THE EXHIBITION.

The St. John Exhibition will be here presently, and the advance arrangement's give promise that it will be the most successful of the long list of shows carried on by an association which has done a great deal for the city. There is a point in connection with the exhibition which every citizen should think about, and it is the importance not only of local exhibits but of strong local interest and support. On many previous occasions fairly successful shows would have been much more valuable and stimulating if the citizens themselves had realized that this is their own enterprise, and given it the aid which comes from a much bigger and more enthusiastic attendance such as the solid merits of the event warrant.

A city's enterprises succeed to a great extent in proportion to the faith of the people in them, and it is a part of good citizenship to display in regard to the exhibition the keen interest and to give it that degree of support which will make it a greater lever of progress and a better measure of the city's advancement.

This sort of thing is good for St. John. It brings business, and it impresses a host of visitors from far and near with St. John's growing importance as the trading capital of the province. There should be a record attendance this year—a new high water mark and there will be if the people of St. John serve their own interests and rise to their duty as citizens by giving the exhibition its due. What is worth doing is worth doing well. The fair will be successful one beyond doubt, but this year the public should decide in advance that it is going to make a new record in the matter of attendance. That kind of popular support pays handsome dividends. It becomes a source of confidence and pride, and affects the whole community favorably in stimulating faith and progress.

THE OTHER SIDE OF IT.

After all the talk about reckless driving of motor cars—which by no means over-there now comes a lively condemnation of the "mopet" or lay driver who blocks traffic in the city and holds up other cars on the country roads. In Maine, at least, talk of this is causing lively discussion, and the Portland Press-Herald says the "mopet" is indirectly responsible for most automobile accidents. The man who drives at high speed, particularly the one who holds up others, is a nuisance, of course, but his sins must not be held in any way to excuse the more dangerous driver who is responsible for the great number of road tragedies.

Portland Journal, however, advocates punishment of some sort for the road loafer. It says:

"On every Sunday and holiday, when the main highways are filled with cars, there is always some driver who assumes that he has the right to drive along between twelve and fifteen miles an hour, holding up many automobiles by the same way as himself whose drivers are trying to get somewhere and who cannot stand they travel at the rate of speed the lay driver sets. In consequence there is a constant attempt on the part of those drivers who are being held back to go around the "mopet" and take up their own speed on the main highway. It is not always the man with the flier who is guilty of driving in this way, many times it is a more moderate speeder who, by the use of a high powered and expensive car, can make every hill on high without increasing speed. If we investigated all accidents which occur on account of drivers of this kind we should quite likely find that in almost every instance they were indirectly to blame for collisions, side-swiping and the ditching of cars which often result in serious injuries if not fatalities."

There is obviously something to be said for the driver who is not merely trying to reach his destination in the shortest possible time and who prefers a moderate speed. The people in New Brunswick who go loafing along congested roads, or any roads, at twelve or fifteen miles an hour are not yet numerous enough to be regarded as a menace. The driver who has no sense of courtesy and who denies to others the chance to get by safely is a nuisance and a danger as well.

THE GERMAN DEFIANCE.

The German Chancellor speaks for a weak government, but to the extent of his influence and ability he has further complicated the European situation by a speech which is in effect a defiance of France and a rebuff to Great Britain. It may be that his deliberate purpose is to increase the tension in Anglo-French relations and so to destroy the remaining hope of a concerted policy on the part of the Allies, or he may have spoken in response to what he conceives to be the pressure of public opinion in his own country, believing it would destroy any government which showed a willingness to make concessions.

As it stands Cuno says Germany will not stop passive resistance in the Ruhr but will encourage and support it as much as possible. He even boasts of the effect of the resistance thus far, asserting that the French are not getting more than one-fifth as much coal as formerly and need not expect more as the inhabitants refuse to work under the bayonets of their oppressors and the French government. He questions the good faith of Britain, and charges her government with having adopted the French viewpoint in great measure—a statement which will cause a grim smile in Paris.

The immediate effect of all this is likely to be a stiffening of French policy. The French government will be likely to try more bayonets if those already in Germany are not sufficient, and to occupy more territory. The published fact that the German government encourages resistance, and intends to keep on doing so, will invite sterner measures on the part of the Allies. But such a course, as the British Prime Minister has said, is not likely to produce more coal, or more reparations, but less, and to further becalm the whole European situation.

Meantime confidential exchanges of views between London and Paris are going on, looking to the discovery of common ground. Neither Germany nor France wants to give Germany a chance to play the martyr, and both countries are sensible of the risks attending a split at this time. In Britain there is considerable opposition to the government's course but no change of policy is likely.

The immediate effect leaves the word with France. Her action may give the situation a new turn. It looks like a case which is going to be worse before it is better, unless Belgium, as suggested in today's despatches, succeeds in opening the door to agreement among the Allies by fresh compromise proposals. German comment on Cuno's speech is not favorable. The Germans are by no means so resolute as the Chancellor would make them appear.

REBUKING THOSE WHO SAY CANADA IS ON THE ROAD TO RUIN.

Rebuking those who say Canada is on the road to ruin and that the life of the nation is threatened, the Kingston Standard replies to the Montreal Star:

"In the last analysis the Star's remedy for the country's admitted troubles is no remedy at all, since it works almost cuts the ground from under our very feet. What the country needs is not a standstill, but a steady, unflinching, and useful purpose—the contrary it does incalculable harm—to turn back on one's own country, to expose a policy of Lamentation and Weep that is pessimism run mad, to bleed turned to water; Fear surmounting Courage. What we need today is not a policy of Lamentation and Weep, but a policy of Faith and Optimism—Courage in ourselves, Faith in our Country, Optimism in our Future. The Gospel of Light ahead, if only we will see it. He who is a Bear on Canada and her People lacks not alone Faith; he lacks Vision. More than that, Fear is contagious. The cry of fear sweeps the mob from its feet and carries it blindly along—some to destruction, some to safety. There is no sane thought; only confusion and unreasoning panic."

St. John will be disposed to inquire sharply concerning the proposed cancellation of the cut in the C. N. R. rate to Halifax, its purpose and its effect. Why not make a corresponding reduction in the rate to St. John, which provides the short haul?

Mr. Coull's was the first Congressionalist to become President. The late President Harding was the first Baptist to occupy the White House.

CHINA WAITING.

(Daily Telegraph)

A great ruler will probably arise in China again, as great rulers have arisen out of chaos before in the country's long ages of history; but no action of foreign governments can hasten the day of his coming. The Powers have solemnly bound themselves, by the Washington Treaty to interfere in no way with Chinese sovereignty or territorial integrity, and any steps which they may now take to hasten the day will be strictly conditioned by that self-denying ordinance.

A DROP OF DEW.

See how the Orient dew,
Shed from the bosom of the morn
Into the waning moon, (Yet careless of its mansion new
For the clear region where 'twas born)
Round in its little globe's extent
Frames, as it can, its native element.
How it the purple flower does slight,
Scarce touching where it lies;
But gazing back upon the skies,
Shine with a mournful light,
Like its own tear.

Because so long divided from the sphere,
Restless it rolls, and unsecure
Trembling lest it grow impure;
Till the warm sun pines its pain,
And to the skies exhales it back again.
So the soul that drops that ray,
Of the clear foundation of eternal day,
Could it within the human flower be seen.

The greater heaven is its former height,
Shuns the sweet leaves and blossoms green,
And, recollecting its own light,
Does, in its pure and circling thoughts express
The greater heaven in a heaven less.

In how coy a figure wound,
Every way it turns away;
So the world excluding round,
Yet received in the day,
Dark beneath, but bright above;
Here disdaining there to stoop,
How loose and easy hence to go!
How girty and ready to ascend!
Moving on a point below,
It all about does upward bend.
Such did the manna's sacred dew distill,
White and entire, although congested and chill,
Congealed on earth, but does, dissolving run
Into the glories of the Almighty sun.

NOT SO DENSE.

"I think that children are not as observing as they should be," said the Inspector to the teacher.
"I hadn't noticed it," replied the teacher.
"Well, I'll prove it to you," and turning to the class the Inspector said: "Some one give me a number."
"Thirty-seven," said a little boy eagerly.
The Inspector wrote 78 on the board, and nothing was said.
"Will someone else give me a number?"
"Fifty-two," said another lad.
The Inspector wrote down 26 on the board, and smiled at the teacher. He called for another number, and young Jack called out:
"Seventy-seven; now see if you can change that."—Public Opinion (London).

ONCE IS ENOUGH.

When Maurice Francis Egan was United States Minister to Copenhagen he made a practice of going through the Province of Denmark once a year, and lecturing on American literature. One night when the present King and Queen of Denmark were dining at the United States Legation the King, in the presence of the Governor Prince, said to Mr. Egan:
"I receive agreeable reports of your lectures in Copenhagen. Do you use a different lecture every time?"
"I always use the same one, Your Majesty," he answered.
"But what do you do if people come a second time?"
"I never come a second time," was the answer.—Kansas City Star.

ENGLISH GIRLS Learning How Canada Farms

The four young English girls who are visiting Canada on scholarships offered by Sir Henry Thornton, are now on their way to Guelph, Ont., to take a short course at the Agricultural College before returning to their homes in England.

The last two months have been spent by the "Marmettes" in sight-seeing and learning. They were taken to the coast on a trip that embraced all the principal points of interest. That journey was a wonderful revelation to them of the extent of the country and the variety and splendor of the scenery along the National Way.

Coming back they settled down for a short course at the Manitowish Agency, where they took practical instruction in animal husbandry, poultry, dairying, botany, entomology, and carpentry.

Five weeks ago they were placed in charge of Prof. C. H. Lee, acting president of the Manitoba Agricultural College, who had the party taken to the exhibition to see the exhibits and demonstrations there by students and to give them an idea of the class of livestock raised in Western Canada.

The scholarship girls are: Misses Mildred White, Devonshire, Ivy Town; and Joan Moore, Leicestershire. They are chaperoned by Miss Stella Wolfe, Murray, a journalist at London, England.

FRANK COMMENT ON RUHR

(London, July 24.—By Mail.)—London has heard some news recently on the situation in the Ruhr. J. Thomas, the Labor leader, said recently at Shrewsbury: "It appears to me at the parting of the ways in European affairs, so far as France is concerned, that she is not to be trusted for her misdeeds, but she should say to France that the only solution of the present state of affairs is to get together, talk things over frankly, and watch the future with a desire to forget the past. We cannot stand by and allow the continuation of a policy which is ruinous to us as well as to Germany, and can lead to disaster for ourselves."

HOW MANY STARS ARE THERE?

(By Dr. William J. S. Lockyer, in London Mail.)

How many stars are there in the sky? To make any first approximation to the answer to the above question, it is necessary first to find out what is the faintest star in the sky that can be recorded by a telescope with an attached photographic plate. Photography must be employed, because visual observations are inadequate, owing to the fact that the photographic plate is capable of recording stars which are even the largest telescopes in the world can show us.

The second step is to photograph the whole sky from pole to pole and then count up the stars that are on all the plates.

The result of such a count will only show a rough idea of the number of stars in the sky, because, in the first place, the more powerful the telescope the greater the number of stars that are recorded, and we have not yet arrived at the limit of the size of the telescope.

The speed of the photographic plate is probably quite slow now compared with what it eventually will be. The number of stars that are recorded—there is a great amount of dark matter in space, scattered here and there, in a large and small quantities, which lies between us and the distant stars, cutting them off from our vision.

Everyone knows that stars are not all of the same brightness. Astronomers use the term "magnitude" for brightness and adopt the system of changing from one magnitude to the next greater magnitude by multiplying by two and a half; thus the star of the first magnitude is two and a half times brighter than a star of the second magnitude, and so on.

Now with the unaided eye an observer can see about 6,000 stars of the first magnitude, and there are about 7,000 stars of the second magnitude, and so on. The number of stars that are above the horizon at any time.

Every gain in magnitude means a great increase in the number of stars recorded. Photographs taken with such a powerful telescope as that of the Mount Wilson Observatory, show stars to the twentieth magnitude, the largest instrument in the world, the 100-inch reflector at the same observatory, photographs stars to the twenty-first magnitude, and so on.

A survey of the whole heavens with this latter instrument would tell us how many stars there are. Such a survey has not been made, so one has to be content with a more modest one—very complete, however, made by a British amateur astronomer and extending to stars of the seventeenth magnitude.

By an ingenious method, however, the star numbers have been extended beyond the seventeenth magnitude up to the twenty-fifth magnitude, giving 600,000 stars up to that magnitude. Reasoning from these results, it is probable that the total number of stars in the Galaxy is 1,000,000,000 (one thousand millions), and cannot greatly exceed twice this amount.

The figure 1,000,000,000 (often taken as 100,000,000) may therefore be taken as an approximate value for the number of stars in the sky.

WHEN HALIFAX WAS WILD.

(Bylander in Toronto Globe.)

Some dazzling sideights on life in Halifax and other points in Nova Scotia are found in "Dyott's Diary," a book written by a young man, and comprising the day-to-day notes of a British soldier who was stationed for a time on this side of the Atlantic toward the end of the eighteenth century. Life among the officers, the company of Prince William, afterwards William IV., was much given to the life in Halifax had the same merry strikes of a more recent time.

General William Dyott, as he afterwards became, visited Sydney with the Prince early in 1788. This was then the seat of government for Cape Breton, and he found the "improvements made there not a very propitious appearance at present." The party dined on the Grand Pré, and the "improvements made there not a very propitious appearance at present."

But before the Journal pins a medal on itself for diplomacy, let it remember that the kind of girls it mentioned simply don't exist. It is referring to spirituelle girls and plump girls, that's another matter. But the answer is "Yes" anyway.

THE ROMANCE OF BISLEY.

(Lord Chelymore, in London Times.)

This year's Bisley meeting marks the Diamond Jubilee of the National Rifle Association. The first meeting of the N. R. A. was held in 1860, but there were some years during the war when the annual meeting was in abeyance.

At the first meeting Queen Victoria fired the first shot at 400 yards, and scored a bull's-eye. The target with which she did this is still in the possession of the National Rifle Association in their museum.

The first president of the N. R. A. was the Duke of Cambridge, who continued in office until his death. Queen Victoria's interest in the association from its earliest days was shown by the fact that her prize of £250 was presented from the first day, and the first winner of it was the famous shot, Edward Ross. The course in those days was shot over with muzzle-loading rifles.

The originators of the N. R. A. were Lord Blyth, afterwards Earl of Wemyss, and Mr. W. H. Balfour, and at the beginning the annual meetings were held at the Mansion House, with the Lord Mayor in the chair.

The association was, of course, started really for the purpose of interesting the old Volunteer movement in rifle shooting.

In 1890 we moved to Bisley from Wimbledon, and an interesting point in connection with that removal was the fact that the marker for Queen Alexandra—then Princess of Wales—who scored the first shot with a bull's-eye at 1,000 yards, was Quartermaster-Sergeant Bolton, of the Grenadier Guards, who had just retired after a shot for Queen Victoria thirty years before, wrote and asked if he might do the same again. Permission was granted, and he thus held the record of having marked bull's-eyes for two sovereigns.

The weather has played its part in everything else. We are holding it in July, and the heat is not so great, but I have known the occasion when Bisley week, then, as ever, held in July, and the heat was a bit of snow—slight, but snow nevertheless.

"SPOONERISMS"

(N. Y. Herald.)

Canon Spooner, Warden of New College, Oxford, has just marked the eightieth year. One of his famous breaks occurred immediately after a wedding which he presided over when he said: "It is customary to kiss the bride." It is said that on one occasion when he was saying good-bye to a woman relative at the station he absent-mindedly kissed the porter and gave a slipper to the female relative. Among the other mistakes credited to the popular canon are his references to the "inquiring" of the "inquiries" and to the "conquering" of the "conquerers." But one of his most famous breaks was during the Victoria Jubilee celebrations when he called for "three cheers for the queer old dean," when he meant "dear old Queen."

COMING BACK TO CANADA.

(Quebec Chronicle.)

Many factories in New England have recently curtailed production, and the repercussions are being felt by the States. From other parts of the States come other reports of a slowing down of production. Many of the workers who crossed the border since the war, are now working short time, or are out of employment altogether; and it is reported that some are planning to return to Canada. Unless American business swings into another cycle of expansion, the signs are contrary. Canada may expect a reversion of the recent exodus.

It is thought, however, that it is well for Canadians to remain in their own country, where at present there is little unemployment, and where the opportunities for the future are fairly attractive.

THE STING.

(Kingston Standard.)

The New York Times has a good grasp of Canada's immigration schemes, but the sting in its editorial paper lies in its ending: "But is Canada content to be chiefly an agricultural State? Must not her development be in other directions? Must she not fall sufficiently to flow in so long as, in obedience to organized labor, she is hospitable only to domestic and agricultural laborers? These are questions which need answering."

A TACTLESS PREMIER.

(Toronto Globe.)

The indiscreet utterances of Premier Bruce of Australia have alarmed British free traders. They believe that the coming Imperial Economic Conference an attack will be made on the policy which they hold to be essential to the industrial life of the country, and they are organizing to repel it. A recent meeting for the purpose in a House of Commons was attended by members of the Independent Liberal and National Liberal parties and of the Labor party, and by some Unionist free traders. Speeches were made by Mr. Snowden, the Labor economist, Mr. Asquith, Sir John Simon, Sir Alfred Mond, and others, and a permanent committee was set up, comprising members of all parties, "to keep a close watch in Parliament over the interests and for the defense of free trade."

From the beginning of the controversy began twenty years ago the issue raised by the call for Imperial preference was the taxation of food. Mr. Joseph Chamberlain at the very outset confessed that any preference given to the colonies or the outlying parts of the Empire was of no use, economically or sentimentally, unless as an essential part of it you put a tax on the importation of food into this country. There has been no change in the essential, fundamental and unalterable economic conditions. Imperial preference would not be raised and must be raised by some of the proposals to be laid before the forthcoming Imperial Economic Conference—and if some of these proposals materialize, the issue ought to be put fairly and squarely before the public. I have not the slightest doubt if that is done the verdict will be just as it was in 1906.

It is this defensive movement on the part of British free traders which Mr. Bruce denounces as an attempt to thwart the Dominions at the approaching conference. It is most unfortunate for Imperial relations that the issue of Imperial preferences should have arisen in a form which is resented in Great Britain by leaders of opinion whose friendship for the Dominions is beyond suspicion. Mr. Bruce gives the impression that he is spilling for a fight, in a matter which involves the established fiscal policy of the Mother Country and the deep-rooted convictions of millions of Britons be should proceed with more tact and delicacy. Mr. Asquith is right in saying that the taxation of food must be the basis of any scheme of Imperial preference. Canada may be assured that their Prime Minister will approach it in a way that will save their self-respect.

ST. JOHN IN THE DAYS WHEN THOSE WHO WENT TO SCHOOL HAD TO PAY

Notable Institutions and Prominent Men of Other Times.

(By A. M. Belding.)
 Before the free public school system was adopted in New Brunswick the Grammar School was a notable St. John institution. In a book published in 1887 we read—
 "This seminary is one of the first established and is still one of the most efficient educational institutions in the province. It is under the direction of a board of which the rector of Trinity church is president, the Mayor of the city, vice-president, and the city recorder a member ex-officio. The other members at present are Judge Parker, William Wright, Hon. John H. Gray, Rev. William Donald, Rev. W. Scovill and Dr. Livingstone. The principal is Dr. J. Peterson, who has held the situation of master for more than thirty-seven years, and under whose unwearied care the school has always been successful, and now maintains a very high character. With a view to relieve the principal of part of his onerous duties, and at the same time to enlarge the sphere of education in the school, the directors have just adopted a new plan, with a new division of the labor, as follows—
 "The principal are assigned the senior classes, whose studies, besides Latin, Greek and French, will embrace mathematics, physical geography, natural philosophy, chemistry and English composition.
 "To a second classical master the junior Latin classes, with geography, history, Euclid, algebra and practical geometry.
 "To a third master the English department, embracing English grammar, composition, diction, arithmetic, writing, and other useful branches of an English education."
 "Mr. Blanchard of Truro, Nova Scotia, and Mr. March, late of the Kentish schools, England, have been appointed to fill the second and third departments.

 "To carry this plan into execution, an enlargement of the school house is necessary, and until that is accomplished Dr. Peterson will conduct the duties of his department at his own residence."
 John March and W. P. Dole.
 The "Mr. March" here referred to is the late John March, so long connected afterward with the free school system as secretary of the St. John Board of School Trustees and also as superintendent of the city schools. When now of middle age were at school in Mr. March's time. Both he and Mrs. March were very active in the life of the city. One of their sons, Dr. J. E. March, was port physician of St. John at the time of his death. All the children were gifted in music, and Ralph March sang in the original Denman Thompson Old Homestead quartette.
 It is interesting to note also that in the year John March was engaged as a teacher in the Grammar School W. P. Dole was inspector of schools, as he was nearly thirty years later, when he inspected the first school taught by the writer of this article, then fresh from the Normal School. Looking over later school records one learns that in 1871 John Bennett, Ph.D., was superintendent of schools and John March secretary of the school board. In 1882, Mr. March was both secretary and superintendent. In 1889 Portland was united with St. John and Frank S. Hayes of the Portland schools became superintendent for the whole city. Mr. March remaining secretary. In 1894 we find Mr. March again acting as superintendent, and Edward Manning, secretary. In 1899 Dr. H. S. Bridges became superintendent and has continued since. The secretary to the board now is A. Gordon Leavitt.
 There was also what was called the Madras School, 76 Duke street, in 1887. Of it we read—
 "The Governor and Trustees are the Lieutenant Governor, the Lord Bishop of the Diocese, the members of Her Majesty's Council, the Judge of the Admiralty, the Speaker of the House of Assembly, the Mayor and Recorder of St. John, the Rector and Church Wardens of Trinity Church, together with the Rev. W. Donald, F. A. Wiggin, W. Wright, W. Tisdale, and Rev. A. Scovill, clerk, B. Robinson, Jr."
 The public school trustees in St. John in 1887 were John Sears, George Blatch and S. F. Wetmore.
 Many Other Schools.
 There were also in 1887 commissions for the management of the free school, unconnected with what was called the Madras Board, and they were Rev. James Quinn, James Gallagher and William Carvill. Of these free schools we read—
 "The Sisters of Charity have charge of a large free school for girls, in the Temperance Hall, Sydney street. There is also a free school for boys in the Temperance Hall, under the charge of John Harrington.
 These were Catholic schools, and there was also a young Ladies' Academy under the charge of the Ladies of the Sacred Heart, where "all the different branches of a polite education, including music and modern languages," were taught.
 To return to the Grammar School of 1887, the terms of tuition were as follows: For English only $1 10c.; for the Junior classical department, $2 10c. per quarter.
 There was also a Commercial School in 1887, of which we read: "This institution, situated at the corner of Sydney and St. George's streets has been in full operation for several years under the management of S. D. Miller, who is both principal and director. Its object is to give a general and thorough education to pupils of both sexes, at a very moderate price, thereby enabling the humble as well as the more opulent to avail themselves of its advantages. The teachers at present are E. C. Freese, John L. McInnis, Samuel Armstrong and Ellen A. Miller."
 There were also in 1887 nearly a dozen private schools in St. John. They were: Brunswick Seminary, H. V. Sewell, 71 Charlotte street.
 Commercial and Mathematical School, W. Mills, Coburg street.
 Corry's Day School, William Corry, 42 Cross street.
 Young Ladies' Seminary, Miss E. Foulis, 91 Sydney street.
 Young Ladies' Seminary, Mrs. Hunt, Peters street.
 Drawing School, J. E. Nash, 16 Sydney street.
 New England School, C. E. Tucker, 14 Charlotte street.
 Provincial Training School, 22 Lennox street.
 Writing Academy, Mrs. Jamieson, 89 Carmarthen street.
 Provincial Training School, E. H. Duval, 18 Brittain street.
 With all these schools, and the five newspapers published in the city in 1887, the Mechanic's Institute with its reading room, lectures museum, and library of 8,000 volumes; the St. John Society Library, with its reading room and 4,000 volumes; the Y. M. C. A., the Church of England Young Men's Society with its books, magazines, papers and lectures; and other organizations of an educational character, the young people had a very good opportunity to become the intelligent men and women who helped to make responsible government a success, to adopt the free school system, to carry New Brunswick into Confederation, and by their faith and energy overcome the effects of the decline in ship-building and the ravages of the great fire. One finds, however, very striking contrasts between the educational conditions of 1887 and those of 1923.

Encourage Early Closing

By Shopping During the Day
 TO THE PUBLIC
 We were surprised to see an advertisement in a recent issue of The Times stating that all shoe stores in the city will be open every evening.
 We wish the public to know that our Union and Main street stores are only open on Friday and Saturday evenings, and our King street store on Friday evening. Our King street store is the only shoe store in the city that observes the Saturday half holiday by closing at one o'clock during July and August, and arrangements have been made to give our Union and Main street stores a share in the Saturday half-holiday.
 Yours truly,

Mrs. Amelia MacBeth.
 The death of Mrs. Amelia MacBeth, widow of Cassius MacBeth, occurred at her home, 82 Harrison street, last night and will be heard of with deep regret. Mrs. MacBeth was a member of the Portland Methodist church and she will be greatly missed. Her husband died eleven years previously and her surviving relatives are a son, Donald C. of Long Beach, California; two daughters, Miss Thelma A. and Miss Isadore D., at home; her mother, Mrs. James W. White, of Ludlow, Me., and three brothers, Wilford, Nehemiah and Shepherd, all of Ludlow, Me. The funeral arrangements had not completed last night.

HUGS FAIR COMPANION; DRIVER LOSSES LICENSE
 Concord, N. H., Aug. 9.—State Motor Vehicle Commissioner Griffin has cancelled the driving license of an automobilist and motorcyclist. The commissioner saw a man driving in Belmont with his arm around a girl's waist. He took the number of the car and notified the owner of the cancellation of his driving permit. The motorcyclist registration was cancelled on a report of reckless driving by the New Hampshire man over a railroad crossing at Wendell, Mass.

DIES 10 MINUTES AFTER SELECTING HIS CASKET
 Biddeford, Me., Aug. 9.—Within 10 minutes from the time he called at an undertaker's, Alfred Cantara, 40, was found dead at his home. Cantara's call on the undertaker, who also carries a line of household goods, was to pick out a casket. That done, he turned his attention to caskets, with instructions to deliver the one selected, when needed. On arriving home he drank ice water while heated. Members of the family found him dead.

Objects to Supporting Ex-Wife and 3 Sisters

New York, Aug. 9.—There were five girls in the Hoffman family, and when one of them was married by Gustav Zeese, color print manufacturer, of Long Island City, the four others envied her fortune. A divorce suit was instituted later, however, Mrs. Zeese naming her sister next in age, Amalia, as correspondent. The suit was won, and Amalia is the present Mrs. Zeese. Gustav Zeese appeared in court this week to ask that the $9,000 alimony he has been paying be reduced to $2,000. He charged that the former Mrs. Zeese and her three other sisters, aside from the present Mrs. Zeese, are all living on the Zeese estate at Great Neck, L. I., which adds substantially to the overhead cost of living.
 The first Mrs. Zeese told Supreme Court Justice Carswell that her ex-husband and present brother-in-law earned $60,000 a year, and could well afford the alimony. The letter offered to prove that his firm last $64,000 last year, and that in view of divorce publicity both he and his partner, William J. Wilkinson, were receiving, an equal or even greater loss the coming year was probable.

BISHOP S. G. BABCOCK, 71, TAKES BRIDE TO BOSTON
 Boston, Aug. 9.—The Right Rev. Samuel G. Babcock, suffragan bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts, and Miss Mary Kent Davey, of Boston, were married this week in Christ Church by Bishop William Lawrence, assisted by the Rev. William H. Dewart, rector of the parish.
 Mrs. Babcock, formerly a teacher of French at Milton Academy, did Red Cross work during the war and was a volunteer hostess at the Army and Navy canteen on Boston Common. She has been prominent in religious and civic activities.
 Bishop Babcock is seventy-one years old. His first wife died several years ago.

JERSEY WELFARE PROGRAM CALLS FOR $50,000,000

Trenton, Aug. 9.—In a programme arranged for extension and improvement of public institutions for the next five years, the state is planning to spend $50,000,000, according to a statement issued by Burette G. Lewis, state Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies. The report was submitted for approval to the New Jersey Citizens Committee.
 Among the expenditures which have been authorized by the Legislature are: State Hospital for the Insane, $27,200,000; Home for Girls, Trenton, $200,000; Village for Epileptics, Skillman, $350,000; Institution for Feeble-Minded, Vineland, $470,000; Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Glen Gardner, $413,000; Colony for Feeble-Minded, New Lisbon, $807,857; Women's Reformatory, Clinton, $110,000; Institution for Feeble-Minded, Woodbine, $73,000; Institution for Defective Male Delinquents, $287,000; Reformatory, Rahway, $1,343,526;

Psychopathic Hospital for Northern New Jersey, Newark, $1,000,000; State Home for Boys, Jamesburg, $1,623,975.

JUDGE BELIEVES CHILD'S STORY; FREES HER FATHER
 Portland, Me., Aug. 9.—Testimony of 11-year-old Helen Lamarque in municipal court freed her father, William, of Brunswick, from a charge of reckless driving. The girl, contradicting testimony of an automobile inspector, said the speedometer of the car in which she rode with her father never registered more than 20 miles an hour. The judge believed her.
 A picture of the first steamer Empress to cross the Bay of Fundy carrying the mails between St. John and Digby, painted by E. J. Russell, has been presented to the Natural History Society by R. Garfield Barton. This steamer operated in the seventies and was a paddle wheel boat. She also carried three shells.

AMERICAN TANGO TO GLIDE IN AS "SENSATIONAL" MUSIC EXITS

Old-Fashioned Waltz Also Listed for Vogue by Convention Teachers.

New York, Aug. 8.—There are conventions and conventions—that held by the International Association of Masters of Dancing at the Hotel Commodore being one of the "and" kind. You sit down and watch and if your eyes are alert enough you will see a lot of pretty, new steps, and it's all quite as interesting as a whirlwind summer review—in the outside.

True, the convention began normally with a short preliminary meeting, whereas Daniel C. Quilly, president of the association, welcomed the 200 dancing masters who are on hand from all parts of this country and Canada. But for the rest, including a night session, the delegates danced instead of speaking their sentiments and seemed to enjoy it despite the heat. There were no speeches. In fact, it is a rule of the convention that all talking is taboo while demonstrations are underway.

The demonstrations, by the way, are the major excuse for the meeting. When the convention has danced itself out, so to speak, there will have been held several hundred of these—all illustrating the new ideas in ballroom and professional dancing. By trying out one another's ideas and interpreting them later to their pupils, the dance experts hope to create something of a standard for the dance of the coming season.

Enter—New American Tango.

The performances demonstrated what the dancing-masters predict will be the vogue for next season—a new American tango and the original old-fashioned waltz. There were shown plenty of pretty and not uninvolved caperings, but the dances that went over best with the delegates were the two mentioned.

Miss Hilda Harker, of San Diego, Calif., led the meeting in the opening number. This was a series of technique combinations composed by herself, including port de bras, classical toe ballet, Oriental gypsy dances and other steps. The majority appeared in costumes appropriate to the work and to the weather, the women in bathing suits and other flimsy garments, while the men for the most part disported themselves in their shirt sleeves and wore formal knickerbockers.

Following this were demonstrations of a new waltz, Noves del Coro, by Miss Harker, who is the official demonstrator of the association; a tango fox trot, by F. H. Sinclair, of Ottawa, Canada; the Porta Provitch five-step by Porta Provitch of New York; the spring step slide, by Miss Anna Keenan, of Philadelphia; cymbal dance, by John Dugan, of Providence, and exercises in posture and etiquette by Marguerite Wals, of Philadelphia.

New Tango To Be Demonstrated.

Edward S. Hurst, of Atlanta, predicted a thorough revival of the waltz and great popularity for a new American tango, which will have its foundation in the best steps of earlier tangos and innovation which will make it more readily adaptable to the American ballroom. It will be demonstrated during the week's convention by Miss Florence Campbell, of this city.

The platform of the convention, according to W. D. Lynch, in charge of the committee to standardize dances, is to discourage unpolished jazz dancing and toward that end, he said, the delegates have agreed to oppose the use of sensational music.

"The cow bell, the cymbal and the uncontrollable trombone must go in the dance accompaniment of the future," he declared. "It is our purpose to help them to be replaced by the castnet and a predominance of stringed instruments."

Mr. Lynch added that suggestive dancing, as well as suggestive music, would pass from the American dancing stage.

Using wireless amplifiers and a loud speaker to magnify the sound of heart beats is surgery's latest development.

Poverty Ends A Royal Romance Of Long Standing

Former Belgian Princess Leaves Austrian Nobleman for Home in Hungary.

London, July 12.—(A. P. by Mail)—The post-war poverty of many once powerful nobles has brought before the public the sad ending of a royal love affair.

The story is the romance of Princess Louise of Belgium, daughter of Leopold II, who married Prince Philip of Coburg, and about 80 years ago left her husband and her two children to elope with Captain Geza von Matsich, a Hungarian nobleman.

The princess was divorced by her husband, and Captain von Matsich lost his commission in the Austro-Hungarian army. Following the war money became scarce, and the lovers were compelled to move from their palatial residence in Vienna to a small village.

The princess disputed the will of her father, who left everything to his morganatic wife, the Baroness Vaughan, but she lost the suit. Then she appealed to her sister, the Princess Stephanie Louisa, former Crown Princess of Austria.

Princess Stephanie offered to allow Louise, who is now 64 years old, to spend the rest of her life at the beautiful castle of Oroszar, in Hungary, on condition that she leave von Matsich. The offer was accepted, and friends now have found another home for the penniless captain.

Beer Train Held Up; 11 Quickly Indicted

Police Round Up Suspects 3 Hours After Robbery on Staten Island.

New York, Aug. 8.—Eleven men were indicted for the hold-up of five motor trucks loaded with beer at Concord, S. I., recently, were indicted by the Richmond County Grand Jury less than twelve hours after the robbery.

They were charged not only with robbery in the first degree but with grand larceny in the third degree because of the theft of $173 from one of the truck drivers.

The majority of the men who were indicted gave Philadelphia addresses, and, according to the police, it was from the Quaker City that the train load of beer trucks was sent to Manhattan.

They will be arraigned before County Judge J. Harry Tiersan to plead after they have appeared before Magistrate Fetherston in New Brighton.

Two Children Drown Taking Cure at Beach

Convalescents' Home Patients, Bathing in Surf Victims of Sudden Comber.

New York, Aug. 8.—Two crippled children, nine years old, patients at the Convalescent Home for Hebrew Children in Rockaway Park, were drowned this week when a sudden wave swept over the score of little ones taking the water cure in the surf at the foot of 110th Street.

The dead are Pauline Higgins and Marian Levin. The former had been at the home four years and the latter three years. Swept in with them were three companions, but a pinnator revived them.

Twenty-two of the youngsters had left their crutches at the home and were taken by their nurses, Miss Anna Quinn, Miss Olga Eck and Miss Theodore Woodward, to the beach.

Miss Quinn swam after the Rouletta boy and brought him back safely and Miss Woodward rescued the Blyman and Stempert boys. S. R. Bonds, a school teacher serving voluntarily at the home during his vacation, and Joseph Sobota, a kitchen employee, were attracted by the outcries and brought in the Higgins and Levin girls.

Jim Jeffries' Will Use
To K. O. Kid Ignorance

JIM JEFFRIES IN PLATFORM POSES

BURBANK, CAL.—James J. Jeffries, ex-heavyweight champion of the world, who has lately gone in for evangelism, is now preparing to go on the lecture platform this fall with Prof. A. F. Fluttermeyer speaking on "The Unification of the White Race."

He takes the man with the punch to put ideas across nowadays," said the ex-champ. "Nice, ladylike gestures won't do it. I don't see why the right hook, the left hook, and the uppercut won't do to get my message across on the platform as well as in the ring."

Since his retirement Jeffries has been living quietly on his ranch near here.

AND MONCTON 2

FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 8.—Fredrickton ran up a score of 22 to 2 against Moncton here this evening. Fredrickton was the victor in the first round, but came out of their long slump with their batting clothes on and went on to a batting spree mixing seven triples with their sixteenth hits. All pitchers looked alike to them. Dickie started on the mound for Moncton and when he retired with two out in the second inning the count stood 10 to 0 in favor of Fredrickton.

Following his rise to glory at Troon, Arthur Havers has been proving himself worthy of his title, open golf champion of Great Britain. Since he took the crown of Walter Hagen's brooch has won several minor tournaments, broken some course records, picked up a pile of pounds and acquired a reputation of being one of the hardest, longest hitters the game has produced.

Playing at St. Albans July 10, Havers won a £250 tournament, scoring 67 on his second round for a new record over the Verulam course. He did it largely with his driver, his tee shot averaging 300 yards and more down the fairways on nearly all the longer holes. He played so smoothly that he cup measuring 88½. Havers' drive stopped just thirty paces from the pin. He was out in 42 and started a pace to the hole.

The eleventh is 465 yards, yet the champion took a light mashie-niblick pitch onto the green. He kept up this pace to the hole beyond the green at the 500-yard mark, where he topped his tee shot, dangled his brassie, and needed six to couple the hole. He is 81 years old when Havers was born, got a 69 last night over the same course. But nobody paid much attention. Golf may be the old man's game, but his honors go to the young.

Big Game Tonight
For Belyea Fund

The arrangements are completed and the Royals, the local colored aggregation will meet the boys from St. John Baptist, on St. Peter's Ball Park this evening for the Hilton Belyea Benefit Fund. Either Fred Diggs or Earl Nelson, will do the twirling for the Royals. Dalton will hurl for the Saints, with Howard at the receiving end. Bob Atcheson will be umpire in chief. The admission fee will be 25 cents, with ten cents extra for the grand stand. This should draw a record crowd.

PLANE CIRCLES 200-MILE
COURSE IN 62 MINUTES

Croydon, England, Aug. 9.—J. L. Carter, piloting a Napier Lion, won the aerial derby over a course of 200 miles around London. H. H. Perry, in a DH-9, was second, and G. R. King, in a Sopwith Gnu, was third. Thirteen started. Carter's time was 62 minutes, 28 seconds, an average speed of 192½ miles an hour.

ST. ROSES VICTORS
OVER TROJANS

Good hitting by St. Roses, when hits counted and misjudgment in the field by the Trojans gave the former a 5 to 4 victory in the South End grounds last night. Kerr pitched action the best for the Trojans. The win last night put the Fairville boys far in the lead for first honors and practically eliminates the Trojans from the running. The box score and summary follows:—

Aerial Rams To Destroy Enemy Planes

Heavily Armoured Leviathan Airships Being Constructed By Britain.

London, July 16.—(By Mail.) Heavily armoured, steel-plated battering rams, for use in the leviathan airships now being designed, are being constructed secretly by British aircraft experts, says a Daily Chronicle's aeronautical correspondent. These new types of the air will be launched at an immense height from the mother-airships and will rush down, guided by a solitary man sitting protected within their hulls, ready to strike hostile airships or bombing planes.

Without guns or any weapon save its pell-mell descent. The pilot will be able, after starting a powerful interior engine, to bring into action previously shielded air-screws and by aid of these he will steal upward, regaining his mother airship and then prepare for another devastating dive.

ONE OF LARGEST FUNERALS SEEN HERE IN YEARS

Notable Tribute is Paid to the Worth of Daniel Connolly.

The depth to which the feelings of the community were stirred by the death of Daniel Connolly, manager of the St. Peter's baseball team, and the universal respect for him and sympathy for his family in their bereavement were shown in marked manner this morning, when his funeral was held at half-past eight from his late residence, 68 Mill street. So great was the number in attendance that the head of the funeral procession was well up Waterloo street before the last of the marching friends had left Mill street. It was the longest cortege seen here in years. Proceeding was a baroque laden with floral tributes and following the relatives immediately behind the hearse were the members of St. Peter's baseball team and others of the ball players. Then came the general citizenship. Many people stood on the sidewalk as the funeral procession passed.

At the Cathedral there was a very large congregation. Rev. Roy McDonald was celebrant of requiem high mass, with Rev. Raymond McCarthy deacon, Rev. E. Ryan, emphatic-deacon, and Rev. W. M. Duke master of ceremonies. Fathers Ward and Brown of the Cathedral parish were in the sanctuary, as well as Fathers Hogan, McLaughlin and McGuire of St. Peter's Church. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc gave the final absolution. Interment was in the new Catholic cemetery.

Since Mr. Connolly's death there have been hundreds of caskets at the saddened home, bringing words of sympathy. Many telegrams have come with messages of consolation. A great many spiritual bouquets were placed upon the casket, while there were many floral tributes as well. These included a cross from the members of the St. Peter's baseball team, wreaths from the G. W. Y. A., Moncton and Fredericton clubs, the Two-El League, and wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gregory, R. Keltie Jones, Thomas Bell, P. W. Thomson, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. MacNeil, Miss Thorne, Miss Field, A. FredeForest and one from Young Lee, a Chinese whose place of business is nearby the Connolly home.

The funeral of Mrs. Susan Bell took place from her late residence, 99 Thorne Avenue this afternoon. Burial services were conducted by Rev. H. E. Thomas. Interment was in the Methodist burying ground.

The funeral of Annie M. Burchill took place this afternoon from her late residence, Black Beach, to St. Rose's Church, Fairville, where burial services were conducted by Rev. Canon Oram. Interment was in Holy Cross cemetery.

There were a large number of spiritual and floral offerings. Six brothers acted as pall bearers. The funeral was attended by many friends.

FINE CAR IN DITCH; DRINKING REPORT

A Late at Night Incident on the Marsh Road.

Two citizens who had business out of town after midnight last night were going along the Marsh Road beyond Coldbrook when they saw a car that was coming toward the city take the ditch and turn over on its side. It was a very handsome car, and the three men in it were under the influence of liquor. The citizens went on to perform their errand, promising to pick up the three on their return. On their return a second car was there, containing one man, who obviously had also been drinking. This would be about two o'clock in the morning. The three men got in the other man's car and came to town, leaving their own car in the ditch.

One of the citizens who described this incident was very emphatic in saying that any man found at the wheel of a car under the influence of liquor should not be permitted to drive again.

A citizen of Torriburn told The Times the road there is not safe for the people who live along it, and who are taxed for roads. He and his wife walked to Renforth on a recent evening and it was a nerve-racking performance to keep out of the way of cars running at high speed.

Seeing their plight, Harold Wetmore and Edgar Pritchard, summer residents, launched a boat and went to their aid, bringing them safely to shore. The quick action of the young men in this emergency was much commended.

AS SHORE IN RESTIGOUCHE

Word Here of a Schooner Aground—Nothing More from Down Bay.

J. T. Knight and Co., received word this morning that the schooner Lauricity W. Hansen, which sailed from Campbellton on Tuesday with a cargo of deals for the United Kingdom, is fast aground somewhere in the Restigouche River. It is expected that all of her deckload, if not more of the cargo will have to be taken off before the vessel can be refloated.

Up until noon today Nagle and Wigmore, local agents, had received no communication in respect to the schooner Northern Star which went aground off Petit Manan, near Frenchman's Bay, Maine. Captain George Wozombie, his wife and four men in the crew were taken off by two men who put out from the light house on Zisania left to assist in an effort to float the schooner. The vessel was bound to St. John, N. B., her home port, with a cargo of pitch, rosin and tar.

PERCY TAYLOR PROMOTED

Many friends in and about St. John will regret to learn that Percy C. Taylor, local manager for the Canadian Universal Film Company, has been transferred from this city. It is expected that his transfer will take him to Toronto. Mr. Taylor could not be communicated with this morning, as he is in Halifax. He and the members of his family have been residing in Renforth and all took an active interest in the welfare of the place.

They have been active in the Renforth Outing Association and in the sports which the association fosters. Their home has been ever open for any festivity among the young people and their leaving will occasion much regret.

URGES EXTENSION OF CARMARTHEN TO PRINCE EDW.

Rev. O. P. Brown Speaks for Petitioners—No Decision Yet.

The extension of Carmarthen street to Prince Edward was again before the City Council this morning, when Rev. O. P. Brown, for residents who petitioned for this action, presented their views to the commissioners.

Mr. Brown said he had paced off the land there and, taking what was necessary for the extension of Carmarthen street there was left to the owners of the lot a strip from 27 to 30 feet in width, about 120 feet long, and this in his judgment was plenty of room for the proposed filling station. He said the proposition to round the corner would not meet the situation and would make it hard ever to extend the street and he urged that the city appropriate enough of the lot to extend Carmarthen street.

Commissioner Wigmore asked Mr. Brown's opinion about the proposal to establish a filling station in the triangular piece of land between the streets and Mr. Brown said there were two objections to that, the fountain was needed there and automobiles stopping for gas would obstruct the streets.

Commissioner Frink said that the council had a conference with Allan McAvity, the owner of the land, and he had shown a disposition to be fair with the city. So far as expropriation was concerned the city always seemed to get the worst of it and he felt they could do more by private bargaining. The council had practically agreed to the proposition to widen the corner there by Mr. McAvity allowing the use of part of his property as a street and had granted permission for the installation of a second gasoline tank on that understanding.

Mayor Fisher said that the case of a building at the corner of Union and Mill streets some time ago, the city solicitor had advised against expropriation and Mr. Brown said he was inclined to disagree with the council.

Commissioner Frink said he understood the amount paid for the property was around $10,000 and Commissioner Bullock said it was $12,000. Mr. Brown thought that this amount would be well spent if Carmarthen street was carried through to Prince Edward street.

The Mayor assured Mr. Brown the matter would be given careful consideration.
