ORDERS INDUSTRIES TO PAY FULL TAX

'Ban' Special Forms For 'Whiskey Kings'

TAX OFFICIALS TO COLLECT IN REGULAR WAY

Federal Authorities in London District Investing Profits.

RUM-RUNNERS' REPORTS NOT OPEN TO POLICE

Money Made by 'Bootlegging' Comes Under Heading, "Other Income."

With reference to a report from Windsor that federal income tax authorities were issuing special income tax returns for rum runners and bootleggers, inquiries at the district office elicited the information that while the income tax officials were conducting investigations into the enormous profits of the "kings" of the whiskey trade, no "special" forms were being issued. All income, no matter from what source, must be shown only on the regular forms.

Owing to the large number of persons engaged in the business it will be some time before the work of investigating into the profits gained by the more notorious of the rum runners can be completed, but the officials say that their explorations into the income of the runners have been eminently successful.

Many of the runners seek to evade income tax by depositing their profits in Michigan banks, which in some tax authorities have not so great access as to Canadian banks. All money made under practice of bootlegging must be reported under the heading, "other income," on the income tax forms, says the official.

If the bootlegger is also a farmer he must report on the farmer's tax form and if not on the other pre-ferred forms.

The investigations cover the profits gained from the pursuit of bootlegging during 1920, and the beginning of 1921.

Not Open To Police.

Windsor and the border cities are where the efforts of the federal income tax authorities have concentrated their efforts. Certain problems of the profits of bootleggers have been carried on. One peculiar feature of the bootlegger's returns is that though on the income tax sheet many are professing self-admitted bootleggers, they are still immune from prosecution owing to the fact that the files of the income tax officials are not open to the department of justice.

Seeks Alliance Support.

Col. Brown asked the support of the alliance for a course of lectures which are to be given under the Western University Extension System. He asked that representatives from each church enter the course, and that the city churches do all in their power to aid the movement. The subject met with great approbation on the part of the members.

The speaker of the evening was Col. William Beattie, who prefaced his remarks on "The Battlefields of Europe," by expressing his regret of the death of Sir David Watson, one of the nation's greatest soldiers.

Resolutions were passed testifying to the high esteem in which were held two members, Rev. G. M. Young and Major A. Graham, who are about to leave the city.

Invite Five Kings and Queens to Westminster Abbey

These kings and queens of five European countries have been invited to attend the wedding of Princess Mary to Viscount Lascelles. They are, left to right, above: King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain; Queen Helene and King Victor Emmanuel III of Italy; below: King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Romania; King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium; King Haakon and Queen Maud of Norway.

SAVES MONEY BY TALK TO BANDIT

Calgary, Feb. 20.—Dr. T. H. Blow, a well-known Calgary citizen and ex-member of the provincial legislature, was held up by an armed robber almost in front of his home Saturday night. The robber demanded $50, but after some parley the doctor induced the hold-up man to put the gun in his pocket and then gave him five dollars. The man who explained he was very desperate through unemployment, thanked the doctor and disappeared.

BRANTFORD FAMILY OVERCOME BY GAS

Brantford, Feb. 20.—Coal gas escaping from a kitchen range nearly caused the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sherred and four children Sunday morning.

A daughter gave the alarm by cries of distress and aroused her father, who was just about to stagger to the bedroom window and throw it up before he collapsed on the floor. Reviving in about twenty minutes, Mr. Sherred immediately opened other windows in the house, thereby saving the lives of the other members of the family.

TORONTO BREAD PRICES BOOSTED TO 9 CENTS

Toronto, Feb. 20.—Toronto housewives were somewhat startled this morning to find that the price of bread had been boosted over the week-end. The new price is nine cents for the small loaf—a pound and a half—and is a cent higher than the price that prevailed during the past two months. Bakers claim that the recent advance in wheat and flour prices is responsible for the dearer bread.

FOILS ROBBERS AT COURTLAND

Tillsburg Liveryman Made Target For Rocks and Gunfire.

HALTED BY THREE MEN

Escapes by Quickly Starting Damaged Car Again at Full Speed.

Special to London Advertiser.

Tillsburg, Feb. 20.—A daring attempt at holdup was made near the Grand Trunk tracks at Courtland, 4 miles east of Tillsburg, last night about 11 o'clock. Max Barrett, of the local livery, was driving a traveler, and when near Silver Hill, some 15 miles south of the town, broke a rear axle and telephoned to his brother Donald to come out with another car and pull him back to town.

Nearing the cheese factory Donald Barrett heard a loud report, and thinking it was a tire started to leave the car, when another bullet whizzed past, and a flashlight was turned on him. He had just stepped back into the car when a large rock smashed through the glass in the sedan, and before he could start again another rock plunged through the rear of the car. He did not stop to make any more investigations, but drove away at full speed.

He could not see his assailants near enough to identify them, but there were three men in the party, all possessing flashlights.

REACHES TOP OF MOUNT FUJIYAMA

Tokio, Feb. 20.—Major Orde Lees, a British ballistist and Polar explorer, has just completed a trip to the summit of Fujiyama, the celebrated mountain in southeastern Japan, and it is asserted he is the first European to have reached the top of the mountain in winter. The mountain is 12,385 feet above sea level.

Major Lees was accompanied by H. C. Irish, of London, and accomplished his trip to the top of the mountain in 48 hours. The last 4,000 feet of the climb was made over slippery ice. Major Lees was a member of the Shackleton Antarctic expedition in 1914 and he and Irish are members of the British air mission to Japan.

MAKE OUT IN BRITISH AERIAL FREIGHT RATES

London, England, Feb. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—A cut of 30 per cent in the air freight rates between London and Paris, is announced by the Handley Page Company. Under the new tariff two-pound parcels are collected, carried and delivered for 22 pence. There is a progressive reduction for higher weights until 44 pounds are carried for 16 shillings and 6 pence, after which the charge is 5 pence per pound.

ANNOUNCE DECREASE IN COST OF FOODSTUFFS

Chicago, Feb. 20.—Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, last night formally announced the engagement of his daughter, Mathilde, aged 16, to Max Oser, 48-year-old proprietor of a Berne, Switzerland, riding academy.

Miss Mathilde is one of the heirs to the great fortune of John D. Rockefeller and Cyrus H. McCormick, inventor of the reaping machine. She has lived in Switzerland for the past eight years.

SPLIT IN SINN FEIN PARTY IS NOW EXPECTED

Delegates to Dublin Convention May Number Three Thousand.

PREDICT FREE STATE ADVOCATES WILL WIN

Question of Disposition of Funds To Receive Serious Consideration.

Dublin, Feb. 20.—Delegates to the Arde Fheis or National Sinn Fein convention, which meets tomorrow, were already gathering in large numbers this morning. About 3,000 representatives from all parts of the country are entitled to attend. The ostensible purpose of the convention is to decide the future constitution of the Sinn Fein movement, but by the discussions and final vote will be revealed the comparative strength of the supporters of Eamon de Valera and Arthur Griffith among the Sinn Fein clubs throughout Ireland.

It is widely believed that the convention will result in a complete cleavage of the organization, and the formation of two bodies, pledged respectively to the Anglo-Irish treaty and to holding out for a republic. Opinions differ as to the duration of the convention, some expecting it to last for a week and others predicting only a one day's session. If a split occurs, the question of the disposition of the party funds will become acute, some believing they will be antipathetically divided proportionately to the respective strengths of the factions, while others forecast a hot controversy and a difficult settlement. Forecasts as to the division, if one occurs, vary greatly, but most observers expect a small majority for the free state advocates.

14,000 British Troops Remain in Ireland

Dublin, Feb. 20.—Fourteen thousand British troops are now left in Ireland, according to a statement issued by the publicity branch of the Irish Republican army.

Fifty military barracks and 150 police barracks have been taken over by the provincial government.

De Valera Denounces Control in Ireland

CORK, Feb. 19.—A striking feature of the meeting held in Cork today under the auspices of Eamon de Valera was the presence of large numbers of the Irish Republican Army from the City of Cork and from various parts of the country, who are assembled in companies under their officers.

Donald O'Callaghan, lord mayor of Cork, presided at the principal platform from which the speeches were delivered.

Mr. de Valera proposed the same resolutions as were adopted at his meeting in Dublin last Sunday. He repeated virtually the same arguments as were then put forward, declaring that Ireland was in greater danger today than it had been at any time in 750 years.

The Countess Markievicz and Charles Burgess and other followers of De Valera supported the resolutions.

DON RIVER ICE JAM MOVES OUT

Heaviest Damage Is Done to Canadian Pacific Property.

Toronto, Feb. 20.—A heavy down-pour of rain yesterday, aided by previous mild weather, caused the ice in the Don River to move out last night, flooding the surrounding district.

Though ice piled several feet high along the banks, the damage will be slight. The most serious result was to the track of the Canadian Pacific Railway main line to Ottawa, where the ice completely blocked the line for some time, and today men were engaged in clearing it away. Fifty horses in the stables of a brick company were rescued just as the water neared the danger point.

This is unusually early for a breakup in the ice on the Don. Last year the weather was fairly mild and no undue rush was witnessed. In 1920, the ice moved out on March 12, while in 1919, the weather in January was particularly mild, but resulted in no breakup. In 1918, the weather continued cold and no rush of ice was caused.

BANDIT SECURES $50,000 AT DINNER

Deal, N.J., Feb. 20.—A dinner party at the home of Mrs. Sarah H. Robertson was interrupted on Saturday night by a masked bandit, who was admitted by the hostess, and at the point of a revolver robbed her of a handbag which she told the police contained jewelry valued at $50,000, stripped her four guests of their valuables and escaped.

CITY SOLICITOR MAKES RULING OF IMPORTANCE

T. G. Meredith Disagrees With Alderman Ashplant On Assessment.

DECISION WILL COME BEFORE CITY COUNCIL

Springbank Dam and Purchase of Gas Plant To Be Discussed.

"I am of the opinion that the property in the annexed district is not, by the order of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board made upon annexation, exempt from the payment of school taxes."

The above is the ruling of T. G. Meredith, city solicitor, in regard to Ald. Ashplant's contention that the industries of the annexed areas should pay taxes on their total assessment as recorded in the books of the assessment department, and not on their fixed assessment.

The solicitor's ruling will be presented to the city council and will bring from Ald. Ashplant a motion that steps be taken to collect the school rate on the full assessment for 1922. And he may also urge that steps be taken to collect the taxes for as many years back as the law will allow.

Would Buy Gas Plant.

The ruling of the solicitor will not effect the 15-mill rate, but recently Ald. Ashplant had figures prepared by the tax collector to show that many of the industries pay school taxes on a small, fixed assessment. He contended that it was illegal to apply a fixed assessment to school taxes.

Another important proposal which the aldermen may lay before the council is a proposal that the city offer to purchase the City Gas plant, equipment, etc., for the amount of the paid-up capital stock of the shareholders.

Mr. Ashplant stated that it looked as if the shareholders feared they were going to suffer a loss on their investment. He gathered this from a perusal of the auditor's report, and suggested that if the company could not run at a profit, the city might not make a bad bargain by buying them out. The paid-up stock, he said, was $216,000.

Expect Warm Discussions.

Attention was also drawn by the aldermen to the fact that the company has a surplus account of about $300,000 and as money is being lost at the $12.5 gas rate, it must have been when the rate was 90 cents that this surplus was piled up. He expressed the opinion that if the city could take over the plant at $216,000 it would be able to sell gas at 90 cents and make money for the citizens.

proposal to allow aldermen a fee for each meeting attended, promise to be two other continuous subjects for discussion tonight.

Cooper, "takes the egotism out of the human being."

"Now consider the bear for instance. Haven't you seen loads of people who insist upon pawing you?"

"And then there's the feline type," continued Cooper. "I saw a woman of that type in the train the other day; carry a grudge to their dying day, stay with you as long as you have food and nice things to give them. But let the food and comfort go and the feline type goes!"

"There's the dog type, faithful to the end. A dog's faith and belief in the person it loves is a magnificent thing; there are people with such faith."

"You've seen the elephant type. Big lumbering people, awkward, well meaning, really clever, but they don't show it very well. Patient, long suffering."

"You know you can shoot an elephant with a small calibre rifle any number of times and the shot won't puncture the skin, but there's a flea that gets under his ears and drives him wild. You've seen such people surely!"

"Animals are exactly like people," says Cooper, "the human mother who has to work hard right up to the time her baby comes usually considers the child a burden. So with animals and for that reason we put them in a cage alone with nothing to do but breed the mother instinct before the baby is born."

CONFESSES TO TRIPLE SLAYING

William Anderson, Prisoner in Columbus Penitentiary, Reveals Crime.

TWO WOMEN VICTIMS

Claims He Threw Rival to Girl's Hand Over Viaduct.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 20.—Three mysterious slayings, in two of which women were the victims, may be solved by the confession, County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton announced Saturday, of William Anderson, known also by half a dozen other names, now a prisoner in the Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary for forgery.

Anderson confessed, Stanton said, to the murder of Miss Gretchen Brandt, Mrs. Elsie Kreinberg and Santo Lomachio. In each case, the prisoner who is 45 years old, said he committed the murder "for love," and confessed, Stanton said, "to get peace."

Miss Brandt was beaten and stabbed to death in her home in January, 1921; Mrs. Kreinberg was choked to death on a lonely road, September, 1918, while Lomachio met his death by being hurled from a bridge in February, 1919.

The prisoner said he had known Miss Brandt for about eight months, and added: "I wanted to marry her, but could find no way to get a divorce from my wife, and rather than see her marry another I took her life." Stanton quotes the prisoner as saying:

"The motive that prompted the slaying of Miss Brandt also led to the killing of Mrs. Kreinberg, Stanton said the prisoner confessed.

Lomachio was thrown over a viaduct when the prisoner found him walking across the bridge with a girl friend of his, Stanton said the prisoner confessed.

COUNTY ENGINEER

REPLIES TO DRAKE

Declares Alderman Unaware of True Facts Relating to Roads.

Criticism of the county roads, recently directed by Alderman Gordon Drake, at County Engineer Charles Talbot, is not particularly relished by the county engineer.

"Alderman Drake should be ashamed of himself for making such remarks about the roads between Nilestown and Dorchester," said Mr. Talbot Monday morning.

"This road is not as bad as the Hamilton road, Wellington street south, Wharncliffe road north, and Dundas street in the city of London."

"Ald. Drake lives on the Hamilton road. He has forgotten that the county people have not had control of the Hamilton road from the city limits to Dorchester station, or on Dundas street, from Pottersburg to Cumlin, since 1918. Possibly he is not aware that the portions of the Hamilton road, Dundas street, and the Wharncliffe road referred to, are in the city of London."

"He says that I built the road between Nilestown and Dorchester two or three years ago. This road was built in 1856, and the work I did at the time he refers to as 'building' was a repair job, such as must be done on any highway to keep it in reasonably passable condition. In other words, Ald. Drake is apparently not able to distinguish between building a new road and the ordinary maintenance of an old and well established highway. The work was done under the order of the suburban area commission in the spring of 1917, and was not a work of construction in the ordinary sense."

"The Rotary Anniversary" in London will be celebrated in the Tecumseh Hotel Tuesday evening, February 28, when members of the Rotary Club will stage a banquet. The chief speaker of the evening will be Major Fred May, who will talk for his topic "Canadian Ideals." A splendid program for the anniversary is being prepared and advance information indicates that the affair will be a bumper entertainment.

Charles Bell Pleads Poverty But Is Able to Pay $200 Fine

Although William Henderson, counsel for Charles Bell, pleaded that his client was a poor man and that it would be working a hardship on Mr. Bell if a large fine was imposed on him for a breach of the O. T. A. Mrs. Bell hurried from the court room after a $200 fine had been tacked on her husband by Deputy Magistrate P. H. Bartlett, and returned in a few minutes with the green paper that saved her husband from doing a three months' term at the county jail.

"This is a hopeless case for the defence," stated Mr. Bartlett in summing up the evidence. "This house is a house under the act and under previous conviction is not a place where liquor can be kept, and I find the charge proved."

Officers paid a visit to Bell's house on Nelson street two weeks ago and found two large bottles of liquor which had been obtained by "pers" and a small bottle which Mrs. Bell claimed she had filled for herself two months before from one of Charles's bottles, obtained under doctor's orders.

"Does that mean that I can't have any liquor in my house," asked Mr. Bell after Mr. Moule, police court clerk, had rung up $200 on his cash register.

"I have given my decision," said Mr. Bartlett.

"Well, Mr. Judd says I can have it," Mr. Henderson, who tried to get some satisfaction out of Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K.C.

"Now, Charlie, I can't tell you anything in front of these newspaper men," said Mr. McKillop with a smile. "That would never do."

"I want to know if I can have it in my house, because my wife is sick and has a 'per,'" persisted Bell, who was also unable to get any definite information from License Inspector J. E. Keenleyside.

CALLS EINSTEIN 'BACK NUMBER'

Prof. R. C. Dearth Tells Rotarians Theory of Relativity Unimportant.

REPORTS CONVENTION

Lloyd Houlding Appeals For Support For "Boys' Own London Tiser."

Professor R. G. Dearth, chief of the department of physics at Western University, was the speaker at the Rotary Club weekly luncheon in the Tecumseh House Monday noon. He described his experience at the convention of the American Society for the Advancement of Science, staged in Toronto recently.

The speaker first drew attention to the fact that eighteen sections were maintained at the convention, which made a review of the entire session practically impossible for one person. The Society for the Advancement of Science, he pointed out, enjoys a membership of 11,000, of which number 1,600 were in attendance at Toronto, during the five days, and in which time 95 meetings were held in various sections.

According to Dr. Dearth, a feature of the meeting was the motion picture depicting the atom, which he asserts, has animated cartoons "backed off the map."

"Dreamers Needed." The most interesting phase of the meeting was not science at all," he declared, "but the men present. They were not like the stereotyped college professor, but were, I was going to say, almost human. They were all types who have got to tackle the scientific problems of today; the same types of mind as in the business man. There were dreamers who are absolutely essential the same as in business. Where would business be without dreamers?"

In the speaker's opinion one of the outstanding addresses delivered to the society was that of Dr. William Bateson, the famous English biologist who, although he believed in the doctrine of evolution, astounded the scientists present with the statement that Darwin's theory of evolution must be relegated to the discard.

"He also referred to an address delivered by Sir Adam Beck. Beck that afternoon you could not help but admire and applaud the man for his personality and the work done, whether you were in favor of the methods or not," said Dr. Dearth. "It was a revelation to many of our American cousins on the work accomplished."

"You might wonder what is the good of it all," he concluded. "It brings men together for an interchange of ideas."

Deprecates Einstein. Questioned as to the importance attached to the Einstein theory of relativity by the convention, Professor Dearth replied: "Einstein was a back number, and there was little mention of his theory, although it was startling at one time. Relativity is of secondary importance."

"This convention will assist in linking up our sciences with industry. With our university we want co-operation to make it a factor of service in this district. We will apply what we brought back from Toronto to our departments at Western University."

During the luncheon Lloyd M. Houlding of the Y.M.C.A., drew attention of the Rotarians to the "Boys' Own Tiser" published weekly by boys of London and urged their co-operation in advertising it to encourage the boys. He announced that the Rotary Club would act as trustee of funds derived from this publication to be used in furthering boys' work in London.

Robert Green, a rotarian, who has recently returned from a trip to the West Indies and southern United States, briefly addressed the club during the session.

ARRANGE TO OPEN CREAMERY IN CITY

Messrs. Wilkinson and Tracey, Detroit, representing the International Creamery Company of Detroit, called on the board of health officers Monday morning in connection with the opening of the new branch of the International Creamery in this city.

They interviewed Dr. Tamlin, chief of the board, and Dr. W. S. Downham, the medical officer of health, and announced that they would open a cold storage, creamery and ice cream industry in the old abattoir plant of the Canada Packing Company, at Pottersburg, just east of the city limits.

Discussing the proposition with the two health officials, Messrs. Wilkinson and Tracey informed them that the new company would be an international one, inasmuch as half the stock would be held in Detroit, and the other half on this side of the line.

No date as to when the plant would open was given, but they stated that they intended to advertise for contractors for a milk supply immediately.

MEMBERS OF THE Kiwanis Club will make merry in the Tecumseh Hotel on Thursday evening, when "Ladies' Night" will be staged. The committee in charge of arrangement is reticent regarding the form of entertainment to be provided, in the expectation of providing fellow Kiwanians with a pleasant surprise. A portion of the evening will be devoted to dancing.

The Railway Association of Canada has asked the co-operation of the London Chamber of Commerce in an effort to have all the municipalities adopt the daylight savings scheme May 1. Nine Nurses Taking Course.
There are nine nurses studying for the certificate of public health nursing, all of whom it is expected will graduate this year, and six who are taking the course part time. This is particularly interesting in view of the fact that McGill has only nine students taking this course, and Ann Arbor only nine, Toronto, on the other hand, has 41.

In addition to the special courses given, there are 24 undergraduate students from the university taking subjects in their regular course as 49 nurses from Victoria and St. Joseph's Hospitals taking courses.

Public health lectures are given to art students to the number of 48 and to 4 special students, teachers in the public schools, 132 students are taking bacteriology and 38 students are studying communicable diseases and other subjects contributory to public health. Chemistry also taught to 165 students from the arts and medical departments of the university and the undergraduate nurses.

BENEFIT BY PUBLIC HEALTH LECTURES
Survey Shows Attendance of Students at Course Greatly Increasing.

A comparative survey of the number of students benefiting by the lectures being given by the Institute of Public Health for the years 1920-21 and 1921-22, shows that on the whole the numbers have increased 70 per cent.

The staff of the institute is busy all the time dealing with subjects, ranging from those pertaining to post-graduate courses for medical men who are anxious to secure their diploma of public health, to those giving extension lectures all over the country.

There are three members of the medical profession taking this post-graduate course to enable them to become public health officers of a city, and thirteen who are taking certain subjects in which they are particularly interested, but who do not aspire for the diploma.

LIBERALS NAME 4 DELEGATES

Prominent London Workers To Attend Convention in Toronto.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS

Mrs. Edward Grange To Represent Women's Reform Association.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Liberals of London was held in Hyman Hall, Saturday night, for the purpose of electing delegates to the Ontario Liberal Convention to be held in Toronto March 1 and 2.

A. T. Little, president of the Liberal Association of London said, in opening the meeting, that it was the outcome of a resolution adopted at the Ontario executive meeting to hold a convention for the selection of a leader made necessary by the resignation of Hartley H. Dewar, former Liberal leader, whose work had been assumed in the meantime by Wellington Hay.

Those eligible to go to the convention were sent from Ontario, Liberal members and defeated candidates in the last Dominion provincial election, members of the Ontario executive, a representative from the Women's Liberal Association and three other delegates to be selected at the meeting.

C. R. Somerville, the Liberal candidate in the last Dominion election will attend, and E. S. Little as a member of the Ontario executive is also eligible.

The chairman then submitted names that had been nominated by the Women's Liberal Association, the Liberal Club, and the Reform Association. The names of those submitted, together with their alternatives, were: Mrs. Edward Grange and alternative, Mrs. U. A. Buchner from the Women's Liberal Association, John Weber and alternative, John McMaster from the Liberal Club, William Heaman and J. C. Elliot and alternative, E. D. McLachlan and Col. Eric Reid, from the Reform Association. Other names could be nominated if these did not meet the approval of the meeting.

"It is for the meeting to decide who should go," said the chairman. "These names have merely been handed in as being approved by the different Liberal organizations in the city."

Peter Mitchell was of the opinion that it was not good policy to bring the names of men forward in the matter, but that they should be nominated by those present at the meeting, which had been called for that purpose.

Objects to Principle.

"That kind of thing would not be tolerated in North Middlesex," said Mr. Mitchell. "Not that I have anything against any of the men represented and I have been supporting J. C. Elliot for 25 years, but I don't like the principle."

Mr. Oliver said that he had been working for the Liberal party for the last seventeen years, and that he did not know that the names were going to be picked ahead of time. It was not that the names selected were objected to, but the manner in which the business was being done. The delegates should be selected from those present at the meeting.

U. A. Buchner, speaking on the subject, claimed that the presence or absence of a person from the meeting should not qualify or disqualify him from being a delegate, but that the men should be sent who would be of material assistance to the convention. The local branch must send those who knew what was required of them, and would select a leader with principle, who would formulate a policy that would turn out the heavy spending commissions, and make them responsible to the government of the province. The men who go as delegates should be familiar with public affairs, and must oppose group organization, he said.

Mr. Buchner suggested that the names of the women delegates be accepted without a vote, but Mrs. Edward Grange, one of the women nominees, said that if a vote was taken it should include the women as well as the men.

Mrs. Jared Vining, speaking for the women, said that the names of the women delegates be accepted without a vote, but Mrs. Edward Grange, one of the women nominees, said that if a vote was taken it should include the women as well as the men.

This was done, and the names of Dr. Harry Reason and Dr. W. J. Stevenson were put forward. However both were withdrawn.

Impressive Ceremony Marks Opening of New Collegiate Institute

A short but impressive ceremony attended the commencement classes in the new Collegiate Institute building Monday morning, Feb. 20. The members of the board of education attended in a body, and following the doxology and prayer by Rev. A. A. Bice, Trustees E. Smith and A. E. Silverwood gave short addresses.

It is the intention to open the school each morning with prayer and a short exercise. For these opening exercises the school is to assemble in the auditorium, which is most conveniently situated on the first floor, before repairing to the various classrooms.

Since the fire on April 22, 1920, which completely destroyed the Collegiate Institute building, it has been necessary to utilize several of the public schools for half the day, to accommodate Collegiate Institute pupils.

but with the new school in operation, the public schools are enabled to resume their usual schedule.

All the Collegiate Institute classes are now accommodated in three buildings. In the north wing, the former commercial department, are three first-year classes and one second-year class. The other first-year classes still assemble in the Princess Avenue School.

In the new building, there are seven middle school classes, two upper school classes and nine second-year classes.

The date of the formal opening has not yet been set, but it is expected that it will be arranged to suit the convenience of the minister of education, who is to be here for the ceremony.

A program is under way, which will provide for the opening ceremonies to extend over at least two days. It is expected that March 2 will witness the formal opening.

VICTORIA SCHOOL OPENS FEB. 27

February 27 has now been set as the opening date for the new Victoria public school. Trustee A. A. Bice, chairman of No. 2 committee of the board of education, explained Monday morning that the committee would be practically unable to take the building over from the contractors before the end of the week.

There are several adjustments yet to be made the chairman explains, but he expects that everything will be in readiness by Monday next.

Trustee A. E. Silverwood, chairman of No. 3 committee, who on Friday last instituted a private investigation of the school to ascertain the source and quality of the lumber used for the flooring, is unable yet to make a report, he declared Monday morning.

At a special gathering Monday morning the chairman of the various committees completed their estimates for the meeting of the board in the afternoon.

A GENERAL MASS meeting of the members of the Street Railwaymen's Union is scheduled for Monday evening at the Labor Temple, when their present disagreement with the company as to wages and general working conditions will be discussed.

the Women's Liberal Association.

"The members of the Women's Liberal Association came here tonight to learn how things were done, and we are certainly learning."

Mrs. Vining further pointed out that they had had considerable difficulty in getting representatives who could go to the convention, but that they had secured two very able persons, and that they would be very much disappointed if the women members were not sent.

"The women's association is entitled to representation," she said. "The two women nominees are making quite a sacrifice in order to go."

Motion Carries Unanimously. A motion was put to the meeting to allow a representative of the Women's Liberal Association to be one of the delegates, which was carried unanimously.

No more nominations being forthcoming the names of those first submitted, together with their alternatives, were selected as delegates.

C. R. Somerville, who was called upon to address the meeting, declared that the Liberal party should be of a decidedly democratic nature, and that the delegates who were going to Toronto were going there with the idea of doing the business as they saw best.

"I have absolute faith that they will do it," he said, "and that Mrs. Edward Grange, the woman delegate has a firm grasp of the importance of public things and that London will be well represented in her."

"Liberalism covers everything," continued the speaker, "and if we are all good Liberals, we are all right. The Conservative party at present is torn to pieces from coast to coast, and while there are also other parties at the present time it is the Conservative party that we have got to deal with in the future, and we know pretty well how we are going to deal with them. There may be dark spots throughout the country," said Mr. Somerville with a smile, referring to Toronto and London, "but the sun will shine in those places very soon." Great things had been done in the past by the Liberal party, but the speaker predicted greater things for the future, if the leaders of the future followed in the steps of those who had gone before.

The delegates all thanked the meeting for the honor paid them in electing them delegates, and pledged themselves to do all in their power to further the interests of the Liberal party.

An expression of approval was sent to Wellington Hay in his endeavor to have a reasonable account given to the government of the way that the large spending bodies handle the people's money.

The delegates were: William Heaman, J. C. Elliot, John Weber, Mrs. Edward Grange. Alternatives, Frank D. McLachlan, Col. Eric Reid, John McMaster, Mrs. U. A. Buchner.

TOO LATE TO COLLECT

ANDERSON ABANDONED WILL PAY fine a round for dogs delivered Wednesday at Hyde Park.

SEEK REMOVAL OF BAN ON DOCTORS

Aldermen To Debate Amending Hospital Trust Constitution.

Though J. Cameron Wilson, M.D., as mayor, sits on Victoria Hospital trust by virtue of his office, there is a provision in the act incorporating the hospital preventing Mayor Wilson from sitting on the trust in his professional capacity. In other words, J. C. Wilson, as mayor Wilson, is acceptable to the incorporators of the trust, J. C. Wilson, as Dr. Wilson, is not acceptable. The fact that the former takes precedence nullifies the ban on the medical man.

A movement is now on foot to have this ban on doctors removed, and application is being made in the city of London bill to the coming session of the legislature to change the hospital act. Mayor Wilson presented the matter to the council.

Ban Dates From 1883.

The ban on doctors sitting on the trust dates back to the act of incorporation in 1883, which set out that the board of trustees should consist of the mayor, two members elected by the people, and one member from the county. A clause was inserted preventing physicians in active practice from seeking election to the trust.

It is stated that this clause was inserted at the request of the doctors of the time. It is stated that at the time there were two factions among the medical men, and so that one side could not be accused of partiality, if it secured representation on the trust, the general ban was put into force. It is now proposed to remove it and allow doctors the same advantage as others in sitting on the trust.

"It may be an advantage and it may not," said one man connected with the hospital trust. It was pointed out that at the present time there is a board of physicians to advise the lay members of the trust. This body is active and is frequently consulted in regard to hospital matters.

Fear Change in Control.

There are those who look upon the new move as the first step in changing the present control of the hospital trust. There are members of the council who would even go farther, one doctor-alderman openly declaring that the hospital trust should be abolished and the hospital brought under the direct control of the city council. No move with this end in sight has appeared, however, and if such a move were made would meet with strong opposition from some of the aldermen who have declared for a continuance of the present trust.

TO TALK ON CITY OF LONDON WATER

"Our City Water, Its Peculiarities and the Best Method of Adapting It for Industrial Use" is the subject of an address to be delivered by Thomas Faust Tuesday night, at the first of a series of meetings arranged by the chamber of commerce for the purpose of advancing the use of science in industry in London.

Dr. E. G. Sturdevant of Western University will speak on "What the Chemist Is Doing for the Iron, Steel and Brass Industries," while Professor Bowman has chosen as his topic, "How To Get the Best Value Out of Your Coal."

FINDS KAUFMAN DID NOT BREAK SUNDAY LAW

Deputy Police Magistrate P. H. Bartlett did not think that Louis Kaufman was committing a breach of the Lord's Day Act when constables saw him moving boxes in his shoe store a week ago Sunday evening, preparatory to moving to a new place of business on Monday morning, and so dismissed the charge.

"Mr. Kaufman was not carrying on his ordinary calling, and I am going to dismiss the case," stated the court in giving judgment. The evidence was taken last Monday.

TRUSTEES WILL OPPOSE ADDITION

Trustee Wright Declares Third Story for Collegiate Out of the Question.

While it is understood that Trustee William Clark will move at a special meeting of the board of education Monday afternoon that a third story be placed this year on the new Collegiate Institute, it is acknowledged that his proposal will meet with stern opposition.

Trustee J. E. Wright explained Monday morning, that before the original plans were prepared, the suggestion that the school be three stories in height had been thoroughly discussed and finally rejected. "In my opinion it is decidedly out of the question," comments Trustee Wright. "Furthermore, we have thrashed out this question before."

On Monday afternoon, the trustees will consider a 1922 building program, estimated at approximately $500,000, exclusive of a branch high school. The board will be asked to approve of a school to replace the Empress Avenue School, West London, and an eight-story building at Baiton and Price streets to relieve the congestion at the Ealing and Chesley Avenue Schools.

While it is expected that the board will pass on these additions without delay, it is problematical whether the proposed expenditure for London Technical and Art School will be sanctioned this year. Trustee Wright, chairman of the advisory vocational committee, will move its adoption, however, and will be supported by Trustee Rowe, chairman of the same group last year.

TELLS STORY OF BITTER STRUGGLE

Woman, Mother of Five Children, Recites Pitiable Tale in Police Court.

A tale of a woman's fight to clothe and feed her five children after her husband had been committed to the Ontario Hospital was unfolded in police court Monday morning by Inspector Kelly of the Children's Aid Society. Mr. Kelly stated that he had been in touch with the case for over two years, and that the day before the woman's last child was born she had done a big washing, earning $2 for her day's work.

The day the little baby came into the world she had been shamefully beaten by her husband, and the $2 had gone toward the funeral expenses of the little unfortunate, who had barely had a chance to live.

The husband was committed to the asylum, and then the struggle for a living commenced. Finally she had gone with her five children to keep house for her uncle, whose wife had died. He had two children.

It was suspected for some time that conditions in the house were not as they should be, and Sunday night officers arrested the uncle and niece. The woman admitted in court that conditions described in the warrant were true.

It was explained by Mr. Kelly that he would do everything possible for the woman in order that she would keep her children, but that he would like them made wards of the Children's Aid Society, as they still were all under 16.

The Soldiers' Aid Commission will do everything possible to improve conditions for the father of the two children in order that he may keep this children.

DENIES THEORY OF GRAVITATION

Fred Daly Upholds Views of Einstein at New Thought Society.

ADVANCES NEW RULE

Contradicting Newton's theory of gravitation, which he declared to be quite untenable in the light of recent discoveries made by Einstein and Einstein's followers, Fred W. Daly, addressing the members of the London New-Thought Society, Sunday afternoon, advanced a new theory to the effect that motion is what holds the earth together, holds the various bodies of the solar system within neighboring distance, and keeps people, buildings and other things on earth, instead of letting them fly off into space.

Newton's theory, which has been accepted for so long by astronomers and other scientists, is to the effect that all bodies attract one another, directly in proportion to their size and inversely in proportion to the greatness of the distance between. But this is all wrong, according to the view which Mr. Daly, as a student of Einstein, has arrived at. Mr. Daly is not dogmatic and admits that he may be wrong. In fact, he stated, that he hoped astronomers and others would correct him, wherever he has erred, but it appears to him that astronomers before the time of Einstein left the time-element out of their calculations entirely. The old astronomy was constructed, he claims, on the basis of a stationary universe.

Simply a Name. "Gravitation is simply a name to hide our ignorance," said Mr. Daly. "The astronomers really don't know what it is."

Daly's theory of gravitation is to the effect that all bodies forced to travel at a certain rate of motion invariably try to travel along the most direct line of that rate of motion.

So far as the earth itself is concerned, it tries to repel other bodies to throw off the people and things on it, but for the moment they are attached to it, and therefore forced to travel at the same rate of motion as the earth, that is to say at about 66,600 miles an hour. The center of the earth travels along the most direct line of that motion, and so the surface and the other objects attached to the earth in trying to get on that line too, press down upon the earth and towards the center of the earth.

Two Great Motions. The earth is subject to two great motions, rotation on its axis, which at the equator amounts to a speed of something more than 24,000 miles a day, or 1,000 miles an hour, and the greater speed around the sun of 66,600 miles an hour.

According to Mr. Daly's theory of gravity, the controlling motion rate which is erroneously called gravity is for practical purposes the hypothesis of a triangle represented on two sides by 1,000 and 66,600. There may be other motion rates or factors affecting or entering into what is called gravity, but in comparison with the higher rate of the earth traveling around the sun, they may be disregarded in simple calculations.

MILK PRODUCERS TO DISCUSS HERD TESTS. At the annual meeting of the London District Milk Producers' Association, J. C. Nichol, Wilton Grove, was re-elected president; W. J. Ellis, vice-president, and I. B. White, secretary-treasurer. The following executive was appointed: W. A. Bogue, Angus Beattie, L. McClary and J. Winters. An executive meeting was held Saturday, and it was considered advisable to hold a public meeting early in March, for the purpose of having the milk producers discuss the question of testing of herds for tuberculosis, a matter which was brought before the city council a few weeks ago. Capable speakers will be secured to discuss herd testing and other problems confronting dairymen, full particulars of the meeting to be announced later. The executive is asking all milk producers to take an interest in this organization.

Everyone is Welcome at Any of These Churches On the Sabbath Day

Urges More Prominent Place For All Teachers of Humanity

The sermon given by Rev. J. W. Graham, D.D., Sunday evening at Centennial Church, the subject of which was "The Teachers of Humanity," was delivered with freedom, and showed originality and regular development of the theme.

"Why not put the teachers in a corner?" asked the speaker, proceeding to describe the position of the teacher in the community and the home. "The teacher must necessarily occupy a place of prominence, of central attraction. The teacher is the exponent of all knowledge, without him or her the great part of today's common knowledge would lie dormant just as the solution of some of the world's problems are sought for in vain. Schools are useless without teachers. Now the educational system of Canada is an organization of no small dimensions, but without the teacher, this invaluable asset of our country would count for naught. Still again, speaking strictly, the resources of the Dominion could not have been devoted to their present state without the teacher. In this the teacher has a vital application, but how development of the kingdom of God is teaching its finest, widest, and most beautiful application, in that it is a most important factor in bringing souls to Christ."

Discusses Facilities.
Mr. Graham then entered upon a general discussion of the training facilities for teachers of tomorrow. He was opposed to the plan of the Roman Catholics, that not only should they have separate, high and public school boards, but should also receive part of the taxes for maintenance, but backing up his argument with the fact that the Methodist Church had today many schools of its own, the cost of the entire upkeep of which this organization bore alone.

"But to return," he went on, "I hope that I have made clear to you how indispensable is the teacher, and therefore make clear the fact that that is, given good reason why the teacher should not be placed in a corner. By teacher I do not mean

ASKS AID FOR UNFORTUNATES

During the course of his sermon, preached at King Street Presbyterian Church, Sunday evening, Rev. J. McKillop, B.A., minister of St. Paul's Church, West London, referred to these unfortunates of London who cannot afford to purchase warm clothing, and urged the congregation to relieve such distress to the limits of their ability. He declared that this action is but one part of the activities required to promote further warmth in the Christian church, which at present is far below normal. "Taking for his text, 'Who Can Stand Before His Cold,' he said in part: 'At this time of the year I think it appropriate to speak on the power of frost. There are so many homes without coal, so many houses with broken window panes, children with no mittens and men without overcoats. We should think of these unfortunates. How is the world to be warmed up?' asked the speaker. 'It is a great question, and it is only by the furnace of Christianity. If we think kindly and warmly of our unfortunate fellows, the furnace of Christian sympathy has many pipes through which the heat goes out.'

"Many Christians are as cold as icebergs, and their hands shake as cold as that of a polar bear. The temperature goes down when they enter prayer meeting, and they have icicles hanging from their eyebrows. They have been a hindrance to the Christian church all through the ages, but there are other Christians," continued Mr. McKillop, "with the smile of the morning, good fellows and God's own gentlemen, without whom the furnace of the church would go out. I hope this church has many of that type of men." He then illustrated his point by everyday incidents, demonstrating true Christian worth, one of which was a comparison of a man who sends a check to the church, but never attends, and the plodder who takes part in all Christian endeavor, despite inclement weather.

"We have not yet started with our Christian activities. The climate of heaven is ideal, with no frost. If you and I ever get to heaven it will be because God marks our papers early and winks at our intimacies. I hope when you go home this evening, if you have anything to snare in your clothes' closets you will think of some poor unfortunate and see that he or she gets it. Christ came to us to make the world warm. The church is the world's hearthstone; its great fireplace. Don't you think the man in the cold who has money and is stingy with it? Some crucify their families."

"You know those men. They will soon be dead and their wives and sons will spend their money quickly then. I hope they squander it. Feel toward your heavenly home as you do toward your own. Come in out of the cold into the warmth and splendor of the great fireplace."

ARRANGE FOR LENTEN SEASON

London Catholic Churches Prepare for Advent of Easter.

The approach of the Lenten season occasioned the choosing of the subject of "Fasting," mortification of the body, for the sermons in the Catholic Church on Sexagesima Sunday. The second Sunday before Lent and generally referred as 60 days from Easter.

The Epistle of the day was from St. Paul's Epistle to the Corinthians, Ch. xi, 19-23. Father A. P. Mahoney, the speaker at St. Peter's Cathedral, explained the history of this Epistle. A schism had occurred in the church. St. Paul had apologized to these people and a few he had left. Word had reached him that teachers, jealous of the apostle's authority over the people, were causing trouble. He wrote to them and that letter makes up a part of the Epistle of the day.

Father Mahoney pointed out that St. Paul's appeal was based on his life of love for Christ, his loyalty to Christ. He spoke of his miracles and other wonderful things which Christ had done through him. He cited as another test of his loyalty to Christ, the fact that he had fasted. This was a test of his orthodoxy. Father Mahoney here pointed out that the law laid down in the course of sermons that the day was appropriate for a recital of the advantages of fulfilling the Christian precept of fasting.

Garden of Paradise.
The principle of fasting, he said, dated back to the Garden of Paradise, where the fall of the first parents, when they were told "thou shalt not eat." Afterwards, sin became more prevalent, it became pre-eminent as a means of mortification. The speaker cited Moses fasting 40 days, and also before he got the Ten Commandments. King David, and in fact all the prophets fasted, while the Jews had weeks set aside for periods of fasting.

Father Mahoney said that when Christ came to earth a much higher motive was given to fasting. This was especially true of the apostolic days when the apostles fasted and prayed. And so it came down throughout centuries. Today we hear that it was all right to fast then, and it is all right to fast in monasteries, but that it does not apply to ordinary every day life.

This the speaker declared to be false. It does apply today, and especially during the Lenten season. There were certain advantages in following the strict law of the church.

Before proceeding to outline these, Father Mahoney stated that there are other kinds of mortification besides fasting, but that the church deems this the best, the most sacred and pre-eminent among those leading to God.

Frequently, said the speaker, the body wins over the soul. There was a tendency to pamper the body. He cited St. Paul's method in which he chastised his body.

"Does that make any impression?" asked the speaker after quoting the Jews' words, "thou shalt not eat." The thought that the goal he should make is to treat his body as if it were a temple. We of today are trying for the same. Do we chastise our bodies? Are we Christians, or counterfeits, or shamers? asked Father Mahoney, pointing out that St. Paul was a saint. He expressed the opinion that the words of people who claim to be Christians, but who are not, he did not like to say so, but it was a fact. If they do not mortify the flesh they will become castaways.

Good Means of Paying.
Fasting, said the preacher, is a good means of paying that temporal punishment which must be met either in this world or the next. He had studied the matter carefully and concluded it was easier to pay here. How many pay nothing while on earth? he asked.

This mortification of the body had a third benefit. It raised the mind to things spiritual. He remarked that when men "fast in deep mid-winter, open-doored to Heaven" then they come to know how tribulation is something to glory in. "All things work together for good to them that love God."

The second problem that oppresses us is that of our own worth and the worth of our endeavors. We look at the heavens and we ask, "What is man?" Conscious of our frailty and feebleness and of the brevity of our lives we wonder if we are worth while. But God has declared his faith in us and the cross of Jesus tells us something of our worth to God. When a man realizes that he is immortal being and redeemed not with silver nor gold, but with the precious blood of Christ, then surely he will begin to live as an immortal.

So also the question of the life everlasting is only answered when men stand in the presence-room of God. Science has no sure answer to the question, "If a man die shall he live again?" Philosophy is not proof positive. But the man who dwells in God's presence has a sure word. "God is not the God of the dead but of the living" and "He would be ashamed to be called our God if he had not prepared for us a city."

SEES MENACE TO YOUTH IN BRIGHT LIGHTS OF CITY

"Our Boys Down Town" was the title of the sermon preached by Rev. G. A. Leichter at Adelaide Street Baptist Church Sunday evening to a very full church. Taking for his text Psalms i, 1, "Blessed is the man," and Hebrews ix, 27, "It is appointed unto a man once to die, after that the judgment."

Mr. Leichter said that "the boys who are trooping in and out of the homes of today, care free and careless, are to be the future men of the nation, and the logical outgrowth of the type of nation this shall be in the future depends on the type of boy reared today. Furthermore, the activities into which he enters down town will determine largely the type of life he shall develop."

"I need not say again that the modern city has increasing dangers," said Mr. Leichter. "I need not say in many relationships of present day life, the fellow who takes no moral risks is thought of as a dud and out of date. The 'real fellows' laugh at the lad who hesitates to take the plunge into the abyss. The fastidious of the city challenge all the animal in a man's nature, and if he does not accept the challenge and go the pace he is out of date. These things are all true of this day and age. They are the marks of the time."

"Do not forget that the price of riotous living is as steep as the Alps and as rugged and a lifetime of happiness is 'if far' greater value than a few days of indulgence. 'Whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.'

"Hollywood, America's moving picture cesspool, is proving that the corruption of practice is eventuating itself in its inevitable fruitage. 'The way into final darkness and defeat is skirted by bright lights and melodious with the song and story, ribaldry and indulgence, but the end thereof is death.'

Pictures Judgment Day.
"When the great day comes and God asks for settlement you will be granted no reprieve. The architect lays aside his pencil and his plan, the carpenter his adze and apron, the merchant his bank book, the lawyer his brief, and the preacher his sermon; not one bargain, though a million voices were bidding. We shall have settled business upon our hands. We hear no more light and music, no shuffle of the foot in the dance, of all the thousand voices that laughed and sang with us, not one left. Markets closed, lights out, curtains drawn, life over, what then were turning to Christ. Blasphemers were speaking with new tongues, drunkards were renouncing their cups, gamblers were giving up their evil life."

DECLARES FAITH ANSWER TO ALL

In Robinson Memorial Church, Sunday morning, Rev. W. L. Hiles took for his subject, "The Need of Viewing Life in the Light of the Sanctuary of God." Taking his text from Psalm 73: 16 and 17 verses, Mr. Hiles showed how the psalmist had a record of how the psalmist had fought his way through a despairing mood to faith in the goodness and justice and love of God.

The old problem of the suffering of the righteous and the prosperity of the wicked was the problem for which the only answer seemed to be a denial of the existence of the God in whom he had been taught to believe. But when he went into the sanctuary of God then he understood. It is only when men stand in the presence of God and see life from the standpoint of the eternities that they can interpret life aright.

Mr. Hiles spoke of the problems that were very painful until men looked at them in the light of the eternal. This problem of the suffering of the righteous and prosperity of the wicked with which the psalmist was dealing. How awful life would be if men lost faith in the love and goodness of God. But when men "stand in deep mid-winter, open-doored to Heaven" then they come to know how tribulation is something to glory in. "All things work together for good to them that love God."

The second problem that oppresses us is that of our own worth and the worth of our endeavors. We look at the heavens and we ask, "What is man?" Conscious of our frailty and feebleness and of the brevity of our lives we wonder if we are worth while. But God has declared his faith in us and the cross of Jesus tells us something of our worth to God. BELIEVES PRAYER CAUSED REVIVAL

On Sunday morning in the First Congregational Church Rev. M. Kelly, the pastor, took his text from Psalm xxxviii, 17. In the course of his sermon it was pointed out by Mr. Kelly that it was a great thing when persons were "ready to halt" in a sinful life, and he referred to the religious revival now going on in Northeastern Scotland among the fishing villages, Yarmouth, Wick, Fraserburg and Peterhead. This revival was practically without any great leader, said Mr. Kelly, but the spirit of God. It was a movement among the people themselves, and great num-

URGES CHURCH TO GREATER ACTIVITY

Rev. Judson Kelly Emphasizes Need of Spiritual Revivals.

Rev. Judson Kelly, taking his text from the 15th chapter of St. Luke's Gospel, delivered an inspirational sermon entitled "The One Lost Sheep." The speaker declared that the recovery of lost property was a natural trait with every human being. It is not a sin to do so, but it is a God given principle. Furthermore, it is not natural for man to sin. It is not sinful to wish to recover lost property because God owns everything. He owns everything, not with the idea of merely owning it, but he owns it so that it may be blessed. Some say that the devil has wrested the reins of power from God, but the devil has only done so far as the human race allows him to rule them, and as much as God allows. The devil has not even the key of hell, so little does he own. He has neither the power to lock or unlock its doors.

The speaker declared that this world may be represented as a lost sheep. He wondered if, as often stated, there were other worlds, if these other worlds had gone astray like this one had, or if they did not need a Christ to save them.

Mr. Kelly asked, "Why has man gone astray? Why do men do wrong? It is not that man is a mis-managed angel. God made man in his own image. He has made him a divinity. God has given him the power, and if man has gone wrong it is because man will do so wrong. It is sometimes thought that when a man's meanness are found, then the man is found, but such is not the case. Man is only found when he is grasped by the hand and one looks into his eyes with the eyes of love."

The preacher declared that the church has failed in not going out after men. The only business of the church is to save men. The only business of a preacher should be to save men. The greatest thing in the world is to save a soul, and humanity fails in its duty to God if it fails to do this. It is only when men feel the breath of God playing on his heart strings that he can be truly said to be saved. It is only by love that you can touch a man's heart and until that is so man cannot be saved to be saved.

Mrs. Wyatt sang in a sweet and pleasing voice the story solo and the hymn "There were ninety and nine."

At the close of the regular services a social hour was held in the Wesley Hall, conducted by the choir, to which all were invited.

Sunday was the anniversary of the educational society in connection with the Methodist churches of the city of London, and it was intimated that the sum of $800 had been raised at the morning service. The objective desired by the First Methodist church is $1,200.

OUTLINES WORK IN CHURCH COLLEGES

Prof. W. A. Potter of Victoria College, Toronto, spoke in Hyatt Avenue Methodist Church Sunday morning on behalf of the educational fund, and in a very able and pleasing manner explained the work being done in the Methodist colleges. Rev. R. J. McCormick, pastor of the church, preached in the evening on the "Fold Pull of the Church," and expressed the thought that the people needed the church and the church needed the people.

HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET.
CAYUGA, Feb. 19.—The winter supper of the Cayuga branch of the U. F. O. and U. F. W. O. was held in Humphrey's Hall on Thursday evening with more than 200 members in attendance. After supper the Rev. E. W. Thompson occupied the chair, and Mrs. Thompson briefly welcomed the assembly. Speeches were given by the district agricultural representative, Mr. Frey, and Inspector J. L. Mitchell. Miss E. Lent gave a vocal solo, and Miss L. Little a violin selection. Mrs. B. Humphrey acting as accompanist. Euchre and dancing were enjoyed after the program.

Declares St. Peter Delivered Ministry of Rome to Linus

Using as his text, St. Mark, xvi, 15, Rev. W. L. Armitage of St. James' Anglican Church took occasion Sunday evening to reply to the Father A. P. Mahoney's challenge of his previous Sunday evening's sermon, the matter of which was based on the newspaper heading, "The Mantle of St. Peter falls on Basil." During his first sermon the rector claimed that such a statement was erroneous and gave authentic proofs of such error.

Fearing lest absolute silence might be taken for acknowledgment of defeat, Mr. Armitage referred to the subject again Sunday evening. "The only orders given the church were marching orders issued to all believers, by our great head of the church, Jesus Christ," he said. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," was the command. All of the apostles received this same order, which is to be carried on to the end of time.

All Were Missionaries.
"The early church members were all missionaries. They went everywhere, no-ones were established. The Ignatius Father Mahoney referred to wrote seven epistles, but only one mentions St. Peter in one of them. These words: 'I do not, as St. Peter and St. Paul command you. They were apostles, I am a condemned man; they were free, but I am even to this day a servant; but if I suffer, I shall then become the freeman of Jesus Christ, and shall rise free' (Chap. iv.). There is no personal claim to such a position as bishop of Antioch."

Irenaeus, bishop of Lyons, born 59 or 60 years after the death of St. Peter, writes: "The blessed apostles, therefore, Peter and Paul, having founded and built the church (at Rome) handed over the ministry to Linus, the same mentioned in St. Paul's epistles to Timothy."

"St. Paul writes in the epistle to the Romans within ten years of his death, and up to that time he never been to Rome; the letter was addressed not to a church, but 'to all that be at Rome, beloved of God, saints making a home of their own in a place of boarding.' To girls, anticipating a home of their own, the pastor advised training, incidental and directed. The incidental training is that which comes from adhering to the laws of obedience and respect. 'No private in the army can learn to command who has not learned to obey. When Shakespeare would portray cynical disobedience on the part of a daughter he wrote his King Lear," stated Rev. Mr. Beattie.

Gives Rules For Home.
Giving some rules for the government of a home for a young bride, Rev. Mr. Beattie advised the "feeling of the best." Keep yourself neat and tidy as you did when your husband was courting you. Budget your income and your outgo. Last of all and most important of all, the pastor urged upon home makers the romance of religion. "Romance, not in the sense of fiction, but of wonderment. Christ in a home would smooth out all difficulties and bring peace and happiness," concluded Rev. Mr. Beattie.

YKATERINBURG, Russia, Feb. 19.—Associated Press.—A Bolshevik account of the execution of the late Emperor Nicholas and his family, which took place here on the night of July 16, 1918, has been made public in a pamphlet written by P. Bykoff, former chairman of the Ekaterinburg soviet.

It was inspired by the communist opinion that the story of the execution should be told from the Bolshevik side. But apparently it did not meet with the approval of the higher officials, for although it was published in the closing days of 1921, it was immediately withdrawn from circulation. The book was printed by the state printing department of the Ural district government in this city, and gives a general review of the labor revolution in the Ural. The last chapter in it records the emperor's death, and is entitled "The Last Days of the Czar."

Carefully censored. The book was obviously censored carefully before it was published, as it lacks many details of the execution which ordinarily would have been given by eyewitnesses. It attempts to justify the execution by explaining that the Orenburg Cossacks were then threatening Ekaterinburg from the south; the Czech-Slovak forces were pressing in from the east, and letters had been received showing that plots were being formed to deliver the imperial family to the counter-revolutionists. Two extracts from the letters are quoted as evidence of the existence of these plots.

According to Bykoff's account, the last words of the emperor when he and his family were led into the basement of their prison and told that all the Romanoffs must die were: "But are we not to be taken anywhere?"

The empress and her four daughters (the grand duchesses Olga, Tatiana, Anastasia and Marie) and the little czarevitch and the remaining members of the household of eleven were so stunned that they said nothing when Avdeff, the commandant of the house, ordered them to line up against the basement wall and pronounced the sentence.

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.—Adv.

GIRLS! LEMONS WHITEN HANDS

Press the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter-pint of harmless and delightful lemon-bleach lotion to soften and whiten red, rough or chapped hands. This home-made lemon lotion is far superior to glycerine and rose water to smoothen the skin. Famous stage beauties use it to bleach and bring out soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

Nobody Dies in Hepworth in Year, and Only One Couple Marries.

HEPWORTH, Feb. 19.—According to a report issued from the office of the clerk of the village of Hepworth, this place has established a health record, for not a single death occurred here during the year 1921. This is something that not many towns of this size in the Dominion can boast of. During the same period, however, Dan Cupid did not lag far behind the grim reaper in the matter of inactivity, for he is only credited with bringing one couple into the matrimonial state in the course of the year. The work displayed the most activity, and increased the population of the village considerably by his visits during the year.

members of the execution squad is not revealed.

The pamphlet places the responsibility for the execution of the Romanoffs directly upon the Ural district soviet which decided early in July, 1918, that the czar and his family must die and entrusted the execution of the sentence and the destroying of the bodies to Peter Ermankoff, an old workman of the Ural district works.

Avdeff, commandant of the house, read the sentence, according to Bykoff's story, and there were only four witnesses. But it is not indicated whether Avdeff shot or even witnessed the death of the imperial family.

There were no statements in Bykoff's account which indicate that the Ural district soviet carried out the execution under direct orders from Moscow.

The Romanoffs were in their ordinary clothing when shot. It was not their custom to retire until long after 10 o'clock at night. Consequently all were still dressed when the ill-fated group of eleven was unexpectedly ordered to the basement and shot.

Bykoff's story says the guards outside the house and the public were kept in ignorance of the shooting by showing that plots were being formed to deliver the imperial family to the counter-revolutionists. Two extracts from the letters are quoted as evidence of the existence of these plots.

Burned in Woods.

At 1 o'clock the next morning the eleven bodies were secretly removed from the house and taken to neighboring wood. There the clothing was removed. The bodies were burned first and then the clothing. Bykoff says the jewels and fragments of jewelry which Admiral Kolchak's officers later claimed to have found in the ashes were probably concealed in the clothing and overlooked by the men who disposed of the bodies.

In addition to the czar and czarina Alexandra and their four daughters and one son, the persons who met death in the basement were Prince Dolgoroukoff, Dr. Bodkin, who was physician to the Romanoffs, a lady-in-waiting and a man who was nurse to the czarevitch. The names of the last two are not given in Bykoff's pamphlet.

Grand Duke Michael, brother of the late czar, was shot at Perm in July, 1918, according to Bykoff's account, and the Grand Dukes Sergius Mikhailovitch, Igor Konstantinovich, Konstantin Konstantinovich and Ivan Konstantinovich were killed about the same time at Alapalevsky, north of Ekaterinburg. These members of the Romanoff family had previously been held as prisoners in Ekaterinburg, but were transferred because of the uncertain position of Ekaterinburg with the approach of the Czech-Slovaks.

Detroit Street Railway Commission
Offers $19,500,000 For Lines and Equipment.

DETROIT, Feb. 19.—A difference of half a million dollars in the price the street railway commission was willing to pay and that asked by the stockholders yesterday delayed the conclusion of the negotiations for the purchase by the city of the system of the Detroit United Railway.

The stockholders fixed a selling price of $20,000,000 for the lines and equipment, exclusive of the Highland Park terminal, while the commission offered $19,500,000.

The day's conference closed with a plea by A. Avila Gingras of Montreal, representing a majority of the stockholders, that the commission reconsider its bid. The commission is to meet on Monday for a final decision.

CHANGE VENUE OF MURDER HEARING

KINGSTON, Feb. 19.—It was officially announced yesterday that Fred Bryant, who with the Upton brothers, is charged with the murder of Constable Beard of Napanee, will be tried here instead of in Napanee.

Mr. Justice Rose having transferred the place of trial for the Uptons from Napanee to Kingston, it was realized that it would be impossible to try Bryant at Napanee at the same time, and the crown is arranging to have him tried here. An order will be asked from Mr. Justice Logie, who is to preside at Napanee, to have the Bryant case transferred to Kingston. This is done so as to complete formalities in the case.

LOOT CHURCH OF FOOD AND DISHES

WOODSTOCK, Feb. 19.—The church at Hickson was broken into and the church dishes, eatables and other loot taken. Saturday, three residents of the village, Mrs. Annie Harlow, Miss Mable Heather and Leonard Heather, appeared in court, and after pleading guilty to the offense, were let off on suspended sentence, after promising to make restitution.

Provincial Officers Charged

HAD STANDER CONVICTED

Alex. Szpak and Edward
Chopin Declared Interpreter
Sold Them Alcohol.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 19.—Magistrate Blake of Galt handed out his judgment in the case of Alex Szpak and Edward Chopin, two provincial officers, who, it was alleged, had perjured themselves to get a conviction of Louis Stander on a breach of the O. T. A. Magistrate Blake dismissed the case.

The magistrate made no comment on the case, remarking only that there was a doubt in his mind that the defendants had sworn falsely, as had been charged. He said he was going to give them the benefit of the doubt.

As "spotters" for the Ontario License Department, Chopin and Szpak were the two witnesses against Louis Stander, coal merchant, when the latter was charged with selling liquor. They swore that Stander sold them a quantity of alcohol, and on this testimony Magistrate J. C. Coffey found Stander guilty, and imposed a fine of $1,000 and a month in jail. Stander, through his solicitors, M. W. McEwen and W. S. Brewster, K.C., later entered an appeal from the conviction. It is to be heard by Judge A. D. Hardy this month, following an adjournment from a date fixed earlier in the month.

Furnished Information.

Shortly after Stander's appeal was entered warrants charging the two "spotters" with perjury were issued on information furnished to the police by M. M. MacBride, M.P.P., the men were arrested in Toronto and brought back to Brantford in charge of Acting Detective Harry Stanley.

When they appeared in the police court before Magistrate W. C. Livingston, counsel for the two men, Mr. Geoffrey, K.C., of Toronto asked to have the hearing transferred to another court. This was not granted by Magistrate Livingston, however, and an adjournment was made. Before the case came up, however, Magistrate Livingston asked leave of absence pending the police inquiry, which was granted by Attorney-General Raney.

Subsequently Magistrate Blake of Galt and Magistrate Massie were appointed to fill in and the perjury charge came up before the former. A great deal of evidence was taken down at the hearing, and at its conclusion Magistrate Blake reserved judgment. This he gave today, freeing the two men, Szpak and Chopin, of the charge.

Both had been out on their own bail as the result of a request furnished Magistrate Livingston by the attorney-general's department.

EXPECT MAYOR TO TESTIFY.

MENINGITIS AFFECTS HORSES.

Freed From Chatham Jail When They Pay Fines With Bogus Checks.

CHATHAM, Feb. 19.—Bruce and Arthur Eves of Chatham Township, confined in the county jail for breaking the Ontario temperance act, secured their release from that institution this morning by the presentation of a false check for the amount of their fines. It appears that a man named Brown went over to the county jail and handed over a check for the correct amount of the fines and costs to Governor Davidson, who thereupon released the above prisoners. Upon the presentation of the check at a local bank it was returned marked "No funds."

DALAI LAMA IS HARD WORKER

Ruler of Tibet Labors Harder
Than Average Businessman.

LONDON, England, Feb. 19.—The Dalai Lama of Tibet, the religious and secular head of that secluded country, has to work harder than the average British or American businessman. He gets up at 4 o'clock in the morning and labors until midnight, notwithstanding the fact that he is unquestionably the "big boss."

Sir Charles Bell, a British political officer in India, who has just returned after a year's residence in the romantic "forbidden city" of Lhasa, the Tibetan capital, says the Dalai Lama is a "wonderful personality." Sir Charles is one of the few Europeans who have mastered the Tibetan language, and this helped him to become friendly with the head of all Tibet.

"He paid me the honor of inviting me into the forbidden inclosure of his country palace," said Sir Charles.

Wonderland of Flowers. "This was a little wonderland of flowers, birds and wild animals—a hidden retreat where he gives deep thought both to his religious and state affairs. Hundreds of canaries were singing here, and there were also stags, pheasants and a great tiger from Bengal."

The climate was intensely cold when Sir Charles arrived, and for days the temperature indoors never rose above freezing point. In the place of window glass, Tibetans used a sort of waxed cloth. It lets the wind in, but they are a hardy race, and do not appear to feel the discomfort of the cold.

"Mutton, yak beef and pork are the staple diet," Sir Charles went on. "Tibetans do not like either chickens or eggs. They do not sleep on beds, but on the floor, on which are placed large, downy cushions. You lie on top of these and fold them over you. They are very comfortable and warm."

Official Date for Winter.

"There is an official date for winter to begin and end, and the fur hat and other warm garments ordered for officials are invariably worn without regard to weather conditions between those dates. However comfortable the official may be with the fur hat before April 25, or without it after that date, he would never dream of departing from the sartorial convention in public for five minutes. The etiquette of the people is very elaborate and strict."

"There are, practically speaking, no police, no firemen, and no wheeled traffic in Lhasa. If a man suffers from toothache, he goes with a few friends on to the flat roof of his house. His friends bring a big stone, around which they fasten a string. The string is then tried to the bad tooth, and the stone dropped over the roof top. Two or three friends hold on to the patient to prevent him from going over too."

HOSPITAL BUDGET FOR YEAR REDUCED

Brantford Board Hopes To Cut Costs Ten Per Cent.

BRANTFORD, Feb. 19.—The board of governors of the hospital has forwarded its budget to City Clerk Leonard. The board states that it will be able to manage this year on an amount 10 per cent less than last year. The amount that they have asked for is $31,500. The information was embodied in the following letter: "I wish to point out that the board of governors has made a reduction in its demands of 10 per cent from last year, in consequence of the unexpected government grant and the hope that the expenditure for supplies, etc., will cost less than during 1921; also that owing to the present economic conditions it is impossible to say that the revenue from paying patients will be maintained at the same amount as in 1921, and should it prove that the moneys received from this source are much less than for 1921, the board will be required to ask the council for an additional sum, but in the hope that it will not be necessary."

PICK DELEGATES FOR PARTY RALLY

CHATHAM, Feb. 18.—The executive of the West Kent Liberal Association, in session here this afternoon, appointed delegates to represent this constituency at the Ontario Liberal convention which will be held in Toronto on March 1 and 2. The delegates are: Thomas Odette of Tilbury, James Newkirk of Chatham, James Brady of Merlin and John Zavitz of Wallaceburg.

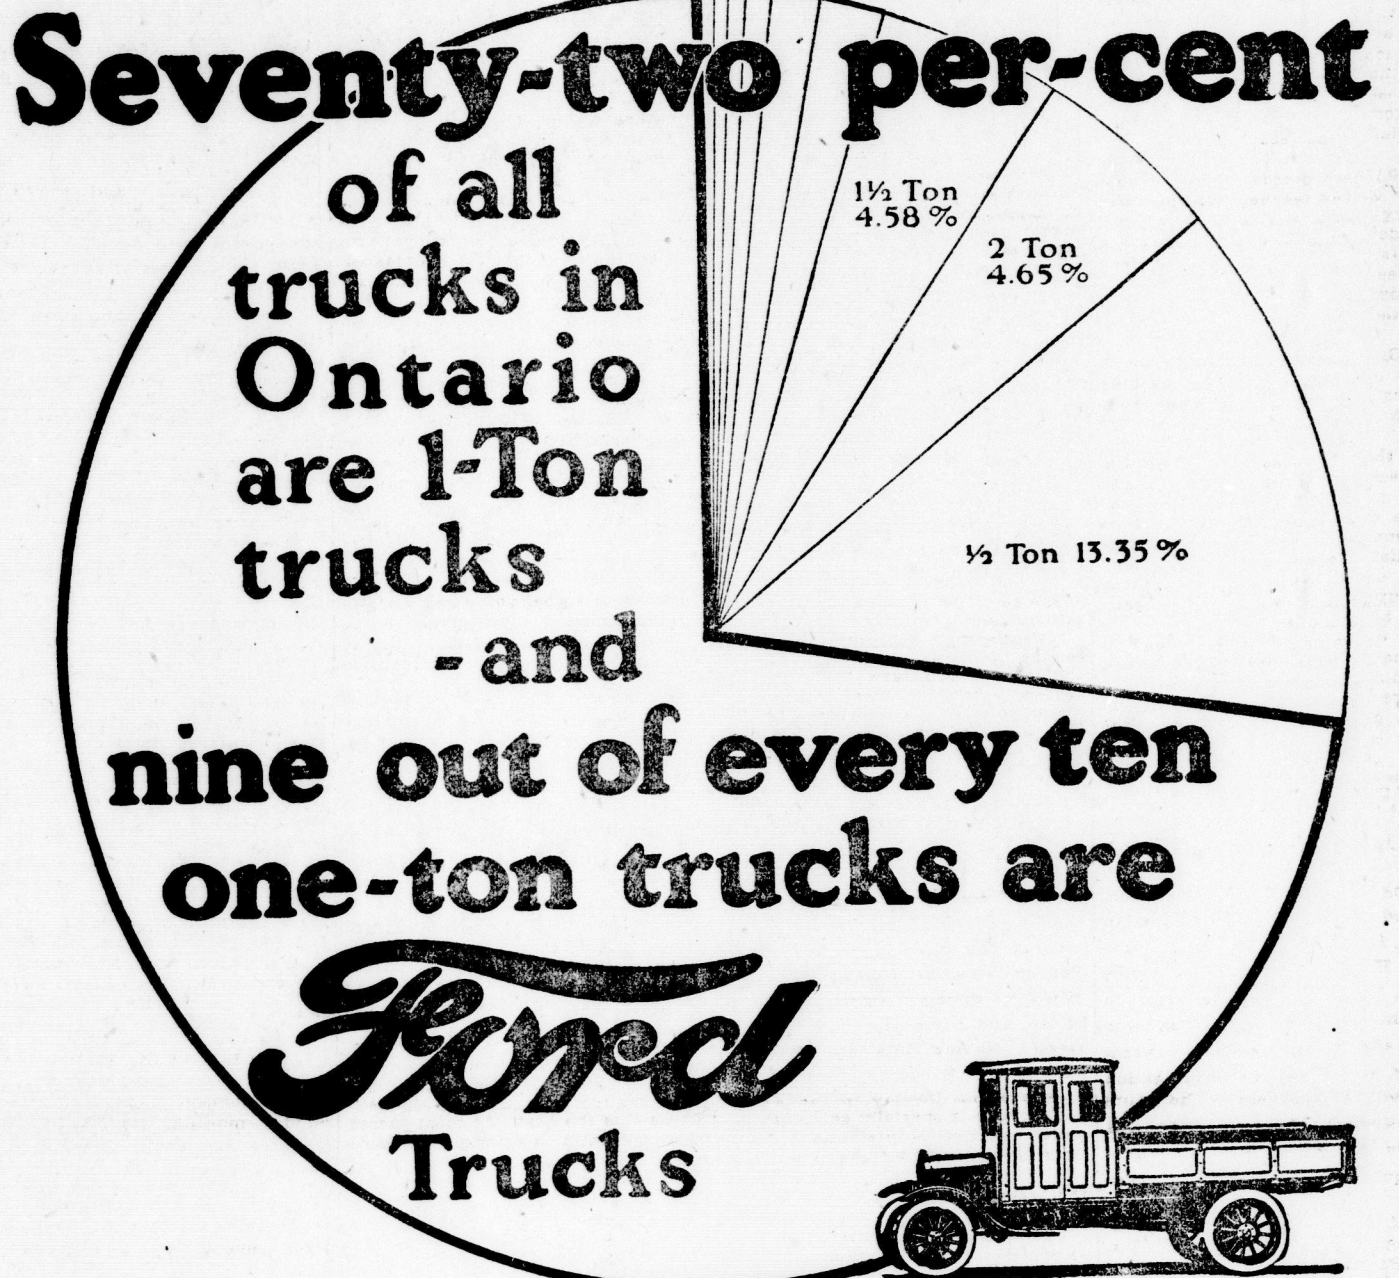

The alternatives are: Thomas Robinson of Coatsworth, S. White of Raleigh, James Slater of Chatham Township, Reeve T. F. Hinnegan of Wallaceburg, Fred Pinsonneault of Dover, J. A. Watker, K.C., of Chatham, and James Smith of Tilbury East.

P. L. EGAN HEADS LIBRARY BOARD

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 19.—P. L. Egan of this city was re-elected chairman of the St. Thomas Public Library board at the annual meeting of that body. The vice-chairman will be Dr. G. T. Kennedy, while Dr. F. E. Mead was re-elected secretary. Dr. C. B. Taylor was appointed chairman of the magazine committee and W. H. Murch chairman of the book committee.

The number of borrowers was increased during the past year by 1,815. The list now totals 10,734. It was reported, "The value of the books on the shelves of the library was placed at $13,374.11."

It is expected that the number of juvenile borrowers will greatly increase when the children's department is completed.

There is a body to suit your needs—Canopy Top, Express or Stake Bodies are now standard and can be obtained from any Ford dealer.

UNTIL SUCH time as the house at Ottawa gets down to business in earnest some of the critics at the capital have turned their attention to the Blue Books. The same old Blue Books can yield a tremendous amount of information to those who are so minded as to continue the search for answers to the ever-present question of "Where does the money go?"

And so it is that efforts are being made, after thumbing over the "estimates for 1922," to figure out where the pruning knife may fall.

This particular book deals in large figures. It contains the information that the main estimates for the year ending with March are $582,062,698.20. Just who is going to get the 20 cents is not stated. Then, of course, there are always a certain number of supplementary estimates. Railways were the seive in the thrift of the late government—they ran off with the cash faster than the minister of finance could accumulate it.

The department of civil government has the distinction of having the details given regarding expenditure. One critic suggests that the hand of the minister of finance must be to operate on some of the items that are hitched to this department. He cites the secretary of imperial and foreign correspondence ($4,000); senior inspector of hardware, leather and textile products salaries around $2,500 each, with juniors in each case at $1,700, and a purchasing commission maintained to do this work. The department of the interior shows $14,000 charged up to "Editors," or the department of trade and commerce, with a motion picture photographer, $2,640; three juniors, in all, $3,870. Film editor, $2,400; senior photographer and four juniors ($7,125)—over $16,000 a year for photographers for one department. The Dominion department of statistics costs the country nearly $207,000 a year. The department of external affairs is accountable for a bill of $110,625 for its upkeep. The civil service commission, of which so much has been heard, is listed at $352,490, with 150 employees, and still going strong. It has grown to such an extent that it is questionable if it now saves what it costs.

Just what the department of immigration and colonization has done to earn the $1,636,190 estimated is hard to say, as under Hon. Mr. Calder the operations were mainly of the negative order. Hon. Clifford Sifton, when in charge of this office, was criticized for bringing Galatians and others in, but the truth is that a very high percentage of his newcomers stayed right where Canada wants them to stay, viz.: on the land. It is one thing to haul immigrants over here, but it is quite another matter to make them stay on the land. Many of them are turned loose, and they cease right there and then to be immigrants as far as the real meaning of the word to this country is concerned.

The amount estimated for militia and defence was $11,890,000. The permanent force, Canada's garrison in time of peace, cost over six and a quarter million dollars. Included was an item of well over half a million for ammunition. The force consisted of 4,500 men. Pay of staff and transport and traveling expenses cost nearly half a million more. This is probably the most indefensible of all expenditures in the estimates. It is almost certain that the minister of finance has his eye on this and on No. XVIII, The Naval Service, $3,726,950.

The financial eye will probably rest questioningly here and there on items like conciliation and labor act, including cost of Labor Gazette, $50,000; the air board, $1,625,000; administration of the business profits and income tax acts, $2,000,000; passport office, $40,000; purchasing commission, $80,422 (in addition to the expenses for purchasing in different departments as well); contribution towards the Permanent Secretariat League of Nations, $200,000. Hon. Mr. Fildes is faced with the problem of getting efficiency from a system that has permitted the civil service at Ottawa to be loaded and overloaded. It has not been brought about in a short time. It is rather the product of years. Canadians have the right to expect reasonable action at Ottawa to relieve the pressure on the taxpayer. Such action was freely promised during the campaign, and there is no reason to believe it will not be carried through.

Canadian Cattle.

CANADIANS FIND it hard to understand the action of the British government in keeping Canadian cattle out of the British market under an embargo that is placed there to prevent the importation of diseased cattle.

Canadian cattle are not diseased, and their bill of health has been a clean one.

Were the British authorities to say that the Canadian cattle were kept out as a matter of protection to old country agriculturists, the whole matter would be plain and clear, and the unearned stigma would be removed from Canadian cattle.

WE CAN'T REBUILD ON OLD FOUNDATIONS.

At the session of the imperial conference in 1917, when the pledge to remove the embargo was given, Canada was represented by Sir ROBERT BORDEN, Hon. J. D. HAZEN, Hon. ROBERT ROBERTS and Sir GEORGE PERLEY. Mr. PROTHRO, then minister of agriculture, referred to the former conditions which had made his department "rather jumpy" about cattle plague. But he admitted that Canadian cattle had a clean bill of health, and spoke of the possibility of admitting them through the simple means of an order of the board of agriculture. WALTER LONG, chairman of the conference, demurred from this view. The act of Parliament of 1896, he said, would have to be repealed. Under that act the board of agriculture had no discretion. The discussion which followed was very clear, and the agreement is quite beyond dispute. It was as follows:

MR. PROTHRO—"I am afraid I have not looked at the act on this specific point. I was not quite sure what point I was supposed to address myself to, but I will look into it, and if we do take any action I do not see why it should not be taken at once, especially if we cannot put it into operation until after the war is over."

MR. ROBERTS—"How do you mean you cannot put it into operation?"

MR. PROTHRO—"Because there are no ships."

MR. ROBERTS—"We do not object to that, but remove the stigma against us from which we are suffering."

THE CHAIRMAN—"Now, the position is that the restriction is to be removed, and the board of agriculture will take such steps as are necessary for this purpose, but upon the understanding that, there being no tonnage, there cannot be any arrival."

MR. ROBERTS—"I do not want to have any misunderstanding about it. If there is no tonnage that follows."

SIR ROBERT BORDEN—"It cannot be effective because there is no tonnage."

THE CHAIRMAN—"We cannot do it. I am quite sure that the shipping controller would stop it at once and would say: 'We cannot let live cattle come because they take up too much room.'"

SIR ROBERT BORDEN—"We perfectly understand that."

MR. ROBERTS—"Yes, but still we do not want to be placed in a false position. There is an old sore and an old grievance, and now is the proper time to have it cured, because the facts are all in our favor."

THE CHAIRMAN—"The minister of agriculture has undertaken to do it."

MR. ROBERTS—"Do not you think we should have a resolution about it?"

THE CHAIRMAN—"You do not want a resolution, do you—or if you like you can simply move that the embargo on Canadian cattle be removed as speedily as possible."

MR. ROBERTS—"I beg to move that."

THE CHAIRMAN—"MR. PROTHRO accepts that, and there is an end of it."

MR. HAZEN—"I think that as we have a statement from the president of the board of agriculture that this restriction will be removed, and that he does not see why it should not be done at once, we might leave it there."

The meaning to be gathered from the above is very plain, and in its light it is hard to see where justification can be found for keeping healthy Canadian cattle off the British market on the charge that they are diseased.

Two courses seem to be open: (1) Remove the embargo, or (2) Make it plain that Canadian cattle are kept out as a matter of straight protection to a British industry.

Separate Schools.

THE QUESTIONS raised by BISHOP M. F. FALLON regarding the separate schools and share of taxation coming to them, should be met in the spirit of justice. It was well expressed by the late Mr. JUSTICE ROSE some years ago, when delivering a charge to a jury. He said: "Let us be tolerant each of the other's opinions, because if we believe as we have been taught, we feel assured that in the great day no one will be approved because he is a Roman Catholic, or because he is a Protestant, or because he is an Anglican, Presbyterian, Methodist or a Baptist, but simply because he is a Christian, having observed the rules of right and wrong and done his duty to his neighbor, and so far as he has instruction, his duty to his God."

Something will rest on the agreements and laws of the past, probably a great deal, but time changes all things, and knowledge both sacred and secular is constantly increasing and expanding. It is well to keep an open mind. Many facts may exist today that did not exist when the agreements and laws respecting separate schools were passed. These changes may affect the questions now under consideration either way, but the course taken should be an answer to the question: Is it just?

A Massachusetts teacher asked the question: What did the Puritans come to this country for? And the reply was given: To worship in their own way and make other people do the same.

The efforts being made by the Anglican Church to unite all Christians we hope will succeed, and until it does, whether in private or public life, let the Golden Rule be the guide. The Durrty government, we feel sure, will approach any questions raised in that spirit.

A Nice Gift.

THE LATE DR. CL. T. CAMPBELL was a book-lover all his life. By his will he gives his library with certain exceptions to the Western University. He was always a friend and well-wisher of the university and of all education. Whenever an opportunity offered to do anything for the benefit of the community he took it. His gift is like him. It is another proof that the desire to do what one can for the university is increasing. The future will add many instances of such generosity.

Save Lives by Obeying Quarantine Rules

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

READ not long ago of the case of a little girl who had a slight attack of measles. She was not sick, so she was allowed to go out and play. She went to Sunday school and gave the disease to five others, one of whom nearly died, and one became deaf. These gave it to nineteen more, of whom three died, one had intestinal ulcers, one developed tuberculosis, and two had eye troubles. She played with her baby brother. The baby caught it and died. She went to visit her little cousin, who caught it and then gave it to her father, who was sick for five months afterwards and ultimately lost the hearing of his left ear. All this happened because a mother was careless and thoughtless. The importance of strict quarantine cannot be too often nor too greatly emphasized. There was a time when we used to think that disease was spread by refuse and foul odors and was acquired from garbage dumps and other such places.

We used to think that bad plumbing had something to do with disease, but we now know that all of these things are insignificant in comparison with contact between sick and well children or adults.

There are old-fashioned boards of health which will spend money for plumbing inspection, work which should be done by other city departments. But such a board is likely to spend very little money on human inspection, as a medical inspection of school children.

School and public authorities cannot do it all. The effectiveness of disease control must depend after all upon the mother. It is she who must make quarantine the safeguard it was intended.

A musical society is being formed in connection with the Catholic Club, which will be in charge of Mr. Costello.

A very enjoyable social event was that given by the Retail Grocers' Association on Friday evening in the A. O. F. Hall.

Among those present were: Messrs.

U. S. senatorship in Michigan.—Brantford Express.

Perhaps, but it must also be borne in mind that SENATOR NEWBURY, who beat FORD, admitted spending $200,000 to turn the trick, while it was charged at the hearing that the expenses ran as high as $800,000 to secure that seat.

READ YOUR CHARACTER

(By Digby Phillips.)

NO. 129—HORIZONTAL WRINKLES.

Wrinkles belong to the classification of acquired character indications. Babies, whose characters are not yet formed, and whose mental possibilities are not yet developed by use, have no wrinkles.

That is why, as you read in a former article, the wrinkleless face on a person more or less mature in years indicates the sequestered, quiet and often self-centered life, lacking either in emotion or the capability of it. Most of the wrinkles of the forehead are indications of thought. Those of the eyes, nose, mouth and chin tell things about dispositions, inclinations and temperaments. Just as the shape of the forehead part of the head tells of mental abilities in contrast to the facial features which denote physical and temperamental traits.

Horizontal wrinkles across the top part of the forehead indicate an active intellect and clear thought. Mark this: They don't merely indicate a tendency toward these things. They indicate the custom and habit, the actuality, the accomplishment. A mere tendency or undeveloped capability will not produce wrinkles any more than lack of physical exercise would produce hard muscles.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

MINERS VOTE TO STRIKE APRIL 1

U. S. Convention Backs Walk-out To Force Demands For Thirty-Hour Week.

SEEK OVERTIME EXTRAS

Clash During Session Quieted by 92-Year-Old Union Organizer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 19.—General suspension of work by all union coal miners in the United States on April 1, subject to a referendum vote of the union membership, was ordered late last night by the United Mine Workers of America, unless new wage agreements are readjusted before that date in both the bituminous and anthracite coal fields.

Before going on record in favor of a strike, the convention approved demands for retention of present basic wages for soft coal miners and increases for the hard coal miners.

After protracted debate, the convention adopted the six-hour day and five day week for insertion in the wage scale after rejecting proposals for a six-day week with eight hours of actual work.

The convention also ratified the demands of the anthracite miners for a 20 per cent wage increase for tonnage men and $1 a day increase for day men.

The convention adopted unanimously demands for pay and one-half for overtime and double time for Sunday and holiday work. Likewise it adopted the demand that wages be paid weekly.

Removal of the automatic penalty clause for firing operators or miners for violation of agreements also was adopted.

The action of the delegates, taken at the start of the framing of the union's wage policy, was an approval of the scale committee report, which also favored increased wages for anthracite workers, with their demands, as were those of the bituminous miners, being backed up with a declaration favoring a continent-wide strike.

Howat Men Beaten.

Work on the scale committee report was begun after a stormy morning session that ended in the convention's refusal to consider the appeal of expelled Kansas miners for reinstatement in the union. Howat supporters started a disturbance that temporarily stopped convention work, but the disorder was quieted by Mother Jones, 92-year-old union organizer, who pleaded with the men to get to work on the scale demands.

The disorder over the Howat case having quieted, a vote was taken on Howat's appeal for reinstatement for himself and his followers.

Tabulation of the official vote was not completed, but both sides expected little change in the unofficial majority of 166 supporting President John L. Lewis and other administrative officers in expelling the "rebel" Kansas miners. The final unofficial vote was 2,070 to 1,964.

The disturbance in the convention came when administration votes were cast by men whose names did not appear on the printed report of the credentials committee, supporters of Howat charging the roll had been "padded," but Vice-President, Philip Murray, the presiding officer, answered the only additions were those of "duly elected and accredited delegates," whose credentials had been tardily presented to the committee. The additions, he said, were in accordance with previous announcements.

Young Elgin Farmer Wanders Out On Thin Ice on Lake Erie To Death

WEST LORNE, Feb. 19.—Wandering out on the thin ice coat covering Lake Erie near here Friday, Ernest Robson, 22 years old, resident on the town line between Aldborough and Dunwich, broke through the ice and was drowned in the frigid waters.

For some time past the young man had been in poor health, causing him to refrain from assisting with the work on the farm, but Friday morning he arose and went to the barn to attend to a few chores.

He did not return and his family grew more and more anxious for his welfare, finally instituting a search party.

Tracks leading from the barn out onto the thin ice of the lake were discovered by the searchers. Teamsters working not far from the spot reported seeing a man venturing out on the lake who bore a resemblance to Robson, and who is now believed to have been Robson.

Ernest Robson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Robson.

statement, the Howat supporters continued to hoot and howl, finally ceasing when Mother Jones took the platform. She endorsed Howat, but appealed for respectful treatment of the union officers, and urged the men to get to work on the wage scale, the main objective of the convention. Voting was then completed with only minor outbreaks among the delegates.

"WORKERS" SEE WORLD REVOLT

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—The first convention of the "Workers' party" concluded tonight with a mass meeting. The delegates were in session all day Saturday and Sunday. A Dominion executive was elected.

That the social and economic upheavals which have recently occurred in Russia and elsewhere have been the curtain-raiser to a world-wide revolution was the claim made at Saturday's session.

In presenting its report, the program committee declared that the duty of fostering a revolution in Canada had fallen on the shoulders of the Workers' party. Complete abolition of capital and the establishment of a federal workers' republic were stated as the ultimate aims of the party.

Methods suggested were the infusion into existing labor unions of a revolutionary spirit.

WOULD MODIFY LIQUOR RULING

"Wet" Advocates Declare Every Family Head Should Get One Quart a Year.

MANY OBJECTIONS LOOM

Officials Point Out Abuse of Privilege Would Speedily Develop.

BULLETIN.

FERNIE, B. C., Feb. 19.—East Kootenay Liberals Saturday night nominated Hon. J. H. King, minister of public works in the Dominion cabinet their candidate in the forthcoming by-election made necessary by the resignation of R. E. Beattie.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—The extension to every household of the right to secure a quart of liquor once or twice a year for medicinal use without a doctor's prescription, is one of the suggestions, it is said, which will probably be considered by the Ontario license board in dealing with the admittedly unsatisfactory condition of affairs in respect to the dispensing of liquor through the government shops.

The suggestion reached Queen's Park yesterday, and is said to be regarded as one with a good deal to commend it, though practical objections may prevent the plan being put into effect.

It is recognized, to begin with, that there is reason in the demand that the head of a family should be permitted to secure a quantity of liquor yearly or semi-yearly for household medicinal use, without having to go to a physician.

Under the act, as it stands at present, a doctor, unless he winks at the law, cannot give a prescription for liquor unless the person for whom it is intended is actually ill. As a result, unless the householder has liquor in his house as a result of previous illness of a member of his family, he has none available to use in case of colds, chills or other minor illness, to treat which a doctor is not called.

Abuses Are Feared.
Admitting the reasonableness of some such extension, the officials, however, doubt the possibility of putting such a scheme into effect without throwing the doors open to all sorts of abuses. It might be possible to prevent a householder "repeating" by issuing a registration card, but it would be exceedingly difficult to prevent a traffic in cards. Persons who do not intend to use their right to secure liquor would, in many cases, be induced to turn over their right for a small consideration or actually buy the liquor and dispose of it to bootleggers.

One reform which is now being put into effect with the object of discouraging the idea that the government dispensaries are operated for the benefit of the thirsty, is the elimination of fancy brands.

As these are disposed of the stock will be trimmed down to a few lines which doctors, respecting the act, are likely to prescribe for medicinal purposes.

The authorities, it is said, are not favorable to the elimination of all potable liquors, as advocated by the temperance people, and the sale only of pure grain alcohol for medicinal purposes. It is doubted whether doctors in general would agree that pure alcohol would be as efficacious a medicine as whiskey, brandy, or other liquors, the psychological effect, probably having to be considered.

DIES FROM GAS IN OWN GARAGE

Samuel Haines, Chatham War Veteran, Suffocated While Warming Engine.

FOUND LYING BESIDE CAR

Wife Discovers Tragedy Upon Investigating Husband's Absence From House.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, Feb. 19.—Samuel Haines, a war veteran, was suffocated to death by gasoline fumes in the garage attached to his residence at 260 Inches avenue last night. He was found lying beside the car in the garage by a member of his family at 3 o'clock this morning. Medical aid was immediately summoned, but life had been extinct for some time.

About 10 o'clock last evening Haines had a short conversation with his wife, and then went to the garage to "warm up the engine." Walking up in the early hours, Mrs. Haines discovered that her husband had not returned to the house, and upon visiting the garage, discovered the tragedy.

Coroner Dr. T. L. McRitchie was summoned, and after viewing the body and a consultation with Col. H. D. Smith, city crown attorney, decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Haines is survived by his widow and two daughters, Gwen-dolyn and Winifred. He was an employee of the Chatham customs office, and a member of the Kent Regiment band, G. W. V. A., Oddfellows and Wellington Chapter, A. F. and A. M. The funeral will take place at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Ald. W. Murdoch, president of the G. W. V. A., is making arrangements for a military funeral.

Await Verdict of Voters In Two By-Elections.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—By Canadian Press)—Events in two federal ridings where by-elections are shortly to be held are being watched with great interest here.

Nomination day in both instances does not come till Tuesday, Feb. 28, with polling two weeks later, as provided by the act, and it is said that the next few days will indicate pretty clearly whether or not the ministers seeking seats will secure them by acclamation.

It is believed here that in East Kootenay Hon. Dr. J. H. King will be unopposed, while it is expected that the name of Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, will come before a Liberal nominating convention in Argenteuil, Que., on Tuesday.

DENY GASPARRI WILL QUIT POST

Vatican Officials Declare Papal Secretary of State Will Retain Office.

SUBMITS PLEA TO POPE

Cardinal Begin and U. S. Prelates Desire Time To Attend Conclave.

ROME, Feb. 19.—With reference to a report recently circulated here that Cardinal Gasparri was to be replaced as papal secretary of state by Mr. Gerretti, now papal nuncio at Paris, a semi-official Vatican statement on Saturday said: "It is superfluous to say such a report is absolutely unfounded. Cardinal Gasparri has not displayed any intention of leaving his high office, and he enjoys the complete confidence of Pope Pius as he in the past enjoyed that of Pope Benedict."

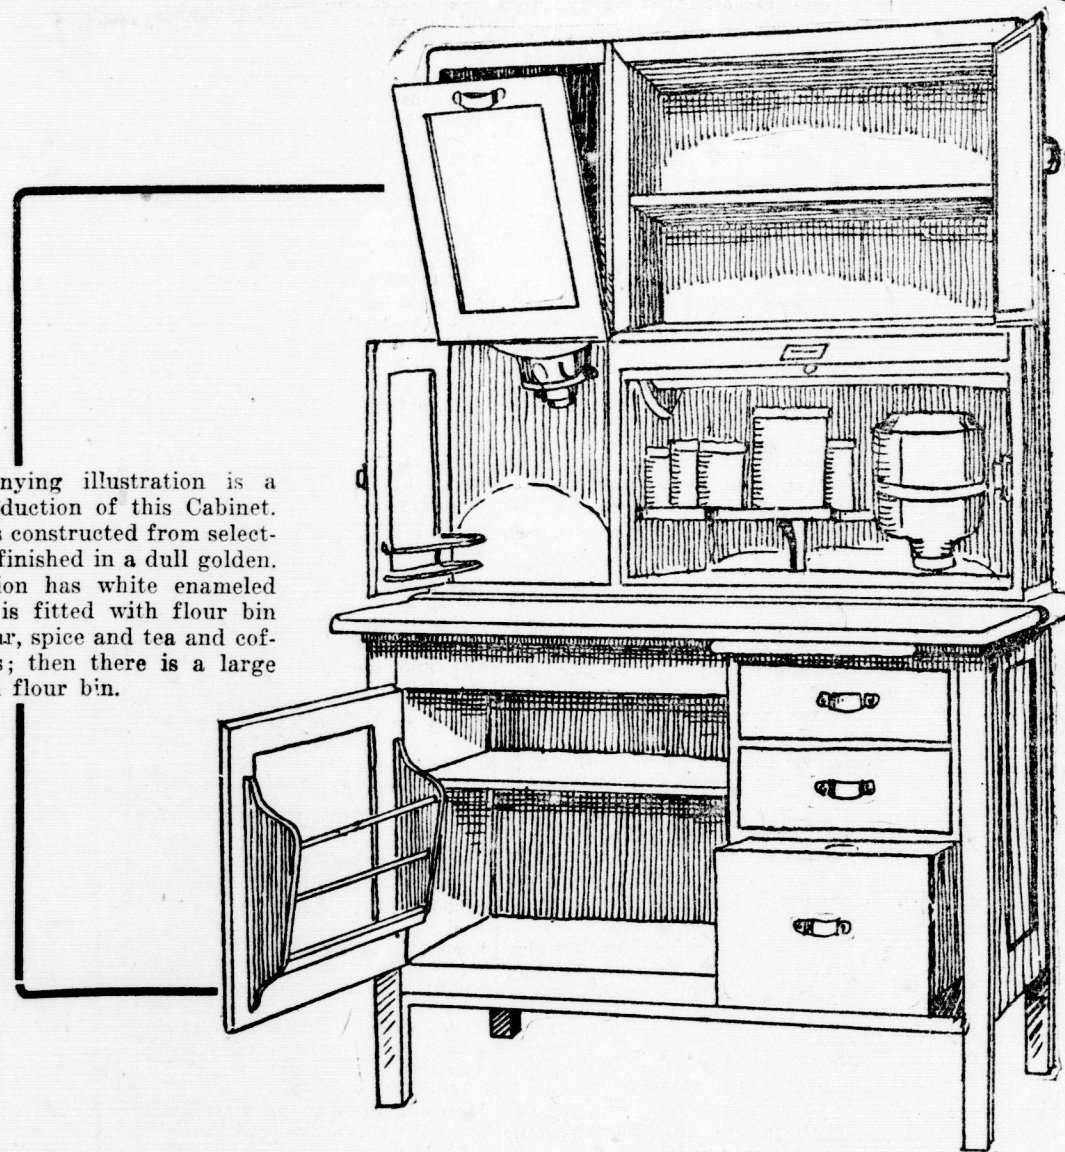

The cardinals of the American continent, including Cardinal Begin of Quebec, have formally asked Pope Pius to alter the constitution of the conclave, lengthening the period that must elapse between the death of the pope and the convening of the conclave in order to enable them to attend papal elections in the future.

The pope has received the request favorably and, according to reports in Vatican quarters, will extend the period from ten to fifteen days, deeming it unwise to leave the church longer without a head, especially because during the interregnum the cardinal who takes the pope's place has purely executive and not legislative power.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN
CAULIFLOWER

NE of the most delicious of the winter vegetables to serve with beef is cauliflower. It is usually rather expensive, but even so, very much worth while as a food. Served with a white sauce or cheese the food value is greatly increased, and the dish furnishes some protein as well as mineral salts.

Cauliflower should always be put in cold salt and water for an hour before cooking. Allow one teaspoon salt to one quart water, and use enough water to more than cover the vegetable. The flowers may be separated or the head cooked and served whole.

When cooking cauliflower cook uncovered in fast boiling water to cover, allowing one teaspoon salt to one quart of water. Add salt at the end of 15 minutes. Skim the water as soon as it rises.

HEARTBURN
A SEVERE CASE

Many people are troubled with heartburn who really do not realize just what it is.

In cases of this trouble there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by disturbed appetite. It is generally caused by great acidity of the stomach, and whenever too much food is taken, it is liable to ferment, and becomes extremely sour, causing heartburn. In such cases vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

The one way to get rid of heartburn is to keep your liver active by using and you will have no heartburn or other liver troubles such as constipation, jaundice, water brash, floating specks before the eyes, coated tongue, sour breath, etc.

Miss Agnes Cutting, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn for a long time. There were gnawing and burning pains in my stomach, and then when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and they have cleared me of my heartburn. I don't think they can be beaten by any other medicine."

Price 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Advt.

THE BRIDES

CRONYN-SEABORN.

A smart wedding took place, Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Cathedral, when Beatrice Seaborn, daughter of the late William Minter Seaborn and Mrs. Seaborn, was married to Llewellyn George Cronyn of Montreal, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Cronyn of Toronto, formerly of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dean Tucker, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Richardson.

As the bride party entered the church the wedding march was played by Mr. Dickinson, who also played softly during the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Dr. Edwin Seaborn, wore a lovely gown of white georgette and lace over grosgrain silk and trimmed with silver with set-in panels of silver, and a girle of wide grosgrain silk. Her wedding veil was caught with a coronet of pearls, and she carried a short bouquet of Ophelia roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Maybelle Stuart was bridesmaid and wore a gown of pink orpandy, and carried a shower of pink and mauve sweet peas with mauve streamers. Owing to illness, Miss Noela Seaborn of Toronto, who was to have been a second bridesmaid, could not be present. Miss Babbs Haultain, niece of the groom, made a dainty flower girl, dressed in blue orpandy and carrying a basket of pink sweet peas. Mr. Clement Cronyn of Montreal, brother of the groom, was best man.

The church was decorated with palms and ferns. Spring flowers were arranged on the chancel steps, and in the guests' pews were tied sweet peas fastened with fluffy bows of white tulle. The ushers were: Mr. Charles Cronyn, Toronto; Mr. Huron Cronyn, Toronto; Mr. W. A. Bucke, Toronto, and Mr. A. B. Seaborn, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Dr. Edwin Seaborn and Mrs. Seaborn, Park avenue. The bride and groom received the guests in the living-room, which was artistically arranged with palms and ferns and banked with ferns and palms. Mrs. Edwin Seaborn was gowned in black canton crepe, trimmed with black and white fringe and a large black hat, and wore a corsage of white roses and pink sweet peas, and Miss Anna Seaborn of New York, sister of the bride, wore a smart frock of grey canton crepe, braided, and a black hat, and her corsage was of orchids. A buffet supper was served from a table centered with pink roses tied with white satin bows.

Mr. and Mrs. Cronyn left on a honeymoon which will be spent in New York, the bride traveling in a chiffon broadcloth suit, embroidered in grey, with beaver trimmings, and a smart hat of navy crepe de chine. The groom's attire was to the bridesmaids, barpins, and to the ushers and best man, silver pocket knives.

Among the guests present were: Mrs. and Mrs. Hubert Haultain, Toronto; Mrs. Haultain gowned in rose chamoisee trimmed with white lace, and a black chiffon hat; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

Chapter XXVI.—A Flank Movement in Stoves.

By Zoe Beckley

VIOLET RAND'S apartment made Paul think of a lace-hung, jewel-decked bandbox—if such a thing were conceivable. It was so small that Paul could almost have touched the four walls of any room by standing in the middle of it. Yet by clever furnishing and discreet spaces here and there, Violet had contrived to give an effect of distance.

The windows of the tiny drawing-room, like all French windows, opened from the middle outward, like doors, and were hung with etalon sets of curtains in cream lace and old blue brocade.

There was a baby grand piano—the smallest Paul had ever seen—made of light wood, gilt-bedecked; two blue upholstered easy chairs in cozy proximity; a blue chaise-longue with small lace-and-embroidery pillows; a table littered with magazines and novels; vases of crystal holding pale yellow roses; and a tea-wagon temptingly set out with toast and jam and little cakes.

An air of coquetry and seclusion pervaded the place and a maid, petite like the fat, came and went softly without glancing at the visitors.

It seemed strange to Paul drinking tea in that bly place, but he liked the novelty and was very comfortable in Violet's blue armchair munching eclairs and consuming cups of lemoned tea while his hostess chatted amiably.

The other guest, Rigaud, was a big man with prominent eyes and crisp black hair. He had suave manners, was cultured and traveled and showed his knowledge of the world in every word he spoke.

Definitely Violet brought their talk around to the personal issue. Paul was amazed how she contrived it without seeming to enter their dis-

Screen Tempo Irks Otis Skinner in "Mister Antonio"

BY JAMES W. DEAN.
NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Otis Skinner is studying the script for "Mister Antonio." He will soon begin a screen version of that play, in which he appeared on the stage three successive years.

Skinner has been studying the script several weeks. His characterization will be about the same. The thing that bothers Skinner is picture tempo.

He must spend eight weeks doing for the screen the thing he did in two and a half hours for the stage.

"The best maxim for the stage player appearing before the camera is 'Go slow!'" Skinner told me when he was here.

"Relaxation is needed before the camera. You can't go slow on the stage. Time is too limited. Action must be speeded up there."

"The camera is a tricky thing. I found I gained the best results when I moved very leisurely."

That latter statement was in reference to "Kismet," his first film.

A more definite idea of what is meant by picture tempo can be gained from concrete examples of photography. Consider public personages in the news reels.

The movements of persons making their first appearance before the camera seem jerky and unnatural.

A news reel cameraman recently told me the best actor outside the movie studios is the Prince of Wales.

His highness is a quick-moving man, yet when the cameraman gets him in focus he slows down his action to studio time. He seems to sense the eye of the cameraman and unconsciously changes his action to picture tempo.

FRUIT BOWLS.

Fascinating new fruit bowls are made of tinted glass and set in a holder of wrought iron. These come in all sizes, some only large enough to hold fruit for breakfast for two, others are huge things quite capable of serving at a family dinner. The glass is variable so they may be had to match any color scheme.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

THE LOST RECORD

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"This is luck, he cried."

NANCY, Nick and Buskins returned from Smoke Land in the little apple-tree elevator just in time to see the Magical Mushroom poke his little round bowler hat up through the ground on his way from Fairy Land.

"This is luck," he cried, when all of him had come through. "Just the very people I'm looking for. I hope you won't need them any more, Buskins."

Buskins thought he could get along now alone, he said, as the Land-of-Up-in-the-Air was in pretty fine shape, so he'd be perfectly willing to spare his little friends if they were needed somewhere else.

"Yes, the Fairy Queen needs 'em," replied the Mushroom. "She needs 'em very much. There is war between the Diddyevers of the blue hair and the Korsknotts of the green beards."

"The Diddyevers live beyond the seven mountains and the Kingdom of the Korsknotts is beyond the seven valleys."

"The thing they are quarreling about is the record which is to decide the question. It's lost!"

"Ah, goodness," cried Nancy, holding her ears. "I can't understand a word you say, Mr. Mushroom!"

"Well, don't get nervous about it," said the Mushroom, laughing. "It does sound a bit mixed up. But it's as simple as the income tax. Your daddy can tell you how very simple that is. And his is just as easy."

"You see it's this way! Whenever there is a great dispute about things in Fairy Land, the Fairy Queen sends Nimble Toes or Silver Wing to Longhead the Wizard, to decide the question. He's a sort of prime minister to her highness, only he lives at the third end of the earth and won't allow anyone to see him. He gives his answers to hard questions on phonograph records. All you have to do is to put the record on a machine and play it."

ERSKINE DALE PIONEER

by JOHN FOX JR.

The braves then went to their fire-water, and soon the boy's foster mother brought him something to eat, but she could say nothing for Black Wolf had appointed himself sentinel and sat rifle in hand at the door of the lodge.

Night came on. The drinking became more furious and once Erskine saw a pale-brown arm thrust from behind the lodge and place a jug at the feet of Black Wolf, who grunted and drank deep. One by one the braves went to drunken sleep about the fire. The fire died down and by the last flickering flame the lad saw Black Wolf's chin sinking sleepily to his chest.

There was the slightest rustle behind the tent. He felt something groping for his hands and feet, felt the point of a knife graze the skin of his wrist and ankles—felt the things loosen and drop apart.

Noislessly, inch by inch, he crept to the wall of the tent, which was carefully lifted for him. Outside he rose and waited.

Like a shadow the girl Early Morn stole before him and like a shadow he followed. The loose snow muffled his escape from the lodge, and in a few minutes they were by the river bank, away from the town.

The moon rose and from the shadow of a beech the white woman stepped forth with his rifle and some food. She pointed to his horse and powder-horn and bullet-pouch and a little farther down. He looked long and silently into the Indian girl's eyes and took the white woman's shaking hand. Once he looked back. The Indian girl was stoic as stone. A bar of moonlight showed the white woman's face wet with tears.

Again Dave Yandell from a watch-tower saw a topknot rise above a patch of cane now leafless and winter-bitten—saw a hand lifted high above it with a palm of peace toward him.

And again an Indian youth emerged, this time leading a black horse with a drooping head. Both came painfully on, staggering, it seemed, from wounds or weakness, and Dave sprang from the tower and rushed with others to the gate. So gaunt were boy and beast that it was plain that both were starving. The boy's face was torn with blisters and pinched with hunger and cold, but a faint smile came from it.

"Don't you know me, Dave?" he asked weakly.

"My God! It's White Arrow!"

XIII.

WHEN winter was breaking, more news came in of the war.

The flag that had been fashioned of a soldier's white shirt, an old blue army coat, and a red petticoat was now the Stars and Stripes of the American cause.

Burgoyne had not cut off New England, that "head of the rebellion," from the other colonies. On the contrary, the Americans had beaten him at Saratoga and marched his army off under those same Stars and Stripes, and for the first time Erskine heard of gallant Lafayette—how he had run to Washington with the portentous news from his king—that beautiful, pas-

At the boat landing he hitched his horse to the low-slung branch of an oak. There was the sun-dial that had marked every sunny hour since he had been away. For a moment he stood there, and when he stepped into the open he shrank back hastily.

Next morning Erskine rode forth along a sandy road, amidst the singing of birds and through a forest of tiny upshooting leaves, for Red—a girl was coming through the opening of boxwood from the house—coming slowly, bareheaded, her hands clasped behind her, her eyes downward.

His heart throbbed as he waited, throbbled the more when his ears caught even the soft tread of her little feet, and seemed to stop when she paused at the sun-dial, and searched the river with her eyes.

Soon the girl fluttered a handkerchief and from the single passenger in the stern came an answering flutter of white and a glad cry. At the bend of the river the boat disappeared from Erskine's sight under the bank, and he watched the girl.

Now her face flashed through his eye and with excitement—it was no mere kinsman in that boat, and the boy's heart began to throb fiercely with racking emotions, he had never known before.

War, indeed, nothing else was talked.

A fiery-looking youth sprang up the landing-steps, bowed gallantly over the girl's hand, and the two turned up the path, the girl rosy with smiles and the youth bending over her with a most protecting and tender air. It was Dave Grey, and the heart of the watcher turned mortal sick.

XIV.

BARBARA saw him first and she did not rush forward. In a steady stand she stopped, with wide eyes, a stifled cry, and a lifting of one hand toward her heart. Grey saw too, flushed rather painfully and calmed himself.

"Why, have I changed so much?" Erskine cried.

"Of course I knew you," she faltered, paling a little but gathering herself rather haughtily—a fact that Erskine seemed not to notice. "You took me by surprise and you have changed—but I don't know how much."

The significance of this, too, seemed to pass Erskine by. "Never to you, my dear cousin," he said gallantly, and then he bowed to Dave Grey, not offering to shake hands.

The great dinner bell from behind the house boomed its summons to the woods and fields.

"Come on," called Harry, who had just appeared. "I imagine you're hungry, cousin."

"I am," said Erskine. "I've had nothing to eat since—since early morn." Barbara's eyes flashed upward and Grey was plainly startled.

Was there a slight stress on those two words?

Mrs. Dale was visiting down the river, so Barbara sat in her mother's place.

"Now, you White Arrow, you Big Chief, tell us the story," said Harry. Grey began to look uncomfortable, and so, in truth, did Barbara.

"What have you heard?" asked sonate France would now stretch forth her helping hand.

And Erskine learned what that news meant to Washington's "naked and starving" soldiers dying on the frozen hillsides of Valley Forge.

Then George Rogers Clark had passed the fort on his way to Williamsburg to get money and men for his great venture in the Northwest. After Clark was gone the lad got restless; and one morning when the first breath of spring came he mounted his horse, in spite of arguments and protestations and set forth for Virginia on the wilderness trail. He was going to join Clark, he said, but more than Clark and the war were drawing him to the outer world.

What it was he hardly knew, for he was not yet much given to searching the heart or mind. He did know, however, that some strange force had long been working within him that was steadily growing stronger. With his mind's eye he was ever seeing at the end of his journey the face of his little cousin Barbara Dale.

A striking figure the lad made riding into the old capital one afternoon just before the sun sunk behind the western woods.

The governor's palace was closed and deserted. My Lord Dunmore

Most people believed he had found a gold mine and to the discovery of that gold mine and of Conn's secret many earnest souls were bending their every endeavor. But it was not because of their efforts that Conn rejoiced to see the Union Jack hoisted over the islands, and gaily sang "God Save the King."

The story really begins with the coming of Dierdre Rose, and though Conn gives his name to the book, it is her adventures which are the more closely followed. Very thrilling adventures they were, too, especially when they took her to the stockaded cannibal village, with its gruesome temple, into which it usually meant death for any white man to look.

In this temple, "skulls, some new, some sienna brown with age, were set in rows like jumpers on high shelves; arm and leg bones were stacked in sets and laid away on the rafters." But there were stranger and yet more terrible things even than these in that temple, outside of which the drum trees stood in rows.

Dierdre was accustomed to adventures.

A born wanderer, she had traveled a great deal for her 23 years. But never before had she been where there were no police, nor any law-enforcing power of any kind.

From the first, when her savage boatman put her ashore on the wrong island, so that she was obliged to do "as an Italian maiden would have done in the sack of Rome," and hide, she had need for all her intelligence and all her nerve.

A brave and quick-witted, as well as a beautiful young woman, she did a great deal to help herself, even in her worst desperate-seeming extremity. But it was a man, the wreck of an English gentleman, who saved her in the end by one of the strangest and most terrible sacrifices imaginable.

The tale moves swiftly, with plenty of color and excitement, and will give Western Ontario readers many interesting and vivid descriptions of life in the South Seas, in the days when Edward was Britain's king.

"You can't stop reading it," the publishers claim, and they're right!

Erskine quietly.

"Never mind," interposed Barbara quickly; "you tell us."

"What?" shouted Harry, when Erskine told of the powwow. You told both that you would fight with the white men against both! What'd they do to you?"

Erskine smiled.

"I jumped over the heads of the outer ring and ran."

"Well," said Harry impatiently, "that isn't the end."

"I went back to the camp. Crooked Lightning followed me and they tied me and were going to burn me at the stake."

"Good heavens!" breathed Barbara.

"How'd you get away?"

"The Indian girl, Early Morn, slipped under the tent and cut me loose. The white woman got my gun, and Firefly—you know nothing can catch Firefly!" The silence was intense. Grey was painfully flushed.

"You want to know what I am going to do now?" Erskine went on. "I'm going with Captain George Rogers Clark—with what command are you, Mr. Grey?"

"That's a secret," he smiled coolly. "I'll tell you know later," and Barbara, with an inward sigh of relief, rose quickly.

"But the white woman?" questioned Harry. "Why doesn't she leave the Indians?"

"Early Morn—a half-breed—is her daughter," said Erskine simply. "Oh!" and Harry questioned no further.

"Early Morn was the best-looking Indian girl I ever saw," said Erskine, "and the bravest." For the first time Grey glanced at Barbara. "She saved my life," Erskine went on gravely, "and mine is hers whenever she needs it."

Barbara excused herself with a courtesy, Hugh went to the stables, Harry disappeared for a moment, and the two were left alone. With smouldering fire Erskine turned to Grey.

BOOKS

EDITED BY BL. CABR.
CONN OF THE CORAL SEAS. By Beatrice Grimshaw. The Macmillan Co., St. Martin's House, Toronto. $1.75.

At McAlister, capital of the New Cumberland Islands, in the days of King Edward there were real cannibals. Cannibals who delighted in feasts at which "long pig" constituted the principal dish, and made the forests of the South Sea Islands places in which it was well to tread with the maximum of caution and wariness—of it at all.

In those days the islands were not under the jurisdiction of Great Britain, France, Japan, or any other power, and there was exceeding little of law or order in the islands.

It has been said that Beatrice Grimshaw is the farthest-traveled lady adventurer of the present day and the fresh color she imparts to the telling of Conn of the Coral Seas will convince the reader that she has a thorough knowledge of that little-known corner of the earth in the South Seas, in which she has made her home.

There is Stephen Conn, the good-looking young Irishman who, alone among the white men of the New Cumberland Islands, has made money, and a great deal of money. How he did it was a secret.

Most people believed he had found a gold mine and to the discovery of that gold mine and of Conn's secret many earnest souls were bending their every endeavor. But it was not because of their efforts that Conn rejoiced to see the Union Jack hoisted over the islands, and gaily sang "God Save the King."

Dear Sirs,

The Semi-ready Company have always believed in the advertising edge that after you produce a good thing you should tell all the people about it. The hen is the quickest advertiser on record.

Not in thirty years have I encountered other than that which would enhance my faith in the efficacy of efficient newspaper publicity.

If some bright Editor could coin a new word which would expressly define "newspaper advertising" it might shake off the many barnacles which attach to themselves the name of "advertising." Many advertising managers would save their employers a lot of money if the counterfeits they buy were rejected.

"Advertising" means newspaper publicity. Newspapers give the only legitimate and profitable means of publicity. There may be some follow-ups that are worthy, but not one in fifty of the methods which usurp the name can qualify as worthy to be called "advertising."

CLAIM BULLOCK WILL HAVE FAIR TRIAL IN SOUTH

North Carolina Officials Say "So-Called Lynchings Are Merely Murder."

HOPE U. S. WILL DO BEST TO WIN NEGRO'S RETURN

Declare Every Precaution Will Be Taken To Guard Prisoner From Injustice.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 19.—Reiterating earlier statements that if Matthew Bullock, a negro arrested Friday at Hamilton, Ont., on an extradition warrant from the United States State Department was returned here to answer to a charge of attempted murder, every precaution would be taken to guarantee him a fair trial, Governor Morrison said yesterday: "People in some sections of the country do not seem to understand that so-called lynchings in the South are nothing more than the killing of a criminal by the friends and frequently outraged relatives of the victim of the prisoner's crime."

The governor expressed confidence that the state department at Washington would act with high respect for the State of North Carolina in its efforts to bring about the extradition.

County Judge Snider at Hamilton has refused to grant extradition until witnesses have been produced by the State of North Carolina to testify to the charges against Bullock, which involves his alleged attempted murder of Rabey Trayler in connection with the Norlina race riots.

"Lynchings are never winked at by the authorities," Governor Morrison said in a statement, "and are always prevented where the authorities have any knowledge of the approach of danger and an opportunity to prevent it."

"What has come to be called lynching in the South is nothing but ordinary killings in other sections of the country. Because of the fact that some of our country sites are small villages with very small police forces and the jail kept by one man, those who are bitterly aroused and seek vengeance are able to go to the jail and by some ruse or trick capture the jailer and take the sought-for criminal."

"This very rarely occurs, and we have adopted a rule in this state now of bringing to the state prison in Raleigh for safe keeping criminals who have perpetrated crimes which in their nature outrage the community and might cause violence. So-called lynchings of this character are very rare; most of these occurrences called lynchings happen before the officers apprehend the prisoner at all, and are nothing but murders committed by those who are outraged by the crime committed by the persons lynched. The officers know nothing of it until after it is over, and have no way to prevent it."

FOURTH DIVISION COMMANDER DIES

QUEBEC, Feb. 19.—(By Canadian Press.)—Major-General Sir David Watson died at his home, 35 St. Ursule street, late Saturday night, following a paralytic stroke at the Garrison Club Thursday last.

Sir David, who was born in Quebec in 1871, at the outbreak of the world war was one of the first to volunteer for active service.

He left Canada in September, 1914, in command of the second battalion of the first Canadian division, and was promoted to command the fifth brigade in the second Canadian division in April, 1916.

He held a controlling interest in the Quebec Chronicle, with which he had been associated since 1891.

Sir David's division was in the thick of the fighting in the 1918 advance of the British army up to the time of the armistice.

It was specially mentioned for its work with the First Canadian division and the First British division in the piercing of the famous Drocourt-Queant Switch, which helped to turn the Hindenburg line.

The Fourth division followed up the Germans and fought on Sept. 27 the noteworthy action which enabled them to capture Bourlon Wood, a position captured in 1917 by the present governor-general, then General Byng, but wrested from him by a great German counter-attack.

Then came what Sir David once described as "terrible days." The Germans threw division after division and unit after unit, in an attempt to stop the vigorous advance of the British army. Sir David said on one occasion, "It was the hardest fighting the Canadians had been up against, and the manner in which they took those terrible gruellings and assaults is one of the most creditable occurrences in the annals of the great war."

DEMANDS GREECE RELEASE CARGO

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The French foreign office has instructed its foreign minister in Athens to demand the immediate release of the steamer Espoir and its cargo, captured by a Greek torpedo boat destroyer off the coast of Asia Minor and interned in the Salamina harbor on Feb. 12. The Greeks contended that the vessel was laden with contraband of war destined for Mustafa Kemal Pasha, the Turkish Nationalist leader. They agreed to the release of the ship after the cargo had been unloaded.

The French government insists that the Espoir had on board a full cargo of coal for the Anatolian Railroads.

The note, while not in the nature of an ultimatum, requests a reply from the Greek government before Monday evening, Feb. 20.

Fear Witnesses In Bullock Case Won't Arrive Until Late In Week

HAMILTON, Feb. 19.—Witnesses from Norlina, N. C., who will testify in the extradition hearing of Matthew Bullock, will not reach here until late in the week, it was learned tonight.

F. W. White of the Society for Colored People, whose headquarters are in New York, wired Controller F. E. Treleven this afternoon to defend Bullock on behalf of the society, and it is expected that Mr. White will again come to Hamilton. Bullock's relatives are expected back in the city also. The hearing before Judge Snider will be on Friday, and both sides are now busily preparing a case.

It was pointed out by counsel for Bullock that the charge of attempted murder would be hard to prove, as it does not necessarily follow that murder was attempted, if the prisoner engaged in an assault.

SEE PAR VALUE OF CANADIAN DOLLAR

Wall Street Predicts Improved Dominion Finances Will Cut Exchange.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—(By Canadian Press.)—The discount on the Canadian dollar in the United States will very probably disappear entirely within the current year, the Wall Street Journal predicts in the course of a review of the exchange situation.

While in the past the Canadian exchange rate has generally followed the fluctuations of sterling exchange, the paper asserts, other factors have recently influenced the Canadian rate so that sterling, for certain periods at least, has ceased to be a dominant factor.

The discount rate on Canadian dollars reached 3 1/2 per cent here yesterday, the lowest in has been since the fixed rate on sterling exchange was discontinued in March, 1919. Since that time the discount has gone as high as 17 1/2 per cent.

Reasons given by the Wall Street Journal for the present high value of Canadian funds are:

The prospect for a reorganization of finances through a large Dominion bond issue.

Purchase of Canadian internal bonds by United States investors.

A drift of Canadian funds, temporarily on call here, back to the Dominion.

Wheat shipments from Canada to the United States, which are in fairly large volume.

TO SUPPORT NEW POSTMEN'S BODY

TORONTO, Feb. 19.—The formation of the Canadian Federation of Postal Employees, recently brought about at a meeting held in Winnipeg, received hearty indorsement at a mass meeting of postal employees at the Labor Temple today. About 500 employees of the various branches of the postal service in this city and representatives from Hamilton, Kingston and Vancouver attended.

All of the speeches delivered during the afternoon were unanimous in supporting the formation of the federation, which is designed to coordinate all the branches of the postal service and give them united representation.

CLAIMS EUROPE MUST AID SELF TO HALT CHAOS

Dr. Henry Van Dyke Urges All Nations To Show Psychological Sympathy.

RIDICULES ALL DELUSIONS

Declares Lack of Thought and Dullness of Heart Obsess Men.

BY DR. HENRY VAN DYKE.
Special to London Advertiser.

LONDON, England, Feb. 19.—The war was caused in great part by a disregard of national psychology. Germany, obsessed by the Hohenzollern myth, was utterly unable to put herself in the place of other nations and understand how they felt.

A somewhat similar lack of psychological sympathy is the main thing that imperils peace at the present hour.

If the nations would only try to do unto others as they would have others do unto them at least half of the difficulties that beset Europe today would melt away.

But the other half would remain and would have to be dealt with by practical measures, like those which have recently been undertaken at the recent Washington conference in the United States, and carried through to a successful issue, though not yet complete, is greater than the friends of permanent peace dared to hope at the outset.

Might Be Worse.

The condition of affairs in Europe certainly is not altogether good. But it might easily be worse. The task of peace-loving nations at the present moment is to prevent that deterioration. If that can be stopped the natural forces of good which reside in humanity will gradually bring about an improvement in industry, trade, finance and all the arts of peace.

I do not believe that humanity is bankrupt, civilization shipwrecked, and the world doomed to destruction. That idea is a delusion of hysteria in minds of a certain type, shell-shocked by the war and not yet returned to normal and reasonable ways of thinking.

But the mass of people in Great Britain and Canada and even throughout Europe are really not like that. They enjoy their victuals and their sleep, their simple pleasures and their family relations. They love their home and their country and are willing to work for them. Indeed, they would much rather work for them quietly than be shot to pieces for them. That is why they are hungry for peace.

Just Private Opinion.

My estimate of the situation is

Boots Sell in Russia For a Million Rubles a Pair

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—(By Canadian Press.)—Boots are worth 1,000,000 rubles a pair, bread 12,000 rubles a pound, and the daily budget for a small family is about 100,000 rubles in Russia today, according to a letter received here by J. Cohen of 330 Booth street, from relatives living near Kiev.

The letter, which is an urgent appeal for food, describes the terrible conditions in the famine area, and verifies Dr. Nansen's article in The London Advertiser that thousands are dying daily from starvation.

The letter carried postage stamps to the value of 15,000 rubles—normally about $7.00.

not official. It is simply the opinion of a private person who has knuckled about the world for 70 years and been in close relations with all sorts and conditions of men.

Oh, my present visit to England and France I met the leading statesmen of both countries and heard them talk in the freedom of private intercourse. France is not militaristic or imperialistic, whatever her bachelors may profess to believe to the contrary. No militaristic government in France could survive for a week. The people would make an end of it.

I see a good deal also of my old friends, the London taxicab drivers, and find them much improved in manners and I have not met with a single pirate among them.

Of course, they growl about the price of gasoline—and with justice. But so far as I can see they play no tricks with their fares. They are as obliging and cheerful as you can expect men with a rough life to be, and they are always grateful for the small bonus added to their very low legal fare.

Let me wind up this interview in two sentences:

The chief cause of the present troubles of the world is a lack of thought and dullness of heart among us men.

Great Britain and Canada must help Europe, of course, but the best way in which they can do this is by helping Europe to understand and help herself.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL MADE PREACHER

TULSA, Okla., Feb. 19.—A 13-year-old girl was among seven persons granted a license to preach by the Northwestern Oklahoma conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church here yesterday.

She is Miss Fay Emery of Miami, Okla., who began preaching last summer in the mining district near her home.

DEPICTS INDIAN MILITIA STATUS

DELHI, British India, Feb. 18.—General Lord Henry S. Rawlinson, commander-in-chief of the British troops in India, explained the military situation to English and Indian journalists today and gave his reasons for the necessity of having armies of greater strength both for the frontier and internal defence.

General Rawlinson declared that the tribesmen, if they combined, could raise some 130,000 splendid and well-armed fighters. He said the British troops had been decreased and the Indian cavalry reduced from 40 to 21 regiments. During January eight battalions had assisted the police in enforcing order, and in February the military had been called 24 times for similar purposes.

CHILDREN'S COUGHS QUICKLY RELIEVED

It is hard for to keep the children from taking cold; they will run out of doors not properly wrapped, or have too much clothing on and get overheated and cool off too suddenly, they get their feet wet, kick off the clothes at night; the mother cannot watch them all the time, so what is she going to do? Mothers should never neglect the children's coughs or colds, but on the first sign should procure a bottle of

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP.

It is pleasant and nice to take, and relieves the cough or cold in a very short time and thus prevents bronchitis, pneumonia, or perhaps consumption getting a foothold on their system.

Mrs. E. Smith, 238 Victoria avenue, North Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have three children who have had very bad colds, due to change of climate. I have tried different remedies, but I seem to get the best results from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have no difficulty in giving it to them as they like it. I always have at least one bottle in the house."

Price, 35c and 60c a bottle, at all dealers. Put up only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.
