WHO SUPPLIED THE CASH?

The Toronto World pithily sums up the consensus of queries on the London bribery case, now proceeding at Toronto. It says: "The evidence in the London bribery charges shows that some voters did get money for their votes in the Hyman-Gray election, and in the manner described by Jeremiah Collins. It is presumed that the money did not come from Jeremiah, for Jeremiah had no money of his own to distribute among the faithful, nor had he a vitally personal interest in the success of the Liberal candidate. Similar arguments may be used to eliminate some others from being the source of supply. But argue as we may, eliminate persons as we must, still the question obtrudes and will not be downed. Where did the money come from? Knowing that money was spent to buy votes, settling down the reasons why the election had to be won, speculating on the persons or party that would be chiefly benefited by a victory or humiliated by a defeat, and you do not need to be a Sherlock Holmes to unravel the mystery of Where did the money come from?"

MAY YET HAVE A CHANCE.

The effect of the omission of Canada from the preferential tariff concessions to Great Britain and New Zealand by Australia is set forth in a report just received by the trade and commerce department from Mr. J. S. Larke, Canadian commercial agent at Sydney, N. S. W. Butter and cheese from Canada are increased in duty from six cents to eight cents per pound; oats, barley, beans, peas and wheat, from 36 cents to 48 cents per 100 pounds; hops will pay 24 cents instead of 12 cents; onions and potatoes are increased from 24 cents to 36 cents. Another feature of the preference which affects Canada is that which increases the duty on certain articles except such as are imported from Great Britain in British ships. By this enactment Canadian ammunition, now free, would pay 10 per cent.; woodenware is advanced from 20 to 30 per cent.; bicycles from 20 to 30 per cent.; boots and shoes from 30 to 40 per cent.; gas and oil engines from 12 to 22 per cent.; paper bags from $1.20 to $1.44 per hundredweight; pickles and sauces from 12 cents to 15 cents per dozen. Mr. Larke adds: "There is reason to believe that Australia would listen to overtures from Canada to be included with the United Kingdom in this preference. If Canada could secure an agreement in which she would have the advantages of both the New Zealand and British tariffs, it would materially assist Canadian trade."

This report of Mr. Larke's, which is dated Sept. 3rd, does not read as if he had been empowered to negotiate with the Australian authorities, which was the excuse put forward by the Canadian government for neglecting to reply to Premier Deakin's invitation to enter into correspondence looking to the conclusion of a preferential arrangement.

A Hamilton man has won the Chicago Marathon race. That Ambitious City is the home of a lot of fast movers.—Ottawa Citizen.

Sorely the insinuation here isn't that they never pay rent!

Peterborough's population was increased by 600 last year and is now 14,962. This includes the village of Ashburnham which was annexed by Peterborough two years ago. Peterborough has made wonderful progress in the last ten years by the addition of new factories. The Edison electric works was the first great acquisition, and it was followed by the large cereal works and other factories of minor importance. Two by-laws for the purchase of new sites for new industries were defeated recently, but other factories are appearing, a large carpet factory being on the tapis. Factories bring factories.

Three candidates will fight to represent the constituency of North Renfrew in the Dominion House, Mr. Gerald White, the Conservative candidate, son of the late Hon. Peter White; Dr. M. McKay, dentist, who will run as endorser of the Laurier policy, and Thomas Murray, the choice of the Liberal convention, but who does not wholly agree with the Laurier policy. All three are citizens of Pembroke.

The winter session of the provincial legislature of Saskatchewan will commence immediately after Christmas holidays. It is not likely that a redistribution bill will be introduced during the coming session, although the census enables the Government to treat with this matter; but it is thought probable that if the full court sets aside Judge Pendergast's decision, a subsequent session will see that redistribution takes place, and the general election will be held.

JUST A LITTLE BIT OFF THE TOP

Hyman appears to be up against his Collins.

The village of Wheatley is greatly worked up because a pool room has been set up. Probably the corner grocery man objects to there being any other place of amusement in town.

Through a fire the other day, the canal at St. Catharines became filled with rare old wine, and now 'tis said that the godly citizens of St. Kitts won't look on the canal till the color fades.

R. R. Gamay spoke in Thamesville the other day, but so far no word has been received of the old time Liberal Association presenting him with a chair and an address.

It seems that in buying Hyman votes Jerry Collins underpaid a man named Serviss. We suppose he thought that through this action he was doing a serviss for the Government.

A preacher named Gunn has resigned his position in Embro. We merely mention the fact that the may know that Gunn was not discharged.

Italian and Greek laborers attacked and tore down a boarding house at Port William. If the landlady had been thoughtful she might have saved the situation by serving them with regulation hash.

Jerry Collins is no relation to John's, but Mr. Hyman will admit that too much of him has just as disagreeable an after effect.

An investigation is to be made into the Brantford Asylum for the Blind. The inmates of course can't see any cause for such action.

Preventions, as the name implies, prevent all Colds and Grippe when taken at the sneeze stage.

Preventions are toothsome candy tablets. Preventions dissipate all colds quickly, and taken early, when you first feel that a cold is coming, they check and prevent them. Preventions are thoroughly safe for children, and as effective for adults. Sold and recommended in 5 cent and 25 cent boxes by C. H. Gunn & Co., Chatham.

Death by Boiling.

In old England, before the law was passed which prohibited "cruel and unusual forms of punishment," murderers were often condemned to death by boiling. In such cases the victims were chained in large kettles of cold water, which was gradually heated until it caused the flesh to drop from the bones. The last English victim of the "boiling death" was one Rouse, a cook, who, it was alleged, had killed seventeen persons.

Talked Shop.

"I spent a pleasant hour in a barber's chair yesterday."
"How was that?"
"Listening to the barber's story of how his brother suddenly insane and slashed a customer. The barber explained between strokes that insanity ran in his family."

LEHIGH VALLEY REDUCES PASSENGER FARES.

To take effect November 1st, or as soon thereafter as possible, the maximum rate per mile on the Lehigh Valley Railroad will be on the basis of 2 1-2c.

This will not change passenger rates now based on charge of less than 2 1-2c per mile.

Interchangeable mileage books, which are now sold at $30.00, will be sold at $25.00 with a rebate of $5.00 on each 1,000 mile book instead of $10.00, as at present.

DECAPITATION.

The Theory of Senation After the Head Is Severed.

Half a dozen physicians were talking of death. It isn't a subject usually chosen by physicians for discussion, but these were discussing it. However, it was not altogether physical death. They were including the hereafter.

"Well," said one, "I don't know whether there is to be a hereafter or not, and it doesn't trouble me very much, because I'll take chances on it if I can make the life I live before it the kind of life a man ought to live. But there is one thing about it that makes me hope there will be another life, and that is the opportunity I shall have of asking some of the people who have had their heads cut off if there was any sensation for a few minutes succeeding decapitation. I believe now that there is, and that life remains long enough for the decapitated person to realize that he has lost his head, or rather, that he has lost his body, because the head is the center of thought, and, of course, it is the body that is lost, not the head. At least that is the way a man with his head off would be bound to think of it. I fancy there is no pain, because that would require some time, and if life exists at all after decapitation it would not be long enough to realize the sensation of pain. It must be a very queer sort of feeling, and, as I say, I hope there is a life hereafter so I may have a chance to find out a few facts not otherwise obtainable."

of reaching and handling a drowning man are required, and then, when the subject is landed, the four best methods of resuscitation must be exhibited. In team-work, machine-like application is necessary, and the movements are timed and executed to the fraction of a second almost. Besides, each man must be prepared to undergo an oral examination on the science of swimming and life-saving that requires an extensive knowledge of anatomy and hygiene.

When the team won the national championship, the contestants were in the water morning, noon and night, and the various competitions required, in all, the covering of 1,090 yards distance (in a tank) at racing speed, clad in jersey, trousers and shoes, the carrying of a man half the distance, and then the process of resuscitation.

Only a long, arduous course of training brought the perfection which resulted in victory.

P. C. Mowat left Scotland in the spring of 1905 to try his fortunes in Canada. Three days after he arrived here, as yet he has had no opportunity to display or utilize his natural accomplishments, but if the police department ever place a patrol boat on the bay, he may get an opportunity to put to practical purpose his powers as a life-saver.

Mr. Mowat's home is in Feswick, Scotland, and when Sir Oliver Mowat and his grandson and daughter visited the old castle there, six years ago, he was the guest of P. C. Mowat and his father.

A Fuel to Replace Coal.

Daniel Drawbaugh of Carlisle, Pa., has discovered a practical fuel, which he declares will take the place of coal. This new fuel is being manufactured now at Hommansdale, east of Carlisle, under a secret process. It is composed of chemicals and a fibrous matter and weighs only half as much as coal. The new fuel will be made in different sized molds so that it does not clinker, burns to a fine ash, emits little gas and burns freely, gives off more heat than coal and lasts longer. This artificial fuel will probably cost about one-half as much as coal.

How to Make a Good Mouth Wash.

A good mouth wash can be made at home for a trifling cost as follows: Dissolve two ounces of borax in three pints of boiling water. Before quite cold add a teaspoonful of tincture of myrrh and a teaspoonful of good eau de cologne or spirits of camphor. Half fill a tumbler with this solution and add sufficient water to fill it up. Use this wash daily after each meal, and you will find your teeth are preserved and whitened.

A GREAT WATER RECORD

SCOTTISH SWIMMING CHAMPION
NOW ON TORONTO FORCE.

As a Member of the Edinburgh Police Swimming Club He Won Distinction—Young Man Who Carries Himself Modestly and Who Doesn't Look the Celebrity That He Is—Medium But Splendid and Strong.

There is a young, sandy-complexioned policeman on a downtown beat who carries himself modestly and who doesn't look the celebrity that he is, says the Toronto Sunday World. Before P. C. Mowat left Edinburgh, Scotland, a year or more ago, he was known throughout Scotland and in a larger portion of the British Isles generally as the national swimming champion.

Twenty-six years of age, of good height and medium but strong build, he is a splendid type of police officer and a credit to the Edinburgh force, which not only took him as a raw youth of 21 and developed him into a guardian of the peace, but also, through its system of training, made him a prize swimmer. When Mowat joined the police he could not swim a stroke. But the force has in connection with it a swimming club, with a big tank and an instructor who knows his business. The first time Mowat entered the bath the instructor was disgusted with his splashing. When he left for Canada he almost cried at losing one of his champion pupils.

In May, 1903, he won a bronze medal together with the certificate of the Life Saving Society. Then he won the Scottish championship at Edinburgh, and with it a gold medal. In November of 1904 he was one of the police team of four men who won the national championship open to Great Britain, in which teams from all parts of the Isles competed. A shield and medals were the trophies for this triumph. He has also won other prizes and rewards for his prowess in the water, and at the opening of the Carnegie baths at Dunfermline was chosen to give an exhibition for which he received a silver medal.

The national championships, it should be explained, are not alone for swift, scientific swimming, but demand a course of study and training that is most exacting. A thorough knowledge of the recognized methods of reaching and handling a drowning man are required, and then, when the subject is landed, the four best methods of resuscitation must be exhibited. In team-work, machine-like application is necessary, and the movements are timed and executed to the fraction of a second almost. Besides, each man must be prepared to undergo an oral examination on the science of swimming and life-saving that requires an extensive knowledge of anatomy and hygiene.

After a long illness Mrs. Margaret Stevenson, relict of the late Peter Stevenson, passed away at her home in Dutton at the advanced age of 84 years. She was a daughter of the late John Carmichael, Argyle-shire, Scotland, and came to Canada with the family in 1850, settling on the Carmichael farm west of Fingal. She afterwards married Peter Stevenson, and they resided in Fingal for many years. In 1900 they removed to Dutton, where Mr. Stevenson died three years ago.

NOISY CROWD CREATE ROW

Seven Men May Figure In Police Court As Result Of Carousal On King St.

THEY FIRED OFF A GUN

A crowd of men numbering seven, and apparently very much the worse of liquor, made nuisances of themselves on King street west last evening. Not content with making a disturbing racket, they even went so far as to go up to people's houses in the vicinity and beat upon their doors, frightening women and children almost out of their wits.

The disturbance was commenced sometime about half past ten and was kept up till after eleven. One lady who saw the men says that there was seven of them, and they were behaving in the most disgraceful fashion. They approached one house near the end of King street where the lady of the house was alone, and they kept up such noise that she was afraid to go out of the house for assistance. Later they crossed over on First street and continued the row on Wellington street. Some time during the night one of their number fired off a gun, and the report could be heard all over the vicinity.

This is going just a little too far, and though no information has yet been laid with the police, the citizens disturbed have a pretty fair idea as to who the men are who took part in the rowdy brawl, and if the offence is repeated it is altogether likely that the participants will be asked to explain their extremely ungentlemanly conduct in the Police Court.

SUGAR TO BE YELLOW

The New York Tribune says:—Unless the United States pure food commission changes its mind, the people of the United States will soon be using granulated and other sugars that have a distinctly yellowish tinge. The commission has decreed that no mineral bluing substance be used in bleaching sugar, and the refiners and their chemists are much disturbed. Sugar chemists say that they use four pounds of a mineral bluing substance to every one million pounds of sugar for bleaching purposes.

This, the sugar chemists say, is not adulteration; that it is merely purification by a thoroughly healthful process. The pure food commission cannot see it that light, and insists that whitening process be abandoned. If that is done, the result will be that all sugar refined under the commission's new direction will be of a distinctly yellowish shade.

The matinee in the afternoon will be given complete, and should be a big drawing card for school children. Every child who attends the production, will be thoroughly delighted with the show.

WILL RENOVATE HALL

A joint meeting of committees from the Victoria Ave. League and Sunday School was held in Victoria Ave. Methodist Church last evening, when arrangements were made for a thorough renovation of the S. S. Hall. The renovations will consist of enlarging the accommodation, putting on a new roof, decorating the walls and re-arranging the interior. It is the intention to make the hall large enough to accommodate one hundred more pupils than it will at the present time. Plans are being submitted, and the work will be commenced at once.

NUGGET WORTH $15,000

Cobalt, Oct. 4.—Prof. Hiddenman, in an interview to-day, stated the output of the Nipissing mines for October would be $500,000. Vein Bonanza forty-nine is being worked with open cut day and night, and three cars have left Cobalt which are reckoned to yield over $100,000 each, and it is believed shipment of all grades will equal a car per day from now on.

Manager Scott, of the Foster, is loading a car of ore, which he says should yield $30,000. The monster nugget from Nipissing, 30 by 34 inches and 11 inches thick, was loaded on a car yesterday for New York, it is valued at $15,000.
