NEGOTIATIONS WITH SINN FEIN ARE REPORTED

Rumors Current in Lobby of British Commons

Galway Council Passes Favorable Resolution—Labor Leader Has Talk With Griffith—Son of Defender of Ladysmith Arrested.

London, Dec. 4.—There are rumors in the parliamentary lobbies that indirect negotiations are proceeding between members of the government and Sinn Fein.

The London Times gives prominence to the report and says: "The rumors seem not entirely baseless, though the precise character of the negotiations, if such they may be called, can at present only be surmised."

There seems to be no doubt, adds the paper, that Arthur Henderson has at least an informal mandate to explore the avenues which might lead to Irish peace.

GALWAY COUNCIL IN SUPPORT OF IT.

Dublin, Dec. 4.—Resolutions appealing to the Irish republican parliament to negotiate a truce with a view to securing an honorable peace were passed by the Galway county council, a republican body, yesterday.

The resolution expressed the opinion that the British government should withdraw the ban on meetings of the Irish republican parliament so that the latter might appoint delegates. They declared the present reign of shootings and burnings, reprisals and counter reprisals detrimental to the interest of both Britain and Ireland.

It was ordered that this resolution should be sent to Premier Lloyd George together with the resolution passed by the Galway urban council, supporting an appeal by Robert N. Sweetman, a Sinn Fein member of parliament for North Wexford, suggesting a truce. It is said that the belief exists that Mr. Sweetman is not acting solely in his own behalf in making his proposal.

London, Dec. 4.—The Daily Chronicle's political correspondent writes this morning: "The possibility of conversations between Sinn Fein leaders and the government are still being mooted in political circles. The idea is stimulated by the fact that Arthur Henderson and others of the labor party delegation to Ireland had a talk with Arthur Griffith at Mount Joy prison in Dublin. Henderson made no secret of his desire to build a bridge, if he can, between the antagonistic interests and there is reason to believe he communicated his desire to the government before he set out for Ireland. The government of course, has always shown a willingness to listen to any representative body of opinion in Ireland, and only on Thursday, in the House of Commons, Lloyd George emphasized his attitude."

Capt. J. R. White Arrested.

Belfast, Dec. 4.—Capt. J. R. White, son of the late Field Marshal Sir George S. White, defender of Ladysmith, Natal, during the South African war, has been arrested in Dublin. The charge is not stated.

Countess Denies.

Dublin, Dec. 4.—At the court martial of the Countess of Grosvenor, presided over by M. P. for St. Patrick's Division of Dublin City, concluded yesterday. The countess was charged with conspiring to organize a body of Sinn Fein boys scouts. In her testimony the countess indignantly denied making statements attributed to her by the crown counsel. She declared that the Boy Scout movement was started in 1909, long before the Irish Volunteers, and that, according to English law it was not illegal to drill boys of fifteen years of age and teach them their history and languages. She said she stood on the principles of freedom as enunciated by President Wilson.

Meeting Abandoned.

London, Dec. 4.—By Canadian Associated Press.—Additional powers have been conferred upon the lord mayor of Liverpool to enable him to prescribe public meetings and processions, the promoters of a demonstration of Irish sympathizers being arranged for tomorrow at Bootle have abandoned the project. Archbishop Mannix was billed to address this gathering.

As Hiram Sees It

"I s'pose," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter, "we'll be hev'in' all sorts of people landin' over there at Sand Point from now till spring."

"That is the prospect," said the reporter. "I wonder," said the reporter, "what you could talk or care or ten languages I dare say, you could use them all."

"I aint so anxious to talk their language as I am to hev them learn ourn," said Hiram. "An' to hev the lunatics an' trouble makers an' disease spraders sent back where they come from. We aint able to take care of what we got now—an' they aint all immigrants—nuthin'."

"Well," said Hiram, "if they're lookin' for a place where everybody is just havin' a round lookin' fer a chance to help somebody else, I'll take 'em quite a spell about how we'd like to hev 'em here. They'll be looked after while they're landin' an' gettin' sent off on the train, but when they settle down somev'ers they'll find lots of people to help 'em spend any money they got—yes, sir. Now I know how they'd like to hev 'em here. I've bought a farm out on the Seaboard. Says that Miller was in hard luck. I was sorry for him. He couldn't make a livin' on that there farm—an' now he's here out here in town—livin' in a swan place that he ever lived in afore he come here. His boys an' gals may grow up to be good Canadians, but he didn't get no fair start. We ought to make a place to settle down—an' give these here immigrants a chance to make their own livin' in this country as our bimeby—yes, sir."

Canadian Minister's Motion at Geneva Assembly

Offers Amendment to Covenant of League of Nations—Argentine Delegation not at the Session Today.

Geneva, Dec. 4.—An amendment to the covenant to the League of Nations eliminating Article X, the most mooted section of the pact, was introduced in the assembly of the league today by Hon. Charles J. Doherty, Canadian minister of justice. It will probably be referred to the committee on amendments.

Geneva, Dec. 4.—Argentina's delegation to the assembly of the League of Nations did not appear during the first hour of today's meeting. Hon. J. Puyrredon, head of the delegation, refused to deny that Argentina was withdrawing from the league. "I cannot discuss the matter at this time," he said to the Associated Press.

The fact that Senator Puyrredon did not attend today's meeting caused suppressed excitement in the assembly, especially among South Americans.

His refusal to deny reports that Argentina would withdraw from the league after he had characterized them last night as false, was believed to be due to a communication he had received from the Argentine government this morning.

The possibility of again bringing before the present assembly the entire question of amendments to the covenant of the league will be discussed at a special meeting of the steering committee, called for Monday morning, according to a statement made by M. Puyrredon.

COLORED PEOPLE HAVE GRIEVANCE

Protest That Many Have Been Disfranchised by Force or Manipulation.

New York, Dec. 4.—An investigation of alleged "violent, illegal and unconstitutional disfranchisement of colored people in southern states" is urged upon the house committee on the census by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

James W. Johnson, secretary of the organization, requested that representatives of the association be permitted to appear before the committee in Washington next week to present facts.

The association, he said, "is prepared to place before the committee evidence showing that colored people who desired to register in the southern states were prevented by force or by chicanery, or by unjustifiable delay, and that colored people who had registered were, by the same means, prevented from casting their ballots."

Sailor Out of Work and Hungry in New York

Reaches Port to Find Mother and Sister Dead in England and Sends All His Money to Bury Them—Then Up Against It.

New York, Dec. 4.—Hungry and despondent, Nivul Wendel, thirty-nine, a sailor, hurled a brick through a window of the New York Edison Company of fees in Broadway last night. In night court he told Magistrate McQuade the real story of his life.

Wendel was sent to a hospital for ten days to recuperate.

This was the story.—He arrived in port several weeks ago with $75, all of his savings. He learned that his mother and sister had died at their home in England while he was at sea, and he sent the $75 home to pay their funeral expenses. Left penniless, he searched vainly for work and so last night he smashed the window and went to court.

Magistrate McQuade characterized the story as one of the "most remarkable" he ever heard and asserted that he believed it.

RIVALS IN SONG AS WIDOW OF LORD MAYOR ARRIVES

New York, Dec. 4.—The unofficial greeting to the widow of the Lord Mayor of Cork here, at times assumed the nature of a controversy in song between the loyal Irish and the loyal British.

The welcoming committee sang the "Soldiers' song," the fighting hymn of the Sinn Fein, which was followed with cheering and then a moment of silence. Presently some men lined up along the starboard and suddenly they burst forth in powerful tones, "God Save the King."

The second class and steerage passengers of the Celtic joined in the MacSwiney demonstration with shouts of "Sinn Fein forever," and singing of the "Soldiers' song."

The Celtic patrol near the Celtic when the big liner stopped, the women of the welcoming committee shouted, "Three cheers for MacSwiney!" and then gave them. Some of the passengers in the first class section of the Celtic responded with "Three cheers for Lord Mayor" and other calls for three cheers for the king.

ALLIED NOTE A SHOCK TO GREECE

Formally Presented Last Night by Ministers

Plebiscite on Return of Constantinople May be Delayed—Comment in Paris on the British Attitude.

Athens, Dec. 4.—Formal presentation of the joint note to the Greek government from England, France and Italy was made here last night by the ministers of those countries.

The note disapproving the return of King Constantine caused surprise, if not consternation, in this city. It will be printed in this afternoon's papers, although it will be given to the public in such a manner as to prevent trouble, which the government is desirous of avoiding.

The plebiscite, at which the people of Greece are to record their approval or disapproval of the return of Constantinople, may be delayed, although arrangements were perfected yesterday to charter ships to take prominent Greeks to Venice, where they will meet Constantine on December 13.

Editorial reference to the return of Constantinople is appearing in this city. Commenting on the British attitude regarding the return of Constantinople, the newspaper Patria says: "Those who accused Venizelos of selling Greece to strangers are not obliged to accept shameful conditions. It also appears the French may use General Wrangel's army against the Turks, re-arranging the Greeks, thereby giving the Russians a hold on Constantinople. The Greek flag has also been replaced by the Italian in the Dodecanese Islands."

Commander Mavroudis, of the Greek flagship Averoff has resigned, together with many other Venizelist commanders. Last night, Dec. 4.—Former King Constantine after learning of the contents of the note of the Allies directed to his chief adviser that he did not wish to say or do anything which would injure the nature of the conference or interfering with the free expression of the will of the Greek people in the plebiscite to be held on Sunday. He, according to his advisers, has taken the position of "let my people decide whether they want me back" and adopt a policy of "hands off."

MATTER OF TAX FOR SOLDIERS' BONUS. Montreal, Dec. 4.—Ex-soldiers of the United States expeditionary forces, as represented by Yankee Post No. 1, the American Legion, Montreal, at a meeting here last night, passed a resolution that they stand for the stand of their Canadian and British comrades in the state of Massachusetts where legislation has been passed compelling ex-members of the Canadian and British expeditionary forces in the great war to pay the special "bonus" taxation from which American veterans are exempt.

When We Wound Up The Watch On The Rhine. Narrative of Canadian Participation in The Occupation of Germany After The Armistice. (Continued from Wednesday) Two years ago today the Canadian troops, on their way to Birmensdorf, completed the day's march that brought them up within a few hours march of the German frontier, which was crossed on the following day. Leaving the Vaux Chaux area, where they had rested for two days, the column marched on the morning of December 4, resting for the night at Salmchateau and Bech, two small Belgian towns but a few miles from the border.

Both these are thriving little towns in the centre of a fertile farming area and although living almost within a stone's throw of the land of the Hun, the inhabitants are Belgians through and through and give evidence of the fact by well-kept houses and the presence of a school with a great display of flags on their towers and did everything in their power to make things comfortable for them during their short sojourn in their midst.

December 4, 1918, should rank almost as high amongst the anniversaries of the Canadian Corps as any of the other dates in the war and post-war history. On that day a little before noon, the Canadian soldiers passed across the invisible line that marked the division between Belgium and Germany and were at last in the country of the enemy.

The March from Salmchateau and in which the 22nd Division spent their first night on enemy soil, was a comparison. It did not require any special sign post or other distinguishing mark to show that the advancing column had passed the line of one of the victorious allies into the territory of the conquered.

A comparison of observations in the town of Salmchateau, the last of the Belgian communities passed, and the villages of Rodt and Hilderhausen, in which the 22nd Division spent their first night on enemy soil, was sufficient.

The cheerful "au revoir" on one side of the line, was replaced by a sullen and complete lack of welcome of any kind on the other. The 22nd Division, which had the visitors welcome to the barracks which gave way to a bareness which was itself eloquent of the "pig-dog English" which was received. Instead of the smooth, pleasantly modulated French which is the native tongue of the Belgians in the south-east, we heard the guttural, grating tones of the low German tongue. Looks of deep-dyed hatred and antagonism were the unwelcome successors of the frank glances of admiration and respect with which the soldiers had been greeted during the previous two or three weeks. It was indeed difficult to understand how the two other and separated only by a mythical line, could differ so much one from the other as did these.

A Bit of His Own. While the general officer in command of the army of occupation promulgated strict laws against any act which might do harm to the country or the people of the country in which the Canadians were to spend an indefinite period, rules were laid down for the behaviour of the "kultured" soldier. His hours of freedom were limited; his marks in ordinary times about twenty-four cents, was accepted at a valuation of only ten; and—most ignominious of all—respect for the British flag and all British officers. Any German in uniform was compelled to salute the colors and all allied officers, while male civilians were called upon to remove their hats, under pain of punishment.

These and a myriad of other regulations were printed on large posters in English, French and German, sent ahead with the advance guard and posted in all German towns and villages. And the Hun obeyed—there was nothing else for him to do—but it was easily seen that he was not wildly enthusiastic over it. He was, however, receiving, in very small measure, that which he had inflicted, along with more brutal ordinances, on the harmless Belgians during his occupancy of their land.

POPULATION OF RUSSIA NOW MUCH SMALLER. Stockholm, Dec. 4.—Preliminary returns of the Russian census show decreases in the population of more than ten per cent. compared with 1914, due to epidemics and war losses. Moscow's population has dropped 45 per cent. and that of Petrograd 71 per cent.

DEMORALIZED.

I used to find my evening clearing, a time for reading and repose; but since I have been profiting I've lost all taste for things like these. I'd come home tired from honest labor, and when the evening meal was done, there would blow in a bunch of neighbors, and we'd indulge in harmless fun. Alas, I do not see them steering in my direction any more; since I got busy profiting they all insist that I'm a bore. Each day I'm bringing home the bacon I put another wad in brine; but I am lonely and forsaken, and how I miss those friends of mine! In other words the evening found me gay as a monarch on his throne, with all my loving suite around me all sit and play the graphophone then hearts were glad and smiles were sunny, and laughter made the windows shake; but now my thoughts are all of money, extra dollars I can make, busy marts my thoughts are spending, on useless schemes of profit bent. Old ways, old dreams are trampled under by the march of time, the man whose mind is fixed on plunder gets out of touch with all that's fine.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL.

Outside of a small deposit of Rhode Island anthracite, Canada's maritime coal deposits stand alone on the entire length of the Atlantic seaboard. These deposits in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are considered to be the southern border of the greater portion of the basin of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The supply at the present rate of use is estimated to last 700 years yet. The quality of the coal is bituminous and it is especially suitable for blast furnaces, coke gas and steam.

Weed Tire Chains

Cars with chainless tires on wet, slippery pavements lack brake power to the same degree as they would if their brake linings were made of wet, greasy, slippery bands of rubber.

Wet rubber slips—never grips. It slides like a cake of soap on moistened hands. It lacks the bite and hang-on ability of chains.

You'll have no fear of skidding on wet streets if you have a set of these dependable non-skid chains on your tires—they bring a feeling of security which you'll appreciate.

We have them in all popular sizes and at very moderate prices.

Why Pearls Are Popular

Pearls are today the favorite neck ornament of womankind. Just why they are so popular is little understood. Here is an expert's opinion:
"Pearls—because of their peculiar sheen—are 'complimentary' to every complexion. Blondes and Brunettes alike can wear them with equally good results. The roundness of the pearl and the soft drupe of the string add to their charm. Any colors may be worn with them."

"We have made a close study of the pearl situation and have been successful in acquiring a stock of the best grades hard to duplicate as they are extremely scarce."

APPEAL FOR IDLE WAR VETERANS

(Canadian Press Despatch)
Ottawa, Dec. 3.—Representing that unemployed among veterans all over Canada was extremely serious and requesting that the government take action to relieve the hardship caused by the lack of work, J. Fred Marsh, organizing secretary of the Grand Army of United Veterans and Herbert Capewell, member of the advisory board of the same organization, interviewed the prime minister and members of the cabinet, this evening.

The delegates were received by Prime Minister Meighen, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia, Hon. J. A. Calder and Hon. J. D. Reid.
Seen after the interview, Mr. Marsh stated that the prime minister had promised the fullest consideration of their representations. Public works would be gone on with as speedily as possible in order to employ veterans who were at present unemployed, and the government would consider other means for meeting the situation.

Premier Meighen also stated at the conference that the government was giving the gravest consideration to the representations.

PLAN CHILDREN'S FESTIVAL ON AN ELABORATE SCALE

The St. John Branch and City Union of the King's Daughters, at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon in the Guild, planned for a grand festival for the children to be held in the Imperial theatre shortly after Christmas. The performers are to be children, and every school and every organization of children will be represented among them. The King's Daughters have considered holding such an entertainment for some time and, when finally arranging for its presentation, all members showed much interest and enthusiasm in undertaking the tasks allotted to them. Much other business was transacted at the meeting, over which Mrs. C. A. Clark presided. Very satisfactory reports were submitted.

Mrs. G. A. Henderson gave the report of the spiritual committee and the Opportunity circle was appointed to take charge under this committee in December.

When the Children's Festival was considered, committees were formed to take charge of all details in connection with it. The committees chosen were as follows: advertising, Lend-a-Hand circle, convener, Mrs. Edith Stevens; Pianoforte, convener, Mrs. R. Z. tickets, convener, Mrs. A. E. Logan; Name circle, Mrs. E. E. Thomas; convener, programme, Mrs. A. E. Logan; Mrs. Willford Campbell, Mrs. Walter Golding, with power to add.

A resolution was passed at the meeting as follows: "The members of the St. John branch and City Union of the King's Daughters are sorry to be compelled to withdraw the use of the telephone from the inmates of the Home but are forced to do so through the action of the New Brunswick Telephone Company."

The two Halifax youths, Leo Priest and Percy Swyer, arrested several days ago for breaking out winter summer cottages at Ononette, were brought here Acting Magistrate Fred M. Sprout at Hampton yesterday and remanded until today.

The house committee report was given by Mrs. John Foster. The new matron, Mrs. Cowan, was spoken of very highly and the balance shown was most satisfactory. As usual the house was filled all during the month.

The report of the ways and means committee of the Faraline Home for the Aged, in Fredericton, was given by Mrs. C. A. Clark, the convener. She spoke of the urgency of the need for funds. She also gave an account of the heavy expenditure the board had been obliged to meet in installing a new heating plant and in undertaking extensive repairs and re-decoration. Mrs. R. Z. formerly of Fredericton, and a member of the Fredericton branch, was welcomed as a new member of the Door-Keepers circle. She was able to give a great deal of information about the home.

The two St. John members of the admission committee of the Home, Mrs. Edith Stevens and Mrs. D. W. Puddington, explained that there still were some vacancies in the Home and that the date of opening had been fixed for the middle of January.

Let Your Christmas Gift to Her be a Hoover
When you give her a HOOVER VACUUM CLEANER you not only give a great labor saving device; you also give her many leisure hours that would otherwise be impossible.
Beating—to dislodge the embedded grit, the destructive edges of which, under shoe pressure, actually cut loose the soft nap and wear a carpet threadbare.
Sweeping—of lightning rapidity, to detach instantly the annoying, clinging litter, threads and lint which adheres like burrs.
Suction—to remove dustlessly from the carpet surface this beaten-out, swept-loose dirt; also the surface dirt and scraps.
Only The HOOVER combines these three essentials.
It beats—as it sweeps—as it cleans.
Call at our Carpet Department, or phone, and we will be glad to demonstrate either at the store or privately in your own home.

BOLSHEVIK WAR ON INTELLECTUAL CLASS IN RUSSIA

Professors Being Exterminated, Says Rostovstef

Setting Up New Class Educated in Bolshevist Ideas—Deplorable Conditions.

(Associated Press Correspondence)
 Madison, Wis., Dec. 1.—Michael I. Rostovstef, formerly professor of Russian History at the University of Petrograd and now professor of ancient history at the University of Wisconsin, declares that Russian professors and intellectuals are being gradually exterminated by the Bolsheviki and that they are attempting to build up a new intellectual class.

"The aim of the Bolsheviki is to make of the 'bourgeoisie' or better, 'intellectual Russia' a 'tabula rasa,' a void place, and to fill this place with a new intellectual class educated in the Bolshevist ideas," Professor Rostovstef said. "The really shows that instead of this communistic class, a class of greedy, ruthless and demoralized scoundrels is growing up to replace the class which gave to the world Tolstoy, Dostoyevski, Tchaikovsky and a great number of others in fields of science, art and literature."

Professor Rostovstef, who came to the university this year from the College of Paris, has been in constant touch with former intellectual leaders of his country since he left it after the first year of the Bolshevist regime. He fled to Sweden from Petrograd and later went to England where he taught in Oxford University.

"Some of the professors and intellectuals are systematically exterminated by the Bolsheviki as in Kharkov, Odessa, Kiev and Rostov," the professor said. "According to reports I receive from South Russia, most of the intellectuals who did not fly before the occupation of these towns by the Bolsheviki were imprisoned as counter revolutionaries and executed."

"Some destined to die of starvation. This is the case for almost all of the professors who remained in Petrograd and Moscow. The last reports I received from these cities quote many names of Russian scholars well known to all specialists in Western Europe and America, as having died of starvation."

"Professor Schachmatel, member of the Russian and different foreign academies, died because he could not stand the terrible conditions of life in Petrograd. Professor Turand, a member of the same academy, died literally of starvation. Professor Pokrovski, a famous specialist in Roman law, succumbed after having carried a bundle of wood to the sixth story of a big house. Professor Viktorov, another noted specialist in law ended his suffering by suicide."

"The last news I received about the world-known physiologist, the Russian Claude Bernard, Professor Pavlov, reports that he is living in a poor house in a suburb of Petrograd, starving and freezing, and would hardly withstand the hardships of the coming winter."

Professor Rostovstef says that out of the fifty-two provinces in Russia ten face actual starvation as a result of poor crops this year, thirty face partial starvation because their production of foodstuffs was not sufficient to sustain all of the population, while 12 will have a slight surplus that cannot well be distributed because of the poor transportation conditions and because peasants refuse to give up their crops to the city people. There will doubtless be uprisings in Russia this winter, Professor Rostovstef said. These, he said, would be put down easily by the Bolsheviki because of their organization and the apathy of the people toward politics and toward their form of government. This apathy was largely responsible for the strength of the present government in Professor Rostovstef's opinion and he believes it will continue in power despite outside attempts to disrupt the system.

POLICE ZONES ARE FIXED TO PROTECT NEW YORK STORES

Picked Detectives in Jewelry and Other Districts—Round-up of Crooks in Progress.

(N. Y. Times.)
To clear the city of known crooks, and especially to protect the public during the holiday season, a plan of co-operation has been established between the police and the proprietors of many stores, both large and small. It was learned yesterday that two special zones had been created, and special detectives assigned to patrol them. The largest, the business zone, takes in the territory from Twenty-third street to Fifty-ninth street, and from Seventh to Madison avenue. Sergeant James Brennan has been assigned to command of this zone and under him are forty picked detectives, who have been selected because of their knowledge of pickpocketing, shoplifting and other crimes.

The second zone is about four blocks along Maiden Lane, and takes in the jewelry district. Acting Police Commissioner Leach, who, in the absence of Commissioner Enright, has had the responsibility of putting the new plan into practice, selected the six detectives who have been assigned to watch this district. The detectives in this zone, it was said, had visited the jewelers and perfected a sort of code system by which they can be apprised of the entrance into a store of a suspicious customer or can be notified when the storekeeper suspects an attempt at swindling.
While Acting Commissioner Leach would not discuss police affairs, to the observer there appeared to be a mighty quickening of police activity in this city. The roundup of crooks was not limited to picking up those from out of town, but, it was said, police instructions were to arrest any person known to have a "record." According to reports, policemen have been furnished with descriptions of men and women recently released from penal institutions who, it is feared, may come to this city.
According to a report at police headquarters yesterday, an official order was going out to ninety captains directing them to visit the various men's clubs in their precincts and talk on police activities, especially on "burglars, burglaries and burglary insurance." Officials denied all knowledge of the order. The commissioner's office thought information should be sought in the first deputy's office, and there they said the chief inspector's staff should be asked, and there it was said that if such an order existed they hadn't heard about it. The report had it that the captain would shortly receive a special pamphlet dealing in facts and figures to enable him to discuss crime intelligently with the citizens of their districts. The police speakers were also to fortify themselves with copies of the police department annual report for 1919 and 1920. It was also intimated that some subordinates were not paying the respect to their superiors in the department and that something should be done about the slovenly appearance of some of the policemen. It appeared also that some of the policemen had been talking too much about police business to strangers.

G. BERNARD SHAW, PROPHET OF WAR

George Bernard Shaw believes war is coming between England and America. In an article to be published in the Hearst papers next Sunday, Shaw says: "War between England and America is therefore inevitable."
"Since the war it has been clear to everyone with any diplomatic flair that the United States must gravitate toward an alliance with Germany—war between an alliance of the centralized French republic with the British Empire against an alliance of federated republics of the United States with those of Central Europe."
The extract is quoted by Arthur Brisbane, Hearst's chief editorial writer, who comments: "With all respect to Shaw it ought to be possible for the United States to avoid war by making the prospect too dangerous for any attacking nation or group of nations."

SENATOR WOULD BAR ALIENS FOR SIX MONTHS PERIOD

Hitting at Reds—Says Increase in United States Since July is 155,154.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Complete stoppage of immigration for six months, while Congress is drafting a general law to cover the whole question, is proposed in a bill which Senator King, a Democratic member of the Immigration Commission after congress meets.

Senator King said that the admission of aliens to this country must be made more difficult and that it was necessary to prohibit all persons who were inoculated with "red" tendencies, from entering the United States.

The House Immigration Committee will meet tomorrow to begin work on bills dealing with immigration, which will be introduced at the coming session of Congress. Commissioner Wallis from Ellis Island is expected to appear before the committee, possibly tomorrow. Other Government officials may appear, but members of the committee said they did not plan to hold further hearings.

Immigrants to the number of 869,857 arrived in this country during the four months of the fiscal year, which began July 1, according to records at the Department of Labor. During the same time 214,705 persons left the United States, leaving a net increase in aliens to this country of 155,154 for that period.

Most of the immigrants came from Europe and most of the emigrants returned there. Despite the rapid increase in the flow of immigrants, department officials do not believe the excess of immigration from Europe will reach pre-war figures for some time to come.

During the fiscal year ended June 30 immigration from this country to Europe exceeded immigration, the figures being 846,295 and 235,094, respectively. The total immigration, however, exceeded emigration by 144,886, this being accounted for by arrivals from Mexico, Canada and the Far East.

Opening Up Russia's "Treasure-House"

Within walls built high by years of war and revolution, behind doors close-guarded by Trotsky's soldiers, the Russian treasure-house awaits the adventurer with the key of gold. "In the south there are millions of bushels of wheat awaiting export, and oil wells have been running unchecked so long that they have had to bank them up and form lakes of oil." "There is £1,000,000 worth of timber lying at Archangel and other ports on the White Sea." The Siberian seaboard contains "probably the world's greatest undeveloped coal and oil deposits, with the fishing off coast equal to that of Alaska."

While it is all very well, agree some American editors, for the Soviet Government to open the doors of the Muscovite treasure-house, what if the treasure-house is empty? And, referring to the British trade agreement with Soviet Russia, recently announced by Premier Lloyd George, the New York Tribune declares that "to take Lenin and his system into fellowship is to abandon those in Russia who fought for civilization and democratic ideals."

Facts that will awaken mingled feelings of wonder, resentment, and satisfaction are presented in the striking article in this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST, December 4th. It reflects the opinion of the American press upon Lloyd George's proposal to resume trade relations with Russia.

THANKS GARLAND INFLUENCED BY PARLOR REDS

Trustee Says New York Group May Have Caused Massachusetts Man to Reuse Millions—Complex Situation.

The refusal of Charles Garland of Massachusetts to accept a legacy of $1,000,000 has plunged the trustees of his estate into an unheard of legal confusion and a state of acute embarrassment. They have on their hands $50,000 in gilt-edged securities, which, increasing by yearly interest leaps of 100, Charles refuses it, no one else has it, and what in the world are they to do with it?

The legal situation is unprecedented. J. Henry D. Tudor, a cousin by marriage of Charles Garland and one of the trustees, "The will has been adjudged and disposed of, its various bequests have been distributed. Strictly speaking, there is no will. Charles's are of his father's wealth can belong to no one but him. It cannot go back to the court which probated the will, as 'perfectly normal, with this one exception—his strong aversion to inherited wealth.' SIX WOMEN SENT TO JAIL FOR THEFT

Convicted of Shoplifting in New York and Each Has Fine Added to Sentence.

A baby's rattle, a bib, three pairs of booties and a child's sweater made up the catalogue of plunder found on Anne Weinstein, forty years old, of New York, who was sentenced yesterday to spend a day in jail and pay a fine of $25 after being convicted in Special Sessions of shoplifting at Wanamaker's. She was one of six non-professionals who received this sentence for shoplifting from Justice Henry W. Herbert, John J. French and James J. McInerney. The others were Josie and Jennie Specht, Jessie Levine, Katie Levine, and Beanie Budran.

All the women had relatives and friends in court ready to pay the fines, but the day's sentence was a hard blow to them. The six were ushered by a uniform attendant to the Tombs. They were not placed in cells, but allowed to remain in a room on the first floor until their sentences expired.

The women had one piece of good luck. The official day consumed by the sentence is not regulated by the sun but runs from eleven o'clock, when sentence is pronounced, until about four o'clock in the afternoon.

The justices in special sessions are giving sentences of one day or more even to first offenders, as were all yesterday's defendants, in order to check the increase of shoplifting. This has been the worst year on record for shoplifting in New York, and crimes of this kind always multiply before the holidays.

"Dealing with shop-lifters is about the most difficult problem before the court," said Justice Herbert. "The practice of giving short sentences is improving the condition somewhat. It is not much punishment to fine a woman $25 for stealing $30 or $40 worth of goods, and the jail sentence seems to be necessary.

"Of course, professional shop-lifters are sent up for longer terms, if they are caught, but three out of four of those who come before the court are not of this class. They are generally women with families and good reputations, who have no cause to steal, but fall before a momentary temptation.

"One of the things which puzzles us is that they do not seem to understand the times, they plead that they took the articles outside to view them by natural light."

IN HONOR OF SON.
Pilot Thomas J. Stone has received from the Minister of Militia and Defence the 1914-15 Mons Star issued in honor of his son, Thomas J. Stone, Jr., who gave his life in the great cause.

A fine type of young man, he enlisted in the First Canadian Contingent and, after a period of service with the Ammunition Column, joined a trench mortar battery and fought gallantly with that branch of the army for twenty-nine months in the trenches. Then came the call for the supreme sacrifice and he laid down his life on the field of battle.

of this bequest," he said. "He refuses even to write to us on the matter, and he gets wildly excited if any one argues the subject with him. Some months ago he came to New York and fell in with a group of parlor Bohemians. That may account for his strange conduct."

Mr. Tudor has received many letters from people who would like to see the unwarmed million put to good use. He described one request from a woman whose husband was an actor, and who wanted him help to make a name in Broadway productions. Some one else wanted to start a children's hospital.

"The state may be able to take over the funds under the law of eminent domain," Mr. Tudor added, "but twenty years or more must first elapse. In the meantime, one of Charles's heirs may be willing to accept the bequest. I certainly hope that the younger brother, Hamilton, will not add to our troubles by sharing the former's beliefs when he himself comes of age. Please tell the public, by the way, that no one but Charles can, under the law, use or possess the bequest."

SMUGGLED LIQUOR BY AIRPLANE, WINNIPEG NEWSPAPER'S REPORT

Winnipeg, Dec. 4.—Airplanes are being used by an organized band of bootleggers for liquor smuggling operations across the United States border, so local police have reported.

"The officials" according to a local paper, "now have full evidence proving the most thorough and costly organization on the part of law breakers, even to the extent that American smugglers have been and are guaranteed by certain liquor dealers and bootleggers against interference by Canadian law, so that when smugglers are captured the liquor people with whom they do business in Manitoba pay the penalty."

Within the last two months, the paper declared, forty-four automobiles have been seized by the mounted police and customs officials while actually engaged in smuggling operations.

LINDSAY CRAWFORD UNABLE TO SPEAK IN FREDERICTON

Hon. P. J. Veniot, Chairman Makes Address, Explaining Aims of Self-Determination League For Ireland—Returned Soldiers Hold Meeting—Veniot Cheered.

Fredericton, Dec. 3—Lindsay Crawford, of Toronto, national president of the Self-Determination for Ireland League, was not allowed to speak here tonight at a public meeting in St. Dunstan's Hall. He began his address, but was interrupted by C. R. Hawkins, who stated that he had three questions which had been prepared at a public meeting held just previous to Mr. Crawford's meeting to which answers either "yes" or "no" were requested from him.

The first question was to the effect whether the separation of Ireland from the British empire and establishment of an Irish republic was one of the objects of the Self-Determination for Ireland League.

Mr. Crawford's answer was: "Emphatically no." The second question was: "Are you or the Self-Determination for Ireland League associated with De Valera, the so-called president of the Irish republic?"

Mr. Crawford's reply was to the following effect: "Insofar as self-determination goes. Our objects go no further. We are friends of all who sympathize with Irish freedom."

This reply was followed by numerous interruptions and calls that the question be answered "yes" or "no."

Hon. P. J. Veniot, who was chairman of the meeting, remarked at this juncture that if those making the demonstration were aware of the resolutions passed at the dominion convention of the Self-Determination for Ireland League they would accept Mr. Crawford's answer. It became returned soldiers led by those who were not returned men to attempt to prevent a man from speaking.

Mr. Hawkins demanded a retraction of the statement that he or other returned men were led by those not returned men but that they had been led to the hall by them. He could give the names if they were required. He would ask the privilege that Mr. Crawford be heard.

The singing of Rule Britannia interrupted him. "If this is British freedom," said Mr. Crawford, who was on his feet, "there is no wonder that there is an Irish problem. It is a matter of indifference to me whether you give me the right to speak in this city or not."

Meeting Comes to End. Hon. Mr. Veniot said that he regretted that in the capital city of Fredericton it was impossible to find sufficient courtesy to enable Mr. Crawford to be heard. He then closed the meeting and requested the audience to disperse. The God Save the King was sung, all the audience standing.

The meeting was attended by an audience which completely filled St. Dunstan's Hall, which holds somewhat more than four hundred. A public meeting had been called for a previous hour at the G. W. V. A. Hall and those who attended marched in a body to the hall where Mr. Crawford was billed to speak. Returned soldiers composed a large portion of this body, but many in it were not returned men. They occupied the centre seats.

In a brief introductory address the chairman said he was pleased to be on the platform with the gentlemen present. He had known Lindsay Crawford as an able editorial writer for some time. The propaganda throughout Nova Scotia and New Brunswick from some unknown source was to the effect that Mr. Crawford in both speech and writings had been guilty of treason and sedition. If such were the case he (Veniot) would not be on the same platform with him (Applause). He was a Frenchman from toe to head, but he wanted to see the same treatment given to Ireland that had been given his forefathers. Those who said that the Self-Determination League was allied with the Sinn Fein should know that the first resolution passed at the Dominion convention had been one of fealty to the British crown and the second one that the British government would see the way clear soon to grant self-determination to Ireland. If Ireland at some other time wished to become a republic that was a matter entirely between Ireland and England. Canada was not interested. Criticism of the Lloyd George government could not be termed disloyalty. "The boys fought overseas for democracy and the rights of the smaller nations," said the speaker. "My boys fought for it, so did Mr. O'Neill's. Do you suppose that they would stand for anything treasonable to the British Empire?"

Mr. Donovan was then introduced and in a very brief address outlined the organization already completed in Canada, pointing out that returned soldiers occupied a number of the highest positions in the organization.

A collection to defray the expenses of the meeting was taken, after which the chairman announced that Mr. Crawford after his address would answer any questions which were asked in reason.

Mr. Hawkins then rose and stated that a public meeting had requested that the questions be answered "yes" or "no" by Mr. Crawford before he delivered his address, in order to set aside doubts concerning his position.

Mr. Crawford said the questions all would be answered in his address. After a brief interchange between the chairman and Mr. Hawkins the first question was put with the incidents following as mentioned above.

Immediately before retiring the body of men which prevented the meeting from continuing cheered both Hon. Mr. Veniot and ex-Aid. O'Neill.

McLAUGHLIN

McLaughlin Master Six Coupe

Like a new issue of coinage comes the new model of the McLaughlin Car. The title "Canada's Standard Car" was not self-imposed. By many thousands the McLaughlin holds the preference in Canada over cars of the better make. The famed McLaughlin-Buick valve-in-hand motor—the rugged sure working engine—gives to each of the seven Master Six models the staunch reputation of trustworthiness. So when the McLaughlin appears in a new model, it but adds a distinctive character to an accepted standard of excellence. Especially attractive are the new closed bodies not only because of their added comfort, but because they are now decidedly the vogue for both winter and summer driving.

SPENT HUGE SUM FOR GERMANY IN UNITED STATES

Dr. Albert Tells of Vast Amount in Deposition Read at Trial in New York—Quotes Untermyer Letter.

(N. Y. Times.) Revelations of the activities of Dr. Albert F. Albert, German fiscal agent in this country up to the time America entered the World War, were made yesterday by Harold Harper, special Federal prosecutor, at the trial in the Federal Court.

Mr. Harper appeared as a witness and read a deposition made to him by Dr. Albert in Germany in August 1919, in which, among other things, Dr. Albert declared that he had received $4,000,000, through his agency, and that on Feb. 22, 1916 he received a letter from Samuel Untermyer, at present acting as counsel for the Lockwood Investigating Committee, in which the lawyer asked Dr. Albert if he would take a minority interest in The New York Sun.

Mr. Untermyer was questioning a witness at the investigation yesterday afternoon when his attention was called to that part of the German fiscal agent's deposition concerning his attempt to induce Dr. Albert to take over a minority interest in The Sun. He said he did not care to discuss the matter, but called attention to the fact that he and the late Colonel Van Hamm appeared before the Overman Congressional Committee a few years ago and explained a proposal in detail. He said that at the time the offer was made to Dr. Albert, Colonel Van Hamm was managing editor of The New York American, and had been managing editor of The New York World.

Mr. Untermyer said that he explained to the Congressional committee that Colonel Van Hamm and some friends desired to obtain control of The Sun and The Evening Sun, with Colonel Van Hamm as its active manager, but that nothing came of the proposal because he interests which Dr. Albert represented were offered only a one-third interest in the newspapers, which would give him control.

After reading of the deposition Mr. Harper read into the record the letter addressed to Dr. Albert by Mr. Untermyer, which declared that "under proper conditions my friends would be willing to take a one-fourth interest in the newspapers."

Houseboat Ostris, Miami, Fla., Feb. 19, 1916. Gugenheim, Untermyer & Marshall, 37 Wall Street. Dr. H. A. Albert, in Care Hamburg-American Line, 45 Broadway, New York City.

I have received word that our opportunity has now arisen to acquire that which we have been talking, and that it can be had at a price slightly under two millions for four-sixths of the capital stock, which includes valuable real estate on Park Row, but that action must be taken immediately.

Under proper conditions, my friends would be willing to take a one-fourth interest, provided some arrangement could be made giving them option to acquire the majority interest at a future date—say, after the lapse of one or two years from the close of the year which would afford every opportunity that could be possibly wanted.

I understand that the project is now breaking about even, that it is neither losing nor making money; but my friends are satisfied that it can be made a substantial career, and I am disposed to agree with them.

I shall be glad to hear from you as to whether you are now in the position to take up this subject seriously and promptly with me and bring it to a conclusion, if, as I believe, the terms are advantageous.

the record a copy of an unsigned letter alleged to be the reply of Dr. Albert to Mr. Untermyer's letter. It read in part as follows:

"With reference to your letter of Feb. 10 I received yesterday afternoon, I have sent at once a cipher cable to Berlin asking for authorization to take up the subject. I expect to have an answer by March 15 so we can discuss the question as soon as you return to New York. I thank you very much for the interest you have taken in the matter."

"At the same time I must congratulate you on the interesting trip you intend to make to South America and on your nomination as a member of the International High Commission.

"With best regards," Revelation of the enormous sum handled by Dr. Albert was brought out through Mr. Harper's questions to him in Germany as to whether in January, 1917, the fiscal agent gave $1,000,000 to Dr. Hugo Switzer, the chemist, who was identified with pro-German activities in this country before America entered the war. Dr. Albert declared he could not recall having given the chemist the money.

"When this transaction is alleged to have been made," declared the fiscal agent, "I was leaving Germany. A million at that time seemed a small sum, especially with the numerous transactions which were expected to take care of."

The German fiscal agent also declared in his deposition that when he received the letter from Mr. Untermyer he called to the Imperial German foreign office for advice on the matter, but when Mr. Harper asked him if he wrote to Mr. Untermyer about the matter, he replied: "I do not remember writing to Mr. Untermyer at the time."

It also was revealed in Dr. Albert's deposition that the $750,000 which he sent to Dr. Rumely for the purchase of The Evening Mail in 1915, and at the same time made proposals to ship submarines and tractors to Germany and to export wheat from Germany to this country. Dr. Albert admitted that he advanced $10,000 to Dr. Rumely for the shipment of tractors never reached that country.

Dr. Albert asserted that he first met Sieleken in 1904, but never had any personal relations with the "coffee king," knowing him only as a wealthy American of German birth. He said that, while he never had any direct relations with the "coffee king" with regard to the purchase of The Evening Mail, he had been in touch indirectly with Sieleken on the matter, and later, when Dr. Dernberg went to Germany, he straightened everything out.

Mr. Harper laid much emphasis on one part of the deposition in which Dr. Albert admitted that he had no knowledge of the manner in which Dr. Dernberg communicated with Sieleken with regard to the latter's method of gaining control of The Evening Mail.

SAD TALE OF SEA

Treasure Ship Wrecked at Charlotte County Port

But the Lifted Cargo Has Brought Visions of Christmas Joy and Gladness.

Visions of a really merry Christmas are before one in Charlotte county fishing village—and something more than visions.

Has all come about through the operations of the elements, that is the elements of nature and an elementary knowledge of how things go.

The first chapter of the story of how Christmas joy has been brought to the village concerns a power boat coming out from St. John last week with a cargo of what was once the oil of joy and gladness in a man's communitary life—the evil days drew nigh in which some people were to find no pleasure.

The cargo was varied in amount and valued at six thousand dollars and the course of the ship was set for "down the bay" to Charlotte county shores.

Somewhat late in the evening the crew of one got the course of things muddled a little and got "over the bay" quite some little time before they got down the bay, but that as it may, the craft brought up, eventually, on a bar at the entrance to one island port.

And that's not a bar such as carpcoos used to reach but one of the bars that are not touched by the Pressure Craft brought up standing just about the time that the shades of night were falling fast, and soon thereafter there passed through the village a youth who bore a strange device and other youths and old men too, who bore all sorts of devices, but all of them extracting treasure from the sea.

The rush to the Lubec Klondike, a few years ago, to that bar, had led to the bar and refused to rise with the tide and somehow another, by a wireless system all their own and equal to any old Tom-Tom signals of the aborigines, the word was passed over land and sea and very quickly a large and deeply interested congregation was gathered to give attention to the engulfed spirits.

But what a change was there apparent when the sun arose.

The ship was still on the bar but all of its cargo had evaporated or otherwise vanished.

And that is why the residents of one Charlotte county village are looking forward to a Christmas just like Christmas used to be. The sad sea waves will lose their sadness for the day and even the bar will do no mourning when the boats put in.

And that, too, is why a lot of other people would like to spend Christmas, this year, with friends and relatives in that hamlet if its location were only known.

THE EXCHANGE RATE

IX.—What Controls It?

IN the previous numbers of this series we have endeavoured to explain the various factors bearing on the exchange value abroad of our dollar. We will now summarize the methods by which this value may be restored.

By increasing Canadian production we can supply our domestic requirements and enlarge our surplus for export. This, if accompanied by a drastic decrease in our imports, especially of luxuries, will go far to adjust our trade balance.

As exchange becomes favorable to us, gold will flow in more freely, the reserves against paper currency will regain their former sound basis and the restrictions on the export of gold will be removed. The great stabilizing factor in exchange fluctuations will therefore be restored.

There are two further matters of equal great importance; the first, that so far as possible we cease to purchase luxuries, even those of domestic manufacture, and divert the sums thus saved to productive enterprises, either by direct investment or by depositing the money in the bank; the second, that we must all strive to work at our greatest capacity, not shirking, but taking pride in achieving a full output, whether we are doing manual or mental work.

The personal advantages of accumulating savings are so obvious that they need not be repeated here.

If this series has achieved its object, the national importance of industry and thrift to ensure the prosperity of Canada and to re-establish the value of the Canadian dollar throughout the world will be clear to you.

RE "BLUE SUNDAY"

To The Editor Of The Times.

Sir—Will you please allow me a short space in your valuable paper to reply to Blue Sunday, as I am the person referred to in the above named article, which says I was fined $10 for selling on Sunday, which is false. The charges are three, kerosene oil, apples, and 5 cents worth of candy. The persons served with the same were children and the parents of same sworn in as witnesses. One put in appearance with a girl 10 years old.

After being in court upwards of one hour, His Honor asked what the lady was here for, the clerk said she was a witness in a case against Thomas Draycott, for selling on Sunday. I was then called to the bar. His Honor straightway told the lady to go home and send the girl to school and not to come there on a case again as he did not know anything about it. The lady left the court, the police was called and asked why the lady was there. He said he had seen in the case so far was then postponed until near twelve o'clock. The court being empty and His Honor wanting his dinner I was asked to again come forward. The clerk then read out the charges and said the penalty was $10 for each case—would I pay $30 and I said no, not thirty cents. His Honor said will you pay $20 and I said no, not twenty cents. He drew me to him and said will you pay $10, that is only a third of the fine. I said no, not ten cents. His Honor said I must have some dinner. I said the same. The officer with the book said, come this way then I followed him down the steps and to my surprise he handed me to another officer and he took me to the turnkey. He took me to a cell and unlocked the gate and I said I am not going in there. He said your are. I said no. He took hold of me and threw me in, slammed the door and left.

He came again at five o'clock. I asked him if he would phone a message for me to leave the prison, and he said no, all the officers had gone and I should have to stay all night. I told him I should not. He then said he would send some one else and he did so. This man told me if I would pay $10 I could go. I did so under protest to leave the cell as it was not fit for any one to stay in. I have since seen the commissioner of safety and also His Worship the Mayor, and the matter has not ended yet.

Yours most respectfully, Thomas Draycott. 64 Durham Street, St. John, N. B.

"RED" DANGERS IN SOUTH AMERICA

Lack of Immigration Restrictions in Peace Time Makes Entry Easy.

(Associated Press Correspondence)

The Hague, Nov. 16.—Absence, in peace times, of any strict control of immigration in most South American countries, makes it particularly easy. The Associated Press Correspondent was told by a member of the Brazilian diplomatic service, for Bolshevik couriers, sent out by Moscow to reach South America.

Recent investigations by the correspondent in several countries of Central Europe have indicated that a continuous effort is being made, through use of a courier and propaganda system that includes perhaps 25,000 Moscow-paid workers, to spread the doctrine of Bolshevism throughout the world.

In this effort, South and Central America are considered by the Bolsheviks not only as excellent fields for local "missionary work" along the lines of strikes and political unrest, but also as advanced field bases for promoting Bolshevism in North America, where stricter immigration laws prevail.

At Lisbon and Spanish ports, the Moscow government has established courier bureaus, particularly designed to handle agitators and propaganda en route to Brazil, Argentina, Chile, etc., and one of the four sub-bureaus directing the entire world force of agitators is understood to be located either in Mexico or in one of the South American countries.

"So far as Brazil is concerned," a Brazilian diplomatist said, "the national constitution seems to prevent any serious effort on this side of the Atlantic to weed out undesirable immigrants. In peace times, the country is free for every one, and we need immigrants for our population is small compared with our huge area. Undesirables, such as Bolshevik agitators, should be handled and killed on arrival."

While South American officials in Europe are quite familiar with the fact that the Soviet government is making a determined effort to spread its doctrines to South America, the view was expressed by one of them that Bolshevism cannot thrive in agricultural countries, where private ownership of land is essential.

JAPAN WARNS CANADIANS

Tokio, Dec. 3.—The military commission at Chien Tao, Manchuria, has addressed a letter to the Canadian missionaries there in answer to charges made recently by the missionaries that massacres, alleged to have been committed by Japanese troops, had taken place and that villages were burned. The letter emphasized that the Japanese military expedition to the district was due to the fact that the Chinese authorities co-operated with the outlaws and declares that churches and schools were burned only where there was incontrovertible evidence that they had been used as "breeding places of iniquity."

Warning is given in the letter that any spiritual or material assistance the British missionaries give the Korean malcontents will lead to a breach in the good understanding between the two countries.

He said that the police department was obliged to see that all the laws were carried out, whether by laws, provincial or federal laws. Kent's excuse was that the police constable did not have authority to look at his book. The magistrate explained that the police had wide powers in carrying out their duties. The defendant's deposit of $100 was turned to his kick.

The assault case of Tupper versus Babu was continued and Dr. Peat, on the stand for the prosecution, told of the injuries of Mrs. Tupper. Louis Tupper, son of the complainant, said he saw Mr. Babu in the house, heard him call his mother a bad name and saw him kick her. The case was postponed until Monday morning. J. A. Barry appeared for the prosecution and Edmund R. Ritchie for the defense.

John Bossep's case was resumed and a certificate from M. V. Paddock, provincial analyst, was placed in evidence showing that the liquid smelled strongly of gin and contained 4.37 per cent. absolute alcohol by weight. Mr. Paddock on cross examination, said that Inspector Hopkins, who brought him the liquid, asked him if it did not smell of gin.

Bossep was placed on the stand and said that he did not have the liquid there to drink. He did not have any liquor on the premises. He said that the officers came in Saturday evening about 8 o'clock and searched the premises. The cans produced in court were there at that time. He said that the cans had been there since the middle of the summer. The witness said that he had been using the pint measure for vinegar, and had been using it for that purpose about a minute before the inspectors came in on Monday. He told the inspectors that he was washing the measure out and they arrested him. He still has vinegar in the shop. He could not say if the liquid produced in court and which had been analyzed was the same that had been taken from his shop. It seemed to smell stronger. On smelling the contents of the pint measure he said that he could not tell if it had been changed.

As the defence had two witnesses to call who were not present in the fact they adjourned until Wednesday morning. W. M. Ryan appeared for the prosecution and E. S. Ritchie for the defence.

TRAIL OF FARM BARGAINS LEADS TO NEW BRUNSWICK

Recent Sales to Western Purchasers Show Attractiveness of This Province.

Alfred Burley & Co. Ltd, report the following farm sales:

The Ganong farm, recently owned by Arthur N. Ganong, situated on Pickwick road, near Hampton, 300 acres; purchaser, John Chapman, Tisdale (Sask.), who returns with his family, including four sons, in March. This sale illustrated how one sale may be linked up with several other sales: An American farmer sold his farm in the Iowa corn belt consisting of 320 acres for $100 per acre. He then traveled by automobile 1,400 miles to Saskatchewan and bought the John Chapman farm, paying $60 per acre for 320 acres, also getting the benefit of $12 on every $100 of his money in exchange. Mr. Chapman started immediately after selling to New Brunswick and bought the Ganong farm at less than $20 per acre.

The farm of John T. Neill, 200 acres, situated near Hatfield's Point, sold to O. C. Price, from Youngstown (Alta.). The Roberts farm, owned by Herbert S.

London, November 19.—The amazing scenes and prodigious crowds around the Cenotaph have been rather a shock to the cynical believers in the tradition that the war has been forgotten. The fact is that the war will never be forgotten except by those who never realised it was occurring.

The passing pilgrimages included all London. There were men and women in about equal numbers, family parties, broken soldiers of the war, and many flappers in black who sobbed as they laid their offering of flowers in the heaps.

BIG LABOR LEADER HAS TINY HOME

Robert Smillie Thinks First of the Miners' Wives and Children.

FAMILY IS DIVIDED

One Son Has Always Been a Strong Imperialist, and Two Served in the War.

By Worth M. Tippy, in the Outlook, New York.

ROTAIONIST of direct action, uncompromising opponent of the present economic order in Great Britain, opposed to the war in England and an ardent foe of the American friend of Soviet Russia, ardent advocate of the miners and their families, informed and skillful in discussion and acutely embarrassing to opponents because of his human sympathies and knowledge of the mining industry—such is Robert Smillie, leader of the British miners.

In order to understand him personally I visited his home in Lakeland, near Glasgow, in mid-August, 1919, and during the same week a conference of the Scottish miners at Assy which he was signally honored.

The Smillies live in a miners' stone house, one of a long row of two-room cottages built end to end and flush with the sidewalk and with a garden in the rear. The Smillies have added bath and sleeping rooms, but they live simply, like their neighbors, the miners with whom Mr. Smillie used to work. Mr. Smillie was not at home.

Mrs. Smillie is a typical Scottish mother—gentle, religious, devoted to her husband and nine children. Two of her sons were in the service, James, whom I found at home, had been gassed twice, and had been in for three years as a result of shell shock. Two other sons were conscientious objectors, and one of the two had been imprisoned. Mrs. Smillie told me that during the war, her husband had openly opposed the war, but that James, who was then a boy, was an ardent defender of the Empire.

Drafting From Church

ONE evening she sent James to the door to get the evening paper, an anti-war journal. He returned without it. Questioned, he confessed that he had thrown it behind the door. Threatened with punishment if he did not bring it at once, he said, "I will take the whipping, mother, but I will not get the paper." Mr. Smillie intervened, and James was relieved from the odious task. Later James came to his father protesting against having to argue against two of his brothers on the rightness of the war. He could hold his own, he said, with one of them, but it was not fair that he should have to face the two, and the other.

Mr. Smillie took the lady's part.

The Smillies are members of Trinity United Free Church, and rent a family pew, but are not regular attendants. Mr. Smillie is absent a great deal, and Mrs. Smillie is taxed by the duties of her home. The pew is not, therefore, regularly occupied, although an older daughter is active in the church one could discern a manifest and growing estrangement between the family and the church. The church did not seem to me to realize the significance of Mr. Smillie's membership.

At the Assy conference I met Mr. Smillie personally. My journal for the day has this description:

He is tall, a little stooped, slender, dark-red hair, a little grey deep-set eyes, bushy eyebrows, thoughtful, silent, finely drawn. He speaks with simplicity, precision, great earnestness, but quietly and with wisdom and force. I was impressed by his courage, earnestness, and candor.

Earnestness His Strength

OTHER the address of the new President, M.P. Mr. Smillie spoke to the delegates "Labor," he said "has a great work to do through the use of Conferences. We must use political and industrial action and can do so before we can give up direct action for political action. I have always been trying to keep men at work and to avoid loss of time."

Mr. Smillie then advised the delegates to avoid industrial strikes. He advocated the lightning strike, preceded by negotiations.

He went on to remark that "the main thing to keep in mind is our wives and children." (I observed that note in all his speaking. He was thinking of the wives and children.)

EDITOR OF SAME PAPER 50 YEARS

Wm. H. Hale Founded Orillia Packet in 1870 and Is Still Active Director.

UNIQUE LOCAL PAPER

When It Was Started Mr. Hale Thought It Was Like Floating Iron.

By JOHN DUCK.

ANOTHER grand old man of Canadian journalism has passed the half century mark of service consistent with the fifth anniversary of the Orillia Packet. It is the first anniversary of the entry into newspaper work of Mr. Wm. H. Hale, the founder of that paper and still one of its active proprietors and editors.

Since Mr. Hale started the Packet in 1870 it has become one of the most widely known weekly newspapers on the continent, and probably the most quoted small-town newspaper in Canada. The editorial page of the Packet has been different from that of any other Canadian paper. There are several generous columns of editorials in the Packet every week, ranging from short, pithy comment on personalities of the town or of Canada to longer editorials on national affairs.

The story of how the Packet came to be founded as Mr. Hale tells it, is a chapter in the history of newspaper methods of former days. Hale had been running the Beaverton Examiner and his brother George edited the Northern Light in Orillia. Both papers were owned by a Peter Murray. One day Murray came to William Hale and suggested that he change positions with his brother George. He wanted William in Orillia to run the Northern Light, a Liberal paper, and also to run a Conservative paper, to be issued from the same office. The idea was to discourage possible opposition in the town's journalistic field.

"The Iron Did Swim"

Hale ridiculed the idea. But Murray was obstinate. "The fourth time he came," says Mr. Hale, "telling the story, 'I said, 'Well, Peter, you know my opinion. Such a scheme has no more chance of succeeding than a bar of iron would have of floating if you threw it into Lake Couchiching. But I have no more of it, and I'll go and try it.' Peter's answer was characteristic and comical. It was, 'Iron sometimes floats. Have you forgotten the sixth chapter of Kings? And the iron did swim.'"

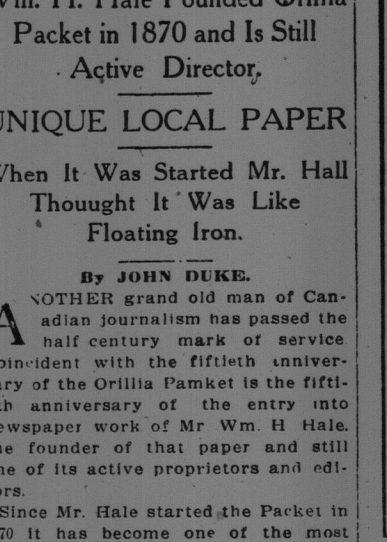

After the paper, which was called the Packet, was started trouble began. Though the editorial staffs were the same, the two papers began a bitter war of words against each other, and the two struggled a battle to death through the Northern Light and the Packet. But one of Murray's partners, a friend of the miners more than of the mechanics of the labor movement.

Speaking of nationalization of the mines, he said: "We have made our case before the commission (the Sankey Commission) and are entitled to nationalization. Capitalists are fighting because they know that nationalization means the surface next, then the factories."

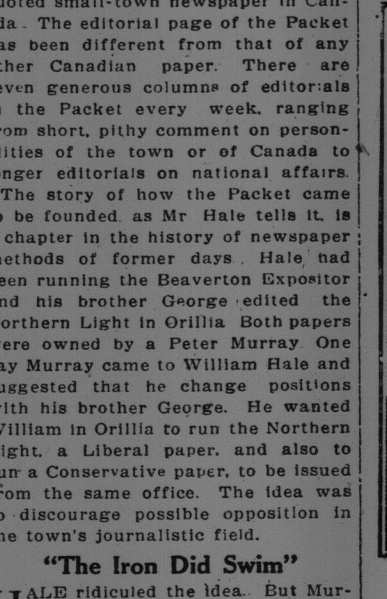

Mr. Smillie's injunction to Mr. Robertson, the new president of the Scottish miners, his own success as a journalist. He advised Robertson to rule with a strong hand. If he made a mistake, hold it in and apologize later. (Laughter.) His own power, such little as he had, was because of his earnestness, he stated frankly.

A PAGE ABOUT PEOPLE YOU KNOW

Sidelights on Men and Women in the Public Eye.

William H. Hale.

Donald O'Callaghan

WHO succeeded the late Thomas MacDonnell as Lord Mayor of Cork, is reported in hiding as a result of threats made by "Black and Tans" in Cork.

Dr. Robert Ramsay, was a very serious Liberal, and the idea of the Packet, a Conservative paper, being published from the office he partially owned was too much for him, and he ordered the Packet to cease publication.

Mr. Hale went to the local Conservative leader and offered to resume publication if financial support were forthcoming. A small sum of money was raised, and the Packet was published by Mr. Hale in another building. Since then it has never missed an issue.

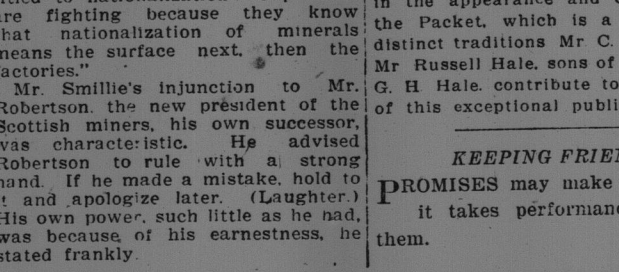

This is the story of how Canada's most distinctive local newspaper had its inception. Mr. William H. Hale had a partner Mr. George Hale, his brother, who entered the business with him two years after the paper was started, and who died in 1914.

Mr. G. H. Hale was an exceptionally fine type of man and took great pride in the appearance and character of the Packet, which is a paper with distinct traditions. Mr. C. H. Hale and Mr. Russell Hale, sons of the late Mr. G. H. Hale, contribute to the success of this exceptional publication.

Retired Minister in St. Catharines

The Pioneer Fox Rancher of Ontario

Rev. George Clark Regarded as an Expert After Nineteen Years' Experience—Never Turned His Business Into a Stock Company.

Rev. George Clark

THERE is no necessary relation between preaching and fox-raising, but the same man can do both. Such qualities as patience, kindness, perseverance, resignation to temporary losses and great faith are required in both vocations. Rev. Dr. G. Clark of St. Catharines was the first man in Ontario to engage in fox culture. He began it nineteen years ago, which was after the beginning in Prince Edward Island. When the boom in foxes was at its height Mr. Clark had some thirty black and silver foxes in his possession. He gave them to one of his boys, who by trading eggs acquired a fine flock of golden and silver pheasants. When the father went to Europe as a conference delegate he brought back to the boy from Belgium, a score or more of the best decorative birds that he could find. From this stock the youth supplied many of the public and private gardens and parks of Canada and the United States.

The lad wished to vary his activities and acquired a pair of red foxes. His father thought that one who set to raise foxes should get the best. So he sent to a friend at Port Nelson and got the pair of silver black foxes.

Dr. Clark might contribute from his experience and observations several chapters to biological knowledge. Mendell's law, as it applies to foxes, is full of interest to him. He can predict with almost complete certainty the markings of the children from assorted pairs of foxes of different hues. Taste in furs now prevails on the market, but foxes have not acquired the skill or knowledge or care required to produce the best skins.

Dr. Clark himself became greatly interested in the breeding of these foxes, which he soon found to be a most difficult and delicate operation. When he retired from the active ministry he took up this business at St. Catharines as a continual source of pleasure and study in natural history, with possibilities of profit. He was not carried away with speculative fever during the boom period, and organized no company, but continued to improve his stock. It is rather curious that Dr. Clark has always found his best market for high-class animals in Prince Edward Island. There the growers produce for the fur market, but they have not acquired the skill or knowledge or care required to produce the best skins.

And One Short Conversation Won Hand of Comely Ruthenian Maiden.

THERE are some rather odd matrimonial matches made in the Canadian West, and Rev. John Doxie, who superintends Methodist missions in Saskatchewan, tells of one that came to his notice among the Ruthenians near Inglehart in that Province.

There was a lone Canadian farmer who part of the country almost entirely surrounded by foreigners. He saw a comely Ruthenian maiden and he fell in love with her. He was a bit of a linguist, and he tried to get acquainted with her, but as she did not understand English and he knew nothing of her tongue the process was slow. He seemed something of a problem, however, he hit on the expedient of writing her by the aid of an interpreter—the girl's uncle.

"I've only got nicely going," he said to the lady, "I'm a widower and I've got a little house and a lot of land. I'd like to see you often."

"What do you want?" she asked.

"I want to marry you," he said.

Cuba's New President

THE recent election of Dr. Alfredo Zayas to the highest office in the Republic is recognized by all Cubans as a fitting tribute to his distinguished services to his country. Like General Macdonell, who he succeeds in the Presidential chair, he was elected on the Liberal ticket, and is the dominating figure in Cuba today. The Cuban Republic has in Dr. Zayas a man of great ability, liberal ideas, wide experience, sound judgment, keen tact and a patriot in which has stood the test of the most terrible trials.

"BIRDIE" DUCKED

THE following story is told of General Sir William Birdwood, formerly of the Australians, who is taking command of the Northern Command of the Indian Army.

In Gallipoli, he was proceeding along a trench when all unwillingly he came to a "dead man's corner."

"Duck your head, Birdie!" roared an Australian voice.

The General told this story to a high War Office official, who gasped and said:

"Good heavens! Did you have him court-martialed?"

"No," answered "Birdie"; "I ducked!"

THE BITER BIT

THE well-known American humorist, Mr. Irvin S. Cobb, has been telling this story against himself. Being desirous, towards the close of his recent visit to England, to book his passage back to New York, he applied at one of the London offices for particulars of sailing and asked:

"Have you a ship called the Neutrotic sailing to America?"

"No, sir," came the reply, "we have not."

Cobb had another go—"Then perhaps it is the Rheumatic—can you book me a first-class passage on that for New York?"

"No, sir, I cannot," replied the official, and then falling in with the joke, continued: "But I think I can fit you up all right on the Eud-natic or the Idiomatic!"

A WONDER WOMAN

SHE LOVES THE OPEN

Noted Canadian Writer Is Remarkably Active Though Well Over Eighty.

Stays at Her Summer Resort on the St. Lawrence Till the Middle of November.

By EDITH G. BAYNE.

IN a secluded and idle retreat on the St. Lawrence just west of the town of Gananoque, a little lady, who numbers her years well over the eighty mark and who is known as the most wonderful woman of her age in Canada, spends nearly every one of the twelve months. She is Agnes Machar, the well-known Canadian writer, and her retreat is called "Ferncliff."

"I always remain here till I see snow on the rocks, and until my breath is as cold as the wind," she says. "I love it so, that it just seems I cannot tear myself away and the middle of November frequently finds me still looking out over the cliff to the blue river and the islands, every one of which stands out sharply in the clear autumn air. No, all the campers are gone and we are alone here," she added. "They don't realize what they miss, do they?"

We stood in a cathedral-like grove carpeted with oak leaves. It was a day in November, sunny and warm, yet with a snap of frost in the air. A temporary incarceration had taken place in the plant world and over all was the pungent odor of earth and fern and flower. The river whirled to the rocks far below. A rabbit rustled in the leaves nearby. Birds called. Summer had returned for an hour.

Miss Machar takes a cold dip every morning of her life. Daily she walks many miles. Yet she knows not weariness except by name and in tennis shoes will clamber over the rocks showing the visitor all the charming views and will then go out on the river and row her own boat. Accompanied by her gardener she goes over her ten acres every day, and spends hours digging and pruning and transplanting. Every soil for miles around knows and loves her and the school children call out gay greetings as she passes. Rain or shine she keeps her appointments. In great haste and small a warm welcome there at any hour. Very unceremonious and quietly she will walk into a schoolroom, the pupils rising with smiles and cheering. "Good morning, Miss Machar," and then she will treat them to one of her kind little talks. Every child in Gananoque will climb over the rocks, a friend to dumb creatures and ever every blackboard is the Golden Rule. "Gananoque means 'rocks and deep water,'" she says. "Ferncliff" stands at the top of an almost sheer precipice and can be reached from the water only by climbing a tall flight of steps. He seemed something of a problem, however, he hit on the expedient of writing her by the aid of an interpreter—the girl's uncle.

"I've only got nicely going," he said to the lady, "I'm a widower and I've got a little house and a lot of land. I'd like to see you often."

"What do you want?" she asked.

"I want to marry you," he said.

"You're a man?" she asked.

"Yes," he said.

"You're rich?" she asked.

"I have a little house and a lot of land," he said.

"I like you," she said.

"I like you," he said.

"BIRDIE" DUCKED

THE following story is told of General Sir William Birdwood, formerly of the Australians, who is taking command of the Northern Command of the Indian Army.

In Gallipoli, he was proceeding along a trench when all unwillingly he came to a "dead man's corner."

"Duck your head, Birdie!" roared an Australian voice.

The General told this story to a high War Office official, who gasped and said:

"Good heavens! Did you have him court-martialed?"

"No," answered "Birdie"; "I ducked!"

A Remarkable Personality

THE BITER BIT

THE well-known American humorist, Mr. Irvin S. Cobb, has been telling this story against himself. Being desirous, towards the close of his recent visit to England, to book his passage back to New York, he applied at one of the London offices for particulars of sailing and asked:

"Have you a ship called the Neutrotic sailing to America?"

"No, sir," came the reply, "we have not."

Cobb had another go—"Then perhaps it is the Rheumatic—can you book me a first-class passage on that for New York?"

"No, sir, I cannot," replied the official, and then falling in with the joke, continued: "But I think I can fit you up all right on the Eud-natic or the Idiomatic!"

The Pioneer Fox Rancher of Ontario

Rev. George Clark Regarded as an Expert After Nineteen Years' Experience—Never Turned His Business Into a Stock Company.

Rev. George Clark

THERE is no necessary relation between preaching and fox-raising, but the same man can do both. Such qualities as patience, kindness, perseverance, resignation to temporary losses and great faith are required in both vocations. Rev. Dr. G. Clark of St. Catharines was the first man in Ontario to engage in fox culture. He began it nineteen years ago, which was after the beginning in Prince Edward Island. When the boom in foxes was at its height Mr. Clark had some thirty black and silver foxes in his possession. He gave them to one of his boys, who by trading eggs acquired a fine flock of golden and silver pheasants. When the father went to Europe as a conference delegate he brought back to the boy from Belgium, a score or more of the best decorative birds that he could find. From this stock the youth supplied many of the public and private gardens and parks of Canada and the United States.

The lad wished to vary his activities and acquired a pair of red foxes. His father thought that one who set to raise foxes should get the best. So he sent to a friend at Port Nelson and got the pair of silver black foxes.

Dr. Clark might contribute from his experience and observations several chapters to biological knowledge. Mendell's law, as it applies to foxes, is full of interest to him. He can predict with almost complete certainty the markings of the children from assorted pairs of foxes of different hues. Taste in furs now prevails on the market, but foxes have not acquired the skill or knowledge or care required to produce the best skins.

Dr. Clark himself became greatly interested in the breeding of these foxes, which he soon found to be a most difficult and delicate operation. When he retired from the active ministry he took up this business at St. Catharines as a continual source of pleasure and study in natural history, with possibilities of profit. He was not carried away with speculative fever during the boom period, and organized no company, but continued to improve his stock. It is rather curious that Dr. Clark has always found his best market for high-class animals in Prince Edward Island. There the growers produce for the fur market, but they have not acquired the skill or knowledge or care required to produce the best skins.

By An Interpreter

And One Short Conversation Won Hand of Comely Ruthenian Maiden.

THERE are some rather odd matrimonial matches made in the Canadian West, and Rev. John Doxie, who superintends Methodist missions in Saskatchewan, tells of one that came to his notice among the Ruthenians near Inglehart in that Province.

There was a lone Canadian farmer who part of the country almost entirely surrounded by foreigners. He saw a comely Ruthenian maiden and he fell in love with her. He was a bit of a linguist, and he tried to get acquainted with her, but as she did not understand English and he knew nothing of her tongue the process was slow. He seemed something of a problem, however, he hit on the expedient of writing her by the aid of an interpreter—the girl's uncle.

"I've only got nicely going," he said to the lady, "I'm a widower and I've got a little house and a lot of land. I'd like to see you often."
