The Star, Unionist: "The position of Quebec today, with only three representatives in the union, and these not of French-Canadians, revives in acute form Canada's greatest national problem.
"It is wrong to impute disloyalty to the mass of those who voted against the union. Nobody can impugn Nova Scotia's loyalty, for instance. The situation in Quebec was different, but is explicable on the same grounds. Isolated in a large measure from the rest of Canada and from the great currents of the world by their language and by their naive lack of interest in outer affairs, the French-Canadians have been unquestionably less concerned in the war than their English-speaking confreres, and party politics has interfered with their proper education. In this fertile field demagogues, bigots and evil councillors of various sorts have shown a mischievous seed, helped not a little by men of their own type, but different n a large measure from the rest of Car men of their own type, but differen creeds, in other provinces."

Gibbons received 6,548 votes, enough ballots to have given him an overwhelming majority in every election save this one.

From the standpoint of a possible re-rn, Mr. Gibbons was faced by a suc-ssion of obstacles which were insurturn, Mr. Gibbons was faced by a succession of obstacles which were insurmountable to any candidate. The flagwaving of 1911, which won Canada for Bordenism, was surpassed in the election just over. The dead set made on the women's votes, to gain them by any and all means, was effective. Wives of soldiers were informed that pensions and separation allowance to their loved ones overseas would be cut off were the Liberals returned to power. In many instances this intimidation of voters was successful. In other cases it had an opposite effect. Organized efforts of the clergy and the turning of prayer meetings into political gatherings and the pulpits into Borden rostrums, also contributed to the strength of the local Borden supporter. No tricks were forgotten, no stones unturned to make sure that London would be placed in the Borden column.

While the result might be termed a victory by some for Bordenism here, it was in a measure a victory for the Labor-Liberal cause for the platform of Mr. Gibbons was adopted almost entirely by Major Cronyn.

The battle in London was hard fought, and at times bitter. There is no fault to be found with either organization, both working hard and getting out every available vote. The interest of the public was intense, and possibly never in the history of London was there so great a percentage of votes cast.

LOSER IN SPLENDID RACE

Speaking to the electors from the window of the Free Press Major Hume Cronyn said: "My friends, I don't know what to say to you. I do not take this as a personal triumph. It's you who have spoken. Whatever the results through Canada, the heart of London is sound and sure. I want to thank the voters and the hundreds of workers. I cannot name them all, but first I want to thank the ladies of London. I cannot exaggerate the work they have done. I also want to thank the soldiers. I have made mistakes, but, thank I have made mistakes, but, thank goodness, the workers covered them all up."

That woman's vote did the trick. It is some job to handle the girls, and the Liberals did not handle them here. Labor may not have fared well in London. Its battles are in the future, and its rights will be recognized.

With the preachers against him, George S. Gibbons did very well. They were apparently more effective than when some of them supported the Hon. N. W. Rowell.

Can't beat money. Oodles of it floated about through Wastern Ontario, so far as can be discovered.

Capt. Hezzelwood will now evaporate from the environs of London. His letter-grams seem to have been effective. Good politics, after a fashion, but poor busi-ness from a national standpoint.

Toronto lived up to its reputation as Toronto the Tory. Once a regular Grit was discovered there. It was a sober election. Had J. Bar-leycorn been in his glory, it would have been a very hectic period.

A good walloping is always worth while. There is much less to apologize for.

Hon. Albert Sevigny, the Nationalist member of the Borden Government, was defeated in two places. That makes it unanimous. Even the music of that famous Victrola will not appeal to him. An election, like a horse race, is finished on the last furlong.

The Old Flag will now be stored away until the next campaign. The Quebec cray sure does get them in that dear old London and Ontario.

Let's see. Be joyful. Most folks will be glad to know that now that the Bor-den candidate is elected here there will be plenty of coal for everybody.

No use kicking against the pricks. It there is no need to complain.

The usual parade was out. It made for a little gayety in rather a sad world.

The enthus asm was too great for the new member to deliver a speech and present his platform, but a rousing fremonstration on the downtown streets brought the day to a suitable conclusion.

Just what bills the Hon. Mr. Henderson will champion are not known yet, out it is the purpose of the parliament to have each one of the thirty members look after a different feature of the work. Suggestions made in parlia-ment and receiving the indorsation of the members will be sent to the advis-ory council on boys' work. One of the primary arms of this new step is to have more of the work taken over by the boys. Nearly all previous programs have been drawn up by men interested in boys' work, and although often successful, they sometimes failed to get the boy's point of view, and for the reason years not a proceeding.

London, Dec. 18.—Germany's way in the west is clear, inasmuch as a peace by negotiation with Great Britain is out of the question at present, Chancellor von Hertling asserted in an interview you fer director of the Wolff Bureau, the semi-official German-News Agency, as quoted in dispatches reaching London today. The interview was given in response to a request for a reply to the recent speech of Premier Lloyd George, who said he would regard peace overtures with Prussia at the moment the Prussian military spirit was drunk with boastfulness as a betrayal of the great trust with which he and his colleagues had been charged. haps, rather, prolonged thereby, because it is clearly out of the question to negotiate with men of such temper. For some time it has been impossible for an attentive observer to doubt that the British Government under Lloyd George's leadership is completely inaccessible to the idea of a just peace by understanding. His speech affords convincing proof of this."

The chancellor then discussed the origin of the war, saying that Germany's conscience was clear, and added:

"More than a year has passed since we and our allies offered the enemy the hand of peace. It was rejected. In the meantime our reply to the papal note has again set forth our standpoint."

After referring to the conclusion of the armistice with Russia, the chancellor went on: "Lloyd George's speech is the British answer to the papal note. Our way in the west is accordingly clear. It is not Lloyd George who is judge of the world, but history. As on August 2, 1914, so also today, we may look forward to its verdiet with equanimity."

The Liberal campaign was laid out upon lines of public service, and a new era for the masses. Mr. Gibbons stood for the enforcement of the conscription act, and properly believed his appeal could be made on the economic conditions of the country and the appeal to reason. THE greatly increased cost of all materials has made it necessary to increase prices, but, while practically every leading Talking Machine Company, except Edison, has taken advantage of the big Christmas demand and increased their prices NOW, Edison, with the same consideration for the public that has marked his every move, is not increasing his prices until January 1st, 1918.

I am well past my three-score years, and want to say that I believe that my own great physical activity is due largely today to my personal use of Nuxated Iron, and if my indorsement shall induce anaemic, nervous, run-down men and women to take Nuxated Iron, and receive the wonderful tonic benefits which I have received, I shall feel greatly gratified that I made an exception to my lifelong rule in recommending it. HOW SCHWAB TOOK HIS FIRST ORDERS FROM KITCHENER.

(By B. C. Forbes.)

Kitchener was expecting and ready for him. He rose and greeted him very cordially, but very briefly. Then he motioned to the other chair in his office. Apart from this chair, the one occupied by Kitchener and a large flattopped desk, there was nothing in the whole vast room in the way of furniture, except an army bed, the only bed which Kitchener's body knew night after night during those terrible days, for the war lord worked literally night and day and had no time to leave his office for sleep. It was just after the anni-blatic of a great part of Rritain's little army at the hattle of Mons. and hilation of a great part of Britain's little army at the battle of Mons, and the subsequent retreat. Kitchener wore none of the insignia, none of the the subsequent retreat. Kitchener were none of the insignia, none of the decorations of a field marshal, none of the many orders or honors conferred upon him by a grateful empire, not even a suggestion of gold braid. He were a khaki suit, so plain and undistinguished that he could have been taken for a private in the ranks, a private who had been on active service and had not had frequent opportunity to furbish up his uniform. Kitchener had evidently slept in his clothes.

Kitchener's countenance and deportment suggested that of Atlas, bent under the weight of the world. His eyes, usually so bright and sharp and penetrating, looked tired and heavy. His demeaner was tragically grave. He appeared to be physically bowed down by the responsibility pressing upon his shoulders. Without loss of a moment, Kitchener got down to business.

How the War Orders Were Booked.

How many shells could Schwab supply, a million? Yes, Schwab could turn out a million. How long would it take? How quickly could they be shipped? Ten months. Good. How about guns? Yes, Schwab could supply guns in quick order. Good. How about guist res, Schwab come supply guns in quick order. Good. What else could Schwab provide? Schwab told him. Good. "What about prices?" asked Mr. Schwab. Quick delivery was more important than any quotation of price. Get the stuff under way, and he would get his price, Schwab was told. It was war times, and was not his company entitled to a war profit? suggested Schwab. Certainly.

It was to be a long, titanic struggle, Kitchener confided. He counted upon it lasting five years (a prophecy to be fulfilled?), and he was anxious to have Mr. Schwab's pledge that control of Bethlehem Steel Plant would not be sold as long as contracts were being filled for the British. Would Mr. Schwab sign an agreement to that effect?

Control of Bethlehem had been valued by certain other interests—not British—as being worth to them $100,000,000. That sum was offered Schwab for his Bethlehem holdings. Here he was being asked to sign a solemn compact to refuse $100,000,000, or any other number of millions of dollars, without any monetary compensation. Did Schwab hesitate to cast aside the $100,000,000? Not for a moment. He assured Kitchener he would sign such an agreement,

Within two years from the day Kitchener and Schwab had their first emorable conference, the Bethlehem plant had supplied Britain with $300,000,000 worth of war materials, an achievement never matched by any other industrial

FRUGALITY THAT WILL BE PROMOTED IN THE UNITED STATES BY THE NEW SAVINGS CERTIFICATES.

As an outcome of the successful operations of the new savings certificate As an outcome of the successful operations of the new savings certificate scheme of the Government, the same being the plan by which the masses of our people may be induced to save small sums, and of which accounts have already been printed in these pages, a writer in the Journal of Commerce believes the country will derive "some extraordinary and fruitful experiences." Devoted heretofore to a policy of peace and prosperity, the country has entered now upon a policy which aims at a vindication of itself. To meet the tremendous cost, "a habit of saving is to be cultivated which will be of permanent value to the nation and all its people." He writes further with fine optimism:

"The manner and measure of raising the funds are altogether without precedent. There are heavy taxations for raising billions and the far heavier loaning of accumulations and current profits to the Government.

"The president of the largest national bank in the country is now in Washington acting as chairman of a war savings committee at his own expense, and is directing a plan for raising $2,000,000,000 for the Government out of the avings of frugality in living. Saving certificates are to be issued in denominations and made obtainable at all manner of convenient places and paid for gradually in small installments. Four per cent interest will be paid upon them, the common rate of savings banks, and they may ultimately be converted into long-term bonds, if desired. "The special merit of this scheme is that it will, for the most part, if not altogether, induce saving and gather in what would otherwise be unnecessarily spent or wasted. It will, therefore, take nothing which would else be added to working capital. Two billion dellars will do much in adding to the nation's war power and making it more effective, much toward winning to the nation's government. Getting it in small sums from all sorts and conditions of people, old and young, will tend to spread far and wide the interest in that for which it it serving. It will cultivate the sentiment of patriotism as well as frugality, and help to unite the whole people in and help to unite the whole people in a common interest."-Literary Digest.

ENORMOUS WOOLEN BUSINESS

UNITED STATES WORSTED COMPANY DOUBLES BUSINESS IN 1917. BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The business of the United States Worsted Company was never more flourishing than at the present. The company is operating its cloth mills full time and its yarn mills overtime, turning out a weekly product of 100,000 pounds of yarn, 100,000 pounds of tops and 120,000 yards of cloth, says the Boston News Bureau.

For the past two months gross receipts have been at the rate of $24,000,000 per annum and it is probable that for the full year the aggregate turnover will be $20,000,000. This is just double the $10,000,000, which the present management figured when it took charge in late 1913, as the probable maximum for the United States Worsted system.

Editor's Note.-There is room and opportunity in Western Ontario for a large worsted plant and now that we have in our city a dyeing and finishing mill with a capacity of over 25,000 yards per week and which has no equal for completeness and modernity of its installations in Canada, and only two of equal size and appointments in the United States—the development of a large pinning and weaving industry will doubtless attract capital very soon to these

The department of trade and commerce is urging in almost every weekly bulletin the desirability of preparing for increased capacity in many lines of industry, laying particular stress upon our present opportunity for building up

Are we here in London with all its advantages as a manufacturing centre going to jog along as usual and let all such opportunities pass us by, or are we going to be alive to the possibilities for a foreign as well as an increased domestic trade consequent upon the new conditions brought about by the war and build for Canada's future? We have the climate, we have the skilled labor in our province and hydro power at a price to enable us to compete with the Shall we want in brains and pluck to take advantage of these conditions? London should have three times the number of industries it has. Our population should be 150,000 and it would be but for a few dominating units like those who forbade us the new G. T. R. station and elevated crossings. We groan under our heavy taxation, but make no effort to reduce the rate by increased population. There has been some aggressive effort to induce capital to come to our city for manufacturing, but, as has always been the case, it met with only half-hearted co-operation. And, if one should favor the city as a location, they get no help financially to build anything beyond what their own capital can compass. The man with money for investment will sing "It can't be done," and satisfy himself that he is an enterprising citizen and a public-spirited man by keeping his money out on mortgage and watching his other property that has come into his hands, largely through foreclosure, and at cost, which give him big interest, at low rents, from tenants who ask for no repairs. We have them and too many. London is a beautiful residential city. It has some advantages which will force its growth after we have had the usual passing off of some deterrent influences. Many a good city is held back from its own by pessimistic human agencies, and London has its share of these.

WALL STREET CONDITIONS

Inasmuch as daily sentiment on the market is so liable to the influence of war operations and developments and of events on the battle lines, it is impossible to form conclusions of the immediate or near future trend of prices, but a very large number of highly desirable investment securities are selling so far below intrinsic values that we do not hesitate to advise purchases for invest-ment, with purpose to hold until the close of the war. The dividends on such securities are well assured, and purchasers, benefitted by high yield during the period of waiting, will, we believe, realize eventually a substantial profit
While markets cannot ignore the fortunes of the battlefields, the prosperity of the last two years in this country has established a most favorable basis for stability to uphold it under the demands of war. The business of the whole country is prosperous, and promises to continue so. The financial quarter is racked with anxiety as to what may happen, when it might better apply brains and enormous strength to bravely solving future problems, however large, with firm conviction that the country's resources are ample to meet the most strenuous and long-continued demands.—Bache Review.

Brosnahan of Thomson & McKinnon says there is one phase of the stock market which I desire to present to you, and that is the inflation existing in commodities You will grant the purchasing power of a dollar today is less than at any time in your career. Securities are the equivalent of money. There is no inflation in money, nor is there inflation in securities. Can money and securities escape traditional war inflation? I do not think so. I believe just as soon as Wall Street can see some sign of peace commodity prices will decline, money and securities advance. You may think me wrong, but I expect to live to see the day, and not far distant, when securities will see the and boil. I believe in an early peace. The success of our aims and the fulfillment of our obligations to mankind as stated by our president. It will come through the breaking down of Germany in an economic way. If you question conditions prevailing in Germany at this time, imagine what they must be when in this land of plenty. We are compelled to economize the necessities of life, not only through scarcity, but because of price. Think it over.

HUMOROUS INCIDENTS

Good-Natured Arguments Enliven Evening's Wait for Dominion Reports.

"The refiners have distributed very fairly, and as a result we have not suffered to the same extent as the citizens of Detroit and of other American cities. The wholesale and retail grocers have co-operated to avert a sugar famine by refusing large orders from a panicky element of the city. There will likely be a further drop in sugar prices about the middle of January, when a portion of the new sugar crop is expected to arrive."

HEAVY HAY SALES RECORDED LOCALLY

Thirty Loads Appear on the Market Today.

The activity of district farmers was devoted to the election Monday with the consequence that few turned out on the local market for the disposal of their produce. According to officials of the square, farmers are holding their produce until Thursday's and Saturday's market, when the Christmas demand will be at its height. Vegetables, as usual, were not offered, the weather being not yet mild enough to warrant the sale of vegetables on the square. The demand for hay was brisk Monday, but only three loads appeared. Now that the excitement of the election is over farmers are bringing their loads of fodder on the market in old-time quantities. More than thinty loads were disposed of today, and more is expected on the sale of today and more is expected on the sale of today and more is expected on the sale of the sale of

NEW ROUTE TO WESTERN

CANADA PROVING POPULAR Runs Through Famous Clay Belt of New Untarlo and the Cobalt Mining District.

Mining District.

On your next trip to Western Canada why not travel over a new route, see the wonderful land opened up in Northern Ontario by the Transcontinental Railway, and gain a glimpse of Temagami, and the Cobalt silver mining region?

You may use two famous trains on your journey without any added expense for railway fare, as compared with any other route. The International Limited will carry you to Toronto, where the "National" starts on its westbound flight. The "National" uses the rails of the Grand Trunk to North Bay, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario (Provincial Government line) to Cochrane, and the Canadian Government Railways to Winnipeg, where it links up with the Grand Trunk Pacific for al important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, inks up with the Grand Trunk Trank of for al important points in Western Canada.

A pleasant daylight run to Toronto, an evening in the Queen City, and the National" is ready to carry you westward. The departure of the "National" from Toronto is at 9:00 p.m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. North Bay is reached next morning, and thereopens for your admiration all the lakeland beauties of the territory served by the T. and N. O. line. These are followed by a wonderfully interesting trip through the sparsely-populated territory of New Ontario, giving the traveler an opportunity of inspecting this fertile region, including the famed clay belt, where tens of thousands of settlers will make their home in the future. The area of New Ontario is 330,000 square miles, fully four times the size of old Ontario, and in addition to great expanses of good farming land, it has wonderful resources in timber, minerals, water power, fish and game. The three railways have combined to make the passenger service over this new road the equal of that offered anywhere on the continent. The smooth, straight and level roadbed embodies all that has been learned in three quarters of a century of railroad building. The dining-car service is unexcelled, and the greatest travel comfort is assured. Full particulars from any Grand Trunk ticket agent, or C. E. Horning, district passenger agent, Toronto.

Rev. Dr. J. B. Silcox, who ended his three years' pastorate in the First Congregational Church on Sunday, leaves this afternoon for Montreal, where he will spend some time with his daughter.
