MIMICO FORMS BOARD OF TRADE

Determined Effort Will Be Made to Boom Lake Shore Village.

At a large and enthusiastic meeting held in the Mimico Public School Hall on Wednesday evening, it was decided to immediately apply for a charter to incorporate a board of trade. The meeting was composed chiefly of the business men of the village.

It was pointed out by different speakers that with a population of about 2000 and located within a seven-mile radius of the centre of the City of Toronto, the village was not receiving its share of attention which its natural advantages warranted.

The village has many fine homes, but there has never been any concerted effort made to induce manufacturing interests to locate there, although it has all the necessary advantages as regards railway facilities, water supply, cheap power and available sites.

An energetic committee has taken the matter in hand, and as soon as the charter is granted this organization may be depended upon to take the necessary steps to further the best interests of the community.

An organization meeting will be held in the near future, of which due notice will be given.

Striking Pictures In The Sunday World

The pictures in the coming issue of the Sunday World are startling exhibits of the photographer's art and of newspaper achievement. The great feature of the eight page illustrated section is the fourteen column picture of the Arena during last Saturday's divine memorial service of the Salvation Army. The great sweep of the Arena, with its mighty assemblage of spectators of an event more impressive than anything ever taken in Canada, is depicted with a startling human eye could catch distinctly were seen by the camera in the making of a picture that approximates the importance of the event. It is the finest picture of an interior ever taken in Canada. This is the list of photographic features readers of The Sunday World will have next Sunday:

Three remarkable and exclusive photos of the Salvation Army memorial day.

The heart of Toronto from a new angle—the cluster of big business buildings makes an inspiring study.

WANT EXTENSION OF POLLING HOURS

Central Branch of British Imperial Association Will Quiz All Candidates.

At a meeting of the central branch of the British Imperial Association in Littleton Hall last evening, with President H. Carberry in the chair, the following resolutions were adopted: Resolved, that the president attend all political meetings to be held in the district, and on behalf of the association put the question of "extension of hours of polling" to the candidates. Also, that a letter be sent from the secretary to Parks Commissioner Chambers in the matter of the Park Boulevard, stating that it is now time that something definite should be done in this regard, and that the public should be kept advised of the progress of the matter; also that a letter be sent to the works committee of the Board of Street Names in the district without notification to the residents, thereby causing much confusion and delay in delivery of mail, parcels, etc.

A. P. Wines, a resident of Bloom avenue, and a member of the B. I. A., stated that a petition is being circulated among the residents for extension of the hours of polling, and that the petition has not been attended to since the York Township Council took the action three years ago.

This petition, asking that the grading be done immediately, will be presented to the council at their next meeting.

The opening of the road thru Prospect Cemetery, which matter has passed the legislature, was discussed at some length. It was decided to write the aldermen of the district, asking them to put the matter of opening the road before the city council and for a reply to be made.

Mr. Wines, a member, wished to know if the World representative was a member of the B. I. A., pointing to the fact that the other representatives of the press attending the meetings were members. Receiving a reply in the negative, he insisted that the World reporter be excluded from future meetings.

The president and members told Mr. Wines that an act of this nature would be unwise, and the incident closed.

Coon & Son, architects, of Toronto, who are now preparing working drawings and specifications, hope to be in a position to receive tenders for the work in about a week.

The library will be a two-story structure in brick, with stone dressing. The upper floor, with an area of some 2,000 superficial feet, will provide accommodation for reading rooms for children and adults, for reference and lending departments, and for book and an assembly hall with seating accommodation for about 250 people, with staff room, toilet, and heating chamber.

The building will be erected on a village property at the corner of Station road and Stanley avenue.

INSOLVENTS HAD WINNIPEG CASH

Uncertainty Exists Whether Municipality Will Lose Money by London Failure.

Canadian Press Despatch.

WINNIPEG, June 11.—There is now some speculation in civic circles as to whether Winnipeg may suffer loss thru the failure of Chaplin, Milne and Grenfell, which occurred in London on Friday last.

An issue of Winnipeg bonds 36 years ago, approximating $60,000, was made payable thru the offices of the predecessors of Chaplin, Milne and Grenfell, and has continued to be payable thru the latter firm.

As far as can be learned $7900 worth of these bonds was still unclaimed and unpaid on June 6. The company had Winnipeg City funds to make these payments. Whether the payments were made before the failure cannot be ascertained.

STUMBLED OVER UNCONSCIOUS BODY

Nightwatchman Discovers Man Inseparable From Effects of Drugs.

As the night watchman for the National Contracting Co., Charles Wyle of 212 Symington avenue, was making his way to the new sewer construction work on Avenue street, shortly after midnight yesterday morning he discovered a man in an unconscious condition lying on the ground beside the bricks and debris. He immediately notified P. C. Alloway, who with the aid of P. W. Wainwright, the apparently lifeless body to the Keele street police station. Patrol Sergeant McDonald, seeing that the man's condition was serious, summoned Dr. J. J. Thompson of Dundas street who found that he was in a paralytic condition, the effect of some opiate or hypnotic. He had the man rushed with him to the Western Hospital and after several hours' work consciousness returned.

A slip of paper in one of his pockets showed him to be William Riley, 72 Ontario street, Orango, N.Y., boarding daily on Weston road, and of a dependency, it is said, he attempted to commit suicide by swallowing a large overdose of the drug, the nature of which is not yet known. Last night the man was reported to be out of danger and is resting at the Western police station.

About 5:30 last evening, while going his rounds in the northern section of ward seven, James Halliday, a mail collector, sustained a severe injury by falling from his wagon on Weston road. Halliday had emptied one of the boxes near the Grand trunk tracks on Junction road and was ed his footing while attempting to leap into his cart. The horse started, and Halliday was thrown head over heels, and drove the injured man to Post Station D, at Keele and Dundas streets, where a man, suffering from a badly cut arm and dislocated hip, was taken in Speers' ambulance to the Western Hospital.

HARRY HICKS CO. 139 CHURCH STREET

SENATE REFORM STRONGLY URGED

South York Member Led Fight Against Continuance of Undemocratic Methods.

able to crystallize into legislation the views of the public on the great questions of the day.

An Opportune Time. "Inasmuch as both parties in this country are on record from the platform in favor of senate reform, I say that now is the psychological moment for us to keep ourselves in good standing with the people we represent. I have advocated senate reform from the platform and have heard the same from the lips of the people. I have read the platforms of both parties in this country setting out that they were in favor of senate reform, and therefore I say that this is the psychological moment for us to make good the pledges and statements that have been made by both parties in favor of senate reform."

Revision of Constitution. Speaking on the introduction of the bill, Mr. Laurier said: "We have heard from the right hon. gentlemen representing the Conservative party and the Liberal party in this country on the matter of the revision of the constitution in so far as the senate of Canada is concerned. To my mind, however, they have not expressed the views of the plain people of this country, the democratic spirit of this country, in regard to the senate. I believe that it is the opinion of the country that it is the opinion of the people to consider, as it does in a resolution, the constitution of the senate, that they should consider more than the question of the number of members. They should consider the actual constitution of the house and the manner in which the members are selected. Especially in the matter of regard to this section containing the resolution which says: 'In case of such addition being at any time made, the governor-general shall not summon any person to this senate.'"

An Undemocratic Body. "The people in this country are of opinion that the senate should not be summoned, but like the commons, should be a body responsible to the people in some way, and that its members should not be summoned to it by the governor-general and his council. In other words, the senate should be responsible to the people, their terms of office should be limited and the chamber should be more democratic and it is neither, it is not democratic and it is not responsible. These men are appointed for life; they are irresponsible and absolutely out of harmony with the democratic institutions of the country and with the British constitution generally as it is today."

Reform in Britain. "The greatest progressive move under the British constitutional rule today is the Parliament Act, which was recently passed in England. What is the object of the Parliament Act? It was to do away with undue influence, and to do away with that irresponsible body known as the house of lords. The Parliament Act took away the veto power from that irresponsible body. It has limited its power that if the house, voicing their views through the people of commons in three succeeding sessions, declare in favor of a measure, that measure becomes law, irrespective of the veto of the lords. What the mother country has done, we in this democratic country ought to do, and we do not propose to consider Canada a body which is irresponsible, which is not democratic, and which is appointed for life and appointed by whoever happens to be the governor in council for the time being."

Fight Against Privilege. "The great question in England today—and all England is ringing with the struggle there—is not so much home rule, it is not the coercion of Ulster, but the great principle whether the people shall rule or whether the voice of the people shall be strangled by an irresponsible body like the house of lords. Therefore, the people in England have this greater and wider issue even than home rule, I do not want to see any coercion of Ulster, but I do want to see the people of England win out on the principle of responsible parliamentary rule, and at the same time have it maintained. It is sometimes said that we are coercing Ulster. That is not the great issue in Great Britain. It is the maintenance of the Parliament Act, the maintenance of democratic rule, and the principle of having everybody who has any voice in the control of legislation responsible to somebody, or if they are not responsible, their acts should be incapable of being overridden by those who are not responsible to the people. They have accomplished that in England today, and the hereditary house of lords has been deprived of its veto on the public opinion of England as expressed by the house of commons."

No Word of Protest. "We in Canada, after forty-six years experience of the B. N. A. Act, are going to further aggravate this condition of affairs, and not one word of protest is being made. I have declared in this house on more than one occasion that the time has come, when there should be constitutional revision in this country in the direction of improving the B. N. A. Act, and above all, giving us the democratic responsible government. But no protest is being heard in that respect, although we have had experience in this house on different occasions when we had thought the popular will has been overridden by the senate."

Parliament Overridden. "I believe in a double chamber system if we have both chambers responsible like we are ourselves, I am inclined to believe, and I do believe, the people of Canada are in favor of abolition of the senate." Mr. Speaker: "I am afraid the hon. gentleman is traveling far afield from the resolution before the house." Mr. W. F. Maclean: "But Mr. Speaker, in the resolution before us we raise the whole question of the constitution of the senate. I quoted the words, namely, that we are maintaining the appointive system. I absolutely disagree with that, and I wish to take an illustration from current history. I may refer to a question which the senate already has dealt with contrary to the wish of the people. The question of the defence of the British Empire, and which is the great question to all of us. The British Empire of today was threatened by attack by a great empire which has an autocratic war lord in control of it, who can make war whenever he wants to. "In England we have brought about democratic rule, so that no autocratic chamber can override the popular judgment. Germany will get a similar form of government. There will be less autocratic government in Germany, less of the war lord, the common people of Germany will gain greater influence and we will have made another step in the direction of the peace of Europe. I object to the continuation in this country of an irresponsible body holding office for life, having an equality of say with the people. It is not democratic, it is not American, it is not Canadian, it is not British, it is not progressive, and the people will stop it in a very short time if there is not a change."

Would Hold Convention. Mr. Laurier: "What change would you propose?" Mr. W. F. Maclean: "I would have a constitutional convention and would meet representatives of the provinces. I would consider this question. There was a convention at Charlotte Town some years ago. We could have the same thing again and we could easily find a way. Constitutional revision is not an impossible thing. We have such confidence in the imperial parliament in submitting this address here today, that we know they will do what we ask."

Progressive Spirit in U. S. Mr. Laurier: "What would you propose to do about this?" Mr. W. F. Maclean: "I would propose a revision of the constitution on this specific point, a discussion of the revision of the constitution in the direction of abolishing what is contained in the act—the appointment of the members of the senate by the governor, the council, and the governor having power to summon the senate instead of the people of this country, as is going on in the United States."

Public Must Rule. Mr. Laurier: "Hear, hear." Mr. Maclean: "Public opinion must rule in this country. In my opinion the people of this country want to have an absolute say in the constitution of our senate. The right hon. leader of the opposition, in criticizing this last clause, said that he did not like it because it dealt with the representation of this house, and for the first time in its history this house of commons, responsible to the people of Canada, is by this clause to be committed to an irresponsible senate. We have gloried here today this idea of an irresponsible senate, and it is now proposed that we should cut our cloth by that. I do not like it and it is my determination unless I hear further from the people of this country, to oppose every increase in senate representation until that body becomes responsible to the people of this country and I believe that is what the people of this country think today."

Favors Second Chamber. "I am in favor of a second chamber if it is responsible to the people. There is great work for a senate to do in this country; there are a great number of questions they could deal with, but it is because they are not in touch with public opinion they do not do as much responsible government to the fullest extent even yet, and never will have so long as there is an irresponsible appointment for life senators on the bench. Mr. Sam Sharpe: "I desire to endorse in its entirety the remarks of the hon. member for South York. In my opinion he is expressing the sentiments of a great majority of the people of this country. Senate reform has always been a live question with the party out of office, but not so live when the party gets into power. "In 1892 senate reform was part of the Liberal platform, and I think they prepared a resolution whereby a joint committee should be appointed to consider the method by which the senate should be reformed and made responsible to public opinion. In my opinion both parties are pledged up to the hilt to reform the senate in some way or other."

Farmers' Bank Case. "As an example only a few days ago in connection with the Farmers' Bank, showing that the senate does not represent public opinion in this country. All respect to the senate, supposed to be responsible to public opinion, voted against this government from a fresh country. The government, supposed to represent public opinion in this country, brought down a measure to provide relief for the depositors of the Farmers' Bank. When the bill got to the senate these four new appointees discharged their functions in a manner not at all satisfactory to the people of this country or to the government in power. In my opinion, this country is looking for some method of senate reform rather than increasing the number of senators, which will only add to the difficulty of reforming the senate. I desire to go on record that the senate should be abolished in its entirety, or be amended so as to make it responsible to public opinion. It has demonstrated time and again that it is the bulwark of privilege and the big interests, and not a democratic institution. All democratic reforms are getting away from the predominant influence of the privileged classes. The mother of parliaments has amended the house of lords so that it cannot threaten the will of the people."

Defenders of Privilege. Mr. Clark: "How does the hon. gentleman make out that the senate is out of harmony with public opinion? On the several questions which have brought this government to its way of thinking. Mr. Sam Sharpe: "I never knew the senate responsible to public opinion. Mr. Clark: "I can give my hon. friend an example. In one instance they may have shown evidence of sanity, but in nearly every case they have shown that they are not responsible to public opinion. They have shown continually that they are the bulwark of the privileged classes. Both parties are to blame in respect to the appointments to the senate. Appointments are made simply to suit certain interests and certain sections of the country. I venture to say that 95 per cent of the men appointed to the senate couldn't be elected if they appealed to the electors for public support. This time both parties are a unit. Our own party was committed to senate reform and it is time the question was taken up. Senate reform is a live question today than it ever was before and I trust the government will seriously address itself to the question of senate reform."

Preux for Reform. Mr. Froulx, who seconded Mr. Maclean's amendment, said the senate should be an elective body. Both parties had been thinking for a long time that there should be a reform in the constitution, but nothing had been done so far. He thought that appointments to the senate should be only for about eight or ten years. There had been proposed an age limit, like the county court judgeship. He pointed out that in Australia and South Africa the senators were elective bodies. He considered that the avoidance of deadlocks could not occur in elective bodies was an excellent argument in favor of his contention. Oliver Opposed. Hon. Frank Oliver opposed the proposal to make the senate an elective chamber. He said it would be a long time yet before the last word had been heard regarding the best method of representative government. He opposed an elective senate because he considered it was not the best method of getting effective legislation. If it was to be elective, it would be far better to have only one chamber. When senators were appointed they had been absolutely independent of any outside influence. He considered this a good argument against the age limit. "The fact that it was not elective, and that the men were appointed for life gave the senate that spirit of independence which was its chief value. Not Probable, Said Premier. Premier Borden said it was not a practicable motion at the present time. It would not be wise, he said, to ask the imperial parliament to work out a change in the Canadian senate for the Canadian people. The senate constitution had been much criticized but so also has been the manner of election to the commons. The United States and Australia had an elective senate and the result had been that the senate often proved a more powerful body than the lower house. It was probable, however, he assured the house that in a few years a proposal would be placed before the house to reform the upper chamber, but for Canada the time to solve the problem was not yet reached, and in the meantime it was only proper that the western provinces should have their proper representation in the senate. Laurier Sympathetic. Sir Wilfrid Laurier while sympathetic towards the amendment of Mr. Maclean, also agreed that it was too late in the session to take up such a question. He said there was some force in the remarks made by the opposition, but that the constitution had not met with the same degree of success as other parts of the confederation. Both parties were committed to senate reform, which would be suitable to the majority either on one side or the other. It would be vain to ask the imperial parliament to be wiser than ourselves. Sir Wilfrid said it had not been the intention of the framers of the constitution that senate appointments should be made merely on party lines, so as to result in political differences between the two bodies of parliament. If it were possible to obtain a system which would prevent appointments being made entirely on party lines they would probably get what was wanted."

Favors Age Limit. Mr. Turgeon of Gloucester declared himself in favor of keeping the senate in its present form because he considered it provided the best protection possible for minorities. Asked his opinion as to the age limit Mr. Maclean said that while he had every respect for age, he objected strongly to the fact that there was no age limit to the senate. He thought that power in any case should be given to limit the age of the senators. Sir Wilfrid expressed entire acquiescence with the view of Mr. Maclean with regard to the age limit.

NEWS OF SPECIAL INTEREST TO WOMEN

TO HOLD LIABLE SUFF. SUPPORTERS

Wealthy Backers of Militants May Have to Pay for Havoc.

DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

McKenna, Answering Critics, Admitted Failure of 'Cat and Mouse' Act.

Canadian Press Despatch. LONDON, June 11.—Reginald McKenna, the home secretary, announced in the house of commons today that he hoped the government had obtained sufficient evidence to enable it to bring suit against subscribers to the funds of the militant suffragette organization.

Situation Without Precedent

Mr. McKenna pleads that the government was faced with a phenomenon absolutely without precedent. The number of women actually engaged in committing crimes connected with the militant suffragette movement is small, he said, but sympathizers are numerous. He admitted the crimes were increasing in seriousness and he recognized the growing sense of public indignation against the militant suffragettes more especially in regard to their gross rudeness to King George and Queen Mary.

In discussing the various suggestions for dealing with the militants the home secretary said he believed the "let them die" policy would not only be a greater incentive to militancy but would in due course lead to reaction in public opinion.

Laws Ineffective

Mr. McKenna showed he had an abiding faith in the "Cat and Mouse Act." He declared that many of the crimes attributed to suffragettes had been committed by women released on bail. Some of those released, he said, had abandoned militancy, others had left the country.

The home secretary appealed to the newspapers to cease reporting suffragette outrages, and thus deprive the militants of advertisement which, he maintained, was the mainspring of their existence.

Many of these women, the secretary said, are hysterical fanatics who are possessed of a courage that would risk anything. Many of them wanted to die to get in what they believe to be martyrdom. Advertisement of their acts was a thing they desired above all.

Mr. McKenna concluded by pinning his faith to the prosecution of subscribers to the militant funds, to making them pay damages and to possibly getting them on a criminal charge. "If these actions succeeded," the home secretary said, "there is no doubt that the days of militancy would be over. Whatever may be the difference of feelings regarding the 'hunger strikers,' there can be no doubt as to what the feeling is regarding the wealthy women who pay these women from $30 ($7.50) to $22 ($10) a week to commit crime. If we succeed in these actions it means the destruction of the women's political and social union, and we shall see the last of Mrs. Pankhurst."

GOOPS

Pearl G. Platt "I won't!" said Pearl Gerfalcon Platt. Can you imagine Goops like that? She said it to her mother, too! Which was a naughty thing to do. There is no uglier word than "Won't" if you should want to say it.—Don't!

Don't Be A Goop!

ELEGANT MATERIALS FOR EVENING GOWNS

Materials used for evening gowns are of unusual elegance and beauty. There are the most gorgeous chiffons, brocaded in gold and silver; also soft supple taffetas, heavily brocaded in gold, silver or a contrasting color in silk. These last named are exceedingly lovely and especially adaptable to the new quaint and picturesque models.

Some of the evening coats are shown in soft silks and satins, in wonderful color combinations. Silver cloth silks are also extensively used.

Motifs is a great success for dressy tailored and semi-tailored frocks. It features in Pekin stripes, rose and ripple. But of all the materials, taffeta has been the most popular. It comes in plain colors, stripes, plaids and shot effects, Dresden and pompadour designs, Roman and hairline stripes and checks.

The very latest in dress gowns is black taffeta embroidered in miniature Chinese landscapes.

Crepes are used to a great extent for the summer. Among the most popular are golf crepe, cotelet and Canton. Wash silks are shown in a wide and attractive range of color stripes. Among the most effective shown are coral, bronze, violet, light blue and tan. These are very cool and attractive fabrics and wash with excellent results.

Frocks used for dancing are usually fashioned of chiffon, net, crepe, soft taffetas and lace. They are being made considerably shorter, and the models are noticeable for their simplicity and the short waist corsage. Ruffles of lace and puffings of taffeta are favored, while beaded tunics are artistically draped and caught with brilliant butterfly buckles.

For sports coats and motor wraps there are many splendid materials—the fabrics this year excelling all previous seasons for delightful texture, color, combination and unique weaves.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING

Wanted—Quilt Patterns

It is good to get a request like this, and we hope that any readers of this department having these quilt patterns will send them right in. The letter asking for them comes from a great-granddaughter of a Revolutionary general, who has pieced and quilted these useful, attractive bedspreads thru a long lifetime. She writes that "After supplying all my sons and daughters with a quilt two pieces, I thought I was done, but here are a dozen grandchildren waiting on me, and my patterns are scattered from Connecticut to Mexico. I will be glad to send the pattern for the 'rose' quilt in return for any you send me."

Gentle ladies who have woven traditional and art into their lovely designs and, like "Aunt Jane of Kentucky," attached whole village histories into the bright colored blocks, will enjoy reading "A Book of Hand-Woven Coverlets," by Eliza Hall. The colored plates in this volume remind you of your mother's four-posted bed: It was spread with one of these beautiful, bright woven coverlets, and when you have read the last page and examined the last picture you will have only one question in your mind, and you will ask friends, acquaintances and even strangers, "Have you an old coverlet?" By doing as Miss Hall did and asking high and low, friend and foe, city and country broad, perhaps you will be able to secure one, or at least have the memorable experience of seeing some of these heirlooms.

The names alone of these woven coverlets are exciting and enough to make one start on a trip of exploration. There is the Running Wheel, the Pilot Wheel, the Hickory Leaf, Five Snowballs, the Pine Tree, Ladies' Delight. Ah, what's in a name? We cannot tell for sure now whether Peterburg Beauty is the name of a lovely belle or just a design. But they are artistic and the work in this sense is not art defined as something that has to do with the life of a people? "The word art should carry as common a meaning as the words life and love."

At a time when this country was new and articles of value and beauty scarce, the frontierswoman used the grace of her arms and the strength of her muscles and her boundless health in driving her shuttle and from weaving thread for her children who would cuddle beneath its finished product with that of the men folks off to the front, or out breaking new ground from which to raise more flax.

"Voices of the past. Links of a broken chain. Wings that bear back to times That never come again."

are these sturdy coverlets, wonderful for their durable qualities, their bright fadeless dyes, and greatly to be treasured by their possessor.

"The warp of these old coverlets is not from mere linen thread," says Miss Hall. "They are spun from the substance we call human life, and the colors of their weaves are the rainbow hues of woman's hopes and joys." There is more of prestige in these coverlets than in anything else; do not fold them into chests of cedar or spread them on the guest bed. Bring them out and honor them, hang them side by side with the imported tapestries over your mahogany couch. If you cannot cherish them as you should, let them pass into worthier hands that will give them loving appreciation.

ANOTHER TALK ON IMMEDIATE PRUNING

The lilacs are now almost at their ugliest period of bloom, namely, withering. Sunday's rain completed the non-beautifying process. So that our amateurs may bring out their shears.

Do not let the faded bloom remain on the trees. No matter what the variety of lilac, the withered blossom branches should be clipped off as soon as the flowers are commencing to fall. And, listen, amateurs: Do not be afraid to cut down well. It is hardly possible to injure your shrubs by clipping down. Round out your shrubs in an asymmetrical a shape as possible. The probability is that in six weeks your new shoots will be straight up and bush in a most ungraceful fashion. A second and even sometimes a third clipping down will be necessary.

Every new shoot sent up after the clipping operation should produce blossom next spring. So that the more tender young shoots you can prevent upon your shrub to produce, means just so many more blossoms next May and June.

Then pinch off hundreds of those long green branches that are reaching out from every virginian creeper.

As soon as the grape vines show the young blossoms, pinch off the end tendrils, choosing a spot not close to the fruiting blossom than two joints. Four grape bunches will be more likely to have full and perfect bunches by so doing. Often, the reason of so many imperfect bunches is that the fruiting branch has been allowed to run along to a great climbing vine, and so using up the strength that should have been conserved for the bunches of fruit.

The tea vines need especial watching just now. The multitude of young shoots and vines must be thinned out. Do the same with your honeysuckles and jasmines. Too many shoots mean just now imperfect or unsatisfactory bloom, later.

Watch the climatis for signs of that disastrous black withering that takes place in a day. It is a little early yet, 'tis true, but this is a queer season, this year. Beside some climatis vines are already in full bud. Keep pinching off the too-thick shoots from the bushes. Let, as advised before, only the thickest shoots continue to grow. Some of the first shoots to come on are already over eight feet and more in height.

Look at your large trees. Perhaps there are one or two low branches of that sim that may be sawed off. More light will be let in, and promote growth to your low-growing shrubs.

WOMEN TO BACK TEMPERANCE MEN

Toronto District W. C. T. U. Rejoices in Prominence of This Issue.

TALK OF BULING BADGES

Pledge Themselves to Prayer and Effort Till Polls Close.

After a three days' session, during which a deal of business was discussed and plans for work discussed, the 38th annual meeting of the Toronto District W. C. T. U. closed yesterday afternoon.

All the speakers emphasized that the organization sides with no political party but allies itself with those who work for temperance and, at this juncture, to "abolish the bar."

The following resolutions were brought in by the resolution committee and passed: "That the W. C. T. U. rejoice that the temperance question is the dominant issue in the provincial election, and that one party has espoused this cause. We urge that, regardless of party, creed or class, all citizens unite in the present practical movement to abolish the barroom."

We urge our white ribbon sisters to now co-operate in every possible way to secure the election to the legislature of men who are known, avowed and trustworthy supporters of our principles and policy, and we hereby pledge ourselves to earnest prayer and unremitting effort until the polls close on June 23, 1914.

Support Pledging of Candidates. A second resolution was: "That we express our deep appreciation of our young men who, independent of party, declare their votes shall only be polled for those seeking election to our Ontario Legislature who pledge themselves to 'banish the bar' policy."

Discuss Badges

A lively discussion took place on whether they should buy some thousands of badges bearing the motto "Abolish the Bar." Mrs. Hopper said, "We can only win the election by the help of the Conservatives. Keep everything that would hurt anyone's mind out of the way."

Also, "That the W. C. T. U. petition the board of control and council that they prohibit bill-board advertising, particularly the advertising of whiskey and immoral shows."

McTavish for Temperance. One of the last speakers was Mr. McTavish, the Parkdale candidate, who is out on the "Abolish the Bar, Shop and Club" platform. He said that he was out to get the temperance vote.

Mrs. Pugsley asked how the women might help, but he declined to offer any advice. He felt they knew how to assist best in any manner which he might point out.

Is it Primitive and Brutal for Boys to Wish to Enlist? By Winifred Black

I MET my friend at the club the other day. My friend was not quite herself, and she soon told me the reason why. "This war," she said "and the talk of war—it is all so hideous, so brutal, so crude: I thought we were all through with that sort of thing long ago."

"And day before yesterday my own son wanted to enlist. "I thought he was joking at first. "I couldn't believe it of him. Why, I took him to a peace congress with me when he was only 7 years old, and I never would let him drill when he was at high school."

"I couldn't bear to have him talk the gentle art of murder. "And I thought he understood—but he didn't. He didn't understand at all. He is just as primitive today as his grandfather, for instance."

"He talked about his grandfather and said he was proud of him for fighting in the civil war, and asked me why I kept his grandfather's sword on the wall. "He said he should think I would be ashamed to do such a thing—and I really feared that I was wrong: I didn't realize the power of the suggestion of it."

"Oh, he talked terribly. He said he was sick of teas and tangos and automobiles and polo. "He said he was tired of sitting in an iron case at the bank and watching old misers grin when he told them what their balance was. He said he wanted to be a man—for once—just a plain man, like some of the fellows who died for their country's flag down there in Cuba."

"His father thought it was awfully funny; he almost died laughing at the boy and his heroics. But I didn't laugh. I couldn't. After all I've done to civilize that boy. Why, he's a member of the Brotherhood of Man Society, and he wears an Audubon badge. Isn't it terrible?"

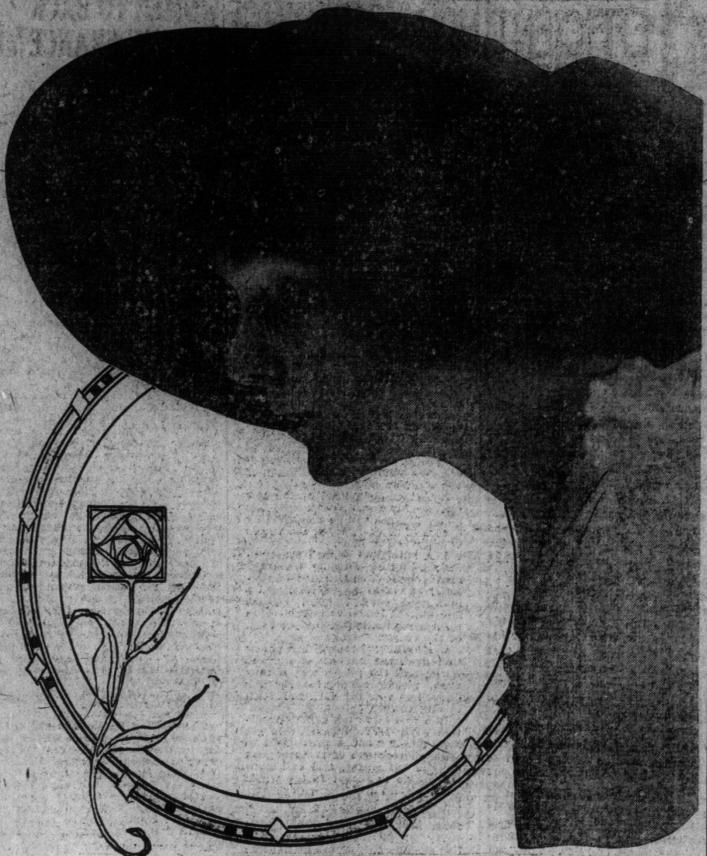

"My dear," said the woman across the table, "it's worse than terrible. There's my boy, too—such a splendid, broad-minded, free-thinking fellow as we thought he'd brought him up to be. "He's talked all the old rubbish about his country and honor and courage—my dear, it was shocking. I'm completely discouraged."

"They were all talking about it—the terrible effect of this old-fashioned war talk on the young men. It brutalized them, they thought, and it made them so "primitive" and so "unadvanced." "I thought of the boy who wanted to enlist. I happened to know him. I never thought very much of him; he seemed an effeminate sort of creature some way—always helping his mother hand around the tea, or teaching somebody's sister a new tango step. I'm going to look at that boy the next time I see him. Somehow I want to see what he really looks like, when he's not bowing or smiling or handing tea."

"The other chap—I saw him coming out of a pool room, when I was on my way home from the tea. It seems to me I'm always meeting him in the vicinity of that pool room. "I wonder what he'd make of himself if he went out and was hungry once or twice a week and cold a night or two and slept on a marsh or in an open field a few times. "He's always been petted and spoiled and sheltered. How would it be with him to be a man among men? I suppose it would brutalize him terribly."

"A Day to Remember. Of course, it is all very primitive and very brutal and very old-fashioned. All this business of soldiering, and I know I ought to be ashamed of myself for the lump that rises in my throat when I see the old flag that my father fought for snapping in the free wind of my father's country—but when I was in the home from the tea I found a telegram waiting for me and there was news in the telegram. "Bad news, for the boy I have held in the core of my heart so long that I do not see how I ever lived before he died, there had enlisted. Enlisted—he, who has been ill and ailing so long; he, whom I have tried so hard to guard from every wind that blows! And all at once his hour strikes, and he is a boy no longer. "Perhaps the boy I love would be better trying to make somebody buy a piece of land that isn't worth the selling, or learning how to beat some trusting client out of a perfectly good case in court. "Maybe it will brutalize him to keep regular hours and lift up his feet and throw back his shoulders and keep step and take orders. But, somehow, I can't feel that way about it. "The boy I love will probably never get his chance to do what he wanted to do, go out and fight for his country's flag; but he tried to do it. "And if I live to be an old, old woman, I shall never think of the day when that boy was primitive and brutal enough to enlist but my heart will sink, and I shall lift my white head and walk with something as near to a proud and martial step as I can manage! "What a shame it is to be so hopelessly old-fashioned!"

THE VALUE OF HUMOR IN LIFE

"Wit May Be Cultivated," Says Actress

Ann Murdock, in "A Pair of Sixes."

HUMOR can be cultivated. If it seems to have been left out of your make-up, don't despair. Learn how to appreciate humor even if you can't be actively and actually humorous. Some of the best judges of humor, some of the most inspiring friends of humorists are those who never do or say anything humorous, but who have a keen and discriminating idea of what constitutes humor, and are able to open the doors of opportunity to those really blessed with humor. "The dictionary gives "wit" and "merit" as synonyms for humor. It defines it as "a disposition of mind or feeling."

"It has to be puzzled out by the individual. But it is worth puzzling about, for it is the most delightful and valuable possession, and lightens and brightens life more than anything I know of except money; and it even makes up for a lack of money. "The man or woman with a genuine sense of humor will find comfort in misfortune. "It is the backbone of courage. I have always declared that all "wonderfully

Peter's Adventures in Matrimony

By LEONA DALRYMPLE

The truth about "the girl in the case" distinguishes this new series by Miss Dalrymple. Her character studies will not appear unfamiliar to the majority of readers, who will follow the fortunes of "Peter" with interest. No. 91. Menotoneous Suburbanism. WHEN MARY and I were first married we had some notion of living in the bustling little town in which mother and dad and Mary's people have lived all their lives. There was, however, a little suburban settlement springing up on the outskirts of town and there we eventually went, partly because rents were cheaper, partly because we found an idyllic little house that just suited our pre-nuptial notions of what a house should be. With the beautiful idealism of honeymoon we quite ignored the daily trolley trip into business or shopping. Now I must confess the desolate suburbanism of the place is getting on my nerves. I firmly believe this little settlement in which I live is the most suburban spot on the globe. The houses all look alike; the people all think alike; we all fuse over the trivial and unnecessary things, and I've begun to believe we all look alike, stamped with a certain suburban mark that not one of us has escaped. And we all carry bundles home. "I've begun to catalogue the number of conversations in which we mention your fur coats yet, Peter? We're having a devil of a time with ours. Had to have it cleaned out and something or other mended." "I've rigged up a dandy stunt for my fur coats," enthuses another householder, who is somewhat inventive. "It's a system of ropes and pulleys, and in the morning I merely set my alarm for a certain time, lean out of bed, push the lever and go to sleep again. The lever operates the pulleys and turns on the light. Then when I get up the house is as warm as toast." Now this sort of conversation is all very well, provided we use it in occasional wedges, but, for a daily diet it is deadly. Each morning without fail a half-dozen of us who take the same car discuss fur coats and wood, the cost of coal and various other domestic things. We seem to have certain channels woven in our brains and the sight of a neighbor starts us immediately to thinking of firewood and coal, lawns and lawnmowers, fur coats. And various other householding interests. There is one man who always makes me think of trees. He cleared his lawn of a dozen or so and took daily of a lifetime supply of firewood. Our topics vary only with the seasons. The women are no better—and, incidentally, no worse. They have sewing and card clubs and a few other busy clubs. They talk children and husbands, houses and furnaces, too. Few of them know what is going on beyond the "himits of Suburbanville." "We all are apt to drift through the world with our mental and physical eyes low to the ground and we don't all see it. There and what might be there."

Chips—By W. Est Holland

It requires a more ingenious trap to catch a mouse than to catch a man. Nothing really has an intrinsic value. An article is valuable only because someone wants it. It is usually easier for a man to deceive himself than to deceive others. The imprisoned thief and the man who was admitted agree that honesty is the best policy. It is useless to peddle your own canoe when it is stuck fast in the mud. The beauties of nature are appreciated most by the man who lives an artificial existence under artificial conditions.

Secrets of Health and Happiness

Why Bad Home Habits Cause You to Lose Hair

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSBERG

SOME men are so proficient and full of health that they can distinguish and divide a hair 'twixt the south and south-southwest of the left eyebrow. On the other hand, there are many more persons who do not realize that their bad household habits of today are the sources of falling locks, baldness and gray hairs of the morrow.

The hair of your head, like the quills of the fretful porcupine, differ from the scalp and the skin. Like rare jewels, swords and guns, they are useful and decorative, but lack red-blood nerves and lymph channels. The only difference between the beautiful, dark, curly locks of Genevieve and the thick, coarsely textured hairs of cats, swine and certain animals is that the former are soft, smooth and elastic and called tresses, while the latter are rough, stiff and thick and termed bristles.

Of the many and various origins of falling hair, gray shades and baldness already mentioned to you, too little progressive barbers to avail themselves of the sane, sanitary and prophylactic procedure thus adopted. It should not require special legislation on the part of boards, legislatures, city councils and other such bodies to force barbers to go to school and learn the most up-to-date and correct procedure in their shops. Self-preservation and the rewards of efficiency should suffice to point out to the tonsorial tradesmen exactly what is best for them. It was a wise inspiration that made the bard say: "He that hath a beard is more than a youth and he that hath no beard is less than a man." The rapid growth of the beard in certain climates and races in youth is also shown in the biblical command to "harry at Jericho until your beards be grown."

Answers to Health Questions. J. S.—My eyes do not seem to grow, although everything else seems to. Your eyes do not need to grow. If you will arrange your hair in the latest fashionable mode, you will observe the same effect as if you had larger eyes. Just as blue dresses, collars and hats make the eyes blue and gray costumes make gray eyes a deeper gray, so a proper arrangement of the face and hair will make the eyes seem larger.

E. E.—Am 30 years old and thin. What shall I do to make my face fatter? Also what shall I do for receding suns? Massage it, keep in the sun. Sleep late and retire early. Eat lots of sweet, oily, buttery, creamy, fatty foods. Your extra heavy meal at night before bedtime. Hydrates, peroxide, milk of magnesia and a dentist's care of your teeth should fix the trouble very quickly.

Useful Hints for the Housewife

By Ann Marie Lloyd

WHEN it is said of a young housekeeper that "she can't even boil potatoes" it is generally supposed that she has fallen by the supreme test of ordinary ignorance. Yet there are many more or less experienced cooks who are not able to boil potatoes with any degree of success. The most useful and honorable of all garden truck. It requires quite a bit of knowledge to boil a potato as a potato deserves boiling. To begin with, there is one absolute rule to be remembered in cooking all green vegetables. They should be washed in cold water and cooked in salted water. Salt should be added in the proportion of one teaspoonful to each quart of water. Whether the vegetable of the process of cooking or after the vegetables are partially cooked is a matter of choice. It will take half an hour to boil potatoes. It may take longer. Potatoes should never be boiled at a furious bubbling. They should be treated to continuous and gentle boiling. Old potatoes should be soaked in cold water for at least an hour after being pared before they are boiled. As soon as they are tender they should be drained thoroughly, allowed to dry by shaking them in the saucepan and setting them on the back of the range, where they are covered with a cover until serving time. Then they must be served in an open dish. Never put a cover over any potatoes when they are sent to the table. Beating is the secret of good mashed potatoes. After they are boiled, drain and shake loose in the saucepan, and then mash them with a wire masher. Add plenty of butter, a dash of pepper and salt to taste, and have the milk hot and enough of it to make the potato mixture creamy. After it is added beat lightly in the dish. Never pat or smooth it. If you want a change from the regulation mashed potatoes, try potato balls. To each pint of hot-mashed potatoes add an eighth of a teaspoonful of celery salt and some chopped parsley and form into round smooth balls and fry in a basket in deep fat, or bake in butter in the oven. Italian potatoes are delicious and add much to a dinner where there are no other vegetables. Take two cups of the hot-mashed potatoes and add a teaspoonful of onion juice, a tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley, the well-beaten yolks of four eggs, the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs, a cup of grated cheese, a dash of paprika and salt to taste, beat thoroughly, heap in a buttered baking dish and bake till light brown. Potato puff is a similar dish without the onion.

Everyday Heroes

THE bugle calls to action, and the sound of martial music thrills the soldier's heart. The tramp of feet, the roll of musketry, the living things in which he hears a part. And so he marches on at duty's call. Unheeding scarce the foe or danger near. So thrilled he with the panoply of war his heart, though craven, knoweth not a fear.

But in the common, quiet walks of life, No drum or bugle sounds the earnest call; No cheer awaits the victor if he rises, No marble keeps his memory if he falls. The plodding, grinding work from day to day To gain the needful bread by which we live, And turning slavers strong for daily toil, Doth merit better meed than what we give.

Not only on the crimson battlefield Is manly courage, manly vigor shown, To build is grander far than to destroy, And braver far to smile or pain than groan. Not many lives receive the merit due, For none can know a brother's want or care. Save as the rippling of the current, What far below in silence hideth there.

Advice to Girls

Dear Annie Laurie: I am 19 years of age, though I am younger in actual experience. I have never been much alone in the company of men, and have never allowed them to hug and kiss me. Most of the boys I know are sentimentally enough, of course, men always want to kiss any girl who isn't positively offensive. It isn't you these boys are in love with, Elizabeth, don't think so for a minute. They are in love with the little game of kissing, and that is a very dangerous game for little girls like you to play. There's so much risk in it. I can't bear even to think of it when I think of a sweet girl like you. Who are these boys, these other girls laugh about? And how well is the "well enough" that they know them? What do they know about them? Where they live, and who their fathers are, and whether they have money enough to buy an ice cream soda now and then? That isn't enough, it isn't even half enough. Keep your kisses for some one who's worthy of them, little Elizabeth. Do you remember the story of your name saint, Elizabeth of Hungary? She gave bread to the poor, and when her miser husband came and caught her with her arms full of loaves, the bread was changed by a miracle to roses. Kisses are not so easily changed, little Elizabeth, and if they do turn to roses they are apt to be roses with sharp and cruel thorns.

W HAT makes you think the girls are "nice," Elizabeth? And do you think they are wise as well as "nice"? For my part, I do not think them either nice or wise. They take a decidedly coarse point of view, and you are just like them.

Words of Wisdom

A man's reputation depends upon his show.—Boswell. Such as is thy behavior before thy children's faces, such is theirs behind thy back.—Quarles. Little Elizabeth, and if they do turn to roses they are apt to be roses with sharp and cruel thorns.

Decent is the false road to happiness; and all the joys we travel through to it, like fairy banquets, vanish when we touch them.—Aaron Hill. God overrules all malicious accidents, turns them under his laws of fate, and makes them all contribute to his purpose.—Marcus Antoninus. Miss Laurie will welcome letters of inquiry on subjects of feminine interest from young women readers of this paper and will reply to them in these columns. They should be addressed to her, care this office.

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 12. TRANSPORTATION IMPROVEMENT. Aid, Wickett's report on transportation seems to us to assume somewhat more than is warranted in concluding that Mayor Hocken's proposals are dead.

Perhaps Aid, Wickett is inclined to be pessimistic, which is said to be a defect of the over-academic. At all events he recently intimated that he hardly felt inclined to run again as alderman.

We are not inclined to take his view of the transportation situation, especially with regard to leaving the question of settling the issue of public or private ownership till 1921.

Can get it. We do not blame Mr. Gaby or Mr. Andrews for trying to put a face on an impossible case under official constraint, but the local hydro official is not merely concerned to justify official decisions, but to protect a five million dollar interest of the City of Toronto, and to go out and get built-up assets to carry on the enterprise.

SAFEGUARDS AGAINST FIRE. Another little message from the bureau of municipal research was circulated among the citizens yesterday. It showed a picture of the Woodbine Hotel fire, and bore the statement of a citizen: "We are waiting, only waiting for another fire horror."

The warning is timely. Not a thing has been done yet to remedy greivous defects in construction of various buildings in which the lives of the public are constantly at hazard.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE

Is there going to be a landslide? Some Liberals close to Mr. Rowell say that he is going to sweep the province. They base this claim, not so much upon definite reports from the specific ridings as upon a general feeling of sentiment, which they claim is apparent everywhere.

Four ways exist under present law of abolishing liquor selling in Ottawa or any municipality in Ontario. 1. The Scott Act can be invoked. This act which prohibits the sale of liquor in any municipality, is still available by a simple majority vote in any municipality.

The Orange Sentinel is not entirely satisfied with the record of the Whitney government on the bilingual school issue, but fears that Mr. Rowell is bidding for the French vote. It advises its readers to pledge the individual candidates to the only language making English the only language of communication and instruction in the public and separate schools of the province.

The News, the new evening paper in Montreal, which is independent with Conservative leanings, thus sizes up the situation in Ontario: "Sir James has his party's greatest asset. To say that his voice is the voice of Ontario is hardly an exaggeration. He has the bilingual trouble to content with. Some of his ministers have proved anything but sources of strength.

Mr. Rowell is ahead of his time, he will be remembered long after the government of the issues he has taken into this fight at the polls.

PRESENTS REPORT ON TRANSPORTATION
Ald. Wickett Makes Many Suggestions Regarding Transit Problem.

PROPOSES E TENSIONS
Purchase of Suburban Systems Within City is Also Advocated.

Ald. Wickett has presented to the transportation committee a statement he prepared on Toronto's transportation problems, and is to be sent to members, who will be asked to attend when it is discussed next meeting.

Continuing the report, "It may be pointed out that the city is not helpless regarding Yonge street, for should our negotiations be able to arrive at satisfactory terms for Yonge street, it may be divisible to start the widening of Yonge street from Lawton avenue northward and make Duplex avenue from the height of land south of York Mills to the height of land south of Mount Pleasant the highway on which civic cars could travel, and which would be a much preferable road with the proposed widening of Yonge street on the east, this would leave considerable area for the widening of Yonge street, especially in view of the fact that the Metropolitan could not offer a single street to the city.

Among matters of high value should be considered are: The question of franchise should bear the cost of the first franchise of street railway areas (now charged entirely to the civic car account), the question of building tracks on the basis of special assessments. Under the principle for construction has been enacted by the New York Public Service Commission, and again by the experts in the Lower Planning Conference recently held in this city.

Assumptions measures looking to the assumption of the whole city traffic system in 1921.

yesterday started on his round of visits to the school children of Toronto. At the Technical High School, his first stop, Jack, who has often taken a part in the practical side of engineering in the construction of railways, dams, etc., seemed to take a notion that he would like to learn something of the theoretical side of the business, and accordingly mounted the front steps, presumably with the intention of encouraging himself to state. However, he was reminded that he would soon be the property of some Toronto child and would, therefore, have no use for any further education.

The pupils of this school were very much taken with Jack, who soon made friends with them. Several of the boys were allowed the privilege of taking a ride on Jack, and in spite of the fact that they were all novices at the riding game, they had no difficulty in staying on. At dinner time, Jack was waiting outside the Elizabeth Street (Hester How) School, and the schoolboys with which he was greeted as the children quickly gathered round the El Paso Jack and timid hands were stretched out to him, but were rather quickly withdrawn. However, seeing that he did not resent their touches, very shortly for London to attend the International Social Congress.

A hundred or more visitors, divided into small parties, were being conducted by vergers about the abbey, when a sudden flash, like lightning penetrating every crevice. A sharp detonation set the women screaming and running for the doors. Some said afterwards that the report was deafening.

A great cloud of dust filled the chapel, and the first thought of those within was that lightning had struck the building.

DETROIT, June 11.—It was a typical American welcome, brimming with good cheer and well-expressed enthusiasm, which greeted the Toronto Board of Trade delegates when the special steamer Rochester docked at Detroit this afternoon. Very craft along the waterfront held down the sixth strings and sent the air with a tumult of sound. On the wharf were massed a score of automobiles decked out in flags and surrounded by chamber of commerce and civic representatives.

After being welcomed by Mayor Marx, a two-hour tour of the city and park suburbs was taken, concluding with a buffet luncheon in the com-

CHIEF OF POLICE IS TO 'CLEAN UP CITY'

Edmonton's New Head Received Brief Instructions When He Assumed Office.
George Hill, formerly chief of police at Kilmarnack, Scotland, and at one time lieutenant in charge of the department of Edinburgh, Scotland, having 700 constables and 100 plain clothes men under him, received brief instructions when he assumed office as chief of police of Edmonton. They are: "Clean up!" He will have full charge of the morality squad and the identification department and questionable characters and other undesirable will be driven out of town. Hill came to Edmonton from St. James, Manitoba, where he had charge of three large townships near the city of Winnipeg. He comes with an excellent record. Among others he wears a coronation medal, which was awarded to him by the late King Edward VII. for long and efficient service. He was at one time a barrister in the office of the crown prosecutor at Lanarkshire, Scotland.

120 FEET PER SECOND.
When the fearless Motorrome racers hit up only an 80-mile per hour pace, they are traveling 120 feet every second, and with the local saucer they are doing it on a track slanting at 40 degrees and only twenty feet wide. The six starters in the great 30-minute race, which is down as the feature of Saturday night's program, will keep up this gait all through, and the bunch are likely to cover 40 miles or more in the half hour. This means a terrible strain on both riders and tires and anything is likely to happen.

THE ROYALS IS WINNING DAY LEAFS 15, ROYALS 9; BEAVERS 2, SAINTS 0

SWATS, BOOTS AND A "BONE" THIS IS QUER GAME OF BALL

Leafs Did Some Tall Old-Hitting and Overcame a Seven Run Lead and Beat the Royals by Good Margin.

MONTREAL, June 11.—(Special)—In one of the weirdest ball games that have ever been staged in this neck of the woods, and there have been some weird ones at that, the Brantford Royals went down to defeat before Joe Kelley's Leafs in the first game of a four-play series to the tune of fifteen to nine. To say that the game was weird is to put it mildly. In fact, for a time it looked like a farce of the first water, owing to a piece of schoolboy stunts that was staged in the sixth by Pitcher Ben Couchman, aided and abetted by the poor umpiring of Umpire Miller.

The home team broke away in the lead in the first inning and led by a score of seven to nothing. The Leafs, however, were about to make good on the legend that they always could trim those Leafs. Manager Kelley started Ritter on the hill, and he was a cinch for the Royals hitters. Otto Desinger, the first man to face him, shot out a clean double that would have been good on any ball field. The Leafs, however, clean double that would have been good on any ball field. The Leafs, however, clean double that would have been good on any ball field.

SENATORS STOP CHICAGO WHITE SOX

Batting Rally Late in the Game Wins for Washington, Four to Two.

CHICAGO, June 11.—An eighth inning batting rally after two men were out to day gave Washington a 4 to 2 victory over Chicago. Wever was ordered out of the game by Umpire Evans for disputing a decision. It was reported that Manager Griffith had asked waiters on pitcher Cashion. Chicago was 2 to 0 in the eighth. The Senators won 4 to 2.

THREE IN A ROW FOR THE BRAVES

Downed Pirates in a Close Struggle — Maranville in the Limelight.

BOSTON, June 11.—Boston won its third straight game by defeating Pittsburgh today, 3 to 2. Maranville's batting and fielding featured the game. Pettie, who started pitching for Boston, weakened early and was succeeded by James Mitchell's homer into the right-field bleachers gave the Pirates one of their runs. Score:

BEAVERS PLAY SMART BALL BEHIND GLASSY PITCHING

Shut Out St. Thomas Team Two to Nothing, in One of the Best Games of the Season — Kirley Gave Saints Only Four Hits.

Playing right smart ball from the drop of the bat to the last good St. Thomas team shut out the good St. Thomas team 2 to 0 at the Island yesterday. The Beavers were pulled by the Leafs, and they put up a terrific article behind Kirley's masterful twirling. It was not a heavy hitting affair, both pitchers having good control and something on the ball. Kirley kept the Saints' four hits well scattered, only allowing a few to get up to the plate. Kirley was good in all but two sessions.

The Beavers showed some changes in their lineup from their last home appearance, and have picked up a lively looking man in Killian, who is holding down the short field job. Shultz moved into first and Burritt is back at center field. On yesterday's game, and with three weeks at home the Beavers will climb rapidly.

LOBSTER FARM FOR HALIFAX COUNTY.

(Special Correspondence.) HALIFAX, N.S., June 11.—E. N. Parker of Owl's Head, is the promoter of a lobster farm, and has secured permission from the department of marine and fisheries to make an experiment with the raising of lobsters. His plan is to put down a wire screen over half a mile from the head of the Jeddore harbor, at a place where the passage is very narrow. The wire screen will keep the lobsters in, and also keep out their enemies. Experienced fishermen with a knowledge of this special work will be placed in charge of the farm. It will, it is estimated by the promoter, cost something less than $5,000 to make the experiment, which, he believes, will prove an excellent investment.

Anglican Synod Will Send Curates to Take Charge of Work.

MANY REPORTS READ

Canon Tucker Sounds Note of Alarm Respecting Sunday School Matters.

Consideration of a gist of reports occupied the attention of the Synod of the Diocese of Toronto at their session yesterday afternoon in St. John's Parish Hall. The Toronto Rectory Endowment Committee reported the sale to the City of Toronto of land twenty feet in width, along Danforth avenue, for which they received the sum of $25,000. The glebe income account was also received, the receipts of which amounted to $57,248. Expenditures for salaries, superannuations, missions, special work, and taxes aggregated $46,867, leaving a balance of $11,887.

In the report of the diocesan mission board, a recommendation was made that curates be secured to take charge of work among the lumber camps. Archdeacon Worrell stated that in the Counties of Haliburton, and the adjacent counties, there were hundreds of lumbermen without any spiritual guidance whatever. Many of them were members of the Anglican Church and were anxiously waiting for workers to take up the work which had promise of such abundant fruit. The bishop stated that there were hundreds of men there without spiritual guidance, and that the church was directly responsible for their instruction. Work ought to be carried on among them for six or seven months of the year, he said, when activities in the lumber industry were at their height. The bishop declared that the work was very necessary and that the curates tion of it had been on his mind and heart for some time. He stated that he would be very glad to see any suggestion come before the synod which would deal with this question. It was suggested that some of the Toronto curates go to these lumber camps if only for a few weeks, to do what they could in assisting with this work.

Whereas the Church Lays

The report of the Sunday School Commission by Canon Tucker of St. Paul's Cathedral, London, declared that the Anglican was behind the other denominations in Sunday School work. "The home is ceasing to teach religion," was his emphatic and alarming statement. Out of 150 entrance pupils of London, only two knew the Golden Rule. That, he declared, gave an idea of how far religious knowledge is inculcated in the schools. Of the 150 children, only 50 knew who condemned Christ to be crucified, and of that number there were many who spelled the word "relief." The committee on moral and social reform, commended the work of Canon William Banks. In its report it deplored the large number of young children who are frequenting the moving picture shows.

ECLIPSES ALL ISSUES

Canadian Baptist Favors Prohibitive Measure in Strong Editorial.

The "abolish the bar" policy of the Liberal party in Ontario is to be the principal matter of discussion at the 40th annual meeting of the Toronto Association of Baptist Churches, to be held in Dovercourt Road Baptist Church, on June 18 and 19, according to information given by the World yesterday by a prominent Baptist. It is stated that the Baptists are pretty well united on the question and that it will be a big surprise if the Rowell policy is not endorsed practically unanimously.

In yesterday's issue of The Canadian Baptist, the following editorial on the "abolish the bar" policy appeared:

"The supreme issue in the coming provincial elections is that of the Rowell temperance policy. Other things there are, to be sure, that must share the thought of an intelligent electorate being the temperance issue eclipsed all other issues before this fair and prosperous province. And with things as they are, we do not think it should decide as to how his vote shall be cast, providing he has in his riding the opportunity to cast for a man who declares himself to be a supporter of the 'abolition of the bar policy,' etc., of Mr. Rowell.

"We are free to confess that we like the policy, not merely because it is the product of Mr. Rowell and his followers, but because we believe it to be what is sorely needed in our province, and because we have the conviction that it is practicable. With such a policy before them, the electors of this province surely cannot but go to the polls on June 29 in a serious frame of mind, without political bias ruling them, and with the determination to cast their votes in favor of a policy that is aimed at the abolition of the retail sale of liquor.

"Never before have the electors of this province had such an opportunity as is presented at this time to remove the detestable traffic in liquor as it abounds in bars and clubs; and it is not too much to hope that both Liberals and Conservatives will be in favor of prohibitive measures regarding the liquor traffic, will join forces to the extent of sending members to the legislature who will support Mr. Rowell's temperance policy."

Trustee Boland's Motion Will Be Taken Up in Two Weeks' Time.

TEACHERS FOR ENGLAND

Swimming Lessons Will Be Given Children at Public Bathing Places.

Trustee Boland started the school management committee yesterday afternoon by moving the re-engagement of Principal Embree as principal of Jarvis Street Collegiate on the yearly basis. He said that he had consistently advocated the appointment of Miss Lawler to the position, but only in case of the retirement of Principal Embree. He was strongly against the superannuation of a principal as competent as Dr. Embree, he said, as it was not a proper thing to do, and did not meet with the approval of the citizens.

Dr. Mackay, chairman of the committee, ruled that the motion required four days' notice. Trustee Boland said he would give notice so that it could be taken up at the next meeting of the committee on June 25.

Principal Embree's recommendation that six new teachers be provided for the high schools of the city was approved.

Four additional teachers were given permission to exchange with four teachers from the boys' The Sunday school for the year. They were: Miss Cameron, Miss Botsford, Miss McCaffrey and Miss Macdonald. This is in addition to Miss L. A. Wilson, who was previously granted permission.

Chief Inspector Crowley said that he approved of the exchange of teachers as an experiment. The Toronto teachers are going to be depended upon to do credit to the Toronto staff. "No cost was entailed on the Toronto board," he said, "as the teachers paid their own travelling expenses."

The request of the governing board of the preventorium that Miss E. B. Christlaw conduct a summer school during July and August for the forty-five children at that institution was accepted.

Trustee Hodgson reported that the sub-committee on a western district forest school for the boys' The Sunday school for the year to get it established would be about $900. He was authorized to proceed with the arrangements.

To Teach Swimming.

Dr. Conboy called attention to the importance of the exchange of teachers receiving instruction in swimming. He said that it was notable that the superintendent of the Empire of Ireland disaster in almost every case saved themselves by being able to swim. He moved that the board of inspectors be authorized to make arrangements for swimming lessons to be given to the public bathing places in the city for boys and girls belonging to the public schools. The motion was unanimously adopted.

BAXTER BRIDGE REPAIRED.

The first train to run over the bridge at Baxter, Ont., since it was repaired, was the C. P. R. express for Winnipeg and Vancouver, train No. 3, which left the Toronto Union Station at 5:55 p.m. yesterday. MINOR DELINQUENCIES.

W. Lindsay was fined $2 in police court yesterday afternoon for driving a wagon of dirt across the sidewalk while delivering building materials. H. Green neglected to place a red light on a load of coal opposite the corner of the picture on an inclined plane. He was also fined in this respect, and the magistrate allowed Scott to go free and fined Green $2.

 "Yes, I've known Regal for years, there's nothing tastes so good on a hot day, or as a luncheon drink. Regal sure is the 'old reliable' lager, clean tasting and always good."
 "How about a bottle now?"
 "Right."
 "No 'unpleasant bitter,' my dear."
 "Yes, I remember how nice it tasted at your place the day—that was Regal, wasn't it?"
 "Certainly. It's the only lager I ever liked, because it hasn't that thick bitter taste I used to think all lagers had. My husband likes a bottle at dinner. Sometimes I have one at lunch. There is so little alcohol and so much nourishment in it that I always keep Regal in the house. I wonder you don't use it."
 "I believe I will."

NEW CHURCH STREET BUILDING

Among the several new buildings recently erected on Church street is the Stevenson building on the southwest corner of Lombard street. This building, which is on leasehold land, secured from the Synod of Toronto by H. M. Stevenson, has 87 feet fronting on Church street and 33 on Lombard street. It is of mill construction, built for light manufacturing purposes.

Up to recently real estate men have not looked with great favor on Church street, and in the mind of many, the development of this thoroughfare was not of the near future. In the last year quite a number of fine structures have been built on Church street, while only yesterday a permit was issued to Cluff Bros. for a building to cost $50,000, to be erected on the corner of Adelaide street.

MOTORMAN'S "HUNCH" SAVED CHILD'S LIFE

Because a little rubber ball bounced from the sidewalk on Harbor street right in front of his car while it was traveling at a fair speed yesterday afternoon, Motorman T. A. Smith (1142) jammed on his emergency brakes and brought the car to a stop within a few feet. When Smith saw the ball bouncing, he quickly reasoned some hare-brained youngster was going to follow it at the risk of his life. He reasoned rightly, for a lad of about four years jumped thru the line of cars in front of the oncoming car, which, thanks to the motorman's presence of mind, stopped within a foot of the child, who had fallen headlong on the car tracks.
