The Mystery of Rutledge Hall

"The Cloud With a Silver Lining"

CHAPTER XXXIII.

"You were sure the inquiry could lead only to one result..."

"Yes. There could be no doubt of this guilt. Sometimes I think that she herself, poor child, has no doubt of it and it is that that is killing her."

"Did she care for him so much?" said Lloyd, looking up suddenly.

"I think so," she cared for him; and a woman like Sidney loves like that only once."

The rest of the brief journey was performed in silence, both men seeming preoccupied and absorbed in the papers they held open before them.

But in reality neither was reading. The lamps were being lighted in the Queen's Road as they drove away from the station, and the Parade was comparatively quiet and deserted.

It was a fine evening, clear and cold; the houses along the Parade were lighted up, and at the door of the house that Sidney occupied a gay party of equestrians had just alighted, and were going up the steps, while the grooms were leading away the horses.

"Why, here is Stephen!" said Robert Burton, turning as the cab stopped, and there were merry greetings in the hall and gay voices and some noise, which Dolly checked by saying they would startle Sidney.

"Sidney has not been out to-day," she said to her brother; "she has a slight cold, and we thought she had better remain at home. Argie is with her."

Even as she spoke, a tall, graceful, fair girl appeared, coming down stairs—a gentle-loving girl, with lovely gray eyes, and a profusion of fair brown hair—Lady Agnes' eldest daughter.

"Sidney wanted to know what all the noise was about," she said. "Stephen, is it you? Oh, I am glad! Will you come up? Sidney was afraid something had happened," she added; and Stephen followed her up-stairs. "She has not been very well all day, and is easily startled, you know."

Easily startled—evidently, judging by the intense palor and wild, frightened eyes of the face which was turned toward the door as they entered.

Mavis de Viaudou talcum powder advertisement with illustration of a woman.

while the little lips were trembling so that speech was impossible.

"You see there is nothing wrong," Agnes Burton said, gently—"quite the contrary; Stephen and Mr. Milner have arrived."

"I thought—I thought—something had happened," Sidney faltered, her little hands closing over her husband's with a feverish clasp, as if they would never let him go, as he bent over her.

"I am absurdly nervous," she added, trying to laugh. "Did you leave all well at Ashford, Stephen?"

"Yes—all well," he answered, cheerfully, and then sat down by her sofa and asked her one or two questions about herself; and Argie went away and left the husband and wife together, thinking that she pleased them both by so doing.

"You will like some tea," Sidney said, eagerly—"it will refresh you after your journey—and the girls will like some after their ride. Ring for it, please."

Tea was brought, and the young people made a simultaneous appearance. Dolly and Jessie Burton still in their habits, rosy and bright from their fast ride through the keen air, the young men animated and cheerful, although Robert Burton, who had a strong inclination to fall in love with Dolly, was rather reserved in his manner toward Lloyd Milner.

Agnes poured out tea, and the young men made themselves useful in handing the cups and the macaroons and bread and butter, and the drawing-room was bright and cheerful with light and gay chatter, the principal topic of conversation being a fancy ball to be held at the Pavilio during the coming week, which the young ladies were looking forward to with great eagerness.

Neither Stephen nor his wife took much share in the conversation. He still retained his place beside her sofa, and Sidney was lying back on her cushions, looking pale still, but calm and quiet. She wore her favorite black velvet gown with a fleecy white shawl over her shoulders, and she lay listening absently to the chatter, smiling faintly now and again as some of the young men's witticisms amused her for a moment.

To all outward appearance, it was a very happy and careless group of young people who were assembled in Sidney's drawing-room, and the chat and laughter were very general. Lloyd Milner, joining in it gayly, had yet time to keep rather a close scrutiny of Sidney Daunt, looking at her now and again with a new interest and sympathy on his pleasant face, and eyeing her with a watchfulness which he carefully concealed however, and which only Dolly noticed.

After a time the conversation began to lag a little. The ball and the costumes had been exhaustively discussed, and the girls were beginning to think of going up to change their riding-habits and dress for dinner, when Lloyd Milner took up a book from a table near him and glanced at the title.

"Who is reading 'Our Mutual Friend'?" he asked, in a careless tone. "I have been reading it to Sidney," Argie Burton said, glancing across the room from her seat by the fire.

"It is a charming story," he went on, turning over the pages—"one of Dickens's best, I think."

"Do you think so?" Robert Burton said, in surprise. "I fancy you are alone in your opinion."

"I don't think so, Bob," but in his Oxonian brother. "I have heard other people say so. Bella is such a charming character."

"So true to nature!" added his sister.

"Yes," Lloyd Milner said, musingly. "I am always in love with Bella. Do you remember?"—he was still turning over the leaves as he spoke, pausing now and then to read a few lines, and he glanced at Sidney for a moment as he finished the sentence—

"that scene where John Rokesmith is telling his wife that he is suspected of murder? I think it is such a charming little bit of writing."

"Yes, it is very pretty," Argie agreed. "We have not come to that part yet, Sidney," she added. "We shall do so soon."

Sidney made no reply; she was so pale already that it seemed impossible that she should become paler; otherwise Lloyd Milner would have thought that it was so.

"Shall I read it," Lloyd said, glancing up from the book—"just the few lines describing how Bella received the suspicions of her husband? Would you like to hear them, Sidney?"

"Yes," Sidney answered, with white lips.

Lloyd drew near a table on which a reading-lamp stood, and, standing, began to read. It was evident that the words interested him greatly; but there was something besides interest on his face as the light fell upon it, a strange significance, a look as if some thought had struck him and awakened other thoughts.

"But circumstances," John Rokesmith went on—"I can and will disperse them in one moment—have surrounded me with one of the strangest suspicions ever known. You heard Mr.

PAINS ACROSS THE BACK

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ontario. "I have taken your medicine for a number of years. I do not take it steady all the time, but I am never without it. I always keep it in the house. I took it first for pains in the abdomen and bearing-down pains, headaches and pains across the back. I have my home to look after and many a day I could not get up at all. I saw the advertisement in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Mrs. John Miller told me about it, too. Every time I take it, it makes me feel better and I always recommend it to my friends. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about this medicine and you may use this letter as a testimonial."

"Mrs. E. J. WASSMANN, Mitchell, Ontario. The motto of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is told by women to each other. Many women know by experience what this medicine will do and they are anxious for other to know. Such testimony should cause any woman suffering from the troubles mentioned to hurry to give this well-known medicine a fair trial. Do you know that in a recent canvass among women here of the Vegetable Compound 228,000 replies were received. To the question, 'Have you received benefit by taking this medicine?' 99 per cent. replied 'Yes.' This shows that out of every 100 women are in better health because they have given this medicine a fair trial."

Lightwood speak of a dark transaction!"

"Yes, John," said Bella. "You are prepared to hear explicitly what he meant?"

"Yes, John."

"My life, he meant the murder of John Harman, your allotted husband."

"With a fast palpitating heart, Bella grasped him by the arm.

"You cannot be suspected, John!" "Dear love, I can be, for I am!"

There was silence between them as she sat looking in his face, with the color gone from her own face and lips.

"How dare they!" she cried at length, in a burst of generous indignation. "My beloved husband, how dare they?"

"He caught her in his arms as she opened hers, and held her to his heart.

"Even knowing this, you can trust me, Bella?"

"I can trust you, John, dear, with all my soul. If I could not trust you, I should fall dead at your feet!"

"The kindling triumph in his face was bright indeed as he looked up and rapturously exclaimed what had he done to deserve the blessing of this dear confiding creature's heart. Again she put her hand upon his lips, saying 'Hush!' and told him in her own little natural pathetic way that, if all the world were against him, she would be for him; that if all the world regulated him, she would believe him that if he were infamous in other eyes, he would be honored in hers, and that under the worst unmerited suspicion she could devote her life to consoling him and imparting her own faith in him to their little child!"

The reader's voice was a little unsteady as he read the concluding lines, and he did not close the book for a minute after he had finished reading. As he put it on the table and stood erect—for he had been bending slightly toward the lamp—he glanced swiftly and furtively over at Sidney. She was sitting up among the cushions now, her pale face eager, stirred, and moved, her eyes feverishly bright, but even as he looked she sank back upon the pillows, white and still, the light fading from her eyes. For a moment no one spoke; then Sidney said calmly, but in a very low tone—takes the greatest care to protect and nourish her skin and not to give the fatal wrinkles a chance to form.

After cleansing her face she rubs in with an upward and outward motion a generous amount of Three Flowers Skin and Tissue Cream. The pure oil it contains are quickly absorbed by the tissues. The lady whose skin is inclined to be dry finds in this splendid cosmetic the means to replace the natural oil her skin lacks, while the woman whose skin is inclined to be too oily finds that a thorough cleansing with Three Flowers Skin and Tissue Cream opens the overloaded pores and helps them throw off the excessive oils. Thus does this beautiful cream benefit every woman's skin.—oct22.th.m.it

Brave Shepherd FEEDS FLOCK AFTER BREAKING HIS LEG.

LONDON (By Mail)—An old shepherd, George Pearce, who broke one of his legs on the Sussex Downs near Pymcombe, spent hours in making his flock secure before seeking aid for himself.

His first thought was for his sheep. He limped about the downs with the aid of a stick, though suffering great pain, and, with the help of his faithful dog, gathered his flock from over a wide area and drove them into a pen.

Pearce knew they would go hungry for many hours if he left them, and he carried a bushel and a half of food into the pen and distributed it in the trough.

Having completed this self-imposed task the old man limped to his cottage nearly two miles away. He collapsed at the door thoroughly exhausted as the result of the agony he had gone through.

He is now in a serious condition.

100,000 Tons of Rock to be Removed

A notable engineering task is to be begun at once by the London Midland and Scottish Railway Company, which proposes to unroof the Cotton Tunnel on the Birmingham and Bristol main line, and convert it into a cutting eight feet deep, out of the deepest in England.

This operation, which will be carried on without interruption of the train service, will involve the removal of 100,000 tons of solid rock.

Chivers' Pure Foods advertisement including Chivers' Jams, Custard Powder, and Marmalade.

People Eat Food That is Useless

IMPOSSIBLE TO EAT TOO MUCH FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

Half the ill that flesh is heir to are due to the under-consumption of proper foods and an over-consumption of those things that are not foods.

A great many people go into hotels and restaurants and stuff things into their stomachs that have no food value, and are only waste material.

A lecturer at a recent meeting in Rochester remarked that it was hard for the public to know what to eat for one person would advocate one thing and then another person would get up and pronounce that it was a dangerous thing, ruining the health of the nation, and that something else contained the nutriment necessary for the human system.

And when he put forward an old truth in a new way to emphasize the necessity of eating an apple a day. He put it like this: The Creator made man out of the dust of the earth, breathed into his nostrils the breath of life, and created the food to maintain him. You remember the trouble that Adam and Eve got into over the apple, but just the same that apple contains many valuable elements, it is one of Nature's tonics, one of Nature's best foods.

"Study Nature, it provides different foods at different seasons. We have in the spring strawberries and other fruits, rhubarb, spinach, lettuce, and so on, but you will find apples, the entire year. God knew that the apple was one of the best of foods, one of delicious taste, not only good for Nature's medicines, highly flavored, satisfying man's appetite, but for the correcting of troubles that might come.

"When the Creator took the dust of the earth to make man, there were sixteen principal elements in that dust. Chemists find those same sixteen elements in man; they also find those same elements in foods. The foods coming from the dust in their natural state come then to man for food, and for that reason God has placed in the dust the elements that are very essential for food."

Need Alkaline. The speaker deplored that people had gone away from natural foods to refined foods, and often meals were served without an ounce of alkaline food in them.

All over the country men and women were suffering from stomach troubles because they did not eat the proper food. People who filled their stomachs with starches, fats and proteins got no nourishment from them if they were not digested, and the only way they could be digested was to have the proper combination of foods to make them digest, and that was got with fresh fruits and vegetables which are rich in alkaline content, vitamins and the mineral salts. A liberal amount of fruits and vegetables is needed every day to neutralize the acid of meat and eggs. Of the two per cent. of ash of the apple 35 per cent. is potassium, 26 per cent. is sodium, 1 per cent. is calcium, and one and a half per cent. is iron.

The apple has a little more iron than the raisin, and the wonderful elements of calcium, potassium, iron and sodium are essential to the maintenance of the blood.

If a person does not get his calcium daily, the blood will absorb from the teeth and bones the calcium to function the heart beats. It is the lack of element of calcium that is partly responsible for the breaking down of the teeth.

Prevent Disease. The speaker went on to show how the elements contained in fresh fruits and vegetables prevented heart trouble, cured nervousness, provided the iodine and chlorine requisite in the body to prevent disease, and pointed out that it was impossible to overeat fruits and vegetables, whereas it was easy to overeat meat, eggs, nuts and breadstuffs, and the whole human system becomes clogged up.

The Pomological Society of Quebec has been working for years in an endeavor to educate the public to eat fresh fruits, and the Canadian Horticultural Council are holding a National Apple Week.

Coffin of King Tut Found. SPECTATORS AMAZED BY ADORNMENTS OF SACROPHAGUS. CAIRO, Egypt, Nov. 5.—The body of King Tut anch Amen has been discovered, a complete issue by the military of work, announced. Tut anch Amen's tomb was re-opened Oct. 12, in the presence of Egyptian officials. The lid of the first sarcophagus was lifted, revealing a feather on which were linen coverings and bouquets. These were removed, revealing a work of unexampled beauty. This second sarcophagus bore the effigy of the God Osiris, decorated from head to foot and embellished with multi-colored plectrum glass. The sarcophagus itself was veneered with a thin layer of a marble ground and adorned with the wings of the serpent Goddess. Bulo and the vulture Goddess Natchbet. After this sarcophagus had been scientifically examined, it was removed from the first, an extremely delicate operation as the one fitted exactly inside the other and the delicate ornamentation might easily be injured by the slightest touch. By October 22, however, it was possible to remove the cover from the second sarcophagus disclosing a human shaped coffin, covered with a linen shroud, which adhered to it. Around the head and chest was a string of beads and flowers. The face was uncovered or not covered, according to the various translations and is believed to represent a young King Tut himself. (This is thought to imply that the shroud around the coffin did not cover the painted face customarily depicted upon such encasements.) After photographs were taken, shroud, beads and flowers were removed, revealing a superb coffin of most artistic design, covered with gold ornaments. Unfortunately a large part of the coffin was marred by a shining black deposit, apparent some glutinous liquid which must have been spilled over it at the time of burial. The most important question now before the workers is how to remove the human shaped coffin from the second sarcophagus, which, in addition to fitting very closely, has adhered to account of this glutinous liquid.

In another case which grouped the claims of 23 Gloucester fishermen, final disposition as regards individual claimants was left for later adjustment probably within two weeks. The contention of the Newfoundland authorities was sustained in several of the individual cases in this group. Hopefully Awaits the Irish Report

THE COMMISSION'S FINDINGS ARE EXPECTED TO MOLLIFFY FREE STATE OPINION.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Westminster Gazette says the Irish Boundary Commission's report may be made within fortnight. Dr. McNeill, the Irish Free State's representative on the commission, arrived in London yesterday and the three commissioners will meet to tabulate the evidence obtained and draft a report. Much of the evidence is yet to be dealt with.
President Cosgrave, of the Dail, on Tuesday, procured an adjournment of the Dail for a week owing to Dr. Mc-Neill's visit to London. He said at the time that the work of the commission was nearing an end.

According to the Gazette the report of the commission is hopefully awaited in Free State circles, and from this it infers that Joseph B. Fisher, North Ireland's representative, who was appointed by the British government, has consented to such rectifications of the frontier as will mollify Free State opinion. The newspaper adds that if a compromise is reported between the commissioners it is unbelievable that large transfers of land will be proposed.

Armistice Day Celebrations

AT THE NATIONAL MEMORIAL. The Remembrance Day ceremony at the National Memorial was participated in by a large concourse of citizens, including the pupils of the Junior College and Normal School, who attended in full regalia. His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Lady Allardye, Miss Allardye and Major Shand, and Hon. W. S. Monroe, Prime Minister, and Mrs. Monroe, arrived at the Water Street entrance to the Memorial shortly before 11 a.m. They were received by Commander Howler, President of the G. W. V. A., and members of the Reception Committee, and escorted to the platform from where His Excellency read the following address:—

Mr. Prime Minister, War Veterans, Citizens.—
We have assembled here to-day to pay a tribute to those, our gallant comrades, whom this Memorial commemorates. We renew afresh our pledge to continue unceasingly the struggle of right against might and to protect the fatherless children, widows and aged parents of the men who gave their all for God, King and Country. May we, as veterans and citizens be fully charged with the sense of our duties and responsibilities and ever strive to lift high the torch lit by our comrades who, in a true spirit of self-sacrifice passed out of this life through the gateway of duty, and who are calling to us to keep faith with them. May each one of us carry forth from this Memorial a solemn realization of what Remembrance Day means and may our lives be devoted to the cause which so many died to uphold. I shall call upon you all, at the sound of the gun, to stand with bowed heads for the spaces of two minutes, out of love and respect for those who have answered the last roll call.

When the appointed signal was given, silence was observed for the space of two minutes, after which the Last Post was sounded by Bugler Cook. Then followed the laying of wreaths by the Governor, as well as several organizations and citizens.
The short but impressive ceremony was carried out without a hitch under the direction of the G.W.V.A. Executive.

AT THE SERGEANTS' MEMORIAL. Preceding the ceremony at the National Memorial, the members of the Sergeants' Mess assembled at the Monument, in the square at the foot of Garrison Hill, when President R.S.M. Neil Patrick read the ritual for the occasion and a two minute silence was observed. The simple ceremony of remembrance concluded with the Last Post and the placing of a wreath.

Following the ceremony at the National Memorial yesterday, His Excellency visited the General Post Office, where a large assemblage of people were gathered for the purpose of taking part and witnessing the unveiling of a Memorial Tablet in commemoration of those associated with the Posts and Telegraphs Department, who made the supreme sacrifice.
His Excellency was accompanied by Lady Allardye, Miss Allardye and suite. As they approached the Eastern entrance they were met by the Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, Hon. Mr. Woodford; Deputy Minister, J. G. Hodder; Asst. Deputy Minister, William Campbell; Supt. Lloyd and Miller, and representatives of the Postal and Telegraph Associations. The interior of the building was appropriately decorated for the occasion. The Tablet—which was in the western section of the main lobby—was covered by the Union Jack, whilst overhead was a picture of His Majesty, King George V. A guard of honor, comprising postal and telegraph officials who saw active service were in charge of Sergt. Morrissey, late of the Newfoundland Regiment, who is now a postal official. Following military custom, the guard of honor stood to attention whilst the National Anthem was being played by Supt. Lloyd on the organ. Mr. Woodford, the Minister of Posts, afterwards escorted His Excellency and Lady Allardye and suite to the section near the Tablet, and opened the proceedings by welcoming His Excellency and Lady Allardye and thanking them for their attendance, after which he touchingly addressed the assemblage as follows:—
Hon. Mr. Woodford's Speech
Your Excellency and Lady Allardye: I have the honor of inviting you here to-day on behalf of the Post and Telegraph Departments, to ask you to preside and conduct a very important ceremony—the unveiling of a Memorial Tablet to our noble dead.
I regret exceedingly that this Memorial has not been previously unveiled, but the opportune moment has now presented itself and it is with particular pride that I have invited the relatives and next-of-kin of those who made the supreme sacrifice during the great and eventful war, to witness this unveiling.

Your Excellency, as you are already informed in the annual report, some forty-seven of our staff went Overseas. Out of that number, you will note by the Tablet, twelve gave their lives that we might live in peace and happiness, and Christ Himself says: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."
I avail of this opportunity to extend my sincere sympathy, and perhaps I should say, congratulation, to the next-of-kin of those who fought so valiantly and died so gloriously.
It is not my desire to delay this ceremony, but one cannot help feeling emotional on such an auspicious occasion. Truly, "Their Name Liveth For Evermore."
The Minister's remarks greatly impressed the gathering, and his words seemed to have touched the hearts of those who were directly interested—the relatives and next-of-kin of the dear departed. At the conclusion of his speech, Supt. Lloyd, who presided at the organ, led the singing of "Oh, God, our help in ages past." His Excellency then expressed his pleasure at being present and rendered the following very impressive speech:

His Excellency's Speech
Fastmaster General, Members of the Telegraphs and Postal Association, Comrades, Friends.—
I am very sensible of the honor you have conferred on me in asking me to unveil this Tablet which your members of the Newfoundland Postal Association have erected to the memory of those of your comrades who gave their lives for their King, their Empire, and their Homeland.
During the three years I have represented His Majesty in this Colony, it has been my privilege to unveil a number of War Memorials. In the past, I may, perhaps, have been inclined to wonder whether these Memorials—by their very number throughout the Empire—did not indicate a fear that the memory of those who fell during the Great War, might fade, but as time has rolled on, I have realized more fully their strong purpose and their inestimable value. This Tablet is not only a record of the names of those brave men who fell in action, but it is also an eloquent—although silent—witness to the great lesson of sacrifice taught us by these your comrades, and untold thousands who likewise died in battle. Here in this large and busy Post Office, where highly important work is being performed unceasingly, and where to-day an unique assemblage has met to do honor to the fallen, let us take to heart the great lesson of sacrifice in our daily lives, humbly strive to emulate their glorious example.
At the conclusion of his speech, His Excellency announced the unveiling of the Tablet, and in doing so drew on the cord thus placing the Tablet on public view. The Tablet is a bronze plate, surmounted by a Caribou Head, similar to those exhibited in many of the public buildings and libraries in the Old Country, and bears the following inscription:—

IN MEMORY OF THE MEN FROM THE NEWFOUNDLAND POST OFFICE AND TELEGRAPH STAFF WHO FELL IN THE GREAT WAR (1914-1918)

"THEIR NAME LIVETH FOR EVERMORE"
Perhaps the most touching scene of the entire programme was the observance of the two minutes' silence and the bugler's sounding of the Last Post and Reveille.
The Governor then left whilst Mr. Lloyd played in a masterly manner, the Allcuthal Chorus. In all, the ceremony was one which was very inspiring and do doubt, will be remembered by the many who witnessed it.
The Minister of Posts' speech and afterwards, His Excellency's, indeed expressed the true sentiment of the Postal and Telegraph staff and Associations. The latter are primarily responsible for the successful carrying out of the programme, whilst a great measure of praise is due Supt. Lloyd and Sergt. Morrissey for the very able manner in which they discharged their respective duties.

CENTRAL LEATHER CO.

New York, Nov. 4.—Central Leather Co's third quarter showing of $124,566 net after taxes, depreciation and bond interest was undoubtedly disappointing to many, comparing with net of $421,469 in the preceding quarter of 1924, but was to be expected considering the strong buyers' position prevailing during the period, as previously explained in an analysis showing that the company could not possibly earn its full preferred dividend this year.
The upper leather industry, as indicated by results of American Hide and Leather Co. and Barnet Leather Co., has progressed considerably within the current year. But the sole leather industry not only has a production capacity far above the consumption it can reasonably expect but actual output of leather has been slightly above consumption as shown by the recent increase in stocks on hand, despite the low percentage of operation now well below 60 per cent.

In other words, the American sole leather industry is in a position to supply a large outside demand which does not exist. Leading factors in the industry frankly state that foreign markets which have been lost must be put out of the picture and the attention of the industry concentrated on bringing production into line with domestic consumption.

Outlook for the fourth quarter is brighter for Central Leather Co. Buying has improved considerably and shoe manufacturers are showing a disposition to commit themselves somewhat farther ahead. But this does not put these companies out of the hand-to-mouth purchasing category. With an abundance of sole leather stock to draw from, shoe companies at present are in no hurry to stock up, and the day when inventories in the shoe industry will be a factor in estimating probable demand for sole leather must await the restoration of a closer relation between production and domestic consumption.

(From Boston News Bureau, Oct. 31.)

The upper leather industry, as indicated by results of American Hide and Leather Co. and Barnet Leather Co., has progressed considerably within the current year. But the sole leather industry not only has a production capacity far above the consumption it can reasonably expect but actual output of leather has been slightly above consumption, as shown by the recent increase in stocks on hand, despite the low percentage of operation now well below 60 p.c.

In other words, the American sole leather industry is in a position to supply a large outside demand which does not exist. Leading factors in the industry frankly state that foreign markets which have been lost must be put out of the picture and the attention of the industry concentrated on bringing production into line with domestic consumption.

Outlook for the fourth quarter is brighter for Central Leather Co. Buying has improved considerably and shoe manufacturers are showing a disposition to commit themselves somewhat farther ahead. But this does not put these companies out of the hand-to-mouth purchasing category. With an abundance of sole leather stock to draw from, shoe companies at present are in no hurry to stock up, and the day when inventories in the shoe industry will be a factor in estimating probable demand for sole leather must await the restoration of a closer relation between production and domestic consumption.

MINARD'S LINIMENT FOR CORNS

The Evening Telegram THE EVENING TELEGRAM, LTD. PROPRIETORS.

All communications should be addressed to The Evening Telegram, Ltd., and not to individuals.

Thursday, November 12, 1925.

A Versatile Champion of the Public Right

On Monday the Telegram published an article taken from the Financial Post which purported to be a statement of the financial position of Besco, and in our comments thereon, we indicated the Government's proposals to the Corporation for the improvement of the working and housing conditions in Bell Island, and the concessions which the latter asked in return.

By some curious process of reasoning the Globe inferred that we were pleading the cause of Besco, and playing to use its own expression—to the "big bugs," and were striving to serve the monied rather than that of the working classes of the community.

If the Globe had not been hibernating at a time when the workmen on Bell Island required the services of a journal that never was under any obligation to the corporation in question, and that could with effect champion their cause, it might have been more fully conversant with the Telegram's attitude in relation to Besco, and its stand on behalf of the men.

The taunt that our forty-six years in the service of the public is an idle boast, is so obviously prompted by the little green god of jealousy as to require no further comment than the simple statement that our existence today is due to such merits as the community has found the Telegram to possess, and provided it can win the same share of public confidence, the Globe will no doubt be proud forty-six years hence to make the same boast.

Far more of an enigma than our attitude to Besco or any corporation that enjoys one-sided privileges in this country is the matter of that peculiar "Star" cheque, which bore the signature of the present Editor of the Globe, and which to such an extent aroused the curiosity of Commissioner Walker. Far more of a mystery is that box of money, which passed from a director of Besco to the campaign funds of a party, of which this worthy Editor was an ardent champion. Who is in a better position than he to throw a little light on those peculiar transactions? So great is the interest of the public in these mysteries, that a statement in the Globe to-morrow to the effect that the story in full would appear in its next issue, would assure a sale such as no local journal has ever experienced. In fact, it might publish a series of articles on this subject which would not only prove enlightening to the public, but would afford sufficient entertainment to while away many a dull evening during the coming winter.

A newspaper is supposed to serve the interests of the public generally. Of the Star, long since defunct, we were told under oath that it was only a political organ. With that paper the Globe's Editor was closely identified, and according to his own evidence, was even one of the three solitary $10.00 shareholders. Are we to presume that the Globe has been revived to serve the same useful purpose? The tranquil state of the country at present is by no means to the liking of certain hotbeds, whose political careers throughout have been characterized by an insensate desire to upset the existing state of affairs. Attempts are daily being made to inflame the public mind, but the only effect produced upon those who read these specious articles is to incense them still further against the authors.

They fail utterly to gauge public sentiment or they would hesitate to antagonize the community by hurling abuse at the Throne itself. Some of these writers have so far misjudged the spirit of loyalty in the Oldest Colony as to suggest that its people would prefer to be citizens of the United States rather than subjects of the Sovereign of the Empire, and they have even dared to presume that in this they voice public opinion.

Why not at once say of Bolshevik Russia? The United States has already clearly shown that she is by no means partial to agitators, whereas the former would welcome them with open arms.

Shortly after the official service at the National War Memorial yesterday the Salvation Army held a service there, in keeping with the practice followed in every country where the Salvation Army is established. The service was conducted by Colonel Cloud, assisted by Major Tilley and the other staff officers, there being present the silver band and the Life-saving Guards, as well as many members of the Army. The service consisted of hymns, prayer and a short address by Colonel Cloud and closed with the Dead March in E-flat and the benediction pronounced by Adjutant Sainsbury.

PREVENT GRIPPE WITH MINARD'S LINIMENT.

Magistrate's Court

Two seamen arrested for being drunk on the public street, were released over the holiday, on a deposit of five dollars to go on board their ship.

A man given in charge by his wife was discharged. The complainant failed to appear against him.

Two drunks and disorderlies were each fined $2.00.

Two other drunks were released on making a deposit.

An old offender named Price was charged with a breach of Section 73 of the Highway Traffic Act, that is, stealing a motor car. The accused pleaded "guilty" and was fined $200 or in default two months' imprisonment.

Another man who is said to be an accomplice of Price, was also arraigned on a similar charge, but pleaded "not guilty." His case was held over until to-morrow to give the police a chance to establish a case. According to the evidence of two witnesses who met Price on Tuesday night, a conversation took place on Barnes Road between the hours of 12 and 1 a.m. when one of the party stated that a dance was on at Nagle's Hill, to which they all agreed to go. Price then said he would get his father's car to motor and took along with him one of his friends. They arrived with the car a short while later, and upon picking up their two friends they motored to Nagle's Hill, but had not remained there long when they again returned to the city, and parked the car on Gower Street. The car was not the property of Price's father, but was stolen by defendant from Parson's Garage on the Tuesday night. The two witnesses who motored with Price on that night knew nothing of the robbery.

Mr. W. B. Skinner, B.L. is appearing on behalf of the defendant, made a strong plea for mitigation of sentence, claiming that the man's wife was very ill, and whatever sentence was to be imposed she would be the sufferer, and not the offender.

His Honor could offer the defendant no clemency as he declared he was a criminal of the worst type. He was given some sound advice on two previous occasions when he was convicted for larceny, but he failed to pick himself up. His Honor then imposed the sentence as already mentioned.

At this interlude Judge Morris took occasion to congratulate Mr. Skinner, a member of the bar, and wished him every success in his chosen profession.

Arthur Croft, who was held on remand about a week ago, charged with the larceny of $600, the property of Joseph Cocker, from the Anglo-American Show Room, on October 27th, appeared this morning. After the charge had been read to the accused, he agreed to be tried before Judge Morris, and entered a plea of "guilty." Mr. Cocker, who first reported that a robbery had taken place at his premises, gave evidence that access to the building had been gained by a window from the rear, the glass broken, latch unfastened from the inside and the window dropped about eight inches. The contents of the safe were found missing, such as gold and notes amounting to $503.00; also a diamond ring which he was unable to value. The ring was produced in court and identified by witness. He could not state whether or not the safe had been locked on the previous evening, and only two others knew the combination. Head Constable Byrne, who investigated into the robbery, gave evidence on the arrest of the accused, besides presenting a statement, in which he defendant confessed everything in connection therewith. His original intention of breaking into the premises, so he claims, was to get a B Battery for a radio set, but in groping about in the dark, he found the safe door open. He then forced open the drawers on the inside and took their contents. He made his exit by the back door. Head Constable Byrne stated that $122.00 of the notes have been recovered; also $70.00 in gold, besides the diamond ring. The accused, who had two former convictions against him for larceny, was then sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment.

Canadian Runner Arrives

Mr. James Hawbold, of Westville, N.S., one of Eastern Canada's fleet-footed runners, arrived by the Stevia this morning, to compete in a series of races against our local runners. Mr. Hawbold, who is only 20 years old, has made a name for himself in long distance running in the Maritimes the past two years, and he comes here in the pink of condition, and heavily backed by all Halifaxians to do honor for his country.

He was welcomed on arrival by Mr. J. M. Tobin, on behalf of the Halifax Sports Committee, and taken to an hotel, where arrangements have been made for his comfort while here. Mr. Hawbold feels little the worse for his sea trip, and hopes to have a trial spin at the Rink on Monday.

Mr. T. W. O'Neill, his manager and trainer, was unable to come on account of pressing business matters.

Rev. W. P. H. Kitchin, Ph.D., Domestic Prelate

Last evening a telegram from Rome from His Grace the Archbishop through the pleasing announcement that the Rev. W. P. H. Kitchin, Ph.D., Rector of St. Patrick's and at present Administrator of the Archdiocese has been elevated to the dignity of a Domestic Prelate of His Holiness Pope Pius XI. The new Monsignor is a native of St. John's, having been born here on the 26th of May, in the year 1878. He made his early studies at St. Bonaventure's College, and thence, with a view to studying for the Priesthood, proceeded to the renowned Sulpliman Seminary of Issy, Paris, where he studied philosophy. He then entered as a student in the University of Louvain, studying theology and concurrently taking the higher courses in philosophy. Louvain was then at the height of its fame under Monsignor Mercier, who since that time has become Cardinal Archbishop of Mechlin, the Belgian churchman and prelate of international fame. The new Prelate was one of Monsignor Mercier's most brilliant pupils and a particular friend of the great scholar of Louvain. After a most successful course he obtained his degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1901 and was ordained Priest on the 24th May, 1902. Arriving in St. John's in September he celebrated his first Holy Mass on the 8th of that month at St. Patrick's Church where he remained as curate for five years under the late venerable Dean Ryan. He spent one year as assistant at the cathedral until May, 1908, when he was promoted to the Pastorship of St. Joseph's, Holytown. In January, 1911, he succeeded His Lordship Bishop Renout as Rector of St. Patrick's which position he has filled with remarkable success. Beside the spiritual interests of the parish, which have unfalteringly been his chief concern, a notable achievement has been his administration has been the building and financing of the new Memorial School.

Right Reverend Monsignor Kitchin, as he will henceforth be known, is a scholar of some repute. His literary productions have been appearing for years in many American and European periodicals and have been widely commended for their purity and grace of style, whilst as a pulpit orator and public lecturer he excels. Outstanding as are the talents and scholarship of the distinguished cleric he is esteemed by his friends and by his flock in greater measure because of his modesty of character, his earnest piety and his sympathy and love for the weak and the poor. The honour that has come to him from the Sovereign Pontiff is the reward of real merit and we have great pleasure in joining our congratulations to those which the Roman Catholic citizens of the community unite in offering to their distinguished spiritual leader upon his new dignity.

G. W. V. A. Armistice Dance

The annual dance of the Great War Veterans Association took place in the Grand Hall on Armistice night, and proved to be a brilliant success financially and socially. Upwards of 200 couples were present, and all details were right on schedule. The hall was decorated with flags and white ribbons, and with the brilliant lighting effects showing on the dancers made the ballroom a fairyland.

His Excellency announced that the Happy Day collections exceeded those of last year by $413.00. The total city returns to date is $2163.23. Several addresses are yet to be heard from. The celebration party stayed for some time and expressed themselves as having enjoyed every moment of their stay.

The dance programme concluded at an early hour this morning when all went home wishing that such dances at that held on Armistice night would take place at shorter intervals.

Plane Carries Barrel of Sea Horses for Zoo

London.—A "drove" of 200 sea-horses has just flown to the London zoo. Their journey from Arcehon, on the Bay of Biscay, took less than 22 hours. Twice a year the supply of these strange sea creatures has to be renewed lest the zoo aquarium should lose one of its most attractive features. After travelling by train from Bordeaux to Paris they were met by Dr. G. M. Veveva, superintendent of the zoo. They were packed in an enamelled barrel, the bottom of which was attached an India rubber ball. When this was squeezed a stream of vitalising air bubbles rose to aerate the sea-water and so keep the strange passengers in good condition.

The barrel was placed in an aeroplane beside Dr. Veveva, and the bulb was squeezed every ten minutes during the flight to Croydun. So steady was the aircraft, in spite of a strong head wind, that when Dr. Veveva lifted up the lid to watch his charges not a single drop of water was spilled.

He noticed that the sea-horses had gathered in a clustre and were hanging on to each other by linking tails, so as to ease any jolts that might come their way. He suggests that a bunch of twigs may be given to the next consignment, so that the creatures may anchor themselves.

Baby sea-horses have been hatched in the zoo, but they always swim on the surface of the tank, and so drift down the overflow pipe. In the great sea-water storage tanks beneath the zoo there may exist a race of British-born sea-horses, bleached by constant darkness.

CONFEDERATION LIFE. — Aug 17, 1925

HIT AND RUN.

Sometimes, as I traverse the town, pursuing wealth and fame, a looted driver runs me down, and musses up my frame; I view such actions with a frown and say they are a shame. But if the driver stops his boat and hastens to my side, to see if he has spoiled my coat, to note if I have died, I feel that he is not remote from decency and pride. Sometimes he lifts me to his car from off the paving stones, and seeks a surgeon, near and far, to set my busted bones, and says he'll pay all bills at par, in kind and feeling tones. He gathers up my damaged hat, my trusses and my stays, my treasured flask of anti-fat, which conduct calls for praise; and I forgive a man like that, and wish him happy days. But now and then some reckless swain upsets me with his car; he climbs my person with his wain, and covers me with tar; he does not heed my shrieks of pain, but speeds to scenes afar. There is no crime in all the list more prone to make us quail; there is no meaner man, I wist, in all this tear-wet vale; he should be sentenced, I insist, hard by the marts of trade, to spill for keeps his Sunday hat, and break his shoulderblade, and then go whizzing like a bat from out the realms of shade! This villain hits the passing bick; he strikes him down and spins; the heart of one who'll pull this trick is made of moldy cheese; his head is wrong, his soul is sick with some uncouth disease.

WALT MASON

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

NO RIGHTS, ONLY PRIVILEGES.

"But it isn't her business, is it, if her daughter wants to go back to her husband? I shouldn't think she'd try to interfere. It's her daughter's affair, not hers. There's nothing she can do."

She has no rights in the matter, only privileges. She was allowed, when things went wrong, to give her whole life to righting them. If, or when, they go wrong again she will be allowed the same privilege. But when it comes to being able to prevent things going wrong again, then she has no right to anything.

The Responsibility But Not The Control.

Is there any harder position in the world than to be the person who someone will inevitably turn in times when things go wrong and yet to have no control over the actions of that person.

I know of children whose elderly parents use their money or health in ways that the children feel to be unwise. No interference would be tolerated yet if things went wrong of course it would be up to the children.

Love Is A Powerful Bond.

Who else would have to pitch in and bear the burden if they went broke either financially or in health? What can be done about it?

Nothing, I suppose. The logical thing, of course, would be for the mother in the case quoted, to tell her daughter that if things went wrong again she would do nothing. But even if she told her that she wouldn't keep to it. And the daughter very well knows it. Love is a bond which we cannot easily escape from and too often those who can, take advantage of that fact.

Take Brick's Tasteless and you must eat. — Oct 30, 1925

Testing a Tradition

Near Ullensaker, in Norway, is a grass and tree-grown tumulus, 50ft. high and over 300ft. in diameter.

Dateless legend says it contains a stone chamber in which are the remains of an unknown king, lying on a couch between two white horses.

In 1870 an attempt was made to open the mound, but after several perilous falls of tons of earth and sand the excavators abandoned the work. Archaeologists are now preparing to make a fresh attempt to test the truth of the tradition.

A negligee of chenille velvet has long sleeves of chiffon in a matching shade.

A gown of peach-colored satin is velled with delicate gold embroidery on net.

A fur-trimmed evening wrap of lame is fitted at the waist and fastened below.

A white ermine collar and vestee of silver kid and a rhinestone buckles fastenings.

A Grecian sandal has a spike heel of silver kid and a rhinestone buckle.

A coat of black fabric has a deep hem border, collar and sleeves of summer ermine.

Tell Tale of Fierce Sea Fight

ANOTHER CREW SAVED BY AMERICAN MERCHANT MARINE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—(United News)—From the raging seas of mid-Atlantic another epic tale of the American merchant marine and the rescue of human lives was brought into port today.

Unheralded by even the single toot of a barber whistle, the American trader, freighter of the American merchant lines, steamed up the bay with 33 men who had been saved from the Norwegian vessel Elven, which sank in mid-ocean Monday.

Even Dog Saved.

The rescue was made as the churning waves, rising inch by inch in the ship's hold, threatened at any moment to send the human cargo to the bottom, along with their craft.

The captain and the crew—and Teddy the little dog mascot—all were saved by the American seamen who duplicated a similar feat achieved a few days previously by the President Harding. But Captain Hubbard C. Fish, master of the American merchant that stood iconically on the bridge while the pilot guided his ship into port, received nothing of the ovation which had been accorded Captain Greening of the Harding.

The experience of Captain Fish, however, had all the thrills of the best sea story—huge, crushing waves, S.O.S. calls, a search through blinding weather which hid the sinking vessel, three trips in a storm-tossed small boat until all were saved.

Before her own misfortune, the Elven had stood by ready to aid the foundering Ignazio Florida, whose crew was saved by the President Harding a week ago to-day. After the Elven had left the Florida she was struck by a battering wave. Lifeboats were swept away, the bulwarks smashed, the rudder knocked from the ship.

American Trader to Rescue.

At 10 that night the Elven's wireless cracked over the sea: "Latitude 49.14, longitude 42.06; breaking down quick; am sinking fast."

Half an hour later the American trader, swinging back on her course, replied she was on her way to the scene of distress, plowing through the tossing sea at 15 and a half knots.

Captain Gens Marcusen, master of the Elven, in his broken Norwegian-English described a night when death grew nearer with each swish that brought the water higher in the hold. In half a dozen leaky spots water crept into the ship. Every sea swept over the decks and poured into the hatchways. The crew, fearing the fatal moment at any time, clung close together amidships—all but the engineer who stayed below, manning the pumps, and the radio operator who stuck to his key.

CONFEDERATION LIFE.

The Bells of Carlisle Are Remade, But Silent

London.—Although the bells of Carlisle Cathedral have been rehung after having been re-tuned and augmented by two new bells to complete the octave, the silence of 180 years in the cathedral tower is still maintained. The old bells were sentenced to silence for 100 years because they were rung when Prince Edward Charles Stuart crossed the border in 1745. The oldest was cast in 1430, and is one of the most ancient bells in the country. Another has a special interest because it was cast in Carlisle by order of Oliver Cromwell, and it is believed to be the only bell sanctioned by the Protector.

Hudson's Bay Company SENDS RADIO APPEAL FOR AID FOR NORTHERN POST.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—(A.P.)—A radio message that may mean life or death in an isolated trapping and hunting post in the far north was injected into the broadcast of station WBZ of the Westinghouse Electric Company, Springfield, Mass., last night. To-night the other will again be set quivering with the appeal, which it is hoped, may penetrate the distant Hudson Bay region and bring food to the post of the Hudson Bay Company on Southampton Island. Wednesday night the message will be repeated. The company's relief ship, laden with provisions, failed to reach the lonely post during the short Arctic summer.

A telegram requesting the following broadcast was received at WBZ yesterday.

The following message is for Hudson's Bay Company at Chesterfield Inlet, Repulse Bay and Wager Inlet:

"The company's relief ship failed to reach Southampton Island this season. Consequently that post is insufficiently supplied with provisions. If Chesterfield Inlet or Wager Inlet receive this message, rush special courier to Repulse Bay and have forwarded from there to Southampton two sled-loads of staple food, advising Southampton to draw on Repulse Bay where stocks are plentiful for further requirements. Should Repulse Bay receive this message act on it at once without waiting to hear from Chesterfield or Wager Inlets."

(Signed) "Hudson's Bay Company, Montreal, Canada."

More than a year ago the company equipped many of its posts scattered through the Arctic with radio receiving sets for the reception of messages which otherwise would take months to deliver and for the entertainment of trappers during the long winter nights. Reception conditions in these barren lands, particularly from WBZ have been excellent. It is noted in the logs kept at these Northern stations. Already, on several occasions, the sets have proven priceless to trappers otherwise cut off from the world and have made possible transmission of "life and death" messages.

The company has only one other means for getting relief to Southampton post and that is by dispatching a courier by dog sled into the north.

Forty Ships Tied up in Welland Canal

TORONTO, Nov. 4.—The Toronto Star publishes the following special dispatch from Port Colborne:

"The worst blockade in the history of Welland Canal threatens as the water on the Welland viaduct continues to drop. A total of 40 steamers were tied up in the canal due to low water, and the grounding of the two steamers, Pine Bay and Corwin, hard and fast on the aqueduct.

"Every bit of water available was turned into the Welland Canal, and industrial plants in the St. Catharines section, depending on canal power, were forced to close, but there was still insufficient water to float the stranded vessels. The water is at present only 12 feet 9 inches deep."

Instrument to Tell
The Growth of Trees

It is a matter of common observation that some trees, like pines, poplars, willows and soft maples, are of rapid growth, while others, like the hard maples and most of the oaks, grow more slowly and produce wood of greater strength and firmness. The dendrograph is an instrument designed to record minutely and accurately all changes in the size of the trunk of a growing tree. When properly attached to the trunk it requires no further attention, except the weekly winding of the clockwork and the insertion of a new record sheet on the recording cylinder.

The most conspicuous part of this instrument is the recording drum with its record sheet, protected by a tin cover attached to the trunk and caused to rotate by clockwork; but the essential feature is a yoke composed of slotted bars of galvanized iron—held in place by upright "fingers" of spring brass wire, which hold the yoke in position without exerting any notable pressure on the tree.

A belt of wooden blocks, serving as a support for the apparatus is clamped to the trunk in such a way as to touch it only at a few points and therefore to interfere as little as possible with its growth. These blocks are placed horizontally about a yard above the ground, the block bearing the recorder being on the south side of the tree. Changes in the distance between the contact screw on the opposite side of the trunk and the arm of the bearing lever are accurately registered on the drum by the recording rod and indicate changes in the size of the tree at that point. In other words, a curve of growth is traced on the revolving drum as it passes beneath the point of the rod, whose position is gradually changed as the trunk expands in the process of growing.

Some interesting experiments have been conducted with the device by Dr. D. T. McDougal, director of the department of botanical research of Carnegie Institution, its inventor. For instance, the dendrograph was attached to a Monterey pine, which is noted for its rapid growth and short life period, near Carmel, Calif. The conditions about Carmel are such that the species shows growth almost throughout the year, either in seedlings, tips of branches, leaders or

The instrument was adjusted to the base of the trunk of a tree measuring about 42 centimeters in diameter on March 24, 1918. The crop of pollen had been shed a month earlier, and the tips of the branches had elongated three or four centimeters, while the leaders of young trees had grown ten times as much.

Interruption of Growth.
The first interruption of growth occurred during a period of high temperatures and low humidity at the end of the following May, after which time the rate was lower and subject to long interruptions, although increases occurred as late as September, during which time the trunk, including the thin layer of inner bark under the contact points, underwent a total increase in thickness of nine millimeters, or more than a third of an inch. The actual thickness of the shell of wood or "annual rings" may be safely estimated at about three millimeters. From the general data gathered on this tree it was deduced that the growing tips and trunks grew most rapidly at night or on foggy days, the stems one and two years old enlarge during the middle period, and the trunks shrink during this same period, indicative of a mechanism which may be of importance in the ascent of the sap.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Modern Girl

London Daily Telegraph: (Miss Faithfull, head mistress of Cheltenham Ladies' College, speaking at the 'Church Congress, contrasted the girls of to-day and the golden age of Queen Victoria.) Her own estimate of the modern girl is more lenient than most of those which find a way into print. She rebukes our moralists for servility to ancient ideas and traditions. The charges, certainly of a strange perversity, that women's dress is of ugliness and impropriety hitherto unknown, Miss Faithfull dismisses with contempt. She will not even allow that there is anything new in paint and powder, and to be sure they are as old as Jesseb, for what the president is worth. As for smoking, to call that a dread of face is merely irritating. In fine, those who made a fuss of such things as these are "confusing matters of taste with matters of right and wrong." It is a fallacy to which we are all prone, but we must needs agree with Miss Faithfull that people who stold the cigarette and the powder-puff as if they were deadly sins are weakening the authority of principles much more important than those of taste.

Rayon-Sensation of the Textile World

A new textile, Rayon (artificial silk), making its commercial appearance in the early years of the present century, has within the past ten years become an industry of outstanding importance.

For 200 years man has endeavored to produce a synthetic textile by studying and imitating the processes of the silk worm.

In 1884, Chardonnet patented in France a method for manufacturing Rayon. More than a decade of experimentation elapsed before a yarn of sufficient intrinsic value to warrant manufacture on a large scale was produced. In the meantime English and German chemists were developing processes, so that by the beginning of the present century there were in use three commercial methods of producing Rayon.

In 1900 the world's production of Rayon amounted to only 1,500,000 pounds.

By 1913 the production had increased to $5,850,000 pounds per annum.

It is estimated that in 1924 the total world's production amounted to 141,000,000 pounds.

There are to-day four different methods employed in the manufacture of Rayon. Fundamentally all of these methods consist of the chemical treatment of the cellulose found in vegetable life. By such treatment the cellulose becomes semi-liquid, and the solution thus obtained is forced through tiny holes into a long continuous thread which is hardened either in a liquid chemical solution or by evaporation in the air.

The world has become greatly interested in America's advance in the manufacture of Rayon. At present the United States produces 40 per cent. of the world's supply, and with the present American methods and speed, it will not be long before we control the world output.

Rayon is an artificial silk, of like lustre, strength and value, but not dependent upon labor and political conditions, money exchange, silk-worm crop returns, etc. Rayon is manufactured from cellulose, that minute fibre cell of plant life, and so long as there is plant life in the United States, so long will Rayon be manufactured. Already it has been tried and found ideal in the manufacture of garments, and when mixed with pure silk in gowns, suits, etc., there is no difference discernible to the naked eye, and only the finest of microscopes can detect it.—Frank L. Sherrer in Forbes Magazine N.Y.

These Girls Too Bright for Automobile Flirts

A long, low, racy-looking car, in the front seat of which sat two "boy friends," idled slowly northward along Market Street, just opposite the Post Office.

The "boy friends" were scouting for Shebas. When a girl passed they would gently honk their horn and crane their puny necks around to see if she responded to their automotive lure.

Just a little south of the corner they espied two girls standing. The girls were evidently waiting for a bus. The car drew up to the curb.

"If I should die to-day my family would have plenty," you say.

If you die to-day, yes; but what about years hence? There are many men who were very well-to-do two or three years ago who are in straitened circumstances to-day. If one of these men were to die the only ready money his family would have would be the proceeds of his life insurance.

HEAD OFFICE - TORONTO
J. A. MACKENZIE, Manager for Newfoundland, ST. JOHN'S

"Lest We Forget"

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—The First Sunday in Advent this year falls on Nov. 29th, or just two weeks from Sunday next, and it is on this day that the many friends and ex-pupils of that unassuming body of men—the Irish Christian Brothers—will be given an opportunity of showing their appreciation of fifty years of a labour of love, well and faithfully done.

The Annual Collection for the Christian Brothers of Mount St. Francis will be taken up at all the Catholic Churches in the city on the above date. This year's collection should be such that every friend and ex-pupil of the Brothers will have just cause to feel proud when the results are made known.

Therefore, I would make a special appeal to the many Old Boys of St. Patrick's Hall and Holy Cross Schools, who are now residing in Canada, the United States and elsewhere outside of Newfoundland, to join with their friends and old school-mates at home in making this year's collection worthy of our dear friends and benefactors who have devoted their lives to the service of God and the education of youth.

To those at home I know it is but necessary to remind them that the Collection is drawing near, when one and all are ready and willing to respond in their usual generous way.

It was just fifty years ago this October past that the first Irish Christian Brothers set foot on the shores of our beloved Terra Nova, and what has been accomplished in that time is apparent to everybody.

I had expected to hear of some plan being formulated to commemorate the Golden Jubilee of the coming amongst us of this noble Order, and I still look for something being done in this respect.

There are many ways to greatly benefit the Brothers, and at the same time commemorate the Jubilee year. One would be the providing of a home in connection with Holy Cross Schools. This would be filling a long-felt want, as everybody is aware of the long walk across the bleak road from Mt. St. Francis to Holy Cross schools in all kinds of weather for the past thirty-five years or more. However, I hope that some abler pen than mine will have something to say on the matter.

Taking this opportunity, I wish to congratulate the Christian Brothers of Ireland on the completion of a half century of successful work in the great cause of Education amongst the youth of Newfoundland.

Hoping that I have not taken up too much of your valuable space. With sincere thanks,

I remain,
OLD BLACK CHAP.

Balfour Co. in "Fair and Warmer" To-Night

A Great Success Now To Be Played In St. John's At Casino.

Manager Balfour, of the Balfour Stock Company, has been most successful in securing the famous success "Fair and Warmer," which he is offering at the Casino to-night and for the balance of the week.

Crowded houses witnessed the opening bill "The First Year," which was highly commended on by critics and public. In "Fair and Warmer" you will see a play that is entirely different, but at the same time it is equally as good, if not better, than the previous bill. There never has been a funnier farce scene written than the one which Billy and Blanny, the central figures in "Fair and Warmer," they too with Billy's "home brew" wagon! until they see green elevator sky scrapers and heaven knows what. It lacks everything that can be made offensive in such episodes and includes every essential requisite of irreducible, wholesome comedy. The person who can sit through this scene without laughing has lost his funny-bone, and it is only one in the way that was admitted by Broadway critics to be the brightest of its kind produced in years.

Call at the Casino box-office early and book your choice seat for "Fair and Warmer." This will also be the bill for the Saturday matinee. A high class attraction with new specialties. Watch the papers for next week's plays which will be announced in the advertising columns.

The Overdue "Bullbird"

The motor ship "Bullbird," Harold Smith, master, which left Seldom Cove Bay on October 28th, and passed Penguin Island at 11 o'clock that night, has not yet been reported as reaching Spaniard's Bay. At the time the boat was seen the wind was N.N.W. and there was a heavy swell from the S.E. Capt. Furlong of the schooner Scotch Cure states that he could distinguish those on board. The boat was in good condition, under power and sail. There was a man forward on the lookout and another steering. Capt. Furlong says there was no danger of the boat that night, and the next day there was no wind to cause trouble up to 2 p.m., so that there was ample time to make harbor in Bonavista Bay before the storm came on.

Enjoyable Entertainment

T. A. ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

The card party, supper and dance held on Tuesday night by the T. A. Athletic Association, in their club rooms proved very successful. Upwards of 200 people were present, and spent a most enjoyable evening. The card party was held in the reading room and after an enjoyable series of progressive forty-five games the winners were found to be Mr. Miller and Miss L. Holihan. The prizes were for the ladies, a handsome tea set, presented by the Association, and a five dollar gold piece presented by Hon. W. J. Ellis, President of the Society. The supper followed and was done full justice to by the assemblage. The Gem Orchestra supplied the music for what proved an enjoyable dance programme, as many extras had to be given to meet the demands. The Association feels grateful to all who helped to make the entertainment, the success that it was.

Whitechapel's Extensive Taste in Sweets

EIGHT SHILLINGS A POUND WILLINGLY GIVEN.

The sweetest teeth used to be found in Glasgow. Even to-day more sweets are eaten on Sunday in Glasgow than in any town in the United Kingdom.

But Whitechapel eats the most extensive sweets.

This fact was revealed at the Exhibition of Confectioners, Bakers and Allied Trades, at the Agricultural Hall, Islington.

An official of a famous firm of chocolate makers said:

"In the West End many people are content to pay 6d. a quarter for chocolates. In Whitechapel are sold the most expensive chocolates.

"Eight shillings a pound is willingly given for good chocolates, and the sales at this price are enormous. So far as the buying of better-class sweets is concerned I should say that Whitechapel easily leads."

England generally is eating more sweets.

Licensed chocolates—that is to say, chocolates which, filled with liqueurs, may be sold only on licensed premises—are exported largely to France.

"The spirits put in these chocolates are stronger than those sold in bottles," the reporter was told.

"But they go mostly to France, where the art of making spirit-filled sweets is not apparently understood."

There is a fair demand for these chocolates in the West End, where they are sold at about 10s. 6d. per lb.

The newest chocolates are described as "nuts and wine." The wine is not alcoholic, but pleasantly suggestive of stronger fare.

The mode of the moment is fruit sticks, delicately coloured little sticks containing the juice of real fruits. There are eight varieties.

For Christmas gifts the novelty is a Christmas pudding made of chocolate, covered with white sauce.

Identified as Old Criminal

MAN SHOT IN ATTLEBORO FOUND TO BE "PADDY" COYNE.

ATTLEBORO, Oct. 31—State Detective Francis Clemmy and Police Inspector Michael Skelley of Fall River to-day positively identified the man shot while prowling about the mansion of Charles H. Fuller in So. Attleboro last night as Thomas "Paddy" Coyne, notorious second storey workman with a record of crime that dates back some 13 years.

Coyne did time for breaking and entering his native city and later was sent to State prison from Fitchburg for a break into the residence of Colonel Wallace.

He was released from jail a trifle over a year ago and has been constantly watched by the State police and Fall River officers. Evidence that the window of the sun parlor of the Fuller home had been jammed before Coyne was shot by Watchman Joseph Mason was uncovered by Inspector Edward E. Gobin of the local department.

Mason, who is a special officer of the police force and licensed to carry a revolver, was held for a hearing on a charge of manslaughter when arraigned in the district court to-day, bonds of $3,000 being furnished by his employer, G. H. Fuller.

Honduras Settles Debt to Britain

Loan Floating 50 Years Ago to be Repaid by Special Tax.

Washington, Oct. 30.—A Honduran debt floated 50 years ago in Great Britain which was originally $5,000,000 sterling but with compound interest amounts to nearly $30,000,000, was settled yesterday through an engagement signed at the British consulate.

Honduras agreed to pay a total of $2,250,000 in semi-annual instalments without interest over a period of 30 years. The money is to be provided by a three per cent. tax on all Honduran consular invoices and collected through the sale of stamps, beginning August 1, 1926, by the National City Bank of New York, as fiscal agent.

The document was signed by Ramon Alcazar Castro, Honduran Minister of Finance, and Juan R. Lopez, Honduran financial agent, for Honduras, and by Arthur Henry Williams King, who is British Consul at Tegucigalpa, Honduras, as representative

Every Fall a number of people complain about the amount of their Electric Light Bill. This occurs in all towns and cities the world over, whether the cost per kilowatt is 35 cents or 5 cents per hour. This is mainly due to additional hours of darkness and more hours spent in the home.

The cost of living has gradually increased from year to year, the cost of lighting has become less.

Think of the convenience a touch of the button and you have Light, Heat, Cold or Power.

The price of any commodity depends upon the quantity sold. If a manufacturer builds 20 automobiles he may be able to sell them for $5,000.00 each; if he increases his production to 40,000 he can sell the same car for $1,500.00. This applies to everything. Your coal bill varies from month to month, but because you do not keep a strict account of the cost of each scuttle or each month's consumption; because you do not get a monthly bill for your coal to compare with last month's cost, you do not complain.

Electricity gives you more, dollar for dollar than any commodity you purchase. The cost per Kilowatt will depend on the quantity consumed, managements and bad debts occurred, whether obtained by water power, steam or combustion engines and whether you are getting it as a by-product or directly made for your benefit.

Imperial Federation

Hon. A. S. Malcolm, M.L.C., New Zealand, in the London Nineteenth Century: The Empire is seriously handicapped by the present want of a representative authority with executive powers. The world has always found it difficult to believe that the far-flung British Empire is a unit.

When it finds that this or that Dominion has failed to follow a lead it will be sure it is not. It is not what an Empire is, but what the world believes it to be, that counts in diplomacy. If the Empire had a representative authority its prestige would be even greater than at present.

The common form of objection to any form of Imperial Federation is, "Oh, we cannot part with our autonomy." . . . A little thought and discussion would possibly convince us that our autonomy was in no way threatened by Imperial Federation. Under that we could keep all the autonomy we enjoy at present—that is, the unlimited right to manage our local affairs. Imperial Federation would increase our powers, not diminish them. For at present the Dominions have no powers in regard to foreign affairs. We are "consulted," but we have no "authority." Under Imperial Federation our representatives would be members of the body that would control foreign affairs. There would appear then to be no ground whatever for fearing any loss of our autonomy.

LAZERRER, YANKEE RECRUIT, BEATS RUTH'S MARK.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Oct. 19.—Tony Lazerra, star shortstop of the Salt Lake City Club of the Pacific Coast League, beat Babe Ruth's record of fifty-nine home-runs, made in 1921, when he hit his sixteenth home run of the season against the Sacramento club. He was sold recently to the New York Yankees. Lazerra's club played in 200 games, while the Babe's record was made in a season of 154 games.

"You gentlemen are well qualified to make that recommendation," said the judge, dryly.

"Upon the grounds of ignorance," replied the foreman.

After the verdict had been given, he offered to address the court, but the judge, interrupting him, said "Man, by your own confession you are a thief, and the jury have found you a liar. Get out!"

Another case is that in which a jury recommended the prisoner, whom they had found guilty, "to mercy."

"Upon the grounds?" inquired the judge.

"Upon the grounds of ignorance," replied the foreman.

Jury Verdict Humors

The case in London, reported in a paper by last mail, in which a coroner said he profoundly disagreed with the verdict of the jury, has recalled to a legal correspondent the trial that came before a well-known judge of a man indicted for theft, who pleaded guilty. His friends, however, having scraped together a sum sufficient for his defence, he was allowed to withdraw his plea, was tried and acquitted!

Record Trip of Oil Electric to the Coast

LONGEST NON-STOP FROM MONTREAL TO VANCOUVER IN 3 DAYS AT AVERAGE SPEED OF 45 1-2 MILES.

(Morning Chronicle)
VANCOUVER, B.C., Nov. 4.—All records for transcontinental travel were broken when the new Canadian National Railways oil electric car No. 15820 arrived in Vancouver after making the trip from Montreal in three days. The trip was not only a record breaker as far as actual schedule was concerned, but it wrote a new chapter in the railway history of the world as marking the longest non-stop run ever made by an engine, for during the 2,837 miles covered the car engine not once did stop running; there is also the actual running time, which again provides an unequalled passage in Dominion transportation annals, for eliminating detentions due to meeting trains and other delays in- sistent to modern transportation methods, which came to 300 minutes, the actual running time was slightly under 87 hours.

From the time to the last the trip demonstrated the superiority of the new oil electric car. Arranged primarily as an endurance test for the engine, not only did it prove this point but also it showed the speed possibilities of the car over long distances which previously had not been proved. At one point on the western region 22 miles were made in less than the same number of minutes and one of the steepest grades in the Rocky Mountains was climbed at an average speed of 40 miles per hour. The average speed for the entire trip was slightly under 45 1-2 miles per hour.

Marks a New Epoch.
Officials of the Canadian National Railways who accompanied the car on its transcontinental trip, expressed themselves as being thoroughly satisfied with its performance and in their opinion it is within the realms of possibility opening of an era which may be the forerunner of a new epoch in motive power as applied to steam roads.

The oil electric car is in its infancy. They point out, just as the steam locomotive was in its infancy a century ago, with its wider application and further development they believe it may develop along similar broad channels and this may bring about the passing of the steam locomotive and prove as important an adjunct to the future of industry of the old world burning engines to coal.

The new oil electric car, which made its initial trip across Canada, as a body with an over-all length of 60 feet and is set on two four-wheel trucks. It is built to carry passengers, express and baggage. It will seat 57 passengers, of which accommodation for 18 is in the baggage compartment situated at one end of the car. The engine is oil burning and operates an electric generator which provides the actual power to move the car, and the principle, although a simple one, is entirely a new departure so far as rail transportation is concerned. A car similar to this one has been in operation about a month between Hamilton and Guelph, in Ontario and has given excellent service. The new car will go into regular service in British Columbia.

Violent Storm in English Channel
PARIS, Nov. 4.—A violent gale has been raging in the English Channel and along the Atlantic Coast of France during the past forty-eight hours. Fishing boats all have been obliged to run for port. The smack Rollon was caught in the storm off Dieppe and lost three of her crew when a huge wave combed her decks. Both air and sea traffic between France and England has been suspended. Harbors are filled with shipping seeking shelter from the tempest. An unusually high tide has been experienced in the low lying quarters of Cherbourg.

Velvet is used extensively as a trim.

The Bishop of Newfoundland, Regimental Chaplain, in his sermon at the Anniversary Service this week, spoke highly of the progress and efficiency of this Company.

Grand Falls Company reports 46 on the strength for October with an average attendance of twenty-eight. All routine drills are proceeding regularly.

Capt. Len Stick, radio officer, announces that the C.L.B. Band will be on the air as soon as it can conveniently be arranged. The Band has been extremely busy lately.

The Brigade is glad to see Rev. Canon Bayly, M.A., Rector of Bonaville, in town. He speaks well of the C.L.B. Company there and expects to see forty lads on the strength very soon. Twenty-six lads were on parade last Saturday.

We have the annual report of the governing body in London by last mail. We note that they advocate the formation of ladies' auxiliary and honorary membership rolls in each company to assist in financing expenses. Newfoundland has already a most successful C.L.B. Ladies' Auxiliary and Honorary Membership roll which has helped very materially in helping finances.

At the annual dinner of the Brigade in London, the Prince of Wales proposed the toast of the C.L.B. in the following words:—"We all of us know that the most critical time in a boy's life is after he leaves the elementary school and has to seek employment. He is then on the threshold of manhood and in many cases he has to do the work of a man; but he is not old enough and has not the experience to know the many pitfalls. This is a great problem, and it is faced by the Church Lads' Brigade with full courage and success. Over a million lads have passed through its ranks since the foundation of the movement by Colonel Gee in 1891. Towards the solution of this very difficult but perpetual problem a high standard of good citizenship and good Churchmanship is set by the C.L.B. and maintained by its Officers."

The governing body in London have made special arrangements to broadcast a Bulletin of News on the second Monday in each month.

The annual Brigade Birthday Tea and Concert will be given to the lads on next Tuesday in the Synod Hall. The ladies are catering and Captain S. S. Horsley has kindly undertaken the musical programme. Everybody regrets that the C.L.B. Athletic Association decided to postpone their Boxing and Wrestling Tournament as the competitors were not ready and therefore did not enter.

To Succeed, Put Your Job First
One little incident in the career of Frederick J. Haynes, president of Dodge Brothers, the automobile company which was recently purchased by Dillon, Read & Company for $146,000,000, reveals, better than anything else, his recipe for success.

WONDER WHO'S CHAMP! HERE'S OFFICIAL DOPE.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 20—A recognized list of champions was offered to the fighting public here to-day by the annual meeting of the National Association of Boxing Commissioners. They alleged that the correct titleholders are:—
Flyweight, Fidel La Barba; bantam, Phil Rosenberg; feather, Louis (Kid) Kaplan; light, Jimmy Goodrich; welter, Micky Walker; middle, Harry Greb; and light-heavy, Paul Berlenbach. Recognition is withheld in the heavyweight class. It is said that a resident of Los Angeles, known in the movie circles as Jack Dempsey will be recognized by this august body if he ever does any fighting. The commissioners solemnly resolved that champions ought to do a little fighting—say once in six months. This lets the Dempsey person out.
The New York State Athletic Commission is not affiliated with the body mentioned above. Nevertheless, two champions, Goodrich and Kaplan, developed from New York elimination tournaments, are recognized.

$115,335 FOR UNCLE SAM IN WORLD'S SERIES.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 13—The World's series netted the Government $115,335.40 in admission taxes, the Internal Revenue Bureau announced to-day. Addition taxes will be collected from ticket brokers and from players, managers and owners in income taxes.

OF FORPY CABLES FOR TRIAL HORSE TO DO COMEBACK.

Evidently Luis Firpo is going to try himself out at home before coming here in quest of any fights and much more dough. The giant Argentinian, who came near wrecking Jack Dempsey on one occasion, sent a cable to Frank Blunk, the South American correspondent, asking Hills Frank to try to get some opponent for him who would make the trip to Buenos Aires and engage the tall person in a fist fight encounter. If Firpo gets past with the opponent picked for him by Blunk, the chances are he will rush right back here and try to get his hands on the Yankee boys once more.

Songs of the Gunners

(BY MAURICE FAGENCE)

It is characteristic of our gunners that the memorial to their dead, brilliantly executed by Mr. C. S. Jagger, the soldier-sculptor, should have a gun and not a man as its central feature. They were always self-derisive and treat themselves as the supreme joke of the campaign. The men behind the guns ever pretended that their part in the war was of no account. Most of their jokes alleged it. Their songs pictured them as men who, as one chaff had it, "would be far better off in a home."

It was the R.F.A. who sang to the tune of "The Girl I Left Behind Me":

"Oh, the R.F.A. were in the front
And the R.F.A. behind them,
But when we looked for the R.F.A.
We'd be blowed if we could find them."

The R.F.A. first sang the ditty "We are the R.F.A. who are in the front." The R.A.S.C. adopted it, but that it was primarily an artillery chorus is shown by the last lines:

"And when we get to Berlin
The Kaiser he will say:
'Och! Och! Mein Gott, what a blessed line lot
Are the British R.F.A.'"

That his 13-pounder shall had never killed anyone since the Crimea was the joke in song and prose of the Royal Horse gunner:

"We are the R.F.A.
We're all right in our way;
We often shoot, but cannot kill—
We send serviette rings to Kaiser Bill."

This refers to the fact that those small shells had fuse rings and striking bands the size of serviette rings. German prisoners found with these parts had often explained that they were polishing them for the officers' mess.

It was the artillerymen who first gave the infantryman the immortal if vulgar title "P.B.I." And who of those who were at Arras when the cavalry returned from an ineffectual attempt to break the German line will ever forget the wonderful tribute the artillerymen paid to the troopers? "Fired and broken, the man of the Scots Greys returned, leading riderless mounts that told the story of their losses. Behind them tailed other cavalry units through whose ranks gaps had literally been blown.

When they reached the town it was raining and the prospect of spending the night without shelter was the last straw in a day of misery. But there came a message that the artillerymen wanted them to use their billets for the night—the only tribute that men who had nothing in the world but their Army kits could pay them.

We must not accept the artilleryman at his own valuation. We must ask an infantryman or cavalryman to get a fair valuation. But if there is an artilleryman about, he will be sure to redden and say: "I wonder what he wants to borrow."

Oh, Listen to the Sand!

Perhaps some holiday-makers at the seaside come across patches of dry sand which produce mysterious sounds of a more or less musical nature. The experience will be faintly reminiscent of "listening-in" when one's receiving set is a little out of order.

These sounds are emitted by what are known as "Singing Sands," examples of which are met with in various parts of the world.

So far as the writer can learn, the first "Singing Sand" to be discovered in these islands was at Eligs, off the west coast of Scotland.

When once you have found a patch of this interesting type of sand, you can try quite a number of entertaining and instructive experiments with it. Your walking-stick or umbrella point drawn across it will make it "sing" in a way that will surprise you. The intensified and prolonged note that it will give will cause both wonder and delight.

Of carry some of the sand home and place it in a basin or other receptacle. Then jab it with, say, a substantial lead pencil, or thick penholder. You will produce a squeak so loud and so high-pitched as to be audible at a good distance.

When examined under a microscope, this musical sand is found to consist of grain which are clean, free from fine matter, smooth and polished, rounded and sub-angular, and all very much of the same size.

Its tunefulness is further explained by the absence on the grains of any iron oxide coating. What is more, grains which are really angular are scarce.

The grains, when made to rub against one another, set up regular vibrations which form a musical note.

She writes: "To the woman who wishes to maintain the severely smooth arrangement of the hair that is now so fashionable, staccato is the most effective aid available." (3)

Old Roman Fortress at The City of York

London—The Roman excavations committee, which has been engaged on the ramparts of the city wall at York for three weeks, has found portions of the wall of a Roman fortress which were probably unique in Europe, as no other place has revealed a wall from foot to parapet and the rampart walk of the fortress.

The wall rested on a cobblestone base in a section of a clay rampart of an earlier fortress, surmounted by a palisade, behind which was another rampart walk. The rampart of the wall above the clay bed was filled with debris, mostly masonry, believed to be part of a fortress built between the time of the fortress of Vespasian and Agricola (appointed Governor of Britain in 79 A.D.) and the wall below uncovered, which belonged to the Trojan period.

Fresh excavations are being made at a point farther inside the walls with a view to investigating the system of Roman ditches.

ATWATER KENT RADIO

Radio brings companionship...

It wasn't very exciting for her before radio came!

YOUNG PEOPLE have young lives to lead and they go away from home to lead them. Old people are alone mostly. They are left without the friends of their youth as they are without the children of their middle age.

To the everlasting credit of radio, put this down: It has brought the world to the old and solitary. It has provided new interests, new vision, a new viewpoint on life.

If it had done nothing else, if it had not provided music and education and entertainment for those who would otherwise have had to do without, this one contribution would be enough: Radio has relieved loneliness.

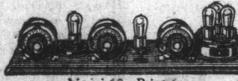

Have you a mother or a father, an aunt, an uncle, a sister, a brother, or just a friend who lives alone? Think of a radio gift for the one who is sick, of course. But think of it, too, for the one who is lonely. It is in your power this year to give more happiness than you have ever given before.

Mem-O-Rea, the Wonderful Man

BIG SHOW AT THE MAJESTIC LAST NIGHT HOLDS AUDIENCE SPELL-BOUND.

The Majestic Theatre was packed to capacity again last night and standing room was at a premium. It is very evident that MEM-O-REA is the most wonderful feature ever submitted to the public of St. John's. His readings last night astounded the large audience in the spacious Theatre until 11 p.m. Much interest is centred in this remarkable man and so far, there has been no reason to dispute any of his readings or revelations. He is really a remarkable man.

Miss Rita Johnson, the international dancer, won new fame and laurels in her dances last night, especially in her skipping rope dance, which called for repeated applause.

Last but not least, one old friend, Tom Mix and Pony, his famous horse, scored a complete knock-out in "Oh, You Tony." The audience went into raptures over his daring feats. His mad race against almost insurmountable obstacles, held the audience in a trance from beginning to finish. It might be said that this is Tom's and Tony's best picture, and should not be missed. Altogether, the show was something rarely exhibited in this city, and we have no hesitation in saying the management are every day receiving very complimentary references and tributes to their efforts to please a critical public.

Mr. Perry gave a nice lecture on the Pony Contest, and read out the names of the merchants from whom people could get Pony Votes. His speech was tense and to the point, and aroused further interest in the now famous Pony Contest. Again we ask "WHO IS GOING TO WIN THE SHELAND PONY?" Maybe it's you, so buy your goods from the merchants who will give you Pony Votes.

To-night the same show will be repeated. The skirt of one crepe frock is just three tiers of scallops. An accent is placed on the hops of many of the new frocks.

"Printing Isn't Expensive If You Pay Enough For It"

The task which business stationery has to perform is to convey a message. That is its primary purpose. But it has another. It should convey an atmosphere—a personality—which identifies the business it represents, and it should convey that atmosphere or personality so convincingly, so pleasingly, so substantially, that it makes the same kind of favourable impression that a good salesman or a fine office does.

Business stationery which fails in this particular is too expensive to use, because it is not doing the whole job. That's why printing isn't expensive if you pay enough for it.

We have lately installed an embossing machine which produces beautiful glossy or dull relief work on plain type printing that defies actual die or plate embossing in appearance.

A trial order will convince you of its excellence.

Armistice Night Celebration at Victoria Hall

Under the auspices of Royal Oak Lodge, Rev. Chas. Leach gave a very able and impressive lecture, taking for his subject "The British Empire and the men who made it." The rev. gentleman is well known among Orangemen and non Orangemen as well, and to show their appreciation a fairly good audience was in attendance. The lecture opened by a song which the lecturer thought would be fitting for the occasion. His song told of Gideon with his lamps and pictures, and with Jehorah's might won the day. It was a real treat to hear him sing, accompanied by Miss Wood at the piano.

The subject mentioned above was then dealt with, the lecturer taking the British builders and the part they played all through down to the present day. Among those with whom he dwelt chiefly were William the Conqueror, William III, Queen Victoria, Oliver Cromwell, W. E. Gladstone, who, the lecturer said, would not have any title but would rather be called G. O. M. But to-day, he said, as a rule men were anxious to be knighted or to get titles of some description for their services. Where is the British Empire, he asked, and the answer he gave was, and where is she not?

To hear Rev. Leach tell of the different happenings as he reviewed these builders, some of whom were politicians, some poets, and others clergymen, but they did their duty, and to all who do that, success is assured. Bro. Jordan Milley, G.S., moved a vote of thanks to the lecturer, which was seconded by Bro. Howell, P.M. Bro. R. J. Ivany, I.P.M., gave a brief history of Royal Oak Lodge, as this is its 62nd anniversary. All present were delighted with the progress it has made. The singing of the National Anthem brought the meeting to a close.

Inter-Club Billiards

MASONIC LEAD BY 121 POINTS.

The Inter-Club Billiard Tournament between the Masonic and B.I.S. players continued on Tuesday night and last night, and with four games played to-date, the Masonic Club have a lead of 121 points. The first game played on Tuesday was between S. Rodger (Masonic), and Gordon Halley (B.I.S.). The game was close, practically all through, but neither of the players, was in good form and the result was that it was a slow game and at times not interesting. Halley was the victor by a margin of 42 points. The breaks were:—
G. HALLEY, (B.I.S.)—400—17, 11, 61, 21, 13, 14, 14, 23, 12, 25—181.
S. RODGERS, (Masonic)—358—11, 12, 10, 10, 10, 10, 11, 12—86.

The second game between G. W. Rabbits (Masonic) and W. B. Skinner (B.I.S.) was interesting all the way, and to the great surprise of many, the former emerged victorious with a lead of 164 points. Rabbits gave a splendid exhibition while Skinner, though of colour, made several pretty shots. The breaks were:—
G. W. RABBITTS, (Masonic)—400—11, 25, 28, 11, 10, 13, 49, 29, 22, 13, 27, 11, 28, 37, 10—334.
W. B. SKINNER, (B.I.S.)—286—14, 16, 28, 23, 12, 16, 15, 12, 18—152.

Last night's game between F. Rabbits (Masonic) and W. J. O'Neill, (B.I.S.) was closely contested from beginning to end, and resulted in a win for the former by one point. The breaks were:—
F. RABBITTS, (Masonic)—400—14, 20, 37, 17, 19, 24, 15, 13, 24, 13, 12, 13, 10—245.

Red Men Brought From Clyde

TO BE DEPORTED TO PETROGRAD

Nine Russians, comprising two married men and their wives, with their five children, are awaiting deportation in a ship at the Stepler, E. end of the Regent's Canal as the result of the Home Office's determination to stamp out Communist propaganda in this country.

The Russians arrived in London from Glasgow under arrest. Later in the day it was decided that they should not be detained at a police station. This was done because the ages of the children made it undesirable that they should be kept in custody in the ordinary way. The nine persons were taken to the Regent's Canal at Stepler and there placed on board the steamship Soviet (belonging to Arcos, the Soviet trading body in London), which has been used for commercial purposes between England and Russia.

Police on Board.
The vessel is shortly leaving for Petrograd, and last night members of the Scottish police and of the Special Branch at Scotland Yard were on board to see that the order of the Home Office was complied with. The reason for the deportation order is that the senior members of the group are alleged to have been engaged in Communist propaganda work.

The older members of the party have been living in Scotland for a number of years. Special instructions have been given to the Customs officers at the ports to look out for certain classes of alien immigrants with temporary licenses to visit this country.

MINISTRY GRANTS

Grants from the Road Fund amounting to £200,000 have been made by the Ministry of Transport towards rural road schemes, and agreement has been reached with the Treasury for the expenditure next year of £250,000 in addition to the amount already devoted to this purpose.

Every authority essentially rural will be entitled to a grant, which will be made up to 50 per cent. of the money expended in the case of definite improvements, such as strengthening and reconstructing. Where the work is for temporary improvements, such as resurfacing or tar spraying, the grant will be 25 per cent.

Capture of Shanghai

FIFTH TIME IN A YEAR
SHANGHAI, Oct. 16.—To-day, unknown to most of the foreign inhabitants, Shanghai was captured by troops for the fifth time within a year.

The coup was effected by the forces of General Sun Chuanfang, Military Governor of Chekiang Province, who is an ally of General Wu Pei-fu, the powerful enemy of Marshal Chang Tso-liu, the Manchurian war lord. The Fengtien troops of Chang Tso-liu completely withdrew from the city this morning, and the Chekiang soldiers marched in this afternoon. Ten thousand of the newcomers occupied the military establishments and railway stations. Two hundred of the Fengtien troops, unable to escape, were made prisoners at one of the railway stations.

To-night the whole district is peacefully occupied by the Chekiang men.

THIS IS MY THIRD TIME OF ASKING.
That my actions at the Council Board the first time, were appreciated, over eleven hundred people testified at the last election, and now at the request of a majority of those electors, I have again decided to comply with their request, and to ask you Ladies and Gentlemen voters, for a continuation of that confidence at the coming election. Should I again be elected, I will pledge myself to help carry out to the best of my ability, any sane scheme that will tend to the making this my native town a brighter, better and cleaner city, having due regard to the cost to those who will have to pay for it.

A word in season, however. Should those contemplated improvements be carried out, I am convinced that extra taxation will have to be put on an already overtaxed people, for I am one with Mayor Cook who, a short time ago told the people that they cannot make brick without straw.

Thanking you in anticipation, yours truly,

Children's Playground Association Meeting

On Tuesday afternoon the annual meeting of the Children's Playground Association was held in the Board of Trade Rooms and was attended by about fifty citizens.

Dr. V. P. Burke presided. The minutes of the last meeting, having been read and confirmed, Secretary P. E. Outerbridge presented the Annual Report of the Association, which briefly referred to the work of the past summer, and outlined proposals for the extension of the movement. Appreciation was expressed to Sir Edgar Bowring for the Peter Pan Monument erected during the summer.

In moving the adoption of the Report Hon. W. J. Ellis warmly congratulated the Association on the work performed in the interest of the children, and spoke of its beneficial effect upon their health and general welfare. Mr. James Ayre seconded the motion and in endorsing the remarks of Mr. Ellis drew attention to the great improvement noticeable in the city streets which were no longer the city resort for children. The Report which was carried by acclamation will appear in our issue to-morrow. The financial report showed a satisfactory balance to the credit of the Association in spite of the considerable amount expended in adding to the equipment in the playgrounds and in particular to those in Bowring Park. The report having been moved by Rev. C. H. Johnson and seconded by Mr. E. Outerbridge, was carried unanimously.

The Report of Mr. Barton, the Playground's Director, which was circulated among those present, is of such particular interest that it is reproduced in this issue.

The election to replace the five retiring members of the Executive resulted as follows:—Mr. H. Outerbridge, Mrs. H. McNeil, Miss M. Kennedy, Mr. A. E. Canning and Mr. Harold Macpherson.

MR. BARTON'S REPORT

PLAYGROUND AND RECREATION ASSOCIATION OF ST. JOHN'S.

Gentlemen:

Achievement is properly measured in terms of objectives. The questions to be asked are, first, What did you set out to do? second, How much of this did you accomplish? Applying this principle to the work of the Playground Association, I take great pleasure in submitting the following report:

The general objective of the playground association as set forth in its constitution is to provide opportunities for wholesome, healthful play for all the children of St. John's, with a view to developing them physically, mentally and morally, thus helping them to become strong, active and worthy citizens. This work which was begun last year by the Rotary Club has been well carried on by the Playground Association. It is indeed gratifying to see that this work which to me is so important, is so well supported, not only financially but also morally by the leading business and professional men of the City. The keenest intellects of the city see the necessity of this sort of program. There are some men in the city who still pool-pool the idea of play for growing boys and girls. Play makes children empty headed. Put them to work that's what they need. That will keep them out of mischief. This is the attitude of some. But these are the men who are not the leaders. They do not realize that they are living mentally over a hundred years ago at a time when the majority of people believed that play was sinful. Let a boy or girl play when he is young and he will play when he is older. Horrible thought to those people, but just what we are aiming at to-day, for we know that the man who has the spirit of play, knows how to play and does play in his leisure time, is the man who is happy and contented, is the man who enjoys living and is the man who is most efficient in his work. If you crush the natural development of childhood, which includes play, you are sure to have a one-sided product—not the full, well rounded competent men and women which are the product of a natural development and which are more necessary to-day than ever before. I wish to take this opportunity therefore to tell these men how happy I am to find their continuing interest and hearty support in this work which means so much to both the present and the future. In this report, I shall briefly discuss the three essential elements of playground work in the order of their importance:

1. SUPERVISION

At the beginning of the summer six instructors were hired, four young ladies, two in each party to supervise the play and organize the games of the younger children and the girls; and two young men, one in each park to supervise the play and organize the games of the boys. The Association was particularly fortunate in the choice of instructors. They were all somewhat experienced in training children and had the kind of interest, sympathy, understanding and "pep" which is so necessary, in the leadership of young folk. Activity is the fundamental law of the playground and these instructors saw to it that every child who finishes her essay in this way: "I like the flowers best, but you are not a loud to pick them, they are just to make the park nice and beautiful. But I like it all very much; if you will go to the park every day you will be breathing fresh air all the time and your mind and brain will develop, thanks to Mr. Barton and all the kind gentlemen of this city, that help to make a playground for the children of St. John's."

2. ACTIVITIES

The activities of the playgrounds each week consisted of an all day picnic to the country (usually on Wednesday), some special event such as a pet show, doll show, etc., (usually on Friday), and on other days miscellaneous games, tournaments, football matches, athletic events (jumping, running, horizontal bar, etc.) For football, teams of various ages were organized and a schedule of games made up. Since football is not permitted in Victoria Park, these teams usually played at Buckmaster's field. In that park much enthusiasm was aroused in the game of "Rounders." Miss Snelgrove did particularly good work among the girls at Victoria Park in teaching them handwork such as making fancy beads, knitting, sewing and common mending. Each day also there was a story hour, primarily for girls, but one would always find a number of boys close by. In both parks there was a great deal of difficulty in getting the proper sand for the sand boxes, but this was finally arranged for through the courtesy of Mr. W. L. Bishop, and often I could hardly find the sand it was so literally covered with children.

3. EQUIPMENT

Three hundred dollars worth of apparatus has been purchased and will soon be erected in Victoria Park completing all that is necessary there, excepting, as soon as the Government property by the river is obtained by the Council, a wading pool and a pool for sailing boats. This will not entail a very great expenditure of money. Bannerman Park is splendidly equipped and has all that is needed at the present. Thanks to the Rotary Club and the Playground Association, St. John's has two excellent playgrounds splendidly equipped. Bannerman Park playground, in particular, being larger and more level than that at Victoria, is one of the finest that could easily be found in any city of the size of St. John's. Both the children and the adult citizens should be very proud of these playgrounds. How much the playgrounds really do for the children can be seen in two ways; first, by the large attendance and the fact that many of the same children come day after day, and second, by what the children think about the playgrounds as shown in the compositions which they wrote for one of the Playground competitions. The title used by most of the children was "Why I like the Playgrounds." The following quotations from some of their compositions show that the children really do appreciate the playgrounds, but even these do not express half as much joy and enthusiasm and appreciation as do their faces and their actions on the playgrounds.

"One little fellow, nine years old, starts his composition off by saying: "This is my story of the playground. I love it because I can come down and play football and play other games with the other boys. I love to go on the shoot-the-chute (slides) and the see saws and build houses

Newfoundland Tests Vapour Treatment For Checking Coughs and Colds

Samples of Modern Vaporising Ointment Come from U. S. A. Direct to Local Residents

In order that Newfoundland people may realize the danger of neglected colds and the ease with which they may be checked without doing the stomach, the makers of Vicks VapoRub are sending free samples and descriptive literature to representative families throughout the Island. Anyone who is inadvertently overlooked will be promptly supplied gratis upon receipt of the coupon below, properly filled out.

Treat All Colds Promptly
Common colds are not so dangerous themselves except that they "open the way" for more serious troubles such as deafness, acute bronchitis, pneumonia and even consumption.

These results of a simple cold are given merely to show the advantage of checking it at the very start—when it is simply an inflammation of the delicate lining of the air passages.

And, because these inflamed parts can be reached directly only by vapours, Vicks VapoRub, the modern vaporising ointment, supplies the quick and best treatment. It is so made that, when it is rubbed over the throat and chest as for ordinary cold troubles—

Vicks Attacks Them in Two Ways
(1) It is vaporised by the body-heat and inhaled, while you sleep, right to the inflamed air-passages and "lungs." There it attacks the cold germs directly, loosens the phlegm and eases the difficult breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks warms and stimulates the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the "tightness and pain and thus helping the inhaled vapours to break up the congestion. Most colds yield by morning to this double, direct action.

The healing, antiseptic properties of Vicks make it splendid too for surface inflammation such as burns, cuts and bruises.

The Verdict of the Public
That Newfoundland folk are quick to recognize the merits of Vicks is proved by letters such as these already received from scores of appreciative users:

"I should like to say a word of praise for Vicks Vapo-Rub. While acting as doctor on board the S.S. Viking this spring, I had many occasions to use it, as the men would often catch colds from getting overheated and allowing their clothes to dry on them. In all my experience, I have never found anything to equal Vicks for cures of all kinds."—J. Kavanaugh, S.S. Viking, South Side, St. John's.

"My youngest child had a terrible cold that turned into congestion of the lungs and I was told she had but a few hours to live. As I had already lost one of my children through the same illness, I felt extremely bad over the prospect of another loss, and determined to do all in my power to save my baby.

"I went to the store for some camphorated oil, and the druggist persuaded me to try Vicks VapoRub. I followed the directions on the jar, and after the first treatment the child breathed much easier, and in a couple of days, was completely cured."—Mrs. Stanley Duggell, Bishop's Falls.

"The reason I come to the playground is to take part in the different sports that take place there and because of the kind interest taken in me by the instructors. The Playground gives me by games more muscle and makes me stronger."

"The two parks play games against each other and the good will which they show makes the games very interesting and good fun to take part in. The games which we take part in at the Playground makes us more fit to take part in the battle of life and to gain success in the world."

For Colds on the Chest, Sore Throat, Coughs, Bronchitis and Influenza

Rub the throat and chest with Vicks at bedtime; "cover" with warm flannel. In severe cases, give the patient 3 laxative and apply hot wet towels over throat and chest to open the pores. Rub Vicks well in, spread with two thicknesses of hot flannel.

For Colds in the Head, Asthma, Catarrh of the Nose and Throat.

Melt some Vicks in a spoon or tin cup and inhale the vapour. Also apply a little up the nostrils and snuff it well back into the nasal passages. In severe cases, use Vicks as directed for chest colds to get the vapours through the night.

For Children's Colds, Spasmodic Croup, Whooping Cough.

Mothers of young children prefer Vicks because it avoids the constant use of internal medicines, so disturbing to delicate little stomachs. You simply rub it over throat and chest at bedtime, and cover with warm flannel. In case of croup, one rubbing generally suffices to avert or quickly check the attack.

For Inflammation and Congestion of the Skin, Muscles and Tissues.

For burns, scalds, hemoids or sunburn, apply Vicks as a thick dressing, covering with a light cloth. For cuts, scratches, bites or stings, cleanse with warm water, then use Vicks as an ointment. For headaches or neuralgia, rub Vicks over forehead and temples; also melt and inhale as for head colds.

the centre of the city and second, the procuring for playground purposes of a piece of waste land which should appropriately be a part of Victoria Park. In spite of the fact that a thousand dollars has been offered since the beginning of the association last year for the former, and that all evidence available shows that the council should rightly have control of the latter, the two objectives seem to be at the time of this writing no nearer accomplishment than at the beginning of the summer. So, in the light of these objectives

RECOMMENDATIONS AND PROVISIONAL BUDGET FOR THE FURTHER ACTIVITIES OF THE PLAYGROUND ASSOCIATION.

Not very much can be accomplished in the busy world of to-day without planning out things in advance. The wise man budgets his time, his income and even his energy. It is hoped that the following suggestions may serve as a tentative plan of action for the Playground Association. It will, of course, be impossible for me to plan out an exact financial

1. CURRENT EXPENSES FOR SUMMER WORK, 1924.

(a) Instructors and Directors similar to those employed this past summer$1,500.00

This will include one Director of Playgrounds, four women instructors and two or three men instructors. A school house without a teacher has not very great educational significance. Neither has a playground without one or more instructors. If you cannot afford to spend money for both equipment and instructors on a playground, by all means spend your money on the latter. This has been found to be the better investment whenever tried. One good playground instructor, or put on a plot of land without one piece of equipment on it will do more good for the children of that community than a playground fully equipped but without an instructor. Children do not learn much about honesty and good sportsmanship and fair play from swings and see-saws and slides, nor do they in fact get any very great increase in physical ability. It is through the contact with the instructors and through their games that they get these things which the playground primarily aims to foster. This should not be taken as being detrimental to swings, slides and other equipment. They are exceedingly necessary and beneficial in amusing the children and keeping them happily employed. But the two, equipment versus instructors, the latter are by far the most necessary and desirable. They are the sine qua non, the one indispensable element of successful playgrounds. And not only must we have instructors, we must have the right kind of instructors—those who understand the children, have sympathy, tact, "pep" and knowledge. This $1500.00 estimated for "personnel" is the same amount as last year.

(b) Miscellaneous equipment200.00
This includes footballs, bouncing balls, skipping ropes, stilt, story books, tea, sugar and milk which is supplied to from 50 to 150 children once each week on their picnics, and in fact every thing necessary for their games, picnics and playground activities for the summer.

(c) Prizes, Ribbons, etc.200.00
Even though the prizes given are usually very small and inexpensive, where so many are given, this expense for many of our Friday special days amounts to $30 or $50.00. The money is well spent however, for the prizes arouse much interest, and however small or inexpensive, are always useful.

Taking these two items B and C together we have an average expenditure per child per summer of considerably less than fifty cents per child. I would be very much interested in knowing of any other way in which one could so cheaply give to all the children of St. John's who care to take advantage of it, good, wholesome fun and enjoyment plus the desirable physical and moral training which the playgrounds aim to give.

(d) Miscellaneous Expenses100.00

Total for Current Expenses for Summer Work$2,000.00

The question next is that of raising the money to carry out this program. We received from the circus $1309.40, but this was gross receipts. After all expenses were deducted the net proceeds were something less than $1300.00, part of which must be used to meet some of the expenses for the past summer, so that when all bills incurred during the past year have been paid we will have a balance of about $1000 toward the above mentioned $2000.00. Thus $1000 must be raised by membership subscriptions or otherwise to meet the amount needed for running expenses next year.

2. WINTER ACTIVITIES

It more than this $1000 is raised, which I certainly think should be the case, whatever is over may well be spent in providing some form of winter activity for the children. I think that the plan which you followed last winter of opening the skating rink on certain afternoons free to the poorer children is an excellent idea and Mr. P. E. Outerbridge deserves the deepest gratitude of the Playground Association, as I know that he has already won from the children of the city, for the kind interest shown in their welfare, and the St. John's Skating Rink Co. Ltd. for their generosity in giving them the use of the rink free on certain afternoons last winter. If sufficient money can be raised the rink should certainly be used again this winter. As many of the poor children had no skates to use last winter, I am sure that it would be very much worth while to purchase a few pairs of skates which these children might use.

3. A NEW PLAYGROUND

We all know that there are still hundreds of children in the city which the playgrounds do not reach. As the distance of the children live from the playground increases, the attendance decreases. This is to be expected. The significance of this is however, that many children are not yet supplied with a playground near enough to their home for them to use. Consequently they must still play in the dirty streets and brave the dangers of motor traffic on the main roads or of dirty and unhygienic my record for the summer must be one of lamentable failure. However, I trust that the preliminary work which has been done this summer will come time in the near future fruitfully and that these two objectives will eventually be accomplished, and although the playground work has not advanced in the sense of broadening out or taking on new responsibilities, I do believe that a firmer foundation has been laid and the permanency of the work more carefully secured.

I am attaching to this report my recommendations and a provisional budget which I hope will be useful as offering some guidance for the future activities of the association.

this enterprise, and thus get his own pleasure in a way which will also give pleasure to the children for many years to come. Also since the Council was glad to co-operate in regard to placing a wading pool in Bannerman Park, which plan has since been discarded, no doubt they would also lend assistance to this swimming pool project. Moreover, if the approach were made in the right way, I feel sure that we could get volunteer labor for this kind of enterprise.

Again if no individual or group of individuals come forward to finance the building of the pool, I think that since the Rotary Club have already expressed their desire to do something as a body to help us, that we may without imposition suggest to them that they take over this matter and thus add one more star to the crown of glory which they have already won as the champions of the boys and girls of this city. The Rotary Swimming pool may well be a permanent monument to the good which they have done.

5. MEMBERSHIP

My fifth recommendation is that at the next annual meeting of the Association the officers see to it that there is a much more definite understanding among the members of the Association, that the Association is to be supported by annual subscriptions. That whatever one contributes to the Association, makes one a member for that fiscal year only. Since the annual meeting was held in October membership will extend from October of one year to October of the next.

6. CONSTITUTIONAL CHANGE

There is at least one change in the Constitution which I would recommend, namely, that part which says that the five members who shall be withdrawn from the Executive each year shall be withdrawn in alphabetical order. A more intelligent way would be to withdraw those who have shown least active interest in the work of the Association. As it happens those in the first part of the alphabet have been very actively interested in the welfare of the Association.

7. THE EXECUTIVE

My seventh and last recommendation to the Association, is to select a strong, active executive board who will have the interest and energy to get things done. The meetings of the Executive are held usually not often than once a month, and if a member is not sufficiently interested to attend these meetings, he is probably not sufficiently interested to be of much use in furthering the interests of the Playground Association. I realize that an Association of this sort can never be as solidly organized as for instance, is the Rotary Club which supported this work last year. This means that the work of our Association must be practically carried on by the officers and executive, but we also need as solid a membership basis as possible to sustain this work. The Playground Association is not simply a play thing, it is undertaking the serious and important business of offering our boys and girls proper and wholesome recreation—not only use of leisure time which shall not be bad, but use of leisure time which will result in greater health and vigor and zest for life. This is the important work that we have undertaken—the influence for good of the minds and bodies of the next generation. Any organization which can in any way show that it is even in a small way accomplishing such a program, deserves the utmost encouragement and assistance from its members. Much of our success will depend upon whether or no we select interested, energetic, efficient, executives and officers. It has been a great pleasure to work with the present executive board and officers, many of whom have done everything in their power to further the interests of Playground work.

SUMMARY

So far as I know now, I shall be at liberty to undertake the work here again next summer, if it is the pleasure of the Association that I do so. I have heartily enjoyed my work with the boys and girls. They have, and put into practice, really high ideals of good sportsmanship. There is a fine spirit of friendliness among all the children of the playgrounds rich and poor. Those of varying creeds and home conditions mix in the most democratic manner, and one boy is superior to another only because he can play better football, can climb himself on the horizontal bar more times, or because he personally excels in some other of the playground activities.

It is a very great pleasure to work with such an organization as is the Playground Association and with such eager, active, yet respectful children as those who frequent our playgrounds.

THE BLUBBERING ESQUIMAUX

Today I met an Esquimaux. His face was swelled and red and raw. It was the worst I ever saw. Grosgrain as a gargle. And when I asked him "Why so sad?" He said he had the toothache bad. So bad and mad that he, begrud, Had come a thousand miles To have the tooth pulled straight and set in a root. And then for home once more to scoot. I pitied the poor blubbering brute As he told me, between grunts, That he had been up all night before, In agony had walked the floor. And when he got home to Labrador, He'd been for months and months. I looked at him for quite a space, He saw the question in my face, "I should plain," he then exclaimed, "This cursed toothache, with its blight, Kept me awake one Arctic night. As soon as at last it came daylight 'Til suffered half a year."

A Great Attraction at the Nickel To-Day

Welcome Stranger, Is A Sparkling Picture Of Jewish Enterprise.

"Welcome Stranger," a sensational Broadway-stage success of a few years back, made into a photoplay, under the direction of James Young, and released by Producers' Distributing Corp., comes to the Nickel Theatre to-day.

The story is clean comedy of the "Potash and Perlmutter" type, with its undercurrent of humanity that draws the humorous situations into high relief.

Its leading character is a shopkeeper who, by sheer force of kindness and humanity, melts every prejudice and leaves every character with whom he comes in contact better than he found him.

The play is essentially a comedy melodrama of race prejudice, and the ironic title refers to the cold shoulder given to the Jewish shopkeeper when he comes to establish himself in a small New England town one bitter New Year's eve. How he melts this prejudice by his humility, his kindness and his generosity makes for an entertaining picture as has come to the screen in many a year.

The production was made by Beasco Productions, Inc., and adapted for the screen by James Young and William M. Zinn.

Residents Miss Vidor and Dora Davidson, the cast includes such notable names as Virginia Brown Palro, Noah Berry, Lloyd Hughes, Robert Edson, William V. Mong and Otis Harlan.

Liquor Profits

FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA IN THE PAST TWELVE MONTHS.

Victoria, B.C., Nov. 2.—Liquor sales in British Columbia for the six months' period ending September 30th last were $4,817,304, as against $4,408,919 in the previous half year, according to figures tabled in the British Columbia Legislature. Profits for the last six months were $1,151,265, as compared for the half year ending March 31st.

The figures tabled reflect a decrease in the sale of hard liquor all over the Province. This, however, is not ascribed by liquor officials as the result of the opening of beer bars—the decrease commenced before the beer sale was inaugurated.

During the five months that beer bars have been operated, hard liquor earned only 51.6 per cent. of the total sales. During the similar five months in 1924, the proportion was 64.5.
