TURNED TO WHITE MARBLE.

Wonderful Feat in Embalming, Which May Revolutioning the Art.

[From the Arlanta Journal.]
A petrified human body—a body which has turned from flesh to white marble as hard and firm as the stone itself. This is the very strange and exceptional sight it the undertaking establishment of F. X.
Billey at No. 62 South Pryor street. It is a case which will be spoken of and treatises written upon in future works on embalming.

a case which will be spoken of and treatises written upon in future works on embalming.

The body is that of Edward Soundstrong formerly the chemist of the Atlanta Perfumery Company. Forty-five days ago Mr. Soundstrong died, and his remains were taken to Mr. Billiey's flice to be embalmed. The dead chemist's wife is in Sweden, his native home, and she requested that his body be embalmed, so that she could come across the ocean and look upon his face again.

The body was embalmed by Mr. Billey himself. Some days ago he noticed that the flesh was crystalizing. The fluids used in embalming are exceedingly poisonous, and, as Mr. Soundstrong had died from mercurial poison; Mr. Billey believed the action of one poison on the other was producing the strange result. Gradually the face of the dead man became whiter and whiter, harder and harder, natil now die is nothing but white stone, as white and firm as marble. Mr. Billey is an undertaker, and embalmer of long experience, but never in his life, he says, has he either heard or seen such an instance as this one.

The bereaved wife of the dead chemist has reached Atlanta, after, her long trip from Sweden, and has looked upon the stone face of her husband. Her grief was pinitul to see. Next week, the body will be taken back to Sweden, where it will rest under the sol of his mative land.

—Dr. Leonard, United States consul at this port, assured an Advertiser representative this afternoon that the recently published statement regarding Canada and the States, clipped from an Indiana paper, in many respects grossly misrepresented his views. The Doctor is a man of his word, as all who know him can affirm, and it is too bad that his conversation should have been construed in such a manner as to be at variance with the facts.

—Lost evening the city Knights of Labor held a most enjoyable meeting in United Labor Hall. The regular business was carried through and then a bounteous repast was spread before the members, who, one and all did ample justice to it. Speeches on social subjects were given, and after a most hearty vote of thanks to the committee of management it was determined to have a public social in two weeks, to which the members will bring their wives and friends, free. The meeting was the largest held for a long time, and it is intended to have live questions brought before the people hereafter in this attractive manner.

A suit of clothes, two overcoats, a valies, some tools and $23 in cash disappeared Monday night from Mr. Geo. L. Danforth's uphoistering shop, corner Dundas and Wellington streets. John Foster and George Atkinson, who were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detective Rider charged with the larceny, pleaded not guilty in the Police Court this morning. Mr. Danforth's evidence went to show that the two men, who were his employes, had slept in his house over the store on the night in question but had flown before the morning, taking the property above mentioned, the money having been stolen from, his pants pockets. Detective Rider testified to finding the tools and clothes in Foster's possession, but discovered nothing on Atkinson. The latter was given the benefit of the doubt and discharged. Foster denied having taken the money and said the overcoat and suit had been given him. Mr. Danforth admitted presenting him with the coat but had merely loaned him the suit. The Magistrate sentenced him to imprisonment for two months.
