WHOLE NO. 9771

VOL. XXXI., NO 64.

MONDAY EVENING, JANUARY 8, 1894.

Details of the Unfortunate Affair at Warina.

The British Loss Ten Killed and Eighteen Badly Wounded.

Fatal Effects of the Cold Weather in Europe.

Ample Provision for Strengthening the British Navy.

Lo Is Still at Large-Austre-Hungarian Iron Producers Propose a Three Years' Shutdown.

What About the Workmen? VIENNA, Jan. 7 .- The Austro-Hungarian iron producers have concluded an arrangement to limit production for three years.

The Iron Man and His Pipe. London, Jan. 8 .- The Berlin correspondent of the Daily News says: On New Year's Day Prince Bismarck smoked his pipe for the first time since his recent illness. This is considered an excellent sign. The Prince looks well and altogether his health is satisfactory, but the neuralgia in his face

Lo at Large.

CAPE Town, Jan. 7 .- A dispatch from Palapye says that a special runner from Tatti brings trustworthy news to the effect that King Lo Bengula has arrived on the banks of Zambesi River with 2,000 young and well-armed warriors. The court of inquiry, which has been investigating the failure of the Forbes expedition to capture King Lo Bengula has received testimony which shows that the column escaped disaster by the merest chance.

The Financial Pulse.

London, Jan. 7 .- The rates of discount last week were $1\frac{3}{4}$ for 90 days and $1\frac{1}{3}$ for 30 days. There was no foreign demand for gold. Silver was firm, owing to the scarcity of the metal for prompt delivery. The demand was almost exclusive for the east. On the Stock Exchange there was a good inquiry for investment securities; otherwise there was hardly any improvement. American railway securities were alternately depressed and buoyant.

Afghanistan All Right. LONDON, Jan. 7 .- Sir Mortimer Durand and Major Pyne, who has been the confidential adviser to the Ameer of Afghanistan for nine years have returned to London. The British officials say that the arrangements made with the ameer were highly satisfactory, and that they would be faithfully carried out by the ameer. Both of the officers mentioned say that Afghanistan is quiet and prosperous under the ameer's rule, and that the Afghans desire the friendship of Great Britain.

France Wants to Rule the Sea. London, Jan. 7 .- The Times prints an extract from the French Journal Officiel, showing that 41 battle ships and cruisers are being built for the French navy, while only eighteen vessels are being built for the English navy. The French programme, according to the Journal, involves an expenditure during the next decade of $15,-000,000 to $20,000,000 yearly, which, the Times says, is much in excess of the English programme. The Times gives warning that England must be on the alert or she will soon be overtaken by France.

Sicilian Rioters Shot. Rome, Jan. 7 .- Disquiet continues in Sicily. In St. Catarine, Province of Caltanisetta, a mob attacked ten soldiers and a company of police in the streets. The soldiers and police charged with fixed havonets and were repulsed. The soldiers eventually fired, killing ten rioters and wounding several others. Other riots were reported from Ragouse, Monte Carlo, Leonforte, Gibellini, Salemo and Naro. The Government has called out the third section, class of 1869. This section numbers 36,000 men. All will be sent to Sicily. Last accounts from Palermo say that the first reports from Marineo were exaggerated, as in fact but eight rioters were killed and twelve wounded. Europe's Arctic Wave.

London, Jan. 7 .- There was a slight rise in the temperature on Saturday, but the weather is still cold. The snowfall here caused an accumulation four inches deep in the suburbs, where traffic was almost stopped. Omnibuses and tram cars in London had great difficulty in making their trips. The Thames continues frozen over above Richmond. There is skating in all parts of the country.

A woman has been frozen to death in Herncastle. Numerous drowning accidents caused by the breaking of ice on the streams and ponds have been reported.

At Herncliffe, Oxford and Birmingham the mercury dropped to zero Friday night, and coal dealers put their prices 3 shillings per ton higher. Canal navigation closed. On the Isle of Wight yesterday a heavy snow storm prevailed. A railway train was imbedded in the snow for hours between Kirby, Stephen and Barnard Castle, county of Durham.

In the Newry district, Ireland, many sheep and cattle have been frozen to death. The southeastern part of the island is under a thick fog. The streets of London and its suburbs are deserted. Trains are delayed and navigation on the Thames and Medway has been suspended.

LONDON, Jan. 7 .- The Channel was badly befogged all day. The steamer Paris lost three blades of her screw yesterday and was towed from Calais so Dover. Many skaters broke through the rotten ice on the park ponds in London to-day. Nobody was drowned. Deaths from exposure continue te be reported from all parts of Great

Strengthening the British Navv. London, Jan. 7 .- The Daily News says: The Admiralty have made ample provisions to fully maintain the strength of the navy and keep the dockyards employed, includng four first-class warships similar to the jestic and the Magnificent, each costing a million and with 15,000 tons coal ar ships will be arranged to enable them to keep the sea longer than any It is estimated they will be completed in Four gunboats of the new type, to be known as the Linnet class, and similar to the Torch and the Alert, are building at

They will be of 960 tons, and will be called station gunboats. Their speed will be 19 knots, and each will cost £60,000. In addition to the 20 torpedo destroyers already projected, twelve others of the same type, with a guaranteed speed of 27 knots and an average cost of £32,000, have been arranged for.

Moritz's Mistake.

London, Jan. 7 .- Col. A. B. Ellis, of the West India Regiment, has telegraphed to Rt. Hon. Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, dated Warina, Dec. 23, as

"Before daybreak this morning our camp was suddenly attacked by a strong force of natives, several of whom were armed with rifles. For 40 minutes there was a hot fire. The enemies used trees for cover. The killed of the West India Regiment are Lieut. Liston, Second Lieut. Wroughton, Sergt. Carrother and four privates. The killed of the constabulary were Capt. Lendy and two privates. The severely wounded were Sergt. Field and fourteen privates of the regiment and three privates of the constabulary. The fire slackening we advanced and found seven magazine rifles and eight chassepots. Shortly after a wounded prisoner reported that we had been attacked by Lient. Moritz, of the French army, 32 Senegalese sharp shooters and 1,200 Kissi natives. The prisoner stated that Lieut. Moritz had left Faran with this force against the Sofas at the end of September and had arrived on Dec. 21 at Tenbikundu, 50 miles northeast of Warina. Lieut. Moritz, hearing that there was war in the Connah district, believed it was being carried on by the Sofas under Porokerri, a Sofa chief, who was trying to escape from the British troops and join the Sultan Samundu. Lieut. Moritz left on the morning of Dec. 21 and halted on Dec. 22 fifteen miles northeast of our camp. He moon and attacked us, believing us to be

"I wrote to Lieut. Moritz explaining the situation. A letter had been previously sent on Dec. 13 to the commanding French officer at Kissiain Sanhargi giving notice of the approach of the British troops.

"At 11 o'clock Lieut. Moritz was found severely wounded. Despite all medical attendance he died at noon. Before his death he said that natives had told him we were Sofas and that he had no idea that we were British. Lieut. Moritz and ten Senegalese, who had been killed in the fighting, were buried with military honors. "Capt. Lendy and two constables were shot by their own men. Another letter has been sent to the French commander at Kissi informing him of the occurrence and assuring him that the friendly relations existing will not be disturbed owing to Lieut. Moritz's mistake. Waring is within our own sphere." At a French Ministerial council yesterday a dispatch was read from the Governor of Senegal confirming the reports of an engagement between French and British forces near Warina. The Governor said the French commander thought the British were enemies. It is said that if the English version of the affair is true France will contest the making of ample reparation. It is not easily explained why the French force was in territory that is indisputably British. Negotiations concerning the frontiers be-tween the French and British possessions in that part of Africa are now pending. The British Government has ordered that stringent inquiry be made into the affair. PARIS, Jan. 7. - Commenting to-day upon the Warina affair, the Figaro says: "It is probable the English press will make a great fuss about the bungling incident. Judging from the explanations given by the colonial office in London it seems the British expedition was impru-

The Gaulois expresses the hope that the affair will not lead to complications, and that it will be settled by the exchange of notes by France and England.

The Journal des Debats says it declines to believe that the French were responsible for the Warina affair. It complains that the French were never officially notified of the departure of the British force into the La Liberte says it has reason to believe that the British were wholly to blame. The Temps expresses the opinion that the affair was undoubtedly the result of a misunderstanding. The Westminster Gazette (Liberal) says: 'Although the ways of certain French officers in West Africa are past finding out, we decline to believe that there was intent in this case. If a French officer acted in such critical fashion he surely will not get any support on the Quai d'Orsay.

The Globe (Conservative) says, in letter on the fight at Warina: "How did the French happen to follow the Sofas into the British hinterland? Doubtless our neighbors are as anxious as ourselves to sift the matter to the very bottom, and will make all possible reparation if mali cious intent be proved.'

London, Jan. 7 .- The Government received to-day a dispatch, which was delayed in transit, concerning the movements of Col. A. B. Ellis' column of West Indians prior to the attack of the French force at Warina. The column left Kommendi on Dec. 16, and marched northeast. Col. Ellis found that an area 31 miles wide had been devastated by Sofas. On the 17th he surprised a party of Sofas and put them to flight. Lieut. Gwynn of the engineer corps and one of the West Indians were wounded. The town of Sidu was captured on the 20th, Lieut, Margesson and three West Indians were wounded. The main body of Sofas was then at Karayemma, and Col. Ellis intended to advance on the camp in a few

Several newspapers print to-day an interview with Lieut. Mizon, the African explorer and traveler in the French service. He said that he was not surprised when he heard of the battle in Warina. The territories of France and England were not adequately defined in northwest Africa, and there was deep animosity between Senegalese sharpshooters and West Indian soldiers. The latter, Mizon said, were robbers and plunderers. Lient. Mizon could not believe that the fault lay with

MILAN, Jan 8.—The Secolo declares that the private fortune of King Humbert of Italy, amounting to 100,000,000 line (200) Italy amounting to 100,000,000 lire ($20. | be far adv

000,000) has been deposited with the London house of the Rothschilds. The greater part of this sum is said to have been saved out of the civil list at the rate of about 10,000,000 lire ($2,000,000) per year.

A Lively Campaign.

LONDON, Jan 7 .- The political campaign preparatory to the coming election at Horncastle, Lincolnshire, is proceeding with the greatest activity in spite of the arctic weather prevailing. The Liberal candidate, Mr. Torr, and the Conservative candidate, Lord Willoughby D'Eresby, attended over twenty meetings held yesterday in various places in spite of the fact that some of the roads were covered with snow to the depth of eight feet.

Nothing to Fear From Russia. LONDON, Jan. 8 .- Sir Mortimer Durand and Major Pyne, the latter of whom has been the confidential adviser to the Ameer of Afghanistan for nine years, returned to London to-night. Both say there is nothing to fear in Afghanistau from Russian in. trigues, as the Ameer desires the friendship of Great Britain which, in the opinion of both officers, would best be cemented by a visit of the Ameer or his sons to England. Major Pyne describes the journey of the Russian general, Vanroviky, across a portion of Afghan territory while Sir Mortimer Durand was en route to Cabool, as "mere bluff," with the view to thwarting the British mission and, finding that impossible, the Russians retired disgusted. Both of the officers say that Afghanistan is quiet and prosperous under the Ameer's rule, and that the question of succession is not ripe, as the Ameer's health has much improved since he has had no political eral months of three-quarter time the Disston saw works at Tacony started up to-day full handed on full time. The company employ from 1,500 to 2,000 hands.

The Champion Skater. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 8 .- At the Normannia Rink yesterday John S. Johnson lowered the two mile world's skating record, which was held by himself. 6:01 3-5. to 6:00 2-5. This was done without taking his hands down off his back.

A Mother's Crime.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 8 .- Mrs. John Shattuck yesterday, while temporarily crazed over her daughter Esterella's threatened departure for the east with the "Sinbad" theatrical company, shot the daughter's lover, Henry G. Pool, dead. because he refused to marry the girl, and thus keep her here.

A Brave Woman.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 8 .- Mrs. William Tarbox, of Natick, R. I., discovered a burglar entering her bedroom window the other morning. She coolly took a revolver from beneath her pillow and fired four shots. One of the shots removed the burglar's hat and also the lower portion of his ear. The burglar fled.

New York Saloons.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8 .- As a result of the crusade against the police the lines were drawn a little closer yesterday around the saloons of this city. An order went forth that all the places where liquor was obtainable must be closed for 24 hours from 12 o'clock Saturday night, but the only effect it had, apparently, was to close the front doors and cause the blinds to be lightly drawn. At the close of the day 142 excise arrests had been recorded.

His Blood is Up Over the Slaughter by the French.

The Cold Snap a Hardship to Destitute Millions.

"Down With the Lords" a Popular Cry With Workingmen.

Would Make a Good Election Cry-Manchester Means Business - Her Canal Wharves Crowded - France's Enormous War Expenses-Rough on the Big Wigs.

LONDON, Jan. 8 .- The English war alarmists at last have something tangible to talk about. The country is genuinely aroused to-day by the news of the killing of British officers and men by French troops in West Africa. The affair is regarded on all sides as of grave international import, but public comment is reserved in tone until more facts are learned. A half century ago such an incident would have been regarded as tantamount to a declaration of war. Now the only effect seriously dreaded is that the event may aggravate the existing popular hostility between the two countries.

This hostility, on the part of Great Britain, during the critical phases of the Siamese difficulty, and the outbursts of hatred of England in France, has been no deeper than the irresponsible criticism of people who are not to be taken seriously. To-day, however, John Bull's blood is up. Bellicose talk is the burden of all conversation. It will not suffice for France to say that the affair is an accident. According to the present view she must apologize, explain the presence of her troops in the British sphere of influence and pay a handsome indemnity.

Shivering England.

England and all Europe have been shivering and croaking the whole week. Old England uses the same language to describe her feelings when the glass falls a few degrees below freezing that New England employs when the same fall below zero is recorded. The country has been making an enormous fuss over an inch or two of snow and a minimum temperature of 14°. The cold snap has been a dreadful hardship to destitute millions, and the suffering in London alone has been incalculable. The price of coal is still 50 per cent. above the normal rate. The weather throughout the continent is more severe than in England, and many deaths from exposure are reported in the streets of the great cities.

The most striking exhibit of London's destitution ever made was the annual supper to waifs and strays on Thursday last, the coldest night for years. Two thousand small, hungry, half-clad boys and girls were fed. Many walked barefooted six miles on the icy pavements. Hundreds were turned away still hungry, there being only room and food enough for 2,000.

A Winter Fad.

London is talking about the adoption of an interesting winter fad, which has been popular for several seasons in Brussels and which New York might also copy. All the sculptors of the city were invited to spend two or three days creating snow statues and groups in one of the public parks, and then the public was invited to view the collection upon payment of a small fee for the benefit of the poor.

Denies He is a Swindler. Count Xavier de la Chapelle, of Nice, has begun his libel suit against Gen. Horace Browne, of the English army, and Browne's wife and his sister-in-law, Antoinette Raynaud, who is the divorced wife of the count. The defendants are accused of having stigmatized the count as an adventurer, a bankrupt, a swindler and a convict from New Caledonia. He claims £4,000 damages and the publication of the judgment in 40 newspapers. The British Vice-Consul, Mr. Palmero, who was called as a witness. refused to testify, and after a heated discussion the court upheld him. Various witnesses corroborated the charges, and the case was adjourned. The case excites the keenest interest, as the parties are well known in social circles.

Down With the Lords. Havelock Wilson, M. P., leader of the Seamen's Firemen's Union, says that he has been testing public sentiment on the question of the House of Lords at meetings which he addressed recently through the country. Contrary to the feeling in London, he de clares that no topic appeals so strongly to workingmen in the country as the obstruction of the aristocracy. Every time he advocated the dissolution of the House of Lords, the suggestion was received with wild enthusiasm. "Down with the Lords" would be the best election cry of the next campaign, in his opinion.

Manchester Means Business.

All Liverpool was smiling in the early part of last week over the shipping mishaps in the Manchester Canal, particularly the sticking fast of a big bark in one of the patent locks and the breaking of six feet of a steamer's mast in passing under a bridge. The merriment did not last to the end of the week, because it is now seen that the canal is a great reality, and that Manchester means business. Numerous vessels pass up and down daily. The warehouses are filling with goods. The wharves are thronged morning and night. The first sale of foreign fruit brought by the canal was a marked success and greatly encouraged exporters and importers. Steamers are being coaled rapidly and economically.

London Is Musical.

England, and especially London, is insisting more etrenuously than ever just now that it is musical. Sir Joseph Barnby, who is the most prominent authority on musical ance at the concerts.

matters in England, stirred up the wildest outbursts of enthusiasm the other day by declaring in a lecture on "Music in England," that the musical education obtained in the London schools is quite as good as any musical education it is possible to obtain abroad. How much longer was it to be considered necessary for an English student, after being graduated from our schools of music, to be sent abroad to complete his musical education? Could the English not finish the technical education of any pupil in this country? He agreed however, that travel might give increased experience.

Rough on the Bigwigs.

The discussion for ending or mending the Lords, although in the main very acrid and serious, has not been without its humorous phases. Sir Wilfrid Lawson, M.P., the British apostle of prohibition, answering to America's Neal Dow, made a very ructious speech at Carlisle a few days ago, in the course of which he declared that the present political situation was dominated by "a body of men who have no natural uperiority." He said: The Normans, from whom some of them said they were descended, were the biggest scoundrels the world ever saw; and a large number of the peers were simply men who had been created peers within the last few years-men who had killed a lot of people in some battle, electioneers who had bribed the electors, or men who had brewed a lot of beer or done something of that sort. This hereditary business reminded him of an epitaph in a country churchyard. It was as follows:

'Here lies beneath, in hope of Zion, The landlord of the Golden Lion, His son sells beer and porter still, Obedient to the heavenly will."

Crushing Military Burdens. There is a great appetite just now for echnical information of the European situation, and the highest military, naval, and financial authorities are freely quoted. The most important point agreed upon is that France has not only reached the high. est possible point of military development, but that she cannot much longer maintain t without sacrificing the financial superiorty which she now enjoys.

Jules Roche, the well-known deputy, raised an alarm in Paris this week by declaring that there has been an annual deficit of $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 in the revenue for several years, in spite of an apparent balance in the budget accounts. The expenses of the Government increased from $2,775,000,000 francs in 1873 to $3,357,000,-000 last year. Naval expenses increased from 204,000,000 francs in 1890 to 266,000,-000 in the current year. It will not be long in France to raise the cry that war he cheaner than neaca

France On Her Dignity. For the first time since 1870 a French Foreign Minister has ventured to oppose German exactions. The commissioners sent to Berlin to arrange the boundary dispute in Western Africa are instructed to hold to a certain line of delimitation and to admit no other. The Germans have been so accustomed to French concession in all matters of this sort that Berlin journals, with habitual arrogance, announced the ultimatum of the German Minister before the commission met. France was rebuked in the usual hectoring manner for presuming to dispute the pretentions of the German | THE TRIGGER. colonists. It was virtually a predetermined treaty which the commissioners were invited to ratify. Two Cabinet Ministers have gone before their constituencies within a week. The burden of their addresses was the rehabilitation of France, the absence of all future discord, the readiness of the Republic to meet aggression of the sort put upon her for the last twenty years, with every resource at hand that can justify confidence. The intent of all this is clearly to warn Germany that France has no more concessions to make in Africa, and to let England know that in Siam the republic proposes to consider French interests alone.

ALONZO WRIGHT DEAD.

"The King of the Gatineau"-A Prominent Canadian. OTTAWA, Jan. 8 .- Mr. Alonzo Wright, ex-M.P., died Sunday morning at his residence, Ironside, Hull, Que., of Inflamma-tion of the lungs, aged 69. "The King of the Gatineau," as he was called, was one of the best known and highly respected men in Canada. His grandfather founded the city of Hull, and became the first representative of the county of Ottawa in the Lower Canada Assembly. Deceased himself was elected for the same county in 1862, and represented it in Parliament in the Conservative interest for nearly 30 years, retiring at the last general election. His hospitality was proverbial, and the announcement of his death will come as a shock to many hundreds of friends and acquaintances.

Deed of Two Fiends. MORGANFIELD, Ky., Jan. 8 .- Mrs. May McKelvey, a cook at a farmer's house near here filled up on whisky on Thursday and went to sleep in an old blacksmith shop.

Some time afterwards two young men went into the shop and poured oil over the woman's clothing and applied a light. When she awoke her clothing was almost burned from her body. She ran to a cabin near by, where she fell a charred mass of flesh, dying shortly after. The two young men suspected have fled.

A Snobbish Choir.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 .- Members of Christ Episcopal Church, Bloomfield, N. J., unexpectedly discovered that William Mason, leading basso of their choir of fashionable singers, was "only a coachman." This has created a commotion. Pastor White has been trying by means of concerts and other entertainments to raise money to rebuild the church, which was destroyed by fire a year ago. They proved to be successful until Mr. Mason's identity was revealed. He had represented himself as a real estate

The choir is composed largely of the scions of blue-blooded families. They called on the pastor after a rehearsal, informed him they had discovered that the supposed real estate dealer was "a common coachman," employed by Henry V. Allen, and that either the coachman must be dismissed or the other singers would leave the choir. Of course the coachman had to go. This has created much comment, and promises to materially reduce the attend-

Chinese Have Been Digging for Gold Beneath Folsom, Cal.

Folsom, Cal., Jan. 8 .- As a horse and cart were passing along Leidesdorff street Sunday one wheel passed entirely out of sight, throwing the horse off its feet. Investigation developed the fact that the Chinese have been running mining shafts beneath the streets and the railroad, honeycombing that entire portion of the town and possibly extending under some of the busic ness streets. It has long been known that a large body of rich auriferous gravel lay beneath the property owned by the railroad company but they would not permit it to be mined. Considerable excitement exists, as it is impossible to say how extensive are the workings.

Accident to an Aeronaut.

SAN ANTONIA, Tex., Jan. 8 .- Miss Stella Robbins, the widely-known woman aeronaut, made a probably fatal descent here Sunday. She has been giving Sunday afternoon ascensions here for the past few weeks, and yesterday afternoon started on her usual voyage from San Pedro Park. The balloon arose to a height of about 2,000 feet, when Miss Robbins let herself drop with the parachute. The parachute opened, but the wind carried it downward with great rapidity, and it struck a large tree with its burden with terrific force, Miss Robbins' right leg was broken, and she received internal injuries which will probably result fatally.

Whitecap Outrages in Kentucky. HARRODSBURG, Ky., Jan. 8.—About 50 whitecaps went to the home of Josh Mitchell, at Leesburg, six miles from here, last night, and dragged him from his house. Mitchell broke away and started for his house, but his body was filled with buck-shot, and he fell dead on the doorsill. Leaving Mitchell's body, they next visited surprising if an attempt be made before the house of Brock Bottoms, dragged him out and gave him 50 lashes on his bare lacerating the flesh. Conflicting Statements Regarding Affairs in Honolulu. New York, Jan. 7.—A Washington special to the Evening Sun yesterday says: Secretary Gresham has received a dispatch from Honolulu, which was brought to San Francisco by the revenue cutter Corwin, which practically confirms the report which reached here Thursday night, via Auckland, that Minister Willis had demanded the resignation of the Provisional Government

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 7 .- Nothing has been given out to-day to throw any new light on the Hawaiian puzzle. More or less positive statements that the status quo in Honolulu has been broken by the action of Minister Willis and that news to that effect was conveyed to the State Department in the dispatches brought by the Corwin are met by equally positive statements that no advices to that effect emanating from any reliable source are at

The rumor from San Francisco that Minister Willis is on the Corwin is accepted here as an able effort of the imagination and nothing more.

HARRY KENNEDY'S DEATH.

He Wrote "Mollie and I and the Baby," and Many Pretty Songs.

New York, Jan. 8 .- William Henry Kennedy, better known as "Harry" Kennedy, the well-known ventriloquist and song-writer, who died at his home in Brooklyn, last week, of Bright's disease, was born in Manchester, England, 39 years ago. He taught school there, and afterwards followed the sea, finally becoming master of a merchant ship. In 1871 he removed to Montreal and began giving exhibitions of his vocal powers. He wrote several songs about the same time which failed to receive recognition. His first success was in 1880, when he wrote "Empty is the Cradle, Baby's Gone." "I Owe Ten Dollars to O'Grady." "A Flower From My Angel Mother's Grave," "I Had Fifteen Dollars in My Inside Pocket," "America's Emblem, the Violet," and "Little Blue Eyes at the Window" are among the best known of his earlier songs. 'Molly and I and the Baby" was written only a short time ago, and "When Reggy and I Are Wed" had not been published when the author died. Mr. Kennedy was twice married, and leaves five children, the oldest about 14 years of age. He was probably without a peer as a ventrilequist, and he derived a arge income from his performances and sale of his songs.

In Congress-The Wilson Bill.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan, 7 .- The programme in the House this week is quite simple and distinct. As soon as the Democrats present a voting quorum the pending order for consideration of the Wilson bill will be adopted, and that measures will be the business before the House until it shall have been disposed of by a vote.

Know Thyself.

How important this injunction to every young man? How many ruin their health and future happiness through pernicious practices contracted in ignorance and repented of when too late. Parents, guardians and humanitarians can do no better service to the rising generation than to place in their hands the information and warnings contained in a little book carefully prepared by an association of medical gentlemen who have had vast experience in dealing with the grave maladies here hinted at, and who feel that they owe it to humanity to warn the young of the land against certain destructive habits which are far more prevalent than any layman can possibly imagine, and which, if persisted in, gradually undermine the constitution and health and destroy the future happiness of the victim. Cut out this notice and inclose it with 10 cents in stamps (to pay postage) to World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y., and the book will be sent, secure from observation, in a plain sealed envelope. Having purchased the bankrupt stock of the Upper Canada Furniture Company at 50 cents on the dollar, we have some great snaps for the next few days. We have a great line of rockers; over 700 to select from. A solid oak writing desk, bookcase and bric-a-brac cabinet, $5. Come early and secure some bargains. Rev. Dr. Mackay Speaks of His Labors in Far-Away Fermesa.

Rev. Dr. Mackay, whose efforts on behalf of Presbyterian missionary enterprise in Formosa have made his name universally known throughout that denomination, spoke in three different places yesterday. His remarks on each occasion, though constituting to a great extent a continuous narrative of his work from its inception to the present time in the island mentioned, were, taken severally, very engrossing and informing to the large congregations which

Dr. Mackay's labors among the heathen cover a period of over twenty years. He is now on furlough, accompanied by his Chinese wife, and is making a complete visitation of the whole Presbyterian Church throughout Canada. He has also brought with him on this trip a native convert and pupil, who addressed each of the three audiences. The young man speaks in an agreeable voice and with considerable fluency. His manner of delivery was unexpectedly pleasing. MORNING-VICTORIA HALL.

Dr. Mackay addressed the congregation of the Park Avenue Presbyterian Church at Victoria Hall in the morning. His observations mainly related to early experiences, but he prefaced the narrative with a description of his field of endeavor. Mr. Mackay's work has been confined to the northern half of the island, which is the northern half of the island, which is 150 miles in length by about 70 miles in width, and is situated off the southeastern coast of China. The Formosan aboriginese are of Malay origin, but the island is at present mostly inhabited by Mongolians. The latter drove the primal owners back into the hills, where they are now to be found in a complete state of savagery. They have degenerated into a head-hunting race (just as American Indians hunting race (just as American Indians were formerly scalp-procurers) and wage perpetual war against their Chinese con-

Dr. Mackay left San Francisco for the first time on Oct. 1, 1871. Before the commencement of the following year he had become settled at his inaugural station in the northwestern portion of Formesa. Four months saw him conducting a theological discussion with twenty distinguished native scholars, gathered from all parts of the island. One of these ultimately became his first convert, and has for over a decade been the minister at an inland station, which has been four times destroyed and rebuilt to accommodate the growing needs of the congregation.

A large union meeting of the Sabbath schools of St. Andrew's, First Presbyterian and St. James' Churches was held in the latter's edifice in the afternoon. Dr. Mackay's address was made to meet the requirements of his youthful auditors, and he bly in holding their at

EVENING-ST. ANDREW'S. To a crowded audience in St. Andrew's Church at night Mr. Mackay told the story of the French troubles in China and their effect on the mission in Formosa, across the channel from the main land. "The people in Formosa," said he, "began, like the surface of the ocean, to wave to and fro. Men ran north and south getting the people excited, telling all kinds of falsehoods, but at last word came that the French were actually going to bombard us, and we had not long to wait. Four French vessels steamed into port on the northeast side, and demanded that the Chinese should supply them with coal, and the result was that they retired and came back again with four more men-of-war and dropped auchor. I was in a little mission house at the time, and saw the French men-of-war enter the harbor. The Chinese had one large fort with a big gun in the center. As for the other two forts they were not worth mentioning. The French ran out their guns, and the Chinese did the same. The French hoisted their flag, and the Chinese did the same. That went on for several days, and at last word was given that on the morrow at 9 o'clock the bombardment will begin. The black flag was hoisted from the flag ship, and the Chinese replied by hotsting their flag. In a few moments the first shot was fired. In fifteen minutes the Chinese fort was silenced by shot and shell. Branches were cut, the fort silenced, and those within the tort killed or driven away. We got word that our headquarters were to be bombarded. We had not long to wait. The French war vessels moved along to where we have our colleges and the girls' school. They could down the river and get on board a man-of-not enter the river because of the torpedoes placed in the mouth, but they lay afar out, and the bombardment began. I was told to leave the mission house and go war for safety. I refused. I could not take my students with me, and I decided, right or wrong, to remain on the spot ready to live or die. When the firing began we put our three children down in the cellar that they might not see the shot flying over us. They could hear, however, if they could not see. I passed to and fro on the veranda watching the shells break, and there are pieces which will be placed in the museum of Knox College, Toronto, in a few weeks. The shells burst and flew in all directions, and our mission work, as far as I am concerned, was nearly ended. A shot struck the college and took part of it away. A shell alighted in front of our house and broke a rock in two, and pieces flew into mid air. The girls' school was struck. Ten shells, two feet in length were picked up around our house after the bombard. ment. These had not exploded, and it was & very serious matter to get them removed. We had to be very careful in carrying them down to the river and placing them into the water. More Chinese lost their lives at that time trying to take the powder out of the shells than were actually killed during the engagement. The first shot that was fired caused the Chinese to pull down seven clrurches, and many others pull down seven churches, and many others were partially destroyed and converts persecuted. Thus by this bombardment of lives. Independent the necessity of leaving for the mainland of bina and entering Hong Kong. On returning on board an English steamer our captain ran between sentry of the island, and our steamer moved as if to pass through the following bur bows, and in guns, hoisting the french in ran out their and a snot whizzed in front of another moment the French guns, hoisting the flag at the The next shot would better for we want h ran out their bottom, for we we chant vessel. But caused the steamer to move slowly and a little backwards, and that saved our lives. The captain was summoned on board the man-of-war and we were ordered to put to sea, and to sea we went in our little craft. We crossed the channel five times before we were able to enter the port of Tam-Sui again. But we did enter, and thus at the hands of the French we nearly lost our lives a second time." Mr. Mackay exhibited a document and a flag of truce. The first stated that he was not a spy, and had been used by him when passing through disputed territory. The flag of truce saved the life of himself and party when even the Union Jack would not have saved him. They were obliged to travel blindfolded under armed escort and spend the night on board a French man-ofwar so as not to see the fortifications.

To an attentive audience the missionary described his trials, setbacks, insults, and afterwards his triumphs on the very spot where he had had his chapel torn down over his head three times.

A native student dressed in oriental costume addressed the audience in the native tongue at the close and Mr. Mackay interpreted.

The withdrawal of Mr. Albert Duncan from the reeveship of Sarnia township, owing to his removal to Petrolea, where he is engaged in oil production, is a serious loss to the township. Lambton's majority for prohibition will

Two Sarnia lads, Melville Kelley and Herbert Vanzandt, were recently committed for trial at a High Court charged with burglarizing several houses. Kelley was in the reformatory for a similar offense two years ago, and was soon released because of a largely signed petition in his behalf. The West Lambton Farmers' Institute met at Petrolea at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday. Mr. John McDonald, president, occupied the chair and gave a short address. He was followed by Mr. C. A. Zavitz on the subject of fodder and crops, followed by a discussion on silos. At the afternoon session the meeting was addressed by L. Patton on paying for milk at the cheese factory according to the percentage of fat; also on cheese factory management and the dairy cow. Mr. Zavitz spoke on experimental work on the Model Farm at Gueiph; Mr. Beadle, on apple culture and how to destroy the coddling moth. The evening meeting was dispensed with, the attendance being small on account of bad roads.

PARTYISM IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS. Toronto papers are discussing whether or not it would be better to conduct the municipal elections on party lines. A good deal depends. In some cities, notably in Birmingham, Eng., the municipal elections are conducted on party lines, and the result has been the election of the best men in the community, and the establishment of a model civic government.

The system is defended on the ground that when candidates for office are chosen in the party caucus the best men are put forward, or they would be defeated at the polls. Then, when elected, if a party man misbehaves himself the whole party, and not the individual, is discredited. Hence additional care is taken to select the very best men offering.

Acannot be said that in those places in Canada where the municipal contests are conducted on party lines an equally satisfactory record has invariably been established, but it is better that where partyism is resorted to by one side to secure the return of their friends, the same rule should hold good on the other side as well. There should be no concealment or hypocrisy about it. And where there are no party contests, and it is deemed wise to have none, care should be taken by the municipal rulers that the balance be held evenly between the political parties-especially in the selection of such officers as assessorsso that confidence shall be maintained. If there is a display of one-sidedness merely because of opportunity and temptation, the sooner a change is effected the better.

RAVAGES OF DIPHTHERIA.

Owing to the unusually fatal character of diphtheria, now prevalent to a greater or less extent in many parts of the country, a brief consideration of the origin of the maiady, and of the best means to prevent its outbreak, is timely. We learn from the eleventh annual report of the Provincial Board of Health of Ontario, just issued, that it is now eight years since Loeffler solated a bacillus from diphtheritic membrane, and since that time bacteriologists in many laboratories have satisfied themselves that in this bacillus we have the specific cause of diphtheria. Up to the present the contagious character of the disease has been recognized by many physicians, and they, with medical officers of health everywhere, have treated diphtheria as a contagious disease. The special peculiarities of this microbe have been further studied, and its cultivation for diagnostic purposes have been fully illustrated in the notable experiments of Yersin and Roux, of Paris. The life history and conditions most favorable for the propagation, dissemination, preservation and destruction of this bacillus, have likewise been fully set forth. Observers had long noticed the tendency of diphtheria to develop in those houses in which organic decay was notably present, either as accumulated filth in cellars, or having large sums annually to induce immigration. buildings, where decaying wood was present. It has by experiment been further demonstrated that the germs will live a long time in unclean, dark and ill-ventilated rooms, and on cloth, clothing, etc., when not exposed to fresh air and sunlight. On the other hand, it has been shown that in light, clean and well-ventilated rooms, the virus of diphtheria within a few weeks becomes largely inert or destroyed.

Public water supplies have never been shown to have any intimate relations to the spread of diphtheria; and, indeed, it has been shown that the germs are incapable of long sustaining life in polluted water exposed to air and sunlight. Organic deposits from sewage, however, if exposed along the shores of a bay or stream, do probably, like other accumulations or organic filth, maintain the vitality of the bacillus, and it probably is true that from privies and from night-soil exposed in fields and from street refuse deposited in dumps the germs of diphtheria have, when dry, been wafted by the air into neighboring houses and so caused outbreaks of the disease. The air likewise, from sewers, whether from manholes or by defective plumbing, have, especially in the latter case, frequently been the cause of outbreaks of the disease. In all these ways diphtheria outbreaks have under which these outbreaks occur best illustrate how the living air of rooms, where the microbe has been disseminated either from a patient or from the clothing of persons exposed in the sick-room of other infected apartment, is daily being shown to be of all agencies the one which plays the most important role in spreading the disease. Ever since the statistics of deaths have been registered with care, as in England during the last 50 years, the incidence of what are called communicable diseases in the months extending from November to May has been noticed; but it has not been until bacteriology has taught that the hardest worked head of a department in and multiply only in worm temperatures, than the liberal Leader.

that the explanation of how house atmospheres, during the period of the year when ventilation is least and when children are kept indoors, have become the conditions under which infection has been most frequent. This is due not only to the fact of the increased number of germs present in house atmospheres, but also to the fact that the conditions most favorable for producing a congested mucous membrane, thereby making inoculation possible, prevail especially in cold weather.

Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, gives the following conclusions regarding the investigations so far made regarding the disease:

1. Diphtheria in houses is an infectious

2. It is a disease capable of a very mild character in some cases, while still retaining for several weeks in such patients the ability to transmit the infection and produce cases of extreme malignity.

3. It is a disease specially influenced as regards its infectiousness, by the character and thoroughness of local treatment, and by the frequency with which the air of a sick room is changed. How this latter is true is shown by the effects on the number of microbes in mechanically ventilated

4. It is a disease peculiarly liable to attack with malignity children under ten years of age, but causes relatively fewer deaths than scarlatina among children under three years.

5. It is a disease, the germs of which have, when hidden away in damp, dark spaces, where dead organic matter is present, a capacity for prolonged resistance to destructive influences.

6. It is a disease whose germs are weakened in their virulence by free exposure to sunlight, moisture and free air, and these may be completely destroyed within a few 7. It is a disease which does not produce epidemics through the medium of public water supplies. 8. It is a disease which may be introduced into houses from defective sewers and bad plumbing; but epidemics in a series of houses on a street, or in a town or city, are never produced except by direct communication and direct infection, and this method of propagation has fresh scope and produces its most potent influences through the medium of public schools, and by persons and children visiting infected ouses and by persons from infected houses visiting in healthy homes. 8. It is a disease which during the period of the last census caused 12,500 reconded deaths in Ontario, and probably more than 50,000 cases of the disease. 10. It is a disease peculiarly frequent and fatal in the latitudes lying between the Ohio River and the northern limits of settlement of Canada.

II. It has no special habitat except that it is peculiarly a house disease, and finds its greatest opportunities for spreading in damp and cold climates, where the temperature makes people close the r houses to natural ventilation, and where artificial heating is specially resorted to.

From these deductions parents teachers will observe the great responsibility they have in combatting and eradicating this pest. They cannot be too

MANITOBA MOVES.

The Manitoba Legislature will meet this week. A dispatch from Winnipeg says that the Government of the Prairie Province has determined to cease all aggressive immigration work for the future, and to frankly inform the House that until the policy of "protection," as applied to this country, is removed, and the high freight rates reduced, the Government is so seriously handicapped in their efforts as to render its continuance undesirable. The House will, it is understood, not be asked for any considerable appropriation for prosecuting immigration. This resolution is in accordance with the views promulgated by the Northwest Farmers' Advocate for January, which asserts that the "agricultural interests of the Province are suffering from such univeral depression" that the Local Government will be warranted in legislating, as far as lies in its power, for the benefit of the toilers on the farm. Then the Farmers' Advocate proceeds:

"The country needs population; both What is the use of bringing more people here when those already here find it next to impossible to make a living? Would it not be wiser policy to spend more of the people's money in enabling them to better their present financial and social condition, and then every settler would become cheerful immigration agent and do more to bring in the right kind of settlers than all 'energetic immigration policies' or World's Fair exhibits of our govern-

Without a doubt, the contented settler is the best immigration agent. What is needed in Manitoba, as well as in every other Province of the Dominion, is a tariff for revenue only, arranged so as to tax luxuries most of all, and bearing lightly on all necessaries of life, whether required for domestic use or needed to bring the soil into subjection. Take off the taxes, and the people will buy and sell as best profiteth them.

The Great Liver and Stomach Remedy An Excellent and Mild Cathartic. PERFECTLY TASTELESS

Over Forty Years in Use and Never Known to Fail. Possess properties the most extraordipary in restoring health. They stimulate to healthy action the various organs, the natural conditions of which are so necessary for health, grapple with and neutralize the imparities, driving them completely out of the system.

RADWAY'S IS A COMPOUND PILL. One of their ingredients will attack the azy LIVER, another will rouse up the BOWELS, snother will attack the SKIN, and still another hurry up the KIDNEYS. This is the beauty of their effective operation; whilst they have a specific action on the Liver, they have a reflex or reflective action on this same organ by their other specific effects on the other organs of the system; whilst they force with the one aend, they persuade with the other, till all the organs are brought to harmonious

Drive out all diseases, from whatever cause they may be making inroads on your system; delay no longer, the remedy is at hand; a doze or two will convince you of the truth. To thousands now suffering, we say, you have the remedy in your own hands. Radway's is a well-known pill, containing the choicest of extracts taken from the VEGE-TABLE KINGDOM ONLY, compounded in the most scientific proportions, which were found by Dr. Radway to be the best adapted to stimulate and restore to healthy action the disordered organs. They contain no minerals or metals or their saltsnothing poisonous enters into their composition, and they are perfectly safe to

PATRONS AND PROHIBITION.

Where the Order Stands on the Question-The Jurisdiction Must First be Settled.

(Toronto Star.) I saw Mr. Mallory, grand president of the Patrons of Industry, this morning. Busy as he was, he gave me a few moments of his time in order to explain his views on the question of prohibition. At the outset he explained that the Patrons as a body for breach of promise, three for seduction had not made any direct pronouncement on the question, though their organ, the Canada Farmer's Sun, had all along been a strong advocate for prohibition. So far as the order was concerned, they were at the present time taking a vote on the question of the Initiative and Referendum. This, he thought, at the present time had a strong bearing on the question of prohibition. So far the vote was strongly in favor of the Initiative and Referendum being adopted as a plank in the platform of the order. Speaking for himself personally, Mr. Mallory said that he had been for years a strong prohibitionist on principle. His whole influence, and he believed the influence of every member of his board, was in favor of prohibition. He was a strong temperance man himself, and he believed the influence of the Order of Patrons was very strongly in favor of rule. On that principle and in view of the that the question as to the powers of the tion. Government to pass a prohibitory law should be decided at once. It would be folly to pass such a law, which would subsequently be found to be ultra vires. He certainly thought that the recent vote was asjustification for a prohibition law to be passed as soon as possible.

Liberal Tariff Platform.

We, the Liberal party of Canada, in convention assembled declare:

That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service.

That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency, wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combina-

It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property;
It has oppressed the masses to the enrichment of the few: It has checked immigration;

It has caused great loss of population; It has impeded commerce; It has discriminated against Great

In these, and in many other ways, it has occasioned great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force.

That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a sound fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote domestic and foreign trade and hasten the re turn of prosperity to our people. That to that end, the tariff should be reduced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government.

That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life and should be so arranged as to promote freer trade with the whole world, more particularly Great Britain and the United States We believe that the results of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honestly sup-ported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy.

The issue between the two political parties on this great question is now clearly

The Government themselves admit the failure of their fiscal policy, and now profess their willingness to make some changes, but they say that such changes must be based only on the principle of

We denounce the principle of protection as radically unsound and unfust to the masses of the people, and we declare our conviction that any tariff changes based on that principle must fail to afford any sub-stantial relief from the by lens under which the country labors.

Wherein They Differ. Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P., in his article on the British House of Commons in Harper's Monthly, thus contrasts Mr. Gladstone and the late Lord Besconsfield: 'The one was all fire and restlessness, and eager attention: what he felt was written plainly on his mobile face; if anybody interested him, he leaned forward; if he were bored, he leaned back; if he were angered, his face told the tale. And thus it came to be written that a deaf man could almost tell what was going on in the House if he could only get a good view of Mr. Gladstone's face. Mr. Disraeli was the very reverse of all this. He sat for hours in the House of Commons without moving a muscle or even, apparently, without changing his attitude. His head was bent, his face perfectly impassive; he ooked, in short, the Eastern sphinx to which the picturesque writers of the period used to compare him. It was the secular repose of the East in contrast with the never resting energy of the West."

CARNEGIE AND THE TARIFF. He Does Not Fear the Wilson Bill-

Others Denounce Him. PITTSBURG, Jan. 8 .- Andrew Carnegie is being denounced by iron and steel manufacturers and labor leaders. In an interview in New York he said the Wilson Bill would be all right if a few changes were made. To his competitors Mr. Carnegie's remarks are accepted as further proof that he wants the tariff on iron and steel products reduced to such a figure that, by reason of his improved machinery and low wage scales, they would be at his mercy. President Garland, of the Amalgamated Association Iron and Steel Workers, said to-day:

"There can be no further doubt regarding Mr. Carnegie's change of views on the tariff. He is now in a position to defy other manufacturers, and does not need the tariff. His scheme of keeping his mills running at a loss is doing more harm than good. He is underbidding his competitors and getting all the business of the country. The other manufacturers are getting no orders. While the Carnegie employes have steady work at low wages, other workmen, especially in the west, are idle, is killing it."

Instead of booming business Mr. Carnegie is killing it."

Before Judge Edward Elliott this after noon at 2 o'clock Michael Moylan and Daniel Nicholas were brought for sentence. Nicholas was found guilty of stealing two rifles and a quantity of military clothing from the armory at Delaware and selling the goods through the country. In passing the six months' sentence in the Central, the judge said he believed the parties who purchased the goods were equally as guilty as the prisoner, although they had not been prosecuted. Michael Moylan then stood up to receive sentence for breaking into the office of F. G. Rumball on York street the other night. He was let go on suspended sentence on account of his youth, but in so doing the judge gave him a severe reprimand.

A Double Funeral.

A doubly sad funeral took place from Hinton's undertaking rooms this afternoon, when the remains of Mrs. T. J. L. Orme, of Port Stanley, and those of her mother, Mrs. George Pacey, Chicago, who died the same day, were carried to the grave. Rev. J. R. Gundy conducted the service, and many relatives were present from all parts of the country. This little piece of repartee occurred during the hearing of evidence in connection with a charge of malicious demage to property preferred by the gentleman first mentioned against three small boys -Howard Ensign, Benjamin Snider and Lorenzo Cake. It appears that early in November the windows of the complainant's pigeon-house were broken and several of the feathered inmates killed. The matter at the time was partially settled, but, owing to some unaccountable reasons, was recently again disinterred. Moore claimed $10 damage. Mr. Moore at the time of his loss, was away, and Mr. Love insinuated that some of the pigeons might have been starved to death. Mr. Moore waxed indignant. The difficulty was finally settled by the boys promising to make good the loss. An enlargement of the case for a week was regis-

It was a tangled skein, but every coil in it cuited her purpose, and she went to bed that night triumphant and full of security, and slept as sound as an infant, untroubled by doubts or dreams. While Gerald Moore, in a room not far from hers, walked the floor in an agony of passionate remorse that was not repentance, striving to stifle conscience and find some palliation for the crime he was about to commit. At one moment he was resolved to go to Lord Cecil and denounce the woman who had caught him in her snare, at the next the thought of losing Carrie made him determined to yield to Zenobia's suggestion and follow her counsel and example. He had no suspicion that Carrie was the "simple country girl" whom Zenobia had supplanted, no suspicion of the meaning of the laugh of satisfaction and triumph with which Zenobia had greeted the announcement of her name; if he had had any such suspicion, if he had known that Carrie was Lord Cecil's love, he might even then have allowed his better angel a chance, but as it was, he threw himself on the bed at last, resolved to let his passion have his swing; determined to secure Carrie

"She shall be happy!" he repeated to him-self a hundred times. "In some unfre-quented spot on the Continent, I will watch and guard her with my love, and she shall never know the man she will learn to love for the villain that he is!"

Pale and worn with the excitement of the scene she had gone through, Carrie sat by her window and watched the moonlight. What should she do? The declaration of Gerald Moore's love had so taken her by surprise that she felt confused and bewildered. She had thought that she and love had parted company forever, and now here was a young, and handsome, and rich man pleading for her love as if his life depended on it. She looked in the glass beside her, and at her thin, white hand, and marveled. having too little vanity to realize that her beauty, amd that, indeed, she was lovelier now than when Lord Cecil had called her his heart's queen. What should she do? If she could have brought herself to hope that she could, even in time, return Gerald Moore's passion, she would not have hesitated, but ever before her rose the vision of Lord Cecil's pale face as she had seen it last, sorrowful, reproachful, imploring. Besides which, there seemed to hover over her a presentiment of some coming evil in connection with Gerald Moore. Even while he had been pouring out his passionate protestations, there had seemed something behind it all that awakened a vague fear, a thrill of danger and doubt. She could not rest, though she went to bed, but tossed about feverishly, and was scarcely surprised when Philippa, who slept in the adjoining room, and whose ears were quick to catch the slightest sound made by her beloved one, came softly in.

"What is it, dear?" she asked. "Can you not sleep ?" and she came and put her arms round her as she sat up in bed. "What is it? Tell me? You look quite wild and troubled; has anything happened? Have you heard any-any news?" and there was an anxious tone in her voice, for she had read in the day's paper, which lay on the table when they came in, the announcement of Lord Cecil's engagement.

"No," said Carrie, quietly, resting her head on Philippa's shoulder; "no dear, but lam troubled. I did not mean to tell you until I had decided "Decided! What?" demanded Philippa, uneasily Carrie looked at her dreamily. "Flippa, Gerald M.

his wife this afternoon!" Philippa did not look astonished, but breathed a little sigh of relief. Carrie caught it in a moment.

caught it in a moment.

"Ah, Philippa, you are glad?"
Philippa faced her courageously.

"Why should I not be, dear? Yes, I am glad—yery, verv glad! Why, my dear child, aunt and I have seen it coming for days past! Did you not expect it?"

"No," said Carrie, with amazement. Philippa, smiled and kissed her, a great giow of thankfulness suffusing her heart.
"Poor timid little mouse! Why, the poor fellow's infatuation has been as apparent as -as the moon there! He has never taken his eyes off you, has had no ears for any one eise when he has been near you. He has watched you, devoted himself to you, as if you were more dear and precious than life to him!" Carrie hid her face and trembled.

"Of course we saw it, and wondered that you should remain so unconscious! And he has proposed? My dear, you are a lucky

"Oh, Flippa!" reproachfully.
"Yes," said Philippa, stanchly. "A very lucky girl! Why, see, you have had three men madly in love with you! And though one has proved unwortho-"Not unworthy! Don't say that !-don't say that !" she cried, in a low voice. "You do not know all !" "I know enough to be sure that you would not have given him up if he had not proved unworthy. He never loved you!"

Carrie shrunk back as if a blow had been struck her, and gasped as if for breath.

"Oh, Philippa, Philippa! It is not true!
He did love me! I know it—I know it! It is the one thought that comforts me. The thought that, if this other woman had not come between us, he would have gone on loving me to the end—the end! Philippa," solemnly, "never say, never think that! I am sure that he loved me until—until she came, as that I live!"

"Then you will refuse Gerald Moore?"
said Philippa, sadly. "It is so great a pity!
He is so handsome and—why, he is everything that is desirable! And you will refuse him because of a memory of a chaden fuse him because of a memory, of a shadow that his love for you would dispel as the most is dispelled by the noonday sun!" Carrie hid her face in her hands. It was

"Philippa," she murmured, piteously. "it is wrong and foolish, I know, but have pity on me! What would he say when he learned that I too had become faithless and had broken my plight!"

"He! Lord Cecil, you mean?" sasd Philippa, flushing hotly. "What does it matter ippa, flushing hotly. "What does it matter what he thinks? He must have too much to think of now, I should imagine!" It was spoken hastily, bitterly, and Carrie dropped her hands from her hot face and looked at her. "What do you mean? What is it? Tell ne! You—you—have heard something about him?" and she grasped Philippa's arm. "Tell me, Philippa! Tell me! I can bear it! I can bear anything but suspense! What is it?"

"My darling, be calm, be brave!"
"Calm—brave! Look at me!" she cried, holding out her arms and setting her teeth hard. "I am brave enough for anything! Why should you hesitate? What is he to me more than the man who once loved"bitterly—"and now—are you going to tell me he has forgotten me?"

"My darling," said poor Philippa, "are presents at Wm. Traffo you sure you can bear it? Shall I-must I King street. 'Phone 864.

tell you? I will. It is better that you should hear it from me than haphazard from some stranger. Summon all your pride, dearest. Lord Cecil is going to marry the Princess Florenza!"

Carrie uttered no cry, though something seemed to have gone out of her heart's life. "To-marry—her!" she murmured, in a dry, constrained voice. "It is not true! Where did you hear it?"

"I read it." "Show me-quick! Let me see it my-head drooped, her hands listlessly locked on the coverlet. Then she looked up with a white, strained face.

"Good-night, Philippa! I think I shall sleep now! How good you are to me! Never mind, dear, you will get your reward some day! Good-night! Go now, Flippa!" Philippa, rose hesitatingly, not knowing how to take this unnatural calm.

"But Carrie, my dear, what do you intend "But Carrie, my dear, what do you intend rowful smile. "I think I have decided, Filippa. It is easy after he has set me the example. Do not be alarmed, I will be Gerald Moore's wife! Go now, I think I shall sleep. Why do you look at me like that? Do you think I am mad? Why should I not be able to chop and change my affections as he has done? Going to marry the princess! I might have foreseen it! Well, he shall find that I, too, can forget; that I, too, am not so heart-broken and desolate! Good-night, Flippa!" and she smiled wildly up in Philippa's face.

"Carrie, my darling, take care! There is such a thing as cutting off one's nose to spite one's face."

"I have no spite against my face," said Carrie, with the same hard smile. "It is rather a pretty face, if—if Gerald Moore is to be believed; and as he admires it why should it not belong to him? Lord Cecil Neville has succeeded in forgetting it! Go, Philippa, I shall sleep the sleep of the just,

But Philippa, instead of going, took the slim form in her arms and held her until, worn out, she sank into sleep. (To be Continued.)

A Man Made Happy.—Gentlemen,— For five years I have been a great sufferer with Dyspepsia; the pain in the pit of my stomach was almost unbearable and life only seemed a drag to me. When I would go to sleep I would have horrible dreams, and my life became very miserable, as there was no rest either day or night. But with the use of only two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY this unhappy state has all been changed and I am a well man. I can assure you, my case was a bad one, and I send you this that it may be the means of convincing others of the wonderful curative qualities possessed by this medicine, that are specially adapted for the cure of Dyspepsia. A lady customer of mine had the Dyspepsia very bad, she could scarcely eat anything, and was sampled with pains similar to those I suftroubled with pains similar to those I suf-fered with; and she cured herself with two bottles of Northrop & Lyman's VEGE-TABLE DISCOVERY. I wish you success with your medicine, as I am fully convinced that t will do all you claim for it.

It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,

111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria. and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The operation was performed at the City Hospital, whither the injured man was conveyed in the ambulance.

Appeals Against Assessment. Judge W. Elliot has given his decision in two appeals against assessment, which were heard the other day. The Standard Life Assurance Company appealed against an assessment of $4,000 on the ground of being excessive, and also questioning its legality. The appeal has been allowed. The Synod of Huron objected to an assessment of $12,000 on the Chapter House, holding that it was a place of worship. The judge, however, holds that the building is not used as a place of worship, and the appeal was disallowed.

Funeral of the Late Mrs. Pritchett. The funeral of the late Mrs. Pritchett, wife of ex-Ald. Pritchett, took place from the family residence, 29 Byron avenue, South London, yesterday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery. There was a large attendance of friends of the deceased, who was much esteemed. The mayor and members of the City Council, of which Mr. Pritchett was last year a member, attended the funeral in a body. The pall-bearers were Messrs. John and Richard Hyslop (of Michigan), Alex. and Wm. Hyslop (of Westminster), all of whom are brothers of deceased, and A. Legg and A. Nicholson, brothers-in-law, of this city. The services were of a very impressive character and were performed by Rev. Wm. Walker, paster of the South London Baptist Church. Sol Smith Russell.

This droll comedian will appear at the Grand on Wednesday evening in his latest comedy, by Clyde Fitch, "April Weather." In this play Mr. Russell has added fresh laurels to his already great reputation. In Mr. Russell's work one is treated to originality that is not surpassed by anyone else. His methods are distinctly his own. In all his work his naturalness is striking and artistic. There is no occasion for calling special attention to Mr. Russell, but yet those who so much admired him will be called upon to admire again, for "April Weather" is said to contain the ripe intelligence of one whose stage work has been a revelation, the humor that is infectious, the pathos that moistens eyes not prone to weep, and all because each word, each action, is real. The sale of seats is now on.

London's Death Rate.

The old saw, "A green Christmas maketh, a fat churchyard," bids fair to be realized, as far as London is concerned. Twenty-two deaths were registered during the first week in January-a very large figure compared with the usual low death ing in the alleged attempted blackmailing rate of the city. Of these diphtheria and croup combined are credited with removing nine. Old influenza has lost his grip, signed to his agency. Convulsions was the cause of two deaths, paralysis two, old age two, heart disease two, tuberculosis meningitis one, cerebral apoplexy one, cause not given 1.

At the recent meeting of the Woman's Christian Association, in the "Y" rooms, Mesdames Reid, Carfrae, Perrin, Pattulle, Burns, Hopkins, Kent, Hyttenrauch, Ward, Davis, Cox, G. M. Reid, Ingram, Piper, Misses McKellar, Skinner and Moore were present. The treasurer's report showed receipts. $1,486 29; disbursements, $1,045 72; balance, $440 57. Reports from he Aged People's Home, Refuge and Infants' Home, represented that the inmates of both were made happy by the many kind gifts sent to them at this festive season. The convener of the relief committee reported a great deal of destitution and want among the poor, more even than usual at this time of year. Several large parcels of clothing had proved very acceptable to the committee, as also the generous donation of provisions from the Colborne street school, and the handsome gift of money from the Talbot street school. Mantell at the Grand.

Mantell is a favorite with the women, and it is not surprising that the fair sex formed a goodly portion of the very large and well-dressed audience which greeted him at the Grand Saturday night. It must be admitted that his new tragedy "Parrhasius" is well adapted to the display of his personal graces. Robert is getting fleshy of late, and in the garb of the Greek makes a strikingly handsome and heroic figure. Perhaps this is why he plays "Parrhasius." His audience would have preferred to see him in Shakespeare or in one of those stirring romantic dramas with which his name and fame are associated. The story of 'Parrhasius' is a splendid subject for dramatic treatment, but Espey Williams hardly does it justice. To be sure, the last act, which tells the whole tale, is most cleverly contrived. Its thrilling intensity affords Mantell a fine opportunity of using his superb powers; but this is the one scene which rouses anything like enthusiasm in playwright, not the player. The of second-hand philosophy and stale sentiment, framed in very blank verse with gilt edge diction, are so dreary that a topical song would be a relief. The author seeks to enrich the poverty of material by introducing a love sketch, but it is somewhat colorless. It is understood "Parrhasius" is to be rewritten. The last act needs little improvement, and with a judicious revision of the remainder the tragedy may yet score a brilliant success in the competent hands of Mr. Mantell. The latter is to be commended for the sumptuous manner in which he has staged it. The scenic settings are beautiful, the costuming elaborate and historically accurate, and the groupings very tasteful. The pretty picture of the revelers in the second act was warmly applauded. Mr. Mantell has also gathered about him a capital company, and is still supported by that excellent actress, Charlotte Behrens. "Parrhasius" was preceded by Benjamin Webster's charming curtain raiser, "A Touch of Nature." Mr. Eberle's delightful work was heartily recognized. Miss Kerrigan also distinguished herself.
