

CARMIAN-JACKSON CONTROVERSY AVOIDED CONFERENCE TAKES A VERY DECIDED STAND

Candidates Will Not Be Examined As To Theological Views.

MIGHT AROUSE MANY DOUBTS

In the Minds of the Probationers Which It Would Be Well To Avoid.

At this morning's session of the London Conference the question as to whether the candidates should be examined in full conference on their theological views, was fully discussed, and finally by an almost unanimous vote it was decided that no such action should be taken.

It was the general opinion that the examination could do no good, and would only arouse doubts as to the orthodoxy of the candidates for ordination which were in no way justified, as every candidate had passed the strict examination of the district to which he belonged without any challenge being laid against his doctrinal beliefs.

There was a general feeling that the question of examining the candidates was only an excuse for opening again the discussion on the Carmian-Jackson controversy, which the great majority of the members desired to avoid.

The first order of business to come up at the morning session was the motion of Dr. Gundy, laid over from yesterday, that the ministerial conference place itself on record as profoundly convinced that the best and soundest theological views on the part of those ordained to the ministry, and that they be examined before the conference on these matters.

A motion that no report be now taken was vigorously opposed.

"I do not think it is right to shut off all discussion," said Rev. W. J. Joliffe.

"I'm British enough to be a staunch enemy of the closure," remarked the president, Rev. Mr. Ford. "I would suggest that in place of this public examination a commission might be appointed to examine these young men. I move this."

"I do not like this going back into the dark ages. You can no more tell what a man's theological views are by a public examination, than you can tell what sort of chickens are in a coop by putting your hands on the outside. I think that we should not act this way, because it makes it appear that we cannot trust these young men."

"I am sorry that the speeches yesterday seemed to throw some reflection on the young men. They have been examined by their own district meetings."

"I think it is unfair to our young men. I don't take my theological views from Dr. Gundy or any other man."

"You may open this whole dispute without achieving any result, and I think it very unwise."

Dr. Gundy replied warmly to this speech.

"I have tried to throw reflections on the college, and, therefore, I brought up no question in that recommendation that would reflect on the college authorities. It is not a question of challenging the college, but merely of asserting our prerogative of examining those for whom we stand responsible. I would be quite willing to join with Dr. Cooke in suggesting a commission in place of a public examination before the conference. I do not ask anyone to express a want of confidence in the college, but merely to maintain our self-respect by maintaining our own prerogatives."

Rev. Jasper Wilson held that the examination of candidates was wholly unnecessary.

"The district meeting," said Mr. Wilson, "was satisfied with their orthodox, and they were surely as good authorities as any commission. We are only starting a suspicion against their orthodoxy by countenancing such a motion."

Rev. J. F. Knight, one of the men who was examined by the conference two years ago at Goderich, arose to combat the motion of Dr. Gundy, the gentleman who had conducted the examination on that occasion.

"The first question that was put to me when I was examined," said Mr. Knight, "was 'What is your definition of God?' and I challenge Dr. Gundy to answer his own question."

"Is there any man here who in a few minutes could give an answer to that question when the ages have left it still unsolved? If there is such a man I would like to hear him speak. If we could define God he wouldn't be God, but man-made creation."

A Suspicion of Heresy.

"I want to say my circuit after that examination was a strong suspicion of heresy resting up, and you have no right to handicap these young men that way. Surely we can believe that if men like Chancellor Burwash and Dr. Wallace did not find any taint of heresy in six years' work with these men, it will not likely be discovered by any commission you might appoint."

Undignified Position.

"We are placing ourselves in a very undignified position," said Rev. G. F. Salton, of Stratford.

"We are not placing ourselves in any such position," said Dr. Gundy.

"When you charge these men as being adepts in the art of fencing," replied Mr. Salton, with some warmth. (Continued on Page Nine.)

REV. GEO. N. HAZEN WANTED TO CENSOR PRESS REPORTS

But the London Conference Would Not Submit to This—Qualifications of Candidates for the Ministry Were Enumerated at This Morning's Meeting—An Interesting Session.

After the vote had been taken on the question of examining the probationers in full conference at the Methodist Conference today, Rev. Mr. Hazen said: "As this is a ministerial session, which is private, I move that the reports for the newspapers be presented to the president of the conference for his approval."

"I cannot imagine any newspaper of this city publishing anything more discreditable to the conference than the motion just suggested," said Rev. Mr. Pearson. "I think the day has gone by when we can do things in this hole and corner fashion, and it would be degrading to the extreme to ask for censoring supervision of these reports."

"If we had wished to exclude the press we should have done it before the discussion had taken place. When we come to place the press under a censorship we will get ourselves a bad name. We have nothing to hide, and I think the wisest possible spreading of the news."

GORDON KNOWLES SMOTHERED IN A LARGE PILE OF SAWDUST

Two-Year-Old Son of Mr. Arthur Knowles, of High Street, Met Death While Playing in His Father's Yard—Was Not Missed Until He Had Been Dead Some Time

Gordon Knowles, the 2-year-old son of Mr. Arthur Knowles, of 1 High Street, was smothered at noon today when a pile of sawdust upon which he was sliding buried him. He was playing with his brother and sister at the time.

Dr. Campbell was called and worked over the little fellow for an hour, but life was extinct before he arrived.

Playing in Sawdust.

Gordon was playing with a number of companions on a pile of sawdust in a shed near his father's foundry, sliding from the top to the bottom.

MARY HENNESSY LIKED POLICE STATION AS HOTEL

Magistrate Love, However, Taxed Her $5 and Costs for Accommodation.

Mary Hennessy was one of the central figures in the police court proceedings this morning.

She was arrested last night for being drunk. She is well known to the police as a peddler, and covers the district between London and Chatham.

On Tuesday evening she applied at the police station for a night's lodging. This is not unusual, as Mrs. Hennessy thinks there is no hotel in town can equal the accommodation she secures at the station.

Whenever she comes to town she invariably makes application for a night's shelter, and always obtains it. She never has any letters, or it is quite possible that she would have them directed to her in care of her favorite hotel.

VETERANS WILL HOLD A CHURCH PARADE

Meeting Last Night Decided to Commemorate the Battle of Ridgeway.

A well attended meeting of the Veterans' Association was held in the city hall last night. The battle of Ridgeway was fought just 48 years ago on Tuesday, and many of those who were present last night fought together on that occasion.

It was unanimously decided to hold a church parade next Sunday, and a committee composed of President H. Dreaney, Vice-President R. McBride and Secretary Wigmore, was appointed to select a church and make arrangements for a band. It was also decided to invite all the veterans, including those of the Northwest rebellion, to attend.

Among those present at the meeting were: Capt. Dreaney, president; R. McBride, H. Pratt, John Hyslop, U. Arbuckle, F. Hannan, P. Duguid, J. Doolley, T. Doherty, J. Davey, St. John Hyttenrauch, T. Hopwood, John Hyslop, R. Kidner, J. McCarthy, R. McBride, H. Merritt, James Matthews, John Noble, H. Porcival, T. Scott, E. Stanton, R. Short, H. Tanton, H. Wallace, R. Wigmore, H. Ware and R. Wonnacot.

Good Word for the Press.

"The press have often been very kind to us in publishing some very dry sermons, and now that they have a little juicy matter to report I don't think we should rob them of it."

Standing of Probationers.

The remainder of the morning was taken up with the reports on standing of probationers.

In reporting of Alvin Ernest Millson, of the Ridgeway district, Rev. P. Irwin, remarked that his faith was strong. "He believed in Methusalem and the flood—and a personal devil, at least he did when I was there."

This naive admission "brought down the house" and put an end to Mr. Irwin's remarks.

Mr. Millson evidently believes in muscular Christianity, for among the recommendations of George Ellis, of the Windsor district, he said he was "the finest specimen of manhood he had ever seen, and had won the mile in record time at Sarnia."

THOS. MARTINDALE MADE SUGGESTIONS

Told Londoners How They May Make Money and Better the City.

A VERY INTERESTING MAN

Is This Londoner Who Has Made His Mark Across the Line—Canadian Club Luncheon.

At the Canadian Club luncheon at noon today, Mr. Thomas Martindale, a former Londoner, made some valuable suggestions as to the possibilities of this city.

In his opinion there are more opportunities for businessmen in London to build up large businesses and develop the city than in any city of its size in America.

He dealt particularly with the fruit industry, and declared that in this commodity alone, there were chances for fame and fortune.

He related the case of the State of Oregon, which was a shipping apple producer all over the world, and had become one of the great fruit producing countries of the world.

Fruit Culture.

"The possibilities of fruit culture were brought home to the people of Oregon some years ago, and they are now shipping large quantities of apples and fruits to England and other countries," he said. "In Philadelphia we sell Oregon apples at less than the home-grown apples, and make money."

"In the neighborhood of London, in this district, we have as good, if not a better, country than Oregon. We can produce as good fruit as can be grown anywhere, and if this land were exploited, it would prove successful."

"The fruit properly packed and advertised well, would yield an enormous income, I am sure."

Suggestions Not Followed.

"I mentioned this fact two years ago in a speech to the board of trade, but it seems that my suggestions have not been followed out. I am still convinced of the possibilities of such a business."

"I believe in civic advertising. Bring the possibilities of your city before the public, and let them know what you have, and what you can do. There are few cities more fortunately located than London."

"I am glad to be back here again. I have averaged two and a half trips home a year ever since I left London 43 years ago. I am always glad to come home and see the London Old Boys. In my travels I meet them everywhere, and they are highly successful as a rule. I know of no city of its size that has sent out so many men who have done as well as London."

"Your newspapers have improved wonderfully. They are well printed, well edited and clean."

A full report of Mr. Martindale's speech will be found on page 6.

Two bicycle riders who tried the sidewalks were fined $1 each.

CHAPEL DEDICATED BY ARCHBISHOP

A Notable Gathering of Clergy This Morning at Mount St. Joseph.

EDIFICE VERY BEAUTIFUL

Impressive Ceremony Attended Opening of the Pretty Little Church—Those Present.

There was a notable gathering of the Catholic clergy and religious orders of the Diocese of London at Mount St. Joseph this morning, when His Grace Archbishop McEvey, of Toronto, formally opened the beautiful new chapel of St. Anne. The ceremonies commenced shortly before 9 o'clock.

The structure was performed by the archbishop.

Then preceded by the acolytes, and followed by the others, his grace entered the chapel and ascended the dais. He was assisted by his private secretary, Rev. Dr. Kidd, of Toronto, Rev. Father Aylward, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, and Dean Magee, of Stratford.

Rev. Father O'Neill, of the cathedral, was master of ceremonies.

High mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock, the celebrant being Rev. Father Cochran, of Seaford, with Father West of St. Thomas, as deacon, and Father L'Heureux, of Belle River, as sub-deacon.

Mr. Meunier, of Windsor, administrator of the diocese; Father McKeown, rector of St. Mary's Church; Father Foster, president of Assumption College at Sandwich; Fathers City, of Detroit; Donohue, Port Lambton; Buckley, Comana; Madden, Ridgeway; O'Drowski, Sarnia; Emery, Kinkora; Parent, Tecumseh; Hussey, West Lorne; Ford, Ingersoll; Dantzer, Hesse; Egan, Stratford; Goetz, White, and others, were present.

The new chapel is one of the handsomest in the province, and is situated in a beautiful spot, overlooking the river and the city.

The surroundings are most beautiful, and the appointments of the chapel are complete in every respect. It is arranged so that the sisters can obtain admission from their main building.

Entrance may also be had from the front by passing through a handsome stone porch.

The auditorium is capable of seating three hundred people, the seats being of a mission pattern, and made from quarter oak.

The interior decorations are very fine, and when during the ceremonies the electric lights were all turned on the effect was one of great beauty.

The sisters and appointments pertaining thereto are all very finely finished, and attracted the admiration of everyone.

The pipe organ, which at present is in use in the old building, will shortly be installed in the chapel, and near it and in the rear of the building will be a loft for the choir. A number of very handsome stained-glass memorial windows will shortly be erected.

Immediately in front of the altar is a magnificent sanctuary lamp of antique design, suspended by chains of brass.

This handsome lamp was the gift of Archbishop McEvey. The main altar was the gift of Mr. Philip Pooch, the altar of the Blessed Virgin was given by Rev. Father Cochran, and the altar of St. Joseph by Mrs. Darcy.

During the morning the crowd of hundreds of people visited the new chapel, and all were greatly pleased with its splendid appearance.

CAR STRIKE SPREADS

Philadelphia Elevated and Subway System Also in Trouble.

Philadelphia, Pa., June 3.—At ten o'clock this morning the elevated and subway system of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, which has been a bulwark of strength for the company since the strike began, became tied up by a partial strike of the employees.

The trouble started when a west-bound train reported at the Forty-sixth street station. Here the crew deserted, and the train was run to the Sixty-ninth street terminal by men sent out from that point. Subsequently other crews deserted, and the train at the Sixty-ninth street terminal.

The company officials would not discuss the situation, but the ticket windows were closed, and the crowds on the platforms took to the streets.

The company gave out a statement that at 8 a.m. today it was operating 100 cars, and at 8 a.m. 715, two hundred more than at the same hour yesterday.

A serious disturbance occurred during the morning in the northeast part of the city.

WILLIAM COX DEAD.

St. Catharines, June 3.—William Cox, vice-president of the Whittman & Barnes Manufacturing Company, and till quite recently manager of the local branch, died suddenly at his residence this morning. 14-YEAR-OLD-BOY TOOK CRAMPS DROWNED IN THE THAMES

Inspector Galpin of Belief That He Has Good Whiskey to Sell—R. K. Cowan Will Investigate.

Chin Sue appeared in the police court this morning, charged by Inspector Galpin with selling liquor without a license.

The liquor in question was obtained in a raid on the premises at 359 Clarence street, a few weeks ago, and in a recent report from the provincial analyst it was shown to contain a very much larger percentage of alcohol than the best whiskey obtainable in Canada.

Mr. R. K. Cowan, who appeared for Chin Sue, asked Magistrate Love to adjourn the case and allow him to have a sample of the liquor in order that he might have a special analysis made. The magistrate, however, left the matter of giving the sample in the hands of Inspector Galpin, but consented to adjourn the case for a week.

Inspector Galpin says that he will allow an analysis to be made and will furnish a sample for that purpose.

WEPT BITTERLY ON THE SCAFFOLD

CLAIMS HE IS INNOCENT

His Head Declares He Did Not Just Before Black Cap Is Placed Over Commit the Deed.

[Special to The Advertiser.] North Bay, Ont., June 3.—Maurice Ryan, tried in March for the murder of his brother, Joseph Francis Ryan, in November, 1907, and found guilty, was hanged this morning by Hangman Radcliffe in the jailyard here, the drop taking place at 6:50 a.m.

Bishop Scollard, who had been Ryan's spiritual adviser during his imprisonment, arrived at the jail at 5:20 this morning, and remained with the doomed man until all was reported in readiness by Sheriff Varin. Hangman Radcliffe then proceeded to the cell and Ryan was led to the scaffold, the sheriff walking ahead, while Ryan walked between Hangman Radcliffe and the jailer. Ryan was crying. Bishop Scollard walked a few feet in the rear, repeating a prayer.

As Ryan was placed on the trap and the black cap was about to be put over his head, he sobbed and cried bitterly, protesting, "I am innocent." The bishop still continued praying, and while he was repeating, "May the Lord have mercy," the drop took place.

Dr. Raney, the jail surgeon, pronounced Ryan dead 1 1/2 minutes after the drop.

Ryan slept well all night and had to be awakened by the bishop on the latter's arrival at the jail this morning.

Ryan's crime was a particularly revolting one, the man having murdered his brother to secure $500, the latter had in his possession at the time.

Charlie Chantler Lost His Life While Swimming Yesterday Afternoon.

CLOTHES FOUND ON THE BANK

Boy Who Was With Victim Afraid to Tell Because He Was Playing Truant.

Charlie Chantler, the 14-year-old son of Mr. Harry W. Chantler, 90 Ridout street, South London, was drowned in the north branch of the River Thames some time yesterday afternoon, near Cushing's icehouse. The body was found early this morning.

Shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mrs. William Cushing noticed two boys pass the house on the way to the river. No particular attention was paid to them, and some time after she saw a boy go home alone.

This did not occur as a comment. In the evening, Arthur Donahue, Chris Bice, and several other young lads went to the river to swim, and found a suit of clothes lying on the bank. After swimming for a time they did not see any trace of the owner of the clothes, and shortly before 8 o'clock, they decided to notify the police.

Police Notified.

The accident was in the county, however, and High Constable Hughes was notified. He detailed Constables Northgraves and McGowan on the case.

They called up Chief Aitken, of the fire department, and asked him to send a couple of men with grappling hooks and ladders to assist them in locating the body. They also took charge of the clothing.

Upon examination, there was nothing found in the clothes to reveal the identity of the owner. There was the usual number of boy's trinkets in the pockets, with a sale bill from Grafton & Co., with the clerk's number, No. 2, and the sale No. 23 on it. There was no money. A handkerchief with an "S" in the corner was also found.

Chief Aitken was furnished with two men shortly before 8 o'clock, and soon had his boys dragging the river.

In the meantime, Mr. James M. Hickey, of Grafton's, was communicated with, but he could not learn to whom the suit was sold.

Some of the neighbors' children stated that a boy named Roy Henderson, of Ridout street south, had been swimming with another lad named Sloane, whose parents live at the corner of Grand avenue and Ridout street.

Denied the Story.

With young Henderson was communicated at once, but he had never been to the river at all that day.

The handkerchief with "S" in the corner lent color to the theory that the missing boy might be Sloane, but on inquiry it was found that the lad was at home.

Florence T. Taylor and T. Tozer, dragged the river until after 11 o'clock. Half a dozen young men, Mel Fowler, Arthur Donahue and others, dived repeatedly in an attempt to locate the body, but without success.

After 11 o'clock, Chief Aitken decided to withdraw his men, and send them off the morning when it was daylight.

Lad Was Missing.

Mr. Harry W. Chantler, father of the boy, was at Port Stanley fishing yesterday, and returned in the evening.

When he got home, Charlie was missing, and a diligent search failed to find him.

It seems that a boy was drowned in the north branch of the river, he went to Cushing's icehouse, and on being shown the clothes identified them as belonging to his son.

Roy Henderson was again communicated with, as several who knew him were positive he was one of the two lads seen going to the river shortly after 3 o'clock.

He stoutly maintained that he had not been swimming, but early this morning, he was taken to the river, and acknowledged that he had been swimming with young Chantler, but when the accident happened, he was afraid to tell, as he had played truant from school.

Shortly after 5 o'clock this morning, Chief Aitken, Mr. Chantler, and Fremont Taylor and Tozer, dragged the river, and in a few minutes located the body.

It was found in a hole in the river. The boy was found drawn up, as if by a cramp.

Took Cramps.

15,000 Steel Workers To Quit

Pittsburg, June 2.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Plate Workers today declared that if the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company will refuse to sign a wage scale on July 1, when the present scale expires, they decided that they would not give up the organization without a fight.
The executive board will hold a meeting within five days, when preparations will be made to call a strike at the union plants of the company. Strikes will also be called at the sheet plant of the company, as they also are affected by the decision of the Steel Corporation.
When the strike order is issued it will affect not less than 15,000 men. There is no question of wages involved in this dispute. The American Sheet and Tin Plate Company will pay the wages decided on by the Amalgamated Association, but will refuse to sign a wage scale.

Strike Riots at the Quaker City

Philadelphia, June 2.—The attempt of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company to operate its cars tonight with strike breakers started serious rioting.
In the Kensington district, where many mills are located, the feeling ran high. Men, women and children pulled the motormen and conductors from their cars and beat them severely. In many instances cars were set on fire and the motormen were injured during the rioting.
The police were powerless to control the angry strike sympathizers. When they charged the mob it separated only to form again in the vicinity of another car.
The officials of the company announced today that night cars would be run tonight for the first time since the beginning of the strike. When the rioting started after midnight every car that could be gotten into the barns of the company were taken off the street and the motormen were injured during the rioting.

TOO MUCH SAWDUST ON SARNIA STREETS

Complaints Against Mill Men—Lively Ball Game Looked For—Church Parade.
[Special to The Advertiser.]
Sarnia, June 2.—At Monday evening's session of the town council a great deal of discussion was indulged in regarding the quality of the wood blocks for the new pavement, and the board of works were empowered to look after the guarantee on the mill on the blocks to their own satisfaction. As numerous complaints have been received from residents of the north ward against the practice of placing refuse sawdust from the mills on the streets (mainly Water street), the mill companies will be notified to discontinue the practice at once.
A special G. T. R. train, which was a model of elegance and the object of much favorable comment, passed through the tunnel on Monday evening en route to Chicago and points west. The private cars Algonquin, Canada and St. Clair, engine No. 1065, and a baggage car, made up the train, which carried General Manager C. M. Hays, W. G. Brownlee and other officials of the Grand Trunk Railway company.
The Lambton County Council, in session here this week, among the important matters considered is the question of county reorganization. The assessment of the town of Sarnia for county purposes, as fixed by the assessment commission last December, is generally thought to be very unfair, and a strong effort will be made to have valuers reassess the county, for the purpose of striking the rate for 1910.
Some fast and classy baseball should be seen at the tunnel diamond tomorrow (Thursday) evening, when the Port Huron Chronicle and the Imperial Oil Company nine meet for the second time this season in a regular scheduled game. The Imperials have already a victory to their credit over the boys from across the border, having won the Victoria Day contest by a score of 3 to 0. The teams are, however, very evenly matched, and both lines will line up the same as on the 24th, a fast game may be expected.
The local members of the Twenty-seventh Regiment of the Army Medical Corps and also the Collegiate Institute Cadets, are to attend service next Sunday morning at St. George's Church, Rev. Charles H. G. Galt, of the regiment, will preach. The parade will form on Victoria Square at 10 a.m., headed by the Twenty-seventh Regiment.
The Grand Trunk Railway delivered a large trainload of logs to the Cleveland-Sarnia Sawmills Company on Tuesday.
The engagement is announced of Gertrude Weffer, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Weffer, 129 Crawford street, to Mr. Lynn Valentine, of Chicago. The wedding will take place at the family residence on June 16.
A large number from this section intend taking in the excursion to Guelph on Thursday. The excursion is under the auspices of the East and West Lambton Teachers' Associations. The Nashville, an American war vessel, passed up the river this morning en route to Chicago, where she will be used as a training ship.
Mr. Peter Clark has been awarded the contract of supplying the groceries for the Sarnia General Hospital.

SHAM BATTLE WAS REAL

Kingston Militiamen Are Now Picking Powder Out of Their Skins.
Kingston, June 2.—Militiamen hereabouts are picking powder out of their skins, the result of aggressive warfare at the sham battle on Barrfield Heights last night. The Royal Military College cadets sought to take Cataract Bridge, but "the enemy" was there in shape of the Fourteenth P. W. O. Rifles. There were live rounds, and owing to firing at close range, more than one person's face or hands were burned with grains of powder. One cadet is in the hospital and two Fourteenth men are badly burned.

CHOSEN FRIENDS ELECT

Mr. Alexander Morris, of Renfrew, Made Grand Councilor.
Toronto, June 2.—Mr. Alexander Morris, the recently appointed sheriff of Renfrew County, was tonight elected by acclamation grand councilor of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends, now in biennial session here.
Other officers elected were: Grand vice-councilor, J. F. Fitzgerald, London; grand recorder, W. F. Montague, Hamilton; grand treasurer, Samuel Broadfoot, Guelph; medical examiner, Dr. J. H. Bell, Kingston; first grand representative, A. W. Adams, Toronto. Other officers have yet to be named.

CONFERENCE AND THE PROBATIONERS

Stricter Examinations Wanted in Regard to Doctrinal Views.
GENESIS CONTROVERSY
Appeared To Be Uppermost in the Minds of Several of the Speakers Yesterday.

It looked yesterday afternoon as though the discussion on the Carman-Jackson controversy would once more be revived. Though the matter was never definitely mentioned, some of the speakers, only too eagerly had it in mind when they were agitating for the examination of the young men about to be ordained before the full conference, instead of being satisfied with the district meeting examination, as has been the custom of late years.
The two splendid addresses, delivered at the educational anniversary last night by the Rev. H. S. Dougall, of Goderich, and Rev. Professor Bowles, of Victoria College, proved a rather strong antidote for anything approaching heresy hunting.
The question as to whether the examination of candidates for probation will be held, was entered for the first time this morning.

The Discussion.
The order of conference, "What Probationers for the Ministry Shall Now Be Received With Full Connection and Ordained," was the signal for the opening discussion.
When the name of Lorne Chester McRoberts came up a number of the members considered that ready information ought to be given to the conference regarding the special qualifications of the probationers for the work they were entering upon.
"Can he preach?" demanded the president, "That is the first thing."
Rev. J. E. J. Millard was promptly on his feet to stand sponsor for Mr. McRoberts.
"He is a fine student, a man of unquestioned character, and a fine preacher, though he is inclined to be proud," he remarked.
Rev. Mr. Bicks was also willing to stake his professional reputation that Mr. McRoberts was in every way qualified.

KAISER AND CZAR TO MEET ON WATERS

Will Come Together in the Finnish Gulf and Incident Should Make for Peace.
St. Petersburg, June 2.—A meeting between Emperor William and Emperor Nicholas has been arranged, and will take place in the waters of the Finnish Gulf. The exact date of the meeting will be decided upon later, but it possibly will be June 31.
The German Emperor will arrive on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, while Emperor Nicholas will be aboard the Standart, accompanied by M. Iwolsky, the foreign minister, and Admiral Voevodsky, the minister of marine.
The news of the proposed interview between the sovereigns, coming so soon after the settlement of the Balkan crisis, has aroused eager speculation among the diplomats at St. Petersburg. It was supposed in some quarters that the German mediation, which ended the crisis, had left more bitterness which would estrange the two monarchs, and lead Russia to identify herself more closely with Great Britain's continental policy.
The meeting, which, according to the reports, has been arranged by the initiative of Emperor Nicholas, is taken to mean that Russia prefers an amicable agreement with Germany to an antagonistic policy. If Emperor William also meets President Fallieres, as reported from Berlin, the European situation may be regarded as entering upon a decidedly peaceful phase.
After meeting the German Emperor, Emperor Nicholas will go to Stockholm, probably on June 26. He will then return to Peterhof, where during the early days of July he will celebrate the anniversary of the birth of his majesty will then proceed to Pottava, where he will be present on July 7 and on the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Battle of Pottava.
The Emperor will then depart by sea for a visit to France and England, and possibly Italy. The plans of this trip have been held in the deepest secrecy, but elaborate precautions are already being taken to prevent tampering with the railway lines to Pottava.
The Emperor's household troops will be stationed along the route during the journey. The military attaches of the various embassies and legations have been invited to accompany his majesty, but no diplomatic representatives.
The Emperor on June 5 will preside at the dedication of the monument to Alexander III, which has been erected at the end of the Nevsky Prospect.

WRIGHT'S STANDING GOOD

Brantford Committee Report Entirely Favorable to Miss Kinrade's Fiancée.
Brantford, June 2.—Clair Montrose Wright, the young divinity student, who came into prominence in the Kinrade case, is in good standing with the Brantford district of the Hamilton Methodist Conference.
A private ministerial session of the district was held this afternoon last night, and at a half hour, it was announced that all matters touching Wright's probation had been thoroughly considered, and that the Brantford district had not challenged his character.
The outcome will be reported to the conference, which it is expected will accept the report of the committee without further consideration.
Wright was present at the session and will be in attendance at the conference, as is also his father, who is a minister.

TROOPS SENT TO KEEP LUMBERMEN IN CHECK

Strikers Take Charge of the McCloud Light Plant.
Sacramento, Cal., June 2.—In response to a telegram from Col. Bradbury at McCloud, Cal., announcing that the 600 striking lumbermen had broken into the light and power plant and forced the engineers and firemen to quit work, Governor Gillett today ordered the companies of militia to proceed to the scene at once.
The troops left Sacramento by special train tonight to make the 350-mile journey to the heart of the Shasta lumber region.
Col. Bradbury's telegram said that McCloud was without fire protection, and light, and that property worth $2,000,000, the citizens and their homes were at the mercy of the strikers, who were apparently beyond control of the leaders.

FLOODS IN QUEBEC

Ottawa, June 2.—News of damage by floods has floated down from the upper reaches of the Liesvre, Nation, Rouge and Sagway Rivers. Lands have been inundated, and a bridge near Rapids L'Original has been badly strained. All the sawmills along the banks have been thrown out of business. At Ferme Neuve a lot of land has been washed away.
RYAN MUST HANG.
Toronto, June 2.—The court of appeal refused this morning to grant a stay of execution in favor of Maurice Ryan, sentenced to be hanged at North Bay tomorrow for the murder of his brother Pat Ryan. The court did not even call upon the representatives of the crown, holding that a sufficiently strong case for interference on behalf of Ryan had not been made out.

CHRISTINA OF DENMARK REMAINS IN ENGLAND

Money Necessary to Retain Famous Holbein Reported Raised.
London, June 2.—According to an evening newspaper the money necessary to secure Holbein's portrait of Christina of Denmark for the nation has been provided by a wealthy west country art lover. The portrait, the Government's contribution of $50,000, and the public subscriptions have amounted to only $80,000. Consequently the philanthropist, who has offered to rescue has had to provide $20,000 to make up the price of $350,000.

OFF TO ANTARCTIC

Shackleton's Latest Expedition Sails From Sydney.
Victoria, B.C., June 2.—Lieutenant Shackleton's expedition to the Antarctic has sailed from Sydney, according to a dispatch received here.
Lieut. Shackleton says the present cruise is to complete the Antarctic work by a search in the sub-Arctic for several islands, the existence of which is doubtful.
Man has never set foot on Emerald, Nimrod or Doherty Islands, which Capt. J. H. Davis, now commander of the Nimrod, is to seek. Professor David, who accompanied the Shackleton expedition, reports that an analysis of the specimens show the existence of radium in the Antarctic.

LOFTY NOTE SOUNDED BY EX-MODERATOR

Dr. DuVal's Sermon Before the Presbyterian General Assembly at Hamilton.
Hamilton, June 2.—A lofty note was sounded by Dr. DuVal's sermon, which was read by Principal Patrick at the Presbyterian General Assembly last night. It pleaded for more reliance on the Holy Spirit, "for whatever God does, he does by the spirit," was a central thought. The failure to recognize this resulted in persecution of the prophets, and a reason from religion, burned the Alexandrian Library, turned fields of faith into intellectual deserts, and left souls to grope in superstition. St. Paul put the hieroglyphics of the temple for the deep things of the spirit. We also must put away our "Semper Eadem" in things that are patently not eternal, and yield our minds in the spirit of meekness to be taught of the spirit.
The Moderator's Sermon.
The text was taken from John xvi, 12-13: "I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit, when he the spirit of truth is come, he will guide you into all truth," and in the course of the address Dr. DuVal said:
"This is an age of critical mind, of agonizing materialism; an age that is consequently seeking relief in sensual indulgence and vulgar display, forgetting the traditions of the heart. It is an age of compound difficulties, of struggle for the mastery between capital and labor; an age that gives opportunities to the cunning and the cunning. Like lurking thieves in the din of battle to plunder the field while the fight is going on. It is an age when some politicians play every game of the gambler, every trick of 'bluff' and 'cover' to deceive the people; an age in which the press is not always free, sometimes purchased and used to cover villainy; to abuse and ruin, if possible, any soul that dares to oppose their crimes.
"And yet, thank God, it is an age that is not content with itself. This is a hopeful sign, a prophecy of good. Men are struggling to free themselves from ills they cannot clearly define. These desires will not be met by reiteration of dry dogmas. The system of public education has taught our children to reason. The pew is pushing more traditions out to heaven, and the world wants ideals of a nobler state, and is looking for heroes of a wider, deeper faith to lead it to attain. And earth must be turned to heaven, and God and our spirits to the Holy Spirit appointed of God to guide us into all truth.
"The Man for the Ministry.
"Are we doing our best to put men into the office of the ministry capable of bearing the guidance of the Spirit?"

CATARRH CAUSES EAR-RINGINGS

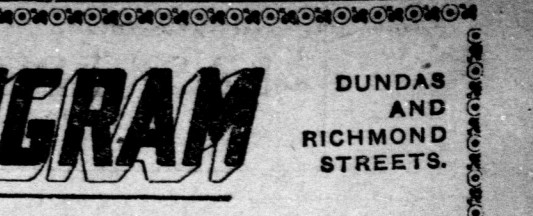

This is the beginning of chronic catarrh. If not checked, the result is deafness. A simple remedy that many physicians advise is to slowly inhale "Catarrhazone" a few times each day. The soothing vapor of Catarrhazone cures the catarrhal condition and hearing improves at once. Head noises, buzzing ears are cured. For catarrhal deafness, throat, nose and lung catarrh there is probably no remedy so efficient.

LONDON MEN DEACONS

Toronto, June 2.—Three young men were ordained to the diaconate of the Roman Catholic Church by his grace Archbishop McEvay—Messrs. William Joseph Kelly, Lorenzo Patrick Lowry and Dennis O'Connor. They are all of the Diocese of London. The ordination took place at the early hour of 7:30 o'clock, and was an impressive ceremony, the altar and sanctuary being tastefully arranged for the occasion. Several of the local clergy were present. His grace gave the young deacons some practical advice, and next Sunday he will ordain them to the priesthood in the See of London.

Brocaded Mercerized Sateens Are Here

These are now being used for drop skirts as well as coat and bodice linings. The only difficulty with this new idea in lining has been in getting them, and getting them at the right price. At no time during the present season have we been able to supply the demand for certain colors in this very popular sateen. Its wearing qualities are excellent. It has no equal at anywhere near the price. Light in weight but very strongly woven with a highly mercerized finish resembling the rich satin brocade, for coat linings, drop skirts, cushion tops, fancy work, etc. The following shades are amongst the recent arrivals: Pearl and mid grey, navy, myrtle, golden brown, seal, fawn, pink, old rose, light blue, cream and black, double width, 40 inches, yard...$3.50 being with the mouth of Moses and Aaron. But the history facts is that men who have done the great works of God in the world have been men of great natural force, stimulated by circumstances, of which is the way of God's working as much as any arbitrary action. Men are to be bred for such greatness.

"The youth who is appealed to as Moses did, is apt to try to do as Moses did. I am compelled therefore to believe that there is something wrong with the conduct of the church today, that she does not attract the noblest of her sons to her standards. Is she presenting a cause in all points worthy to attract? I have been worried at times listening to church court talk of increasing the pay of students in the mission field one or two dollars per week, as a means of getting young men. Brethren, our students are human and need bread, they have brains and need books, they have self-respect and do not like to appear as paupers—which they sometimes are, compelled to do, when some little, split-up field fails to pay for their board and bed and clothes; but for all this, no money consideration can buy a great soul!"

THE CARPENTERS WIN.
Boston, Mass., June 2.—Of the 1,200 carpenters in Boston and near-by towns, who struck yesterday, for an increase in pay and a Saturday half-holiday all the year, less than 250 remained out today, and it was expected that all would be back at work within a day or two. Most of the contractors have signed the agreements demanded by the men.
A False Alarm.
The firemen had a run last evening to the Bank of Toronto at 7:30. A lot of paper was burned in the furnace, and considerable smoke spread through the building. A telephone call brought the department, but there was no need of the presence of the brigade.

LONDON, THURSDAY, JUNE 3.

AERIAL NAVIGATION.

From the days of Darius Green's "Flying Machine," aerial navigation has been a subject of jest and ridicule. But present appearances indicate that it will follow the course of many other inventions, and pass from a mere fancy to a fact. At first laughed at, the time comes when it is but a commonplace occurrence. Count Zeppelin in Germany, the Wright Brothers in the United States, and Bell in Canada, have demonstrated the possibilities of aeroplanes and dirigible balloons.

So far Count Zeppelin has achieved the greatest success. Fighting against serious discouragement, his experiments have been conducted with unflinching zeal, until, starting on Saturday night with two engineers and a crew of seven men, he sailed over Biberach, covering some 850 miles in 37 hours. An accident occurred at the end of the voyage; but as this consisted in striking a tree when he was manoeuvring for a landing in what was supposed to be an open field, the accident does not count for much in estimating the success of the trip. Later advice will give fuller particulars. But this is the longest air voyage yet made; and, if he has been able to keep his ship under control all the time, aerial navigation may be accepted as an accomplished fact.

It is easy to see that this will effect great changes in transportation, and have a material influence on both commerce and war. So far the speed attained does not equal that of steam by rail or boat. Nor, for the present at least, is there any probability of an aeroplane carrying the great number of people that can be rapidly transported by a train or a steamship. But it will have advantages over both these latter methods of transportation that will render it a power in peace or war.

What effect will it have on Britain's preparations for defense? A dreadnought would not be of much service if an explosive could be dropped on it from an aeroplane in the sky. Sir Hiram Maxim has expressed the opinion that if aerial navigation is successful it will involve changes as great as those wrought by the discovery of gunpowder, and the changes will come more rapidly. The mother country will have to meet the altered conditions, and meet them promptly. Under these circumstances it would seem to be the part of wisdom for the Canadian Government to give all possible encouragement to those who have been making experiments of this nature in our own country. It would be greatly to the credit of the Dominion if, by its aid in developing aerial navigation, it should be in a position to assist the empire and make her mistress of the air as well as of the seas.

CANADA AND INVESTMENT FIELD

"Canada as a field for British investment," was the title of a paper read before the colonial section of the Royal Society of Arts in London recently, the effect of which was to demonstrate that capital already invested in the Dominion is safe and profitable, and that fresh opportunities are daily opening for further equally good investment. Mr. Smith disclaimed that he was influenced by sentiment, and for the benefit of pessimists he cited some criticisms of 1881 which described Canadian railway schemes as no more useful than projects for the utilization of icebergs and not likely to return a penny of interest. Today the shares of these same railways are at a premium and fresh extensions are projected. Official returns show that in the ten years ended with 1907 Canada's imports trebled and her exports almost doubled, while in the same period deposits in banks more than doubled and business failures greatly decreased.

Mr. Smith agrees with Professor Tanner that the soil in the prairie provinces is the most fertile in the world, not excluding the famous Russian "black belt." The farmers of the United States realize this, and are crossing into the western provinces in large numbers, while millions of United States capital is being invested in Canada. Meanwhile British capital keeps flowing into the railways of the United States, whose limitations are not nearly so far off. Mr. Smith referred to the case of the Queen Charlotte Island coal deposits, in which for years attempts had been made to interest British capital. Recently this coal had passed into the hands of Americans, who thus secured for their vessels the coal which they could not find on the Pacific slopes of

"Is Good Tea"

It is Always Worth the Price

A Prince of Sinners

By Phillips Oppenheim. Author of "A Lost Leader," "The Malefactor," "A Man of History," etc.

The omnibus had pulled up outside. A tall footman threw open the door, and held an umbrella over the two ladies who had descended. The marquis and two other men followed. They trooped into the little place, bringing with them a strange flavor of another world. The women wore wonderful furs, and one who had ermine around her neck wore a great bunch of Neapolitan violets, whose perfume seemed to fill the room.

"This is a delightful idea," the taller one said, turning towards her host. "An eight-mile drive before tea sounds appealing. Where shall we sit, and may we have muffins?"

"There is nothing about your youth, Lady Sybil, which I envy more than your digestion," he answered, motioning them towards a table. "To be able to eat muffins with plenty of butter would be unalloyed bliss. Nevertheless, you shall have them. No one has ever called me selfish. Let us have tea, and toast, and bread-and-butter and cakes, and a great many muffins, please, young lady," he ordered. "And you will send out some tea to my servants, please? It will save them from trying to obtain drinks from the hotel next door, and insure us a safe drive home."

"And don't forget to send out for that pack of cards, Arranmore," the elder lady said. "We are going to play bridge driving home with that wonderful little electric lamp of yours."

The younger girl looked up from her chair, and laughed softly. "You will have to speak for him," she said. "How interesting! We will all come in and hear you."

Molyneux missed an easy cannon, and laid down his cue with an aggrieved air. "It is very well for you," he remarked, dismally, "but it is a horrible grind for me. I have just succeeded in forgetting all that we did last session, and our programme for next. Now I've got to wade through it all. I wonder why on earth providence selected for me an uncle who thinks it worth while to be a cabinet minister."

Sybil Caroom shrugged her shoulders. "I wonder why on earth," she remarked, "any constituency thinks it is worth while to be represented by such a politician as you. How did you get in, Sydney?"

"Don't know," he answered. "I was on the right side, and I talked the usual talk." "For myself," she said, "I like a politician who is in earnest. They are more amusing, and more impressive in every way. Who was the young man you spoke to in that little place where we had tea?" she asked her host.

"His name is Kingston Brooks," Arranmore answered. "He is the agent for Henslow, the Radical candidate." "Well, I liked him," she said. "If I had a vote I would let him convert me to Radicalism. I am sure that he could do it."

"He shall try—if you like," Arranmore remarked. "I am going to ask him to shoot one day." "I am delighted to hear it," the girl answered. "I think he would be a charming change. You are all too flippant here."

The door opened. Mr. Hennibul, K. C., inserted his head and shoulders. "I have been to look at Arranmore's golf links," he remarked. "They are quite decent. Will some one come and play a round?"

"I will come," Sybil declared, putting down her book. "And L. Molyneux joined in. "Hennibul can play our best ball." Lady Caroom and her host were left alone. He came over to her side. "What can I do to entertain your

"I will not forget," he promised. "We are to be partners, you know." He was on the point of sitting down when he saw Brooks at the next table. He held out his hand. "How do you do, Mr. Brooks?" he said. "I am glad to see that you are going to give your man in."

"Thank you," Brooks answered, rising and waiting for his companion, who was buttoning her gloves. "I was afraid that your sympathies would be on the other side."

"Dear me, no," the marquis answered. "My enemies would tell you that I have neither sympathy nor politics, but I assure you that at heart I am a most devout Radical. I have a vote, too, and you may count upon me."

"I am very glad to hear it," Brooks answered. "I shall put you down on the list to be fetched."

The marquis laughed. "I'll come without," he declared. "I promise. Just remind me of the day."

He glanced towards Mary Scott, and for a moment seemed about to include her in some forthcoming remark. But whatever it might have been it was never made. She kept her face in her hand, and though her self-possession was absolutely unruined she hastened her departure.

"I am not hurrying you, Mr. Eros," she asked. "Not in the least," he assured her. He raised his hat to the marquis and his party, and the former nodded good-humoredly. There was silence until the two were in the street. Then one of the men who had been looking after them dropped his eye-glass.

"I tell you what," he said to his vis-a-vis. "There's some chance for us in Medchester after all. I don't believe Arranmore is popular amongst the ladies of his own neighborhood."

The marquis laughed softly. "She has a nice face," he remarked, "but I should imagine excellent perceptions. I'm awfully envious, too, she reminded me of some one who has every reason to hate me. But to the best of my belief I never saw her before in my life. Lady Caroom, that weird-looking object in front of you is a teapot—and those are teacups. May I suggest a use for them?"

CHAPTER VI. The Man Who Went to Hell. The Hon. Sydney Chester Molyneux stood with his cue in one hand, and an open telegram in the other, in the billiard-room at Enton. He was visibly annoyed. "Beastly hard luck," he declared. "Parliament is a shocking grind anyway. It isn't that one ever does anything, you know, but one wastes such a lot of time when one might have been doing something worth while."

"Do repeat that, Sydney," Lady Caroom begged, laying down her novel for a moment. "It really sounds as though it ought to mean something."

"I couldn't," he admitted. "I wish to cultivate a reputation for originality, and my first object is to forget everything I have said directly I have said it, in case I should repeat myself."

"A short memory," Arranmore remarked, "is a politician's most valuable possession. Isn't it?"

"No memory at all is better," Molyneux answered. "And your telegram?" Lady Caroom asked.

"It is from my indefatigable uncle," Molyneux groaned. "He insists upon it that I interest myself in the election here, which means that I must go in tomorrow and call upon Rochester."

The younger girl looked up from her chair, and laughed softly. "You will have to speak for him," she said. "How interesting! We will all come in and hear you."

Molyneux missed an easy cannon, and laid down his cue with an aggrieved air. "It is very well for you," he remarked, dismally, "but it is a horrible grind for me. I have just succeeded in forgetting all that we did last session, and our programme for next. Now I've got to wade through it all. ladyship" he asked, lightly. "Will you play billiards, walk or drive? There is an hour before lunch which must be charmed away?"

"I am not energetic," she declared. "I ought to walk for the sake of my figure. I'm getting shockingly stout. Marie made me promise to go today. But I'm feeling deliciously lazy."

"Embonpoint is the fashion," he remarked, "and you are inches short of even that now—come. Have a game of study while I write some letters."

She held out her hands. "I am much too comfortable to move unaided."

She sprang to her feet lightly enough, and for a moment he kept her hands, which rested willingly enough in his. They looked at one another in silence. The silence was broken by a low laugh.

"My dear Arranmore," she protested. "I am not made up half carefully enough to stand such a critical survey by daylight. Your north windows are too terrible."

"Not to you, dear lady," he answered, smiling. "I was wondering whether it was possible that you could be forty-five."

"You are," she exclaimed, with uplifted eyebrows. "How dare you? Forty if you like—for as long as you like. Forty is the fashionable age, but one year over that is fatal. Don't you know that now-a-days a woman goes straight from forty to sixty? It is such a delicious long rest. And besides, it gives a woman an object in life which she has probably been groping about for all her days. One is never bored after forty."

"And the object?" "To keep young, of course. There's scope for any amount of ingenuity. Since that dear man in the hall has his upon the real secret of enamelling, we are thinking of extending the limit to sixty-five. Lily Cestigan is seventy last week, and she told me so last week. That is, she told me so, you know Harlowe, he's rather a nice boy in the Guards—had asked her to run away with him. She's known him three months, and he's seen her three times by daylight. She's delighted about it."

"And is she going?" Arranmore asked. "Well, I'm not sure that she'd care to risk that," Lady Caroom answered, thoughtfully. "She told him she'd think about it, and, meanwhile, he's just as devoted as ever."

They crossed the great stone hall together—the hall which, with its wonderful pillars and carved dome, made Enton the show-house of the county. Arranmore's study was a small octagonal room leading out to a library. A fire of cedar logs was burning in an open grate, and he whirled in an easy-chair for her close to his writing-table.

"I wonder," she remarked, thoughtfully, "what you think of Syd Molyneux?"

CABINET MINISTER SLAVE

Sir Edward Grey Says He is a Man Without a Holiday. London, June 2.—"A man without a holiday" was the definition of a cabinet minister given by Sir Edward Grey in a speech at the Newspaper Society's dinner at the Savoy Hotel.

He could sometimes withdraw from London to continue his work elsewhere, but he was always tethered by a tether to his office. And in the case of the secretary for foreign affairs the tether was shorter than that of any of his colleagues.

He was liable to be jerked back to his office not merely by what happened at home, but by what happened in places outside his own country. But he had this compensation, that the work of his office was regarded from a non-party point of view.

Sir Edward spoke of the value of the co-operation of the press in some questions of foreign policy and of its importance and strengthening of public character. The press, though independent, was not irresponsible. Unless the press and the public worked together to maintain national character, and unless this national character was preserved unimpaired, nothing would enable the nation to maintain its high position among the nations of the world.

TROUBLES OF HEINZE

One of His Directors Given Until Friday to Answer Charges. New York, June 2.—Sandford Robinson, a director of the United Copper Company and counsel for F. Augustus Heinze, its president today, was given until Friday next to answer to the charge of contempt of court made against him by United States District Attorney Wise yesterday.

Judge Lacombe, in the United States Circuit Court, granted the adjournment on the application of counsel for Mr. Robinson, who said he needed more time to consult with the counsel. The accusation against Mr. Robinson is a development in an attempt to obtain possession of the books of the United Copper Company for use in proceedings against F. Augustus Heinze. George Baglin, vice-president of the company, testified before the federal grand jury yesterday that he heard Mr. Robinson and Arthur P. Heinze discussing the removal of the company's books from its office after the books had been subpoenaed by the court.

DIDN'T CORNER WHEAT. Patten Just Took Advantage of Opportunity, Says Hill. Seattle, June 2.—James J. Hill, chairman of the Great Northern board of directors, visited the Alaska, Yukon Pacific Exhibition buildings today. Discussing the recent wheat corner, he said: "It is a mistake to say James A. Patten cornered the wheat market. It is merely a case of a man taking advantage of an opportunity. It has been but a few years since it was estimated that the average consumption of wheat per annum in this country was six bushels, but now the experts argue that it is seven bushels. "The census of 1910 will show that we have a population of 90,000,000, which will mean that we will require for our own use 530,000,000 bushels hereafter. "We raise now probably 650,000,000 bushels of wheat in the United States with good crop conditions. This will leave us but 20,000,000 bushels as a surplus for export, while in the past we have exported more than 120,000,000 bushels per annum. So one can see that we will need all our wheat to feed our own people. "It must be remembered that the number of live stock slaughtered last year was 1,000,000 less than the year before. "WOMEN!" "Are You Nervous?"

The results of modern civilization are evident in an increase of nervous disorders. It could not be otherwise with the way we eat, drink, lose sleep, and keep up a continual round of excitement. The work, the worry, the excitement, all tell upon the nerves. All they cry out in revolt, and will not be placated till a remedy such as some along with their nerve-strengthening and energizing properties, and restore them to their normal condition. Mrs. Wm. Levi, Marikdale, Ont., writes: "I had for several years been troubled with nervousness, and, like many others, spent lots of money on medicine that did me no good. I was so low that the least admission would make me jump and my heart would thump so you could hear it plainly and I could not lie on my left side at night. I saw a few testimonials of others and decided to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and to my great joy to surprise they completely cured me and it only took six boxes to do it. I have a neighbor, Mrs. Rickett, and I induced her to try them and they effected a cure. I can endorse their use for anyone afflicted as I was."

SOME LARGE POLICIES

Amount of Insurance Paid Out Last Year in Canada and U. S. New York, June 2.—The life insurance companies in the United States and Canada last year distributed $323,811,000. That is the estimate of the Insurance Press. Dividends to shareholders, money paid out in cash surrenders and to annuitants, and foreign policyholders, would bring the total up to $480,811,000.

In the estimate of the payments of all kinds, to the amount of $480,811,000, Arranmore's study was a small octagonal room leading out to a library. A fire of cedar logs was burning in an open grate, and he whirled in an easy-chair for her close to his writing-table.

RAID CAMORRA LEADERS

Numerous Arrests Made at Meeting in Rome After a Hard Struggle. Rome, June 2.—The police arrested here today several members of the notorious Camorra of Naples by raiding a meeting where a number of suspects had assembled. Reports differ as to the details.

One version is that the meeting was held for the purpose of initiating a new member, who, according to custom, was to prove his courage in a knife duel. Another version is that the meeting was held for the purpose of electing new chiefs of the society. Forty-five leading members were present and one story says that all were captured after a severe struggle with the police.

Another police report says that twenty were arrested.

Toronto, June 2.—Twenty minutes after arriving in Toronto this morning, Angelo Sciolino was arrested on the request of the police of Silver Creek, N. Y., on the charge of attempting to murder his wife and daughter at that place Wednesday last.

Sciolino arrived in the city on a box car from Niagara Falls, and was spotted by Detective Mackinnon. Two hundred and sixty dollars in bills was found sewn in the lining of his clothes. The police received word only this morning that the man was wanted at Silver Creek, and the description given was not a good one. However, Sciolino admitted his identity. He will be held, pending the arrival of a Silver Creek officer.

When Your Child Has a Cold

ARE YOU SATISFIED WITH ANYTHING THAT SELLS UNDER THE NAME OF COUGH MEDICINE? OR DO YOU SEARCH OUT A MEDICINE OF PROVEN VALUE, SUCH AS DR. CHASE'S SYRUP OF LINSSEED AND TURPENTINE?

How few cases of consumption there would be if every child's cold were looked after as it should be! Did you ever think of it in this way? It is the neglected cough and cold that leads to the dreadful lung diseases sooner or later. From repeated attacks the lungs are weakened and there comes pneumonia or consumption with their dreadfully fatal results. How watchful parents should be of their children! How careful to use effective treatment instead of trusting to cough mixtures, which are often of little value or of harmful effects. Because it is prepared from linseed, turpentine, and other simple but wonderfully effective ingredients, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is particularly suitable as a treatment for children's coughs and colds. Croup, bronchitis, and even whooping cough yields to the influence of this great medicine, and for this reason it is kept constantly on hand in the majority of homes, and has enormous sales.

Mrs. John Chesney, Innerkip, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured my little girl of whooping cough when the doctor had given her up, and since then we always keep it in the house as a treatment for coughs and colds. It is the best medicine we ever used." There is no getting round statements such as this, and you want the most effective treatment possible when your child becomes ill. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine, 25 cents a bottle, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ADVERTISING AS A MONEY MAKER

Mr. Thomas Martindale's Business Talk at Canadian Club.

FLATTERING RECEPTION

Was Given the Former Londoner and Now Merchant Prince of Philadelphia.

Mr. Thomas Martindale, the millionaire merchant of Philadelphia, and former London boy, was the guest of honor at the Canadian Club luncheon held at noon today in the Tecumseh Grill.

Mr. Frank Lawson, president of the club, was in the chair. On rising Mr. Martindale was given a flattering reception, and commenced his address by thanking the Canadian Club for the invitation to address them.

He was always interested in his old home town, and it always gave him much pleasure to visit London and meet with the companions of his earlier days.

He then dealt with the subject of his address as follows: I have the honor to have been the first president of "The Poor Richard Club" of Philadelphia, a club made up of men who sell advertising—magazine publishers, newspaper publishers, men engaged in outdoor advertising specialties, as signboards, aluminum signs and tin signs, street car advertising men, etc.—men who buy advertising; that is, the advertising agents, advertising managers of department houses, etc.

Among the non-resident members of the club are representatives from nearly all of the great national magazines of the country. These men, it is true, are not with us always, but they drop in just often enough so that we casually learn from them that such and such a man is about to start a "campaign" for some food product, some manufactured novelty, some confection, some new fabric, etc., and then discussion waxes warm as to the probable ultimate results of the "pulling" power of the proposed campaign, etc.

To illustrate: I thus incidentally learned one day during the table talk that a certain man, who I had always known as an old acquaintance of mine—was going to spend $300,000 in advertising a new chewing gum. It was said that the advertising proposition would be financed by certain banks. This appeared to me a reckless use of credit, and with that mental comment the subject passed from my mind.

In due time the advertising campaign was launched and, of course, duly criticized, the general verdict being that the scheme adopted was original and ought to be effective. Months passed and I heard nothing more about it, until one day I learned that numerous imitations of this product had appeared, this being the best proof that the venture was a success, and already litigation is being indulged in to protect the manufacturer's rights.

Then I was told that the campaign had so far been an immensely profitable one; that the concern could not get out its orders on time, no matter how often they increased their force, etc.

Successful Advertising. From time to time I casually learned of the successful advertising "stunts" accomplished by advertising agencies in the upbuilding of the business of big retail firms; of a certain safety razor; of certain food products; of certain publications; of new fabrics for women's wear; of infant foods; of chocolates and cocoas; of women's shoes and of men's shoes; of cosmetics; of piano and piano-players; of toilet soaps and washing soaps; of cereals; of bathroom fittings and heating appliances; of paints and varnishes; of flour; of automobiles; of

OVER THE FENCE Neighbor Says Something.

The front yard fence is a famous council place on pleasant days. Maybe to chat with some one along the street, or for friendly gossip with next door neighbor. Sometimes it is only small talk but other times neighbor has something real good to offer.

An old resident of Baird, Texas, got some mighty good advice this way once. "Drinking coffee left me nearly dead with dyspepsia, kidney disease and bowel trouble, with constant pains in my stomach, back and side, and so weak I could scarcely walk."

"One day I was chatting with one of my neighbors about my trouble and told her I believed coffee hurt me. Neighbor said she knew lots of people to whom coffee was poison and she pleaded with me to quit it and give Postum a trial. I did not take her advice right away but tried a change of climate which did not do me any good. Then I dropped coffee and took up Postum."

"My improvement began immediately and I got better every day I used Postum. My bowels became regular and in two weeks all my pains were gone. Now I am well and strong and can eat anything I want to without distress. All of this is due to my having quit coffee, and to the use of Postum regularly."

"My son who was troubled with indigestion thought that if Postum helped me, so it might help him. It did, too, and he is now well and strong again."

"We like Postum as well as we ever liked the coffee and use it altogether in my family in place of coffee and all keep well." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in packages. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

real estate; of patent remedies; of schools and colleges; of grass and garden seeds; of mattresses and spring beds; of corsets; of roofs and roofing; etc. Indeed the enumeration of them is nothing less than bewildering.

Spend the Most Money. I would say that at the present time the manufacturer and dealer in automobiles easily hold the centre of the field of advertising in the amount of money expended on it.

and the many accidents resulting therefrom, the numerous arrests for speeding, the restrictive laws against speeding, all tend to keep the public attention focused almost daily upon something pertaining to this ever-widening method of locomotion.

Mr. Martindale pointed out the usefulness of advertising, and named several large American journals used by certain firms to produce definite results. To illustrate, he devoted some time to the wholesale grocer trade, and the best methods of advertising their wares.

Wholesale Grocers. Now we come to the wholesale grocers, he said. From some reason which I cannot fathom, I do not recollect ever having seen the ad. of a wholesale grocer in a daily or a weekly paper.

Now we come to the wholesale grocers, he said. From some reason which I cannot fathom, I do not recollect ever having seen the ad. of a wholesale grocer in a daily or a weekly paper.

Many years ago an experiment was tried by the late William M. Singerly, the proprietor of the Philadelphia Record, an influential and splendidly managed paper, having a wide circulation.

It would seem to me that big houses in the trade, houses that have always done and always will do a square, progressive and up-to-date business, ought to have many specialties of their own, which they pay them to exploit in the daily press.

To illustrate the "pulling power" of just one medium and that a weekly with a national circulation, on March 27 we inserted in it a small ad, containing eight lines only. We have so far received letters with cash and order increased from such widely divergent points as California, Oklahoma, Alberta Territory, Canada, Alabama, Texas, Louisiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky, New York, South Carolina, Florida, Colorado, the Canal Zone Delaware, Washington State, Montana, British Columbia, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, Missouri, Tennessee, Rhode Island, New York City, Brooklyn, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburg, etc.

At various times we have advertised locally through a series of semi-educational "ads," dates, figs, olive oil, country sausage, butter, flour, tea, coffee, cocoa, hams, etc. and we cannot remember in recent years any "ad" of ours which did not pull. Years ago when was young and inexperienced in the trade there was only one brand of canned corn focused in the public eye, and that was "Bakers," and Baker's corn was then advertised and pushed to the limit.

Natural Bona-fides and how their interests can best be stimulated and improved by judicious advertising. Then let them set aside a certain sum for that purpose, place their propaganda in the hands of a competent advertising expert, and trust him to bring their bark safely into the port of prosperity.

It should be borne in mind, however, that there are men behind the grubs who are in enthusiastic touch with the firm in seeing that the advertising seed, when planted, is encouraged to grow. It should have the hearty and earnest co-operation of every employe of the firm as far as his or her individual position will permit. Then there must be courage, nerve and confidence displayed in the ultimate outcome of the proposition.

I was in the grocery business for some six years in Oil City, the "Hub of Olddom."

The First Advertiser. I was the first advertiser in the oil country to change ads every day, and was always busy, no matter how much the value of oil vacillated from up to down. The town was lively then, as a town, as it is, as a city, now, and the business men of the whole oil country were without doubt, as aggressive, enterprising, original a bunch of men as ever the sun shone on.

For instance, just the following headlines to the advertisements of a firm which sold boilers, engines, tubing and oil well supplies to operators throughout the oil producing belt. I need not say that this particular firm "got the business" they were after. What a catch phrase that fifth excerpt is!

Some Maxims. 1. We never make one-track records; our speed takes in the full circle. 2. The graveyards of the enemy are the monuments of our success. 3. We never speak of our goods without the long and the bus of George Washington, which squats on the top of our annealed steel safe; a twenty-five cent plaster cast of George lends an atmosphere of veracity to a trade which in these days it sometimes needs.

4. Abdul Aziz, the late Sultan of Morocco, bought a cheap boiler to drill a water well. It bust, and he is now Abdul Aziz.

5. We will never be buried with the "unknown dead"—we advertise. 6. Our patent coupling is the pre-emptive vapor of fermented progress. 7. The intellectual and aesthetic provided for in consanguinity to their taste.

8. Our conversational soliloquists never descend to a low, but a photographic in the Orphean flights; they hug the shore of plain Anglo-Saxon and scoop the doubting Thomas. 9. It will never do to shake a man because the long and the bus of George Washington, which squats on the top of our annealed steel safe; a twenty-five cent plaster cast of George lends an atmosphere of veracity to a trade which in these days it sometimes needs.

Detroit, June 3.—Seven men, including Louis H. Case, junior partner and manager, and practically the entire office force of Cameron Currie & Co., are involved in the long expected indictments growing out of the firm's failure. Warrants were issued yesterday afternoon by Police Justice Stein after a final conclusion with Prosecutor Van Zile.

Chief among the surprises is the fact that the principal charge of conspiracy to defraud against Case, the cashier, clerks and the telegraph operators of the office, is based according to the warrants, on information given the prosecutor by Cameron Currie himself.

He, in fact, appears as the complainant, alleging that his employes used $50,000 of the firm's capital, his money, to play the market, and that the loss came out of his pocket. He was a dejected man—the victim of those who accepted pay envelopes from him on Saturday, he says.

The specific charge is that these men conspired and agreed to enter on the books fake orders for stocks in the names of fictitious persons or in the names of real persons who had given no authorization for the deals, were entirely ignorant of the fact that they were being carried on, and received no benefits from them.

These orders were entered first in the books of Cameron Currie & Co., forwarded to the firm's Boston or New York correspondents, who bought the shares on the various stock exchanges, and on the rise and fall in price the clerks won or lost large sums. In the latter case, however, it was the capital of the company that suffered, as no real money at any time ever entered in the deals.

SICK SKINS IN SUMMER Summer is the hardest time for the human skin. Its delicate tiny pores, if worked under the best conditions, would have a rough time because of the heat. How then they have to work when impaired or damaged by sunburn and heat spots? No wonder one has rough patches, freckles, etc.

Zam-Buk heals sick skins. When a patch of skin on face, neck, or arms is blistered by the sun, apply Zam-Buk at once. It will cool and soothe beautifully, and new skin will be quickly formed. When you are footsore, or have some chafed places, Zam-Buk will give you ease. When the mosquitoes raise lumps on you, Zam-Buk will stop that terrible itching and smarting. Keep Zam-Buk handy, use it freely, and this will be the happiest summer you have ever spent, viewed from the skin-health standpoint. All druggists and stores.

Boston, Mass., June 2.—Through the generosity of the Tigers, Boston was able to land the first game of the series between the two teams today by a score of 6 to 5. The champions had the game sewed up for seven innings. During six rounds they held the Red Sox scoreless, while they themselves were piling up a total of five runs. Then the Tiger balloon made an ascension, and when it came down to terra firma again Boston had just one more run than the visitors and the victory was theirs.

A Poor Game. The game, which was Boston's first meeting with a western team on the home lot this year, was peculiar in many respects. It was featured by some sensational playing, mixed with numerous sand lot exhibitions in which both teams offended more or less. Errors were responsible for nearly all of the tallies, the wobbles on both sides coming just at critical moments, and tallies resulting from their occurrence.

Eddie Killian, Tiger veteran, twirled for the visitors. He faced Arrelanes at the start, but the champions' slugger drove the Mexican from the slab after the first inning and Charlie Chech took his place.

Chech was hit a little bit better than his predecessor. He was wild, very wild, and a fumble and a wild pitch by the twirler in the first inning in which he officiated tended to strengthen the champions' lead by netting the Tigers two more tallies, making their total four.

WRESTLED THREE HOURS.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 3.—After wrestling three hours and fifteen minutes, during which neither man obtained a fall, Otto Sutor, of Cleveland, champion walter-weight wrestler of the world, was given the decision over John E. Billeter, of Toledo, here, last night.

When neither man obtained a fall after the two hours and forty-five minutes wrestling it was agreed that they should wrestle thirty minutes longer, and the man who displayed the best form should be declared the winner.

COVERPOINT JOLTS

The talent are getting it just in the same place they have always got it at the Woodbine, only more so. One or two moderate killings have been pulled off, but little else, and as a result the majority of players find a sickness in their bank rolls that is rather annoying to say the least of it. The only way to beat the races is not to bet on them. That can be easily done.

The western teams did not commend their eastern invasion with it in poetry on his achievement by the "Congo Coon." Here it is: When you talk about your spenders playing great ball and threatens to again break into faster company if he keeps it up.

Lou Scholtes  again try for the Diamond skulls, it is reported. He won the honor once, but it does not look as if he will repeat. He was not impressive in the Olympic trials.

Jack Johnson is creating some record as a spendthrift, and is separating himself from his coin with the persistence worthy of a better cause. One day he bought a $3,000 driving horse, and an $1,800 diamond, rather a fair day's spending. He has been done in poetry on his achievement by the "Congo Coon." Here it is: When you talk about your spenders playing great ball and threatens to again break into faster company if he keeps it up.

S. Ketchell and Billy Papke have been matched, and it looks as if the Michigan lad will have an easy time beating the Illinois Thunderbolt. With these boys, however, it is largely a question of who gets in the first hard one. Papke landed it once and won, but Ketchell gets it in more frequently and has the big majority of wins to his credit.

SUTTON WON WORLD'S TITLE FROM SLOSSON

Took Championship in 39 Innings at New York Last Night.

New York, June 2.—George Sutton, formerly of Chicago, but now a resident of this city, won the world's championship at 18.1 balk line billiards from George Slosson at Madison Square Garden here tonight. It was a tedious game, going to 39 innings, and at every stage from the third inning Slosson was outplayed. The match was for 500 points up at 18.1 balk line for the world's championship and $1,000.

RACING AUTOMOBILES ARE RUSHING ON

Arrived in Syracuse Last Night and Started for Buffalo This Morning.

Syracuse, June 2.—Like an express train running on a close schedule the five cars in the New York to Seattle automobile contest made the journey of 220 miles today from Poughkeepsie to Syracuse, and after the Acme, with a penalty of 20 minutes, had overtaken the procession at Bluestone, about 22 miles out, the five transcontinentalists practically paraded through the Mohawk Valley to the night court. All machines are in good condition.

Syracuse, N. Y., June 3.—Shortly after 7 o'clock this morning the five transcontinental cars, bound for Seattle, left this city headed by their pacemaker, which holds them in check as far as St. Louis. The cars reach Buffalo tonight, according to schedule.

PENNSYFTERS' JOKE TO BE BOOMERANG

Buffalo Contingent at New York Sends 8,500 Pennies as Entrance Fee in Tourney.

New York, June 2.—The Pennysifters of Buffalo will take the alley tomorrow night. This combination has more humor among its members than any other club that has rolled in the big tourneys so far. Besides wearing the replica of a huge penny on their breasts, they have sent the $55 entrance fees to Secretary Wyman in pennies. To carry out the joke the managers of the tournament have arranged to pay off any prizes the Pennysifters might win in the same coin, and the Buffalo boys might be able to say that they were fairly treated. The Pennysifters are among the best clubs that Buffalo has sent to the tournament, and in its history has had many men of prominence in the Bison City.

CHAPPELLE BLAMES BOWERMAN

Memphis, Tenn., June 2.—Bill Chappelle, released by Boston to Cincinnati and sold by the Reds to Rochester, has been here for a few days before proceeding to Rochester. THE OLYMPIC COUNCIL

It is Proposed That the Judges Hereafter Be International. Berlin, June 2.—The most important act of the international council of the Olympic games that has been in session here was the recommendation of the principle of an international jury to decide the events in future games. The council took under consideration the unfortunate controversies that arose in London in 1908, and finally decided that it was wiser to introduce an international system of judging rather than leave this to the sole control of the country where the games take place.

TOOK COUNT IN FOURTH

Ketchell Went After Tony Hammer and Tongs—His Footwork Fast.

Schenectady, June 2.—Tony Caponi, of Chicago, was knocked out by Stanley Ketchell with a blow to the jaw in the fourth round of a scheduled ten-round bout before the American Athletic Club here tonight. The westerner put up a miserable exhibition and seemed utterly unable to ward off the blows of the champion, who landed whenever and wherever he wanted to. Caponi was knocked down once in the second and four times in the fourth, on the last fall taking the count.

LADIES ASKED TO NOT WEAR BIG HATS

Request Made by Rev. A. K. Birks of the Askin Street Methodist Church.

The big hat is on trial for its life, and the action of the ladies of Askin Street Church during the week will largely determine its future.

Last evening, at the close of the sessions of the London Conference, Rev. A. K. Birks, pastor of the Askin Street Methodist Church, requested the ladies of the church to remove their hats at the sessions on Thursday and Friday evenings.

"I have been asked by a number of ladies to request the removal of all hats at the services tomorrow night and on Friday," Mr. Birks stated. "The large hats have been criticised when they were as big as wash basins, but they are now almost the size of wash tubs. We draw the line at that. Do what the ladies ask, and you will be safe from trouble."

These two meetings are perhaps the largest during conference week, and they will be attended by large crowds. Some of the members of the Ladies Aid of Askin Street Church have started work on the large hat, and the above request is the outcome.

A request was made to the quarterly meeting of the church, asking them to take some action, but so far nothing has been done, and probably will not be, as the problem is rather big for them.

Some ladies will remove their huge hats tonight, but there is some doubt expressed that they all will.

ONE OF LONDON'S OLDEST CITIZENS DIED LAST NIGHT

Death of Mr. James Mellor, of 96 Hamilton Road—Was 84 Years of Age.

Mr. James Mellor, of 96 Hamilton road, who had been ill for over a year, died last night. He was born near Manchester, in England, on April 14, 1825, and came to Canada with his parents in 1832, landing at Port Stanley during an outbreak of cholera. He lived with his father on the farm in the township of Southwold until the early forties, and had resided in London continuously since. For a time he occupied a farm near the site of the present asylum.

He married twice, his first wife being Maria Brown, daughter of James Brown, of Yarmouth. She died in 1856, and his second wife was Jane Hale, daughter of William Hale, who owned the farm on which the asylum is situated.

Mr. Mellor died in January, 1905. His nearest relatives are his nephews and nieces, who live in London and in the county of Elgin.

His family had already been a club member of the Wax End Club, which numbered among its members many of London's best and oldest citizens, such as the late Robert Reid, John Christie, James Durand, William Durand and many others.

Mr. Mellor never sought public honors, but took a deep interest in the welfare of the city. He was a comfortable man, and well liked by those who were well acquainted with him. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

THE M'CORMICK ESTATE

Hearing Yesterday in Regard to Amount of Succession Duties.

A case concerning the estate of the late Thomas McCormick, arising over the amount of duties to be paid to the Ontario Government under the succession duties act, was heard before Judge Macbeth in chambers yesterday.

Arguments were advanced that the money left to churches or charitable institutions should be exempt. In this argument his honor concurred.

Arguments were also heard regarding the value of stock held by the late McCormick in the McCormick Manufacturing Company. Decision was reserved on this matter.

The company has already paid a large part of the sum payable in advance. The appearance before the judge was to settle minor points relating to the estate in addition to the value of the stock held by the late McCormick in the manufacturing company.

DR. CHOWN ON EVILS

Which Beset the Youth of Canada—Which Beset the Youth of Canada at the London Conference

The address of yesterday afternoon's session of the London Conference was delivered by Rev. Dr. Chown, the provincial secretary of the temperance and moral reform committee of the Methodist Church.

Dr. Chown spoke very explicitly of the work the committee is trying to do to promote the moral welfare of the country, and urged strongly the necessity of a better understanding of what the committee is doing.

The opinions of the people, he said, are gradually changing in that direction, and they are beginning to realize the debt that they owe to humanity.

"Behind every great moral reform there are hundreds of silent sufferers, and it is for these we are working," he said.

"Dr. Chown dealt at length with the various features of the work of the department, first opening up the cigarette habit were getting a dangerous hold on the young people of the country. Mr. E. H. Harriman, the great railroad magnate, had once said: 'I would as soon go to a lunatic asylum for my employees as accept cigarette smokers.'"

The consumption of 318,000,000 cigarettes that were manufactured in this country every year formed a serious menace to the life of the country.

The White Slave Traffic. The white slave traffic came in for a strong arraignment, and the horrors of the system were explained in burning words. The social evil, said Dr. Chown, has been breaking my heart.

We have been enabled to get a penalty increased for its practice from two to five years. For injury to your property a man may be sentenced to three years. For a man who is sentenced for injuring a tree to the extent of $5, and only five years for selling a young girl into a life of impurity.

"The members of the conference," said Dr. Chown, "will be surprised to learn that there is no law condemning adultery in the statute books of Canada. We have brought pressure to bear upon the Government to have such legislation brought in on the subject."

Military Camps. Some conferences had sent out petitions to their people, urging them to use their influence with their sons to prevent them going to military camps when the sale of liquor was permitted, and Dr. Chown expressed himself as in favor of such action being taken where it was necessary.

In an interview with Mr. Borden, the minister of militia, Dr. Chown had pointed out the serious nature of affairs if the liquor traffic were not to be stopped.

COMPARES MEN TO HORSES

Conway Says Old Age Pensions Encourage Degeneracy of Race.

London, June 2.—Sir Martin Conway has made the Derby the text of a vehement philippic against old age pensions.

"Which is wrong," he asked, in a letter to the London Times, "the breeder of race-horses, or Mr. Lloyd-Baker, who is giving men do better with their animals than we do with our own?"

"The methods which Parliament has imposed upon us in recent years, as the right way to improve the efficiency of the nation, are in my opinion, racing men adopted our government's system, is it not certain that English race-horses would be beaten everywhere by horses, bred by selection?"

"In all the recent social legislation Parliament has actually penalized the better classes of the country, and the least fit class of the country is the old people who have failed to provide any savings against their old age."

Regarding the matter of licensing poolrooms, the municipalities had the power to regulate, but not to prohibit, and Dr. Chown considered that this extra power ought to be granted to them.

It was a matter for congratulation that the license commissioners had been given increased power, which enabled them to deal with the sale of liquor in clubs, and also to stop the sale from breweries in local option centres.

Dr. Chown suggested to the consideration of the conference that the hour of closing bars be 10 o'clock instead of 12. Such action would do away with the most dangerous hour of the day for the sale of liquor.

Prison Reform. In the matter of prison reform Dr. Chown pleaded for the church to set itself to work for the indeterminate and probationary sentence. Prisoners are human, he said, and will respond to their better nature if they are treated like human beings, not like beasts.

Dr. Chown closed his address with a strong appeal for co-operation, on the part of the church in the work of the association.

COMPTROLLERS CONVENE

Detroit, June 2.—Upwards of fifty city comptrollers and accountants from all over the United States have gathered here for the fourth annual convention of the National Association of Comptrollers and Accounting Officers, which was called by Dr. Jackson, vice-president Louis Betz, a city comptroller of St. Paul.

The convention will be in session for three days, and the programme calls for papers upon various municipal accounts in Duluth, Minn.; New York and Pittsburg will be discussed in addresses by the heads of departments in those cities, and a report will be presented on the accounting progress which has been made in California.

The opening address of President Betz, a welcoming speech by Mayor Breitmeier and officers reports, occupied the first session today.

GRAND OLD GERMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Theodore Barth, Champion of Liberalism, Passes Away in His Sixtieth Year.

Berlin, June 3.—Dr. Theodore Barth, who died at Baden last night at the age of 60, had behind him 35 full years of work in Germany.

He believed in the responsibility of ministry to Parliament, in reducing the influence of the government of the landed interests, was opposed to a too great expansion of the national naval expansion and for the enlargement of the army, and he favored the equitable distribution of the land, which he advocated by the substitution of the "one man one vote" principle for the three class property system prevailing in Prussia.

Dr. Barth had been considered an extreme Radical, and for some years he had been leader of that group in the Reichstag.

He was known for several months in 1896 with William Jennings Bryan and other American campaigners, studying electoral methods, and he also spent a large portion of the year 1907 in America.

Dr. Barth's father was an East Indian planter, and left him a considerable fortune, which he spent liberally for political objects. He edited for 24 years a high-class weekly, Die Nation, the publication of which he stopped in 1907.

POOH-POOHS WAR TALK

German Ambassador to United States Says Teutons and Britons Are Friends.

New York, June 2.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, who came to New York today, took occasion in the course of an interview with the press to belittle the talk of impending or probable war between England and Germany.

"England has no need to worry about the likelihood of war with my country," he said. "The jingoism of a few easily excitable persons in England will soon pass over. Between the two nations there is no misunderstanding or enmity, and the sentiment of the two peoples is not hostile or bitter, but a health, temperate, good-natured rivalry."

RECTORY STREET MOTHERS' CLUB

An enthusiastic meeting of Rectory Street Mothers' Club was held Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Two splendid addresses were given, one by Miss Laidlaw, kindergarten supervisor, on "What the Mothers' Club Is To the Mother," and the other by Dr. Lindsey on "Contagious Diseases," taking as his theme measles, because of their prevalence and great danger to the child.

Before the meeting closed, officers for the ensuing year were elected: President, Mrs. Brock; vice-president, Mrs. E. O. Shaver; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Tostler.

COFFIN UNDER PAVEMENT

Windsor, June 3.—While making water connections into a building at the corner of Pitt and Windsor avenue, workmen struck a rough box and found it lying just below the pavement foundation. The police gave orders for the burial of the skeleton in the coffin, but before this could be done the hunters got in their work, and soon little was left to re-bury. The skeleton is supposed to be that of one of the original settlers of what is known as Windsor, or possibly of a soldier killed during the trouble some time in this section during the early eighties.

JACKSON CAN'T GO

Ministerial Changes Likely in the Montreal Conference.

Pembroke, Ont., June 2.—Considerable disappointment was caused by the announcement that Rev. G. It was to have given an address tonight at the public meeting on "Does the Old Testament Contain a Divine Revelation?"

Rev. Dr. Patton, the successor of Rev. Dr. Workman, of the faculty of the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, will take Dr. Jackson's place. He is changing with Rev. Wm. H. Sparling.

DRUGGIST 184 DUNDAS ST. LONDON

Ingram had been informed by Judge Cumberland that William Nicols was left off the lists in error, and that D. H. McCullough's name was repeated. Ingram then struck out the name repeated and inserted the name of Nicol, who afterwards voted. For the defence, H. A. Robson argued there was no malice shown, quoting precedents from the court of appeal. For the prosecution, A. A. Andrews contended that the returning officer had no right to alter lists no matter how imperfect. Judge Ryan held he was bound by the court of appeal precedent dismissing the case, but granting a reserve case on the construction of the word "will."

MINISTER OF LABOR SWORN INTO CABINET

Hon. Mackenzie King Takes the Oath—Expected Election Will Be by Acclamation.

Ottawa, June 3.—The youngest cabinet minister in the history of Canada, Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, M.P., C.M.G., M.A., LL.B., assumed office as minister of labor and privy councillor yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In company with Sir Wilfrid Laurier and in the latter's automobile, Mr. King drove to Government House, where before His Excellency Earl Grey, he took the oath of office.

Last night the new minister left for his constituency, North Waterloo, where he will remain for some time. He will take a house in Berlin. The writ for the by-election will be issued without delay, and it is expected that Mr. King will be re-elected by acclamation.

Born at Berlin on Dec. 17, 1874, the grandson of William Lyon Mackenzie, Hon. Mr. King entered the cabinet at the age of 34, the youngest cabinet minister who ever entered the Government. After a distinguished university course at the Universities of Toronto, Chicago, Harvard and abroad, he became first deputy minister of labor on the establishment of the department in 1906, and since then, as a public official undertaking many important missions for the Government as royal commissioner both in Canada and in Great Britain, his career has been one of unvarying and splendid success.

In Ottawa, where he is best known, his elevation to cabinet rank is hailed with hearty approval, irrespective of party predilections, and the minister of labor was the recipient of many messages of congratulation.

COMPARES MEN TO HORSES

Conway Says Old Age Pensions Encourage Degeneracy of Race.

London, June 2.—Sir Martin Conway has made the Derby the text of a vehement philippic against old age pensions.

"Which is wrong," he asked, in a letter to the London Times, "the breeder of race-horses, or Mr. Lloyd-Baker, who is giving men do better with their animals than we do with our own?"

"The methods which Parliament has imposed upon us in recent years, as the right way to improve the efficiency of the nation, are in my opinion, racing men adopted our government's system, is it not certain that English race-horses would be beaten everywhere by horses, bred by selection?"

"In all the recent social legislation Parliament has actually penalized the better classes of the country, and the least fit class of the country is the old people who have failed to provide any savings against their old age."

Regarding the matter of licensing poolrooms, the municipalities had the power to regulate, but not to prohibit, and Dr. Chown considered that this extra power ought to be granted to them.

It was a matter for congratulation that the license commissioners had been given increased power, which enabled them to deal with the sale of liquor in clubs, and also to stop the sale from breweries in local option centres.

Dr. Chown suggested to the consideration of the conference that the hour of closing bars be 10 o'clock instead of 12. Such action would do away with the most dangerous hour of the day for the sale of liquor.

Prison Reform. In the matter of prison reform Dr. Chown pleaded for the church to set itself to work for the indeterminate and probationary sentence. Prisoners are human, he said, and will respond to their better nature if they are treated like human beings, not like beasts.

Dr. Chown closed his address with a strong appeal for co-operation, on the part of the church in the work of the association.

The convention will be in session for three days, and the programme calls for papers upon various municipal accounts in Duluth, Minn.; New York and Pittsburg will be discussed in addresses by the heads of departments in those cities, and a report will be presented on the accounting progress which has been made in California.

JACKSON CAN'T GO

Ministerial Changes Likely in the Montreal Conference.

Pembroke, Ont., June 2.—Considerable disappointment was caused by the announcement that Rev. G. Jackson, acting on his physician's advice, would not attend the Montreal conference, which was opened here this afternoon. It was to have given an address tonight at the public meeting on "Does the Old Testament Contain a Divine Revelation?"

Rev. Dr. Patton, the successor of Rev. Dr. Workman, of the faculty of the Wesleyan Theological College, Montreal, will take Dr. Jackson's place. He is changing with Rev. Wm. H. Sparling.

COFFIN UNDER PAVEMENT

Windsor, June 3.—While making water connections into a building at the corner of Pitt and Windsor avenue, workmen struck a rough box and found it lying just below the pavement foundation. The police gave orders for the burial of the skeleton in the coffin, but before this could be done the hunters got in their work, and soon little was left to re-bury. The skeleton is supposed to be that of one of the original settlers of what is known as Windsor, or possibly of a soldier killed during the trouble some time in this section during the early eighties.

YOUR SAVINGS ACCOUNT

MAY BE SMALL at first, but the noticeable feature of Bank of Toronto Savings Accounts is that they grow.

We are constantly opening accounts for small sums, but these usually increase to amounts that are very satisfactory to both Depositor and Banker.

The first deposit acts as a magnet for the odd amounts that are so apt to be wasted.
