NEW ARMISTICE TERMS MAY RETARD DEMOBILIZATION

Strong Protests Raised Against Secret Peace Conferences—Complications Follow Discovery of Fifteen Hundred Living Canadian Soldiers Reported Dead.

BRITAIN MUST NOT DEMOBILIZE ARMY

Drastic New Armistice Terms Imposed Create Situation Under Which War May Break Out Again.

London, Jan. 15.—The Central News declares that as a result of the allied conference in Paris the whole aspect of the demobilization has undergone a sudden and vital change, this being shown in the drastic conditions demanded of Germany for a renewal of the armistice.

"On authority of an unimpeachable character," says the Central News, "it can be stated that a situation exists in Europe under which war may break out again at any moment. The allied war council has arrived at a decision which means that the British people have mistaken the appearance of peace for reality. This decision means that the new British ministry must revise the whole scheme of army demobilization.

"The decision is that Great Britain, in proportion to its military strength, must maintain an army of occupation on the Rhine front for many months. If the rapid increase in demobilization recently announced were continued, there would in a few months be no army in France to undertake the obligations which, by common decisions of the allies, have been placed upon British shoulders."

1500 SOLDIERS ALIVE WERE REPORTED DEAD

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—Fifteen hundred Canadian soldiers who were reported as missing and presumably dead have been located in Germany since the armistice was signed, according to The Ottawa Journal. Many of these soldiers have been missing since the battle of Ypres, and have long since been given up as dead. The German authorities have never reported them, and their mail was never received.

A report on the whole question is being prepared, but it is presumed that these prisoners must have been confined to certain camps where the German officers were particularly brutal and cruel, or else the men were recaptured, and the Germans, in retaliation, refused to report them, contrary to all war regulations.

While the discovery of these 1500 missing soldiers long since given up as dead has brought joy to many homes, it has resulted in tragic complications in a number of cases. Reports have been received at Ottawa already of a number of cases where wives of these soldiers who were reported missing and later dead have been recaptured.

One western hero of Ypres has discovered that his wife, after waiting for two years, has remarried. It is possible that legislation may have to be introduced to straighten out these cannibal tangles.

CANOPIED BEDS FOR CANADIANS

Some of Troops of Dominion Now in Germany Live in Pretentious Dwellings.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The following despatch has been received from Fred James, official correspondent with the Canadian Corps, dated from Bonn, Germany:

The Canadian front line east of the Rhine is threaded thru a section of remarkably beautiful country, so peaceful and prosperous in appearance that it is hard to reconcile it with war, and yet in a semi-circular belt measuring approximately 30 kilometres from the Hohenzollern bridgehead at Cologne a state of war does exist and much of the machinery for waging war is distributed over the area.

The territory that borders on the neutral belt which extends for about six miles in width, is held by sentries and by armed patrols, whose passage of duty takes them up hill and down dale, thru woods and open farm-lands. At strategic points a machine gun or more covers all approaches and behind them batteries of field guns and howitzers lurk, ready for immediate action if need be. A policy of watchfulness is maintained day and night, and as in the old days of actual fighting, battalions in the line are supported in their rear by sister units.

A Welcome Contrast.

The troops are billeted in the villages scattered across the country, some in humble homes, others in pretentious establishments. Some of the privates tell of having canopied beds to sleep in, with real linen sheets and all-wool blankets to cover them, so naturally, after a long period of life in vermin and rat infested dugouts, too often ankle-deep in mud, with water oozing thru the roof, they say it isn't such a bad war now.

In contrast with Bonn there seems to be no lack of food out in the settlements where I visited. Geese, fowls and ducks are plentiful at every farm-house and I saw good horses everywhere and herds of cattle grazing in the pasture land.

ONLY ONE STATE NEEDED TO RATIFY PROHIBITION

Thirty-Five Out of Thirty-Six Required Have Voted in Favor of U. S. Federal Enactment Operative in a Year.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Legislatures of 35 states, one less than the required three-fourths, have ratified the prohibition legislation amendment. Several states assemblies now in session are expected to take action tomorrow, with a probable race between Nebraska, Missouri and Minnesota, as to which will be the thirty-sixth on the list.

Ratification was completed today by the legislatures of five states, Iowa, Colorado, Oregon, New Hampshire and Utah, making a total of twelve in two days. Of the 35 states that have taken action only fourteen have certified their action to the federal state department. They are Virginia, Kentucky, North Dakota, South Carolina, Maryland, South Dakota, Texas, Montana, Delaware, Massachusetts,

Repatriated Flying Officers Include Fit-Lt. C. Smythe, M.C.

London, Jan. 15.—The following Canadian flying officers have been repatriated: Capt. P. R. White, Lieut. H. S. Brougall, Toronto; C. W. Cook, Guelph; N. S. J. S. Godwin, R. M. Roberts and C. Smythe of Toronto.

ARE ROUNDING UP ALL SPARTACANS; LEADERS ESCAPE

Wife and Youngest Son of Dr. Liebknecht Are Released.

BOLSHEVIKS ARE WEAK

Majority Socialist Beat Them in Elections by Huge Majority.

Berlin, Jan. 15.—The wife and youngest son of Dr. Liebknecht, head of the Spartacans, who were arrested when Liebknecht's house was surrounded by soldiers and searched yesterday, have been liberated. Many of the Bolsheviki documents were seized. Liebknecht's eldest son is still in the hands of the Polish. Among others arrested were Fraulein Jachs, secretary of the Spartacus Union. Still nothing is known of the whereabouts of Dr. Liebknecht, former Chief of Police Eichhorn or Rosa Luxemburg.

A cordon of troops has been thrown around the suburb of Moabit, one of the most important industrial sections in Greater Berlin for the purpose of carrying out the work of disarming civilians and such Spartacan fighters as are still at liberty. The military measure, which is being carried out in the most drastic manner, came in the nature of a surprise action, the troops being thrown in and occupying the big industrial plants of the section which are known to be Spartacan strongholds.

Losses Were Heavy.

Losses inflicted on each side during the past week are as yet estimated only roughly, but it is believed that they will greatly exceed 200 dead and a thousand wounded. The overwhelming majority of these are Bolsheviki.

Property losses during the past week of terror amount to tens of millions of marks, in addition to the damage to newspaper plants.

The numerical unimportance of the Bolsheviki elements outside of Berlin has again been demonstrated by the election. At Chemnitz, in a province of more than 1,000,000, the combined Spartacans and independents polled 46.29 and the majority of the vote of the Democratic vote, whereas the Progressives polled only 18 per cent. of the total vote in 1912, they received nearly a third of the whole vote Sunday last.

PRINCESS CHARLOTTE FOR LUXEMBURG THRONE

Paris, Jan. 15.—The Government of Luxembourg, in an official note today, informed the French Government of the accession to the throne of Princess Charlotte Adelaide, in place of Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, who has abdicated. Princess Charlotte took the oath as grand duchess this afternoon before the chamber of deputies of Luxembourg, which previously had approved her succession.

The new Grand Duchess Charlotte is the eldest of the five sisters of former Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide. She was born on Jan. 23, 1896, and is 18 months younger than the former grand duchess.

SERIOUS FIGHTING IN PORTUGAL REVOLT

Madrid, Jan. 15.—Advices from Portugal report serious fighting at Villa Real, in Trarozo-Montes, where the revolutionists were bombarded for eight hours by government artillery. The revolutionists finally raised the white flag and submitted themselves to the authorities. The government troops were aided in their movement against the revolutionists by the peasantry of the neighborhood.

A BIG JOB FINISHED.

It would look as if the war's fighting were now pretty well over. Here is a picture of Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig once more back in civilian clothes. He is taking a well-earned holiday and spending most of it playing golf. This is the first photo of Sir Douglas taken out of uniform since the war began.

"Tub Thumping" About Nickel!

Hok: Would you mind telling me, mister, how much platinum, how much palladium, how much gold, how much silver, the International Co. and the Mond Co. each take out of their nickel matte from Canada?

Josephus: Go to Mr. Ferguson or to Mr. Rowell. They know all about it. They enquired.

Hok: But don't you think, mister, the people of Canada ought to know?

Joe: That would just be "tub-thumping," if they asked any such foolish question. Hearst and Rowell know; that's enough. Don't be too inquisitive. Ask The Globe. They may know. But as long as these companies do the mining isn't that enough? You are more inquisitive than Mr. McGarry.

Hok: That's all very well, mister, but there will be a lot of "tub thumping" here and at Ottawa till the people of Canada know. The returned soldier and the relatives of those who will never return will want to know all about how any Canadian nickel got to Germany after the war began. There's lots of people who'll want to know.

Joe: Again that's what I call "tub-thumping." The Telegram is not inquisitive like you. They are satisfied. Why shouldn't you be, too? Besides, I've got an engagement for 3.30 to conduct—that of a returned wounded man who died of a nickel bullet. The ceremony will be in due form. Isn't that enough?

ANNUAL REPORTS OF PRESBYTERIAN CITY CHURCHES

Financial Statements Show Remarkable Support by Membership.

MISSION EFFORTS

Charities of All Kinds Benefit by Large Contributions.

Most of the Presbyterian churches in the city held their annual meeting last night, and if the reports which were presented to the various executive boards are any criterion, Presbyterianism in the city is going ahead with leaps and bounds. All show an increase in funds, membership and missionary offerings, while those who have mortgages on their church buildings have made substantial steps during the year to pay them off.

Following are the reports and financial statements as presented to the congregations:

The Dufferin Street Presbyterian Church has enjoyed a prosperous year, the annual report shows a total of receipts amounting to $6,000, and the membership shows an increase of fifty new members in the year. A special feature of the report is the amount of money raised by the Ladies' Aid, which is $1,600, $1,300 of which was contributed to pay off the debt on the church.

The Riverdale Presbyterian Church reports a total of $16,617 in its receipts with an expenditure of $15,856. The amount raised for missionary purposes by this church during the past year is $3,311.40.

The annual meeting of the Queen Street Presbyterian Church was held in the church last night. It was announced that the mortgage on the church and mission school have been paid in full. The annual report showed that the total receipts for the current year amounted to $9,958, and there is a balance on hand of $1,000.

RESTAURANT PRICES TAKE SUDDEN TUMBLE

Following the publication of a query in last Tuesday's World, as to whether or not there was a restaurant combine in Toronto, and if it were true that the branches of the combine were charging 5 cents more on the standard orders here than in the U. S., The World received a new Children's menu on Tuesday afternoon, in which all these prices had been changed.

In this menu, instead of having to pay 5 cents more per order, as has been the case in the past, the Toronto menu now pays 5 cents less than the prevailing prices in the United States.

Interviewed last night, D. W. Tee, manager of the Toronto branches, said that as far as he knew the prices had been changed last Monday, Jan. 13.

It is noteworthy that the menu, which Mr. Tee declared he did not send, was an old one, and that the printed prices which had been crossed out had not been obtained in Toronto for some time. For instance, the menu conveyed the impression that an order of ham and eggs had been reduced from 55 to 50 cents. This is misleading, as the price for an order of ham and eggs was 60 cents at the time The World published the item, the reduction thus being ten cents.

ALLIED SEAMEN TO FORCE PROMPT COMPENSATION

Will Call International Conference and Refuse to Take Food to Germany Till Payment is Made.

London, Jan. 15.—In the absence of a definite policy from the allies concerning the manner in which Germany shall make compensation for the dependents of submarine victims among seamen, the executive committee of the International Federation of Seafarers has evolved a plan by which the officials hope to force the peace conference to act. The committee has called an international conference in London on February 24, at which the British delegates will present a resolution providing that the seamen will not man any ships going or coming from an enemy country until the proper compensation is agreed upon.

J. Havelock Wilson, president of the International Seamen's Union, said to the Associated Press today:

"It seems that the British statesmen and those of other nations have been too busy to think of the seamen in preparing for the conference, so we will take the matter into our own hands in the hope of emphatically bringing to the notice of the peace delegates the necessity for taking care of our people."

"I have no doubt that the conference will adopt a resolution providing that no food shall go to Germany until these dependents are compensated."

The leaders of the seamen, including Andrew Furuseth, of the United States, expect that the February conference will adopt a universal wage scale. The leaders hope that this question will not be taken up by the peace conference or that wages will not be mentioned in the peace treaty. After the seamen have been in conference four days they will be joined by representatives of the engineers, stewards and officers for a discussion of subjects in which all are interested.

Mr. Wilson said that all of the principal countries had promised to send representatives to the conference.

SECRET CONFERENCE FINDS OPPOSITION

The New Terms Of Armistice Retribution For Frightfulness and Return of Stolen Goods Among Important Demands Made By Allies.

London, Jan. 15.—The new armistice terms to be presented to Germany here this morning include the following:

First—Retribution upon the Germans for the murder and ill-treatment of allied prisoners.

Second—The machinery and goods stolen by Germany from France and Belgium to be at once given up. It is pointed out that France alone has 500,000 men who will be out of work until this machinery is returned.

Third—German gold, amounting to more than £100,000,000, to be moved from Berlin to a safe place, probably Frankfurt, and protected against the shoveling in Germany en route. Certain other property to be surrendered.

Fourth—Germany to give over her shipping, of which she is believed to have four million tons, to carry food supplies to countries in Europe in need of them.

Fifth—Any U-boats on the stocks to be handed to the allies for their disposal, or to be destroyed, and no more submarines should be built.

CANADA'S POSITION AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE

Last night's despatches from Paris stated, as did those of Tuesday, that Canada was to be represented at the peace conference by two delegates, and the British Empire by five. The latter to be drawn from a panel, upon which the British dominions will be represented, as occasion may require. Thus, Britain may have twenty, or even more, representatives in Paris, each one a specialist on one particular subject or territory coming up for discussion, and of these, any five may sit, at one time, as Lloyd George may direct, Canada's position on the conference is defined by John W. Daffoe, Canadian Press representative, as follows:

"The representation of the overseas dominions is thus to be on this basis: Canada, Australia, South Africa and India are to have two direct representatives, and New Zealand one, in the allied conference and in the following peace congress. They will have precisely the same status in these bodies as the smaller allied nations, which will have representation on the same basis—two delegates for Belgium, Serbia and Greece, and one for the smaller allies."

"These delegates will have the right to take part, whenever questions affecting them are being dealt with, which in effect will guarantee their participation in the settlement of all the larger peace issues, such as the league of nations, disarmament and indemnities. In addition, the British dominions will be entitled to their share of the representation of the British Empire as a whole."

"The British delegation will thus change in personnel in keeping with the particular question before the conference, and each dominion, as a question of particular moment come up for discussion, will have the opportunity to present its case thru its special delegates, and may also be heard by its own delegates representing the empire at large. Thus, Canada will have two representatives specially charged with representing her interests in the peace conference, and may have another representative upon the panel of the British Empire. Upon occasions of particular moment to Canada, three Canadian representatives may thus be present to expound the views of their country and protect her interests."

Memorial Presented

The memorial was before the president tonight, and there is every reason to believe that such a storm has been raised as will force the question before the meeting again before the actual sessions of the peace conference begin Saturday morning.

The question of whether the meetings are to be open or closed has been smoldering for several days. It is associated with conditions which have surrounded the lack of method in making public what has actually been going on in conference for the past month. The American correspondents, of whom there are about 100 here to report the peace proceedings, have received in daily audience by the American commissioners under the stipulated conditions that, what was developed was solely for their guidance and to be reported as bearing the stamp of authority or coming from the mission.

First Official Announcement

Hitherto it has been the practice of the governments taking part in the preliminary peace conversations, says a statement given out by the official press bureau today, to issue separate communications regarding the proceedings. From today it has been decided to issue a joint communication of which the following is the English text, adopted by the British and American delegations:

"The President of the United States and the prime ministers and foreign ministers of the allied powers, assisted by the Japanese ambassadors in Paris and London, held two meetings today. In the course of these meetings the examination of the rules of the conference has been continued and almost completed."

"It was decided that the United States, the British Empire, France, Italy and Japan should be represented by five delegates apiece. The British dominions and India, besides, shall be represented as follows: Two delegates respectively for Canada, Australia, South Africa and India, including the native states, and one delegate for New Zealand."

Two Delegates Apiece.

"Brazil will have three delegates; Belgium, China, Greece, Holland, Portugal, the Czechoslovak Republic and Rumania will have two delegates apiece. Cuba, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Liberia, Nicaragua and Panama one delegate apiece."

"Mon'tenegro will have one delegate but the rules concerning the designation of this delegate shall not be fixed until the moment when the political situation in this country shall have been cleared up."

Delegations Are Units

"The meeting adopted the following two general principles:

"1. Each delegation being a unit, the number of delegates forming it shall have no influence upon its status at the conference.

"2. In the selection of its delegation each nation may avail itself of the panel system. This will enable each nation at discretion to entrust its interests to such persons as it may designate."

"The adoption of the panel system will in particular enable the British Empire to admit among its five dele-

CHIEF OF POLICE FOR FREE SPEECH

Advises Board Against Taking Action to Prohibit Sunday Meetings.

Appearing before the board of control at their first regular meeting of the year, Chief of Police Grasett strongly advised the board against taking any action to prohibit meetings being held on Sundays at which Bolshevism and kindred doctrines were freely discussed.

Controller McBride wanted to know what was being done to check the Sunday meetings in licensed halls. "Several years ago the council passed a regulation that no Sunday meetings be allowed except for religious purposes," said the controller.

—T. O. Bosworth wrote to the board of control, complaining of the danger of panic and injury from the results of overcrowding on the Toronto Street Railway. Mayor Church said the railway company should be compelled to open its car factory and resume building. City Solicitor Fairly was of the opinion that application could be made to have the company open their car shops.

The secretary of the United Carpenters and Joiners wrote, suggesting that now the war is over the city should acquire the factory of the Canadian Airplanes, Limited, on Dufferin street, for the building of cars for the street railway when the road is taken over in 1921.

This matter was referred to Commissioners Bradshaw and Harris for investigation.

The board took up the motion of Controller Maguire that the "ward police" be taken off the city's ambulances. It was sent to the council.

The Great War Veterans' Association wrote the board asking that the city pay the fees of their counsel in the recent riot probe. Arthur Roebuck's bill was $1,000, and Hartley Dewar's $300. The matter was referred to the city solicitor for investigation.

Finance Commissioner Bradshaw stated to the board that he had some correspondence with the military authorities regarding the occupancy of Stanley Barracks. Mayor Church suggested that the rent be collected, but as the board failed to reach a conclusion, the matter was laid over.

ASSAULTED DISSATISFIED CUSTOMER

Louis and Jennie Greenberg were charged before Magistrate Ellis in yesterday's police court with assaulting Olive Lapelle. According to the story told by Miss Lapelle she had taken a skirt to Greenberg's to be dyed, but such a poor job had been done that she refused to take it. The accused, she said, had then attacked her. Mrs. Greenberg was fined $2 and Greenberg was remanded for sentence.

Charged with selling perfume without a war stamp affixed, Mrs. Thompson, who owns a store at 3014 Dundas street, was remanded by the magistrate. It was shown that on the wholesaler's invoice she had paid the necessary tax.

LABOR NEWS

GOVERNMENT WORK SORELY NEEDED

Unemployed of Building Trades Urge Commencement of Public Projects.

SITUATION AGOUTE

One League Alone Numbers Two Thousand Unemployed Members.

Unemployed but bona fide members of 19 organizations comprising the Building Trades League to the number of 500 yesterday met at the assembly hall, Labor Temple, and passed a number of resolutions dealing with the present acute situation among the working men in Toronto. It will be recalled that two months ago the league requested the government to bestir itself in the matter of public works, but nothing has been done by the government in response to this request and the large gathering at yesterday's mass meeting decided to hold mass meetings every Wednesday afternoon until the situation became less acute. The session adopted the recommendations of the league to request the government to immediately set to work on such public works as the harbor works, the new general postoffice, sub postoffices, and the new shipbuilding plant so necessary at Ashbridge's Bay, a provincial hospital in Toronto for the benefit of out-of-Toronto patients who need services such as can only be procured in Toronto, orphanages for orphans of the fallen in battle, and the new general necessary works. The municipality of Toronto is also being requested to set to work at once on the erection of 1,000 homes for the working men at a figure of not less than $2,750 each, to build at least 14 public lavatories and to force the great railway to proceed forthwith with the great viaduct at the waterfront. Park pavilions are among other works considered by the meeting.

Giant Petition.

It was unanimously resolved to request the government to immediately proceed with the construction of a monumental to the interest of the workers. It was noteworthy that 500 signatures were attached to the giant petition now being circulated by the Brotherhood of Carpenters, the release of Watson and Cheesman. The meeting also passed without a dissentient vote the amendments to the workers' compensation act, recommended by the Building Trades League.

Mayor Church and the board of control are being invited to address the next mass meeting, which is to be held at the Labor Temple on Wednesday next at two o'clock.

There are about 2,000 unemployed men among the nineteen organizations comprising the Building Trades League. Rev. J. A. Miller, superintendent of the Government Employment Bureau at King street, near Bay street, stated yesterday afternoon that the resolutions passed by the mass meeting at the Labor Temple in the morning were well advised and timely. His suggestions formed perhaps the only reasonable solution of the acute situation advanced by the meeting.

Pitiful Stream.

It was pitiful, he said, to watch men of families, householders, wives and children, continuously being driven into his office, with often no remedy at hand for them. It was often not realized, said Mr. Miller, that the employment bureau could not fill positions, and that its sole function was necessarily that of collaboration between the employer and the unemployed.

IRRELEVANT TO THE QUESTION.

Judge Barron's statement of the findings of the board of conciliation regarding the grievances of the employees of the Great Western Railway Co. points out that the cost of living has advanced 100 per cent. since August, 1917, and that it is to be June, 1919. Touching upon the question at issue between the railway and its employees, the president of the board points out that the company has charged a flat rate for the citizens of Toronto averaging slightly less than four cents for at least 27 years, no matter what the cost had to be met by the operating management, and states also that "the present demand of the employees so increases the schedule that second-year men are classed with third-year men and subsequent year men, thus denying any benefit to men of long service."

Joseph Gibbons, business agent of the Toronto Street Railwaymen's Union, stated that the cost of living had risen 28 per cent. since June, 1917. He also stated that in the opinion of street railwaymen with long experience, a two-year man was as efficient as the job as the 10-year man, and that the judge's reference to the second-year men denying older service men credit for length of service was irrelevant to the question at issue, which was the means of meeting the high cost of living.

Touching upon the Workmen's Compensation Act, ex-Ald Joseph Gibbons stated yesterday that the employees were compelled to pay a certain sum toward the compensation fund, but that it was optional with a manager or a director of a firm to do so. If he did so he would be entitled to the benefit of the scheme. If a manager of a factory or a plant should be taken for granted that that man would pay toward the fund, since all men on the payroll of firms "come within the meaning of the act."

The Painters and Decorators' Union in Toronto is still "opening wide the gates" of its halls to the returned soldiers, the initiation fee being still lowered for their benefit.

They do not fear the Canadian people taking similar action to Russia so long as they are allowed the access to all avenues of information.

CAPT. CARPENTER SPEAKS HIS MIND

Jellicoe's Proposals Only Sound Basis for Dominion Naval Effort.

MUST CO-OPERATE

Same United Effort Necessary in Peace as in War.

At 6.15 yesterday evening a dinner was tendered to Captain Carpenter, V.C., R.N., by the Navy League of Canada, at the King Edward, Commodore Jarvis presiding.

There were present, among about fifty guests, Sir William Hearst, Sir John Bate, Mr. Justice Riddell, Archbishop MacNeil, E. B. Wood, Hon. Dr. Cody, Hon. I. B. Lucas, Kenneth Dunstan, Controller Cameron, H. M. Mowat, M.P., Frank Wise, General Gunn, Major Wright, etc.

After the royal toast, Captain Peter Wright was called upon, and expressed in glowing terms the gratitude of British and British sailors for the assistance rendered by Canada. Early in the war, he said, he knew one coast town in England which had been reduced almost to starvation, the suffering among the poor being very keen. A gift of 3000 bags of flour from the million bags sent by Ontario did much to relieve the situation. He asked for the same spirit of co-operation that had helped to win the war.

No Politics.

The chairman asked for an expression of opinion on the proposal he wished to submit to the Navy League convention at Vancouver, that the proposal of Admiral Jellicoe be accepted as the only basis for naval organization in Canada, and not the proposal of any politician for any party purpose.

This was unanimously agreed upon. The guests then adjourned to Massey Hall.

Captain Carpenter was given a magnificent reception by the great audience which filled Massey Hall to the doors. He was introduced by the chairman, Commodore Aemilius Jarvis, as the outstanding naval hero of the war, who typified the Nelson touch more than any living man. Captain Carpenter once more related the engaging story of one of the most glorious feats of British arms in the great war, the blockading of Zebruge harbor in the face of almost insuperable obstacles.

"I always tell Americans," he said, "and apologize afterwards that the Zebruge mole is bigger than any they have in their country. Inside the mole was one of the favorite positions of the German vessels in which to lie. No matter where they were about to undertake was looked upon as impossible, ridiculous and fantastic."

Capt. Carpenter told of the long and lonely vigil of the British fleet in the North Sea hoping that the time would come "when the German navy would have a sudden rush of courage to the head and would come out and fight. The German fleet never had any tradition and now it has none. They were three or four days' march from the coast, and they were not to be carried out to the morning of the Zebruge mole, but on the first two occasions the forces of nature intervened and rendered the task impossible at the time, and on the third occasion when the feat was finally performed a heavy rain started to fall when the fleet was within a short distance of Zebruge and a heavy sea seriously interfered with operations."

Two Methods.

The speaker told of the difficulties and dangers encountered, the sea heavily mined, the enemy patrol craft, the submarines and the aircraft. He described two methods of meeting the mines, either by employing mine sweepers to proceed ahead and sweep up the mines, which was a slow and laborious task, or by chance. "We changed it," he said amidst a storm of applause. He related the immortal story of the storming of the mole, the silencing of the German battery, the effective blockading of the Zebruge channel by the sinking of three British ships.

Captain Carpenter paid eloquent tribute to the courage of his men and officers who had done their task with him. They were a picked lot, who were unaware of their task until they put out to sea on their way. When informed of their duties they were allowed the privilege of leaving the vessel for home, but all remained. His remarks were at times humorous and at times pathetic when he recounted the deaths of his officers.

"The result of this operation," he concluded, "was the effect of good co-operation" and confidence between officers and men, and that is one thing which makes any operation successful. If officers or men treat men like machines they will get very little good out of them. If on the other hand they take them in their confidence, as was done on this occasion, the result will be success. The war is over, thank God! There is an analogy between officers and men to be found in peace in the persons of employers and employees. If employers do not take their men into their confidence they will not get the best results. There are two things to remember. Every man should show the same spirit as the men at Zebruge channel, and employers and employees should do their level best in working together for the good of the whole community.

Captain Carpenter exhibited the Lattre's colored ensign of the Vindictive, the ship that stormed the Zebruge mole.

Sir William Hearst, in moving a vote of thanks, stated that he in Canada realized the indebtedness we owe to the British navy. "We are proud," he said, "to do honor to the greatest hero of the greatest navy in the world. There is no one here tonight who does not feel that a glorious thing it is to be a Briton."

SLURS ON BRITISH DENIED BY WEBER

The general court-martial of Elmer J. Weber, charged with desertion from the army, was resumed at the armories yesterday morning. Col. W. F. Butcher presiding.

Joseph Weber, father of the accused, recalled to the witness stand, vehemently denied casting slurs upon the British or other arms. Asked by N. P. Davidson, K.C., for the minister of justice, whether he had ever proposed a grant from the county council to the Canadian patriotic fund, the witness replied: "Yes, in 1915 I did, but other grants I supported."

He contended that he had never opposed conscription nor had he ever written a letter, dated Sept. 27, 1917, written to the minister of justice by Arthur Mutton of Mitchell, a traveler for the firm of Maxwell's of St. Mary's, regarding alleged statements made by Mr. Weber, was produced and read as follows:

"The writer is a traveler for Maxwell's Limited, St. Mary's, Ont. Some time in October, 1917, I called on a firm in Neudstadt by the name of Weber & Sons, hardware merchants. Mr. Weber asked me to sign a petition for exemption of his two sons. This I refused on the grounds that it might inter-

HUMUS OF THE SOIL

Humus is plant matter such as grain stubble, weeds, grass, second-iron clover, green manure, strawy stock manure. On a light soil, humus binds the loose particles together, giving the soil body to hold moisture and to retain soluble plant food. On a heavy clay, humus opens the soil and greatly improves the possibilities of air circulating thru it. It also helps to give a softness to the color of the soil, hence it makes it, over the period of the soil, to absorb heat from sunlight.

SLURS ON BRITISH DENIED BY WEBER

Threat to Murder Military Alleged in Witness' Letter.

The general court-martial of Elmer J. Weber, charged with desertion from the army, was resumed at the armories yesterday morning. Col. W. F. Butcher presiding.

Joseph Weber, father of the accused, recalled to the witness stand, vehemently denied casting slurs upon the British or other arms. Asked by N. P. Davidson, K.C., for the minister of justice, whether he had ever proposed a grant from the county council to the Canadian patriotic fund, the witness replied: "Yes, in 1915 I did, but other grants I supported."

He contended that he had never opposed conscription nor had he ever written a letter, dated Sept. 27, 1917, written to the minister of justice by Arthur Mutton of Mitchell, a traveler for the firm of Maxwell's of St. Mary's, regarding alleged statements made by Mr. Weber, was produced and read as follows:

"The writer is a traveler for Maxwell's Limited, St. Mary's, Ont. Some time in October, 1917, I called on a firm in Neudstadt by the name of Weber & Sons, hardware merchants. Mr. Weber asked me to sign a petition for exemption of his two sons. This I refused on the grounds that it might inter-

UNIQUE TRIBUTE TO NAVAL HERO

Record Luncheon Attendance Greeted Capt. Carpenter, V.C., at Empire Club.

A unique and extraordinary tribute was paid to Captain Carpenter, V.C., R.N., of H.M.S. Vindictive, at the Empire Club luncheon yesterday, when the largest number of guests at any luncheon ever held in Canada were entertained, over 1000 being present. Among these were Lieut. CITY ITEMS

Property Commissioner Chisholm has received an application from Ottawa to provide busmen and rippers, for whom there is now a great demand. The request was turned over to the civic employment bureau, which is now receiving hundreds of applications for positions.

The honorary treasurer of the Serbian relief committee reports the receipt of $3,677.50, $2,500 of which is a donation from the Prisoners of War Society.

At the last meeting of the bureau of information for women voters, held on Jan. 14, the resolution was passed, hoping that citizens would do all in their power to eliminate party politics in municipal affairs.

Lieut. W. P. Purvis of R.A.F. is one of the officers from the Olympic, who are expected tomorrow morning. His home is at 495 Broadview avenue.

GIRL SEIZED PICKPOCKET.

Edward G. Levitt appeared in court yesterday, before Judge Winchester, charged with picking pockets. After his counsel had heard the evidence given by Miss Alice Browne, he changed his plea to guilty on the charge of being a pickpocket. She held K.C. Miss Browne, who is an employe at Simpson's, saw him extracting a purse from a lady customer. She held him till an official of the store took him in charge.

Prisoner, who hails from the United States, admitted being a drug fiend and the judge sent him to the jail farm for six months, after which he will be deported.

The Unemployed Account With the Hun.

Preparation is being made in several quarters to deal with the problem of the unemployed. What is wanted is not preparation, but action. The unemployed problem is not a matter for the future, but of the present. The unemployed problem is here.

There are twenty men today applying for every vacancy. This is the assertion of those in charge of the placing of returned men. The failure to absorb these men as they present themselves is "the unemployed problem." It will be growing worse all the time. Every steamer that arrives increases the pressure. How is it to be relieved?

One way is to recognize that the war is not yet over, and that it is a little too early to put off the robe of selfishness and to put on the garment of cold and heartless calculation of profit and loss. To allow the returned men to accumulate means to create a social ferment which eventually will cost business interests more than any possible extra outlay involved in taking care of the returned men and putting them into productive labor. It will be penny-wise, dollar-foolish way of dealing with the problem to create an unemployed class of the returned men by allowing them to accumulate in idleness until they become numerous enough to demand wholesale the recognition and the justice they had been denied in detail.

There has been a tendency to delay even the preliminary measures necessary for many of the important works, public, semi-public and private, that have been delayed for some years on account of the war, but which must now be proceeded with since military operations have been suspended. The main sections of many jobs of an important nature cannot, of course, be proceeded with until the weather clears for the season, but a great deal can be done in the way of preparation while the snow is still on the ground.

Business men might reflect that but for the courage and devotion of these men the war might still be going on, and going on indefinitely. Their costs and losses would have been in such a case immensely increased. They might very well estimate a year or two more such extra expenses necessary to get aside a proportion of it to balance the account in favor of the unemployed returned soldier. Give him a chance and a share of that account and charge it up to the Hun.

The Drink and the Drugs One Problem.

It is not surprising to learn that the drug habit is on the increase. This may or may not be a result of the Ontario Temperance Act, but it is quite possible that men suddenly deprived of one stimulant should turn for solace to another. It is also true that cocaine, morphine and other deleterious drugs may be more easily handled and secreted than intoxicating liquors.

The remedy is not to repeal the Ontario Temperance Act, but to vigorously stamp out, not only the illicit sale of liquor, but the illicit sale of druggs as well. To our thinking the same officials should be charged with the duty of prosecuting all persons who sell stimulants illicitly, whether such stimulants be alcoholic beverages or narcotic druggs.

In 1911 the Dominion Parliament passed a most drastic and far-reaching statute against the unlawful importation, sale and consumption of opium, morphine, cocaine and other drugs. It even went so far as to make it a jail offence for a man to be found in a building where opium smoking is going on. No act on our statute book bristles with more provisions for fine and imprisonment.

But we take it for granted in this, as in nearly every other case, there is no federal enforcement of federal law. If the Anti-Drug Act be enforced in this province at all credit must be given to the Ontario College of Pharmacy. The College of Pharmacy, at the request of the Ontario Government, as we understand it, does bring some offenders to justice and receives a moiety of the fine provided for the informer. But this enforcement, while better than none at all, places upon the Ontario College of Pharmacy the burdensome and embarrassing duty of hunting down and punishing members of its own guild.

And this leads us to say that the one man who should be responsible for the enforcement of the laws against the drink and the drug habit alike is the attorney-general of Ontario. It is worse than useless to look for federal enforcement of federal law, and the Province of Ontario must frankly deal with the possibility of the drug habit rapidly spreading and carrying in its wake evils far more serious than those which the Ontario Temperance Act was designed to suppress.

The Ontario Temperance Act must be redrafted. The will of the people can be expressed in a few paragraphs, but wide powers of regulation will have to be committed to the lieutenant-governor-in-council. The license board might well be done away with, and the unsatisfactory holders make fabulous sums might be cut out root and branch. But above everything else, we must have the entire responsibility for the enforcement of prohibition, including any necessary sale of liquor, placed upon the attorney-general, and at the same time provide him with all the assistance he may need and all the money he may require, and the public can then hold him responsible. The present law and the sale of liquor under it is growing into a scandal. So is the Anti-Drug Act.

Growing the Grass in the Right Place.

Sooner or later every autocrat goes just one step too far. Some man or some community has the courage to turn on him, and irresistible public opinion does the rest. Sir John Gibson and the Cataract crowd have bussed governments, played with parliaments, rode rough-shod over a big city like Hamilton and treated the Dominion Railway Board and its orders with contempt, and yet today they are preparing to knuckle down and eat crow at the behest of the little town of Burlington. Burlington could not be bullied, and Burlington could not be bought, and Burlington will be a prosperous and happy town long after the Dominion Power and Transmission Company and the other Cataract concerns have ceased to exist.

The Radial Railway people thought they were strong when they deprived the Town of Burlington of passenger service. They thought they were smart when they laughed at the orders of the Railway Commission and went into the exchequer court to have themselves declared insolvent. Sir John Gibson and his satellites had many a hearty laugh at the expense of the humble citizens of Burlington trudging thru the snow on foot to Hamilton!

But now we hear they are laughing on the other side of the street. There is every prospect that the street car services will be resumed between Hamilton and Burlington at the old rates. If the Radial Company be insolvent the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will take over and operate the road. If the Radial Company be not insolvent, its high and mighty officials with their high and mighty titles will have to go to jail.

Nor is this the worst of the dilemma. All the municipalities are now asking Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro-Electric to intervene. They do not want any experience like that thru which Burlington has passed. Hence the Hydro-Electric will not take the small spur of the Cataract Company that runs between Hamilton and Oakville, but will take over the radials running out of Hamilton, together with the power plant and the transmission lines of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company.

The power monopoly expected to see grass grow in the streets of Burlington. Instead Burlington will soon see grass growing over the grave of the power monopoly!

THE KEYS.

I may not hold the key to fame
To yield me an illustrious name;
I may not have the key to wealth,

OPPOSE CHANGE IN COMPENSATION.

Representatives of the Ontario Provincial Builders' Exchange waited upon Premier Hearst and the Hon. E. B. Lucas at the parliament buildings yesterday to discuss the Workmen's Compensation Act. The deputations informed the premier that they thought compensation should be left as it is now without change.

THINK OF HIM NOT AS DEAD

Think of him not as dead
The best of his best life
In loving memory.
Dream that you see him play
For living, and not as dead
Dream that you hear his voice,
And let your heart rejoice.
His boyish smile so bright,
His youth unselfish, true,
His manhood strong and pure;
All these belong to you.
Dream on of these till dreams
Shall vital grow, and then
Deep in your loving heart
Your own will live again.
Think of him not as dead
But living, and not as dead
And coming back some day.

IDA ON MILITARY INVESTIGATIONS

BY IDA L. WEBSTER.
A woman came in to see us yesterday dressed in the deepest mourning, and wearing one of the saddest expressions which we have ever seen on the face of a human being. Before she spoke we knew that her trouble had been brought about by the war, but we did not guess that the Canadian branch of the army was responsible for it.

Her boy had gone over on the good ship Victoria and had been one of the 22 who had died thru neglect and influenza. To try to tell you the sorrow of this mother would be impossible for us, because we are not of the "sob" variety, but we can assure you that if ever a heart was broken, then indeed is it the one which beats in the breast of this noble mother.

OTHER PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

Is History to Repeat Itself?

Editor World: Some years ago the late King Edward, while visiting Germany, was being shown thru the shipyards by the Kaiser. The late King asked the emperor the object of Germany in building such a large number of ships? Wilhelm replied that a fleet of respectable proportions was necessary to protect the country's commerce on the high seas. The true meaning of the protection policy has been revealed since 1914. Now that Germany's ambition has been quelled one of the foremost questions to be settled among the nations appears to be the freedom of the seas. The United States and England have been fighting side by side as allies, but the language recently used by Secretary Daniels of the American navy, which he said that the United States must have a navy big enough to lick any which is hard to credit to a man in his position. Such talk will only cause distrust and suspicion between the statesmen and people of America and England. Has all the suffering and bloodshed of the past four years and a half been productive of nothing but new international rivalries? The delegates of the nations who are appointed to attend the peace conference will need to become imbued with a different spirit to that expressed by Secretary Daniels. The aim is to be any sort of a secure foundation laid for a league of nations to police the world.

England has never misused her power as mistress of the seas. The United Nations stand for justice to countries and individuals in all parts of the world. The Kaiser's reference to England's contemptible little army in 1887, called for the late Lord Roberts the warning to prepare and beware. Is the repetition of the catastrophe just past on account of peoples who have just fought and bled side by side? Statesmen in a position like that occupied by Mr. Daniels should either modify their opinions or keep them to themselves. It would be a dishonor to the Anglo-Saxon race to have such a misunderstanding occur between Great Britain and the United States. It is not improbable that Mr. Daniels' utterances were called forth by England's avowed intention of keeping her feet at its full strength, let the plenipotentiaries of the two nations get together and come to an amicable understanding before the peace conference is held, and then have the matter fully and freely discussed by representatives of all nations when the conference takes place.

THIS GROWING CITY.

Editor World: We hear a lot about reconstruction, extending and boosting for a larger and better city, but very little effort being put forth for the same.

That the Bloor street viaduct is finished and we have thru communication east and west, what is to stop the enlargement of the city or the extension of the city boundaries a little northward?

The city saw fit to take in North Toronto, a place not so advanced and modern, not so good a section and with no more people, so why not now extend the city? It seems to the writer that the time is now ripe for the city to make this extension.

Why shouldn't all the people using their cars, working in the city, be given and paying city taxes and thus help with the extension of what they receive the benefit of?

Brian Returns—He is Wounded

CHAPTER CXXXIX.
During those days of waiting, days that at times seemed endless, because of her desire to see Brian, and then seemed all too short for the preparations she wanted to make for him, Ruth was so restless, so absorbed in the one great fact that her husband was coming home, that even Mr. Mandel could see she was unfit for work, and told her to remain at home until after Brian came.

"But can you spare me?" Ruth asked.
"Will you and you are not to worry about the notice of belated casualty just now, we'll get along nicely. And"—he hesitated just a moment, then held out his hand with a smile and said: "I rejoice in your happiness. I know of no one more deserving of it."
"Thank you, replied Ruth simply, but the look she gave him showed her appreciation, more than her words.

Mrs. Clayborne was delighted that Ruth was to remain at home until Brian came. She had been fearful her niece would become ill, so excited and nervous was she. They spent much of the time out of doors, driving or walking in the park. Gradually Ruth became less excited, more quietly happy. The weather was unusually warm and the change from her inside work at the shop was beneficial in every way.

Naturally both she and her aunt had seen the notice of belated casualty lists in the papers, yet Ruth had no thought that Brian might be wounded again. He had written just before he sailed that he was in splendid shape.

His ship was in. Ruth and her aunt had gone down to meet it, and although they were not allowed to go very near, they joined in the cheering, while trying to disentangle Brian's form from the thousands swarming the decks and leaning over the rail.

When came the news that he was wounded, and had been taken to a hospital, Ruth and her aunt immediately set about getting permission to have him taken home where they could nurse him.

There was much red tape, as it were, to get over, and finally Brian was home. Ruth and her aunt listened while the soldier told them stories of the war. Almost spellbound were they, but occasionally, in a moment, Ruth would mention his own part in the fighting he had been again hit by a piece of shrapnel, this time injuring his leg so badly it would be some time before he would be able to use it still longer before he could discard crutches.

PROMINENT CANADIANS AT PAY CORPS BANQUET

London, Jan. 15.—The present times are very trying to the soldier, but we are doing all we can to make the road easy for him to get home, declared Sir Edward Kemp, overseas Canadian minister, at the Canadian Pay Corps' dinner last night.

Brigadier Ross, paymaster general, presided. Gen. Currie, commanding the Canadian Corps, Lord Shaughnessy, and Sir George Foster, who also spoke, paid a generous tribute to the heroic spirit shown by the English people to Canadian soldiers.

Sir George Foster, alluding to the criticism passed in Canada on the work of the Canadians in England, declared: "The solid, sensible voice of Canada knows what you have done and will give you fair credit for it."

Sir George also alluded with pride to the fact that today in Paris, Canada was enjoying the same right as any allied state to take her place at the table which would dictate terms of peace.

Ask Government Campaign Of Attention to Wood Alcohol

Kingston, Jan. 15.—Finding that Sergt. Patrick Gordon died as a result of drinking wood alcohol, a jury empaneled by Coroner Dr. E. M. Dundell recommended that the provincial government conduct a campaign drawing the attention of the public to the ill effects of the use of the different varieties of alcohol, and that different places be placed on the sale of the same. This case marks the sixth case in which a man has died from drinking wood alcohol. Many people are not aware that it is a deadly poison.

SAVED MANY THOUSAND; AWARDED FIVE DOLLARS

As a result of his success in extinguishing a fire at playing cards, at considerable personal risk and injury to his clothing, on Christmas Day, John Brown, a muniton worker, Woodville, Todmorden, was awarded $5 by the insurance company. Attracted by the screams of women and children in a frame cottage, Brown smashed in the door and beat out the fire with a wet rug. He was informed by the officer in charge of the fire squad that his prompt action saved an entire row of houses and was advised to see the insurance agents, as he might reasonably expect a reward of at least $100 for saving probably many thousands of dollars worth of property. After much red tape Mr. Brown was awarded a $5 reward at the discretion of the insurance company. Mr. Brown has had four brothers killed in action during the war.

Warsaw, Monday, Jan. 13.—Bolshevik guerrilla bands are carrying out many depredations in Lithuania as they advance in the direction of Warsaw.

Up to this time the Lithuanian peasants had taken no part in the robberies and cruelties themselves are being robbed by the Bolsheviks.

Article No. 4 Cut out for Reference

Pensions

CANADA'S yearly pension bill is estimated by the Minister of Finance at $30,000,000. This is a minimum figure. How is this vast fund to be administered? To whom will pensions be paid? Everyone is asking these questions. Here is the official answer.

The Organization

A huge organization has been built up to handle pensions promptly, smoothly, fairly.

At its head is the Board of Pensions Commissioners. This Board is to be developed as a civil rather than as a military body. It consists of three men, each appointed for ten years, each devoting his whole time to his duties as a Commissioner.

The Head Office of the Pensions Board is at Ottawa; and there are seventeen branch offices in the principal centres throughout Canada. An important branch is in operation in London, England.

These local branches receive applications from soldiers' dependents for pensions; send "Visitors" to call on pensioners in their homes; hold medical re-examinations; handle complaints.

The Board keeps a representative travelling from coast to coast interviewing pensioners and addressing organizations interested in their welfare. He has already conferred with more than 30,000 pensioners.

At present 60,000 pensions are being administered by the Board.

A Pension—What it is

A pension is not a gift, gratuity or reward for service done. It is compensation—money paid as a right by Canadians, through their Government, to offset in a measure the handicaps suffered in war by their fellow-citizens—a debt that the country owes to our returned men, and to the dependents of those who have fallen.

It is in this spirit that Orders-in-Council governing pensions are framed. It is in this spirit that the Board of Pensions Commissioners administers these Orders-in-Council.

To Whom Payable

Pensions are not awarded for service. Broadly speaking, any soldier or sailor who was disabled during his service is entitled to a pension—provided medical treatment fails to restore his full normal capacity.

The amount of the pension is based on the extent of the physical handicap he has suffered.

The physical condition of the disabled man is described on his discharge from the service by a Medical Board. Pension is awarded according to the amount of disablement from which he is then found to be suffering.

The percentage of handicap has been carefully and thoroughly worked out for every disability. It is both accurate and fair.

The relationship between the Medical Board and the pension applicant is that of doctor and patient. Every opportunity is given to have the man's condition judged from his point of view.

Amount of Pension

The pension is awarded to a soldier or sailor so that he can live in decent comfort, despite his handicap.

The money he may be able to earn, or the money he earned before the war, does not affect the amount of his pension. The extent of his handicap alone in the general labor market is considered.

Every man who has increased his income by Vocational Training will not have his pension decreased or discontinued.

The amount of the pension varies also according to the soldier's rank; but his trade or profession is not considered. The minimum pension for a totally disabled unmarried soldier or sailor of the lowest rank is $600 a year.

Pensions to Dependents

Widows of soldiers or sailors who have died during or as a result of service, are entitled to pension so long as they do not remarry.

Children of soldiers or sailors are entitled to pensions up to the age of sixteen, if boys, or seventeen, if girls.

Pension is awarded to the parents of a soldier or sailor according, (a) to the degree of their dependency on the deceased soldier and, (b) according to their needs.

A complete schedule of the pensions granted to disabled soldiers and sailors, and to their dependents, will be sent to anyone interested. Apply to Board of Pensions Commissioners, Ottawa.

The Simpson Men's Store is Prepared to Dress Returned Soldiers From Head to Foot

And Men and Young Men in Civilian Life, Too, for That Matter

Take Simpson Clothing for example—every garment is designed and tailored to fit at the hard-to-fit points where ordinary clothing usually fails. Simpson clothes are carefully modeled to the neck and shoulders without unsightly creases. The arms are comfortable in length and width—the lapels, trimmings, linings and general finishing are beyond reproach.

Examination of the clothes reveals excellence of fabrics and authenticity of style at really moderate prices.
