. It therefore is the interest of those proposing to build, of the workmen, of the architects, and of the contractors, to have the rate of wages settled for the season, and to this end our correspondent suggests resort to

By all means let an amicable arrangement be reached as soon as possible.

SHAVING CANADIAN BILLS. The contention of The World that the federal government should issue all the paper money required in Canada is meeting with the approval of many newspapers. The present administration has been moving in this direction, and now all notes below five dollars are government issue. As we have pointed out Canadian notes are of so many different banks that it is impossible for the people of the United States, or indeed for the people of the different provinces, to know what are good and what not good, and accordingly a "shave" is always taken off them. The banks have other sources of legitimate profit without issuing notes.

A CONTRADICTION.

The Toronto correspondent of the Winnipeg Sun, writes to that paper that "rumor says John Ross Robertson, prolengthening, and there are reasons why prietor of the Telegram, is now backing The this should be so. What we call health World financially." Mr. Robertson never and home subjects are better understood did back, is not now backing, and is not by the public now than ever before. The correspondent in question, how-purpose too. To be sure, statements and ever, is in the employ of the Telegram.

COLONIZATION COMPANIES.

(From the Edmonton Bulletin.) And lastly we have a Primitive Methodist colonization company. We humbly submit that this is running the thing into the ground. When the very churches turn land grabbers or lend their names and influence to such schemes, it is about time to stop if there is ever to be a stop made. But if the country is to be handed over to land sharks of every shade and kind, what is the use of prolonging the agony? Let us induce enough dissatisfied old country landlords to come out and divide the country between them, settle their serfs on the land and inaugurate a new Ireland on an immense scale, which shall be a reproach to Canada

For several years, in a locked room at Colt's works, where only those having special permits were permitted to penetrate, a force of men have been at work under directions of the inventor, completing a wonderful ma-chine which is said now to have reached perfection. It is a marvelous piece of me-chanism, both for what it does and for the chanism, both for what it does and for the simplicity of its parts. There is a key-board as of a piano, with the alphabet and numerals, and with combinations of letters and short words frequently used. But more than this, no matter how fast the type may be set the machinery is dising type still more rapidly, so that the cases are never empty. That is to say, the machine, under the hands of a skilful manipulator, does easily the work of three or four compositors. So many machines have been made for this purpose and have proved failures, that it requires much faith to believe that complete species has at last been achieved, but so the gentlemen interested believe, and most of the type experts who are allowed to inspect the maseem to be convinced. THAT INSOLVENT LAW. An Open Letter to Parlament Against its Reenactment—What Chanack Prepaperty is oblighted in signatures of an immediate machine—Kindly publish the following:

To the Premier and Commons of our Demission.

To the Premier and Commons of our Demission.

Gentlemen, I rec there is a move now being made in patilisment to re-enact that negative many is also the impatible of the case. The control of the case of the case of the control of the case of the case of the control of the case of the case the dollar. Now where the difference between the poor defaulter and the rich insolvent? Please show it. Now as to obtaining another insolvent act under another name. Parties are now seeking a law to make an equal distribution of estates; now let us examine that fallacy and see where the injustice; when a party gives credit does he not ascertain the man's position, ascertain as to his liabilities and assets before he gives it? If he is a sane person he assuredly will, he would be assured his debt would be safe, and if it were, what consistency in asking him to divide with before he gives it? If he is a sane person he assuredly will, he would be assured his debt would be sasturedly in the would be assured his debt would be safe, and if it were, what consistency in asking him to divide with the reckless man who gave credit without ascertaining whether the party would be good for his claim after former claims were satisfied. It looks like an absurdity to ask it. In short, no special law should be enacted to interfere with the debtor and creditor, all should be governed by general laws, all should be governed by general laws, all should be governed by general laws, all should be reckless should bear the constable from Ripley was in Kincardine, where he was unable to arrest Burrill, although I will prove that she was seen in the streets shortly after his departure. A constable from Walkerton went there for the same purpose, and with a like result. Should bear the consequences. I see it asserted by a member of the house that the wholesale merchants of Montreal are clamoring for an insolvent act, what does it argue? A raid on the masufacturers and jobbers of the old countries, we are already getting the name of "Bankrupt Camada." What we want are more rigid laws with penalties to force the Montreal men, and all others as well, to pay their indebtedness in full. Why put the jobbers and manufacturers on the streets to fill their pockets? What an abundity? All sympathy is asked for the party who has obtained his neighbors goods, and either pocketed the proceeds or squandered them by carelessness or incapacity to use them. What a position to take, if any parties required to be protected and receive sympathy it is those parties who have lent their capital to others, giving them an opportunity to make themselves rich if they properly applied them, and I think our legislative body would be better employed to make provisions to re-imburse the losses of those parties who have been swindled by the insolvent act when it was before in force than to enact another. Now I believe it may to enact another the old out to them and the safety it holds out to them are certainly not to be equalled by large cites, judging by this woman's immunity from arrest. All that I asked was for justice, and could I have exposed none body would be better employed to make provisions to re-imburse the losses of those parties who have been swindled by the insolvent act when it was before in force than to enact another. Now I believe it may safely be said the abrogation of that insolvent act did more to build up the prosperity of our country than our boasted N.P. we so highly appreciate, as it restored confidence in each other and in our commercial circles, as that inducement to defraud did not exist, and capitalists were not afraid to invest where competitors in business were compelled to pay dollar for dollar with them.

Now let me say to the mechanic, the farmer, the laborer, to you who are the bone and sinew of our country, be awake, ask yourselves how will this law affect our interest. The question is easily answered. The favored few for whom the law is made may get your property in his possession and reach out his hand to you with ten cents to pay the dollar he owes you. That is the only interest you have in the law, and the only interest our law makers intend you shall have. Now let me say to is the only interest you have in the law, and the only in erest our law makers intend you shall have. Now let me say to the farmer, the mechanic and laborer, watch the vote your member gives as to that act, that you may meet him at the polls at another election and let him see you are not to be snuffed out, or to be made a party tool. As I have grown up with Canada and watched the effects of its legislation, I feel I have a right to have a say in the matter—I have also done a com.

and closes the sympethetic pores of the heart of true humanity. I shall be glad to receive the names of those who are willing to obtain signatures of an immediate petition to prevent the further degradation of society in the attempted preservation of its morals by the cruel torture of the "cat."

The Happy Traveler There pa sed through Griffin, Ga., a few days since a lady by the name of Ray, who said she had been a widow two years. She had come all the way from Jefferson county, Ala., on foot, and carried her youngest child, about two years and a half old, and a change of clothing in a sack across her shoulder. Her eldest son, some 14 years old, had the balance of their clothing in a second sack. The second son, a lad of some 8 years of age, was leading a pet heifer, which looked to be about 18 months old, and they had a fine-looking cur dog. All the crowd seemed to be in good health and fine spirits. The lady said she was making her way to Bibb county, where she had relatives who were able to help her. SATURDAY NIGHT FIRE.

At 9.40 an alarm of fire was sounded from the corner of Sherbourne and Esplande streets. The fire causing the alarm was in the oil refinery of John Fisken & Co., no theast corner of the above streets. The immediate cause of the fire was the caking of the oil in a vat into the furnace, and, as might be imagined, took a formidable attitude in a short time. Berkeley, Court and Wilton avenue brigades responded without loss of time, and notwithstanding the delay in getting at the hydrant, referred to in the local column, on were playing briskly. The fire origin confined to the inside of the refinery proper, where little oil was and no machinery of consequence. After the firemen once getting at the fire it did not last he storehouse adjoining the refinery stored 3000 barrels of oil. As far as could be learned the damage will not approach $500 and it is believed there is no insurance. The firemen had to wade knee deep in water covered with oil, and had lots of fun cleaning off their clothes.

OWEN SOUND AND THE GRAND

Mr. Allen, who was sent by the Owen Sound board of trade to meet the board of trade in Montreal and Mr. Hickson, manager of the Grand Trunk, had a long interview with both parties. The merchants of Montreal are alive to the advantages of lower through rates and quicker connection and have promised to use their influence to that end. Arrangements will likely be made so that a person can leave Owen at 8.30 the following morning. Mr. Hickson said he felt positive he would have the T. G. and B. road, but in any case he would use his influence to have a connection with Owen Sound.

OSGOODE HALL NOTES.

Mr. Justice Ferguson sat in the chancery division Saturday morning and gave judgment in a number of cases, some of which were heard at the last Toronto sittings.

In chambers Saturday morning, before Mr. Justice Armour, an application came up by way of habeas corpus, on behalf of the mother of a child named Bond of Newmarket, for an order for the delivery of possession to her by its uncle. Mr. Aylesworth appeared for the applicant and Mr. Sheppard for the uncle. The motion stands for production of the child.

The celebrated case of Page v. Proctor was set down for trial before Mr. Justice Cameron Saturday morning in the queen's bench division. There were a number of vitnesses present, some from Roston.
wing, however, to the absence of Messrs. Owing, however, to the absence of Messrs. Cameron, Q.C., and Bethune, Q.C., the plaintiff's counsel, the case was adjourned until the next fall assizes at Toronto. The plaintiff is to pay the costs of the day, which will amount to nearly $500. Messrs. McCarthy, Q.C., C. Robinson, Q.C., and Bruce appeared for the defence; Mr. McPhillips for the plaintiff. The action has now been postponed over several assizes, and the costs in it already amount to a handsome sum.

During the past two weeks everybody in New Orleans has been made to know that John T. Raymond was coming. He came and played last night. Everybody was not were there than could find seats. The house was crowded. The comical John appeared in Gunther's new Raymond comedy, 'Eresh, the American." The comedian is the life of this comedy. Raymond's peculiarities are fitted in the dialogue and action. He is very happy in his familiar conversations with "Ach, old boy," as he calls the Pasha, and very funny throughout in his bustling, officious, loquacious and eccentric American way of saying odd things oddly.

tensive loss as it came nearly doing at Saturday night's fire.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday a fire was noticed in the Queen's park on the line of St. Joseph street. Some young gamins had raked a lot of leaves together and set them on fire, and the fire spread to the fence, when the youngsters got scared and ran away. The citizens in the vicinity went to the rescue and put out the incipient conflagration before a dollar's worth of damage was done to the fence.

We call the attention of the fire authorities to the indiscriminate locating of the fire floxes. Those most easily alarmed should be placed where the most serious fires are likely to occur. At present numbers takin the county of Victoria, Ont., have taken out during the last winter 6000 pieces of timber, and logs to the extent of ten and a half millions of lumber. It is estimated that this is about a tenth of the production of the whole limit. Messrs. R. Dobell & Co. of Quebec, after examining the timber purchased the whole lot at prices more than live cents a foot above their last season. Messrs. Strickland have been offered $16 a thousand for their merchantable timber. thousand for their merchantable timber. They have been shipping by Toronto, but next season they hope to ship by the Midland railway, owing to the contemplated completion of the Sault Ste. Marie branch.

HOW TO SPOIL A HUSBAND.

Henpeck him. Snarl at him. Find fault with him. Keep an untidy house. Quarrel with him for trifles. Humor him half to death. Always have the last word. Be extra cross on wash day. Boss him out of his boots. Never have meals ready in time Let him sew the buttons on his shirts. Run bills without his knowledge. Vow vengeance on all his relations. Pay no attention to household expenses.

The New Brunswick Cabinet. St. John, N.B., April 8.—Hon. Michael Adams, surveyor general, has tendered his resignation, it is alleged, on account of differences with the leader of the government over a private bill passed through the house on the last day of the session.

Walkerton, April 8.—The inquest on Mrs. Moore was concluded this evening. The jury found "That the deceased, Jane Moore, came to her death by taking a dose of medicine containing one-half a drachm of prussic acid, which acid was put in said medicine by mistake by one Richard Wanless, a clerk in H. A. Wilson's drug store."

DETROIT, April 8.—The cyclone of Thursday night visited the township of Assyric. Two small children were badly injured. Silas Reynold was kiled, and his wife and two children seriously injured. The buildings of Levi Renyon were demo-lished and himself hurt fatally. This is the third cyclone in two years in this town-ship. At Kalamo Benjamin Conkling was killed, a dozen houses and barns demolished and the ground sweet clean of crchards, forces and everthing in the path of the tornado.

Church and State in America.

The Roman Catholic provincial council, which met at Cincinnati recently, issued a pastoral letter which has been widely commented upon by the secular press on account of the direct issue it takes with the principles of republicanism. Thus the declara-tion of independence declares:
"We hold these truths tion of independence declares:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to assure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

In opposition to this the bishops depower comes from the people, and that rulers do not exercise authority as their own, but as intrusted to them by the people. The Catholic doctrine is that the grant of power is not given by the people, but they only designate who is to wield it." The distinction here shown is very marked and places the church in direct antagonism to the fundamental principle of government in the United States Political equality is the fundamental stone of democratic institutions, and to deny that power proceeds from the people is to attack the principle of American liberty in tack the principle of American liberty in its most vital part. It is not, therefore, to be wondered at that the secular press should condemn the pastoral and declare it an act directed towards the subversion of republican restiutions. It is a matter of great regret that any church or assembly of ecclesiastics should take upon themselves to define the principles of civil government define the principles of civil government under which they are permitted to exercise their religious functions. But when they do presume so far the state must exercise its authority, for there is no power superior

A reduction of the hours of labor, however, will have a different result. 'A however, will have a different result. As successful strike for that purpose will be effectual. The reason is that a reduction of the hours of labor reduces production and consequently brings the supply of accessable land nearer to be supply of labor. accessable land nearer to be supply of labor.

In such case (population remaining unchanged) there is less labor relatively to the supply of land than before. The same effect would be produced by a plague which depopulated the community, or a destruction of labor saving machinery.

It may then be asked whether depopulation and destruction of prachings and destruction and destruction and destruction and destruction and destruction and destruction and destruction. ulation and destruction of machinery are desirable. To which we answer yes. under present conditions

It is a choice between one or both these on the one hand, and making land common property on the other. We prefer to retain our population and encourage its increase, and also to retain our machinery and encourage new inventions, while some people prefer that the private ownership of mutual forces should continue. As the spectre of poverty stalks through the industrial community, one or the other of these must go. And upon the good sense of workingmen we must rely to determine
