SAD LOSS OF LIFE BY FIRE NEAR MONCTON

In a fire which destroyed their home at Niagara Road, three and a half miles from Moncton Tuesday morning, Mrs. Oliver Gaus Steeves, two daughters and three sons were burned to death. The daughters are Hazel, aged 16; Beatrice, aged 13. The sons were, Wetmore, aged 10; Emmerson, aged 6 to 7, and Gaus, aged 2 years.

All of those who were occupants of the house when the fire started perished.

There are three survivors, members of the family, Curtis and Orley, employed in Haig's mill, Albert County, and Clara, in Moncton.

O. Gaus Steeves stated that he arose early alighted a fire and proceeded to the barn to feed his horses. Mr. Steeves stated that he left one of his daughters, Beatrice, engaged in getting the breakfast.

A short time afterwards he said he heard his wife calling "the house is on fire" and on looking out of the barn he observed the house in flames. He stated that they had no kerosene oil in the house and he was of the opinion that the fire originated from a saucer containing grease, in which was a wick used by his little daughter Beatrice as an improvised lamp. Other than this he could not explain how the blaze started.

Neighbors were soon on hand but the house was a total loss. It was a frame structure covered with tin.

Prominent Western Man Praises Tanlac

G. W. Logan, Peabody, Kansas

"Tanlac has completely restored my health and I feel finer than in years," was the straightforward statement made recently by Mr. George W. Logan, of Peabody, Kansas, one of the most prominent stock-dealers in the Middle West.

"It has not only made a new man of me but I have actually gained thirty-five pounds in weight and feel as well as I ever did in my life. I am telling all of my friends about Tanlac but they can see for themselves what it has done in my case."

"When I began taking Tanlac I was in an awfully run-down condition. I was away off in weight, felt weak and nervous all of the time and couldn't take any interest in my work or anything else. My main trouble was indigestion. Nothing seemed to agree with me. At times I would have dizzy spells and at other times my back would ache so bad that I could hardly get up and down in my chair. This is just the condition I was in when I started to take this medicine. It took just six bottles to make a well man of me. I now have a fine appetite, everything tastes good and my digestion is perfect.

"My wife was also troubled with indigestion at times and it relieved her the same way. You may publish my statement wherever you like and if anyone doubts it, just tell them to see me."

Tanlac is sold in Newcastle by E. J. Morris, in Redbank, by Wm. M. Sullivan, in Doaktown, by O. Hilda-Brand and in Nelson by Mrs. James Nowlan.

Turnip Seed Growing And Cost of Production

At the Dominion Experimental Farm, Nappan, in 1919, one-half acre of Monarch swede turnips was sown on July 12th to supply stockings with which to carry on experimental breeding and most of production of swede turnip seed in 1920. These were given the same field culture as an ordinary crop of turnips with the exception of thinning the roots only 6 inches apart. These were harvested on Nov. 10th, at which time they were carefully selected, only roots true to colour and type and free from roughness, rootiness and disease being reserved. In pulling the earth was shaken from the roots but otherwise the root system was left as intact as possible. The tops were carefully removed with a knife about three inches from the crown and in such a way that the crown was left uninjured. Roots for seed, harvested as above stated, as a rule produce a single seed stock only, while these with injured root systems and mutilated crowns, develop several. As the most vigorous and productive seed is produced from the former, it pays the seed grower to take particular care in harvesting his stockings. After pulling and harvesting, the stockings should be placed in small piles and left for a day or two in the field thus affording them a chance to sweat before going into the pit which is so essential for the maintenance of a low temperature therein. (If the nights are very frosty the piles should be protected by covering of tops). Select the site for the pit on a well-drained, sandy knoll which should be as exposed as possible. In removing the stockings to the pit they should be handled as carefully as possible to avoid bruising or breaking of the roots and crowns. They should then be carefully built up in a triangular pile on the surface of the ground, four feet wide at the base, and three and a half feet high, care being exercised to discard the damaged and undesirable roots that may have been added in the first culling, and to build the outside tier of roots with their tops facing the outside, thus affording an even surface for covering. Ventilation should be afforded by placing an inverted trough 5" deep through which outlets should be cut into which upright ventilators 4" square constructed of boards are set every ten feet apart. These allow the warm air which arises from the roots to pass along the trough and out the ventilators. The pit is then covered with six inches of coarse straw which is held in place by a covering of earth, excavated fully four feet from the side of the pit. Thin sods placed around the base of the pit through the openings of which air passes is conducive to better ventilation until the second covering is put on, which should usually be about Dec. 1, when steady cold weather is likely to prevail. This covering should be the same as the first with the exception of the earth coating which should be increased to from 4 to 8 inches. At this time the upright ventilators should be stuffed with straw, the trenches excavated for covering purposes should be provided with drainage and not allowed to fill up with water. Stockings pitted in this way during the exceptionally cold winter of 1918 and 1919, came through in perfect condition. The stockings were removed from the pit and planted out on May 8, on a field that had been manured and plowed the previous autumn, in rows three and a half feet apart opened with the plow. The stockings were placed in an upright position against the landside of the furrow so that their crowns were about level with the surface of the ground, covered and firmly tramped. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on covering and tramping the earth about the roots as it both helps to conserve the moisture within the root, aids in a quicker roothold and prevents the uprooting of the plant by the wind when the seed stalk is at its maximum height. Cultural operations for the eradication of weeds were discontinued when the seed stalks closed the rows. The seed stalks were cut when the pods were turning brown in colour and tied in small bunches on canvas on August 18th and 19th. The bunches were then removed to the saw and spread out carefully in rows and left to dry until they were ready to thresh on Aug. 25th. The seed was beaten out with sticks on canvas and spread out to dry after being recleaned, 1255 pounds of seed being produced.

The following is the cost of producing sufficient stockings to produce one acre of seed turnips which yielded 1255 pounds, recleaned seed. Rent of land @ $15.00 per acre, $22.50. Manure, 3 of 30 tons @ $3.30. Plowing 1 1/2 acre @ $8. Harrowing, drilling, sowing 1 1/2 acres $10.50. Pitting $23.88. Pulling stockings, $6.12. Planting, $34.92. Cultivating, thinning and hoeing $33.35. Harvesting, $55.31. Threshing, $40.53. Cleaning seed, 9.90. Total cost 273.07. Total production, 1255 pounds. Cost to produce one pound 21.8 cents.

What Do College Boys Read

(From the Chicago News)
Educational journals have been discussing the interesting question whether there has been any improvement in the literary and intellectual tastes of college boys. Inquiries were been conducted in one or two State Universities in the hope of obtaining authentic information. The theory is this:—The world has undergone terrible upheavals since 1914. War, revolution, readjustment, stirring controversies over the peace treaties, solemn referendums, what not—surely all this is calculated to arouse interest and curiosity in the average college student supposed to be fitting himself for life. What, then, does he read, aside, of course, from assigned lessons? One student made the startling confession that college boys read nothing.

Wise educators shake their heads solemnly over the melancholy showing. Is anything the matter with college boys of this day and generation? Well, hardly. Reading does not come by nature. The love of it must be cultivated, and if college boys do not read good literature with enjoyment and enthusiasm their parents and their instructors are to blame. Certain courses in "literature" produce a profound dislike for literature, as so many educated men have said. It is something of an art to introduce boys—and girls—to the world of books and periodicals and to excite their genuine interest. Too many educators have failed to acquire that art. They mistake grammar and syntax for the spirit of literature. The reading of boys, all boys, is determined chiefly by the tastes and habits of those who guide them.

Mother "California Syrup of Figs" is Child's Best Laxative

Beware! Say "California" or you may not get the genuine "California Syrup of Figs" which doctors recommend for babies and children of all ages. Nothing else cleans the little bowels and regulates the child's stomach and liver so gently, so thoroughly. Directions on each bottle. But you must say "California." Don't be talked into an imitation fig syrup which hasn't the delicious, fruity taste or the perfect "laxative physic" action.

"Why don't you take up golf, if you need exercise?"

"I prefer gardening. The implements are cheaper than those used in golf and there's always the sporting chance that you may raise something fit to eat."

Lindsay had the little hen fast and was trying to bring her head close to the ground.

"What might you be trying to do?" exclaimed her father, coming upon the small girl in the yard.

"I'm trying to make this hen say her prayers."

"Well," said the parent, sadly, "I hope she'll say, 'Now I lay me.'"

Rich, Red Blood Means Health

Pale Cheeks and Bloodless Lips are a danger Signal.

To be pale is no longer the fashion; to be languid is an affliction. Today the most winsome girl is the one with the pink tinge of health in her cheeks, lips naturally red, and eyes sparkling with life. Add to this a quick active step and every one can tell the girl whose veins are full of the pure, rich blood of health. How different she appears from her ailing sisters, whose aching limbs and weak backs make them pale and dejected. Anaemia is the cause of so much suffering among girls and women that it cannot be too widely known that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have transformed thousands of delicate anaemic invalids to happy, healthy women. These pills help to put rich red blood into the veins, and this blood reaches every part of the body, giving strength, rosy cheeks and brightness in place of weakness, prostrating headaches and a wretched state of half health. Miss Edna E. Weaver, R. R. No. 1, Chippewa, Ont., says: "I was very much run down, weak, nervous and troubled with pains in the side. I tried different medicines but with out any benefit until I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Under the use of this medicine I gained strength, had better appetite, slept better and the pain in my side disappeared. My health has since remained excellent and I advise any one troubled with anaemia, or weakness, to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia and nervousness. Build up your blood and note how the purer and richer blood fights your battles against disease. Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that with the observance of ordinary rules of health will keep you well and strong. Get a box from the nearest drug store and begin the treatment now, or send to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent you postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

A WINTER DAY IN VANCOUVER

(1) Hotel Vancouver, Vancouver, B.C.

(2) The Siwash Rock, near Vancouver.

The balmy air and glorious beauty of a winter day in Vancouver invites to this Paradise of the Pacific where the grass grows green as a June pasture and on the evergreen coast a narrow strip of grey and brown divides the evergreen land from the evergreen sea. Golden, blue, purple and green is the vista of sky, sea, mountain and forest while English Bay stretches, blue, laughing and limpid. The sandy beaches of Kit-silano and Point Grey receive the languid surf as it rolls up the gentle slopes of the shore. The canyons are slashed with purple and all at times are shrouded in great veils of cloud and mist. There is ever the mystery, the massiveness and the infinite variety of tone and color, with always a touch of spring promise in the air, in the almost bursting rose-buds, when the birds break into song, in the tree branches, filled with swelling leaf-buds. All give the impression of having been drenched with the sweetness and fragrance of nature in her most riotous spring mood. Well kept roads and endless paths intersect the sylvan woods about the city and, at every turn, the sea comes into view and over it the watery pathway to Victoria and Vancouver Island. On every side the city is bounded by a variety of natural beauties which can be enjoyed by one-day boat trips, such as a run up Burrard Inlet to Port Moody, chosen in the early days of railway construction, to be the western terminal. The rustic little settlement of abacks had visions of greatness and wealth until the later choice of Vancouver for the meeting of "rail and sail." The North Arm is a Fjord that gives the visiting Norwegian a longing for home, blue mist-topped mountains coming down to green, blue and black waters, with "Wigwam Inn" and its sylvan setting at the end. The industrial and commercial advantages of the Pacific coast climate, are an important element in the building of a great manufacturing province. Navigation by water is never closed by ice, roads are seldom blocked by snow, water-courses are never frozen or dried up, street railways can run their cars without an elaborate heating system.—G. Smoking During Business Hours

An experience of a big English firm in allowing its employees to smoke for stated periods during the day should give some of the well known efficiency experts on this side of the water something to think about. Smoking is generally strictly prohibited in factories, especially those in which the nature of the work calls for steady labor, in the belief that time is saved.

A firm in Preston, England, which has been experimenting in allowing employees to smoke while at work found the results so noticeable in making for increased output that the scheme has developed, and the workers are now allowed to smoke for an hour and a half morning and afternoon. This concession has resulted in a bigger factory production and greater contentment among the workers. Other factories are adopting similar rules.

BEAT THE BOSS TO IT

Labor has come into its own since the world war ended. You can't abuse or maltreat labor any more. A chap got a job at a coal mine. His job was to run cars down a steep hill. There was only a sleeper at the bottom to stop the cars, so he was cautioned again and again to run them very carefully, keeping the brake well on.

Things went all right for two or three days and then the new hand got reckless. He let four cars run down the hill full speed. They jumped over the sleeper, of course, and fell into a creek fifty feet below.

The boss saw the tragedy from his office window and he came tearing out in a fearful rage.

But the new hand forestalled him. "Don't ye come round here cussin' and swearin' at me," he said. "Ah's done quit."

A STORMY SESSION

Parliament has launched upon the session under conditions both tense and uncertain. The Government's reverse in West Peterborough, following so closely upon the loss of East Elgin, has admittedly heightened the morale of the two oppositions and the session promises to be a fighting one. For the moment, cabinet reorganization and tariff revision dominate the stage. Reorganization of the Ministry, already well under way, promises to be the most complete since 1911.

There will be no immediate general election. Notwithstanding the advice of many of its warmest journalistic supporters the Government takes the position that the mandate of 1917 still exists and that only an adverse vote in Parliament would justify it in going to the country. The claim that a new Prime Minister altered conditions and demanded an election is not regarded seriously. It is pointed out that British and Canadian parliamentary history affords innumerable instances of changes in Premier'ships and ministries without elections, and the cases of Roseberry in England and of Abbott, Thompson, Bowell and Tupper in Canada are cited to fortify the claim.

Some time this week Mr. Mackenzie King Liberal Opposition leader will move an amendment to the address in reply to the "Speech from the Throne," calling for an election, but it will be voted down. What stand the Agrarian party will take on this vote is not yet known, and its position is not an easy one. If they vote with Mr. King they place themselves in the position of urging a general election before the West is given the greater parliamentary representation to which it is entitled. If they vote with the Government they swallow the official declarations of the Canadian Council of Agriculture. It is considered significant that in the Manitoba Free Press Mr. John W. Daffoe, who is now considered as one of the powers behind the throne of Agrarian politics is arguing against an election until after redistribution, advancing the claim that in the next Parliament, where the question of western natural resources must be settled, the West must speak with the strongest possible votes. As for Mr. Crerar he has not yet appeared in the House, and for the next moment his party is wandering aimlessly under the brilliant but somewhat fitful leadership of Dr. Michael Clark.

The voting down of Mr. King's amendment will not necessarily mean that there will be no general election until 1923. That contingency depends solely upon the by-elections that will be necessitated by cabinet reorganization. If the Prime Minister adds, say five or six new men to his ministry, then the country will be treated to what may be termed a miniature general election. In the event of the Government carrying these contests, then, unquestionably, Premier Meighen will be justified in assuming that the country desires him to carry on. But if, on the other hand, the new ministers are rejected, the intimation will be equally clear that the people are antagonistic to the Ministry and an appeal to the country will follow.

The Government enters upon the session weakened in voting strength. It has lost through defections and by-elections, and it suffers from absentees. No fewer than ten of its supporters are absent either through illness or official duties. The present standing of the parties is: Government 128; Liberals 83; Agrarians 15; Cross Benchers 5; Vacancies 4.

The tariff proposals, which will be brought down with the Budget some time in April, will, as already said, be the most complete revision of customs schedules that the House has had before it since the Fielding revision of 1897. The changes, however, will be more detailed than drastic. Inequalities will be smoothed out and injustices removed, but the frame work of the old National Policy of adequate protection for Canadian industry will stand. The Government will simply rest its case upon the claim that with adverse exchange brought about, by an excess of imports, impairing the Canadian dollar, with the United States promising to heighten its own tariff walls with the whole world drifting toward higher protection, and with the need for revenue greater than at any time since Confederation, any drastic downward revision of the tariff would be fatal to the country's prosperity.

Both Liberals and Agrarians will challenge the Government's proposals. The former may be expected to move in amendment the Liberal platform of 1919; the latter to move practically Free Trade pronouncements of the Canadian Council of Agriculture. The Government, however, will be in no danger of defeat. Parliament as it stands at present is Protectionist, and in addition pulling a solid vote of its own supporters the Ministry is not unlikely to enlist a few voters from behind Mr. King.

The Imperial question will play a big part in the debates of the session. Next June the Imperial Conference is to be held in London. The Opposition, particularly its Quebec wing, profess fear that some form of organic union will emerge from its deliberations, and they are determined to fight any such development. Sir Robert Borden, who is one of the authors of the Conference, had intended inviting the Leader of the Opposition to attend the Conference, and Mr. Meighen probably takes a similar view, but it is understood that Mr. King and Mr. Crerar both take the stand that they should have no part or parcel in its deliberations but should reserve the right to criticize its accomplishments freely from the floor of the House of Commons. In a word, their position is that the Government and the Government, alone, must take responsibility for whatever is done.

The League of Nations, including the famous Article Ten for the elimination of which from the Covenant Canada's delegates contended at Geneva, will also play considerable part in the debates. In these a big part will be played by Mr. Rowell, who, it is believed by many, is entering upon his last session in the House. The session, from all appearances, will be a long one. The fight over tariff revision alone will consume more than a month, and as the Budget is not expected until April, it will likely be July before prorogation dams the flow of oratory.

The New Officers

Winter Hard

On Baby

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

COULDN'T BE HAPPY.

"Your wife says she is entirely happy," said the spiritualistic medium.

"I don't see how that can be," replied the man.

"She is in heaven," replied the medium. "There she would naturally be happy."

"I don't think so," replied the man stubbornly. "I don't see how she could ever be entirely happy without me being around to find fault with."

Before Starting Work.

"Well, come down to the shop tomorrow morning and I will put you to work."

"To-morrow? I couldn't possibly come until the day after."

"Why?"

"Why, tomorrow I must take part in the great demonstration of protest of the unemployed."—Life.

The Formalities.

"Obscurity has some slight advantages."

"For instance?"

"So long as a man remains inconspicuous he doesn't have to bother about composing a letter of resignation. He can simply quit and look for another job."

IN DANGER.

"Do you believe that kissing transmits microbes?"

"No, but if my fiancée doesn't quit fondling that dog I expect to get seasick."

She Sought Romance
American Girl Found Her Castle In Spain

Romance lives somewhere over the rim of the world. There every heart yearns to go—to seek and find. Dreamy, languorous, sunny Spain is the land of Moor and Spaniard; of passionate love and sudden hate; of rogues and romance.
Sylvia Lee, an American heiress, had everything her heart could desire. She had even had romance, but when she accompanied her father to Spain had a picturesque, dark-eyed senor strummed a guitar neath her balcony and sang love songs in a plaintive key, she thought she had found the quint essence of romance.
The romance of Sylvia and her revolutionist who was taking his life in his hands by being seen in the city, for there was a price on his handsome head—only added glamour to the romance.
The romance of Sylvia and her rogue will be related on the screen at the Happy Hour Theatre Thursday when the big Pathe special feature, "Rogues and Romance" will be shown for the first time in this city. George B. Seltz, who has won fame as a producer, director and star of feature serials, not only directed and wrote "Rogues and Romance," but co-stars therein with June Caprice. A maker of thrills, he has here produced a feature with all the qualities of romance, suspense, mystery, intrigue and thrills that have characterized his serials.

Must Not Wait For Tax Collector

Heavy contributors to the federal income tax revenue may be familiar with the important changes made during the last year in 1914, but surprisingly few of the people questioned on the subject know, or realize what the 1920 amendments mean to them. The most radical change is the requirement that each person liable to be taxed must pay up voluntarily without waiting for a tax bill or any other intimation of indebtedness to the government.

The citizen must not now wait until he is asked for his tax; nor may he leave the calculation of its amount to the officials. He is now called on to calculate it himself and pay it without being asked. Along with his return showing his income, he must send in, by April 30th, 1921, at least one-quarter of the actual tax which he reckons himself liable for. If he puts the figure too low he becomes immediately and automatically liable to heavy penalties. He must apply for his form and fill it out—not waiting until one is sent him.

Everyone with an income of $1,000 a year, or $2,000 if he or she is married, who ordinarily resides in Canada or has lived in Canada, 183 days during the year, or is employed or carries on business in Canada, or is paid for services rendered in Canada, is liable to the tax.

The normal tax is four per cent on incomes up to $5,000 and eight per cent on incomes exceeding that figure. There is also a surtax on incomes of more than $5,000, and this rises in regular steps, from one per cent on the first $1,000 over the $5,000 to sixty-five per cent on anything more than $1,000,000.

The first $1,000 of course is exempted if the tax payer is single or without dependents. If married this exemption is increased to $2,000. If single with dependent child, brother or sister under eighteen, or with a

Cause of Early Old Age

The celebrated Dr. Michenoff, an authority on early old age, says that it is "caused by poisons generated in the intestine." When your stomach digests food properly it is absorbed without forming poisonous matter. Poisons bring on early old age and premature death. 15 to 30 drops of "Seigel's Syrup" after meals makes your digestion sound.

Dead Man Called Back By Science

Chicago, Feb. 21—Charles McMahon, an insurance decorator is said to stand for a brief instant into the realm beyond here today at the Hennepin Hospital and lived to tell of it. The man was dead for several minutes, according to physicians, but science was called in to bring him back to life.

"Yes, I was dead," admitted McMahon. "I suppose I was dead long enough to have impressions. I was conscious of my soul leaving my body for a brief instant, but I cannot remember well. The stuff they revived me with must have acted too quickly. However, I was conscious of a burning fever and a terrible thirst. Maybe I was going to the other place," and he smiled grimly.

McMahon was operated upon at the hospital by Dr. Thomas W. Parson, assisted by several internes. The operation was for double hernia and four teeth were extracted and adenoids and tonsils removed.

Ether was administered as the anesthetic, and while McMahon was under the influence of it he sank to the dividing line between life and death. His heart stopped beating. The "hearing" of lungs, stimulated by the ether, grew faint, and then stopped entirely, and all the breath left his body.

Life apparently had become extinct. A mirror was placed to the man's mouth—the old test of life—and no pulsature gathered.

But the physicians would not give up the fight for the man's life. They resorted to oxygen. While death was already in possession—or hovering to claim the body—the three surgeons and nurses fought the dread specter.

When McMahon was finally wheeled into his room at the hospital and opened his eyes, the first thing he said to his wife was:

"Am I still alive?"
Then he said later: "They didn't think they would ever bring me back here. They expected to see me downstairs, you see."

"I am sorry that I cannot solve the question of spiritualism, but I am thankful to be alive, you can bet."

Favors Appeals To The Privy Council

Montreal, Feb. 15—The Star prints the following cable today: At Lord Beaverbrook's banquet to the Canadian curlers, Lord Birkenhead, British lord chancellor, who is president of the judicial committee of the privy council, made an important announcement on the Canadian suggestion to eliminate the right of Canadian appeal to this the last court of judgment within the empire. Lord Birkenhead said: "Nobody has ever been so foolish as to suppose that the usefulness of this recourse to the judicial committee could survive the slightest restiveness or impatience if that existed in the Dominion of Canada. If this recourse should be ended in the lifetime of any here it will be ended at the instance and desire of the Canadian communities and will, of course, be ended without the slightest feeling, and, on the contrary, with the most complete sympathy amongst those of us here who deal with these matters. But I may be forgiven if I hope that this jurisdiction, safeguarded in any way that may be desired, will survive."

CREAM OF THE WEST FLOUR

NEW USE FOR AVIATION SHEDS

AFTER many years of waiting a covered skating rink has been secured for the Gentlemen Cadets at the Royal Military College at Kingston, and the acquisition of this building will give a great impetus to our national game—"hockey." Hitherto the Royal Military College hockey teams have had to get along the best they could, using the open ice on the lake and occasionally the city rink at Kingston. These limitations interfered materially with the quality of the game. On the demobilization of the Royal Air Force in Canada and the abandonment of the aviation camps at different points some suitable buildings, originally designed for and used as flight sheds (or aeroplanes hangars) became available, and through the kindness of Sir Joseph Flavelle, Bart., Chairman of the Imperial Munitions Board, under whose direction these aviation camps were originally established, two of the flight sheds, each 130 feet long by 68 feet wide, were secured to form the basis of the new covered skating rink. The many friends of the Royal Military College were not slow in taking advantage of this opportunity in coming forward to assist in carrying out the idea. The Canadian National Railways, through the courtesy of Mr. D. E. Hanna, its president, and the Grand Trunk Railway System, through the courtesy of its president, Mr. Howard G. Keiley, have undertaken to free-freight the material of the sheds from Camp Mohawk to the point nearest to the Royal Military College, to Kingston. Sir Herbert S. Holt, who is deeply in everything that makes for the welfare of the Royal Military College, has generously financed the undertaking, and a contract for the removal and reconstruction of the flight sheds above referred to, has been let to the Kingston Construction Company, who now have the work in hand. The Minister of Militia and Defence has approved of a site within the college grounds on which the covered rink will be erected. Mr. F. & L. Wanklyn, General Executive Assistant of the Canadian Pacific, who is also deeply interested in the welfare of the college, has taken charge of all the work in connection with the carrying out of the scheme. The rink, when completed, will be substantially as shown in the above illustration. The main building will be 240 feet by 85 feet wide, and the height from the underside of the roof trusses to the ice level will be 18 feet. Commodious dressing and locker rooms, 25 feet square, will be provided at one end, over which a gallery for spectators, capable of seating 300 persons, will be provided. The main sheet of ice will be 215 feet by 68 feet wide and this will, in the opinion of well known hockey experts (Messrs. "Riley" Hern and Col. Walter Manahan) make a most satisfactory hockey rink. The building will be well lighted by windows all round and with electric lights for the evenings. The outside will be neatly finished in cement rough-cast and present a generally attractive appearance. The originators of this project have received many congratulations from a host of friends interested in the Royal Military College.

Advertising A Public Necessity.

WHEN goods are scarce and prices high, people are more appreciative than ever of the right kind of advertising.

They are seeking information. They want to know how to buy to the best advantage.

They want to know how to fill their needs and avoid waste. They welcome news of desirable substitutes for the things the country needs to conserve.

They read the newspapers carefully.

The dry goods merchant, grocer, jeweller, or manufacturer who does not advertise is not only missing the purely selfish opportunity, but he is failing in the service he owes to his customers.

Why Canada Is Proud to be a Daughter of British Empire

By Louise Cairns, aged 14.

Canada, the largest of Great Britain's numerous colonies, is proud to be a daughter in the British Empire chiefly because: The Motherland allows her freedom unsurpassed by any other nation. She is proud to be daughter of a country who has acted so nobly in the late war as well as at other times.

The British Empire is the largest empire that has ever existed. It contains about one-fifth of all the land in the world. All the great oceans wash its shores. These oceans do not keep the different countries of the empire apart as in former times. So far as grade is concerned they bring the empire into closer unity.

Canada enjoys national freedom and has a government founded on liberty, justice and fair play. She has a noble heritage to be proud of, and an look back with pride upon the noble manner in which our forefathers faced dangers and suffered hardships when trying to bring Canada to be progressive state it has reached.

Canada has been daughter of the British Empire ever since 1759 when Wolfe defeated Montcalm on the Plains of Abraham. She says: "After am I in my mother's house, but mistress in my own."

England has given the world many brave and noble men such as Nelson of Trafalgar, Wellington of Waterloo, Lord Kitchener and General French of the world-wide struggle. Among the noble women are Florence Nightingale of the Crimean war and Edith Cavell, who was so cruelly put to death by the heartless Germans. Many of the great poets and writers boast an English birth as: Shakespeare, Tennyson, and Browning. David Lloyd George is a great statesman of the day. Livingstone holds high rank as a missionary and explorer of the Dark Continent.

Great Britain's colonies have many sources of wealth. South Africa is rich in diamonds and ostrich feathers; Australia sends wool and pearls; Egypt sends wheat, cotton, sugar and rice. Canada the largest of all these countries and known as the granary of the British Empire, besides grain, sends furs, lumber, iron, lead, nickel, copper, silver, butter, cheese and apples. England's many other colonies send products equally as valuable as these.

When we think of the large amount of goods exported from the different countries and the greater portion of it carried in British vessels we see the necessity for the British Navy that his trade may be carried on in safety.

The British Navy is not only the greatest protection of our empire but is also a defender of the weak. The distress of nations cannot be imagined were it not for the fact that Britannia rules the waves.

The different parts of the empire are not only connected by ships but by telegraph lines, so that events occurring in any part of the empire may be known in other parts in a few minutes.

And there are England's strongholds. She has control of some of the strongest fortresses in the world such as Gibraltar at the entrance to the Mediterranean Sea; Aden, at the south of the Red Sea. Both are practically impregnable. By having these fortresses Britain has control of the trade with India which is of great importance. With all this behind Canada may she not well be proud to be daughter of such an empire.

Britain's myriad voices call
"Sons be welded each and all,
Into one imperial whole,
One with Britain heart and soul!
One life, one flag, one feet, one throne
Briton's hold your own.—Tennyson

College Girls Dont Like The Fashions

Bassar College, in rebellion against the elaborate styles of today, has gone on strike, and all over the campus, girls attired in longtrailing skirts such as their mothers wore, and with hair slicked tight into little knobs, may be seen dressed for the part they are playing in speaking and singing against the prevailing fashions in coiffeurs, says a despatch from Ploukepsle.

The change is so great on; would not recognize one's most intimate friends at the college.

Coiffeurs, they say, have brought about their own destruction, and ears have not been visible for so long that when they become visible in all the glory of cave-man style today the girls looked positively deformed. Why, it seemed almost indecent to see such a broad expanse of naked ear. Students wore skirts that touched the ground. Hair was tightly skinned back, and when a girl appeared with her hair fluffed over her ears heads wore them tight back, pinned she was hissed until she retired to with hair-pins into tiny knobs. Heads bind it back. Those with bobbees are assuming a long-forgotten shape.

GRAY-DORT

UNIT by unit, and feature by feature, a comparison shows the Gray-Dort to be bigger or stronger or better than other light cars. The motor is bigger, with cooling system to match; 40-pound crankshaft; three-ring pistons; Westinghouse starting and lighting; big axles; long springs; deep upholstery; hand-tailored top; side curtains opening with the doors; Thermoid brake-linings. Any man who will take the trouble to measure and weigh and test the units of light cars will be able to see and feel the value which is in the Gray-Dort.

This value has made sales so rapid that you should see the Gray-Dort dealer at once to be sure of securing your car.

Cross The Ocean in Twelve Hours Is Latest Claim

The successful testing of a 1,000-horsepower aero engine, which is said to be the most powerful known, has opened upon claims by English experts of the possibility of a regular London-New York aerial service and a complete passage within 24 hours, either direct or by changing aircraft at the Azores Islands.

It is being recalled by the experts that Capt. John Alcock in 1919 flew from Newfoundland to Ireland in less than 16 hours, using two 375-horsepower engines. The new engine is called the "Cub." It was ordered by the Royal Air Force. It is understood that the Titana, a flying-boat destroyer which is to be used in long-distance patrols, will be equipped with two "Cubs" and have a range of 1,500 miles. For war time the crew will number ten, and for civilian use the craft can accommodate 50 passengers.

The Cub 18 cylinders on a test indicating 1,057 horsepower in 20 hours of running. The engine weighs nearly a ton, and costs about $25,000.

LYTTLETON NOTES

The Lyttleton school has opened up this term under the skilful management of Miss Urquhart of Blackville.

Mr. Edward Soers who has been spending the winter months in Maine is home again. Mr. Somers was hostess at a very enjoyable dance on Friday evening some thirty young people being present.

Miss Margaret Johnston, Sillikers is the guest of her cousin Mrs. L. Johnston of this place.

Measles are spreading very rapidly among the school children cutting down the attendance to a very low mark.

On Pan-Cake night a large number were entertained at the home of Mr. Leo Johnston dancing and music kept every one happy until midnight, the party dispersing then voting Mr. and Mrs. Johnston both jolly and charming.

Miss Leva Tozer is attending Harbins Academy this winter.

Mrs. R. McKinley, McKinleyville is visiting in Lyttleton.

Mrs. C.—"I wonder where in the world the alarm clock has gone. I saw it on the mantle yesterday".

Mr. C.—"I was there yesterday, but I heard it going off this morning."

Mrs. C.—"Well, I hope it hasn't gone where you told it to go."

A QUEER TITLE

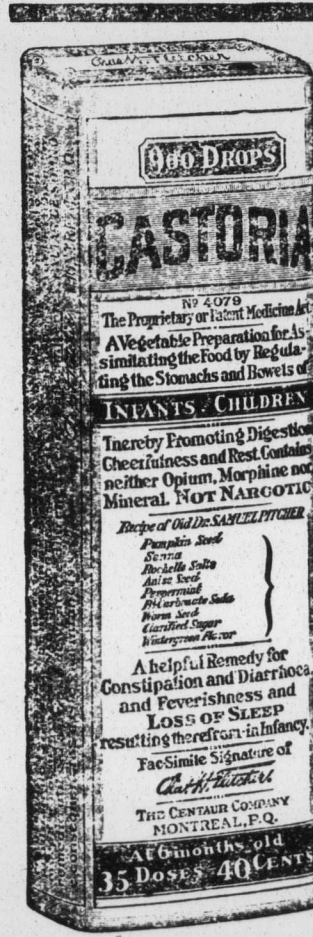

One rainy afternoon Aunt Lillian was explaining the meaning of various words to her little nephew.

Now, an heirloom, my dear, means something that has been handed down from father to son," she said.

"Well", replied the boy, thoughtfully, "that's a queer name for my knickers."

Seaplanes Are Feasible For Sportsmen

"Uncle" Henry Braithwaite, the veteran guide and trapper is firmly of the opinion that within a few years the seaplane will be utilized to convey non-resident hunting parties to and from the hunting grounds of New Brunswick. Mr. Braithwaite, who spends the greater part of his time in the woods, happened to be home last fall when a seaplane made a stop while en route from Halifax to the Upper Provinces. It was the first time he had ever beheld such a craft and naturally he was very much interested. He saw it light in the river below the highway bridge and noted the fact that it came to a stop after skimming along the water for less than two hundred yds. "Why" said he, there are hundreds of lakes in our big woods where such craft could make a landing without the slightest difficulty. The Big South-west Lake is about seventy five miles from Fredericton as the crow flies, and I calculate that a seaplane could make the trip easily in an hour. Just think what a saving in time that would mean to the sporting men. The plane could make a trip in the forenoon with the supplies and return in a short time for the hunters and guides. It would certainly be a pretty soft thing to negotiate the Du-garvon portage in a flying machine, and I hope to live long enough to make the trip.

"That's funny," remarked the woman: "Yes madam, but I haven't got time to laugh," retorted the conductor, pulling his bell rope. The next day the superintendent of the line called the conductor before him and asked: "What was it you said to that woman yesterday, when she said it was funny your car did not go to King Street?" The conductor grinned, and replied, "I said yes, it was funny, but I was late and did not have time to laugh." "Take three days off without pay and laugh," replied the superintendent.
