Ottawa Government Announces Its Employees May Not Organize

Farmers in Commons Favor an Immediate Appeal to Electorate

HOURLY CALLS CAUCUS OF ALL THE FRIENDS OF THE GOVERNMENT

Will Review Legislation to Be Submitted During Coming Session.

OTHER PARTIES READY

On the eve of the session of the Legislature the groups forming the assembly appear to be in no way mentally elated. The more experienced among the U.F.O. leaders regard the "final prospect" with considerable alarm.

Today both U.F.O.'s and Liberals take stock of the situation. The Conservatives will stand pat and wait for what may turn up as a result of the heart-searching of the two larger groups. The Labor members are alert about the program of legislation they have already agreed upon in caucus being transferred to the statute book. The concern centering about several important matters among the U.F.O. executive as well as in the cabinet has resulted in the summoning of a special caucus to which are invited "all friends of the government" in the reception room of the parliament buildings at two o'clock this afternoon. A plain statement covering all contemplated legislation will be made by Premier Drury. Labor members will be present as well as farmers.

His followers have put it up to H. H. Dewar, Liberal leader, that before the session opens a broad statesman-like survey of the present situation is demanded, so that the public shall know the Liberal party did not approach the most important session of the legislature since Confederation entirely trusting to others to reveal the true conditions now confronting all classes of the people of Ontario. Mr. Dewar left for Ottawa last night and this evening addresses the Eastern Ontario Liberal Association. His speech will deal with provincial rights within the constitution and with the threat of the business interests of the people of Ontario because of public lack of consciousness concerning constitutional powers vested in the legislature.

BOARD OF CONTROL FAVOR CIVIC LINE

Mount Pleasant Cars Carried by Vote of Three to Two.

"Cut out the personalities and never mind what happened last year. Let's deal with the Mount Pleasant cars as it stands today. If North Toronto is to be developed it must have both Yonge street and Mount Pleasant railroads for street car service. It was thus that the Controller Gibbons clinched the question of the proposed Mount Pleasant civic line and influenced the board of control to get down to business. Mayor Church, Controller Maguire and Controller Gibbons voted for the construction of the line.

"Thank God we have a city council," was the comment of Controller Cameron, who assisted Controller Ramsden in a vote against the proposed construction of this line. Thus, the board went on record as favoring its construction and also recommended the expenditure of $1,000,000 upon both construction and equipment as against the previous estimates of $954,968. The line will be done purely by day labor, there are no contracts to be let, it is stated. Commissioner Harris stated that provided he could get both material and men it would be possible to build the line before the end of the year.

The recommendation reads as follows: "In view of the tenders being received for building a temporary street railway line on Mount Pleasant road the commissioner of works be instructed to proceed with the construction and equipment of the same by day labor, and that the necessary funds be reported, $1,000,000."

Controller Ramsden moved an amendment that the matter be laid over until the Yonge street railway question had been settled, and for a conference with Commissioner Bradshaw.

Discussing the two motions the mayor pointed out that the city council had endorsed the principle of construction. Controller Cameron indignantly advocated the need of a public stenographer to report all council meetings so that the mayor might see himself verbatim in print the day following meetings.

"Well," opined Controller Maguire, "you're often checking up your self that I rather favor the idea."

The question of the construction of bridges, which would have to go over the rails, was discussed. Controller Gibbons believed that the cost of building these should not be charged against the Mount Pleasant account since the former would have to be built, Mount Pleasant or no. Controller Ramsden became more and more dubious of the matter. "Why are you on earth are you going to get the money for these things?" was his comment. "Let's find out that before anything else."

EMPLOYEES OF GOVERNMENT ARE REFUSED PERMISSION TO ORGANIZE IN UNIONS

Categorical Replies Sent to Demands, Requests and Suggestions of Trades and Labor Congress—Government Will Adhere to Peace Treaty Provision for a Forty-Eight Hour Week.

Ottawa, March 4.—Replies to the demands, requests and suggestions of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress have been forwarded by the government to the secretary of that organization. Twenty-six questions were submitted, and these have all received a categorical answer.

The most important of the demands were: The fight to organize, collective bargaining, eight-hour day or 48-hour week, and limitation of work.

Regarding the right to organize, the government points out that this has been recognized as far as industrial workers are concerned, but to the request that this principle be applied to government employees, the refusal is definitely conveyed in this reply:

"Employees in the service of the federal government are in a different category inasmuch as there is no incentive from the standpoint of money profit to improve, unfair or onerous working conditions or rates of pay. Parliament represents all the people, labor included, has as well made provision for the fair determination of any grievances. It cannot be conceded that the public service shall be subject to control of any organization or federation of industrial workers and be thereby involved in industrial disputes."

Collective Bargaining.

The congress asks that the government recognize the principle of collective bargaining by instituting its own departments wherever practicable and undertake the initiative in establishing councils in industries recognizing the unions as bodies of representation. In reply the government states:

"In the administration of the department of labor the minister of that department has on more than one occasion recognized the wisdom, on the part of both employers and employees, whether in individual cases or in groups within a given industry, of meeting together and negotiating with a view to the settlement of differences of opinion. It is to be noted that it is evident from the government's reply that there will be no federal legislation this year fixing the hours of labor. To the request for the adoption of the forty-eight hour week or eight hours a day the government explains:

"The peace treaty, the terms of which the parliament of Canada has already approved, together with the action of the labor conference at Washington, recommends the adoption internationally of a forty-eight hour week of the same nature. It is our firm purpose to give legal adhesion to the terms so agreed upon. The necessity in this connection of having regard to the progress made to this end in other countries must be apparent to all. The further question as to whether the necessary legislation is within the jurisdiction of the federal parliament of Canada is now being investigated with a view of reaching an agreement with the various provinces."

COOKSVILLE TRAGEDY LOOKS LIKE ACCIDENT

Cooksville, March 4.—Frank Larson, a farmer, aged 24, yesterday was charged with murdering his brother-in-law, James Davidson, aged 32, at a shotgun, does not seem to be at all cognizant of his act, and has been in a half-stupor ever since the shooting. When T. C. Robinette jr., on behalf of his father, Larson's legal adviser, visited Larson in his cell at Brampton jail today, he was asked: "Is he dead?" referring to Davidson, and shortly afterward: "Will they give me tobacco?" showing that he does not realize the seriousness of the affair. Mr. Robinette said that he appeared to be mentally affected.

Larson declares that he can remember nothing of the shooting, nor of his subsequent arrest, but does not seem to be at all nervous or worried over the charge of murder.

Frank Larson's father, Nelson Larson, and his brother Joe, who were also arrested and taken to Brampton as material witnesses, have been released, and are now back in the village. Joe was the only witness of the tragedy except his brother, the father being in the farm barns at the time. In telling his story this morning, Joe Larson said that the shooting was entirely accidental. His story is as follows:

Constitutional Changes.

In dealing with international questions Mr. Rowell said few Canadians realized the great constitutional changes that had been going on during the past few years. "The British constitution was so flexible that during the past five years the state of the many countries which went to make up the empire had, unobserved by the people, materially changed. Mr. Rowell went on to trace the various forms of government enjoyed by Canada from its early days to the calling of the first imperial conference in London, which, he said, was the first stage in imperial unity. In 1917, said Mr. Rowell, all the premises of the empire were called in London to discuss the question of co-operation between the peoples of the various provinces. He asked men to look at problems from the other fellow's point of view as well as their own. By doing that a united Canada would be the result. Canada and the United States, said Mr. Rowell, had lived side by side in peace for 100 years. The

STERLING EXCHANGE GAINS OVER HALF OF GREAT DECLINE

Rate Advances Twelve and a Half Cents and Now Stands at $3.58 1/2.

CANADIAN DOLLAR, 88

New York, March 4.—The remarkable recovery that occurred today in sterling exchange was the dominating feature of the market. The rate, advancing 12 1/2 cents over yesterday's closing, touched $3.58 1/2, the highest since January 28. Since the best price of the year to date was $2.79 1/2, and the worst price $2.13, considerably more than half the great decline which culminated a month ago today has been recovered.

On the exchange market it was reported today that buying of exchange on London was exceptionally active and bills were not offered freely. Rates for exchange on other European markets moved similarly in their favor.

A financial man here states, that the rapid recovery in sterling has advanced 23 cents since within a week is partly reaction from a much overdone speculation for the decline. Sales of securities by London in New York have also cut a figure.

It is admitted, however, that the movement has a deeper significance. Economically the signs in Europe have been encouraging enough in the last few weeks to put some quietus on the pessimistic talk about Europe which has been the American market has been favored by the prime minister, Sir George Foster replied, "I may say that for the two months he has been away the improvement in his health has been marked, and if the same rate of improvement continues, as I hope it will, I have no reason to fear that we may not expect to have him with us, I think, within two months' time."

Ottawa, March 4.—(By Canadian Press.)—Sir George Foster announced in the house of commons this afternoon that if the present rate of improvement in the health of the prime minister continues, Sir Robert Borden would be in the house again within two months. It was Dr. Beland who asked for information as to the prime minister's condition and plans. "With reference to the health of the prime minister," Sir George Foster replied, "I may say that for the two months he has been away the improvement in his health has been marked, and if the same rate of improvement continues, as I hope it will, I have no reason to fear that we may not expect to have him with us, I think, within two months' time."

SWEDISH LOWER HOUSE VOTES TO JOIN LEAGUE

Stockholm, March 4.—By a vote of 152 to 67 the lower house of the Swedish parliament yesterday voted in favor of Swedish membership in the league of nations. He was supported by Liberal and Socialist speakers, who declared the league marked a great advance towards an effective system of international law.

The upper chamber deferred its discussion of the question of Sweden's membership in the league until later, when it is expected a vote will be reached.

WELLINGTON MAY LIBERAL WHIP FOR COMING SESSION

Hydro Affairs Likely to Attract Attention of Legislature.

$30,000,000 NEEDED

Everything is now in readiness for the session of the legislature opening on Tuesday next. Government leaders, leaders of the Liberal and Conservative parties and of the labor group have put into the mails the usual flood of invitation cards that will swamp the capacity of the legislative chamber and galleries. They all say they do not expect the opening session to be a "full dress affair," but, of course, it is entirely in the lap of the gods whether, in this instance, of the invited guests.

The labor members will use the government lobby; the Liberals will have their own old lobby across which a new partition has been thrown. The door that at present carries the legend "Solicitor to the board of election commissioners," is something of a jar. When the license board was turned out of the building and sent down town, next door to the office of their right trusty and well-beloved watchman, The Toronto World, they left several doors behind them upon which expensive lettering upon ground glass shines resplendent. The Farmers' government, being of an economical turn, used one of these second-hand doors to give access to the Liberal lobby, paying no attention to the misleading sign that will probably confuse James Haverson when he next comes looking for his friend Edo Saunders.

The Conservatives will have a lobby of their own cut out of part of the old members' smoking room, and there, for the present, at all events, G. Howard Ferguson will guard and hold the scales upon which the life of the Drury government will be daily weighed.

CLARION CALL IN COMMONS BY W. F. MACLEAN FOR RETURN TO RESPONSIBLE GOVERNMENT

Prime Minister, He Said, Should Be at Head of the Government—T. A. Crerar Says Farmers' Party Will Support Mackenzie King Amendment—Arthur Meighen Defends Unionists' Course.

DR. MICHAEL CLARK SPEAKS TODAY

Ottawa, March 4.—(Special.)—W. F. Maclean, Unionist member for South York, made a clarion call in the debate on the address in the house of commons this afternoon for a return to old parliamentary institutions and responsible government.

During the war, he said, it had been necessary to depart to some extent from parliamentary government. Now, however, peace had returned, and we must discuss the basic principles underlying our constitution, and especially the duties of the prime minister. The prime minister, he said, should be at the head of the government and lead one of the houses of parliament. He should also appoint ministers and give them their portfolios in the house. He should be able to appeal for support to every province in the Dominion.

Mr. Maclean did not question the sincerity of the statement made by Sir George Foster to the house today, that Sir Robert Borden's condition was improved, and he hoped that in a few months he would be restored to health. It was not a personal question, but the King's government must go on. The prime minister, he said, wished to resign, but his colleagues insisted upon his maintaining his present responsible position. The result would be a cabinet and intrigues in the cabinet. The only way out was a prompt return to parliamentary government.

Another feature of the day was the active part taken in the debate by the Farmers' party.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, Mr. Caldwell of Carleton, N. B., Mr. Gould of Assiniboia delivered speeches defining and defending their position. They claim to represent the majority of the people in this country. They have recently denied that their party represented a class movement or an effort to bring about class domination.

When asked whether they sought the Farmers' government in Ontario was representative of the people, Mr. Crerar, amid general laughter and applause, replied:

"I believe the Drury government, with seven farmers and one lawyer, more truly represents Ontario than did the Mackenzie King government, with seven lawyers and one farmer."

WILL FIRST TAKE UP THE WAGE DEMANDS

Conference of U. S. Railway Officials and Workers Early Next Week.

Washington, March 4.—Wage demands of 2,000,000 railroad workers will be taken up again next week, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, representatives of the brotherhoods meet officials of the railroad corporations in the first conference on the wage problems.

During the preliminary sessions the employees will be represented by the heads of the 15 unions who have fought the wage battle together since last August. The representatives of the railroad executives will likely be present tomorrow afternoon in New York. The first sessions will be for organization purposes.

It is expected here that the brotherhoods will insist that negotiations begin where they left off when the roads were returned to private control. Almost every phase of the wage situation is covered in the hearings held by the railroad administration.

M'KINNON BUILDING BLAZES: FIFTY-FIVE OFFICES AFFECTED

Spectacular Fire of Unknown Origin Completely Guts Fourth and Fifth Storeys—Damage by Fire and Water Beyond Present Estimate—Yacht Club Premises Suffer

Ancient history has repeated itself, gutted by fire 20 years ago, the McKinnon building, corner of Jordan and Melinda streets, was last night the scene of one of the most spectacular damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, but at present impossible to accurately estimate, was incurred by the 55 offices in the block, all on the fourth, fifth and many on the third storey being completely gutted by fire, while those below suffered material loss from cataracts of water. Twenty-three lines were in use, including five high pressure hoses, and every station in Toronto, including Sunnyside and the Beaches, was represented by men and fire fighting equipment.

The first alarm was sent in by Police Constable Harrison from the corner of King and Yonge streets. While patrolling his beat along Melinda street at 10:45 p.m. he noticed flames and smoke emerging from the roof of the building. Within three minutes from the time the first alarm was sent in the fire reels were on the scene and playing two lines of hose on the burning building.

The fire broke out in the fifth and top storey of the building and the flames were shooting high in the air by the time the fire reels arrived. High pressure lines were played against the walls of the building and against the rear of the building from the roof of the Merchants' Hotel. Over 20 lines of hose were brought into operation in addition to the high pressure lines.

A section of the roof collapsed shortly after the firemen arrived, falling with a crash to the fourth storey floor, which was still intact. The roof of the building was highly inflammable, being made of tar, and the flames were not easily subdued in this section.

Beyond Estimate.

The damage to the building and contents could not be estimated, although it is quite probable that it will run into tens of thousands of dollars. C. A. B. Brown, trustee of the board of education, who was a spectator of the conflagration, stated to The World that in the offices of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club alone there was between McKinnon building and the Yacht Club, owned by J. M. Dent & Sons adjoins, on the west side.

$3,000 and $4,000 of oil paintings in addition to other valuable contents.

There are fifty-five offices in the building in all, and the damage could not be estimated even approximately. Damage by water will probably entail loss exceeding that of the fire.

The fire was successfully confined to the building by the firemen, and there was no danger of the flames spreading to the adjacent premises. The Merchants' Hotel is at the rear of the building and flames ten feet long leaped from the windows. Two high-pressure streams were turned on the corner of the roof of the Murray Press building and the flames subsided somewhat under its deluge. In the meantime the flames in the remainder of the building burst out brighter than ever. At 12:46 the fire was still not under control. Pressure is becoming stronger every minute and water shoots high above the building.

It was afterwards learned that when the telegraph pole fell the wires struck an aerial. Harry Hawkins, a houseman from No. 2 at 10th, was knocked from the top of this and fell nearly 70 feet. The force of his fall was broken by telephone wires and he was caught by firemen in a net. His leg was broken from the impact against the wires.

At 1:15 the fire was confined to the east side of the building and water was pouring in from the roof of all the adjoining buildings.

Loan Statistics Burned.

Among other serious losses were the complete Victory Loan statistics held in the offices of W. L. McKinnon & Co., stock broker.

At 1:20 p.m. the flames broke out with renewed vigor and spread themselves into the third storey, making special ravages into the east wing of the V-shaped premises. The floor of the fifth storey and the roof had by this time completely fallen in, while the floor of the fourth

ONTARIO FACING TWO BIG PROBLEMS

Premier Drury, at London, Says His Government Will Do Best to Solve Them.

FARMERS MORE FARSEENING

London, March 4.—London welcomed Premier E. C. Drury with mixed emotions when he addressed two thousand representatives of capital and labor, city and county, at a banquet tonight in the Masonic temple, closing the convention of the Mutual-aid League of Ontario. The farmers cheered him enthusiastically; the representatives of the chamber of commerce voted him an excellent speaker, and the speakers who represented the labor side, the R.C.O. soldiers, the city of London and the manufacturers paid him sincere tributes.

John Bridge, representing the chamber of commerce, admitted that the mildness and reasonableness of the new government's conduct since its election had been a considerable but a reassuring surprise to those who had anticipated blue ruin when the old party forces went down to defeat last autumn.

Frank Glass, M.P. for East Middlesex, evoked loud applause when he urged the London Chamber of Commerce, largely represented at the banquet, to give the name of heaven and common sense to leave daylight saving alone this coming summer. "They do not understand the inconvenience it meant to the dairymen and other agriculturists," he said.

Mayor said little beyond the premier to London, and expressed the belief that the Province of Ontario was going to enjoy better government in the future.

The Premier's Address.

There were two great problems to be faced intelligently, said the premier, beginning his address. There was the problem of reconstruction and the problem of changing its policy after the war. These two problems confronted the new government at a time of great social unrest. The important thing was to guide this unrest into constructive and reconstructive channels.

One heard a lot about serious consequences these days. But something wider and broader was wanted, a citizen consciousness. Many of the cities had heard that the new government would upset the laborer's general feeling. But they did not intend to.

The farmers had formerly one big fault. They were inclined to see further than their own line fence. But organization had changed all that. The farmers had learned to understand the city people and had made up their mind to make the city people understand them. More sympathy was needed between city and country, and between capital and labor. There was a great work to do and he had confidence that aided by the people generally, his government would succeed in doing it.

Referring to the question of immigration, Premier Drury said: "We want immigration of people that we can put into Canadian jobs. We want immigration that will form merely a laboring class for the employing class to exploit."

As to road improvement, he said the roads from every man's gate to the market point, and main thoroughfares that would reasonably take care of the traffic of the province. The government proposed a system of road maintenance and did not intend to build new roads and then let them deteriorate without repairs until new roads had to be built again.

On the school question he said that a system of education was not complete when it sprinkled a university here and there. All the schools must be improved so that every boy and girl would enjoy a reasonably excellent education. Reproduction of timber resources, protection of forest areas against fire and restoration were important matters that the new government proposed to further. One thing that ought to be done was to loosen up the land which made private members mere voting machines. Why not let a man in whom they had confidence sufficient to elect him, use his own good sense in voting for measures that came up. According to census government the government would be expected to resign if a government bill to dig a ditch, say down in Essex, was defeated.

Lieut.-Col. Brown, J. W. Freeborn, G.A., United Farmers elected in East Middlesex; E. H. Stonehouse, president of the National Dairy Council; Dr. H. Stevenson, M.L.A., labor victor in London, and E. Whelan, B.S.A., who presided, were other speakers.

YORK COUNTY AND SUBURBS

ABATTOIR EMPLOYE RETIRES.

An interesting presentation was made to one of the employees of the Abattoir last night when G. W. Reid was presented with a fine leather club bag, subscribed for by his fellow workers. Superintendent Scott in making the presentation, said the firm was sorry to lose the services of Mr. Reid, who had accepted a position in another packing plant in the United States.

RELATED TO KUT HERO.

Ronald Townshend of Sutton, England, is visiting relatives on St. Clair avenue. He is an ex-imperial soldier and was attached to the R.A.S.C. during the war and was at the front for three and a half years. Townshend is related to General Townshend, who surrendered to the Turk at Kut. A. Douglas, pilot in the R.C.O., was killed in France while flying over the German lines. Young Townshend is taking up farming at Beamsville, Ont.

DANCERS SUFFER THEFTS.

For several weeks past articles of value have been missed by the patrons of the Belmont Hotel dances, which is run under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. In charge of Sgt. Jim Stockley. A complaint was made at last week's dance of the loss of a coat with the result that Allge Morton of Harvie avenue was arrested and charged with the theft. She was sent to the jail farm for five days.

CO-OPERATIVE MOVEMENT.

Joseph Smith of the Toronto police force, member of the co-operative movement in Toronto, gave a short talk last night at Belmont Hall at the regular meeting of the veterans. An effort is to be made to interest Parliament in the local end of the movement and a committee is to be formed here for that purpose. The returned men are to be asked to assist.

EARLCOURT RIFLE CLUB.

The new rifle club to be formed in the Earlcourt district has for its president, A. G. Clark of the Imperial Bank branch at Boon and St. Clair. The membership is to be limited to 25 members and the annual fee is $5. Arrangements are being made to hold a banquet, after which the season's work will be laid out.

DANFORTH DWELLING BURNS.

An outbreak of fire from some unknown cause occurred at the residence of T. Douglas, 182 Browning avenue, at 8.25 yesterday morning, causing damage to the amount of $600. The fire raged promptly on the scene and the loss, it is stated, is covered by insurance.

JONES MEN'S CLASS PROGRESSES

The men's class of Jones Avenue Baptist Church is comparatively new organization—is rapidly progressing in membership. The regular Thursday evening gatherings are provided with games and other amusements, under the supervision of W. Howard, chairman, and committee of management, J. T. Bowes is president. As a special attraction, Rev. David Blackett, who visited the war zone as representative of the Young People of Canada, will deliver an illustrated lecture on an early date.

RED CROSS AT DANFORTH

A resident Red Cross nurse for the Danforth Park, Woodbine Heights and Edendale district has been appointed recently by the M.O.H. and York Township Council. The nurse has a staff of assistants under her supervision, and all urgent cases of sickness requiring aid receive attention. The scheme was adopted chiefly, it is stated, on account of the difficulty of securing accommodation for township patients in city hospitals for some time past and during the periods of outbreaks of infectious diseases. The officials of local ratepayers' associations, if applied to, can procure nursing assistance for residents. Red Cross nurses are also resident in other sections of the township.

WATER RATE BY METER

It is not generally known throughout York Township that the water is being charged to residents by meter rate by York Township Council since Jan. 1, and that the rate has been reduced from last year's figures.

ADVERTISING PAYS FANCIERS

A good showing of poultry and rabbits was held at the regular monthly meeting of the Todmorden and Feathers Association, held in Torrens Avenue School last evening. E. R. Durand gave an interesting talk on the advertising and production and show business. The speaker pointed out that the American poultry men have "put it over" the Canadian man, not because of the superior quality of their birds, but thru grasping the great advantage of judicious and clever advertising. "Advertising your activities in the production and show lines will enhance the value of your birds more than fourfold," declared the speaker.

There was a good attendance.

BETHANY CHILDREN ENTERTAINED.

Under the auspices of the officials and superintendents, the children of the primary department of Bethany Baptist Church, Todmorden, were entertained to tea and a social evening yesterday in the church. The pupils, to the number of 60, with their parents and friends sat down to table presided over by Mrs. Knight, superintendent, and Mrs. Lunham, assistant superintendent. During the given by Rev. E. Gray, pastor. It was pointed out that additional accommodation will be provided for the primary class, which is growing in numbers with marvelous rapidity.

NEWMARKET UNVEILS MEMORIAL TO SLAIN

Newmarket, March 4.—A memorial tablet bearing the names of forty-five soldiers who were members of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church here, four of whom made the supreme sacrifice, was unveiled last night in the church auditorium. A very fitting service was held, led by Rev. H. E. Thomas, pastor of the church, who paid tribute to the part played by St. Andrew's Church in the war. "Those who died," he said, "yielded up their lives willingly in a great cause to safeguard the freedom of the world."

A banquet was given in honor of the returned veterans of the congregation. A large attendance was on hand and the event was a notable one in the history of the church.

RED CROSS FAVORS "DISASTER" PLAN

Geneva Congress Would Have Organization Ready in Every Community.

Geneva, March 3.—The Congress of Red Cross Societies, in session here today, authorized the administration department of the International Red Cross League to proceed at once with a world-wide scheme of preparedness for disasters.

The plan contemplates a Red Cross disaster organization in every community, composed of a group of representative women. The resources at the disposal of the various communities would be tabulated and everything placed in readiness for instant use in the event of trouble.

Each organization under the plan suggested would include physicians, nurses, social workers, canteen workers, motor corps, a number of business men and supplies of cots, blankets, cooking utensils, hospital facilities and food.

FATHER FAINTED.

Joseph then ran to the barn and told his father, who fainted when he saw Davidson. The actions of the Larsons in the next two hours are not fully known, as they were naturally dazed by the occurrence. Mrs. Joe Larson was notified and shortly before 3 p.m. Dr. A. H. McFadden was summoned. On his arrival the police were notified and the arrests made without difficulty.

Some credence may be given to Joe Larson's statement that the shooting was accidental, since the shotgun must have been discharged from a point very near the floor. In the ceiling, directly over the chair, beside which Davidson was found, is the spot where the shot took effect after tearing away part of the dead man's skull. The gun could not have been aimed with any degree of accuracy from the level from which it must have been discharged. The accused and Davidson were sitting quite close together, the room where the shooting took place being only ten feet square.

T. C. Robbette will personally defend the accused if a true bill is found. The trial will take place next autumn at the Exemption assizes, and in the meantime Larson will be held in the Brampton jail. The inquest will be held next Wednesday night at Cooksville.

drink. No one was angry; there was no trouble between my brother and my brother-in-law. Davidson sat in the corner by the window, next to a cupboard and table, while Frank was in the opposite corner by the window. I sat on the bed near the door. There were no harsh words. Frank laughed, I laughed, and Davidson laughed. We were just having a few minutes' talk. Suddenly Frank picked up the shotgun, that was standing just behind him in the corner, and cocked it once or twice just as he was examining it. I got up, looked around, and the gun went off. Davidson fell to the floor, and I ran out to tell father who was working in the barn. It was quite accidental in my opinion, as Frank and Jim were the best of friends and always had been."

GOVERNMENT REFUSES RIGHT TO ORGANIZE

Little's increase in Forces.

The government denies that there has been any substantial increase in the Canadian military forces and explains the increase in the national police force by the amalgamation of the Dominion police and the Royal Northwest Mounted Police.

Restrictive immigration regulations, it is explained, are already in effect.

The government asks for suggestions from the labor congress on co-operative legislation, protection of union labels, violation of the fair wage clause and changes in the industrial disputes act. It is pointed out that the federal government has already given substantial assistance in solving the housing problem, also that restrictive orders in council were for the dispersal, not the loyal, citizens of the country.

The government refuses to place rural mail carriers under the civil service or to interfere in the internal management of the national railways, pointing out that thru their railway unions labor can negotiate with the National Railway Board.

Proportional representation advocated by the Labor Congress, it is stated, will be considered at a speakers' conference.

In making a written reply to the labor council's requests and suggestions, the government has changed the official method. Usually only consideration was promised, but now each question is reviewed in detail, and the government's decision plainly set forth.

RAILWAY BOARD HEARS APPEALS

Twelve Matters Up for Consideration Include Dangerous Toronto Crossings.

The Board of Railway Commissioners of Canada met yesterday in the city hall, when twelve applications were on the list for consideration. F. B. Carvell, chairman of the board, presided, and with him were Commissioners MacLean and Boyce. The application of J. A. and H. M. Pettit of Freeman, Ontario, for a change in the location of stock shipping facilities at Burlington, Ont., on the G. T. R., on account of the present location being inadequate and dangerous, was adjourned. The railway company objected on account of the expense, they being asked to put in a new spur on property not belonging to them. The chair suggested that all the parties interested endeavor to come to some agreement. The commissioners will hear evidence at Windsor in the application by the village of Belle River to have the Grand Trunk Railway provide a suitable crossing where Church street in the village intersects the company's lands. Mr. Chisholm, for the G.T.R., produced titles dated 1869, in favor of the Great Western Railway Company, which showed no street, and he said no change had taken place since. Chairman Carvell said the board must have evidence to support the application. The board authorized expropriation by the C.P.R. of a thirty-foot strip of land belonging to Edmund Agnew, township of Nassaragwaya. They stated this strip was required for maintaining fences. Damages will be settled by negotiation or arbitration. Chairman Carvell and Mr. MacLean intimated that in the matter of protection of Dundas street crossing, Trenton, on the C.N.R., they had visited the location and found that sufficient protection was provided. They, however, were of the opinion that the watchman's box should be moved from its present position to its original location. A tree obstructs the watchman's view of the line from the box. Judgment was reserved in the complaint of the township of Clarke and residents of Starkville and Kendall, relative to the freight and passenger train service of the C.N.R. Counsel for the railway company stated that the amount of traffic did not justify them stopping the fast train at Starkville. As the proper parties had not been convened regarding the protection of the Garrison road crossing at Amigan Station, township of Bert, on the G. T. R., consideration of the matter was adjourned. Parties Reasonable. Chairman Carvell said, in regard to the protection of the stone road crossing two miles east of Wolhand, on the M. C. R., that the parties involved were so reasonable, the matter would be left to them to adjust. An application of the department of lands, forests and mines, Ontario, for approval of a plan showing proposed crossing of the Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury trunk road over the tracks of the C.P.R.'s Sault Ste. Marie branch at Algoma Station, was adjourned pending the production of certain titles and evidence to support the application. The department say the railway company acquiesced in the crossing by showing same upon a plan annexed to a deed of land. The highway runs north and south from the railway tracks. The commissioners, on the application of the city of Toronto, ordered that two watchmen be employed during 16 hours each day to protect the crossing of the C.P.R., G.T.R. and C.N.R., on Eastern avenue, Toronto, immediately west of the Don River. The city asked for the installation of gates and the appointment of a watchman. In regard to the expense, all parties have to submit, in writing, a statement of what they consider a reasonable contribution by each. The last application heard was one by the city of Toronto to have the three railways provide ample protection at the crossing in Riverdale Park.

Toronto. A double fatality occurred at this point last fall. The board ordered that the watchman should be on duty till midnight, the extra expense to be borne by the parties proportionately to what they are at present paying. Chairman Carvell expressed himself strongly that the public are very much to blame for the carelessness in negotiating crossings, and said that in installing gates at all the crossings in Canada for their protection was impossible. Even when gates were lowered, people would cross over the tracks and take a chance.

BARRACKS REPLACE ASYLUM PREMISES
Military to Use Site Originally Sold to Grand Trunk.

The old asylum premises on Queen street at the foot of Ossington ave. are to be converted into a military barracks, and will replace Stanley barracks, the site of which is to be used to enlarge the Exhibition grounds. This move disposes also of the proposal to build a barracks in Rosedale on the St. Andrew's College site. The asylum property consists of 27 1/2 acres with a frontage of 1470 feet on Queen and a depth of 800 feet. About 800 soldiers could be accommodated in the present building, but there is ample space for any new building that may be needed and for drill grounds. The main building was completed in 1848 and over 14,000 patients have been treated there. Five hundred patients were transferred recently to the new hospital for the insane at Whitby and 600 remain to be transferred as soon as accommodation has been provided at Whitby. The asylum property was sold by the provincial government some years ago to the Grand Trunk Railway and it now comes into possession of the federal government with the purchase of the G. T. R. by the federal government. It is regarded as an ideal site for a barracks on account of its proximity to rail and water transportation and to the centre of the city.

HARD FACTS ABOUT REAL FARMERS

Never Will Join Hands With City, Says Sir Andrew MacPhail.

Sir Andrew MacPhail was introduced by Chairman Gilderzie to the Empire Club yesterday as capable of a most sympathetic study of the farmer. Sir Andrew said that universities were fond of cracking nuts and he had no objection to giving them nuts to crack. He preferred on this occasion to be simple, and in stating that his subject was the farmer, he felt he must tell the truth. No man could carry on business if he had the truth always before him. He had to cultivate a spasm of optimism, but he was convinced that occasionally there was a point at which optimism passed quite definitely into folly. They were often afraid to tell the truth to themselves lest certain appliances and for a time food had been cheaper than since the world began. He was not saying that the discovery was the greatest calamity of history. It created a reservoir into which the best elements of the world were drained, so that the rest of the world was poorer, and the reservoir was not much enriched. They had forgotten the operation of natural laws, losing sight of them in the discussion of their natural resources. A recently enfranchised surfranchisee had stated that if Canada were as thickly populated as Belgium she would have a population of 225,000,000. He turned from this folly to realize that the only wealth of a country was its men and women. An estimate had been made some years ago that the lumber of the country would last 484 years, but he understood they had dropped the 400 and were disputing how much of the 84 was valid. For every tree cut down by the woodman's ax 22 were destroyed by fire. They talked glibly about replacing their resources, if their pine forests had disappeared and would never be replaced in our time, nor in God's time. Coal in Canada was situated at both ends, and less coal was raised than seven years ago. The great movements of the present, even the great movement of 1914, the disappearance of the forests, was due to the removal of nitrogen from the soil. The days were gone forever when a man could go out to the woods and streams and find his own sustenance. Farmer's Standpoint. The only man who faced these facts was the farmer himself. When the farmer went into politics he ceased to be a farmer and became a politician. He might get into his head that he had some sympathy or alliance with those in the city. He never had, never could have, and never would have. He heard three soldiers in a place where you got a drink in France discussing the news. "What are the news?" asked one. "The news are good," was the reply. "The shells are falling in Paris." This, he thought, represented the innate hostility between city and country. Transportation only succeeded in spreading out the famine conditions of life a little more thinly. Everything the farmer did was done in his spare time. When he had done enough for himself, he had to work seven or eight hours more to produce enough to keep those of us who live in the city. He knew a farmer who had become quite wealthy, having $80,000 in the bank, with forty cattle, machinery, and other equipment. Having gone to the railway station one day for fertilizer, he found the station agent had locked up and gone fishing. The farmer went home, sold his farm and cattle and machinery, retired to the village, and now goes fishing with the station agent. The most serious side of the question was that when the spare time system had been abolished, all the work done in factories, not in spare time, all the women were left idle, or to play the pianos and organs which he had been speaking of. In England, 100 acres will support 45 persons. In America, 100 acres will only support two and one-half persons. Machinery is the most expensive form of labor, for machines have to be made to make other machines. Everything had been done to get rid of the old injunction that a man must earn his bread in the sweat of his face. The rural delivery of mail had cut him off from the occasional intercourse he used to have with his neighbors at the store. The telephone was used, he was informed, by the farmer's wife in her spare half hours in collecting the gossip of the neighborhood. The best thing to do with the farmer was to leave him alone. No one knew better than he what to do with his money. "You offered to build him roads, but they were not for him but for yourselves," said Sir Andrew, "but you make him pay for them." (Laughter.)

The war was merely the closing of an old era and not the beginning of a new one. The forces were evident 19 years ago, and would have worked themselves out even had there been no war. The Tribal God. "We who lived in the cities are without our God," was the sentence he borrowed from Dr. Mavor in conclusion. It was only in the country that the tribal God and the family altar was established. In the city they followed false and material gods, and the only remedy was starvation. He thought optimistically on this point. His friends thought it would not come specdily. He thought it would come very soon. This, he said, was the measure of his optimism. The real problem was for a man to keep himself upright on his feet, and keep himself warm. The value of a ton and a half of coal was 24 horses working 24 hours a day, in terms of electricity. We had to face facts, but we had entirely lost sight of the heavenly mansions on account of the bodily comfort of our earthly mansions. One night in France he had mistaken the sobbing of an engine for human sorrow, but he thought it might be taken as an illustration. The engine was sobbing out her grief because the end of the material world had come. J. E. Morrison, a farmer, in expressing thanks for Sir Andrew's address, declared he endorsed every word of it, and believed 75 per cent, of those in the back concessions also would.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5

O, Glorious Slop!

Yesterday the sun glared the winter of our discontent out of countenance. You thanked Providence for the first spring slop. By eleven o'clock the water was chasing itself down the sidewalks on the banked snow; the sidewalks were slushy; children with their shovels trained the streamlets to their will, and on the calves of their rubber boots the mud splashed merrily. On downtown pavements, whence the snow had been removed, personal locomotion was like walking on grease. But it was a glorious day and everything, including the problem of exchequer, wore the bright garb of hope.

The papers said the groundhog had appeared at Alisa Craig, and as you read you recalled that ten days ago when the thermometer was grievously depressed, a squirrel skipped across the white lawn, and sped up and down the trees swiftly as if summer had already come.

If we cannot forget the winter, which seemed as if it would never go, we shall be delighted to remember the spring—if it will only live up to the promise of the fourth of March. That is a big "if," but the most must be made of it.

Let Canada Give a Lead.

Mr. Rowell gives frequent addresses about the great advances in Canada's international position which her membership of the league of nations assures. They are good speeches—lawyerly speeches—as the one yesterday to the Ontario Bar Association was bound to be. But they usually give the impression of a statesman who is feeling like Charles Lamb's poor relation at table. There seems no punch behind what Canada is doing at home or abroad to make forceful her calling and election as a full-fledged nation.

Mr. Rowell deplores the reluctance of the United States to enter the league, and says that the delay is damaging the league's prestige—which is true. He also reminds us that the objects of the league are to substitute international conflict and to establish international peace. But he tells nothing which indicates that Canada says anything to the league or sets an example to her fellow-members of promoting the prevention of war.

Canada led the western hemisphere in the fight to preserve democracy. The more the United States fails to play up to its later record during the war the greater the opportunity for Canada to furnish, by democratic statesmanship, in aid of peaceful democracy, a lead comparable to the military lead of 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917. When the United States was too proud to fight, but the acting minister for external affairs talks all the time like a lawyer expounding a brief.

About our opportunity in the league of nations it will be a godsend if some responsible person will speak like a man with red blood in his veins and, to use a healthy Shakespearean word, some guts in his body.

Quebec's Feathers.

It is curious that the vociferous welcome given to the acting premier's French speech to the commons should be followed by some declarations from Quebec members that seemingly have clouded the fair prospect of amity between the old province and some of her neighbors.

Mr. Gauthier, of St. Hyacinthe, waved aside the olive branches that had been tendered by such doves of good-will as Mr. Cronyn of London, by saying that Quebec will await her province before she will confer with other provinces. Mr. Trahan has said that this was not a threat. But it was evidence that Quebec's feathers are up.

In the upper chamber Senator Dandurand has shown how ruffled the French-Canadians are when they contemplate the Union government. They are not so much ruffled as when they are treated to the French-Canadian side of the French in the French province, there is no telling what might happen.

Our French compatriots are, after all, very responsive to any proof of true good-will. Forgiveness for any real or imaginary injury comes naturally to them. If there are instances of impatience—as in the case of one statesman towards whom they have conceived a persistent repugnance—they are the exceptions which prove the rule.

The fact is that on the English-speaking side there is room for very much broader and deeper understanding of the French and their contribution to Canadian history and development. Every editor in Quebec reads the Ontario papers as readily as his own. Nothing like as much can be said about ourselves. They think they know how we think. We take very little trouble to ascertain how they think. When things go wrong the discomfiting remarks made by both sides have a knack of coming to the printed surface. When feathers are raised the true plumage is obscured. Each people is too much encouraged to think badly of the other, but when personal meetings take place nothing interferes with personal friendship. The problem of the provinces is to translate private amenities to public understanding.

What many will take to be an imperial feather from Quebec was shown yesterday in the address of Mr. Gagne of Montreal to the Ontario Bar Association, on the relation of appeals to the privy council to Canadian jurisprudence. Mr. Gagne exalted the practice of settling Canadian law disputes in London, and avowed that he was speaking the Quebec mind. Those who know Quebec know that the real reason for this devotion to what most of us think is a worn out subordination is the French-Canadian distrust of the English-Canadian sense of justice. To the French-Canadian like Mr. Gagne, London is his big brother; and when he snuggles up to the privy council, his feather is up. Mr. Gagne was too diplomatic to tell the truth as bluntly as this, but it is the truth all the same.

Topsy's Wrong Fiddle.

There are movements and petitions in York township for annexation of some parts of the city, and for the erection of others into towns. The township is one of the anomalies of municipal government. It encompasses the city almost as an ox-yoke yoke goes round the neck of an ox. Thirty-five thousand people are constituents of the York township council. They are mainly an urban population, and want urban services of every kind. But they have what is really a rural form of government.

Whether they should split up into distinctly rural communities, be absorbed by the city, or set up as independent towns are questions which reflect an unsatisfactory method of city development, under provincial legislative auspices. Toronto has overflowed not only into York but into Scarborough township. More or less compactly occupied districts abound in both areas. Their appearance suggests that Toronto is a civic Topsy—she just growed.

Ontario legislation has taken little cognizance of the larger problems connected with the expansion of cities. There should be special oversight of the change from rural into suburban and then into the city estate, so to secure efficient and economical local government, prevent undue speculation, and give to the expanding areas a maximum possible degree of city advantages at a cost which will not react injuriously upon them or on the city when they join with it. Leaving what is really urban development to the methods of rural management is like expecting a man to produce fine music from a fiddle whose strings have been transposed.

Farmers Are Not Dangerous.

One man will always take Mr. Coak-shutt seriously, and will agree with his view that the farmers' movement, typified by the advent of a third party to the house of commons, is dangerous to the country. Every movement that has broken away from the traditional line-up of things has been labeled as dangerous to the state. So innocent a doctrine as public ownership of rail-ways was for years in this category at Ottawa, and wherever magnates or their vassals gathered together. It is not long since Lloyd George was denounced by the men who now follow his leadership as the most menacing creature in the British Empire. The dangerous men of yesterday dwell in the odor of sanctity tomorrow.

The farmers' movement, like all assertions of discontent, expresses itself sometimes with an extremity of language and a rigidity of view which displeases men of wide experience. But, like the labor movement, it is the outgrowth of a dissatisfaction with past conditions, and an aspiration for permanent improvement that can never land anywhere except it say and do unacceptable things. You can't get rid of evils in the body politic without purging, and purging is never a beatific process.

Nobody can thoroughly grasp every phase of the economic overturn to which the war has subjected the world. Elements in the community which for long periods have not reaped the just reward of their toil, and have been told to be content with that state of life in which they have been told to please God to place them are like children who are sick and do not know what is the matter. They do not expertly prescribe remedies for their ailments, so they cry, and make those who listen to them uncomfortable.

No large political and economic re-organization ever takes place unless and until those who are hungering for better things cry aloud and spare not. People who work hard, and are ambitious to hold what they win from the earth, are never dangerous, except to those who, they believe, are unnecessarily in their way. Impatience can denounce the farmers' movement. Those that understand it will observe it with patience and hope.

The Auto Upstairs.

Toronto is operating a ten-storey automobile garage, that will outdo a nine-storey building in Boston, which cost $1,700,000.

How far the custom of housing autos on flat above flat may reduce the amount of street parking, it is impossible to say. Perhaps one of these days an expert will estimate the amount of deterioration that befalls the fine machine when it stands day after day in heat, cold, rain and frost. Capitalized, perhaps, this depreciation might mean several ten-storey garages.

The automobile has become as necessary an adjunct to civilization as a suit of clothes. When the deputy minister of highways predicts that before long there will be half a million gasoline couriers of the road in Ontario, his prophecy is more substantial than are most shadows of things to come. With better highways there will be more and more road transport, and presently the newspapers may carry as goodly a proportion of advertisements for automobile road traffic as the English newspapers now are carrying.

The auto can never put the steam locomotive and trolley out of business; but it has become a prime traffic factor to be reckoned with by all who are concerned with the expansion of rail transportation. Improved facilities for one kind of traffic means an increase of every kind.

PORTUGUESE ROYALISTS GATHERING ON FRONTIER

London, March 4.—Portuguese royalists are gathering on the Spanish frontier, and several, including one who is said to be prominent, have secretly passed into Portugal, says a despatch to The Daily Mail, filed at Vigo, Spain, on Wednesday. Motorists arriving in Vigo report that the strike in Portugal, which was at first confined to private railroads and tramways, and that postal and telegraph workers encountered large bodies of troops along the roads leading to the frontier. Reports received yesterday that a soviet form of government, are not as yet confirmed.

Governors of McGill Decide To Make a Canadian Principal

Montreal, March 4.—The governors of McGill University decided last night to depart from tradition and select a Canadian instead of an old country professor as principal. The post was vacant by the resignation of Sir John G. Gies, who, he appointed to it, never occupied it, and has now been appointed British ambassador to Washington.

TO REVISE FRONTIER OF DANZIG CITY ARE AWAITING WORD FROM TURK CAPITAL

London, March 4.—Replying to a question in the house of commons today regarding the massacre of Armenians, Premier Lloyd George said that he had been the subject of very anxious consideration at the allied conference, and the conference had reached a decision which had been communicated to their representatives at Constantinople.

It would not be advisable, added the premier, to make public at this moment the character of that decision. What would be done regarding it would depend upon the advice he received from the Turkish capital. "We are awaiting that advice now," continued the premier, "but I can assure the house that we are fully alive to the gravity of the position and the need of taking very strong measures to protect minorities as far as can be done in a country of this kind. I hope to be able to make a statement in a very short time, but we are at the present moment awaiting the views of the representatives of all the allies at Constantinople upon the suggestion which we put forward."

MEXICAN BANDIT HANGS SUBORDINATE

Washington, March 4.—Information received by the state department indicates that Mexican bandits had planned to kidnap and hold for ransom Augustus Morrill, formerly American consul at Manzanillo, and that the bandit, Manuel Ramirez, exceeded orders in killing him.

Ramirez was hanged by the bandit chief, Carona, within 25 yards of the scene of the murder, a punishment for the murder, said an announcement today by the department. "On the murderer's shirt was found a penciled note reading: 'Manuel Ramirez, soldier, died for the assassination he committed. Executed by order of Cipriano Carona.' Morrill's horse was shot under him. Morrill received a shot in the right breast and he fell after running 20 yards. He received a second shot in the back of the head, evidently fired at him while he lay helpless. The amount of money taken from him is unknown."

THE GIRL WHO SMILED THRU

By MARION RUBINCAM

PROTEST.
CHAPTER 23.
It had been agreed between Alice and David that the wedding should be delayed.
After all, we hadn't planned definitely to be married in late July. Alice had argued, "And things are now I don't see how I can do it. Mother has been a little worse than usual, and there are a lot of reasons. Lois thinks a Mrs. Bradshaw in New York will offer her a home for the winter and send her to a business college. That will leave me free again."
And Alice had smiled and reassured him into a better humor. But lately he had ceased to protest so much.
But Alice had not given him all her reasons—there was one thing she hated to talk about. The little in come they had, was, in the past, enough for necessities of life. Alice's good management and the occasional money she made with her garden and her canning, brought in a few luxuries. But Lois had increased their expenses by more than a third. For Lois liked dainties, and Alice good-naturedly liked to give them to her.
"It's funny to see her eyes light up like a kid's when I make a layer cake," Alice told her mother. "Of course, it takes six eggs and I could sell them for a lot now—eggs are getting awfully high."
So was everything else getting high. The little income had ceased to reach, and occasional timid inroads had been made into the principal since Lois' advent.
"If I marry David, it will be all right for there'll be enough to do your expenses when you live with us at the farm," Alice said cheerfully. "If I don't I'll take a position this fall."
"If you don't, Mrs. Bradshaw," Mrs. Bradshaw said, "My dear, what do you mean?"
"Nothing," Alice said innocently, and went on about her work. Her mother heard her in the garden singing, but the old lady shook her head and looked troubled.
Perhaps it was this doubt which crept into her mind, that made her watchful the day when Mrs. Bradshaw, Fairbanks, life was ordinarily a simple affair. When two people fell in love and were engaged they were as good as married, and that either should have any serious doubts or another person never entered her mind. If people married and were unhappy, that was bad, but after all, life was not overly joyful! That the strong,

WELLINGTON HAY FOR LIBERAL WHIP

Wellington, Hay will be the Liberal whip, instead of George Hurman of Ottawa, who lost his seat in the general election. He arrived in Toronto yesterday from St. Petersburg, Florida. The Liberal front bench has been arranged in the following order: Dewar, Sam Clark, Sinclair, Tomlin, Mr. Marshall, Calder, Mewhinney. Sam Clark talks sense as well as dry fun. Sinclair, formerly a member of the House of Commons, is one of the soundest lawyers in the province and a thorough parliamentarian. He is a strong temperance man, and is a Major Tomlin and Tom Marshall are both men of personality, experience and sound judgment. Mr. Dewar and Mr. Sinclair are types of the best agriculturists of western Ontario, and both are excellent speakers.

FEW BOXES OF TALCUM AND OCEANS OF WHISKEY

Chicago, March 4.—The "talcum powder druggists," whose equipment is said to consist of a box or two of talcum powder, for which they display purposes, and an inexhaustible supply of whiskey, for medicinal purposes, were under investigation today by federal officials in connection with the arrest of two physicians last night. One of the doctors is said to have 200 prescriptions for whiskey, each collecting a fee of from $1 to $7 per prescription, depending upon the nature of the patient's cough.

"The motorcycle caused the greatest excitement of all," he says, "but soon there were a great many motorcycles there, and now they create no excitement whatever."

It is likely as not that he will have to get the thirty millions by borrowing alone, and that he will have to get the money by borrowing alone. He will have to get the money by borrowing alone.
