Ottawa, June 21.—The clauses of the Autonomy bill, which carve out twenty-five constituencies in the Province of Alberta for the election of its first Legislature, were under consideration in the House yesterdsy. The Prime Minister started out with the assumption that all the Opposition was entitled to was the bare outline until the constituencies were detailed in the bill and projected upon a map. Eventually Sir Wiffrid Laurier produced a map and some figures of population. He elso showed where constituencies had been carved out of fermer constituencies, were being many of such changes. Relieved From Duty.

London, June 21.—The House of Commons reassembled yesterday after the Whitsuntide holidays and the new Speaker. Mr. Lowther was installed after a brief ceremony in the House of Lords.

The Opposition immediately thereafter bombarded the Government with questions about the army stores scandal and Premier Balfour announced that the Government had placed the papers contracted with the case in the hands of the director of public prosecutions. The latter, however, considered that the papers did not reveal any ground for criminal prosecution. The censured officers had been relieved from their duties.

Mr. Balfour added that he proposed to appoint a select committee of the matter.

Submarine Charge Exploded at Port Colborne Breakwater.

Port Colforie, June 21.—While men were at work last evening drilling near the breakwater on Mr. Hogan's submarine drill, a premature explosion of dynamite occurred, which caused the death of Thomas Heckador of Humberstone, and seriously injured David Ireland, foreman of the drill, and Fred Haney. It is supposed the accident occurred while the men' were charging a hole, and in some manner the leading wire to the charge was pulled too soon, causing the dynamite to come to the surface and explode.

Woman Seriously Burned.

Hamilton, June 21.—Mrs. James H. Brydges, 445 East Barton street, was probably fatally burned last night shortly after 9 o'clock, and her husband, who tried to put out the flames, had his hands painfully burned. A hanging lamp in the home of her next-door neighbor exploded and she tried to carry the lamp out on the street, as all the Steadford family were out at the time. Her dress caught fire, and before her husband could at out the flames, she was horribly burned about the body and limbs.

There was as undus excitement in either chambers or in the precincts, but the large crowds gathered in front of the Parliament buildings, shewed the keen public interest taken in the outcome of the session.

He hoped that as a result of the proceedings the present Riksdag would record the henest desires of Sweden.

The Council of State adopted a proposition which will be presented to the Riksdag at its opening this morning. WEDNESDAY, JUNE 21, 1905. DEPORTATION.

It is easy enough to understand the effect of Judge Anglin's decision in the case of the Pere Marquette mailway officials, but it is not so easy to understand the reasons for the decision, points out the Hamilton Herald. In fact, the judgment is not one that will tend to heighten respect, in the lay mind, for judicial wisdom.

The judge decides that the Dominion authorities have no power to deport aliens under the alien contract labor law, for the reason that the Dominion Parliament had no power to pass the alien contract labor law; and the reason why Parliament had no such power is because the act involves the right of exercising extra-territorial jurisdiction, and the Dominion, not being a sovereign power but a dependency, possesses such right.

Extra-territorial jurisdiction is, of course, jurisdiction exercised outside of the territory of the Dominion. The judge holds that an alien canmot be deported from Canada without an exercise of this sort of juris-diction. Even if the exercise of it is not tangible and visible, it is implied. For example, a Dominion of ficial takes an alien to the national border for the purpose of deporting him, he shoves him across the line; but in so doing he exercises a force of propulsion, the effect of which is still felt after the alien crosses the line, and therefore the power of extra-territorial jurisdiction comes into play. Or, in the operation of sheving, throwing or in any way propelling the alien over the line, the still felt after the alien crosses the pelling the alien over the line, the official is in imminent risk of going over the line himself, wholly or partially, in which case he would be exercising extra-territorial jurisdic-

Somebody should forward this decision to W. S. Gilbert, It might revive the waning genius of the weteran librettist, and he would perhaps turn it into another of his de-lightful topsy-tury operatias. He mever had better material.

But about this matter of extra territorial jurisdiction. Suppose Canada were a sovereign power; how would she then have a better right to deport than the learned judge says she now has? Would sovereignty confer upon the Dominion any jurisdiction in United States territory Does any sovereign power now possess jurisdiction in United States territory other than the ex-tra-territorial jurisdiction within the bounds of the embassy at Washington f We don't think so.

If Judge Anglin's decision is good in law, the law as it stands is a humiliation to Canada. But the matter should not be allowed to rest where it is. There ought to be another test case arranged, and the case ought by consent to be brought before a full bench of judges, preferably the supreme court. And if the law is as Judge Anglin says it is, then Canada must obtain from the imperial parliament the right to send out of the country people who, for good legal cause, are not wanted in it.

All that remains for the conference is to adjust the equality of commercial rights, as Germany desires this assurance from an international conference instead of through the operations of Anglo-French agreement. Therefore, the conference is not likely to consider changes in the political status of Morocco, but rather internal reforms and commercial privileges.

THE TALL HAT IN INDIA.

Its Reign Is Even More Despots Than It Is In England. Than it is in England.

From neon till 1:30 p. m. is the calling hour, and, though Calcutta even in winter is a hot place, no man who is not an outer barbarian will walk into a drawing room without a tall silk hat in his hand. Should he drive round in a dog cart to pay his calls, the man wears a helmet or a "sole tope," while he drives, pulls up at a house door, asks whether "the gate is shut," and, if told that it is not, puts on a silk hat, which the syce produces from a hatbox carried under the seat, and goes in to pay his call. Another instance of the British worship of the tall hat, which the natives consider an interesting the natives consider an interesting form of piety, is to be seen at the Calcutta races on the day of the Viceroy's cup. On that occasion the lawns and paddeck are thronged by people as smartly dressed as can be seen in the royal inclosure at Ascot, but during the early hours of the afternoon all the men wear helmets. Directly the sun dips toward the horizon all the "bearers" of the helmet hatted men may be seen outside the palings of the grand stand inclosure, jumping up like terriers to catch sight of their masters, each with a carefully brushed silk hat he has brought for his employer to put on.—London Onlooker. the natives consider an inter married was very nervous and while asking for information as to how he must act put the question, "Is it kiss-tomary to cus the bride?"—Brooklyn

BOOTH AND BARRETT.

How the Breach Between These Two Great Actors Occurred.

The great breach in the friendship between Edwin Booth and Lawrence Barrett occurred when Barrett was playing "The Man o' Airlee" in Booth's thester in New York city. The piece did not draw, and Booth decided to have it discontinued. So (as he art-erward told of the incident) be broacherward told of the incident) he broached the subject to Barrett, who immediately grew angry. "Do you mean to say that I can't play it?" he demanded hotly. Booth assured him in a conciliatory way that he gave the first part fairly, but not the last. In a greater passion than ever. Barrett repeated, "Do you mean to say that I can't play it?" Booth, still trying to not sefend him, said, "I don't think you have quite worked into the last act." Then Barrett's fury burst its bounds, and he terminated a torrent of invective with the remark: "Your father's weakness and your brother's crime placed you where Ramedy Banished His Pains.

Acadic Siding, Kent Co., N. B., June 19.—(Special).—Calixte Richard, J. P., one of the most highly respected men in this part of the country, has joined the great army of those who pin their faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills. As usual Mr. Richard has good reasons for what he does and he states them as follows:

"I have been troubled with Kidney Disease for forty years and the result was I found myself a worn out man at seventy-two. But afterwaing we boxes of Podd's Kidney Pills I find all my pains are gone and I can employ all my days with the best results. I cannot let the opportunity pass of letting the public know the great good Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all rheumatic penns by removing the cause—Uric spid in the blood. They put vigor and energy in place of the pain. your brother's crime placed you where you are. But I will live to see you in you are. But I will live to see you in the gutter and will stand above you." In spite of this the two grew to be friends again and starred in the combi-nation that drew the biggest houses of Chimney Stacks.

The bread brimmed stone and iron cappings which one sees on the chim-ney stacks in manufacturing districts are not there for mere ornamentation, for they serve an important purpose. On the opposits side of the stack to that upon which the wind may be blowing a partial vacuum is fermed, down which the smoke would descend were it not for the brim of the cap blocking the way. A chimney stack without a brim on the top would discharge its smoke in huge gusts for some distance down one side.

Jaju Worshipers.

The Are tribe, inhabitants of southern Nigeria, worship the "Long Juju." This is a jealously guarded circular pool of water to which sacridees of human beings and animals are made. Each house has also its own private "Juju." The boys of this tribe on reaching a certain age are put through various to so of physical endurance, one of which is to run twice round the town, about four miles, without stopping.

For Every Humour, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age.

The agonizing itching and burning of the skin, as in exzema; the frightful scaling, as in psoriasis; the loss of hair and crusting of the scalp, as in scalled head; the facial disfigurement, as in pimples and ringworm; the awful suffering of infants and the anxiety of worn-out parents, as in milk crust, tetter, and salt rheum, all demand a remedy of almost superhuman virtues to successfully cope with them. That Cuticara Soap, Ointment, and Pilla are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the doubt. No statement is made regard-ing them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. The purity and sweetness, the power to afford imme-diate relief, the certainty of speedy and permanent cure, the absolute safety and great economy, have made them the standard skin cures and humor remedies of the civilized world.

THE POWER TO PLEASE.

Potent Factor For Success In Any Cureer You May Adopt.

The power to please is a tremendous asset. What can be more valuable than a personality which always attracts, never repels? It is not only valuable in business, but also in every field of life. It makes statesmen and politicians; it brings clients to the law-yer and patients to the physician; it is yer and patients to the physician; it is worth everything to the clergyman. No matter what career you enter, you can-not overestimate the importance of cul-tivating that charm of manner, those personal qualities, which attract people to you, They will take the place of capital or influence; they are often a substitute for a large amount of hard

Some men attract business, customers, clients, patients, as naturally as magnets attract particles of steel. Everything seems to point their way, for the same reason that the steel particles point toward the magnet-because they are attracted.

Such men are business magnets Business moves toward them even when they do not apparently make half so much effort to get it as the less suc-cessful. Their friends call them "lucky dogs." But if we analyze these men closely we find that they have nitrac-tive qualities. There is usually some charm of personality about them that wins all hearts.—Success.

THE MAGICIAN'S THUMB.

It Is His Worst Enemy In Sleight of Hand Tricks.

In every sort of magic the magician's thumb is his worst enemy, says Nina. Carter Marbourg in Leslie's Weekly. If he could strike off that thumb and still have its assistance when neces-sary he would be a happy man. In closing the hand the thumb usually pends toward the palm in advance of the fingers. In this way it many times is much in the way, and practice is necessary to get a magician's thumb in perfect training. But when he has practiced in the school of magic for some time the thumb becomes so flexi-ble that it will bend nearly to the back of the hand.

Cards are invariably the beginning of a magician's education. In handling cards the thumb is especially in the way, and this is the reason why this trickery with the pasteboards is se-lected for the beginner. To change one card for another in front of one's very eyes and still to have made no perceptible movement of the hand is a trick that beginners learn to perform before they have been in the school for any great length of time. This, as may be imagined, is a difficult piece of work to become proficient in, and here is just the place where determination plays a great part in success.

BISMARCK CONSENTED.

When the third son of the Duke of Argyle bestowed his affections upon an untitled woman he felt bound to ask the old gentleman's consent. The duke answered that personally he had anke answered that personally he had no objections to the match, but in view of the fact that his eldest son had espoused a daughter of the queen he thought it right to inquire her majesty's pleasure on the subject before expressing his formal approval.

Her majesty, thus appealed to, ob served that since the death of the prince consort she had been in the oburg on all family affairs.

The matter was therefore referred to Duke Ernest, who replied that since the unification of Germany he had made it a rule to ask the emperor's oninion on all important questions. The case now came before the kaiser, who decided that, as a constitutional sovereign, he was bound to ascertain the views of his prime minister. Happily for the now anxious pair of lovers the "Iron Chancellor," who was then in office, had no wish to consult anybody and decided that the marriage might take place, and it did.

Knife Blades.
Pocketknife blades are very unevenly Pocketknife blades are very unevenly tempered. Even in so called standard cutlery some blades are hard and some are soft. For the latter there is no remedy, but the temper of hard blades can easily be drawn slightly. Take a kitchen poker and heat it red hot, have the blade that is to be drawn bright and held it on the poker for a moment. When the color runs down to violat When the color runs down to violet blue, stick the blade into a piece of talow or beef suct until cold.

A Change.
Two neighbors were conversing the other day when one said to the other:
"By the way, how is Mrs, Hogg, the invalid, going on?"
"Oh," replied the other, "they do not call her Mrs, Hogg now."
"Why, what do they call her?"
"Ch, they call her Mrs. Bacon now. She's cured."

How to Express It. "I'm so sorry supper lan't ready," said Mrs. Dinsmore to her husband when he came in. "I attended the meeting of the sewing circle this afternoon, and I couldn't get away."
"Hemmed in, were you?" asked her husband.

There are men living today with green hair. This web'd color is not a curious fad, but the result of working in a copper mine, where in order to become a marketable commodity the crude ore is roasted in furnaces. It is stated that, although no offensive odor emanates from this process, there is nevertheless some strange substance therein that produces a chemical change of the hair and beard, so that they become as green as grass. Strange to say, the texture of the hair suffers but remains as soft and glossy as ever.

Brief Criticisms.

Of Gray's "Elegy" a contemporary reviewer wrote: "The excellence of this little piece amply compensates for its lack of quantity." That and nothing more. Of "In Memoriam" a contemporary estimate was that its "simple but touching verses" were evidently inspired by "the full heart of the widow of a military man."

It is a phrase merely to those of us who do not know war at first hand, "Then the men threw themselves on the bayonets of the enemy." It sounds desperate and dramatic, but this account in Blackwood's Magazine by a naval sublicutenant at Port Arthur shows what it really means:

For thirty long minutes a hand to hand struggle had continued. Men threw grenades in each other's faces. Half demented samural flung them-selves upon the bayonets of the dozen Muscovites that held the traverse in the trench. Whe shall say that the day of the bayonet is past? Although there was not a breech that had not its car-tridge in the chamber, yet men roused to the limit of their animal fury over-look the mechanical appliances that make war easy. They thirsted to come to grips, and to grips they came. But it had to end. The eld colonel had fought his way through his ewn men to the very point of the struggle. He stood on the parapet, and his rich voice for a second curbed the fury of the wild creatures struggling beside

AIDING THE MEMORY.

Mnemonic Systems Have Been In Use From Time Immemorial.

The art of rendering artificial aid to the memory by associating in the mind things difficult to remember with those which are easy of recollection is said to have originated with the Egyptians. The first person to reduce it to a system was, according to Cicero, the peet Simonides, who lived 500 B. C. His plan is known as the topical or locality plan and was in substance as follows: Choose a large house with a number of differently furnished apartments in it. Impress upon the mind carefully all that is noticeable in the house so that the mind can readily go ever the parts. Then place a series of ideas in the house—the first in the hall, the next in house—the first in the hall, the next in the aiting room, and so on with the rest. Now, when one wishes to recall these ideas in their proper succession, commence going through the house, and the idea placed in each department will be found to readily recur to the mind in connection with it.

It is related that this mnemonic plan was first suggested to the poet by a tragic occurrence. Having been called from a banquet just before the roof of the house fell and crushed all the rest of the company, he found on returning the house fell and crushed all the rest of the company, he found on returning that the bodies were so mutilated that no individual could be recognised, but by remembering the places which they had severally occupied at the table he was able to identify them. He was thus led to notice that the order of places may by association suggest the order of things.

Italy and Her Orisinale.

In Italy whenever a famous criminal trial is on the newspapers take sides violently, search for evidence and assume all the prerogatives of the cour That they are even more sensational than the American press in this regard is indicated by the fact that Italians reading accounts of great cases in the American papers are always struck on of tone shown an wonder how it is that Americans take so little interest in what concerns the whole world. "The Americans are a great people," say the Italians, "but cold; they don't even warm to thele own criminals!"

Sir Walter Scott's Funeral.

That is a touching story told of the funeral of Sir Walter Scott: The road by which the procession took its way wound over a hill, whence can be seen one of the most beautiful of landscapes. It was his habit to pause there to gaze upon the scane, and when taking a friend out te drive he never falled to stop there and call the attention of his companion to the most beautiful points of the view. Few could refrain from tears when, carrying their master on his last journey, the horses stopped at the old familiar spot, as it were, for him to give a last look at the scene he had loved so well. A Class Room Pan.

When Lord Kelvin was Sir William Thomson his lectures were not always in simple enough language for the students to understand, and they were usually glad when his demonstrator, named Day, took his place. On one occasion when Sir William Thomson left for town one of them wrote in large letters in the class room:

"Work while it is Day, for when the knight cometh no man can work."

The late bishop of London was once ordered by his physician to spend the winter in Algiers. The bishop said it was impossible; he had so many engagements "Well, my lord bishop," said the specialist, "it either means Algiers or heaven." "Oh, in that case," said the bishop, "I'll go to Algiers."

A HINDU WIZARD.

His Trick That Pussled an Occidenme of the tricks of the Hindu wizards are past understanding, according to an occidental master of magic who was speaking of his oriental rivals. This is what he says he saw a Hindu rizard do in a club in Lucknow: "He took a board and placed it on four glass goblets, thus elevating it from the floor. A youngster sitting on the board was requested to place his hands together, palms up. Then the juggler took a glass of water and pour ed it into the outstretched hands of the boy. In the meantime the boy had been mesmerized, and his attention was fix ed on a point indicated by the magi-cian. Gradually the water turned green in color and then developed into a jelly which increased in density until it be came as solid as a stone. Out of the center of this appeared the head of a snake, which gradually developed until in the place of the water there ap-peared a hissing reptile. I was amazed, I can assure you, but the trick was not yet completed. Hitting the reptile upon the head with his wand, the juggler took it up carefully and placed it back in the glass. As we looked it became transformed into a jelly, which in turn melted into a greenish colored water. Clearer and clearer became the fluid until it was of its original color, and then the juggler placed it to his lips and drank the entire contents. This was the most wonderful trick I ever saw performed, and it is as mysterious Zerah Colburn was an American prodigy. When ask-ed the square root of 106,929 and the cube root of 208,336,125, he answered correctly before the audience set the figures down.

The President's Salute.

The president's salute consists of twenty-one guns, and why this particular number was hit upon has been the cause of much speculation. One solution, more clever than probable, is that when the Revolution took place the nation was considered able to shift for it. tion was considered able to sairt for the self; hence twenty-one. Another is that the figures of the year of the Declaration of Independence, 1776, when added to gether make a total of twenty-one. The royal salute in England is also twentyone guns, having been originally seven, which number fired three times for the three political divisions makes the to-

The Queer Will and Funeral of a Queer Englishwoman.

The will of Mrs. Margaret Thompson, which is preserved as a curiosity at Somerset House, England, is a tribute to the delights and consolations of The testatrix directed that in her coffin should be buried with her all her handkerchiefs and sufficient of the best Scotch snuff to cover her body. This she preferred to flowers, as "noth ing could be more fragrant and so refreshing to me as that precious powder." Further, the six greatest snuff takers in the parish of St. James, West minster, were to be her bearers. Six old maids, each bearing in her hand a box filled with the best Scotch snuff to take for their refreshment as they walked, were to bear the pall. Before the corpse the minister was to walk, carrying and partaking of a pound of anuff. At every twenty yards a handful of snuff was to be delivered to the hystanders, and at the door of the tea-tatrix's house were to be placed two bushels of the same quality of snuff for gratuitous distribution. In order to in-sure the carrying out of her wishes the testatrix made the legacies given by the will dependent upon an exact and literal fulfillment of the conditions above named. In closing she bade all concerned to regard snuff as the grand

It is about the size and shape of a blackbird, but has a pair of delicate white tufts at its a pair of delicate white tufts at its throat and is a glossy dark green oth-erwise, which looks black in the sun-shine. It can be taught to crow, to speak, to whistle tunes, and, besides these tricks, it has a repertory which is not often equaled by any other feathered songster. At vespers it has a note like the toll of a bell or the a note like the toll of a bell or the clear, high note of an organ. It can mimic every bird in the bush to perfection. It will break off in the middle of an exquisite melody and indulge in a strange melody of sounds which are impossible to describe, but if you can imagine "the combination of a cough, a laugh, a sneeze, with the smashing of a pane of glass," it will be some appreach to the idea.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bray return from pleasant week's trip to Louisville, Ky.

Dr. and Mrs. J. L. Bray returned jesterday morning from a very en-joyable week's visit in Louisville, Kentucky, where they were present at the re-union of the Confederate Army and Navy Surgeons. The doctor attended as one of the veteran army surgeons. They also took ad-army surgeons. They also took advantage of the trip to visit their son Walter, who is engaged by a large barnet manufacturing soncern in Louisville. The doctor reports a most enjoyable time.

"The parade of veterans," said he, "was one of the largest parades I ever gaw in my life. There were 40 bands in the procession and it took an hour and three-quarters to pass one point. It was a grand sight to see those old time sacred veterans marching along. I met many acquaintances whom I had known in the army and the geunion was really enjoyable. There were about 200 ladies in the parade, most of them on horseback.

"Louisville is a very preity place. They have some of the finest parks in America, and through the courtesy of Mr. McDomald, editor, of the Herald, formerly editor of the Banner, Mrs. Bray and I were enabled to visit all of these parks during an automobile ride. The people there are very hospitable and many kind courtesies were extended to us, especially from Mr. and Mrs. McDomald. Mr. McDomald is a very popular man in Louisville and he has an excellent paper.

"One day we visited the Jockey Club Park, where a band was enjoyed. The music was fine and the visit a rare treat. The following day we were privileged to see Paine's great fireworks display, the fall of Port Arthur. Every day there was some special attraction for the veterans and it was one week of continual enjoyment."

The doctor reports the weather in Louisville very warm. On Sanday the themometet, registered 101 degrees in the shade, and although Chatham has some exceedingly warm days, the climate here is preferable to that in Louisville.

Those who would rather be right than be president will at any rate find it much easier.

DEVIL FISH?

Capt. McLaren Submits a Realistic and Startling Solution of the Marie Celeste Mystery

The Planet is in receipt of the folfollowing interesting communication from the pen of Capt. J. W. Med

The probable fate of the crew of The Marie Celeste, which appeared in your paper some days ago, terminated at a point in the story which must have left a large number of your readers wound up to a highly point of cursosity. In a feeble way I will try and conclude the narrative, bringing it down to the only fate possible under the circumstances that could have happened to the crew. The brig Marie Celeste was noticed acting in an erratic manner when a could have happened to the crew.

The brig Marie Celeste was noticed acting in an erratic manner when a short distance off the south-west coast of Spain. The Spanish coast-coast of Spain. The Spanish coast-guards boarded her and found not a soul on board—everyone had vanished. The vessel was deserted. What new sea mystery had they come on They piloted the brig inshore to the nearest port, and, seeing she was of American build, notified American consul. He closely examined the vessel, and found the following to be the case:

American build, notified American consul. He closely examined the vessel, and found the following to be the loase:—

The vessel, a brig, from Boston, new and sound; not a single lifeboat missing, but still in their places; not a rope, spar, stay or sail injured. Every thing, from truck to keel, sound More astonishing, the captain's watch was still ticking on a nail in his berth. No pirates had boarded her. Nothing had been rummaged or disturbed. The cabin table held a half-consumed meal fresh from the kitchen. The vessel was in splendid shape, yet not a single member of the crew on board. Water and food in abundance; clean and healthy the vessel proved to be. The American admiralty spent lots of money trying to clear up the mystery, but of no avail. No member of the crew was ever seen again; no floating bottle was ever found to give a clue. Will the following theory satisfy the readers of The Planet? Read it and see:—

The ocean going brig Marie Celeste was sailing on a calm sea, some few leagues off the Spanish coast, Everything was serene and bright. The captain, his wife and daughter, as also the entire crew, went below, to dinner. One solitary figure stood dozing at the wheel, when suddenly behind him a gigantic devil-fish upireared itself from the ocean, and with its waving and wriggling arms stretched over half the deck, seized him, his awful cries of terror, and alarm pemetrated the vessel and brought, not one, but every soul from below to see they knew not what. In their wild rash on deck, how they on emerging from the cabin stairs, were instantly within reach of these awful feelers is very apparent. I hope, to us. One solitary evidence of a struggle was seen in a hack a chip taken out of the bulwarks, made by an axef or cutlass as some desperate man vainly endeavored to escape from the awful toils, but swept up struggling and shrinking down the horrible octopus drops once more to the ocean depths, carrying with him a crew of eighteen souls. Such was the probable fate of the crew of The Marie Celeste.

Last Sanday morning nine persons were baptized at the First Baptist Church, King St. The ceremony was scheduled to take place at S a. m., and would then have occurred but for the lack of water in the baptised mal tank.

The pool was filled on Friday for use on Sunday, but on examining, it then it was found that someone had removed the place. Result—no water. The pool bad to be refilled by a fire depurtment attache, delaying the service until 9.30. Some members of the A. M. E. Church were also baptised, the two churches having agreed upon a joint use of the tank.

The sacrilerse is thousent to be the

The Letter-Box

ALD. WESTMAN REPLIES

the Cittzens of Chatham : In replying to a letter that appear ed un your paper of the 20th inst, would say that I feel that I ought to state my position clearly before the public, and in doing so I will only speak for myself, leaving the other aldermen to speak for them-the public, and in doing so I will only speak for myself, leaving the other aldermen to speak for them selves.

I am very glad to say that my interests so far as the Railway Company enable me to take a very strong stand in this matter. I would like to inform every vitizen, and Dr. Thornton in particular, that when I took the declaration I understood fully the nature and responsibility of that obligation. I am also aware that any person holding a public position is liable to have actions criticized, and rightly so. However, I think that before any sitizen rushes into public print he should first inquire into and thoroughly understand the situation before he even suspects any man of dishonest action. The Railroad Company have not approached me or asked me in any way whatever to favor them in any particular. On the other hand, my action both in committee and in Council, will show that I have not favoried the Railroad, as against the interests of the citizens of Chatham. If will show that I have not favoried the Railroad, as against the interests of the citizens of the printing of the street. I was of the opinion that tracks on St. Clair street boulevard instead of going down the centre of the street. I was of the opinion that the side of the boulevard was in the best place in the interests of all concerned, for the reason that it would leave a 20-foot road clear for the use of the travelling public, for the farmers and others wishing to use the street. I am still of the same opinion, but when it came to deciding whether it should go down the boulevard or the centre of the street, I voted with the residents of St. Clair street, and against the wishing to use the street, I was not sure which would be best and voted to have the matter investigated, and, on finding that the fenders were necessary to public safety, I voted to leave that clause as it was, making it necessary to use the said fenders. This was also in opposition to the wishes of the Company.

could state other cases, but do I could state other cases, but do not think it is necessary.

Now, I notice the grounds for Dr. Thornton's supposition are that because I am a partner of the firm or Westman Bros. and that firm are suplying hardware to the Company, therefore I am not in a position to faithfully and impartially do my duty, as an alderman. I again say that I fully appreciate the obligation I have taken, and would like to assure every citizen, Dr. Thornton includes, that it takes a great deal more to warping my judgment or lower my principles citizen. Dr. Thornton included, that it takes a great deal more to warp it takes a great deal more to warp my judgment or lower my principles than the profits on a bill of hardware, and if the time should ever come that I cannot conscientiously, earry on my business without sacrificing the city's interests, then I will be glad to resign.

A few facts in the case before I close. The firm of Westman Bros. have not sold the nailroad company one dellar's worth of goods direct; what goes we have supplied for the building of the road have been sold to the Whalen Construction Co, who have the contract for building the road, and in nearly every instance we have had to meet keen competition by tendering for the business. Some tenders we were successful, in others we were not, and the business went to other firms. I do not think that because I am an alderman and give considerable of my time to the city that we should be deprived of the privilege of doing all the business we can as long as it does not intergive considerable of my time to the city that we should be deprived of the privilege of doing all the business we can as long as it does not interfere with the city's interest. On more than one coors. In have sacrificed my firm's interest for the sake of the city's interest. The case of the city's interest. The case of the chatham Navigation Co. will shew this. Ever since we have been doing business in Chatham we have had the account of the Chatham Navigation Co., which was a valuable one. This year we have lost it all because as an alderman I saw fit to stand by what I considered was the city's right, against the Chatham Navigation Co. I have taken a strong stand on temperance and moral reform which stand has been the means of us losing good accounts and valuable bus ness. However, I am not regretting any position I have taken, but rather will continue to carry on my public and private affairs at as high a standard as is my privilege to know of. My position with the reilroad is as follows: I am heartily in sympathy with the railroad, and think that it is one of the best things for Chatham that we have been able to secure; and am glad that we are so soon to realize that it is a fact. I do not think the citizens of Chatham wish any alderman to drive a sharp bargain with the company or to insist on clauses in the agreement that would only be necessary in case of a franches in a city of 50,000 to 100,000, but rather that we deal just and fair, giving all the aid to the company we can—as long as it does not interfere with the city's right—to making it a good paying institution. We want the company is extend the more it will be note they extend the more it will be note that they will be able to make the company pay, we cannot expect that they will be able to make the company pay we cannot expect that they will be able to make the company pay we cannot expect that they will be able to make the company pay we cannot expect that they will be able to make the company pay of an all and the will be able to make the compan

No furnace drudgery in the Bison

The most exasperating mystery a man can have is a cranky furnace. The dirt and soot, the asli sifting and draft worry of many heaters, make life a burden. With the new "Bison" hot water heater, there are no worries. Its drafts are so simple a child can understand them, the shaking down apparatus is operated with the slightest effort, shaking down and sifting in one operation. It is a clean, simple, economical heater, perfectly safe, as it burns its own gas no matter how the drafts are set. Write to H. R. Ivis Co. #### INDUSTRIES COMING

C. A. Austin, chairman of the Industrial committee, announced this morning that he is in correspondence with a large American firm who are desirous of locating here. In addition to this a large industrial firm, having a capital stock of $100,000, s in view. Stand aside and let the Maple City pass!

Mr. Austin is putting his best energy into his services for the city. It is largely due to his efforts that William street from the C. P. R. track to the bridge is to be pared. The C. P. R. had always bulked at paying for such a pavement until Mr. Austin took the matter up. Mr. Dunlop, the C. P. R. official having charge of these matters, is an old teacher of Mr. Austin and yielded to Mr. Austin's persuasion.

TALKED BACK

Mrs. Willer is not Satisfied with Judge Houston's Ruling in a Petty Case and Tells him so in Court -Two Cases Up

Mrs. Willer was a highly incensed woman at the Police. Court this morning. Some time ago she enter-ed a complaint against Harry Stinson for telling naughty stories that were by no means conducive to the high moral standing which she wish-es her husband to believe she main-es her husband to believe she maintains.

The case was adjourned from last week to allow Mrs. Willer to bring into court a man named McLeod, whom, it is claimed, Stinkon connected with these stories. This morning, however, McLeod failed to make his appearance, and Judge Houston, having adjourned the case twice, became impatient and fined Stinson $1 and costs, $3 in all—the smallest fine he could impose.

At this, Mrs. Willer, who had pleaded for another adjournment, became quite provoked and, in fact, real angry. She threatened to appeal the case, and the Judge ordered her out of the court room.

When she was leaving the room she tried to assume a pitiful look of injured innocence, but the tilted nose and the impatient toss of the head donated a will of her own, and shifty to speak out for herself under conditions that would subdue most people.

conditions that people.

The case of the little girl, Florence Willard, was again up for consideration. This is the little girl who runs away from home and who is reported by her father as being unmanagable. Dr. R. V. Bray, Executive Officer, for the Children's Aid Society, was present in the court room, and asked that he be given an opportunity, to look up a home for the little girl. This permission was granted.

LUXURY IN TRAVEL

Lord Hawke's High Opinion of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"Lord Hawke is a judge of comfort in travel if any man is," says the London, England, Canadian Gazette, which adds:—"Last week he returned from India and Japan by way of the Pacific and Canada, and we call well believe how every Canadian Pacific Railway official will blush as he reads what the famous cricketen has to say in the Sheffield Daily Teles graph. "I have never known such a company as the Canadian Pacific Railway," says he; "the travelling is luxury. Everyone on the whole line is civil, kind and willing to do everything to add to one's comfort. As to, the journey across the Rockies, the was superb. Once we had a rare experience of one engine at the front of a second, with a third pushing its hardest at the rear. We shouldn't have got up otherwise. I was with Lord and Lady Castlersuch on that part of the trip, and we couldn't have for the trip, and we couldn't have thad a finer time of it. The scenery is wonderful, and the wenten was grand. I was riding on the engine part of the way across."

Writing to a friend, Lord Hawke says:—"Everyone (in Canada) was goodness itself, and I should like to add how much I admired the wonderful management of the Canadian Pacific Railway."

The Wedding Cake.

The custom of having a special cake at weddings was introduced into Engage land by the Romans. This cake, or, rather, biscuit, signified fruitfulness, hospitality and prosperity. The rice that was showered upon a bride had a similar meaning. For many centuries after the Romans left the custom was to break the biscuit over the bride's head, and then the fragments were picked up and piled before her for distribution to her friends. At the resto ration Charles H. returned with a small army of French cooks, who speedly converted the ancient biscuit speedily converted the ancient biscuit into a delicious piece of confectionery, leed it with sugar and gradually adorned it with emblematical devices, till it towered into the amazing structure which the luxury of later times has developed — Landon Chiendial. veloped.-London Chronicle.

SPECIALISM IN LAW.

Salicitor and the Barrister In Our Legal Practice.

In this country nearly every student admitted to the bar is under the im-pression that there is in him the more thas possibility of a great trial lawyer. Having read accounts of brilliant cross examinations and successful addresses to juries, he has in mind that he is entirely competent at the outset to try the most complicated and difficult the most complicated and difficult cause. Unfortunately as to many who are net qualified for that work it is only after very many years and after considerable experience at the expense of litigants and the public, if at all, that they ascertain that they have not that they ascertain that they have not the peculiar aptitude necessary to the successful trial lawyer. In the meantime not only have clients suffered, but the business of the courts has been retarded to a very serious extent by the the business of the courts has been re-tarded to a very serious extent by the lack of adaptability on the part of the practitioner as well as by lack of ex-perience, since it is impossible that ev-ery man admitted to the bar shall have the opportunity to try a sufficient num-ber of causes to give him the degree of experience requisits in order to obtain the best results. Sooner or later in the interest of the elients and to save the time and pa-tience of the courts there must be in this country a natural division tween the labor of the solicitor and the duty of the barrister, not artificial or conventional, but one which shall grow up from the nature of the case, by which certain men who are best qualified for the trial of causes will carry on that work to the practical exclusi of those without special adaptability for that class of business. The Window Habit, In nearly every home in New York that has windows fronting on those ay-enues traversed by elevated trains there are one or more particular cush-ions known as the "elevated cushions." As their name implies, they are cushions on which the members of the family rest their elbews when leaning out of the window to look at either the passing elevated trains or what is going on in the street below. This look-ing out of the window habit is particularly a New York one, one that is no-ticed immediately by those coming here from out of town. Residents of other cities look out of their windows if there is anything in particular going en, but here women and children by day and men, women and children by night may be said fairly to live with their heads projecting from the win-dows. This habit is not prompted by any particular curiosity; it is simply born of the desire to be in touch with born of the desire to be in touch what is going on, though one may be a hundred feet above it. The disaster people dread often comes to them. Worry and anxiety enfeeble their force of mind and so blunt their creative and productive faculties that they are unable to exercise them properly. Fear of failure or lack of faith in one's ability is one of the most potent causes of failure. Many people of splendid nowers have attained only splendid powers have attained only mediocre success, and some are total failures, because they set bounds to their achievement, beyond which they did not allow themselves to think that did not allow themselves to think that they could pass. They put limitations to their ability; they cast stumbling blocks in their way by aiming only at mediocity or predicting failure for themselves, talking their wares down instead of up disnaraging their busiinstead of up, disparaging their business and belittling their powers.—O. The honeymoon used to last a month.

The accepted notion, according to Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fa-Brewer's Dictionary of Phrase and Fable, is that it must be spent away from home in order that the happy pair may get thoroughly acquainted without being victims of the curiosity of relatives and friends. It is so called from the habit of the ancient Germans of drinking "hydromel," which is a mixture of honey and water, for thirty days after honey and water, for thirty days after marriage. Hydromel, farmented, conmarriage. Hydromel, fermented, contains enough alcohol to make a manintoxicated in short order, so that the honeymoon really was a debauch. Atllia, the Hun, indulged so freely at his wedding that he died wedding that he died.

Curious Navy Order. One of the most curious orders give in the royal navy is "All hands blac" in the royal navy is "All hands blac" faces," a supply of pigment for the purpose being carried by each ship. When a night surprise is in ed it is not only the vessels that are made as little visible as possible. Even the faces of the men must be blacken. the faces of the men must be blacken-ed, for when powerful night glasses are used the showing of a white face is far more palpable than any land man would suppose. - London Teles

Very often they think it is from so-called "female disease." There is less female trouble than they think. Women suffer from backache, eleeplesseese, mervossuese, irritability, and a dragging down feeling in the loins. So do men, and they do not have "female trouble."

Why, then, blame all your trouble to female disease? With healthy kidneys, few women will ever have "female diseaders." The kidneys are so closely connected with all the internal organs, that work the next morning.

Six months before she had come home a broken wreck—her husband rehome a broken wreck—her husband re-cently killed in a drunken brawl, her own life spolled, as she thought, by the man against whom she had been warn-ed. But now, with renewed health and resolution, she was about to commence ife again, to build up from the wreck. Halstead listened quietly until she fin-ished, then broke out:

ished, then broke out:

"You know there ain't no need for it, Kitty. You know I've been waitin' for you to get strong so I could say the same thing Laid before—before you met him. It didn't seem right to persuade you when you first came, you were so weak an tired. But now you're strong again an know your own mind. An', Kitty"—his voice trembling in spite of his efforts at self control—"I've been waitin' a good many years. "I've been waitin' a good many years. I've never felt to marry anybody else." Her hand rose impetuously to step him.

"But you must think to marry some-body else, Haistead," she said earnest-iy. "You're too good a man to be wasted that way. An' you must stop thinkin' of me, for it can't ever be after—after what's gone by. I ain't much, but I couldn't be so mean as to harm a man like that. Now, Halstead, please' a man like that, Now, halstead, please— touching his arm as she saw the grim amusement on his face—"don't make me go on feelin' I've ruined your life. There's Nelly Bocup. She likes you,

Haistead laughed aloud. Haistead laughed aloud.
"No use talkin' that way, Kitty," he interrupted. "I want you, an' if I can't have you now I'm willin' to wait awhile. When it gets too hard I shall grab you up an' run so fast an' far you won't be able to get breath to say

"I'm sorry, Halstead." There were tears in Kitty's eyes, but her voice was hamper him. It won't be no use for you to wait an' ask me again ever."

There was much sickness in the town that fall—a malignant spotted fever, highly contagious—and one by one the poorer portions of the town were put under quarantine. Then one evening Halstead helped what he thought to be described must be is home and the a drunken man to his home, and the next day the man came down w fever and within a week was dead. Within an hour after Halstead heard this he was on his way to the woods for what he said was to be a few days' hunting. In reality it was to watch to appear on the streets he staggered to the sidewalk outside the fence of his sister's home, where Kitty boarded.

"Mary! Oh, Mary!" he called. Then when his sister appeared at the door:

"Don't come any nearer. You know that empty cabin up by the big rock where we walk sometimes?"

"Well, I want you to send some food well, I want you to send some food and water there soon's you can. I've got the fever. Wait," raising his voice a little bitterly as she withdrew hur-riedly into the house. "There ain't a mite of danger this far, not for you nor the children. "Halstead!" It was a quiet but peremptory voice from an upper window. Haistead raised his eyes and tried to fix his mind on what he saw there.

"Kitty, Kitty," he said dreamily, "that you? Better go in an shut the window. Maybe the wind's blowin' that way."

"Halstead." the voice said slowly and distinctly, "can you go straight to the cabin by yourself?"

"Course." indignantly, "straight's an arrow. But I'll wait two hours."

"No," peremptorily, "you must go at once, straight. I will see about the food an' everything else. I'll have a doctor there almost as soon as you are "An' I'll have a nurse. I'd make you come in here, but there's your sisdren in both the next houses. So may-be it wouldn't be best. Now go, straight, straight to the cabin."

Halstend raised his hand to his fore-head undecidedly. But the voice had been clear and incisive, and just now been clear and incisive, and just now it was easier for him to obey than to think. So he nodded vaguely and staggered up the sidewalk. Kitty watched him anxiously until she realized that in spite of his wavering steps he was heading toward the cabin. Then she hurried downstairs. Mary met her at terically.

Halstead did not die, but it was more than three months before he was able to leave his bed and totter across the cabin door to a seat in the doorway. There he sat for a long time gasping fer breath and gazing moedly at the distant mountain tops. Kitty came to him there after she had arranged his bed and tidled the room. "Doesn't it look good, Halstead?"

she said. He did not answer at once, but pres-ently turned to her with a dreary

"You heard the dector tell me it would likely be six months before I would begin to do any werk an' that my eyes an' hearin' wouldn't ever be quite se goed again. That's just the same as if I was gettin' to be an old man." He was silent for some minutes, then added: "An' that ain't all, Kitty. It'll take every cent I've got to pay the doctor. You see, before you came I never saved anything. I didn't feel any need. What I got I spent to help Mary an' the children. I've only been puttin' by the few menths you was here before I was sick. Supposing.

An efficial of one of the departments of Washington says that while going to his luncheon one afternoon he saw a military funeral passing down Pennsylvania avenue. As the pageant passed the official was standing on the curb, hat in hand, and noting with interest the reversed arms, the flag draped coffin and the riderless horse behind, when some one touched him on the elbow and said:

"I hope you'll excuse me, boss, but "I hope you'll excuse me, boss, but would you mind tellin' me whether the dead soldier was anything to you?"

"Why, no," answered the official, smiling in spite of himself as he turned and beheld a solemn looking eld darky of perhaps sixty years of age.
"Excuse me again, boss," continued the negro, "but you kinder looked that sorry I thought mebbe he was something to you."

He was a brave soldier," answered the official. The darky said nothing for a moment.

Finally, with a sigh, he added:

The Friendly Onion.

The onion, whether young or old, is a friend to mankind. It is good for a whole list of aliments. Now, that very fact ought to suggest that it contains something stronger than water. That something is a volatile oil. It is called an oil because of its chemical composition, but no one seeing the stuff in a bottle would judge it to be an oil. It is said to be "volatile" not because of any innate wickedness, but because when exposed to the air it passes away in a state of vapor. If we eat it with bread or something similar, all is serene. If we think that it is impossible to have too much of a good thing and that we ought not to adulterate it and so eat of the onion more liberally than wisely, we may get a starter in the shape of indigestion. In fact, the oil of the onion will greatly irritate the stomach, and it may set up a mild inflammation.

Cartess Bird Ways.

How birds know when to go and which way to turn are things not yet well understood because the flights are at night and the great movements start a long time before it is really necessary for the birds to go. They leave their winter homes (perhaps in Mexico) when there is no perceptible change in the weather and return from their breeding grounds in most cases while their food supply is at its very height—long before it is cold or the grass and weed seeds and insects begin to get scarce. In many cases, too, the young birds of the year, who have never left their homes before, lead the long procession in the great southward flight and are followed later by their parents—8t.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the sar. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal conditube restored to its normal condi-tion, hearing will be destroyed for-ever; nine cases out of ten are caus-ed by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN. Modesty is woman's watchword. Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For this reason maply a woman permits diseases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she cannot bring herself to submit to the ordeal of unpleasant questionings, offensive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physicians find necessary. Doubtless thousands of the women who have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have taken advantage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free consultation by letter, have been led to do so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to true modesty. Any sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly private and sacredly confidential, and all answers being sent in plain envelopes with no advertising or other printing anon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has been long hailed as "a God send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Each woman is sure she deserves the very best sort of a husband and no trouble.

THE CATTLE EMBARGO.

Agricultural Committee Passes Rese lution Against It and Would Send Mr. Fisher to England.

Ottawa, June 21.—At a meeting of

Ottawa, June 21.—At a meeting of the agricultural committee yesterday the following resolution, recommended by the sub-committee which had the matter under consideration, was unanimously adopted:

That, in the opinion of this committee, the embargo on Canadian cattle entering the United Kingdom is most unfair and unjust, as it, is a publication to the world at large that the board of agriculture considers it unsafe to permit the Canadian cattle to come into contact with the herds in the United Kingdom, whereas it is a well-known fact that in no country other than Canada can herds be found so free from disease.

That the scheduling of Canada by the Imperial Government is considered from a financial point of view as a serious loss to the Canadian cattle trade, the farmers and the slock raisers of the Dominion.

That action of the Imperial Government is not, justified by the facts of the case, it having hem clearly proved that the disease of pleuro-pneumonia has never existed in Canadian herds.

That in view of such conditions the removal of Canada from the schedule would be but an act of justice, and should be strenuously pressed.

That as the Dominion is a stock-raising country, and capable of producing a large and constant supply of beef cattle, it is considered important to the Empire that no obstructions nor difficulties should be placed in the way of Canadian cattle breeders which would tend to decrease the food supply within the Empire.

Have an English Conference.

On motion of Mr. Armstrong of. Lambton, the Government was also asked to send the Minister of Agriculture to England and to invite also the Provincial Ministers of Agriculture to Join in a meeting with the President of the board of agriculture to endeavor to present the Canadian view.

THORNTON & DOUGLAS

LIMITED.

Some of the members doubted if this resolution would do any good, and suggested that more vigorous measures should be taken. Mr. Caldwell, Lanark, took the same ground as he had expressed at previous meetings—that the Dominien should repeal the British customs preference unless the motherland met us squarely in the matter.

the motheriand met us squarely in the matter.

Hen. Sydney Fisher said the last communication on the subject from the Canadian Government was to protest against the statement by the President of the board of agriculture, that the Canadian people were satisfied with the existing conditions. The President had accepted the denial, but since then he had most emphatically stated, without equivocation or reserve, that he would not advocate the abelition of the embargo, although he admitted that there was ne disease in Canadian herds. His objection might be summed up in the possible risk of contagion, but everyone knew that that was merely an excuse.

Show Our Earnestness.

that that was merely an excuse.

Show Our Earnestriess.

The question had been agitated, discussed and ventilated in the old country, and that progress was being made in that way. The ignorance which had prevailed upon the subject among the masses was being gradually remeved. A hopeful feature was that the people were commencing to take sides on the question. His own view was that the proposeed resolution, when adopted by the House of Cemmons, would be an official ansouncement that would be useful in convincing the British people that the Canadians were in earnest.

SIR JAMES WATSON'S OPINION.

He says that the commonest of all disorders, and one from which few escape is Catarrh. Sir James firmly believes in local treatment, which is best supplied by "Catarrhozone" No case of Catarrh can exist where Catarrhozone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other residedies fail. Other treatments can't reach the diseased parts like Catarrhozone because it goes to the resone of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhozone is free from cocaine, it jeaves no bad after-effects, it is simply nature's own ours. Accept no substitute for Catarrhozone which alone can cure Catarrhozone which alone can cure Catarrhozone.
