MOST DESPERATE FIGHTING IN THE WESTERN CAMPAIGN NOW IN PROGRESS AROUND ARRAS

FRENCH HOLD GROUND TAKEN FROM ENEMY NORTH OF ARRAS

Strengthen Positions Already Taken in Alsace and Drive Germans Back a Little Farther—Sir John French Reports Enemy Unable to Recover by Furious Counter-Attacks Line of Trenches Taken by British East of Ypres

Paris, June 18.—The following official communication was issued this evening:

"In the sector to the north of Arras a violent artillery duel has taken place today. The front here remains unchanged. We hold all the ground we have captured.

"In Alsace we have fortified the positions which we took yesterday and continue to make progress here. Our advanced parties at the end of the day had reached the outskirts of Metzeral. We have advanced along both banks of the Fecht. We hold under our fire the enemy's communications between Metzeral and Munster. Further prisoners, machine guns and a very large quantity of war materials, notably rifles and cartridges, have been taken by us.

"There is nothing to report concerning the situation on the remainder of the front."

Fierce Counter Attacks Fail To Shake British Line

London, June 18.—The following report from Sir John French, commander-in-chief of the British forces on the continent, was given out here tonight:

"The fighting in the northern and southern portions of our front continued throughout June 16, in co-operation with the attack of our Ally about Arras.

"East of Ypres all the German first line trenches which we captured remained in our hands, in spite of two counter-attacks, which were repulsed with heavy loss to the enemy. We were, however, unable to retain those of the enemy's second line trenches which we had occupied in the morning.

"East of Festubert, as a result of a further attack on the afternoon of the 16th we made a slight advance and, judging by the number of dead Germans in the trenches captured by our artillery fire was very effective."

ALLIES CONTINUE THEIR OFFENSIVE IN WEST DESPITE FIERCE COUNTER ATTACKS

Hand to Hand Fighting Marks Struggle for Trenches — Russian Retreat Costing Austro-German Army an Enormous Toll in Men — Austrian Army Reinforced in Italian Campaign and Italy's Army Will Soon Meet Formidable Resistance.

London, June 18.—Although disagreeing as to results, both the German official statement, on the one hand, and the French and British communications, on the other, indicate that the fighting progressing in the Arras sector, and at the northern and southern parts of the short British front, is as desperate as any the western theatre of war has developed. The area of hostilities is tiny as compared with the sweep of the Galician front, where the Austro-Germans are still driving forward, but the last few days have brought much hand-to-hand fighting, the British and French striving to hold the trenches gained, and the Germans, with a preponderance of machine guns, as promptly initiating a counter-attack.

Each side dwells on the losses of the other, and each emphasizes its gains, all of which have been costly, although comparatively small, as measured in distance. It is too early to say whether this means a serious Franco-British attempt to break through, but it is patent that they are on the offensive.

In the East the Austro-German forces are not only nearer Lemberg, Galicia, but claim to have driven the Russians further across the frontier of Poland, in the vicinity of Tarnograd, as well as penetrating further into Bessarabia. The battle for Lemberg is now raging along the fortified Grodok line, where it is predicted the Russians will give a final stubborn battle to save the capital.

The British press, pending such time as the Russians stiffen their resistance, is finding solace in the reports of the colossal human sacrifices which the Austro-German drive through Galicia entailed. It is claimed that the Russians, even if forced to retreat, by clever management, have drawn the Austro-German forces perilously far from their rail communications, meantime so seriously sapping their vitality with estimated losses of 10,000 men a day as to contribute materially to the outcome of the western campaign.

RUSSIAN TOWN OF TARNOGROD CAPTURED BY THE ENEMY

Vienna Reports Teuton Armies Have Crossed Galician Frontier North of Sieniewa—Strong Russian Forces Appear in Rear of Jaworaw

Bulletin—Vienna, via London, June 18.—The Austro-German troops in pursuit of the retreating Russians have crossed the Galician border to the north of Sieniewa, and have reached the heights north of Krezow, Russia, and occupied the Russian town of Tarnograd, according to an official communication issued by the War Office tonight.

The communication says:

"North of Sieniewa our pursuing troops have penetrated Russian territory and reached the heights north of Krezow, and occupied Tarnograd.

"The Russian forces between the Lower San and the Vistula have retreated at several points. The heights north of Cieszanow (ten miles north of Lubaczow) has been taken. In the mountain region east of Niemior, and in the rear of Jaworaw, strong Russian forces have appeared.

"On the Wereszyca river the fighting continues. Our troops have gained a footing at some points eastward of the river.

"South of the Upper Dniester the Russians, after hard fighting, were compelled to retire from positions near Litvina toward Kolodrub. Our pursuing troops have reached the mouth of the Wereszyca. Elsewhere the situation along the Dniester is unchanged.

"The eastern groups of General Phlanzer's army yesterday repulsed three Russian attacks. The enemy, making desperate attempts to throw our troops back in Bukovina, suffered heavy losses from our artillery, and retired quickly. Eight officers and a thousand men and three machine guns were captured.

Russians Start Counter Offensive

London, June 19.—A despatch to the Times from Bucharest says:

"Reports from the frontier state that the Russians have taken a counter-offensive against the Austrians who invaded Bessarabia under Gen. Pflanzler. The Austrians have been forced to retire hastily as far as Bojana, to the east of Czernowitz, and are evacuating Novo Zelica, in Russia on the River Pruth, and the rest of the occupied territory. The Russians have captured a great quantity of war material."

BERLIN PRESS STILL AT WAR OVER U.S. NOTE

Cologne Gazette Takes Lokal Anzeiger to Task for Attempt to Extenuate Britain's Policy.

Berlin, June 18, via London.—The newspaper war between advocates of a friendly settlement and the "no compromise" representatives continues to rage. Naval writers in particular urge that Germany cannot afford to yield an iota regarding the principles and practice of submarine warfare, but the very violence of their attacks upon the advocates of an understanding indicates that the latter are not without influence.

GOV. GENERAL TO INSPECT CAMP SUSSEX

H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught Will View New Brunswick Men Today.

Sussex, N. B., June 18.—Preparations have been completed for the reception of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught on his arrival here. A royal guard has been arranged and his special train will be under guard at all times during his stay. His Royal Highness will inspect the men of the 53rd tomorrow morning at ten o'clock. He will be entertained at lunch by the officers of the regiment at one o'clock.

The full complement of men in camp tonight was 738 men and 40 officers. This means that three hundred more men are required.

The men of the overseas company have been presented with cigarettes and cigars by other members of the battalion.

Twenty-four St. John boys are among the men of the overseas detachment.

RUSSIAN GOV'T TAKES CONTROL OF FACTORIES

To Make War Munitions—Supply Still Inadequate Although Factories are Working Day and Night.

Berlin, via London, June 18.—The National Zeitung's correspondent "On the Russian Border," who repeatedly has shown himself to be well informed, sends a despatch saying that the Russian War Ministry has ordered the military expropriation of all factories capable of making ammunition. The correspondent says that despite the fact that Russian ammunition factories are working three shifts of men, the production still lacks much of covering the gigantic consumption.

ENEMIES AT WATERLOO ARE NOW FIGHTING SIDE BY SIDE

Yesterday, Anniversary of Waterloo, Finds Great Change in Situation in Europe.

Paris, June 18.—Today, the anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo, reminds the various French newspapers of the changed situation in Europe, that when a coalition of European powers was contending against Napoleon, while now the Allies are fighting against the Emperors of the Central Empires.

The Temps, in concluding a leading article, says that justice and liberty have changed their camps, and that it is in the ranks of the new alliance where their force is felt, invisible yet present.

"We no longer believe in victory," the newspaper says. "We feel it in ourselves. We see it radiant."

THE FIRST FIGHT BETWEEN SUBMARINES

Engagement Between the Medusa and Austrian Submarine First Encounter Between Undersea Craft in History of Naval Warfare.

Venice, June 18, via Paris.—Details have been received here of the recent remarkable engagement between an Italian and an Austrian submarine in which the Italian boat was vanquished. This is the first time in the history of naval engagements that an encounter between under-sea boats has been recorded.

The Italian boat was the Medusa, with a displacement of 300 tons, a speed of 14 knots and a crew of fourteen men. She was lying submerged and the Austrian boat was not far away, also under water. Neither one had any intimation of the presence of the other.

The Medusa came to the surface first, swept the horizon with her periscope, and finding the way clear, she emerged. Shortly after the Austrian boat decided to come up. She sent up her periscope and saw the Italian boat not far away. Recognizing an enemy she immediately attacked, and one shot from her torpedo was sufficient to send the Medusa to the bottom. One report has it that an officer and four men of the crew of the Medusa escaped, and were made prisoners by the Austrians.

BERNSTORFF'S ENVOY SUBMITS HIS REPORT

Delivers His Message in Berlin on the German-American Situation.

Berlin, June 18, via London.—Dr. Anton Meyer-Gerhardt, who is here with messages from the German embassy at Washington, bearing on the German-American situation, had a two hours conference today with Dr. Alfred Zimmerman, under-secretary of foreign affairs, and Count Montgelas, head of the American section of the foreign office, Gottlieb Von Jagow, minister of foreign affairs, also participated in the deliberations.

The nature of Dr. Meyer-Gerhardt's report has not been disclosed, but after the conference Dr. Zimmerman expressed himself as thoroughly satisfied with the prospects of an amicable settlement of the German-American difficulties.

JEROME TRAVIS WINS GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Short Hills, N. J., June 18.—Jerome D. Travers today won the national open golf championship of the United States, this being the second time in the history of the United States Golf Association that the honor has been won by an amateur. Travers' score was 297. Tom McNamara was second, with 298, and Robert Macdonald, Buffalo, third, with a card of 300.

Travers has won four national amateur and five metropolitan, as well as several other important golf championships.

Francis Outmet, the amateur champion, who won the open event two years ago after playing of a brilliant tie with Vardon and Ray at Brookline, Mass., could not control his clubs today and finished with a total of 317.

Chick Evans, the young Chicagoan, who holds the western amateur title, also played disappointingly, although he finished ten strokes ahead of Outmet.

AIRSHIP FALLS TO EARTH, TWO ARE KILLED

Quincy, Mass., June 18.—An aeroplane plunged to earth with three men today, two of them dying as a result. George H. Hersey, Jr. of this city, a mechanic, was killed instantly. William D. Ely of Providence, R. I., who was receiving instructions in flight

THE AUSTRO-ITALIAN CAMPAIGN

Rome, Italy, June 18, via London.—The following Italian official statement was given out at the War Office tonight:

"Austrian scouts and destroyers bombarded and slightly damaged the coast railway near Fano (on the Adriatic, eight miles southeast of Pesaro). They also damaged houses in Pesaro and Rimini."

AUSTRIANS HAVE TAKEN THE OFFENSIVE

Verona, via Chiasso, to Paris, June 18.—The Austrians have now strengthened their forces that they are taking the offensive, both from Mori and Rovereto, against the Italians, who are camping at Brentonico, which lies at the foot of Mount Altissimo, situated in the Lagarina Valley, and also in the Arsa Valley. The result of the fighting is still in doubt.

Udine, Italy, via Paris, June 18.—Reports from all the fronts state that strong bodies of first line troops, especially the Emperor's Own Troops, Croations, Bohemians and Hungarians have been substituted for the Austrian gendarmes, customs guards and soldiers of the Landsturm. All these first line soldiers have been hardened by over ten months of war and make formidable adversaries. It is reported that Lieut. Gen. Count Cadorna, chief of staff of the Italian army, said regarding these troops: "Now we have foemen worthy of our steel."

The Italian Alpine troops themselves realize the difference and fight with great circumspection, as was proved Wednesday afternoon when over 1,000 Hungarians, commanded by a lieutenant colonel, again tried to take revenge for the Austrian reverse on Montenero. This time the Hungarians climbed Vrata Mountain, hoping from that height to dominate the Italian positions and outflank them.

HUNGARIAN BATT. WIPED OUT

Italian Alpine troops gradually surrounded Vrata, creeping through the undergrowth. For some time they did not reply to the Hungarian fire, it being a rule among the Alpine soldiers not to shoot unless they can kill at least one adversary. Finally the moment came when the Hungarians being within close range, the Alpine troops poured in a rain of bullets and then sprang out with fixed bayonets. The Hungarians were repulsed in confusion and tried to escape, but found the Alpine soldiers emerging from every side. Every member of the Hungarian battalion was either killed or taken prisoner.

Lt. Gen. Count Cadorna summed up all this by saying that the Hungarians "were repulsed, counter-attacked and annihilated."

Geneva, June 18, via Paris, June 19, 1.15 a. m.—"The Italians have gained more ground in the Buchenstein Valley," says the Laibach, Austria, correspondent of the Tribune. "Their batteries are bombarding St. Cassain. They have also occupied important strategic points around Monte Cristo. Italian batteries shelled the Austrians out of positions in the vicinity of Monte Croce."

"Southeast of Trent, the Italians are concentrating strong forces to block any eventual Austrian offensive. In the Supana Valley the Italians destroyed many defensive works, and bombarded Borgo for several hours. At Folgarida they were obliged to retreat before repeated attacks by the Austrians, but during the day of June 17, they re-captured their former positions and are now bombarding Rovereto."

LARGER SHARE OF WAR ORDERS FOR CANADA

Sir Percy Girouard's Mission Will be to See that Canadian Firms Get More Business and With Less Trouble.

London, June 18.—While the name of the big business man deputed by the Minister of Munitions to visit the United States for the purpose of discussing American and Canadian war contracts is not yet disclosed, the Montreal Gazette correspondent gathers that he is a well known figure in public life here, and possessed of ample means. The definite statement can be made that it is not Sir Percy Girouard. His departure will probably be taken about the middle of next week, and his task will be not only to modify the terms of the government's contract with J. P. Morgan and Company, which are felt to be inimical to the interests of the smaller manufacturers, but also to make arrangements under which Canadian manufacturers will receive a larger share of British orders, and with less trouble.

The decision of the government to

FRANCE WELL THROTTLED BEFORE THE WAR BEGAN

The German Spy Revelations of Leon Daudet, now Startling France Two Years After Daudet's Warning.

In an article dealing with the German's spy system in France, the Boston Transcript says: "As the great European conflict continues, with unabated misery and horror following in its wake, America is slowly awakening to the possibilities of evil latent in the German system of espionage, as it has been used in preparing France and Belgium for the Teuton invasion. That there is such a system in Great Britain we have proof each day, as we note the headlines of the daily papers. That Germans have been only too active in the English colonies is shown by the recent outbreak in Singapore, a rebellion of native troops fostered by German gold; and on the island of Hoang Kong, two hundred and fifty Germans are now in a concentration camp because of their nefarious designs on the fortifications. So much for the present-day situation, but although we are at last willing to face and admit its gravity today, we must do more than passively accept the conditions if we are to hope for safety in the future.

The Unarmed Wolves

Only two years ago Leon Daudet in an attempt to warn his beloved France of the enemy stealing quietly within her very gates, wrote a book called, prophetically enough, "L'Avant La Guerre." He shared the fate which Cassandra immortalized; his warnings were unheeded by the French Government. But he has devoted himself to unravelling the intricacies of the Teutonic spy system with so much accuracy and penetration that a summary of his disclosures would be both amazing and enlightening to American minds.

It is always delightfully easy to blame a Government instead of its citizens for the errors of a country. Leon Daudet blames his Government for the mistaken attempt to remedy the falling birth rate of France by making naturalization for foreigners an extremely easy matter. Italians, Russians and English subjects have made no attempt to become French citizens. A glance, however, at the number of Germans who flocked to France, before the war began, nominally for purely commercial reasons. In 1906 the number had increased to ninety thousand. Each following year the numbers rose above one hundred and twenty thousand.

Such naturalization proceedings innocuous enough until we remember that a German subject no matter how many countries he may adopt for business reasons, always remains loyal to the Fatherland. Once a German subject, always a German subject. To prove this way I refer to a bill presented at the German Reichstag in 1912 which says in part: "In cases where German subjects wish for business reasons to acquire new nationalities, they can accept any new nationality, and at the same time remain identified with their own country. They may even be of assistance to the country of their birth."

The meaning and sinister significance of this last sentence is sufficiently obvious. And for an excellent example of a naturalized Frenchman let us take M. Jacques Grunbach, a member of the German Government, and Minister of the Interior, head of the police of France. Among his many duties were the inspection of forts, arsenals and military workshops, to say nothing of the canals, post offices and telegraph stations.

"Confidential" Information

Under M. Grunbach's caressing glance, the Germans made great headway in France. They began by establishing as early as 1895 an apparently innocuous little agency, known as the Schimmelpfeng Agency, for the avowed purpose of finding employment for Germans. Not until 1910 did the French public first notice its existence. M. Pierre Marsailles wrote three articles in "Gil Blas" describing this Schimmelpfeng Agency in detail. Its chief business appeared to be the collecting of information about French industrial enterprises. As it grew and enlarged it began to send out circulars asking questions of manufacturers, and of directors of corporations. Some of the questions were as follows:

1. What do you know of the antecedents, personal qualities and career of X—?
2. What is your opinion of his actual income, and the capital of his business?
3. Can you tell me how his income is earned, and when the payments are made?
4. Has he more than one agent?

V. (a) Is the agent prudent and careful in his choice of clients? (b) Do you know of his work from personal experience? These questions are authentic, however imperfect they may appear. But we must remember that the "Agency Schimmelpfeng" always sent a letter explaining elaborately that the information was to be held in confidence, and was for the purpose of assisting clients. "Needless to say, as we have positive proof, all information so gained, and some of it was immensely valuable, was immediately forwarded to Berlin. The head office of this agency was before the war on the Boulevard Montmartre in Paris. Needless to say, the Schimmelpfeng Agency is no longer in operation. The German Government has secured the information it needed.

Controlling the Food Supply

Having endeavored to point out one of the methods by which Germany has kept close watch on French manufactures, let us now turn to another attempt which Germany has made to capture the food supply of Paris. Absurd this may sound to the uninitiated, but the facts cannot be disputed. The great mills of Corbeil supply all Paris with flour, and its agencies distribute this flour all over France. Before the war the head of the mills of Corbeil was a German, Lucien Baumann. These mills, under Baumann's direction, were managed like a fortress. No French visitor was allowed to enter them. The workmen were German and all the machinery was "made in Germany." Had the Germans succeeded in their march to Paris it is not hard to see whose army would first have been fed by the flour from the mills of Corbeil.

Let us turn to France's "black bread of industry," her charcoal. Before the war where did that come from? It all came from Germany, because German merchants were able to underbid all French merchants and deliver charcoal from Germany to France at a far lower price than the French merchants could possibly quote.

French Trains "Made in Germany"

All the locomotives on the Eastern frontier were made up to the previous autumn, by the German firm of "Ornsteln and Koppel." Not only were they brought from Germany, but they were repaired in France by German workmen. This firm invented in 1911 a narrow gauge railroad which could be transported easily from one part of the country to another. This railroad found instant favor in France, and the German manufacturers must have launched in their sleeves, foreseeing in them another aid to quick military

TYPICAL STRIKE SCENE IN CHICAGO'S BUSINESS SECTION

Chicago's business section is just now a very much congested location, due to the big railway strike in that city. The accompanying picture depicts a scene during one of the Windy City's many strikes, and right now the citizens of that big town are very much hot up over the situation.

transportation when the Germans marched victoriously on Paris.

Not content, however, with securing control of French industries and transportation facilities, Germany next determined to investigate the new French dirigibles which were built and experimented with at Lamotte Bruel, near the Compiègne forest. Early in the year 1912 a new company, calling itself "The Society for the Production of Chemical Products," opened an office in Paris at No. 10 Rue Vienne. Its object, as stated in the French Year Book, was the manufacture of all kinds of chemicals, the acquisition of lands and buildings and the buying and selling of all kinds of products. And when Leon Daudet investigated this company further he was not surprised to find that all its directors were Germans.

The Society for the Production of Chemical Products then proceeded, shortly after opening its Paris office, to build a factory on the edge of the Compiègne forest, near the mouths of the Oise and Aisne. Truly it was a strategic position. From the factory windows the employees, all Germans, command an uninterrupted view of the manoeuvres of the new French military dirigibles. A spy discovered, in 1912, that the French Radio Telegraphique Company, which controlled practically all wireless telephones and telegraph stations of military importance, was undercapitalized. It was not long after that the Radio Telegraphique, reorganized under the name of "Universal Compagnie Radio Telegraphique," with a capital of ten millions. The French Government relied solely on this company for supplying all wireless equipments for forts, arsenals, aeroplanes and the army service corps.

Only a very short time before the war broke out the discovery was made that only three of the directors of the company were Frenchmen. The remainder of the board was comprised of German bankers, all prominent in Berlin. America should take note of these things. France has paid dearly for her lesson. Whatever the outcome of this terrible conflict may be, France will no longer permit as she did, up to early in the year 1913, an anonymous firm to have the monopoly of her greatest military necessities, namely gunpowder and gun cotton. The anonymous society of Montfermeil had but three owners, the Guebels, Martin. One of their main factories was near a canal connecting the Rhone and the Rhine. Had not the French Government acted sternly and decisively, the French supply of ammunition might have been seriously crippled.

Some of us who draw hasty conclusions may say that the fault of this German industrial invasion lay wholly with the inertia of the French Government. In many ways our American Government resembles the French republic in granting extensive privileges to its new citizens. Nothing has as yet been actually proved about an organized system of German espionage in America. But, if Germany has achieved so much in France, she is likely to be moved to even greater efforts in other countries. Her efficiency is always stupendous. But her weakest point in every chain of subtlety and self-interested calculation lies in her inability to comprehend the heroism and idealism of other nations.

THE KENT COUNTY BRIDGE INQUIRY

Fredericton, June 18—Commissioner W. B. Chandler did not continue his enquiry this morning into the charges laid by Mr. P. J. Venot, respecting work done on ordinary bridges in Kent County, but left for his home at Moncton. Before leaving he stated that he would appoint some date in the near future for the continuation of the enquiry, some witnesses required not being available today.

JUDGEMENTS GIVEN BY APPEAL COURT

Fredericton, June 18—This morning the Appeal Court, Chief Justice McLeod, Justices White and Grimmer, delivered judgments as follows: The King vs. Dugas, ex parte Legere, Grimmer J., reads judgment to quash conviction. McLeod, C. J., concurs. White, J., delivers judgment agreeing in the result on the ground that the value of property was not stated. Order absolute to quash conviction. The King vs. O'Brien, ex parte Doucette, Grimmer J., reads judgment of the court, confirming conviction. Order to quash conviction. White concurs. Further judgments will follow on the Westmorland case of the shooting when making an arrest. The King vs. Abram W. Belyea, White, J., reads judgment of the court, appeal dismissed and conviction affirmed. Tosier vs. Mallory, Grimmer J., reads judgment, White concurs. Further judgments will follow on the 29th at 11 a.m., among them being arbitration appeal in St. John and Quebec Railway Company vs. the Frasers, Limited, and the two St. John cases, that of the Street Railway special case and that of the Municipality vs. the Board of Valuers.

One common motion was heard, namely, the King on the complaint of Bowman Cronkble, Harry McFarlane, Thomas Stairs and Fred Hall vs. Fred Elliott. C. D. Richards moved for a rule absolute for a certiorari and an order nisi to quash an order made by Wilson, J., judge, of York County Court made an appeal from a summary conviction. Rule granted for hearing at the next sitting of the court. This was the Queensbury case, where a disturbance was created at a Belgian relief meeting, and in which the question now is over the matter of a $400 bill of costs.

PEOPLE OFTEN SAY "How Are We To Know When The Kidneys Are Out Of Order?"

EASIEST THING IN THE WORLD!
The location of the kidneys, close to the small of the back, renders the detection of kidney trouble a simple matter. The note of warning comes from the back. The kidneys become overtaxed and fall to do their work at nature's call. Backache is the signal sent out by the kidneys the minute they become overtaxed. Those who heed the warning when it first comes, usually have but little trouble.

"The danger lies in delay. Doan's Kidney Pills stimulate the action of the kidneys, and enable them to perform their duty perfectly." Mrs. Greig Murphy, Lower Ship Harbor, East, N.S., writes: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills in my family with great success, and don't think there is a better pill for the kidneys. I was very miserable with my back, and could hardly get about. I got a box, and tried them, and found that they were really good, so I took in all about six boxes, and soon found my back cured, and my kidneys as well as ever." Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c per box, 3 boxes for $1.25; for sale at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. ## A Business Built On Two Words

THIS great business—the largest of its kind in Canada—has been built on two words Quality First.

The first shoes that bore the name "Ames Holden" and the first made by "McCready", were good shoes. The first dealers, who sold "Ames Holden" or "McCready" Shoes, found them to be good shoes.

Through all the sixty years of their business life Quality First has been the guiding force which has brought increased prestige to these famous firms.

Many of the grandfathers and grandmothers of today took their first walks in "Ames Holden" or "McCready" Shoes, just as their grandchildren are doing today.

The builders of railroads; the founders of cities; the directors of national life; the substantial men and women in every section of Canada; the defenders of the Empire; have worn and are wearing either an "Ames Holden" or a "McCready" shoe.

And the reason is simple—they are most satisfactory in every point, style, fit, comfort, and practical economy. In other words—Quality First.

ENGLENIA OF ST. JOSEPH'S UNIVERSITY

Brought to a Close Yesterday Morning in Lefebvre Memorial Hall.

THREE ST. JOHN BOYS WIN B. A. DEGREES

University ends one of its most successful years in its history — The prize winners.

The englenia exercises at St. Joseph's University were brought to a close this morning in Lefebvre Memorial Hall. A large audience was present and included many distinguished guests and former students. His Lordship Bishop LeBlanc, presided.

The graduating class of the University course numbered ten, among whom were three St. John students: Leonard McGuire, Chas. McHugh, and Fred D. McGuire, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

The English valedictory was delivered by Chas. McHugh, of St. John. The valedictory was, in part, as follows:

As the years roll by and time pours its unceasing waters into the infinite ocean of eternity, there comes a point when man must turn aside from the ordinary course of life, pause and think about him; when he must measure the sum of his moral, intellectual and physical endowments against the dangers that he has to meet; when he must lay aside his innermost soul with the steady and impartial scrutiny of another, that he might see his defects and qualities. Such a time has come for some of us today.

Today an appalling picture presents itself to our view. The world is full of evil and materialism. Ambition for material advancement holds full sway over the nations of the earth. The god of wealth is enshrined on a great throne, and at his feet the populace is bowed in abject submission. Riches and honors, sought not for the good that they can do, but for the pleasure and luxury they afford, are the great goals towards which everybody is tending. To attain them, men use the means that best suit the circumstances.

All these things would appear to point to something essentially corrupt in the basic principle of the human family. Yet the wrong lies not so much in the human family essentially as such, as in the godless systems of education which prevail almost everywhere throughout the world. A man will be just what he is taught to be and nothing else. Teach him to put his material advancement above the moral and he will do it. Teach him nothing but the things necessary to his material advancement, by excluding or neglecting the others, and he makes his moral good subservient to his material interests, something that he must gloss over quietly and without attention.

Real education, therefore, must consist first of all in the training of the will, where man is taught his duties towards God, his neighbor and himself. This is the essential in life, and where this is lacking there will be no true education and no true progress. It is everywhere recognized that men should be temperate, just and merciful in all their dealings, and if they are not, the law will not make them so; for the law lies in the unwritten will which statute law does not directly influence.

Once the moral well-being has been grounded upon a firm rock bottom, society should look out for man's intellectual welfare, for this serves to embellish the character. It fits man better for the duties of his state in life, enables him to discern more clearly between right and wrong, and to provide properly for his material advancement.

As the body is subordinate to the soul, so also must the soul facilities be the directive principle and not the handmaid of the culture of the physical powers. Nevertheless, this is not a department to be neglected. The strong body is a means to make use of the intellectual facilities in the development of the physical faculties, aid is rendered to the preservation of the moral well-being; for in the training afforded by athletic exercises the mind is diverted from many of the evil influences encountered in life. Thus, only when education in the harmonious development of the moral, intellectual and physical faculties, shall we have a true contempt of the "mens sana in corpore sano" and then only shall we be able to oppose an effectual barrier in the evil enslaving mankind that we have received.

Reverend Father, President and Members of the Faculty: Today we quit the home which has been ours for the past few years, quiet, peaceful years in which we have garnered an abundant harvest. No matter what the future may hold in store for us, we will always be settlements of gratitude towards those who have labored without material remuneration

CADET CORPS WELL DRILLED

Inspection by Lieutenant McCleave satisfactory — Boys benefitted by training.

Lieut. H. E. McCleave, assistant cadet inspector for the 8th Eastern Division, arrived in the city on Thursday and inspected the St. Andrew's church Cadet Corps. The corps, forty strong, was put through a squad and company drill by the officers, Capt. Marvin White and Lieut. Fred Waldron, both of whom acquitted themselves well and the cadets made a splendid showing. The rifle and firing exercises had to be dispensed with owing to the recall of the rifles by the Militia Department.

The signalling work was carried on by Cadets Murray Scott and W. Maxwell and although they have little opportunity for practice, they were highly commended for their work.

The High School Cadets under their officers, Capt. Flood and Ritchie, Lieuts. Jones, Anglin, Bustin, Wetmore and Williams and Adjutant Wetmore were inspected yesterday afternoon, on the school grounds. They were put through section and company drill and carried out some signalling. Considering that the cadets have only been training a short time under Serjt. Doose they made a most excellent showing. The inspecting officer, Lieut. McCleave congratulated the boys and said he was greatly pleased with their admirable performance.

The cadets of St. Luke's Church, sixty-four strong, were inspected in the evening in their drill hall and were put through the movements by their Capt. Walter S. Dunlop, assisted by Lieuts. Guy Nichols, M. Hatheway and Adjutant S. Stevens. The boys went through their section, company and manual drill without a hitch. Afterwards several members of the corps carried on some signalling, and made a fine showing. Lieut. McCleave congratulated the officers and members. He was highly pleased with their appearance and hoped they would do as well next year. Refreshments were served after the inspection by the young ladies of the church.

Lieut. McCleave will inspect the Rothery College cadets this afternoon at 4 o'clock and St. Stephen's church cadets this evening at 7:30 o'clock. It is expected that all the cadets will attend the Imperial this evening.

ST. VITUS DANCE IN YOUNG CHILDREN

Can Only be Cured by Enriching the Blood and Toning Up the Blood.

One of the commonest forms of nervous trouble that afflicts young children is St. Vitus dance. This is the name of the great demand made on the body by growth and development, together with the added strain caused by study. It is when these demands become so great that they impoverish the blood, and the nerves fall to receive their full supply of nourishment that St. Vitus dance develops. The remarkable success of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing St. Vitus dance should lead parents to give this great blood-building medicine to their children at the first signs of the approach of the trouble. Pailor, listlessness, inattention, restlessness and irritability are all symptoms which early show that the blood and nerves are falling to meet the demand upon them. Here is a proof of the great value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mrs. Alfred Sochner, R. R. No. 5, Dunville, Ont., says: "Our ten-year-old daughter, Violet, suffered very severely from St. Vitus dance. The trouble came on so gradually that we were not alarmed until it affected her legs and arms, which would twitch and jerk to such an extent that she could scarcely walk and could not hold anything in her hands steadily. She suffered for about five months before we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but she had not taken these long before we found that they were the right medicine, and after she had taken nine boxes she had fully recovered her former health and strength. I can strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every parent having a child suffering from St. Vitus dance or any form of nervousness." troubles of this kind no other medicine has met with such success as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE MAY QUEEN CASE HAS BEEN SETTLED

The steamer to be delivered to the purchaser is order of the Court.

The case of the May Queen Steamship Company, Ltd. was concluded in the Supreme Court yesterday when His Honor Judge McKeown delivered judgment as follows:

In the matter of the May Queen Steamship Company, Limited, and in the matter of "The Companies' Winding Up Act," being chapter 90 of The Consolidated Statutes 1903 and amending acts.

Upon reading my order made in this matter on the 9th day of April, 1915, and the affidavit of Fred H. Colwell sworn on the 14th day of May, 1915, before G. O. Dickson Esq., a commissioner for taking affidavits to be read in the Supreme Court and filed in compliance with permission contained in my said order, and upon hearing Mr. Geo. H. V. Belyea, solicitor for the said Fred H. Colwell, W. B. Wallace, K. C., solicitor for certain creditors, and Mr. Francis Kerr, solicitor for the curator, and His Honor Judge McKeown on the 15th day of June, 1914, and his position dated the 10th day of December, 1914, praying that steps be taken to adjust the accounts between him as such curator of the May Queen Steamship Company, Limited, in liquidation, and the said Fred H. Colwell, as treasurer and manager thereof, and mortgagee of the Steamship May Queen. It is ordered that one-eighth of the sum of $14,000.00, being the amount received by the curator from the sale of the steamship May Queen be paid to the said Fred H. Colwell, mortgagee of one-eighth of said vessel subject to the following deductions, namely:

(a) The sum of twenty-seven dollars and forty-six cents ($27.46) being one-eighth of two hundred and ninety-one dollars and seventy-one cents ($291.71) expenses shown by the curator in his petition and report of the 15th day of June, 1914, as incurred and paid by him in connection with the sale of the said steamer.

(b) The sum of twenty-seven dollars and eighty-seven cents ($27.87) being one-eighth of two hundred and twenty-three dollars ($223.00), being charter rent and services of engineer and watchman on board the steamer while in the hands of the curator.

(c) The sum of fifty dollars, being one-eighth of an allowance to curator of one hundred dollars ($400.00), in my order of the 9th day of April, 1915.

(d) The sum of four hundred and seventy-six dollars and eighty-six cents ($476.86), being the amount due to the curator to be retained by the curator in my order of the 9th day of April, 1915.

(e) The sum of fifty dollars ($50.00) which I assess and allow as costs to Mr. Wallace, solicitor for creditors of the said May Queen, and to be paid by the curator to the said Mr. Wallace, in my order of the 9th day of April, 1915.

Dated the 18th day of June, 1915. (Sgd.) HARRISON A. McKEOWN, Judge &c. in Chambers, St. John, N. B. June 18, 1915

WEDDINGS

Orchard-Mott

Waterborough, Q. C., June 16—St. Luke's church was crowded to its utmost capacity last evening to witness the nuptials of Cora Mabel Mott and Alfred Scott Orchard. Punctually at six o'clock, the bride entered on the arm of her father, Mr. C. H. Mott, to the inspiring strains of the wedding march, Lohengren, and was met at the altar by the groom. They were unattended. The pastor, Rev. Thomas Parker, performed the ceremony. The hymn sung was "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." The choir consisted of Mrs. F. Gale, Misses Stella Wasson, Darragh and Moore. Miss Crocker, a friend of the bride, presided at the organ most acceptably. After the ceremony, the invited guests repaired to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mott, where a sumptuous wedding supper was served. The bride looked particularly pretty in white silk, with overdress of shadow lace, and a handsome white net veil, and carried a bouquet of carnations and maidenhair ferns. Evelyn Dykeman, a cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and was dressed in white, and carried a basket of carnations and asparagus. The presents were very numerous and costly, consisting of silver, cut glass, oil paintings, handkerchiefs, a handsome silver clock, cash, and a handsome silver cake basket from the members of St. Luke's church, with the inscription "From St. Luke's Church, 1915." Miss Mott having been the valued organist. During the evening a large crowd of the younger portion of the community, armed with guns, cowbells, and other implements of torture, gave the young couple a charivari. Among the people from St. John were Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Dykeman and two children, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Mott and Mr. Clair Mott, and Mrs. Brittain, an aunt of the groom, of the King's Daughters. Mr. and Mrs. Orchard drove to their future residence, Mill Cove. The church was beautifully decorated with lilacs, apple blossoms and

HAD INDIGESTION FOR OVER 10 YEARS.

ALMOST DESPAIRED OF EVER GETTING WELL.

Indigestion is one of the worst forms of stomach trouble. The stomach becomes upset and you have a raw, debilitating feeling in it. After a meal you feel that you must get rid of that nasty, bilious, burning sensation. It is not necessary for you to be troubled with indigestion if you will only try that old and well-known remedy, Burdock Blood Bitters, which is a combination of nature's best known roots, herbs and barks for the cure of all stomach and blood troubles.

Mrs. Mary MacKay, Hunter's Mountain, N.S., writes: "I was troubled with indigestion for more than ten years. I tried several doctors' medicines claiming the power to cure, but all without success. Having heard of the many cures effected by Burdock Blood Bitters, I decided to give it a trial. After taking two bottles I was completely cured. My appetite which was very poor is now good, and I eat at most every thing without any disagreeable feelings.

I can strongly recommend B.B.B. to anyone suffering from indigestion."

B.B.B. is manufactured only by The E. M. B. Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Have A FIRE-RESISTING ROOF

That BRANTFORD ASPHALT ROOFING actually resists fire, was proven conclusively when "our City Road" factory was burned, some years ago. The wood under the roofing was charred, but the BRANTFORD ASPHALT ROOFING was unaffected by the flames, as can be seen from a portion of this roof covering taken from the buildings after the fire, and now on exhibition in our office. But this is only one advantage of BRANTFORD ASPHALT ROOFING.

McLaughlin-Firlot.

The Catholic church at St. Leonards, N. B., was the scene of a pleasant event on Tuesday morning, when Miss Alice Firlot was united in marriage to Bennet McLaughlin, of the same name, of the same company. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McLaughlin, brother of the groom, assisted by Rev. Father Comeau, pastor of St. Leonards. The bride who was given away by her father, was attired in a white satin dress with veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and lily of the valley. She was attended by her sister Miss Julia Firlot, who was beautifully dressed in pink silk with overdress of white lace and bearing in her arm a bouquet of pink carnations. Mr. F. P. McLaughlin supported the groom.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at which a number of invited guests were present. After which the young couple left by auto for Edmonston, and from there for a trip through Quebec Province. The gifts were numerous and handsome, testifying to the esteem in which the young couple were held.

JUDGE ARMSTRONG SEVERS CONNECTION WITH PROBATE COURT

HIS HONOR JUDGE ARMSTRONG.

His Honor J. R. Armstrong presided over the Probate Court for the last time yesterday after holding office for a term of seven years. After the will of the late Walter B. Campbell had been probated, His Honor said he could not allow this opportunity to pass without expressing his appreciation of the very efficient and prompt manner in which Henry O. McInerney had performed his duties as registrar of the court. He and Mr. McInerney had been appointed to the office on the same day and their work together had been carried on with the utmost harmony. He also called attention to the very pleasant relations between himself and the members of the bar, who had come before him, and he hoped that feeling would continue in the County Court as well as in the court he was now leaving.

He also desired to call attention to the desirability of the people of the community making testamentary disposition of their estates. The particular class to which he referred included married men and married women without children. In one case now before the court the deceased had the impression that in the absence of a will all his property would go to the widow.

Instead of this being the case the widow gets one-third of the estate, and this for life only and during her lifetime one-fifth of two-thirds goes to his sister; one-half of one-fifth of two-thirds to each of the two children of a deceased brother; one-seventh of one-fifth of two-thirds to each of the seven children of a deceased brother; one-third of one-fifth of two-thirds to the three children of still another deceased brother, and one-third of one-fifth of still another brother who predeceased the deceased. The personality will go in like manner as to one-half—and to make matters worse the residence of one of the nephews is unknown. While it is hoped that the next of kin may sign off in favor of the widow, the necessity of making this would place the widow under an obligation to them which should not be necessary and under any circumstances considerable expense will be incurred, while the fact that the address of such nephew is unknown will present still further difficulties. All of this would have been avoided by drawing a short will at a very trifling expense in favor of the widow. The desirability of making a will under such circumstances is important alike in small as in large estates.

The last estate to be probated was that of Walter B. Campbell, livery stable keeper. Deceased died intestate, leaving him surviving his widow, Mary Elizabeth Campbell, and the following next of kin, namely—a sister, Sarah Day, widow of Charles Day of Lakewood, New Jersey; the children of a deceased brother, Nelson Campbell, namely Clara, wife of A. J. Loggie, of Chatham, and Frederick Campbell of the western part of the United States; the daughters of a deceased brother, James W. Campbell, namely, Minnie, Lucy, Mabel, Kathleen and Maud Campbell, and a son, Stanley Campbell, all residing at Norton; and another son, Harry of Hartford, Conn.; the children of a brother, Edmund Campbell, namely two sons, Heber of Sussex and Warren of Amherst, N.S., and a daughter, Georgiana, wife of Percy H. Friars, of St. John; also the children of a deceased brother, Hiram, namely May and Percy Campbell of Moncton, and W. Roy Campbell of Campbellton. On the petition of the widow she is appointed administratrix. Real estate valued at $4,000, subject to a mortgage of $2,500; personality $1,200; life insurance, payable to the widow, $1,000. Mr. J. D. Pollard Lewis, proctor.

LITTLE DONALD CLAYTON DROWNED IN WASH CREEK

Nine-year-old Son of Superintendent of Fernhill Victim of Distressing Accident Last Night—Body Recovered With City Grappling Irons.

Donald Clayton, the nine-year-old son of Joshua Clayton, superintendent of Fernhill cemetery, lost his life by drowning in the Marsh Creek last evening, about eight o'clock. The body was recovered about ten o'clock by John O'Leary, who used the city grappling irons.

Shortly before seven o'clock the boy had been warned by his father and mother to keep away from the creek, but after they left home to proceed to the city, he was met on the Marsh Road by an elder brother, who told him to return home and keep away from the water. The little fellow disobeyed his brother's command, and after the brother left he went to the McAvish bridge, which is situated almost opposite the cemetery gate.

The boy had a fishing line and pole with him and took a seat on one side of the bridge and cast his line into the stream in an endeavor to catch some fish. Kenny Hunter, who resides near the bridge, and a few moments later missed him. Looking on the waters of the creek he saw the boy's cap and fishing pole floating on the surface, but there was nothing to be seen of the boy.

Hunter gave the alarm and in a short time County Policeman Saunders, with a half a dozen men, procured two boats, and a raft and with pike poles tried to recover the boy. Joshua Clayton and his wife, who were in the Imperial Theatre, were immediately notified of the drowning. A citizen, who happened to arrive at the theatre just as Mr. Clayton received word, kindly conveyed the bereaved father and mother to the scene of the drowning.

Mr. Clayton then telephoned in to Chief of Police Simpson for assistance. The chief sent an officer out to proceed to the city grappling irons which were at Reed's Point wharf. Commissioner Russell was also notified and procured the services of John O'Leary and another longshoreman and they started for the scene. They had received wrong instructions as to the place where the boy had been drowned and went to Little River, near East St. John, and as a result were late in arriving at the scene of the accident. They saw the body shortly after 9:30 o'clock and in about a quarter of an hour O'Leary with the grappling irons managed to bring the boy's body to the surface.

The remains were conveyed to the home of a brother residing on the Marsh Road. Donald Clayton was a very bright and active boy for his age. His parents and family have the deepest sympathy in their bereavement. Word of the accident reached the city early in the evening and a crowd of people went out to the Marsh Creek and assisted as much as possible in recovering the body.

The little victim of the accident was alone when he tumbled into the water and the real cause of the accident will probably never be known. He was seen sitting on the bridge with a fishing pole and it is supposed that he lost his balance and fell off the bridge. His mother and father were present when the body was recovered.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND ON ISLE OF PINES

Had on a pair of wood topped skates—Coroner will view remains today.

The body of a man, whose identity has not yet been discovered, was found on the beach of Jones' Island, now called the Isle of Pines, in the St. John River, opposite Oak Point yesterday by Hendrick Jones. Attached to the feet of the body was a pair of woodtop skates painted blue. Other identification marks could not be learned last night.

The findings of the body was reported to Coroner W. L. Belyea, of Brown's Flats, and he will go to the Isle of Pines this morning and view the remains. He will be accompanied by H. D. Belyea, an undertaker, who will care for the body.

It was not known last night of anyone in the vicinity missing, but it was thought that the body had come from the upper waters of the St. John. It is hoped that anyone having any information concerning missing persons will communicate with Coroner Belyea.

SIR GEORGE E. FOSTER SPOKE AT MILLSTREAM
Sir George E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. G. O. Colbourne Helme, Rev. Dr. E. M. Kierstead and G. W. Ganong, ex-M.P., continued their tour of their native County of Kings, yesterday. On Thursday they went through the Millstream Valley and in the evening addressed a public meeting at McAuley's Corner. Last night another meeting was held at Collins. Today the party will visit at Hatfield's Point.

At the public meeting at McAuley's the distinguished visitors addressed the gathering on patriotic subjects and urged on all the necessity of doing everything possible to aid the Empire in the present conflict. At the close of the meeting the young ladies of the village served ice cream and $15.50 was realized for the Red Cross work.

John E. McAuley, ex-warden of the county, acted as chairman and the hall was crowded.
THE CHOCOLATE SOLDIER'S LAST APPEARANCE TODAY.
The last matinee performance of The Chocolate Soldier at the Opera House today, starting promptly at 2:30. While there has been a good advance sale for the matinee, there are still plenty of good seats left at a moderate price. Those who have not had an opportunity to enjoy this best of all comic operas during the week should make it a point to attend either the matinee or night performance today as The Chocolate Soldier will probably never come here again.

CANADIAN FORCES IN ANOTHER BATTLE

Exact Location of Most Recent Action in Which Men from Canada Took Part Is Not Stated, but Believed They Helped British at Festubert Where German Trenches Were Captured.

Special to The Standard
Ottawa, June 18.—After a rest of about three weeks the first brigade of the Canadian army at the front has been again in action. The exact location of the fighting is not stated, but presumably it was with the British forces at Festubert, where it was officially stated that a line of German trenches was taken, but the ground taken had to be yielded.
Lieut. Col. Beecher of London, Ont., second in command of the first battalion, has been reported killed, and it is believed that the losses in this regiment were considerable. The first, second, third and fourth battalions compose the first brigade, and were recruited almost entirely from Ontario. It is called the Ontario Brigade and is under the command of Brigadier General Mercer of Toronto.
The militia department has received word that all four battalions were engaged, but it is understood that the losses were heaviest in the first battalion. With the exception of Lieut. Col. Beecher, the only other name received as figuring on the casualty list is that of Capt. Willis O'Connor of Ottawa, who is reported slightly wounded.

The lists of killed and wounded will likely be received in the course of the day by the militia department and will be made public immediately.
General Hughes, who arrived back from London this morning, has no particulars regarding the engagement and is anxiously awaiting information. All he knows is that the first brigade of the Canadians has been engaged. He left again for Montreal.
The death of Col. Beecher makes the fourth Canadian colonel killed in action, the others being Col. Hart McHarg of Vancouver, Col. Boyle of Alberta and Col. Birchall of Brantford who were killed in the battle of St. Julien.
Yesterday's casualty lists include eleven men killed, but the feature of the latest received is two hundred and eight reported missing from the 15th Battalion, the 4th Highlanders of Toronto. This was in connection with the fighting near St. Julien between April 24th and 29th; the killed now number, 1,430, wounded 5,933, missing and prisoners, 1,839. Total 9,072.

HOW THE "GAS DEVIL" ROLLS INTO A TRENCH

COPYRIGHT BY N. Y. HERALD.

"THE THICK GREEN MIST CAME ROLLING TOWARD THE PARAPET."
This picture, drawn especially for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, depicts the heavy gas from the German lines rolling into one of the British trenches. At first it is very thick and heavy and fills every crevice. A recent case is thus described:—"A thirty minute bombardment preceded the opening of the gas cylinders. Then the thick green mist came rolling toward the parapet from the enemy's empty front trench, several hundred yards away. It looked like vapor rising from a marsh, and the wind was strong enough to carry it rapidly toward the parapet. One battalion had time to load and fire two rounds through the screen of gas before it came pouring over the sandbags, penetrating into every crevice of the dugouts and choking the men who lay there. It was so thick at first that objects three feet distant were hardly recognizable.

DISEASE RAMPANT IN TURKISH ARMY

Over 40,000 Turks hors-de-combat in Trans-Caucasian campaign.

FORCED TO ABANDON SERIOUS OPERATIONS

Russians at Urumiah rescue Christians victims of Kurds.

Tiflis, June 18, via Petrograd.—During the last three months about 40,000 soldiers in the Turkish army operating in the Othi district of Trans-Caucasia have been disabled by disease. Thus weakened, the army has been forced to give up all serious activities at this front.

With the beginning of summer it is feared that the epidemic which already has a foothold in the province of Van, and has claimed a number of victims, will spread among the refugees. The American Hospital in the city of Van is overcrowded and lacks proper medical assistance.

Following the entrance of a Russian army into Urumiah, Northwestern Persia, Russian officials investigated complaints of the torturing of Christians by Persians during the siege of Urumiah by Kurds. Information was obtained to the effect that Persians, taking advantage of the panic among the Christians stole hundreds of young women and placed them in harems. Three hundred Persians thus accused made confessions and revealed the hiding places of the victims.

ELECTION IN MANITOBA BEFORE AUGUST 1?

Winnipeg, June 18.—That the provincial general elections will be held before August 1, is now the fairly definite opinion in well-informed political circles here. This assumption is based on the belief that Premier Norris has decided on an early appeal to the electorate in order to test public opinion on the recent change in government which, from a constitutional point of view, was quite without precedent as regards the circumstances surrounding it.

STRONG TIES BIND ITALY AND SERBIA

Serbia will always resent blandishments of Austria who is inciting Albanians against Serbs.

Rome, June 18, via Paris.—Acting on the rumor from Vienna that Austria-Hungary and Serbia might reach an understanding of their difficulties, the Messagero sought and obtained an interview with the Serbian Minister in Rome, who among other things said:—"We first entered Albania to put an end to the intrigues of the Turks and the Austrians. We occupied Durazzo, from which we later retired at the desire of Europe. We maintained, however, a few strategic points, but these also abandoned on receipt of an ultimatum from Austria.

"The present is the fourth time we have been obliged to operate against Albania. It would appear that Austria and Turkey are now preparing in Albania a movement against us in order to compel us to withdraw a large contingent of the troops now operating against Austria. Consequently, it has been necessary for us to occupy strategic points in Albania, in order to cover our front. We have communicated our intentions in this regard to the powers of the Quadruple Entente. "As to the blandishment of Austria, these we always will resent, even with the danger of being destroyed. It is a question of honor. The Queen of Italy belongs to greater Serbia, and strong ties unite Serbia to Italy and the Garibaldians."

DAUGHTER OF RUSSIAN COLONEL FIGHTING IN RANKS AS VOLUNTEER

Young soldier taken prisoner by Gen. Von Mackensen's army found to be a Russian girl.

Berlin, via London, June 18.—Among the prisoners taken by Gen. Von Mackensen's army during the fighting in Galicia is the daughter of a Russian colonel. She was dressed in the uniform of a one-year volunteer and had been fighting in the ranks.

NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AT WESTFIELD

Handsome new building completed and service held for first time last Sunday—Dedicatory ceremonies on June 27.

Westfield Beach, N. B., June 18.—Divine service was held for the first time in the new Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon last, conducted by Rev. Gordon Dickie, B. D. of St. Stephen's church, St. John. The first steps towards the erection of this church were taken at a business meeting held here on June 30th, following a service held in the hall on June 28th of last year. Through the untiring efforts of the members of the Presbyterian denomination this handsome edifice is now practically completed, and is an excellent addition to the number of public buildings now in this place.

The dimensions of the building are 50x20, and a Sunday school room and study are at the rear of the main body of the church. The interior is sheathed with hard pine, very prettily designed, and stained with dark oak and varnished.
The cost of the structure was in the vicinity of $1,800, of which approximately $1,400 has been raised, and a considerable amount of the balance has been promised. The auditorium has a seating capacity of 125.

Mr. W. S. Stephenson, contractor and builder of Westfield Centre, was awarded the contract, and the fine appearance which the building presents, reflects much credit on his workmanship. The initial operations began about the first of November last.

Mr. Charles R. McKenzie of Westfield donated the building lot, which is in a nice locality near his orchard. Mrs. Thomas A. Rankine of St. John, who has been a summer resident here for a number of years, was the donor of an organ, and Miss Marion Cruikshank has kindly offered her services as organist. Another summer resident, Mr. R. G. Halsey (St. John), donated a pulpit, and Hon. J. G. Forbes of St. John presented a Bible.

The building is suitable for service only during the summer months, and this season the work will be in charge of Mr. H. L. Somers, a student of Princeton Seminary, N. J. Mr. Somers is already known here, having conducted services here last summer, and has himself contributed a great deal of time and work toward hastening the completion of the church. Before studying at Princeton, Mr. Somers was a student at the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, and he comes to this district highly recommended.

The dedicatory service in connection with the new church will take place on Sunday, June 27th, and the speakers on that occasion will be two pastors from St. John, Rev. J. A. McKelvey of St. David's church, and Rev. J. H. A. Anderson of St. John's Presbyterian church.
Knights' New Chaplain.
Rev. Father Duke has been appointed chaplain of St. John Council No. 937, Knights of Columbus by Bishop LeBlanc on the recommendation of the officers. The former chaplain was Right Rev. Mgr. Chapman, V. G., D. P.

ONLY GOVERNOR'S PARDON CAN SAVE BECKER FROM THE CHAIR

Court of Appeals denies application of New York Police Lieutenant's counsel for another trial.

Albany, N. Y., June 18.—The Court of Appeals today denied the application of counsel for Charles Becker, the former New York police lieutenant for a re-argument on its decision affirming sentence of death.

Becker, who was convicted of inspiring the murder of Herman Rosenthal, a New York gambler, is now in the Sing Sing death house, sentenced to die in the electric chair during the week beginning July 12.

CROSSMAN'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL, VERDICT OF SACKVILLE JURY

Sackville, N. B., June 18.—An inquest into the death of Walter Crossman was held this afternoon at two o'clock. Col. J. M. Baird, coroner, conducted the examination. Three witnesses, Joseph H. Rockwell, captain of the vessel, Karl Johnson, a member of the crew, and Xavier White gave sworn testimony which was pretty much the same and went to show that death was purely accidental. The jury after being out about fifteen minutes brought in a verdict that death was accidental and there is no blame to be attached to any parties as it was purely accidental and unusual.

GERMAN RESERVIST INDICTED FOR PERJURY BY FEDERAL GRAND JURY

New York, June 18.—Gustave Stahl, the German reservist who swore in an affidavit submitted to the State Department by the German embassy that he saw guns aboard the Lusitania, was indicted for perjury today by a Federal grand jury.

LONDON EXPECTANT OF GREAT COUP

Trend of Markets and various rumors in circulation regarded as unusually significant and give strength to reports that Bulgaria has reached an agreement with the Allies.

London, June 18.—Reports are in circulation in London today that Bulgaria has come to an agreement with the allied powers. These reports lack confirmation, although the buoyancy of the Petrograd Bourse is taken in London as an indication that important events are near at hand. The opinion is generally expressed here that there is no chance that Bulgaria will enter the war on the side of Germany and Austria.

Earlier in the day the strength of the Russian Bourse and the sudden drop in exchange rates led to the belief that the Dardanelles straits were on the point of being penetrated, or that Russian financiers had received some other private news of great importance.

Bulgaria was then said to be negotiating with both the allies and the Austro-Germans, but statements sent out from Berlin, while professing doubt that any of the Balkan nations would join the allies, showed great anxiety, especially over Greece and Bulgaria.

That some great coup is about to be sprung is considered certain here, for following their great reverses in Galicia the Russian markets could not possibly have developed the sudden strength exhibited today.

British Fleet in Kefala Bay, Berlin, June 18 (By Wireless to Sayville)—The correspondent of the Associated Press at Constantinople, in a despatch which does not show the day of its sending, says that, permitted to visit the Gallipoli Peninsula, he was reliably informed that the British fleet had taken refuge from German submarines in Kefala Bay, on the northeast coast of Imbros Island, about ten miles from the Gallipoli coast. The British ships could be seen from heights on shore at anchor in the bay.

On three different occasions the Turks have been successful in exploding mines under British vessels in their place of refuge.

FIFTEEN LIVES LOST IN STORM IN KANSAS

Score of persons injured and quarter of million dollars' damage to property.

Kansas City, June 18.—Fifteen lives were lost, a score of persons were injured and property damage estimated at a quarter of a million dollars was done by a wind, hail and electrical storm which centered in Missouri and Kansas last night and early today.

The heavy fall of rain—ranging from two to five inches, turned many small creeks into turbulent streams and sent the rivers to which they are tributary, on rapid upward spurts. Tonight all points in the Kansas River Valley and along the Missouri river from Kansas City to Jefferson City were in possession of government warnings of impending floods.

Many stories of narrow escapes came in as telegraphic communication became better in the area affected.

Sixty-five cars were blown from the Frisco railroad tracks in the yards at Fort Scott, Kansas. One was a work train in which track laborers were living. Three were injured. The home of J. T. Wood was blown over intact, carrying the occupants with it. No one was hurt. Several farm houses and many small buildings north of Fort Scott were blown away.

DEMANDS CLEAR STATEMENT FROM THE GOVERNMENT

London, June 18 (10.01 p. m.)—The Christiania correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Company sends the following:—"The press today demands a clear statement of the government's position regarding German submarine activity. The Morgan Bladet says if the government persists in leaving its attitude doubtful Parliament must make its voice heard."

J. N. TELLIER NEW SECRETARY OF STATE

Ottawa, Ont., June 18.—It is expected that after tomorrow's cabinet meeting the announcement will be made that J. N. Tellier, leader of the Conservative opposition in the Quebec legislature is the new secretary of state in place of Hon. Louis Coderre, who has intimated his desire to retire from politics. Mr. Coderre will probably go on the bench.

BURN BODIES TO AVOID CONTAGION

French Chamber of Deputies adopts measure providing for incineration of unidentified who fall in battle.

Paris, June 18.—The French Chamber of Deputies today adopted a measure proposed by Lucien Dumont to burn unidentified bodies at the front and to bury those which had been identified.

Deputy Dumont said the question was an urgent one on account of the heat, the military authorities not being in a position to bury all bodies promptly during heavy fighting. He discussed the religious and sentimental reasons against incineration and cited precedents established in other wars. Today the sole effective measure of avoiding contagion, he said, was to burn the dead on the field of battle.

U.S. WILL NOT ADMIT GERMAN CONTENTION

That any American ship carrying contraband may be sunk provided indemnity is paid.

Washington, June 18.—The American reply to Germany's last note on the sinking of the sailing ship William P. Frye, by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich has been practically completed and soon will go forward to Berlin. It will not admit the German contention that any American ship with contraband may be destroyed provided it is paid for.

Gerhardt Incident Closed. Secretary Lansing late today authorized the announcement that so far as the State Department is concerned the Meyer-Gerhardt incident is closed. He added that it had never been officially called to the State Department's attention except as a detail, and that Ambassador Bernstorff told him today that he had no knowledge of any "Dr. Meyer."

The funeral of Mrs. Rose Shields was held from her late residence, Chesley street, to the Mission church where service was conducted by Rev. H. A. Collins yesterday. Burial was at Fernhill.

When he is troubled with constipation, indigestion, vomiting or worms give him Baby's Own Tablets. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels and cure all these troubles simply because they banish the cause. Concerning them Mrs. Philita Duval, St. Leonard, Que., writes: "We are well satisfied with Baby's Own Tablets which we have used for our baby when suffering from constipation and vomiting." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

UNCLE WIGGILY HANGS UP CLOTHES

BY HOWARD R. GARIS.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper for Uncle Wiggily Longears, the rabbit gentleman, who lived in a hollow stump bunzlow, was put in the kitchen washing the clothes.

"Rub-a-dub dub!" Rub-a-dub dub!" she rubbed the cloth and soap up and down on the washing board. Rub-a-dub dub!" Rub-a-dub dub!" And the coops foamed and made red, white and blue bubbles.

"This is a fine day for washing!" said Nurse Jane to herself, as she gave the ironing board a bite of a starch lollypop to keep it from washing. "A fine day for washing!"

And the sun shines so brightly, and the wind blows so strongly, that soon my clothes will be dry after I hang them out."

She was just wringing the clothes out of the blueing water, which made them extra white, when all of a sudden, into the bunzlow came running Charlie, the little chicken boy, with his sister Arabella and mother and Mr. Cock A. Doodle, the rooster gentleman, lived in a coop not far away from Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump.

"Oh, Nurse Jane!" cried Charlie, all out of breath like. "Oh, Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, would you please come over to our house right away?"

"Why, of course, I will, Charlie," said the muskrat lady. "But what is the matter? What has happened?"

"Oh, one of mama's little baby chickens has swallowed a whole grain of corn!" cried Charlie. "It's stuck in her throat—in the little chicken's throat I mean, and she's choking. Will you come over and help mama get it out?"

"Of course, I will, Charlie!" Nurse Jane said. "Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" she called to the old gentleman rabbit, who was reading a newspaper in the parlor. "I'm going to run over to Mrs. Chick's house a minute. One of her chickens has swallowed a grain of corn the wrong way. I'll hang the clothes up when I come back."

"Very well—all right," Uncle Wiggily answered. "And if you need any more help let me know."

Nurse Jane and Charlie ran across the fields to the chicken coop and Uncle Wiggily strolled out to the kitchen where were the washed clothes all ready to hang out.

"Ha! It is too bad for Nurse Jane to be called away just at this time," said the rabbit gentleman. "The clothes would dry nicely now, if they were hung out."

"And there's no telling how long she may be trying to get the grain of corn out from the little chicken's throat. Ha! I know what I'll do: I'll hang up the clothes myself! I can do it easily. They only have to be thrown over the line and pinched there with wooden pins. The rabbit gentleman said."

So Uncle Wiggily picked up the basket of wet clothes and carried them out in the yard. The line was already up, and there was a bag of clothespins near one of the posts. The rabbit gentleman began to hang up the clothes.

The stockings, the towels and the little pieces save him no trouble. But, as the wind was blowing pretty hard it was not quite so easy to hang up a big bed sheet. However, Uncle

Wiggily managed to do it—after a fashion.

"Hanging up clothes to dry is not as easy as it looks," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "Now I'll try a pillow-case. Let me see, do I pin it on the upside down or downside up?"

Uncle Wiggily finally pinned it so that when the pillow-case blew out it was filled with wind, like a blown-up paper bag just before you burst it from under him.

"Ha! That's the way to hang up pillow cases!" cried the rabbit gentleman, his nose twinkling with delight. "Let the wind blow in em!"

He was just hanging up another pillow case, when, all of a sudden, he was turned around and blew the other way, and, before he knew what was happening, Uncle Wiggily found his head and ears inside the case, which was pinned to the line. Right inside the cloth pillow-case was the poor old rabbit gentleman, all tangled up, his hind paws almost blowing out from under him.

"Oh dear!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "This is terribly too bad! What shall I do? I wish Nurse Jane were here!"

He was all tangled up in the pillow case now, looking very funny indeed. Then, all at once, alone came the sad old tail-pulling chimpanzee-monkey. He saw Uncle Wiggily's head tangled in the pillow case hanging on the line, and he cried out:

"Now is my chance! Now I have him! Oh, how easily I can pull his tail now! Oh, wow!"

"Please don't pull my tail!" begged Uncle Wiggily, but his voice sounded as if it had gone down the cellar.

"Yes, I shall pull your tail!" cried the monkey chape.

He reached out, and was just going to do it—and maybe pull Uncle Wiggily's tail all completely off for all I know—mind you, I'm not saying for sure, but maybe—the chimpanzee monkey was just going to do this, when along came Nurse Jane Fuzzy.

She had just gotten the grain of corn out of the little chicken's throat.

"Ha! Pull Uncle Wiggily's tail, will you?" Well, I guess not!" the muskrat lady cried. "And with that she took up a pinching clothespin and slipped it over the end of the monkey's own tail. 'See how you like that!'"

"Ouch! Ouch! Smooch!" cried the monkey. "I don't like it a bit! Take it off! Take it off!"

"Take yourself off!" said Nurse Jane sternly. "You just run along here, and let Uncle Wiggily alone!"

And the monkey, without pulling the rabbit gentleman's tail at all, had to run away and get a dentist to pull the pinching clothes pin off his own tail. And it served him right, I think.

"It was very good of you to try to help me hang up the clothes, Uncle Wiggily," said Nurse Jane, as she untangled him from the pillow case. "but I will finish them for you."

"All right, Uncle Wiggily said glad enough of it.

So this teaches us that clothes pins may be used sometimes to make purses grow smaller, and in the next story, if the lead pencil doesn't go out without its rubber and get cold so it can't go to the writing book's party, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the ice cream cone.

UNCLE DICK'S CHAT WITH THE CHILDREN

My Dear Nephews and Nieces—

In your replies as to how you like to spend your holidays, I noticed that very few of you seemed to think of giving others a little pleasure, or of using part of the long holiday in doing kindly actions. Now I am sure all of you are only too pleased to help others, and do kindly deeds. Therefore I have decided to let you have a contest this week, which will give you an opportunity of letting me know to others, either to animals or people.

A great number of you have written me asking to have a Corner in The Standard on the Wednesday also, as you say you cannot wait for a whole week. Now I am considering this, but before doing anything, would like to have any further suggestions you may have regarding same.

You are all doing splendid work, and only wish I could award a prize to each of you, but as you will see in another column, I am commencing to give marks for the work done, and award a prize for the greatest number of marks at the end of a month, so that even if you fail to win the contest, you may get a prize for good work.

Now my boys and girls, get busy on the competitions and let me see how many kind children I have.

With regards of love and best wishes, From your Uncle DICK, The Standard, St. John, N. B.

P.S.—I shall tell you all about the new sewing contest next week.

RESULT OF THE WORD-MAKING CONTEST

There were a great number of entries in the word making contest, which was run in The Standard last week, and much evidence of hard work on the part of the youthful competitors was exhibited. The word chosen was "Transatlantic" and the most number of words made out of same was 193, that number being sent in by to whom it has been decided to award the prize, as her words were also most neatly written out.

The following are the names of those who are highly commended, and who sent in over a hundred words: Jean Helen Hatfield, Port Greville, N. B.

Albert E. Newcomb, Hopewell, N. B. Donald C. Harper, Middle Sackville. Constance Parker, St. Andrews, N. B.

Elsie P. Gale, Youngs' Cove Road. Edwin Julian Crandall, Hampton. Bertha Morgan, Maiden Junction. Mabel Currie, St. John.

Bessie Nellie Clarke, St. John. Alma Jean Campbell, St. George. Mary Grant, St. John. Isabel Walker, St. John.

RESULT OF THE PAINTING CONTEST

Although the picture of the British Coat of Arms published in the Corner last week was quite a difficult subject to color, the number of entries were both more numerous and of a higher standard than usual, the details of the picture being particularly well treated. The best painting, and for which I am awarding the prize of One Dollar, was sent in by

WEST EVELYN SEMPLE, (age 11), East Florenceville.

The highly commended are: Florence Macaulay, Lower Mill-stream. Fleda W. Briggs, Macdonalds Pt. Robert Kershaw, Macdonalds Pt. Alice U. MacGee, St. George.

Bertha Morgan, Maiden Junction. Donald McCormack, Fredericton. Francis Glenn Adney, Upper Woodstock. Iram D. Pierce, Bloomfield. Edith Mitchell, St. John, N. B. Helen Welsh, Charlottetown.

I Evelyn Kershaw, Macdonalds Pt. Flora McKnight, Apohaqui. Of course it is understood that a boy or girl can only win one first or two second prizes, within four weeks in the same style of contests.

REPLIES TO LETTERS RECEIVED BY UNCLE DICK

Laura Mott—You sent in your story too late to be judged, Laura, try and get your attempts in sharper, as you do very good work.

Gladys Commary—I am sorry your story arrived too late to be judged last week, Gladys, try and get your work done before the contests close.

Estelle Strawford—You did a splendid story Stalle, but unfortunately you were too late in sending in, and the judging was over. I shall look out for your work coming earlier.

Alexa Rogers—I must thank you for your letter and suggestions, which are receiving my attention. I hope to introduce things of interest to your age in a short while, meanwhile watch this Corner.

George F. Redstone—I am sorry that your story arrived too late to be judged with the rest. You should try in the painting contest, and you may win the dollar, and thus be able to buy the shoes. I shall look for your attempt.

Nora E. Hayes—I have sent you a Kaiser Button, and would also like to have you enter the sewing contest, which I am giving shortly. I shall be glad to receive your sketches.

Edward Weeks—You are quite a clever little artist Minnie, and have done the girl's head sketch very well. Try drawing say a mouse, or a cat, or see it, then an eye and so on, and you will find further improvements. Let me see more of your work.

Floyd E. Denley—You sent me in quite a clever answer, Floyd, considering you are only seven. I am sending you a Kaiser Button.

Elsie P. Gale—I have done splendidly in the word contest, I hope you will continue in the painting competition, as you did some good work in spite of your colors. Remember correctly.

Edward Ritchie—I am sorry you were so disappointed because you did not win the first prize, after winning the second last week, but the judging is done most fairly by those who know. There is far more money made by the first prize than by the second, in fact there is no comparison whatever.

Fredda Irene Bunker—Thanks for your nice letter Fredda, I am glad you are interested in the Corner. You must try harder next time.

Mary Cox—You are trying hard each week to get the prize Myrtle, and I am sending you a special little gift for hard work, as I think you deserve it. You will notice I have started to give marks for future work.

Donald McCormack—Your button was forwarded some time ago, but I am sending you another, as it must have been lost.

Hilda C. Case—I was very pleased to receive a visit from your sister, Hilda, and must thank you for your nice letter. I am sorry you did not get your Kaiser Button, but I am sending one for both of you. I hope you will call some day.

M. M. Friars—I am sorry you have not the colors, as you named them fairly correctly, but of course to win a prize, the picture must be colored. You don't say if you are a boy or girl.

Muriel Hunter—Your Kaiser button is being sent. You did a fair number of words, but not as many as the winner, I shall watch for more work from you.

Flora McKnight—You did a good coloring Flora, and also made a clever sketch. I should like to see more of your drawings, as it is very promising.

Donald C. Harper—The "K" stands for both "Kicker" and "Kaiser", and "Kitchener", who is kicking him. Best wishes for success in your exam.

Agnes Clarke Short—Thanks for your nice letter, and welcome to our Corner, Agnes. I hope you will continue to enter for the contests, as age is always considered.

Bessie Munroe—You will perhaps have more time when the holidays commence, Bessie. You must try harder if you want to get a prize.

Florence Macaulay—Yes, thank you, Florence. I am very well, and happy among all my nephews and nieces. You did a good picture, but why did you do the uniform? I should like to see some of your own drawings, and may be able to help you.

Ethel Elliot—I am always glad to have your drawings. You are only required to have three coupons now.

Annie Patterson—You did a good bit of work, Annie, but used too much blue. I am always glad to have your letters.

Kathleen Robertson—Welcome to our Corner Kathleen. My word at a big family is getting. Your sister Hazel and Ethel Thompson, are not doing so much now, I wonder why? Because they are clever little artists.

Hazel and Ethel Thompson—Why are you not trying for the prizes now? You are still eligible and besides there are other contests running each week.

Jean Hatfield—Well tried Jean, but you were beat by over 20 words. I should like you to try for the painting contest.

Alice U. McGee—Welcome to the Corner Alice. You have made a splendid attempt for the first, and are a clever artist, for white or silver just leave the paper white and you will get effect. Tell your sisters and brother to do the same.

Eidon A. Tait—Yes, I shall continue the pictures, and will let you have Jumbo adventures again shortly.

Willis Evelyn Semple—Send you a box of chalks as I noticed you already had a painting outfit. I shall also let you have a special colored picture, done by our artist, if you send me in some of your own sketches.

Letitia R. McGivern—You have made a good sketch Letitia, and are a clever little artist. I should like to see more of your work.

Bertha Morgan—You have made a clever sketch, but why did you not do it in ink, so that I could have published it.

Nora E. Hayes—You will notice that you were a long way short of the prize winning number, Nora, but you must

THE FRENCH COAT OF ARMS

The Coat of Arms of the French Republic is much more simple than that of the British Empire, and about which we had our chat last week. At one time an eagle was portrayed upon the banner, but after or rather under the restoration, lilies or fleurs de lys, as they are called, again appeared, the first time after many years.

The reason the French love the lilies so much is because they were supposed to have been given to a French monarch, direct from Heaven. The letters "R" and "F" stand for Republic of France, and the lilies are in the center (a spear tied up with a bundle of rods) is the symbol of sovereignty and authority.

When Napoleon was at the height of his fame, and his eagle was the French emblem, a rather pretty story is told as to how in a certain French cathedral city, the windows of the cathedral were decorated with the design of the lilies. The citizens thinking Napoleon would be angry at such a thing tried to cover them over with paper.

The Emperor's sharp eyes however, detected the covered windows, and having been told the reason why they had been obscured, he said, "The lilies of France have led its sons to victory through many wars. Surely every son of France should be proud of them." The windows were at once uncovered.

The first is in me, the second is in Alphabet, and the whole projects King and country.

A CLEVER LITTLE ARTIST

I am publishing the clever little sketch sent in by Flora McKnight, of Apohaqui, Kings Co., and I am sure you will all agree that Flora is a very clever little artist. I also received several other very good drawings, but my space will not permit me to publish them. I am sending Flora the special colored sketch made by our artist.

try again in this week's contests, and I trust you do better, as you are a clever girl.

Annie G. Brown—You have done well in the contest, and did not manage to win the prize. Thanks for your nice letter. I shall look forward to see more of your work.

Bessie Clarke—You have worked hard to get the prize, Bessie. I am sure I hardly thought that it was possible to get so many words out of the word.

Francis Glenn Adney—I must heartily congratulate you on your number of words you have been able to make. You well deserve the prize. I am considering the suggestions as to having a mid weekly Corner also.

Carlos B. Seeley—Welcome to our Corner Carlos. I am sending you a Kaiser Button. You must try harder if you want to get a prize.

Marion Heister Steeves—Welcome to our Corner Marion. I am pleased to include your name among my nephews and nieces, and shall look out for some of your clever attempts in the contests.

Marguerite Crawford—I don't remember having seen your name among the competitors before, Marguerite, so I must welcome you to our Corner, and shall be pleased to help you all I can in your efforts to win prizes. Remember this is your Corner of your favorite paper, and is open for any suggestions or questions.

Robert M. Racker—You have sent in the wrong sketch Robert. It should have been the coat of arms.

Douglas Woodworth—You have made a good sketch of Uncle Wiggily, Douglas, but as you will admit, have been beat by the prize winner, try again and let me see what you can do, because I am sure you are a clever little artist.

Kathleen Hand—You have made a hard try Kathleen, but you will see Francis has easily won the prize.

Annie Brown—I received the letter with the ninety words, Annie, and

A PICTURE AS A PRIZE

This week I am publishing you another story about Uncle Wiggily, and Neddie Stubtail, which I hope you will like. I wonder how many of my nephews and nieces could illustrate some part of the story, with a picture sketched by themselves? To the boy or girl not over fourteen years of age, who sends me in the best pen and ink drawing, which will illustrate something in the story, I will award a pretty colored picture, specially drawn by our artist, and will publish the sketch in this week's corner, together with the winner's name. Send the sketch in to Uncle Dick, The Standard, St. John, N. B. by Thursday, 24th June.

RESULT OF COAT OF ARMS CONTEST

I have decided to award the prize for the best answer about the British Coat of Arms to

M. M. Friars, 380 Haymarket St., St. John N. B.

Donald McCormack, Fredericton. Donald C. Harper, Middle Sackville. Willis Evelyn Temple, East Florenceville.

Annie Patterson, Apohaqui. Myrtle Cov, Youngs Cove. Floyd E. Denley, St. Andrews.

A SUGGESTION

METHODIST

Some people are not aware that the Old Church Methodists are not so slow going as they are sometimes represented. They began the year 1914-5 with a debt on their Missionary Fund of about sixty thousand dollars, they closed the year with the income as good as a year ago, and the debt reduced to forty-five thousand dollars. All this notwithstanding all the other funds needed, and caused by the war.

A returned Missionary tells of how certain the people have become because they had been told and believed that "the devil was dead." This is in India. In West Africa the natives wear charms made of leather and monkeyskin with a graven image of Satan decorated with Carve shells. Also an image of Satan's Wife, but said one man "I left her home," the best place for her. Satan is of all beings most feared by these people, and most propitiated by offerings. An effort is being made in England to secure the pledge of total abstinence known as the King's Pledge by every Wesleyan Methodist in the land, over thirteen years of age, with what success is not yet fully known.

The man who looks after Tommy and Jack in the army and navy, at home and abroad, is the Rev. I. H. proud of the way the men in active service are looked after, her chaplains, and those appointed to this work shrink no duty or opportunity to serve.

The oldest Methodist Church paper in the U. S. shows a gain of 33 per cent in its subscription list in the past two years.

Their committee on Evangelism suggests three slogans for 1915-16, 250,000 new members, 500,000 personal workers, 1,000,000 volunteers for life work. The finance committee ask for $4,500,000 for the seven great benevolent funds.

Mrs. George F. Sands, of Cincinnati, has an unusual list of Lincolniana, in the form of the Certificate of Life Membership in the Missionary Society issued to President Lincoln.

The T. Eaton Memorial Church, Toronto is included in a series of articles in an American Exchange, describing Unique churches and their ministers.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, South, has on its rolls the names of nearly seven thousand itinerant preachers. Of these eight hundred have become incapacitated for active service through old age, or some other infirmity.

The Methodists were the first Protestant church to enter South America. In Buenos Aires they have been eight years. The Annual Conference, East, has about fifty members and Evangelists. The increase in Church membership has varied from two to eighteen per cent. Evangelistic results are increasingly apparent. The present need is more money. There is $1,000,000 more spent for pastors salaries and current expenses in the West Chicago District than in the seven republics with twenty millions of people.

The sixth session of the Italian Mission convened in Baltimore, fifty missionaries were in attendance, representing churches from Indianapolis and the Atlantic Ocean. Italians responded readily to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

Efforts are being made to unite all the African Methodists in one body, they number 1,800,000. A gratifying revival is in progress at Yarna, Bulgaria.

PRESBYTERIAN

Lord Aberdeen, former Governor General of Canada, was Lord High Commissioner from the royal court to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland at its annual meeting in May.

Two of the most prominent Presbyterian ministers in Canada have recently called as chaplains in the overseas expeditionary force. Rev. R. Taylor, of St. Paul Church, Montreal, has gone as chaplain to the 4th Battalion, Royal Highlanders, and Rev. C. W. Gordon (Ralph Connor), of St. Stephen's Church, Winnipeg, as chaplain to the 43rd Battalion.

Rev. G. D. Wilson, Ph. D., of Augustine Church, Winnipeg has accepted the call to High Park Church, Toronto. Another minister of the west who returns to Toronto is Prof. G. G. Pidgeon, of Westminster Hall, who has accepted the call of Bloor St. Church, to become colleague and successor to Rev. W. G. Wallace, D. D.

St. Andrew's Church, Campbellton, N. B., has secured a new minister in the person of Rev. Hugh Miller of Knox Church, Glace Bay, N. S., and whose induction was set for June 18. Mr. Miller is a graduate of Dalhousie University, and of Halifax Presbyterian College. He was ordained in 1904 when he was inducted to the pastoral charge of Union Church, Hopewell, N. S. In 1911 he accepted a call to Knox Church, Glace Bay, where he has discharged the duties of his office with much efficiency. The Presbytery of Miramichi will heartily welcome him to this membership. Revs. J. R. Miller, W. McN. Matthews, W. G. Firth and Dr. J. F. Polley were appointed to take part in the induction service.

Among items of interest in connection with churches in the Old Land we note that the United Free Church of Scotland elected Prof. A. R. MacEwen, of New College, Edinburgh, moderator of the General Assembly, Prof. James Denney, D. D., Principal of Glasgow Theological College, and Prof. James Moffat, D. D., of Mansfield College, Oxford, to the chair of Church History in Glasgow. Dr. Denney, mentioned above, was the special lecturer in the post graduate school in connection with Halifax College in 1909.

For two years, I was a victim of Acute Indigestion and Gas in the Stomach. It afterwards attacked my Heart, and I had pains all over the body, so I could hardly move around. I tried all kinds of medicines but none of them did me any good. At last, acting on the advice of a friend, I decided to try "Fruit-tives." I bought the first box last June, and now I am well, after using only three boxes. I recommend "Fruit-tives" to anyone suffering from indigestion, no matter how acute. FRED J. CAVEEN.

Calvary Church, Borough, of Manhattan, New York, of which Dr. Robert Stewart MacArthur was for more than two score years the distinguished pastor, has invited Rev. Joseph W. Kemp, of Charlotte Chapel, Edinburgh, Scotland, to become its minister. Upon the invitation of the pulpit committee Mr. Kemp came from Scotland and spent four weeks with the church. He preached on Sundays, conducted the prayer meetings, and made the acquaintance of many in the congregation. He proved himself a brilliant preacher of the Gospel and an extraordinary Bible expositor. After concluding his brief term of ministry he took passage for his homeland. Meanwhile the pulpit committee had decided to recommend that the church call Mr. Kemp to the pastorate. At a church meeting held on the evening of May 28 the call was extended. No definite answer to the call has yet been received.

Calvary Church, New York.

Calvary Church, Borough, of Manhattan, New York, of which Dr. Robert Stewart MacArthur was for more than two score years the distinguished pastor, has invited Rev. Joseph W. Kemp, of Charlotte Chapel, Edinburgh, Scotland, to become its minister. Upon the invitation of the pulpit committee Mr. Kemp came from Scotland and spent four weeks with the church. He preached on Sundays, conducted the prayer meetings, and made the acquaintance of many in the congregation. He proved himself a brilliant preacher of the Gospel and an extraordinary Bible expositor. After concluding his brief term of ministry he took passage for his homeland. Meanwhile the pulpit committee had decided to recommend that the church call Mr. Kemp to the pastorate. At a church meeting held on the evening of May 28 the call was extended. No definite answer to the call has yet been received.

A Great Message
The Baptist Times, Eng., announces that the "Message to the Church in Time of War," delivered to the Spring Assembly of the Baptist Union by Dr. Charles Brown, has just been published in pamphlet form for wider distribution. Through the generosity of a friend a copy is being sent to every minister in membership with the Baptist Union and to all the correspondents of the Baptist World Alliance, and we hope that with their help a large circulation will be secured for it. It is supremely the message, not only for the Church, but for the nation, in this crisis.

The Late Dr. Harry Guinness
Dr. H. Grattan Guinness, more familiarly known as Dr. Harry Guinness, passed away at his home, Sydenham Hill, London, on May 25th, aged fifty-three. He was stricken down with some mysterious disease which baffled the skill of the most eminent medical men of the old country. He succumbed after a series of operations.

Dr. Guinness was well known in many parts of the world, as a very successful evangelist. His father was the founder of the East London Missionary Training Institute, later known as Harley College. From this college men and women were sent

Ypres One Of Finest Stories Of The War

 of British and German soldiers. The enemy has not dared to attack since. While the 4th East Yorks (Territorials) were being heavily shelled, and it appeared that the entire battalion would be wiped out, Captain Easton, although wounded three times, staggered in and down the trench, encouraging the men and refusing to go to a dressing station.

Two wounded men of a rifle brigade appeared at a brigade headquarters and said that very few were left in their trenches. Captain Railston, the only surviving officer, would not abandon his position.

"I'm damned if I retire," he said, plodded in front of the half-wrecked trench, burying him in the debris.

Held Enemy at Bay by Pure Bluff
 His men dug him out. A moment later he was buried again by another explosion. Again his men dug him out, this time wounded. Then the German guns began destroying the traverses one by one. Finally only three men and Captain Railston were left alive. The men refused to leave him, and ran up and down the trench, stumbling and "bluffing" the German infantry so that they did not dare attack. Finally the German came up and re-inforced the position.

The London Rifle Brigade lost 117 men from shelling in one day while their left rested on Portulain. That night a German working party was sent from their trenches. The Londoners rushed their machine-guns forward and wiped them out.

A patrol of the Monmouths (Territorials) occupied a farmhouse in the northeast quarter of the salient, and was cut off by shell fire. It was vital that the position should be held, although the enemy were pressing the ward repeatedly. One man went to the farm in order to bring water to his comrades. The brigadier sent a message that he "hoped they would stick," and a bandolier was tossed across the moat to the waiting despatch rider, bearing a scrap of paper with the words, "Of course we'll stick." They did to the last man.

One trench near Frezenburg, was defended until every man in it was killed. When fresh troops re-occupied the trench was so full of corpses that the commanding officer decided to turn it into a grave. It was filled in, a few rough wooden crosses stuck in the earth, and a new trench dug a few yards behind.

While we held the greater salient communication with certain areas was maintained wholly by despatch riders. There were four orderlies to be taken in the trench and these men had to make perilous four-mile journeys at night under fire. Many were killed. I was told of one orderly who, when wounded, fell from his motor-cycle and handed his message to a soldier. "Get it through," he said, "I'm done."

Some of the finest examples of heroism were given by the doctors and stretcher-bearers, who constantly exposed themselves to the devastating bombardment. Dressing stations had to be abandoned hurriedly in many instances, and battalion surgeons like Lieutenant Goddard, of the King's Own, went back repeatedly into the hall of shells, bringing out a wounded man each time. Two of the men carried by Lieutenant Goddard were killed by shrapnel before the journey was finished.

It was impossible to collect the wounded from the field during day light. As soon as night fell the stretcher-bearers and as many additional workers as could be collected went out under the direction of the surgeons and groped over the marshland, picking up the men who laid there all day with shells exploding on every side. It was impossible to show lights—even the flare of an electric pocket lamp. The stretcher-bearers had to crawl laboriously through the darkness, and when they found a man who was still alive it was necessary to make a slow and painful journey across the plain stepping over bodies and avoiding craters, until they reached the motor-ambulances waiting on the nearest road.

Army doctors and Harley-street specialists like E. B. Waggett worked in the cellars of ruined Zonnebeka by candle light before plank tables and cottage doors laid on the bare rails, performing one operation after another.

When it became necessary to readjust the British line by taking it west of Zonnebeka the village was evacuated so quietly that the enemy were not aware of its abandonment until many hours afterward. Early in the evening of May 8 motor-ambulances were concentrated near Zonnebeka, and it was possible to take some 150 wounded to their new position in front of the Frezenburg ridge.

This retirement was another illustration of the splendid discipline and cohesion which prevailed after eleven days and nights of ordeal sufficient to shake the finest troops in the world. It had to be carried out by regimental officers under the most difficult conditions. It was necessary to march some of the units parallel to the German trenches for four miles along a road which brought them at times within a few hundred yards of a watchful enemy.

The troops were withdrawn gradually during the night of May 3. Picked sharpshooters from each battalion were the last to leave the old position, and so successful was the holding fire kept up by this handful of men that the enemy believed the position had actually been reinforced. When the order to retire was signalled along the line from one sharpshooter to another at midnight, a soldier of the Cheshires—the last man of all—did not hear it. He sat tight, quite cheerfully, until after one o'clock, and then realized suddenly that he was alone.

Puzzled, but in no wise perturbed, he continued to face the German army alone. Finally, he too, fell back, and eventually joined his battalion.

Nothing was left for the enemy. The men even brought away their entrenching tools and destroyed what they could not carry.

One lieutenant colonel discarded articles which could not be carried on the march. He came to a box of kippers which arrived the day before from home. He looked at it reluctantly.

"No good," he said to the adjutant, "we can't carry the box. Destroy it."

Next morning he saw two or three of his remaining officers breakfasting on kippers in the new trenches. "We couldn't leave good kippers, sir," said one of them.

The Germans did not know the British had fallen back until late next morning. They kept sending up columns of fumes between three and four o'clock and about seven their patrols began pushing cautiously towards the empty positions. It was not until the evening of the 6th that they advanced in force.

A Cavalry Charge
 One of the finest exploits of the cavalry during the later fighting in the Ypres salient was the charge of the 10th Hussars, on May 15, when they were sent to fill a gap in the line and counter-attack in order to recover some lost trenches.

The cavalry regiments holding certain portions of the salient on that day were disastrously shelled from early morning. The 3rd Dragoon Guards were buried in the debris of their blown-out trenches; the wood in which the 1st Royals were lodged was a mass of flame. The North Somerset Yeomanry and the Leicestershire Yeomanry suffered heavily; the former managed to stick to their trenches, but the Leicesters were forced back temporarily.

An attack by the 10th Hussars to re-establish the line was timed for 2.30 p.m. While all the artillery concentrated on the German position around two farms near Verlorenhoek, three armored motor cars were to dash along the road towards that village and do what they could with their quick-firing guns. Our aeroplanes hovered overhead, observing this movement.

It was a magnificent sight. One of the Flying Corps said afterwards that the advance of the Hussars, seen from above, was like a parade movement. Nothing could stop them. They dashed straight for the lost trenches, the Leicesters Yeomanry came on as well, with them a squadron of the Blues. The Germans were driven out helter-skelter and the trenches occupied. Many officers fell. Captain Crickson of the Hussars was shot through the leg. He went down with his broken limb twisted almost at right angles, but, although suffering acutely, he refused to be moved. He sat propped against a sandbag, waving his arms and urging his men on.

No sooner had the German infantry been defeated ignominiously than their heavy guns were turned on the captured position and our men were blown out again.

These were some of the heroes of Ypres.

When Lieutenant Colonel Stephenson, of the 3rd Middlesex was struck down by a shell and lay dying, he turned to his men and said: "Die hard, boys."

The men who died, died hard. They fought to a finish. The men who are left are waiting to avenge them.

What about the men who have stayed at home?

BOTHA FIGHTING HIS OWN PEOPLE TO KEEP HIS PROMISE

An ex-British officer now serving with Botha writes: "Botha had sent most of the trained English volunteers to German Southwest Africa. Some of the rebels and semi-rebels quoted this in support of England—as a reason for rebellion. Others openly said that the dispatch of the only organized troops out of the way was a preliminary to openly joining the rebels. We did not know whom to trust nor whom to believe, and then came the news that Botha, the whitest man in the Empire, was true to his oath, and was willing to fight his own people to uphold his promise. The issue was doubtful; there were thousands waiting to see 'which way the cat would jump.' Can you wonder that I joined him? If I know nothing of him personally, I know the risks he ran, and my admiration for him is such that I would follow him from here to Cairo, if necessary. I am a squadron captain, or veid kornet, in the Fifteenth Mounted Brigade, Brand's Vry Staat Schutters, so named after our Col. George Brand, a former general, into whom incidentally I put a bullet during the last war."

Need for Ammunition.
 Writing to the London Times from British Headquarters, John Buchan says: "All the strategy and tactics of the war depend today upon one burning fact. The enemy has got an amazingly powerful machine, and unless we can provide ourselves with a machine of equal power he will nullify the superior fighting quality of our men. That machine consists in a great number of heavy guns and machine guns, and an apparently unlimited supply of high explosives. Whoever started the story that the Germans were running short of shells did a cruel disservice to the Allies' cause. The French the other day in Artois made a great artillery preparation in sufficient quantities will annihilate the hostile trenches, parapets, and entanglements. With the help of good aerial reconnaissance, such as we possess, they will silence his own heavy howitzers. If the artillery preparation is sufficient, as a high authority has put it, you can take several miles of country with a walking-stick. It is no time for scolding and criticism. We are all to blame—all of us except the soldiers in the field. Our business now is to redeem our miscalculations and get the counter-machine without delay."

HOW MAJ. DOUGHTY-WYLIE MET A HERO'S DEATH

The following is from the London Times: "A Reuters message from Cairo states that after the landing operations at Sed-el Bahr a certain colonel led the men in a gallant bayonet charge up a hill. The men, who spoke

A short time ago, one of the highest officials in the United States Federal Government, was ordered by a physician to procure some porter for his wife, who had undergone a serious operation. He applied at once to the Government Analyst for reports on all brands of porter.

This officer, having in mind the purpose for which the enquiry was made, and with regard to tonic qualities and nutritive value, at once recommended "Red Ball Ale and Porter" manufactured by Simeon Jones Ltd., St. John.

This recommendation was followed by a series of orders from Washington, and subsequent correspondence went to show that this local product had given every satisfaction.

MRS. MABEN WAS MADE WELL

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Wants Other Suffering Women To Know It.

Murfreesboro, Tenn. — "I have wanted to write to you for a long time to tell you what your wonderful remedies have done for me. I was a sufferer from female weakness and displacement and I would have such tired, worn out feelings, sick headaches and dizzy spells. Doctors did me no good so I tried the Lydia E. Pinkham Remedies—Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. I am now well and strong and can do all my own work. I owe it all to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and want other suffering women to know about it."—Mrs. H. E. MABEN, 211 S. Spring St., Murfreesboro, Tenn.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtues of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Why Lose Hope.
 No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Real Wonder-Worker For Wrinkled Faces

Those who have tried all sorts of so-called "wrinkle-removers" in a vain effort to lose those unwelcome traces of age, illness or worry, can scarcely find words to express their delight with the wonderful results of this method. The success of this method is due not alone to its marvellous effectiveness—upon the deepest lines and crow-feet, as well as upon the very fine ones—but also to its surprisingly quick action and its absolute harmlessness. Its simplicity and its inexpensiveness are other commendable features. One needs only dissolve an ounce of powdered azoicite in a half pint of water, and stir the solution in this solution. At once a remarkable transformation is beheld.

It is not only the effect on wrinkles and creases that is so noticeable, but facial contour is remarkably improved and the face looks much younger. One should be sure to ask the druggist for the powdered azoicite. The lotion, being so refreshing, is particularly grateful to tired faces these warm, depressing days.

Eczema Was Cured Twelve Years Ago

Dr. Chase's Ointment Proved to be a Permanent Cure

The old idea of eczema being a disease of the blood has been pretty well exploded by the record of cures made by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Some doctors still advise internal treatment, but the results are slow and uncertain, and too often a lamentable failure. With Dr. Chase's Ointment it is different. You apply the ointment to the sore parts. It cleanses the sores and soon sets up the healing process. In a few days you can see with your own eyes the wonderful change that is taking place and are encouraged to keep up the treatment until the cure is complete and the sores replaced by smooth, natural skin.

Be wise to look after your general health, keep the bowels regular and the blood rich, but you can depend on Dr. Chase's Ointment to cure the eczema, if you will do your part and apply it regularly.

Mr. W. H. Roberts, Charlottetown, P. E. I., writes: "I can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment to anyone suffering from itching skin disease. I had eczema on my legs and suffered terribly from the itching. I had a doctor treat me for four months without relief, and I was getting worse all the time. A second doctor gave some relief for a time, but made no cure. I tried several advertised treatments, but without relief until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. This ointment cured me in a month. That was twelve years ago, and I have never had a sign of the old trouble since.

"Since then we have always kept Dr. Chase's Ointment in the house, and find it invaluable for chafes, chilblains, insect stings and burns. I would not be without it if it cost $5 a box."

"This is to certify that I am personally acquainted with Mr. W. H. Roberts, and believe his statement regarding the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment to be true and correct." (Signed) Alex. Burns, Justice of the Peace.

THE AUTOMOBILE TRADE IN ST. JOHN

Oldsmobile Eight Is Announced

Prompted no doubt by the success of their "42" has met with during the past year, the Olds Motor Works are making still further advances in the moderate price field, announcing for the 1916 season two light weight cars, an Eight and a Four, both weighing well under 3,000 pounds.

It was thought that the Company might produce four cylinder cars exclusively this season, in view of the strong demand experienced for such a car, consequently the announcement of an eight was in the nature of a surprise to dealers, as well as to the public generally. The decision to produce an eight cylinder car grew out of the fact that during the spring months, the company found an active market for their big Model 55.

The new Oldsmobile Eight, which gives every promise of being one of the most sensational cars yet developed by the Olds Motor Works, embodies the factors of economy, efficiency and refinement in a high degree. Although definite mechanical details of the car have not yet been announced by the manufacturer, the motor is understood to be of V-type construction, containing certain original features not incorporated in any other motor of the same type now in use in American cars.

By producing both their eight cylinder and the eight cylinder cars simultaneously, and in large quantities, a great saving was effected in the purchase of materials, with the result that it was found possible to produce the cars at an unexpectedly low first cost. The introduction of the Oldsmobile Eight is considered important in that it enables the public to obtain an eight with high class workmanship and refinement at a price considerably under that which the Company formerly received for its four cylinder cars.

Shipments of Model 43, the four cylinder Olds, are now in progress and complete mechanical specifications are available. The general lines and details of the "48" Oldsmobile were adhered to, but a wheelbase of 120 inches gives the car a considerably longer appearance with a more sweeping contour, and allows greater space for passengers. In the touring car, for example, the ignition measures 47 1/2 inches from rear seat to front seat, back to the clutch pedal. The doors have the uncommon width of 23 inches. The body sides are high and the cushions placed somewhat deeper in the body, so that on the whole considerably more riding comfort for passengers is afforded.

A four cylinder motor of the valve-in-head type, developing over 30 h.p. on block test, is employed; bore 3 1/2, stroke 5 inches. Working parts are completely covered with an effective metal silencer. Cooling is effected by a centrifugal water pump. Gasoline is drawn by a vacuum system to the carburetor from the gasoline tank, which is situated in the rear of the car. The Delco electric system, with a single unit for starting, lighting and ignition, is again used.

Three-quarter elliptic, underslung rear springs are declared to give exceptional riding qualities, with a low center of gravity, which is also desirable. A three-quarter floating rear axle with helical bevel drive gears is used in company with the Hotchkiss drive, and is said to contain the salient features of the full floating type axle.

Wheels finished in natural hickory, with non-skid tires, front and rear, are a feature. Running boards and toe boards are made of solid cast aluminum. Instruments are mounted flush on an attractive dash of Circaisiana walnut, which contains two lockers for touring requisites, such as goggles, gloves, smelling salts and the like.

Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Ltd.

These buildings were put up by the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, within the last year, and represent a part of that Company's aim to have first class branch buildings and assembly plants in every large Canadian city from ocean to ocean. Left to right they are: Factory addition at Ford, Ontario; London Branch, Montreal Branch, and Toronto Branch.

The officers of the company are: William H. Power, president; Kirk E. Alexander, vice-president and general manager; W. Hadden Jenkins, Jr., secretary; and Charles E. Will, treasurer. The directors are the officers and Louis Ling, Welmore Hodges and Geo. P. Fletcher.

The Power, Alexander & Jenkins Company, succeeding the MacManus Company, was organized as an Ohio corporation and was first located in Toledo. About six years ago the headquarters were removed to Detroit. Three years ago the present holders bought out the old stockholders. The company, which is the largest advertising agency between New York and Chicago, has handled and continues to handle the advertising business of a large number of national accounts. Numbers among its present clients: The Ford Motor Company, both the American and the Canadian corporations; the Paine-Detroit Motor Car Company; the Consolidated Car Company, manufacturers of the Abbott-Detroit motor cars; The Henderson Motorcycle Company; the Dayton Engineering Laboratories Company, manufacturers of the Delco electric starting, lighting and ignition system; the Russell Motor Axle Company; and a number of others.

The Willys Overland Co. Build New Factory.

The Willys Overland Company is a typical example of how a successful business can be built up by giving people what they require and offering them in exchange for their money full measure of motor car service, comfort and reliability. The company has just completed an addition to their already large plant which will be perhaps the largest single factory building in the automobile business. The addition of this building with its seventeen acres of floor space gives this company a wonderfully complete plant with a total floor space of seventy-nine acres, which is a larger area than many of our New Brunswick farmers have under cultivation. This great organization has built itself up from a small beginning to its present commanding position on sheer merit alone. Indeed no concern at the present time can continue year after year doubling and trebling its output and increasing its capacity, unless the article it offers the public is thoroughly reliable and gives a little more for the money than can be obtained elsewhere. At the present time Overland value is not a mere catch-phrase, but is based on the definite indisputable economics of production in large quantities. From time to time as the business will permit it many additions, each as large as an ordinary factory plant, had been made.

Special equipment and special machinery has been required and it is interesting to note that many of the largest and most modern special machines in existence are installed in the Overland factory. Special departments have grown up to meet the demand of up-to-date manufacture. The Overland drop forging plant is the largest and best equipped plant in the automobile industry. It is capable of turning out such large forgings as a whole front axle. The majority of car manufacturers have to buy their drop forgings or at least purchase the dies for making them. Again, in the body manufacturing department are special presses for stamping the sheet steel for the bodies, one of these being the largest of its kind in use. So throughout the different departments huge production has meant that the very latest methods are used in the manufacture of parts. This has required the use of specially-designed machinery and tools, each unit performing its particular operation better and more economically than is possible under ordinary methods.

In its first year in business this company made but four hundred cars, whereas at the present time with its new factory building completed it has a daily capacity of six hundred cars, more than the entire numbers manufactured in its first year. This is a striking illustration of the steady advance in the demand for automobiles throughout America and is a great tribute to the Willys Overland Company itself and proof of the reliability and popularity of the Overland car.

IMPORTANT ADVERTISING CHANGE.

The MacManus Company Changes its Name to Conform to Present Personnel.

At a meeting of the stockholders and directors of The MacManus Company, Advertising Agents, on Monday, it was voted to change the corporate title of the organization to The Power, Alexander & Jenkins Company.

The change in name does not indicate any change whatsoever in the personnel of the company.

In fact, the organization remains exactly as it has been heretofore, and there will be no change in the character and policy of the business.

The action was prompted merely by the fact that the name "The MacManus Company" has not for sometime represented the personnel of the organization—the present officers, directors and stockholders having purchased the assets of the Company over three years ago.

The name of the company was well known in the advertising field, however. It had standing and reputation back of it—and it has been retained up to this time for that reason.

Recently, however, it has been felt that the interests of the Company would be better served if the corporate title represented the personnel of the organization—hence the change.

The new corporate title, The Power, Alexander & Jenkins Company, includes the names of the men who are responsible for the success the organization has enjoyed during the last three years. They are men who are well and favorably known in the advertising field, and their names at the head of the company, insure a continuation of the rather exceptional advertising service for which it is noted.

H. A. LOZIER RE-ENTERS AUTOMOBILE INDUSTRY WITH NEW ORGANIZATION

Harry A. Lozier, who has not been actively connected with the automobile industry since his retirement from the Lozier Motor Company, in 1912, is about to enter the field again at the head of a new organization for the manufacture of motor cars.

For sixteen months Mr. Lozier has been quietly and industriously perfecting his plans and the work of organization is now complete, the character and design of the car settled and ample capital secured. Some inkling of Mr. Lozier's intentions has spread abroad and because of his prominence in the industry great interest has been manifested. Many inquiries have been made as to the exact nature of his new enterprise. The various details, however, will not be given out just yet, and no further announcement as to the location of the new plant, the source and amount of the capital or the price and character of the car will be made at this time.

Enough is known, however, to warrant an assertion that the car Mr. Lozier's new company will manufacture will be something of a sensation, for while it will exhibit no freakish innovations, it will illustrate the latest trend in motor car engineering, and will combine modernity and luxury at a price that should give it an immediate and extensive market.

While Mr. Lozier is mum at this time on details, it is significant that so far as policy is concerned, his new company will not differ materially from the Chandler Company, of Cleveland, which is made up of the men who comprise Mr. Lozier's own organization when he was president of the Lozier company, and who left a few months after Mr. Lozier laid down for the Lozier Motor Company in 1911, but was not permitted to carry out, made a sensational success.

Mr. Lozier has already selected the ## principal men for his new company, and he speaks of them with enthusiasm as the best balanced, and most effective executives in the industry. Aided by these and strongly backed financially, he will enter the field again well fortified.

Mr. Lozier has been making a very close study of the motor car industry, watching and analyzing the present trend. His friends are confident that he is about to achieve a great success, for he will now be able to carry out his own policies and exercise his own judgment.

Mr. Lozier, who was actively identified for several years with the manufacture of the car bearing his name, entered the industry by natural steps. His father conducted a large jobbing business in sewing machines in Cleveland, and later added bicycles. The latter feature of his business grew so fast that he found it impossible to get sufficient machines to fill his orders. Consequently he entered the manufacturing end of the bicycle business, and secured a factory in Toledo, where the celebrated Cleveland bicycle was made. This plant is now occupied by the Willys-Overland Company. The elder Lozier sold out his bicycle business to the American Bicycle Company in 1899.

From 1895 Harry A. Lozier had been sales manager for his father's bicycle company, and he remained with the American Bicycle Company in that capacity for one year. He then went to the Lozier Motor Company of Plattsburg, New York, which had been organized the year before. For the first five years this company manufactured only marine engines, and boats. In 1905 they made their first car, a high grade Four somewhat after the style of the Mercedes.

The Lozier Motor Company of Michigan was organized in 1910, and got under way in its Detroit plant in 1911. Mr. Lozier was president of this company for a brief time. He had observed changes in the industry and a new trend which led him to form new policies, but owing to a change in the personnel of the board, it was impossible for him to carry these out and he therefore withdrew, severing his connection with the Lozier Motor Company, August 1st, 1912.

Mr. Lozier states that no decision has been reached relative to a corporate name for the new company, which he has just organized, nor has the name of the car been definitely settled.
