Reciprocity.

During the late election campaign the different Grit candidates had a great deal to say about reciprocity and what they would do towards procuring the same, if only returned to Parliament. Indeed, Mr. Welsh promised that if he should be elected, we would have reciprocity inside of six months. It appears quite possible from the result of the election in Queen's County, that there were some people foolish enough to believe Mr. Welsh when he made those reckless statements. He is elected now, and we feel sure the misguided electors who voted for him will await with the greatest anxiety the inauguration by him of a reciprocity treaty between the Dominion of Canada and the United States. But, in all seriousness, let us examine this question of reciprocity, more or less in detail. Reciprocity means a reciprocal free interchange of goods between two parties, individuals or nations, and the case may be. That is to say one is willing to sell to the other the goods which he possesses free of duty on condition that the other will act in like manner with him regarding the goods. From this it is quite evident that such an arrangement cannot be entered into without the consent of both parties, and that either party is not likely to give his consent unless he hopes to derive some benefit from the agreement. Now what are the facts regarding a reciprocity treaty between this country and the United States? The Dominion Government led by Sir John Macdonald, has put on record its willingness to negotiate such a treaty with our Republican neighbors; but up to a recent date the latter did not show any very great desire to reciprocate with us. Sir John seeing this and knowing that our fisheries were much coveted by the Yankees, and that so long as they could manage to fish in our waters unmolested, they would not be disposed to treat with us in a friendly manner, he our coadjutors against the deprivations of Uncle Sam. The result was that their fishing industries were, last season, to a great extent a failure, and so chagrined did our neighbors feel over the matter that Senator Frye and a few other New England boosters, are making warlike speeches against Canada in the U. S. Senate. So much annoyed were the Americans because Canada insisted upon her legal rights that they used every means in their power to defeat Sir John and his party, than the fear that if reinstated with the destinies of Canada he would insist upon a still more vigorous protection of our fisheries, and that they would in the end be compelled to grant our rights. Now, in the face of all this, it is mere nonsense for the Grits to talk of reciprocity. The people of the United States are always alive to their own interests and never lose an opportunity of making a dollar. They see that with Sir John Macdonald at the head of affairs in Canada there is not much chance for them to get any advantage for this country. But with the Grits in power they think they could have things about as they wish.

The whole question may be summed up in a nutshell. With the Grits in power the Yankees would have things their own way; the Grits are, therefore, the friends of the Yankees, but the friends of the Yankees cannot be the friends of Canada; therefore the Grits are not the friends of Canada.

The Grit Catastrophe.

The Grits deposed Hon. Alex. McKeenize when, by crowding them upon a "revenue tariff" platform, that worthy old Scotchman was endeavoring to save them from political destruction. He was too shrewd, so long as the Americans persisted in their unreasonable, to adopt any other policy. But his followers knew better; and they shook him off. The great Blake's services could be obtained, and under his lead they were certain to climb into office.

What is the result? Starting from Mr. McKeenize's "platform," the "severe-outlet." Blake and his followers commenced climbing the ladder and kicking out the rungs as they ascended, until the top rung—the N. P.—gave way, and what was once known as the Grit "platform" lay smashed on the said pit, beyond recognition. It is true the new leaders and a few of his followers escaped, but the damage done is irreparable.

The Cape Breton Branch Railway is still blocked up with snow.

Before and After.

The widespread impression that a change of Government was inevitable undoubtedly helped to defeat our Liberal-Conservative candidates at the recent elections. It was said and sung by the Grit press and party that Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick had turned Grit in Provincial politics, that the other Provinces would return enough supporters of Blake, without this Island, to swamp the Tories, and that it would be suicidal for us to elect men to sit in Opposition.

We warned the electors against this illusion. On the 18th February we pointed out that, notwithstanding Grit predictions, they were routed worse, foot and artillery in 1878, in 1882, despite all their predictions, they were almost annihilated, and had, from all appearances, a similar fate awaited them on the 22nd. In view of the great victory won by Sir John Macdonald, and the crushing defeat of Mr. Blake on that day, we leave the electors to decide whether or not the Herald read the signs of the times correctly.

It was fitting that the Patriot, which now rejoices at having six Grits harnessed to Blake, should be the medium of this rubbish. Every issue of that delectable sheet teemed with Grit fabrications, purporting to be telegraphic news, for the purpose of leading the electors into voting the Grit ticket. Now that a majority of the electors have allowed themselves to be influenced, more or less, by such devices, we reproduce a few specimens of Grit logic for the amusement of those who turned a deaf ear to it previous to the elections. Here is a paragraph that appeared January 24th:

"The Conservative Government will be overthrown on Washington's birthday. A good day for a good deed." It did not occur to the writer that he was outraging the memory of a man who, it is said, was incapable of telling a lie. At Mount Stewart Mr. Welsh vouchsafed the following information:—

"If we had reciprocity we would have a good market for our produce in spite of what Mr. Campbell said. But our Ottawa rulers would try to get it, but the government would not. No doubt he was not then aware that he can 'speak now' without injuring the proposed 'new government.' But the Patriot foretold wonderful things on Feb. 4th. That which even those not learned in the law can occupy: Shades of Blackstone! It must have been the intervention of Providence that prevented such a fall. Here is the despatch:—

"OTTAWA, February 21.—Independent papers are already figuring on probable composition of Blake's new ministry, and all concede that Mr. Davies will have an important portfolio either in Customs or Marine and Fisheries."

The same day the following telegram was published in the organ here, and an extraordinary meeting of all Grit office-seekers, hoodlums, etc., was immediately summoned, and positions laid off for each of them. From that time forward the man who could shout the loudest considered himself the 'noblest Roman of them all.' It read as follows:—

"TORONTO, Feb. 21.—The Liberals are now certain of carrying a clear majority for the first time since the day of anything from Charles Edward Island."

On election day telegrams arrived, thick as snow-flakes, and an early edition of the organ was published. But alas! after a half-hour battle their bright visions of boudle disappeared, and we are greatly mistaken if at an early day the majority of Grits do not insist upon a change of leadership.

Dr. Gagan's Lecture.

Rev. Dr. O'RYAN'S LECTURE on "Christianity and its Founder," which was postponed from Thursday of last week on account of the storm, took place in the Lyceum on Monday evening last. The Hall was well filled, although the night was inclined to be disagreeable. Among those present we noticed: Rev. J. C. McDonald, Rector of St. Dunstan's College; Revs. A. J. McIntyre, F. X. Gallant, John A. McDonald and A. E. Burke, His Honor Lieutenant Governor Macdonald, Judge Reddin, Senator Carey, &c. Rev. A. J. McIntyre presided, and, in a few well-chosen remarks, introduced the Rev. lecturer to the audience.

We have no hesitation in pronouncing the lecture the best ever delivered in Charlottetown. It was, indeed, an intellectual treat such as rarely becomes the privilege of any audience to receive. The historical research, depth of thought and extraordinary intellectual capabilities exhibited by the Rev. gentleman in the treatment of his subject are sufficient to place him among the first scholars of our times. Any attempt to give a summary of his discourse would be decidedly unjust to the lecturer. The theme was treated in such a masterly manner that giving a part of it would only mar the beauty and harmony which characterized the whole. The first part of the lecture was devoted to proving the divinity of Christ; the second, to proving the divinity of the religion which He established. He treated the subject from a historical, rather than a theological point of view. He tore to shreds the flimsy veil by means of which our so-called modern philosophers, materialists, agnostics and atheists constantly endeavor to blindfold the masses, and proved that man is naturally inclined towards the good, the beautiful and the true; that, with the assistance of divine revelation, he is capable of apprehending truths of the spiritual order; and that it is only when he allows his baser passions to gain the mastery over him the sunlight of the Gospel of truth is prevented from entering his soul. He showed how the Pagan writers of old, Virgil, Tully, Cicero, &c., had unwittingly proved the coming of the Messiah. His description of the Roman Empire, just before the coming of Christ, was truly sublime. The Roman eagles flutter over every known land; the Roman people go forth to do honor to Caesar, who approaches the city in a golden chariot; to whose wheels are fastened royal captives as trophies of his victories; the arena is crowded with the populace to see the sports and witness the agile feats and death of the gladiators. This was the order of things Christianity had to change and overcome.

After describing the condition of the German nations which took place a few days since. The result of that was that the policy has been sustained by the people, although not with so large a majority as the Chancellor expected.

Mr. F. P. Scott, of Fort Macleod, says, the winter in the N. W. Territories has been favorable to stock raisers. He writes as follows:—

We have heard of very few losses through cold, although the thermometer has been as low as 40 below zero. This of course, did not last long, and the Chinook winds soon set things all right again. Further west, on the Bow and Belly rivers, the temperature has never gone below fifteen degrees, and the owners of stock are correspondingly happy. They will soon begin preparations for the spring's round-up. This is the grand occasion of the year.

During the recent floods in Illinois two young men started out on a skiff for the residence of a Mr. Ditman, in the submerged district, known as the Bomo Bottom, for the rescue of a family. The heavy current upset the skiff, but the occupants caught hold of a clump of willows. They remained in this condition for sixteen hours with the mercury 6 below zero. One of them is likely to die, but the other has a chance of recovery.

Previous to the election, the Grit organ here quoted exclusively from Yankee newspapers, and now attempt to console its readers by copying articles against Sir John from obscure English papers, where auditors scarcely know Canada from Australia. Its precious little Sir John cares what those papers say, so long as a majority of intelligent and progressive Canadians respect confidence in him. Such stuff is only fit for English "classes" and dyed-in-the-wool Grits.

The corner stone of the Canadian Catholic College in Rome, was laid on the 24th February in the presence of a large assemblage of Canadians and Americans. Cardinal Howard officiated. Cardinals Taché, of Quebec, and Gibbons of Baltimore, were also present on the occasion. Among the other Church dignitaries present were Mgr. Asarian, Patriarch of the Armenian Catholics; Mgr. O'Connell, Rector of the American College; Mgr. O'Callaghan of the English College, and Mgr. Jacobini of the Propaganda. There was also present a Canadian deputation. The Church was dedicated to Saint Joseph. In the corner stone was placed a parab. ment which had been signed by present, together with several pieces of Canadian money, a medal representing the Pope and Madonna, and a larger one representing the Pope and restoration of the Lateran.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The elections in British Columbia take place on March 4th, 6th and 23rd. In the Northwest Territories they take place on March 15th, and in Gaspe Co., Quebec, on March 16th. In these different places we may reckon on ten seats certain for the Government.

It is reported on what appears to be good authority that Dr. Robertson, Grit member elect for King's County cannot take his seat on account of his being a seaman in a Government contract. If this be the case it will necessitate a new election in King's.

At the meeting of the Executive Council held yesterday, Hon. Donald Ferguson was sworn in Provincial Secretary and Commissioner of Crown Lands. He will contest his old constituency for re-election to the House of Assembly, and we feel sure he will be returned with a handsome majority.

The Halifax Chronicle, the champion repeal organ of Nova Scotia, sends up a piteous wail over the Dominion elections. It acknowledges defeat in these words:—

"In Nova Scotia the result has been the most discouraging character. The great victory gained for repeal in June last has been largely thrown away. Instead of making a general sweep, as was expected, the Liberal-Repealers have lost ground."

The returning officer for King's County held his court in Georgetown yesterday. The four candidates who had contested the county were present. The following are the correct returns of the votes polled: Robertson, 2434; McIntyre, 2431; McDonald, 2398; Mattart, 2355.

The estimation in which Canadian horses are held for cavalry purposes may be gathered from the fact that on the 21st Feb. Sir Edward Stanshope, Secretary for War, stated in the House of Commons that the Government had ordered a further supply of Canadian horses, as those already purchased had turned out remarkably well.

The weather in Montana, this winter, has been of the most severe kind. Several times the thermometer reached 60 degrees below zero, and on one occasion it went down to 63 below. Snow storms are described in which snow flakes fell as large as milk cans, 15 inches tall and 8 inches thick. If this report be true, all we can say is stand from under.

While the people of the Dominion were engaged in the turmoil and excitement of a general election, the European nations have been anxiously watching the outcome of the German elections which took place a few days since. The result of that was that the policy has been sustained by the people, although not with so large a majority as the Chancellor expected.

Latest Telegrams.

MONTREAL, March 1.—The Montreal Star today publishes a special election returns for Quebec, showing 23 Ministers and 27 Grits. The Star puts down the 23 Ministers as 23 dependents, and gives the Government a majority of 21 of those six elections throughout the Dominion. Of this it claims as Independents by the Star, at least, will support the Government, most of them having given their assurance to that effect. For instance, the Hon. Mr. Galt, who is claimed by the Grits, telegraphically congratulated Sir Hector Langevin, and promises the Government a cordial support. Mr. Galt generally knows what he is talking about. The Grit game of bluff is pretty well played out now.

SIR JOHN LESTER KAYE, who has been residing in Montreal for the past two months, while negotiating with the Minister of the Interior, and the Canada Pacific Railway Co. regarding his scheme for model farms in Manitoba and the Northwest, has left for England. He has completed arrangements for the settlement of a number of English and Scotch agriculturists, and also for the importation of the best grades of British stock of different kinds. In this scheme he is backed up by a company having a capital of $1,200,000.

ADMIRAL PORTER of the American Navy has written a letter to Congress from which we take the following extract:—

"We, sitting here quietly, hardly realize that such a magnificent channel of trade as Puget Sound exists or that the British Columbia and the Canadian Pacific Railway is now completed, and it is said that arrangements have been made for the transportation of freight and passengers to be promptly transferred by rail and steamship to the coast of British Columbia, and thence by steamer to Yokohama, Hong Kong, etc. There is enterprise for the United States to throw the boasted enterprise of Americans into shade. The nations of the earth are looking for the shortest route to and from China. The nation that can retain possession of the Eastern trade, will be the richest on earth."

The New York Herald in the shape of a despatch, from Ottawa, dated January 25th, publishes an interview with Sir John Macdonald on the fisheries question, in which the Premier says:—

"When the Treaty of Washington expired, Canada endeavored to renew the treaty by adopting some conciliatory measures. The government at Washington asked that the terms of the treaty be renewed for six months, and this, when the former treaty expired on the 1st of June 1885. It was refused. The government would endeavor to create a new treaty by joining Canada in the establishment of the fisheries, and the President carried out this portion of the understanding. The Hon. Mr. Blair, the Secretary of the Fisheries, has a decisive majority decided to accede to the recommendations of the President and the Secretary of State. Canada has given the American fisheries a whole season's fishing during the summer and autumn of 1886. The failure of the American Senate to appoint a commission to consider the fisheries threw the matter back upon our hands and we are compelled to protect our rights by the enforcement of the laws which every nation exercises. Being asked how far England would support Canada, he said: 'I would support Canada in any law officers in questions of this kind. The Lord Chancellor and the Attorney General have been consulted, and the English law officers have sustained the position of Canada.'"

The election of Saturday says that after the election "enough Tories could be found in Premier Sullivan's district to make a row with." We congratulate our contemporary for telling the truth for once.

The snow-storm which commenced on Thursday evening last, and continued all day Friday, was the worst of the season. Traffic on the Railway was suspended to a great extent, the train from Summerside being the only one which arrived in this city on Friday.

Several of the ballot boxes for Queen's County had not reached the Returning Officer yesterday; consequently he was obliged to adjourn his court without making a declaration. The same cause prevented the Returning Officer for Prince George from making his declaration. Up to the time of going to press we were unable to procure any official figures for these counties.

Eleven young ladies received the religious habit on the 16th ult., at the Mother House of the Congregation de Notre Dame, Villa Marie, Montreal. Of this number three were Island girls: Miss Mary Grant (in religion Sister Margaret of Bavaria) Miss Leonard (in religion Sister St. Vincent de Paul) Miss Arsenault (in religion Sister St. Mary of the Temple) Miss Grant is a daughter of Mr. James Grant, of this city; Miss Leonard is a native of Cornwall, and Miss Arsenault a native of Miscouche. The HERALD joins with the many friends of these young ladies in congratulating them on the important step which they have taken, and trusts they will be spared for many years to labor in the holy vocation.

The Supreme Court of King's County, Mr. Justice Hensley presiding, opened at Georgetown on Tuesday last week at 6.30 p. m., and adjourned until the following day, on Wednesday. A bench of all three judges, after the usual preliminaries the following Grand Jurors were empanelled:—Archibald J. Macdonald, Foreman; Thomas Mullaly, John Campbell, Joseph Whigham, John G. Starnes, Thomas Amner, John Leveson, Nicholas W. Morrow, Donald Mercer, George Moore, Charles McDonald, John Robinson, William McDonald, Donald Forbes, Frederick Morrow, John Cowan, Ronald D. McCormack.

After Mr. Justice Hensley had addressed the Grand Jury, the business before the Court was proceeded with. The first case called was, James Clow vs. David Sencabaugh—action on promissory note. Verdict for plaintiff for $79.50. David Sencabaugh vs. James Clow—action for trespass. Struck off docket. John McKeown, appellant, vs. Edwin Clay respondent—Scott Act appeal from Justices of Peace. Appeal sustained. Alexander McLeod, appellant, vs. Peter Gillis respondent. Held over until next term. John Scrimgeour, appellant, vs. John D. Morrison, respondent. Appeal dismissed. The Grand Jury returned a true bill against John Gorman, John McEasay, Donald McEasay, for grievously assaulting Angus A. McIntyre. A bench warrant has been issued for the arrest of all three, and the case will come up for trial at the next sitting of the Court. The complainant is seriously injured, but all small hopes are entertained for his recovery. Court adjourned till 2 o'clock.

Food for Consumptives. Scott's Emulsion is a most wonderful food. It not only gives strength, but it also builds up the system. It is a most wonderful food. It not only gives strength, but it also builds up the system.

The Patriot is endeavoring to undo the mischief it has brought in helping to elect Sir Grit, by throwing ink in the eyes of its dupes in reference to Reciprocity. The organ would fain make its readers believe that our Grit contingent will receive Reciprocity on demand. No doubt it will succeed in getting those who have not read Blake's speeches on the tariff to swallow such twaddle. The leader of all the Grits has said that Free Trade is removed from the domain of practical politics; and he has said something else, which the readers of the Patriot should know. In his speech at East York, on the 22nd of Jan. Mr. Blake stated that there was no divergence, but general unanimity among Grit members of Parliament on that subject. Had not Mr. Blake been in caucus with Mr. Davies and sounded him on that question? Undoubtedly he had. We may therefore expect to see our Grit friends taking a back seat on Reciprocity while Blake is leader.

Leader of the Irish Party. The precarious condition of Mr. Parnell's health will, no doubt, necessitate on the part of the Irish members the choice of another leader at no distant day. Present indications point to Justin McCarthy as the future leader, as the following despatch will show:—

(London despatch to Boston Herald.) The question of the choice of a leader for the Irish party to direct their action in the House during Mr. Parnell's absence is discussed both publicly and in private circles. For, although the duration of the retirement is in dispute, it is now admitted that the condition of Mr. Parnell's health calls imperatively for complete rest from parliamentary work.

From information which comes through a trustworthy channel, we are inclined to believe that Mr. Parnell is not disinclined to hold his right side up while the golden shower lasts. No where among the three embryonic candidates is there any one who is so well qualified to take up the reins of government as Mr. Parnell. He is in America, where, rumor says, he is making money faster than he ever made it before, so that he is not disinclined to hold his right side up while the golden shower lasts.

There is no one on the premises an excellent friend of the Irish party in the House is well under 40. And as Mr. Parnell is in America, where, rumor says, he is making money faster than he ever made it before, so that he is not disinclined to hold his right side up while the golden shower lasts.
