The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Stauffer Library
Queen's University

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Stauffer Library
Queen's University

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

FOREWORD

THE learned gentlemen of the Greenwich, Washington, and Lick Observatories, who have been sitting up nights during the past year calculating the eclipses and figuring out the gyrations of the moon, which are announced as exclusive information in this Almanack, inform us at the last moment that the Astronomers' Union has suspended them for working over time and inflicted the further inhuman punishment of refusing to allow their names to be mentioned in connection with this volume, which is so well calculated to stand as the monument to their life work.

Our regret occasioned by this unforeseen misfortune is only excelled by the pleasure we experience in informing the world that no such embarrassment confronts us regarding an acknowledgment of the services rendered by Wallace Goldsmith, who has made the pictures, and by Nixon Waterman, George Barr McCutcheon, W. D. Nesbit, Arthur E. Parke, Virginia Van de Water, and their confreres, whose work has made it possible for all of us to start the year with the assurance of knowing everything that is going to happen, and just what to do when it does happen; to say nothing of a lot of gratuitous inside information that a stingy person can save up to use some other year.

THE PLANET MARS

MARS, our next-door neighbor on the left, is one of the most interesting members of our planetary community.

Astronomers are not agreed as to why he hangs out a red flag. Some insist that it means smallpox, others auction sale, and still others anarchism.

Some of our astronomers profess to see great canals extending across portions of the surface of Mars. There's where we get the better of the Martians, for it will be some time before their astronomers will be able to see the canal extending across our Isthmus. At present it is distinguishable only as a long line of politics extending from Washington to Panama. At the present time there seems to be more backing and filling going on than there is excavating. Whether it is built with or without locks, everyone hopes it will be on the level.

Although the Martians have two moons they enjoy no special advantage over the convivial residents of our own planet, who are frequently enabled to see our own moon double.

HOW TO GET AN ARTICLE IN A NEWSPAPER

"WRITER" has requested the Compiler of the Almanac to inform her of the easiest way to get an article in a newspaper.

We offer the following rules which we trust will prove of value:

Take the newspaper and, opening it, lay it on the floor. Smooth out the creases with the hand. Having selected the article place it in the center of the paper and carefully turn the edges over, folding them so as to make a neat package. Now, with a strong cord, take a turn about the parcel lengthwise; then one crosswise. Knot securely with a square, round, oval, or conical knot and the task is completed.

These directions, of course, apply only to small articles, such as curry-combs, sandwiches, shoes, and nursing bottles. You cannot get large articles like lawn mowers, baby carriages, and beer kegs in a newspaper.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER'S HOROSCOPE

JOHN DAVIDSON ROCKEFELLER was born in 1839, under the sign of Cancer, the crab. The second house of the zodiac — the house of money — was in the ascendancy. Jupiter was at his brightest, devising a new cinch on commercial possibilities, the moon was casting its eye over the earth, trying to pick out a good site for an oil well, Neptune was planning a more systematic game of freeze-out, and Venus, in rubber boots and a rain-coat, was looking about for a good place to start a Baptist Sunday school. One born under these astral influences is sure to get along well. In fact, the subject of this horoscope has gotten a great many long wells. Whether or not the money is all right depends largely on how it is being disposed of. Those who are getting it say 'tis all right, those who are not, say 'ain't. Crab men are liberal to a fault, provided the fault is their own, and having a keen eye for business are always ready to give one dollar for two, provided they cannot get it for fifty cents. They know perfectly well that later on they will have the fifty cents also. The subject of these lines has breasted a great many financial breakers, but in every instance he has been able to pour oil on the troubled waters, until now he is recognized everywhere as being, in the great game of life, the high card — big keroseno!

HOW A BOY CAN MAKE A TOY TELEPHONE

FIRST, procure some wire. Seek poles on which many wires are strung. Climb one of these and secure a sufficient number of lengths to construct the line, taking care, of course, to leave one strand intact that the business of the company owning same may not be interrupted.

Remove the stem from a champagne glass, and bore a half-inch hole through the bottom. Into this solder a diaphragm, made by hammering a copper cent to the thickness of paper. In the bottom of a small drawer taken from your mama's sewing machine, make a hole that will hold the glass snugly. Solder the end of the wire to this diaphragm and nail the drawer securely to the wall.

Great care must be exercised to see that all exposed portions of the wire are properly insulated, which may be accomplished by wrapping with strips cut from your papa's rubber boots or your mama's hot water bottle.

Your telephone must now be charged with electricity. Attach a piece of wire to the nearest trolley line and connect with your instruments. This kind is a good strong electricity, and has the additional advantage of being inexpensive. If upon trial it proves to be too strong, dilute.

HETTY GREEN'S HORROR- SCOPE

HETTY HOWLAND ROBINSON GREEN was born in 1835, in the sign Scorpio. At the moment of her arrival, the twelfth house of the zodiac—the house of enemies—must have been in the ascendancy. At the time of her advent into the world, Saturn was trying to dispose of his rings to a pawnbroker, for the reason that he considered jewelry a needless, sinful extravagance, and, furthermore, he much preferred to have the money to put into real estate mortgages. At the same moment, Venus was engaged in turning a last year's cotton skirt, so as to make it look almost as good as new, and was planning on how, by adding eight cents' worth of ribbon to a two-year-old straw hat, she could make it look plenty good enough to be worn by a poor widow lady with only a hundred million dollars to her name. As a rule, Scorpio people are pretty well-to-do, and they also know how, pretty well, to do others. By rising early, they are enabled to read the morning paper in time to take it down to the corner and sell it to some one for more than it originally costs them. They begin to save young, and by the time they are pretty well on in life are sure to be pretty well off.

POTTERY MAKING FOR CHILDREN

FIRST a potter's wheel is necessary. The piano stool will answer all requirements, after the threads have been removed from the pinion with your mama's manicure file.

Next, procure some clay. China is nothing but clay from which the moisture has been extracted by baking. To return it to its moist state and render it plastic, water must be added. Collect all the plates, vases, and other porcelain trifles about the house, place in a large pillow slip and pound on the piano or wall until they are broken fine. Add water. Let stand until the whole is about the consistency of a tapioca pudding.

Put a lump of clay on the piano stool. You will now need two assistants. Almost any mother on the block will lend you a couple for a few hours each day. Take the cord from your papa's bathrobe, and with it take one turn around the pinion of the stool. Give an end to each helper and make them pull in turn and cause the seat of the stool to revolve, and as it revolves fashion the article desired with the fingers.

This must now be colored and glazed. Colors may be made by cutting a square from the parlor carpet, raveling out the threads, and boiling them until the dye is extracted.

To glaze place in the gas oven and bake for seventy-two hours, basting every twenty minutes with melted butter. Cool in the refrigerator.

LATEST LUNAR LESSON

THE Moon is 238,800 miles from the earth, and, everything considered, it is probably just as well for us that it is no nearer.

It is frequently seen out very late at night, and it is known to get full once a month. This has led every one to infer that there is a man in the moon. He is easily phased, and his change is all in quarters.

The Moon is believed to exert a great influence over the tide; also over the untied. Persons who are perfectly circumspect in the daylight will make love in the moonlight, although they have no logical or legal right to do so.

All matrimonial contracts made by moonlight should be deemed null and void. Most of them are. If all promises made the night before were to be deferred till the morning after, the number of breach-of-promise cases in court would be reduced nearly one hundred per cent.

Uranus has four moons, Jupiter five, and Saturn eight. If they all exert the same sort of influence our moon does, we see how thankful our Watch and Ward Society should be that it has but one lone, little satellite to contend with.

WHEN prudish spinsters are among the guests present the leg of a fowl should always be served with plenty of dressing.

Horseradish should always be served hot.

It is permissible for potatoes to come to the table in their smoking-jackets.

Persons desiring to provide a neat French dinner, will find mule steaks with a curry of horseradish and a pony of wine, served a la carte, a good stable menu.

Bald-headed guests deem it a compliment when the dinner bill is made to include an ample supply of hare.

Guest arriving late should be served with ketchup.

In planning a dinner the particular taste of each guest should be kept in mind. Policemen are fond of beats, while electricians prefer currents.

When an invited guest proverbially arrives so late that the dinner is cold, the hostess should make it hot for him.

Guests with pugilistic tendencies are likely to take kindly to pound cake with punch and claret on the side.

EXPERT GARDENING

CITY residents who do not care to keep a cow or to patronize irresponsible milkmen will find it to their advantage to grow a small patch of milkweed somewhere in the back yard. The weeds will not only supply all the milk needed by a small family, but the blossoms will attract a great many butterflies from which fresh butter can be obtained as desired.

A fine quality of dried apples can be obtained by planting the apples where no moisture can get at them, in a perfectly dry sandy soil mixed with an equal portion kiln-dried sawdust, to be reinforced with a heavy dressing of blotting-paper whenever the apples show signs of swelling. It was of apples grown in this manner that the old-fashioned boarding-house pies were made in those good days when every one was too well bred, too polite, and too thoughtful to ask for the second piece.

APRIL

Where there's a will there's a way, but it's not always our way.

VENUS UP-TO-DATE

VENUS is our nearest planetary neighbor. It is quite probable that Venus is not as bad as her reputation.

The ancients called her the planet of love, and got everybody to thinking that she was responsible for all the spoony couples seen in parks and elsewhere, who forget that an envious, argus-eyed public is about them, and go right on with their love-making as though they were in the back parlor with the shades drawn.

Venus has no moon, which is offered by some as another indication that she is in the love-making business and prefers to sit in the gloaming and rely upon the bright young man with whom she is holding hands for such illumination as she thinks best suited to the occasion.

Since Venus is never seen but for a short time after sunset and before sunup, it is presumed that her motto is "Early to bed and early to rise." This is a very good rule, and if more of the dwellers on this mundane sphere would follow it the world would be better off.

It is sad to think when night comes on that there are so many homeless men; and, sadder still, to know that many more men are home less than they ought to be.

Envy is the mother of disapproval.

CHAUNCEY DEPEW'S HORO- SCOPE

CHAUNCEY MITCHELL DEPEW was born April 23, 1834, under the sign of Taurus, the bull. It is probable that he made his first before-dinner remarks just as the tenth house of the zodiac was wheeling into power — the house of dignities, business, honor, fame, etc. Jupiter was well up in front perusing Joe Miller's joke book, while Venus was before her looking-glass trying to learn how to look pleasant. Uranus was pondering over a booklet advocating the advisability of taking up life insurance advice at twenty thousand a year as a good side line to carry along with an eight thousand a year congressional job.

Persons born under the Taurus signs are quite incapable of carrying on a dialogue, but are strong on monologues. They take much more delight in talking at people than with them.

Taurus rules the neck, and the heads of those born under this sign are not easily turned. They are open to conviction but are determined not to be convicted. When caught with the goods in their possession they do not deem it necessary to "give up," but in a few jocular remarks pleasantly convince the court that it was all a joke.

The subject of these lines is a happy illustration of the truth that the man born under the sign of Taurus, the bull, is pretty likely to be esteemed as "a bully good fellow."

JIU JITSU LESSONS FOR YOUTHS

BY observing the following six rules any boy of twelve can easily protect himself from the attacks of a full-grown man:

I. As your opponent makes for you, step quickly under his arm, and, stooping, grasp his left ankle with both hands, fingers interlocked. Rise smartly, and with a circular motion throw him over your right shoulder.

II. Enraged, your adversary will reach for you with his right hand. Step lightly aside, and, as his arm passes you, strike it sharply with your fist. This will break his wrist.

III. Your antagonist will now reach for you with his left hand. Take two rapid steps backward and kick his open palm, at the base of the thumb, upwards. This will dislocate his shoulder and cause a compound fracture of his left floating rib.

IV. Your mortified foe will attempt to kick you. Catch his foot in your left hand and twist his leg off at the knee.

V. Your enemy will make an effort to kick you with his other foot. Step quickly behind him and butt him in the small of the back with your head. Properly administered, this blow should break and dislocate every vertebra in his spinal column.

VI. The last attempt your adversary will make will be to bite you. As he opens his mouth place your open left hand on his forehead, and, thrusting your right down his throat, take a good hold, and with a long, strong pull, turn him inside out. This trick is somewhat dangerous and should only be tried by an expert, as otherwise your opponent may be painfully injured.

MORE EXPERT GARDENING

IN these times of costly living, when the trusts are marking up the prices of goods of all kinds, it behooves the heads of families to save a dollar wherever it can be done. In some corner of every well-regulated home there should be a rubber plant which can be made not only ornamental but very useful as well. If properly managed and fertilized, a good thrifty rubber plant ought to supply a moderate-sized family with all the rubbers and rubber boots required. Home-grown, hand-picked rubbers are much finer and better than the store variety, as many of the latter are not all they are cracked up to be.

Since baked beans are thought by many to be better flavored and more appetizing than any other kind, it seems strange that gardeners will still go on growing the raw, unpalatable variety. To insure a crop of baked beans of the finest quality, great care must be used in selecting the seed to be planted. Unless the seed is baked just right the product is almost sure to be disappointing. A piece of crisp, fat pork in each hill of beans will give the crop, when harvested and ready for serving, that rich, old-home flavor so seldom detected in beans supplied in restaurants where men eat with their hats on. A little pepper and salt sprinkled over the growing crop will tend to make it mature in due season. Never put sugar on beans.

IN THE GARDEN AGAIN

SINCE Professor Burbank has made such wonderful advances in the science of grafting and cross-fertilizing of plants and flowers no garden can be considered complete without it contains a few settings of the old-fashioned pie-plant (Rheum Rhaponticum). Heretofore the popularity of this plant has been much restricted because of the fact that it would produce only rhubarb pies, but now, by skilful root-grafting and cross-flowering a great variety of pies can be harvested from the same pie-plant. Nothing could be more delightful than to see a plant with its mince, custard, rhubarb, and other varieties of pies nodding in the gentle breeze and making the whole neighborhood sweet with the blended fragrances. Amateurs should bear in mind that a pie-plant does not come into full bearing till the second year. The most that can be expected from it the first year is a moderate crop of fair-sized, edible tarts.

TO RAISE ASPARAGUS ON TOAST

IT is pretty generally agreed that the greatest triumph yet achieved by the nature scientists is the discovery of how to grow asparagus on toast. This universally admired article of food has heretofore called for so much work, care, and expense in its preparation that many even well-to-do people have felt compelled to do without it.

It certainly was a most clever inspiration that led the nature experts to graft a stalk of the West Indian breadfruit plant on the root of the common garden asparagus and to cross-fertilize the product with the pollen of the giant red pepper (Terribli Hoticus).

The result is a wonderful flower of almost marvelous form and flavor.

Its stamen and pistils are the large, tender tips of asparagus, the corolla a round disc of the breadfruit, while the calyx just beneath is composed of the leaves of the pepper plant, the extreme heat of which, by the time the product is ready to serve, has cooked the asparagus to just the right degree of tenderness while it has toasted the breadfruit disc to a nice brown crisp.

The thrifty housewife who keeps a few of these plants growing in her garden need not shudder at the sudden arrival of unexpected guests, for she is always prepared, at a moment's notice, to pick for them a dainty feast warranted to delight the palate of the most fastidious epicure.

SIRIUS

ABOUT now beware of the "dog-star" Sirius. The Romans looked upon him as being of evil omen and although he is said to be one hundred and twenty-three billion of miles from the earth, they blamed him for making it hot for them during the so-called "dog-days."

If Sirius isn't a full-blooded skye-terrier he is at least a sky terror.

Barring ice-men and the proprietors of seaside resorts there is no one who cares to speak a good word for Sirius.

During the reign of Sirius, the churches are empty; the police courts crowded. The preachers are out of town on hay-fever picnics while the devil is doing a big business at the old stand.

So far as is known this dog-star, Sirius, is in no wise related to "the pointers" who are kennelled in the big dipper constellation. They appear to belong to a perfectly harmless breed.

But while Sirius is the brightest star in the whole celestial bench show he is not all powerful, as is proved by the fact that even during his "dog days" the cats continue, as usual, to own the nights.

Somebody ought to tell the dog-catcher to look after Sirius. He is a menace to the public peace and welfare.

THE WILD OATS CROP

UNLESS the Wild Oats crop is watched with great care, the harvest, though sufficiently large, is likely to be disappointing.

If too much rye becomes mixed with the oats the result is pretty sure to be disastrous.

To grow a little sage along with the wild oats crop is strongly recommended by those who have had experience.

The premature threshing of wild oats sometimes prevents the crop from maturing as fully as it otherwise would.

The plumber's favorite crop is leeks. This crop matures best in freezing weather, and can be harvested at a time when there is nothing else doing.

EGG HINTS

THE difference between a hard-shelled egg and a hard-shelled Baptist is largely a matter of the temperature of water needed to bring out their best points.

A hard-shelled egg is done three minutes after it enters boiling water.

A hard-shelled Baptist has been known, by means of cold water, to be done in less than three minutes, by another H. S. B.

The warmest-hearted hen cannot lay a boiled egg, and John D. Rockefeller cannot allay suspicion by laying any number of golden eggs in the missionary box.

You can fool a hen into thinking a china doorknob is her progeny. You can't fool John D. with anything. Yet he, too, is a lay member.

LOOK FOR COLD WEATHER

We think of Moore's lines in a paraphrased way:

"You may air, you may fumigate furs if you will,

But the scent of the moth-balls will hang round them still."

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

THE Zodiac contains twelve signs, one of which is given to each month in the year. These signs were designed by the ancients for the use of astrologers who employ them in fortune-telling. With a set of these signs an astrologer in a stuffy little room, third floor, rear, who has been living on hope and a few crackers since last Friday, will tell you how to give your enemies the bitter "ha-ha," win the love of the one you wish to marry, and secure a large, easy fortune while you wait, and all for a paltry twenty-five cents. Thus we see how very honest is the poor astrologer who refuses to take advantage of the valuable tips intended for others.

The sign allotted to January is Aquarius, the water-bearer or water-man, in whom we recognize the prototype of our present day New Year's reformer on the water-wagon. Aquarius, though a good sign, is one that is likely to fail in dry weather. It teaches us, however, that right after the holidays, with our money all gone and no barbecue or a free-for-all picnic in sight, is the very best time to turn over a new, dry leaf.

The sign for February is Pisces, the fishes. The disciples of Isaak Walton maintain that this sign signifies that it will soon be time to go fishing, and that it is none too early to begin to test and to sample the various kinds of bait. The reeling in can be done later.

THE sign for March is Aries, the ram, which signifies that the weather is likely to be more or less rambunctious during the month.

The sign for April is Taurus, the bull. Taurus is said by some to be angry at Mars, who waves a red light at him every clear night. Although Taurus is not a member of the Beef Trust, his position among the stars tends to keep meat high.

The sign for May is Gemini, the twins. This explains why a father when told it is doublets always says "Oh, Gemini!" or something to that effect. These heavenly twins are said to be constantly contending with each other to determine which shall be the ruler in that part of the zodiac, one wishing fair weather and the other stormy. This is why May promises to be the best, and usually turns out to be about the worst month of all.

The sign for June is Cancer, the crab. The crab is a shell-fish; most all shell and very little fish. It would almost seem as if restauraners who sell it for food could be indicted for working the shell game.

The sign for July is Leo, the Lion. This sign, which was made before the War of the Revolution had been fought, should be revised and corrected, and the great American eagle given the place now occupied by the British lion. For the United States and its dis-united colonies to put up any longer with an old-fashioned, back-number zodiac in which our eagle has no part is to invite the contempt of the whole civilized and uncivilized world.

SIGNS OF THE ZODIAC

(Concluded)

THE sign for August is Virgo, the virgin. Miss Virgo moves in our very highest circles, and is recognized as a social star by those who know her best.

The sign for September is Libra, the scales. This sign signifies that while the other months when weighed in the balance are found wanting, September is on the level.

The sign for October is Scorpio, the scorpion, which does not fit the beautiful month any better than Lillian Russell's tights would fit Sarah Bernhardt. It is explained, however, that on the first Hallowe'en after the signs of the zodiac had been put up some wicked boys shifted them all about and hung the scorpion sign on October where it still wrongfully remains.

The sign for November is Sagittarius, the archer, who, on meeting an Indian chief asked, "Why wear a blanket on your head?" When the chief answered, "To keep my wig-wa'm." Sagittarius seized the chief's bow and arrow, shot him in his tracks, and secured from him the Indian Summer, which is the only good thing the red race has given us.

The sign for December is Capricornus, the goat. It signifies that a blizzard is likely to butt in at any moment. In Switzerland goat's milk is used for making butter. Any one who is fond of a good strong country butter should keep a capricornus.

CHRISTMAS SUGGESTIONS

Gifts a Young Lady might Purchase

FOR PAPA

SLIPPERS are sure to be appreciated. Some evening when papa's mind is so absorbed in his business that he will not notice what you are doing, get him to put his foot on a piece of paper and mark an outline of it. Purchase a hide of sole leather from your cobbler, and cut out two soles the size of the draft thus made. By cutting apart a pair of your papa's shoes you can secure a good working pattern for the uppers, which should be made from Turkey Red Denim. Embroider tasteful designs in yellow and orange floss, and tack tightly to the soles with double-pointed carpet tacks. Cigars, too, are suitable gifts. Select a box the colors of which harmonize with the slippers.

FOR MAMA

A manicure set, toilet powder, perfume, rouge, vanity bag, caramels, or golf clubs.

FOR BROTHER

A set of Novels by the Duchess, Ouida, or Bertha M. Clay.

FOR YOUNG SISTER

NEW YEAR SUGGESTIONS

More Girlish Gifts

FOR THE GENTLEMAN FRIEND

NOTHING would be nicer than a pair of silk suspenders worked by your own dainty hands. They will constantly remind the young man of his lady love when he switches from his working to his dress Plymouth Rocks, and they have the additional advantage of being a useful necessity.

The webbing is to be crocheted by hand. Purchase fifteen spools of purple silk No. 120, and a large crochet needle. Take a half stitch with the silk about the needle — loop two, chain three, hook one, skip four, and so continue until completed.

Purchase a pair of large silver buckles, the larger the better, as they will cause his waistcoat to protrude and attract attention, thus furnishing a splendid excuse for exhibiting these love tokens in public.

Heavy straps of harness leather, with buttonholes in the extremities thereof, should be supplied to connect the webbing with the trousers buttons. Any shoemaker will design and execute these for a few dollars.

A TELEGRAPHIC EXPLANATION OF A TELEPATHIC UNION OF HEARTS
BY FRANK P. SIBLEY

" Love
telegrams

diagrams "

¶ A volume of 100 telegrams which pass principally between a young man and woman who are entirely unknown to each other, but have been obliged to resort to the wire as a means of recovering their luggage, each having taken the others by mistake in leaving a sleeping car.

¶ They are introduced by the telegrams of a happily discovered mutual friend, carry on an odd courtship, become engaged, receive her father's blessing — and all by wire, not meeting until the last telegram is exchanged.

¶ The telegrams are fac-similes of Postal Telegraph, and Western Union messages, both day and night, done in the four colors required for correct reproduction.
