HER ANSWER.

All day long she held my question
In her heart;
Shunned my eyes that craved her
Moved apart;
Touched my hand in good night
Roster grew;
Should I leave to-morrow?—early?
Then adieu!
Bent her head in farewell
Onward passed;
What a cold hand gripped my heartstrings,
Held them fast!
Still I waited, still I listened;
All my soul
Trembled in the eyes that watched her,
As she stole
Upstairs with measured footsteps.
But she turned
Where a lamp in brazen
Brightly burned
Showered me the glittering ripples
Of her hair,
Veiled her eyes in violet shadows—
Glimmered where
Curved her mouth in soft compliance,
As she bent
Towards me from the dusky
Railing she leant.
Ah, my love! * * * One white hand
To her hair,
Slowly lifts the rose that nestles
Softly there;
Breathes she in its heart my answer
Shyly sweet;
And Love's message mutely flutters
To my feet.

Alive in an Air-Tight Coffin.

The Express Messenger's Impressions
Confirmed on Investigation.

From the Omaha Herald.

The body of a man who went to California to register his name as a recently ghettied in a metallic coffin for his former home in the East. When the Central Pacific train got to Ogden Junction the corpse was consigned to the Union Pacific Express Company and placed under charge of Express Messenger Frank Burgess. While the train was in the western part of Nebraska, Burgess heard sounds from the coffin that led him to believe that the dead man had come to life. It was in the night, and he heard the sounds as he lay dozing and half asleep. Again the noise was heard, and the attention of the messenger was riveted to the coffin, and the horrible possibility that the dead might be alive thrust itself upon the messenger so forcibly that he called the attention of other employees to it, but after listening a moment they merely laughed at him. The convictions of the messenger, however, were so strong that he had heard means from the coffin, that he had the case opened when the train made its next halt. The weather was very cold and upon the inside of the glass plate of the coffin there had accumulated a thin film of frost, such as might have been deposited by the breath of a person confined in such narrow quarters. The face was also drawn up against the plate glass, and other disturbances indicated life. The messenger had no doubt that the man, though dead then, had been alive in the coffin, while the other employees explained the accumulation of frost on the glass as the natural exhalations of the dead body, and the other disturbances of the corpse as due to the movements in shipping.

A private despatch received from Chicago last night, says that when the body arrived at its destination and was opened, unmistakable proofs of the terrible truth were discovered. The hands were clenched, the lips bitten, and the mouth filled with bloody froth. The man had been alive, and it was his moaning that had been heard but not recognized.

THE MOST GIANTIC SCHEME of tunneling ever broached is the project of a Madrid pamphlet to tunnel the Straits of Gibraltar, which is not only even more practicable than the proposed submarine tunnel across the channel between England and France. The submarine portion of the Straits of Gibraltar tunnel would be little more than one-third of the distance across the Straits of Dover, but the maximum depth of the sea is 500 fathoms, and as it is proposed to leave 300 feet of rock between the sea bottom and the tunnel, the tunnel of approach on each side would have to be nearly six miles long in order to make the descent practicable. The cost is estimated at $20,000,000, and it is proposed to use it in connection with the Straits-of-Dover Tunnel to make an over land railway through India to India without any break of bulk. If such an enterprise should ever be consummated, and it is quite within the bounds of probability, it would be a stupendous manifestation of man's ability to overcome the material obstacles of nature.

How "Old Charley" was Passed in.

Detroit Free Press.
It is good to speak well of the dead, but it can't hurt old Charley Ripton's feelings to state that he was one of the toughest old drunkards in Detroit. He has been gathered in by death, and he will hear not or read not. His life was as curious as his death. He lived as an experiment. He only wanted to see if he could kill whiskey before it killed him, and when he had found himself defeated he owned up like a man and was ready to die.

Think of a man being more or less intoxicated every day in the week for forty-two years! That was Charley's experience as near as he could remember. Not a man who had ever known him ever saw him have as much money as a dollar at a time, and yet he managed to keep clothes on his back, food under his jacket and always found a bed. When men asked him what he lived for he would answer: "To take solid comfort."

Perhaps he had it. No one ever saw him angry; he never complained; he never worried, and it wasn't half the time he could tell the day of the week.

Well, after fighting whiskey for forty-two long years, Old Charley laid aside his battle axe the other day. Nobody knew that he was ill, no one had a suspicion that his time had come. He had been given a bed in an old rookery on Franklin street and in the night he called out that he wanted a doctor. One was sent for, and when he had looked Old Charley over he remarked:

"You are going to die!"
"That's what I thought," was the placid reply, and before daybreak the old man was a corpse.

When the news went out that Old Charley was no more, a lot of his whiskey-loving friends assembled to view the body and to see what was buried at the expense of the city.

"The object of the meeting," an old red-nosed toper explained as they all stood round the body, "is to exhibit our respect for the old man and pass him into the Potters field kind of half-way." If any gentleman would make any remark now is the time.

There was a painful silence as the old soakers looked at the body, and from it to each other, and finally a man with watery eyes began:

"Ah! Old Charley was one of the best of gentlemen. He hadn't a fault unless it was keeping too sober. I don't suppose he'd have touched a drop of whiskey if he'd owned a whole distillery. They say that cold water killed him, and I move that we sue the man who sold him the water."

"This speech brought tears to the eyes of a horse in the corner, and the chairman emptied the ashes out of his pipe, and remarked that in the midst of life he was in death.

Inebriety as a Disease.

Scientific American.
Ethically, there is but one view to take of inebriety; and that necessarily involves unsparring condemnation of the practice, and earnest endeavors on the part of society to reclaim those addicted to it. But Science, on the other hand, draws a broad distinction between drunkenness as a vice and drunkenness as a disease. The man who drinks for pleasure, it holds, may look for benefit in the counsels of society or in his own strength of will; but he who drinks because he cannot help it, being led by an irresistible impulse, is a sick man, and needs not a temperance pledge but a physician.

It is in this last aspect that we propose to consider the affection, as noted from a daily journal, that "intemperance is a growing vice, bearing constantly heavier upon the rising generation," and incidentally the subject of inebriety generally in this country.

Dr. George M. Beard, of this city not long since delivered, before the American Association for the Cure of Inebriates, an address on the "causes of the recent increase of inebriety in America," in which he embodies many of the conclusions of his medical researches, and his views on the disease superinduced by alcohol. Inebriety he holds to be a functional disease of the nervous system, and should be treated on the same principle as other diseases. It becomes chronic, therefore, with dyspepsia and neuralgia; like neuritis, it possesses power of heredity, and—the fact is a startling one—is hereditary. When hereditary, it is all the harder to combat; in conformity with the laws of inheritance, it may take the place of other disorders, or may, in turn, lead to them; and the disease is more or less of insanity. The periodicity of the desire for liquor, the feeling which impels the drunkard who has abstained for a certain period to enter upon a "prolonged spree," is too well known to need more than mere reference.

It is a curious and somewhat paradoxical circumstance that, while drunkenness as a vice—public opinion to the contrary notwithstanding—is actually decreasing, the disease of inebriety is on the increase.

"There never was a time," says Dr. Beard, "in the history of our race, when in proportion to the population there was so little intemperance and so little drinking among the higher classes as to-day." The nervous systems of Americans are now such as to make it difficult for fathers and sons; and there is no doubt but that the efforts of reformers and the general progress of culture has exercised a potent effect toward temperance. Cases of drunkenness were rare among the thousands who visited the Centennial. But on the other hand, the very nervous sensitiveness, which prevents our indulging in alcohol for pleasure, equally heightens the susceptibility to nervous diseases; and of these, inebriety not being considered it is well known the increase of late years has been enormous.

There is no specific for inebriety. It is a constitutional ailment, to be treated constitutionally. It is not necessarily due to alcoholism. Cholera and opium inebriety are already becoming dangerously common; and the disease is maintained between the less and narcotics to which resort may be had. The only remedial course is to place the inebriate where alcohol or the provoking cause of his ailment cannot be had; for the sight of it, or the smell of it, will excite all the morbid propensities of the system, and sedatives, tonics, and nutritious food to build up the system may be added. To persons having any tendency to inebriety, the only safe course is absolute abstinence during early life.

As regards the human race, the disease finds its remedy in itself; for degeneracy in any direction cannot go on indefinitely, and after any qualities, good or bad, attain a certain stage of growth, they cease to produce themselves. The excessively feeble and nervous stocks must perish, and the fight for existence be maintained between the less feeble and less nervous; and thus, by a process of successive eliminations, a race may be developed that shall be every way adapted to the complex condition of a high civilization.

THE SEA SERPENT must hide his diminished head in presence of the marine monster lately seen off Portland, England. A correspondent of the Dorset County Chronicle states that while on the lookout at Portland he saw a creature which appeared a long, thin, diamond-shaped, with short and stumpy jury masts, about one mile south southwest off. It looked like a vessel broken-backed, as the stem and stern were well out of the water, and something like smoke or steam was rising amidships. To his great surprise, on looking through a good telescope, he discovered that it was "a monster fish, with lead and tail rising high above the swell of the sea, and the back nearly down to the level of the sea, and what at first appeared to be smoke or steam was large jets of water thrown up like a big whale blowing. The stumpy masts were immense long fins. All at once, with a tremendous bound, at least thirty or forty feet high, and down again almost like lightning, the huge and terrible monster disappeared.

Ventilation.

To ventilate a room what we need to do is to pull out the vitiated air already in the room; and the fresh supply will take care of itself if means for its admission are provided. It has been usual to withdraw the air through the openings near the ceiling—that is, to carry off the warmer—and, therefore, lighter portions, leaving the colder strata at the bottom of the room, with their gradual accumulation of cooled carbonic acid undisturbed. Much the better plan would be to draw this lower air out from a point near the floor, allowing the upper and warmer portions to descend and take its place. An open grate with a large chimney-throat, is the best ventilator for any room; the one half or two-thirds of the heat carried up by the chimney is the price paid for immunity from disease. For more than three hours every day this draft on the wood pile or coal bin, it is trifling when compared with the doctors' bills, and with the loss of strength and efficiency that almost invariably result from living in unventilated apartments.

SOME TWO YEARS ago, Mr. Samuel Smiles, the English author, and a distinguished Scottish artist, while on a holiday tour upon the shores of the Moray Firth, found in the town of Banff a rheumatic old shoemaker named Thomas Edward, who had worked harder in his time to advance natural science than many a comfortable professor. They found him rather compassionately tolerated by his neighbors, and he was a harmless "daff" eccentric. For more than three hours every day he had toiled, sacrificing health, strength and worldly prospects for the sake of carrying out one fixed idea—to discover and record all that could be ascertained of the natural history of the district in which he dwelt. Although he had had all his life to fight for knowledge with the one hand, while by aid of cobbling he struggled for his pound a week with the other, Thomas Edward has yet been for many years a most notable name in the history of Scotland. His name appears as a "reference" or an "authority" on page after page of such classical treatises as Westwood and Bates' "Sea-shell-eyed Crustacea," Couch's "British Fishes," and Norman's "Echinoderms." He has had a number of scientific papers published in many years back upon subjects of his own special interest, full of learning, but drawn fresh from the pure well of nature, and characterized by the keen insight of a born naturalist. The Scottish gentlemen are now endeavoring to raise a testimonial which shall place him beyond the reach of want for the rest of his days, and Queen Victoria has just conferred on him a pension of £50 a year.

One of the most interesting persons received by Lord Lytton at the imperial proclamation Durbar was the Khan of Khatel. The Khan who is a wholly independent prince, and who is a member of the British Empire. His country has in time past given the Empress's Government a great deal of trouble, and has but lately been reduced to order by the exertions of a British officer, and brought into alliance with England. His people are wholly ignorant of the usages of civilized life, and he is an officer in charge had for some time much trouble in preventing them from appropriating knives and forks after meals. They showed, too, a readiness in drawing swords when any attempt was made to enforce camp regulations, which had to be promptly suppressed; but they soon fell into orderly ways, and wild as they looked, seemed not a whit abashed at the splendors of the Viceregal Durbar. The Khan was quite at his ease, and answered the Viceroyn's questions without hesitation. He had seen, he said, in British India three things which greatly surprised him, namely, steamboats, railways, and telegraphs. His Excellency handed to the Khan a commemorative gold medal as a personal gift from the Empress. The Khan presented a jeweled sword round his visitor's waist, he said he trusted it might never be drawn save against the common enemies of England and Khatel. The interview then closed; and when the Khan got to the door he found awaiting him another gift in the shape of a magnificent elephant, which greatly pleased him.

Dr. LOUIS of New Orleans, who is something of a wag, colled on a colored baptist minister, and proposed a few puzzling questions. "Why is it," said he, "that you are not able to do the miracles that the apostles did? They were protected against all poisons and all kinds of perils. How is it that you are not protected in the same way?" The colored brother responded, promptly, "Don't know about that, doctor; I s'pect I is. I've t'ken a mighty sight of strong medicine from you, doctor, and I is all right."

The minor Judges in Florida have no scruples about sitting in cases where they are interested. One of them was arrested a few days since for drunkenness upon the public highway and locked up in jail. As soon as he became sober he had a writ of habeas corpus issued returnable to himself for the production of his own body. It is needless to say he was discharged.

THE Mongolians have a prophecy that as some future time all the followers of the Buddhist religion will emigrate from Thibet to Shanghai, which is supposed to be an Island in the Northern Sea. A traveler thinks it is England.

The great question of the present is, whether it is best to carry two pounds of dried apples or a bar of ten-cent soap to the annual donation at the Minister's house.

GREAT Britain pays her ambassador to France £10,000 per annum and five per cent. interest on her debt, elegantly furnished, free of rent; her ambassador to Turkey £8,000 yearly and a free house; her representative at the German court £7,000 and a residence, and her Minister at Washington £5,000 and free house rent.

The San Antonio (Texas Herald) blandly remarks that it is unreasonable to expect that gentlemen of refinement, culture and intellect from the North will settle for health in that State if there is no ice to take with their drinks. An ice company will be immediately formed.

THE Mongolians have a prophecy that as some future time all the followers of the Buddhist religion will emigrate from Thibet to Shanghai, which is supposed to be an Island in the Northern Sea. A traveler thinks it is England.

The great question of the present is, whether it is best to carry two pounds of dried apples or a bar of ten-cent soap to the annual donation at the Minister's house.

CAPE TORMENTINE RAILWAY.

Hon. J. C. Poir, M. P., by far the ablest public man on P. E. Island, was given a banquet at Charlottetown on 29th ult., previous to his departure for Ottawa.

The construction of a branch line of railway to Cape Tormentine, some point of the Trunk Line is matter for the Dominion Government and the expense of its construction should be borne by them.

The whole governmental machinery has been oiled and kept working on the same grand scale as previous to Confederation. Not only has there been a useful lack of statesmanship in foreseeing the daily approaching pecuniary difficulties in which we are plunging, but there has not been the commonest attempt to curtail the legislative and executive expenditures.

The financial difficulties of the Government are the greatest ones that they will have to grapple, and probably they will be prepared with some general scheme of retrenchment. What that will be we cannot surmise.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT meets this afternoon. The indications are that the Session will be hot and lively. The opposition has been steadily gaining strength and will no doubt feel disposed to try conclusions with Mr. Mackenzie.

THE PROVINCIAL FARMERS' LEAGUE had a pleasant meeting at Hampton on Tuesday last. Queens, Sunbury, York, Westmorland and Kings were represented.

BETTER TERMS.—A deputation consisting of Hon. Messrs. Young and Fraser, from the New Brunswick Government, were at Ottawa last week and had an interview with the Minister relative to a continuation of the "better terms" to this Province.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—Grotshakoff, in a circular, considers that Europe, by its united diplomatic action, has proved itself deeply interested in the maintenance of peace in the East, and recognizes its duty as well as its right to co-operate for that end on behalf of general interests.

NEW SENATORS.—R. P. Grant, of Pictou, and L. G. Power, of Halifax. The latter's appointment creates a good deal of disgust in ministerial quarters. He is a son of P. Power, M. P. for Halifax, and was second Clerk of the Nova Scotia Assembly.

The Legal Government of this Province is not to be evaded.

It meets the peoples representatives with an accumulation of financial difficulties, increased year after year, till now the Road and Bridge Services will have to be starved or supported by direct taxation.

Our Boston Correspondence.

Moody and Sankey.—Business, &c.

Boston, Jan. 29, 1877. To write a newsletter acceptable to the readers of your paper is just now a formidable undertaking. Politics and the weather are of course always available, but they get monotonous if one hears nothing else.

When the school boundaries were set under the new law, No. 14 included Mr. R. A. Chapman's ship yard, and the rich farming district of Taylor-Village. No. 15 was also a large district, but nearly all were French, who repudiated the school law, and would have no schools.

Mr. Dobson then resolved to get up a school in No. 15, and let all the money he had paid go; but—will you believe it—there was a school in No. 14, and he found that the boundary line had been changed, departing from the base line and running round his Quarries, and including them in No. 14.

Notes from Moncton. MONCTON, Feb. 6, 1877. On Sunday last a man by the name of Preston, an old resident of Moncton and an Englishman by birth, was accidentally poisoned by an overdose of laudanum.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—The Sultan issued a decree yesterday, appointing Edith Pacha, Grand Vizier, and making other changes in the Ministry. He then sent an Aide-de-Camp to notify Edith Pacha of his dismissal and requested him to repair to the Palace.

MISSISSAUGA, Feb. 6.—The following Yarmouth vessels are missing, viz: the new brigantine "Clarence," Capt. John Butler; the schr. "The Gardiner," Capt. Bay-Crow; Crosby; the schr. "Helen," Capt. Thomas Vickery. The new brig. "O. Tenniall," of Port New-Bay, left Bonne Bay, Nfld., on the 14th December last, and it is feared that she is lost with all on board.

THE "Northern Light" left Georgetown on Tuesday morning, arrived at Pictou at 5 p. m., and remained till Wednesday morning; returned to Georgetown making the return trip in two hours and fifty minutes. No ice to contend with. She again left Georgetown this (Thursday) morning and expects to get back to Georgetown to-day.

The Bourdon District.

To the Editor of CHIGNECTO POST.

Sir:—The two School Districts No. 14 and 15 (14, containing the Caledonia Quarries and 15, Bourdon Quarries) are situated, as at first were separated by the base line that divides the farms on the two rivers. The Quarries lie near the base line, one on each side.

SCIENCE AND THE IMAGINATION.

On Monday evening a large and appreciative audience gathered in Lingley Hall to hear Prof. Burwash's lecture, entitled "The Modern Science: A Field for the Imagination."

The interesting character of the subject, and the reputation of the lecturer, had led all to expect a most excellent literary treat, and none who attended were disappointed. The lecturer made a few profuse remarks in respect to what the audience might expect. His intention was not to discuss the antagonism of Religion and Science, or the conflict between religionists and scientists, or what Dr. Dawson styles the conflict between the religious and the scientific imagination; he would view his subject from the standpoint of one who believes firmly in the Bible and the Christian religion.

Having defined imagination, he alluded to the popular error by which the imagination is being regarded in the present day. It is charged with only presenting things which are intangible, fictitious and unreal; but the imagination builds with real materials and only puts them in new relations. Nobody, however, he might exercise his creative faculty to read the history of the world. The imagination paints the ideal which man strives to attain. The individual who possesses a strong imagination lives many lives. Milton did not live in blindness, in poverty and in obliquity; he saw the beautiful forms, and the scenes of his poetry, and his own life was but a shadow of the life he saw in his imagination.

Painting and poetry, pre-suppose brilliant imaginations, and are but poor transcripts of the life of the greater, the better part of thought is unwritten. Men who train their imaginations by poetry alone, have these but very imperfectly developed. Receiving at second hand, they are ever misrepresenting nature by mixed figures. One would imagine to read the history of our country that Homer and Virgil had come back and brought with them all their fabulous beings. Man has erred from nature, and of all beings is least like what God made him. In studying nature, there is no moral contentment.

We should use our sense in educating our imagination. Careful observation will choose a thousand beauties where we saw none. The botanist or the geologist has always a sphere for the pleasurable exercise of his faculties. Improved instruments have revealed wonders to mankind and given greater scope for the imagination. The microscope shows the beauties of crystallization and reveals beauty everywhere. The spectroscope, by analyzing the planets, reveals the composition of the sun, as it reveals the similarity of their construction. The telescope lets us into the mysteries of the heavens. The telephone awakens our thought. We see in the future the orator addressing a nation, as if he were speaking to the brilliant preacher speaking to the whole nation at once, and the parliamentary debater sounding his words throughout our Dominion. Geology opens to us the sublime working of the Divine purposes in preparing the world for man. What a story can be read in the rocky leaves of the South Joggins—in its hundred forests and hundred ocean beds.

The lecturer referred in eloquent language to the conservation and correlation of forces and the relation of the universe to the mortality of the soul. The waste forces of the universe may be storing away in unknown receptacles. To the death of the universe, to the immortality of the soul, science says yes; and science agrees with the prophecy of a new heaven and a new earth, wherein shall dwell righteous men. The Professor closed his lecture with a beautiful peroration which was followed by a most enthusiastic outburst of applause. Prof. Sterne's voluntary on the organ added to the attraction of the occasion.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Times editorial says: "Prince Gortchakoff's circular will not, we fear, tend to lessen the distrust with which Russia is viewed in England. It will be regarded as an invitation to begin a war from which, if Turkey had no allies, Russia would certainly profit. The English Government will certainly reply, with the approval of Parliament, that England will hold herself free to guard her own interests and the general interests of peace. England will await events. If Russia is more precipitate she must act on her own responsibility."

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 6.—The Sultan issued a decree yesterday, appointing Edith Pacha, Grand Vizier, and making other changes in the Ministry. He then sent an Aide-de-Camp to notify Edith Pacha of his dismissal and requested him to repair to the Palace. From thence he was immediately conveyed aboard the Imperial yacht, which sailed for the Mediterranean with orders to land him beyond Turkish territory.

MISSISSAUGA, Feb. 6.—The following Yarmouth vessels are missing, viz: the new brigantine "Clarence," Capt. John Butler; the schr. "The Gardiner," Capt. Bay-Crow; Crosby; the schr. "Helen," Capt. Thomas Vickery. The new brig. "O. Tenniall," of Port New-Bay, left Bonne Bay, Nfld., on the 14th December last, and it is feared that she is lost with all on board.

THE Journal of Agriculture, in an article on the maturing of plans for the season's operations on the farm, says: "The only hope we see for Nova Scotia ever acquiring its true position as one of the leading Cattle Grazing and Dairy Provinces of the Dominion, is through the determined extension of potato culture. No one, in or out of the province, has more faith than we have in turnips, carrots, parsnips, nangelis, or any other roots, but potatoes are so peculiarly suited to the circumstances of the province, of such easy cultivation in even comparatively unimproved and rough soils, so easily stored and so useful in so many ways, that we look upon the potato as the true Bread-fruit tree of the country."

A grave robber has just been tried in St. Louis. The legal accusation was grand larceny, and that is the crime of which the accused was convicted. A collar being the article mentioned in the indictment as stolen. The body had no value in law, and in Missouri the statute against "body snatching" inflicts only a significant penalty. The defence was that a coffin after being put in jail for an abandoned body, had an owner, and therefore cannot be stolen, but this point was overruled.

A VERY painful social scandal has come to light. A young married lady, wife of a well known merchant, became enamored of his book-keeper, whom she met in society, and they became so familiar as to arouse the suspicions of the husband, who subsequently detected the book-keeper entering his house during his supposed absence from the city. A terrible denunciation was the result, and the injured husband is taking him to jail for attempting to defraud his creditors.

The terrible accident at which the winter fishing is prosecuted will be seen from the following sad facts, given by the Cape Ann Advertiser: "The loss of life and property in the fishing business from Gloucester since 1830, a period covering 46 years, reaches the large number of 1882 men, and 342 vessels, valued with outfit, at $1,595,600, on which there was an insurance mostly in the local offices, of $1,136,352. We can find no record of losses for the years 1831, 1835 and 1848. The statistics are started at 1830, that being the year at which the Gorges fishery was first established.

CONSUMPTION.

Extract from a letter from C. H. S. Cronkrite, Esq. - CANTERBURY STATION. York Co., N. B., Oct. 10, 1876. Dear Sir:-In reply to your letter of enquiry, I would say that your "Phosphoric Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime" is the best preparation of the kind I have ever seen or all as prepared by my physician to take it, and commenced about the last of August, and since that time I have felt like a different man, and also look differently, and all for the better, as the doctor can testify. I was unable, in the summer, to walk any distance without much fatigue, and I now take my gun and travel all day, and feel first-rate at night, and eat as much as any lumberman. Have not shed any more of my winter preparation, and can now inflate my lungs without feeling any soreness, and I think I can inflate them up to full measurement, as before I was sick. I have also gained in flesh; my weight in the summer was 175 lbs., and now it is nearly 190 lbs., which pretty well up to my former weight. The foregoing is a correct statement of my case, and I am glad to have hereby authorized you to give it publicity in my dear, dear Sir, yours truly, (Signed) C. H. S. CRONKRITE.

We the undersigned, hereby consent to have our names published as witnesses to the effects of "Robinson's Phosphoric Emulsion" on the person of Mr. Cronkrite, Esq., as stated in the foregoing in correct in every particular. (Signed) ALEXANDER BERNETT, J. P. Rev. THOMAS MARTIN.

Robinson's Phosphoric Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto-Phosphate of Lime, is for sale in Sackville by A. Dixon, Druggist. Price $1.00 per Bottle; six bottles for $5.00. Sent by J. H. ROBINSON, St. John, N. B.

The work will be sent by the publishers to any address, postage prepaid, upon the receipt of the price, which is as follows: - Cloth, full bound Edition, per copy, $1; flexible cloth bound, 75 cts.; paper covers, 50 cts.

THE GREAT SHOENOSER REMEDY AND PILLS.-The success that these medicines have met with since their introduction to the public some years ago, proves plainly to the most skeptical that they are medicines that perform what they are advertised to. The virtues of these medicines have been well tested, and have withstood their trial in a most satisfactory manner. For diseases of the Blood, Liver, Lungs, &c., they are unsurpassed. We have testimonials of miraculous cures of these diseases of many others. If any one is afflicted, let him try a bottle of the Remedy or a box of Pills. No injurious effects will result from their use to the most delicate person, as they are purely vegetable; there being no mineral matter in them. The cost is small, while the advantages derived from their use will doubly repay you for your expense and trouble. The medicines are widely known throughout the Dominion and are for sale by the principal medicine dealers. Try them, and be convinced that these medicines are no humbug. No one who has tried the Shoener Pills has ever pronounced an unfavorable opinion of them, no family where they have been used will be without them. Full information may be had on all particulars touching their use, and the experience of those who have used them, by securing the Treatise or the Circular from any druggist in the Dominion free of charge. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles $1; Pills 25 cents a box.

Electricity.-Thomas' Expectorator Electric Oil.-Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold.-Pain cannot stay where it is used! It does cures common sore throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured a stiff standing cough, and positively cures catarrh, asthma, and croup. Fifty cents' worth has cured crick in the back, and the same quantity has cured eight years' standing rheumatism, swollen neck, tumors, rheumatism, neuralgia, contraction of the muscles, stiff joints, spinal difficulties, and pain and soreness in any part, no matter where it may be, nor from what cause it may arise, -Wheeler does you good. Twenty-five cents' worth has cured bad cases of chronic and bloody dysentery. One or two spoonfuls cure colic in 15 minutes. It will cure any case of piles that it is possible to cure. Six or eight applications is warranted to cure any case of excoriated nipples or inflamed breasts. For bruises, if applied, oiled and bound up, there is never the slightest discoloration to the skin. It stops the pain of a burn as soon as applied. Cures frost-bite, boils, warts, and corns, and wounds of every description on man or beast.

IRON is pre-eminently tonic and pecuniarily well fitted to improve the quality of the blood when impoverished from any cause. The disease, if the treatment of Quinine, is not useful, are ANEMIA, or Deficiency of the Blood, Chlorosis, Hysteria, indicated by Palpitation of the Heart, Dizziness, Anxiety, and Difficult Breathing. QUININE produces upon the system the same beneficial effects as FERRUGINOUS TONIC, without being so apt to nauseate and oppress the stomach, and is most beneficial in all Morbid Conditions of the system, and in low and typhoid forms of disease. Hence its use in Scarcities, Measles and Small Pox, in Carbuncle and Gangrenous Erysipelas, and in all cases in which the system is exhausted under painful discharges, and the tendencies towards recovery.

Washington's Quinine Wine and Iron is a perfect combination of Iron and Quinine, with the Finest Sherry Wine, pleasantly flavored. Price 50c. per bottle; six for $2.50. Prepared only by HAMILTON BROS., Foster's Corner, St. John, N. B.

Not Quite So.-It is among the most savage and debased tribes only that the condition and comfort of the horse have been neglected, but we believe there are many in civilized countries who are guilty of the very same neglect, and without any excuse of the former; here all may avail themselves of the use of an article which does more than anything else before to improve the condition and relieve the suffering of the horse. Those who will not use it will be the losers, their horses, the result. To avoid both, use "Darby's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy" and you will be satisfied with the result. Remember the name and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont. Agents for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

J. McKAY, Esq., proprietor of the Temperance Hotel, Annapolis, N. B., states that by the use of one bottle of WINDYER'S LINIMENT, he "put new legs" under a favorite horse that was badly sprung in the knees. 30 cents expended, 30 dollars would not cover the benefit derived. Mr. McKay finds the VANDYER'S LINIMENT as necessary as salt in his stables, it being a certain and speedy cure for sprains, cuts, hernias, galls, etc.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

For Scrofula, and all scrofulous diseases, Erythema, Bores, or St. Anthony's Fire, Eruptions and Eruptions of the skin, Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Blisters, Tumors, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhoea, arising from internal ulceration, and Uterine disease, Syphilitic and Mercurial diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, General Debility, and for Purifying the Blood.

This Sarsaparilla is a combination of vegetable alternatives - Stillinger, Mann, Yellow Dock - with the iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the most efficacious medicine yet known for the diseases it is indicated for.

Its ingredients are so skillfully combined, that the full alternative effect of each is secured, and while it is so mild as to be harmless even to children, it is still so effectual as to purge out of the system those impurities and corruptious which develop into loathsome disease.

The reputation it enjoys is derived from its cures, and the confidence which prominent physicians all over the country repose in it, prove their experience of its usefulness.

Certificates attesting its virtues have accumulated, and are constantly being received, and as many of these cases are publicly known, they furnish convincing evidence of the superiority of this Sarsaparilla over every other alternative medicine. So generally is its superiority to any other medicine known, that we need no more than to assure the public that the best qualities it has ever possessed are strictly maintained.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

The reputation it has attained, in consequence of the marvelous cures it has produced during the last half century, is a sufficient assurance to the public that it will continue to realize the happiest results that can be desired. In almost every section of our country there are persons, publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. All who have tried it acknowledge its superiority; and where its virtues are known, no one hesitates as to what medicine to employ to relieve the distress and suffering peculiar to pulmonary affections. CHERRY PECTORAL always affords the most reliable relief, and performs rapid cures of the milder varieties of bronchial disorder, as well as the more formidable diseases of the lungs.

As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of Childhood, it is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued and restored to health. This medicine gains friends at every trial, as the cures it constantly produces are too remarkable to be forgotten. No family should be without it, and those who have once used it never will.

Eminent Physicians throughout the country prescribe it, and Clergymen often recommend it from their knowledge of its effects.

WORTH KNOWING.

NO way can a person get back so large a profit for a very little money, as to expend it in learning the art of doing it, and how to do it—in other words, to have his brains help his hands. Here is one way to do it: The small saving or extra production of less than half a cent a day, or 3 cents a week, will now procure a large, beautiful, cheap Journal, for all or 1877, splendidly illustrated, with over 600 fine original Engravings, all over a Thousand Columns of the very best plain, tasteful, and out-door work and comfort of every home, in Country, Village and City. This information is not prepared by mere scribbles, but by a large force of intelligent working men and women, who know what they write about, and they are assisted by many others, who furnish information from their own practice and observation. Such a Journal is the American Agriculturist, so named because it started 35 years ago as a rural journal, but since greatly enlarged and improved to suit the daily wants of every man, woman, and child in City, Country, and Village—for the Farmer and Gardener, the Merchant and Mechanic, the Professional Man—indeed, all classes. It is packed full of useful information that every one ought to have. It contains hints and suggestions will repay more than a whole year's cost of the paper. Its original engraved plans for buildings and improvements, with details and cost, and common-sense directions, are worth far more than a majority of the costly treatises on architecture. Great care is exercised to have every line in the paper reliable. Its constant, persistent, and plain exposure of a multitude of humors and swindles, are alone worth more than its cost, and have saved to its readers and to the country thousands of dollars that would have gone into the hands of swindlers. The Departments for Housekeepers and Children are very useful and entertaining. In short, the American Agriculturist is full of good things, and ought to be in every home in the land. The circulation is so large that the Publishers can supply it at little above the cost of the printing paper—or $1.00 a year, sent post-paid; or four copies for $5.40. Take your order and send your subscription to the Editors, THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURIST, 246 Broadway, New York. You will find it pays, and pay well.

MANHOOD: How Lost, How Restored!

WE have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impotency to Marry, &c., resulting from excess. Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps. The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a simple mode of cure, at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically. This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Address—THE CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO., 51 ANN ST., New York. Post Office Box, 4686. feb1

"SWEET BY-AND-BY" is a strange death-song for a suicide. William R. Martin, a shipping clerk, went to his boarding house in Chicago Thursday afternoon, and after eating supper and chatting with his room-mate, he struck up "Sweet by-and-by." His room-mate joined in the hymn, and finally the chorus was reached. At the words "by-and-by" there was the sharp report of a pistol. Martin had suddenly drawn a revolver and shot himself. There was a love affair back of the revolver.

It is stated by a French-chemist that the flesh of animals killed in the latter part of the night will keep much longer than that slaughtered in the day time. This proves that the flesh is better fitted for keeping when the life and blood are taken from the animal, when the temperature is the lowest and respiration the least active. In 1855 the chemist that the flesh of animals highly kept or hard dried will scarcely keep at all.—Mittauke Sentinel.

PHILOSOPHICAL argument, especially that drawn from the vastness of the universe as compared with the apparent insignificance of this globe has often shaken my reason for the faith that is in me; but my heart has assured and reassured me that the gospel of Jesus Christ must be a divine revelation. The financial affairs of Russia are in anything but a satisfactory condition, not in such a state as to justify that Power in entering upon a great war. The revenue has increased rapidly since 1852, in which year it was £19,578,000, and in 1875, £77,121,695. The expenditure has greatly exceeded the income, however. In 1854 it was in excess £18,000,000, and two years later it had reached 75,000,000, the result of which is that the debt now amounts to £355,000,000. England is one of the principal creditors, to the amount of no less a sum than £101,687,409.

The State of Maine, which produces one-third of the ships in the United States, reports a marked decline in the business. In 1855 the total tonnage amounted to 515,364 tons, which was the highest ever reached. In 1874 the amount was 122,548 tons, and since then the two years have witnessed a great falling off. In 1875 the tonnage was only 75,000 tons, and during the year 1876 the decline has reached 73,573 tons. While some of the shipbuilding districts are making no preparations for work in 1877, it is believed that in the whole State the business will somewhat exceed that of the year past.

The second sight performance that was perhaps originated by Robert Houdin, and has since been elaborated by Anderson, Heller and other entertainers, is just now a subject of discussion. Two persons only are concerned in the trick—one who touches articles among the audience, and one who sits blindfolded on the stage and tells what the articles are. Houdin in his Memoirs, explains how the thing is done. The information as to the articles is conveyed by the performer who touches them to the performer on the stage by the words that he used in asking the questions.

To do this an extensive system of phonetic language is employed, involving long practice and quickness of understanding. The proof of this theory is found in the fact that the questions are put in different forms, being brief when relating to articles common to all, and more extended when relating to a considerable dialogue or a description of a strange article is required. Sometimes the performance is closed with the touching of articles in silence, but in such cases they are always sure to be found in any audience, and are touched in the order previously arranged.
