THE ENGLISH BELIEVE THAT AMERICA WILL

Eventually Support League of Nations—Public Men of All Shades of Politics Hold This View.

By W. Orton Tewson, (Staff Correspondent of The Standard, Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic Newspaper Service, Inc.)

London, By Mail.—It is widely believed on this side of the Atlantic that the United States will eventually—and before very long—throw her support to the League of Nations.

This popular opinion in the face of the recent Senate defeat of the peace treaty, seems to be shared also by most of the leading figures in European public life.

The Senate action seems to be largely discounted here by the belief that American political considerations were responsible for the rejection.

Ex-Premier Asquith, whose recent rejection to the Commons has been followed by a remarkable re-assessment of power, believes that "all evidence tends to show that the vast majority of the people of the United States are in sympathy with the purpose and spirit of the League of Nations."

He expressed deep concern that "our great kindred country is not a consistent member of the League during the present period."

"We must never forget," Asquith says, "that perhaps at the most critical moment in the fortunes of the great struggle that has ever been waged, the United States drew the whole of her resources into the scale on this side of humanity and freedom. It is impossible to exaggerate either the distinctness of that act or its consequences on the future of mankind."

Lord Robert Cecil, regarded as one of the brightest spirits and clearest thinkers working in the interests of the League, is another statesman with implicit confidence in the ultimate success of the "concert of nations," and the participation therein of the United States. Commenting recently on the memorandum of the Supreme Council of the League urging alleviation of the financial terms imposed upon Germany, he said:

"The indeterminate indemnity was, from the economic point of view, a wholly indefensible device. It possessed certain obvious political recommendations, but it was bound to inflict the greatest amount of economic injury upon Germany and her creditors."

"It created, as it were, a great cloud on the economic situation, and made it impossible for Germany to obtain any credit by any ordinary commercial transactions; and by holding out vague and indefinite hopes to her late enemies it has prevented some of them from taking the necessary steps and making the necessary sacrifices to restore their economic and financial position."

M. Venizelos, Greek Premier, has stated his firm conviction that the American people are wholeheartedly with the Allied peoples in supporting the aims and ideals of the League. He believes that while America now regards the League "with a kind of sympathy," she will "one long look upon it with favor." He is convinced that the League has before it "the brightest hopes of enabling humanity to render war impossible, especially in view of the spectacle of Germany's utter financial disaster and the sequel to her bid for world domination."

Asquith describes the League as "an association free and spontaneous in every sense of the term, and one of whose great and small, all of whom meet on the same level, and none of whom sacrifice in any degree their own sovereign rights and autonomous authority. And the New World," he says, "will surely join forces with the Old in peace as in fight."

THE TAXATION OF INCORPORATED COMPANIES

New Imposts Proposed by the Government Will Bear Heavily on Companies.

Mr. Baxter said he knew that increased revenue must be obtained and that with increasing demands it was difficult to tell where it was to come from.

He was speaking as a user of a telephone. As it was well known the New Brunswick Telephone Company has an application before the public utilities commission for an upward revision of its rates to meet increasing expenses.

It was presumed that permission would be given to increase the rates to some extent. To the expense of operation must be added sufficient to pay eight per cent on the stock and interest on the bond.

The company would get eight per cent and no more. The tax which it was proposed to impose under this bill would come out of the public and not out of the shareholders.

He was a stockholder in the New Brunswick Telephone Company to some extent and a user of the telephone also. His opinion it would be fair to tax the stock but not to increase the cost of using a telephone to every member of the public.

A great deal of truth lay in what had been said by his old friend from York (Pinder), who did not believe it was better to resort to direct taxation, which would be equalized by felt than to impose indirect taxation which would be unequalized.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that last year $9,850 had been received from the tax on telephone companies. Necessity had arisen to make a readjustment in the tax.

Mr. Baxter said that the statement could be briefly made in the words "we just have to do it."

Hon. Mr. Byrne said the people wanted and money had to be provided. He was a strong advocate of that correct principle of government that expenditure must be kept within the revenue.

However, the people of New Brunswick seemed to be passing through a period of extravagance. If they wanted improvements they must be willing to pay the piper. No doubt there was considerable force to which the hon. acting leader of the opposition had just said, but the same objection could be applied to all taxation of this kind.

There appeared to be no other way of working this kind of tax for the revenue would fluctuate from year to year. The speaker went on to discuss taxation of insurance companies, and in reference to Mr. Tilley outlined the amendments to be submitted.

Mr. Baxter asked if there were any thing in the Act which would interfere with the right of towns and cities to impose local taxation upon these companies.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said there was not, but that the desirability of having such a provision had been impressed upon the attention of the Government.

Nova Scotia already had adopted the principle of a provincial tax covering everything.

Mr. Baxter said that he did not wish his friends to consider his remarks as made in all charity and friendliness.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the bills had been prepared early in the session, but there had been no end of delegations which had come to see the Government about this particular bill; there were delegations from telephone, telegraph and express companies. Time had slipped by rapidly.

Progress was reported.

HALIFAX CURLERS Won Many Big Prizes

The semi-annual meeting of the Halifax Curling Club was held recently at their club rooms, when the reports of the various committees were read, and prizes won during the winter were presented.

It has been the most successful year in the history of the club, the locals having won almost every important prize offered for curling in the Maritime provinces.

The famous McLeellan cup, emblematic of the championship of the Maritime provinces, the Johnson cup, emblematic of the Nova Scotia championship; Terminal cup, which is recognized as the city championship cup, and the Stuart House trophy, for the aggregate championship of Nova Scotia were all won by the Halifax club.

Dozens of other prizes, offered for city competition, were also captured by the Halifax Curling Club.

The winning of the city, Nova Scotia and Maritime championships in the same year, is a notable feat, and the local club's record in turning in such a performance, will likely hold good for many years.

President McLeod, presided, and congratulated the individual winners on their splendid playing during the season, also the members of the teams winning the big prizes.

WINNIPEG CAR FARES.

Winnipeg, Man., April 23.—The physical assets of the Winnipeg Electric Railway have been valued by W. Nelson Smith, engineer, at $28,662,187 on the reproduction basis.

The Public Utilities Commissioner intimates that he will accept this figure in determining street car fares.

This promises to bring to an end the difference of opinion on this subject that has existed for years past between the public and the management of the Winnipeg Electric Railway.

Mending is One of Mother's Multiplicity of Duties

Unfortunately, it is usually necessary for the busy mother to leave the mending until some quiet hour when the children have been got off to bed.

These necessities working by artificial light, with unusual straining of the eyes.

It is this straining of the eyes which makes one feel so tired after mending, sewing, shopping, or doing fancy work.

When you think of how constantly the eyes are employed, and of the continual changing of the focus to suit the distance of the object viewed, you may not be surprised to know that the optic nerve consumes an enormous amount of nervous energy.

For this reason straining of the eyes brings on fatigue, and often leads to nervous breakdown.

There is no magical way by which exhausted nerves can be restored.

It takes time and patience in order that the depleted nerve cells may be nourished back to health and vigor, but you may be sure of satisfactory results if you use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly.

We know that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is composed of the vital substances which go to the upbuilding of the nervous system. We have the utmost confidence in its curative properties, because we have seen it tested in so many thousands of cases.

But how are we going to prove this to you and convince you? You are the one to be benefited, so it remains for you to make the test.

Try it when you feel tired and discouraged. Try it for sleeplessness and irritability. Try it for nervous headache and indigestion. It is not a mere relief, for this reason you must persevere in its use until the lost vigor is restored to the nerves.

The fact that the results are both thorough and lasting will encourage you to continue the use of this food cure until you feel strong and well.

THE TAXATION OF INCORPORATED COMPANIES

New Imposts Proposed by the Government Will Bear Heavily on Companies.

Mr. Baxter said he knew that increased revenue must be obtained and that with increasing demands it was difficult to tell where it was to come from.

He was speaking as a user of a telephone. As it was well known the New Brunswick Telephone Company has an application before the public utilities commission for an upward revision of its rates to meet increasing expenses.

It was presumed that permission would be given to increase the rates to some extent. To the expense of operation must be added sufficient to pay eight per cent on the stock and interest on the bond.

The company would get eight per cent and no more. The tax which it was proposed to impose under this bill would come out of the public and not out of the shareholders.

He was a stockholder in the New Brunswick Telephone Company to some extent and a user of the telephone also. His opinion it would be fair to tax the stock but not to increase the cost of using a telephone to every member of the public.

A great deal of truth lay in what had been said by his old friend from York (Pinder), who did not believe it was better to resort to direct taxation, which would be equalized by felt than to impose indirect taxation which would be unequalized.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that last year $9,850 had been received from the tax on telephone companies. Necessity had arisen to make a readjustment in the tax.

Mr. Baxter said that the statement could be briefly made in the words "we just have to do it."

Hon. Mr. Byrne said the people wanted and money had to be provided. He was a strong advocate of that correct principle of government that expenditure must be kept within the revenue.

However, the people of New Brunswick seemed to be passing through a period of extravagance. If they wanted improvements they must be willing to pay the piper. No doubt there was considerable force to which the hon. acting leader of the opposition had just said, but the same objection could be applied to all taxation of this kind.

There appeared to be no other way of working this kind of tax for the revenue would fluctuate from year to year. The speaker went on to discuss taxation of insurance companies, and in reference to Mr. Tilley outlined the amendments to be submitted.

Mr. Baxter asked if there were any thing in the Act which would interfere with the right of towns and cities to impose local taxation upon these companies.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said there was not, but that the desirability of having such a provision had been impressed upon the attention of the Government.

Nova Scotia already had adopted the principle of a provincial tax covering everything.

Mr. Baxter said that he did not wish his friends to consider his remarks as made in all charity and friendliness.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the bills had been prepared early in the session, but there had been no end of delegations which had come to see the Government about this particular bill; there were delegations from telephone, telegraph and express companies. Time had slipped by rapidly.

Progress was reported.

MANY ARE LIVING IN HOUSE BOATS

Chicago, April 23.—This city is attempting to prevent rent profiteering by regulating increases in rates and by organizing a $100,000,000 corporation to buy houses and sell them on easy payments.

Meanwhile Chicago's flat dwellers have been forming unions to wage war on alleged profiteering landlords and contractors.

Several hundred families have secured their individual housing problems by making their homes in house-boats moored in the barges of the Chicago Canal.

Once the possession of a house boat, the owner only has to pay $1 a month for the privilege of mooring his craft. If he does not like his location he can move his home boat elsewhere.

Many of these boats cost $1,000 each and have five rooms, parlor, dining room, kitchen and two bedrooms.

In some cases groups of tenants have solved the rent problem by forming co-operative companies and buying the apartment houses in which they live.

The housing corporation, which has been financed by banks and business men, have under consideration a plan to build a row of model homes in Grant Park, on the lake front.

Examples of many types of standardized homes would be erected, furnished and surrounded by settings of trees and shrubbery so that a prospective purchaser of a new home could look over the styles before placing his order.

Attempts have been made to check rent profiteering by co-operation of the city council and the Cook County Real Estate Board which investigated complaints and, when increases were found to be excessive, advised the landlords to withdraw his demands.

In general the investigators have allowed an increase of about 30 percent over last year's rentals.

A proposal was made to erect scores of portable houses but the carpenter's union declared its opposition to the plan even though the houses came from union factories.

The recent tornadoes which destroyed 100 houses and damaged 400 more in Chicago and its suburbs have augmented a housing shortage which had already become acute through suspension of building operations in the war and long-drawn builders' contracts.

LEGISLATURE

In An Effort to Reach Prorogation Today, Bill After Bill Being RAILROADED THRO'

Without Proper Consideration or Discussion, With the Result That Province Gets Very Slipshod Legislation.

The committee took up the consideration of a bill to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. Baxter asked for a statement of the salient points. Hearings to date have been in the session which very well, he thought, become interviews in the next session. There was not time to have a proper consideration of this bill and it must be taken as presented.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said he realized that there was foundation for criticism from his hon. friend, but the delay could not be avoided. He could say that the Government had secured the opinions of the members of the Compensation Board by whom the Act was administered, and had incorporated them into the bill.

There was an increase of the allowance for funeral expenses from $75 to $100, an increase in the monthly allowance to widows from $20 to $30, also an increase in the monthly allowance for children. Formerly the assistance given to a widow could not aggregate more than $3,600. That had been changed and there was to be no limit. If a widow should marry the second time she would receive two years' payment. Under the former Act the payment for permanent partial disability had been limited to $1,500. By the amendments proposed there would be a sliding scale at the discretion of the Board under which the total would not exceed $2,500. It also was proposed that in regard to first aid, the full medical, nursing and hospital expenses be paid out of the accident fund. This would cause a heavy drain on the fund, but he had information to the effect that the Board would decrease the assessment upon those paying into the fund fifty per cent during the present year. It was believed that proper safeguards had been furnished so that undue strain should not fall on the accident fund.

Mr. Baxter said the explanation was as full and ample as could be expected, but he would have dealt with this matter in a way much different from that in which the Government had approached it. The members of the House should have information from members of the Commission touching upon this matter. They should have placed before them facts which had arisen in connection with actual cases coming under notice of the Board. As it was the House was embarking on an undertaking without sufficient information. By taking the bill up section by section the House was going to get little benefit beyond the correction of the typographical errors. He would suggest that the hon. Attorney-General move the adoption of the bill and let the House pass it.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that in other provinces suggestions of the members of the Boards or Commissions were accepted. Their opinions were taken as carrying weight.

Mr. Baxter said that what he wanted was the calculations of the members of the Board, not their opinions. If given information, he considered himself competent to reach an opinion.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that he had no figures which he could place before the committee. It was believed, however, that there would be an additional burden of some $50,000 or $60,000. The striking out of the limitation of payment to widows placed the Act upon the same basis as the Act of other provinces. Under the old Act a widow might receive assistance until she had reached an advanced age, and then by the very terms of the Act, when aid was most needed, be thrown upon the world. Action in this connection had been taken up on information received from the Compensation Board.

Mr. Tilley said there was no objection on the part of the Opposition concerning the payment to widows. He considered it a good provision. It was unfair, however, to hurry bills of this nature through in the dying hours of the session. The Opposition, as well as the Government supporters should hear the delegations which come to give information relating to various pieces of legislation. It might have been well to let a matter of this kind go over until next session. He could not see why the assessment could not remain as it was. After three or four years' experience, the Board might very well recommend a reduction.

Mr. Baxter said that references had been made to recommendations which members of the Compensation Board had made, and which had been incorporated into legislation. As far as he could see, the members of the Board had had no experience before taking office some two years ago, and they would have to creep before they could walk. However, the members were in a position to secure some information. Instead of the House being told in general terms what was considered to be the proper thing to do in the way of amending the Act, it could have been given details concerning hospital treatment and its cost. He had no very great admiration for the ability of the majority of the Commissioners forming the Compensation Board. He could draw his own conclusions, and not take those of the Commissioners. The latter were not experts, and were of no outstanding ability. As far as payment to widows was concerned, there was a great difference between the case of a woman widowed when twenty years old and one widowed when she was fifty. There was no reason for giving payments to a young woman for the rest of her life. She should be placed on a different footing from a woman of older years. There should be a limit to what would be paid her. A young woman could easily fit herself for some vocation early in her widowhood. It was true that she should receive assistance. It should be for a long period, but not for the duration of her life.

Hon. Mr. Foster said that he was prepared to take responsibility for up-pointment of members of the Compensation Board. During the year he had made it a point to get in touch with many who were paying into the fund, which was administered by the Board, and from them he had received much interesting information concerning the Compensation Act and its operation in which it had been made. One instance in connection with the C. P. R., which paid more in under the Act than any other employer of labor, he could quote to the House, a portion of a letter written to him in response to an inquiry. The extract was as follows:

"I might mention that, during the first year's operation of the Act, I have found the Workmen's Compensation Board to be very competent administrators. All claims in which we were involved have been ably dealt with and the action of the Board generally has been above criticism."

Hon. Mr. Foster said that, considering the fact that the Act was new, this was an excellent recommendation for the Board, which had done good work.

Hon. Mr. Byrne said that representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association had expressed a willingness to accept thirty days as the limit for giving assistance.

Mr. Baxter said that he would have liked to have heard the delegation give the information.

Hon. Mr. Foster said he agreed that it would be of great value to have the House hear delegations of that kind. That was why he had arranged to have the House given an explanation in connection with teachers' salaries.

Mr. Sutton said that the Act practically banished the re-marriage of widows.

Mr. Tilley said that that was good business. If a woman re-married she got two years' payment, and if she did not she would be a charge on the public for the rest of her lifetime.

Mr. Sutton said that he wished to put nothing in the way of laboring men getting fair treatment, but this Compensation Act had been coming back year after year. He felt quite sure that hon. members of the House did not speak their own minds on this subject. The Act made it impossible to spend huge sums.

Hon. Mr. Veniot—"Representatives of the Manufacturers' Association agreed to that."

Mr. McGrath criticized the Act because members of the Board were given the power to judge the "necessity, efficiency and character of medical or surgical aid."

Hon. Mr. Foster said that the Board in that matter would act on the advice of its physicians.

Mr. McGrath said that he had not in his pocket that such was not the case. When the physician decided on a surgical point and received a reply from a member of the Board criticizing his decision, it almost looked as if members of the Board were expressing opinions on medical matters.

The bill was reported as agreed to. The committee also reported bills to amend the Act in respect to the issue of school debentures in the towns of St. Stephen and Milltown, relating to justices' fees, to amend the Consolidated Statutes, 1905, respecting fees, and to amend the Probate Courts Act.

Mr. Magee presented petitions of residents of the town of Sackville praying that bills relating to that town pass and become law.

Hon. Mr. Byrne moved that two bills relating to the New Brunswick Elections Act be amalgamated. The motion was carried.

Hon. Mr. Byrne moved that the bill relating to the incorporation of villages be placed in the order of the day.

Hon. Mr. Foster moved that a refund be made of fees connected with the New Brunswick Power Company bill. The motions were carried.

It being six o'clock, the Hon. Mr. Speaker left the chair, to resume at eight.

At the evening session the House went into committee and agreed to a bill to provide for the redemption of the Hamilton Bridge debentures and to enable municipalities to defray expenses incurred in connection with small pox and influenza. The bill to amend the Schools Act was next taken up into committee. This bill is based on the report of a commission appointed last session to investigate the matter of teachers' salaries.

Dr. Crockett of York addressed the committee at some length and made a strong plea for more generous treatment for the male teachers of the province. He said that under the system proposed it would be necessary to increase the salaries of 2,000 female teachers before one of the 136 male teachers could have a farthing added to his salary. He thought that inasmuch as the grant from municipalities was to be doubled, the government should also double its grant. He thought a start should be made by increasing the salaries of those at the top and continuing downward. That would be an incentive to teachers of this city.

the lower grades to rise to the profession.

Hon. Mr. Veniot pointed out that as the work of the commission was only of a tentative nature he suggested that the plan they proposed be given a trial for one year. After some further discussion the bill was agreed to.

The committee reported bill relating to the registration of Physicians and Surgeons, the bill relating to the Salaries of School Inspectors, and the bill to regulate the issue of shares and securities by Public Utilities.

Mr. LeBlond speaking to the last bill made objection to justices of the peace being permitted to try cases in which violation was alleged. He also expressed the opinion that the time had come when the Legislature should grapple with the problem of justices of the peace who had become altogether too numerous. He said he did not hesitate to say that 80 per cent of them were incompetent.

Hon. Mr. Robertson introduced a bill relating to the Grand Falls Company Limited, and explained that this would give power to appoint a commission to carry on a complete investigation in connection with the water power at Grand Falls.

Mr. Crockett speaking to a bill relating to the Registration of Dentists, made a strong plea for the passing of the bill, the purpose of which is to qualify Dr. Wm. Gerrard, of Fredericton. He said that the four members for York and two for Sunbury were in favor of the bill.

Mr. Sweeney and Hon. Mr. Roberts opposed the passing of the bill which had not been recommended by the Committee on Law Practice and Procedure.

The bill was opposed also by Mr. Tilley and Mr. Leger and supported by Mr. Pinder, Mr. Desart and Mr. Young. Mr. Sweeney moved a six months' adjournment, which was defeated by a vote of 20 to 11, and the bill was finally agreed to on a vote of 16 to 13.

The committee also agreed to a bill to amend the Act to increase the indemnity of members of the legislature from $500 to $1,000.

The bill to provide a salary of $2,100 for the Minister of Health was opposed by Mr. Baxter, but was adopted by the committee by a vote of 17 to 10.

The bill relating to the New Brunswick Power Company was agreed to without discussion.

PROSPECTS FOR THE SARDINE INDUSTRY

(St. John's Courier.)

The prospects for the sardine industry this year are much better than last so far as market's are concerned, but the quantities are very difficult to get, and suitable oils are also scarce.

Comons Bros, of Black's Harbor, have large orders from Australia and Argentina and Brazil, and will put up a big pack this season if they can secure tins and oils, and the fish. Mr. Comons has recently made enquiries for fish in Wales, but the supply available is not promising.

Maine canners have no great stocks on hand now and may put up a big pack. Some maine canners are able to use refined cotton-seed oil for putting up sardines of a poorer quality for consumption among the foreign population of the United States cities. Comons Bros. put up a superior product for a high-class market, and use oils of a special quality.

With a view of meeting the demand for oils for packing purposes experiments have been made with distilling oil from a by-product of grape juice and Comons Bros. have been looking for wooden pallets in which to pack sardines in salt, sugar and spices, after the Norwegian practice. Putting up sardines in spiced pickles has not been carried on to any extent in New Brunswick in the past, though it is an important industry in Scandinavia and Germany.

Winnipeg, Man., April 23.—According to a statement by the Provincial Minister of Agriculture, the acreage to be seeded this year in Manitoba will be from 10 p. c. to 15 p. c. lower than the average acreage for a number of years past. This is attributed to the shortage of feed, the lateness of the spring, and the general labor conditions.

ENGLAND'S PATRON SAINT DULY HONORED YESTERDAY

St. George's Society Dined at Bond's Last Night—Many Telegrams from Societies in Canada and United States Received—Toasts Responded to Accompanied by Able Addresses.

In a banquet hall gaily festooned with the red and white morris old England and on the walls of which hung the shields of their patron saint, the St. George's Society of St. John celebrated with a banquet at Bond's last night, for the first time since the outbreak of the Great War, the feast day of St. George.

It was only fitting that after six long years, years marked by the passing of many of its members in the great struggle for humanity and the mechanized, that last night's banquet should have been attended in such large numbers by those who still survive.

On entering the dinner room the company was struck by the manner in which the Society's colors had been made to blend with the table decorations of red and white slip and carnations. The good impression made by the decorations was but a fitting preparation to the sumptuous repast which was served.

After due justice had been done the presiding man, the Society were called upon by the president to respond to the toast "The King" which was responded to with the National Anthem. The following fraternal messages were then read from sister societies of other centres by James J. Thomas, secretary:

"Fraternal greetings with best wishes for our fraternal friends from the St. George's Society of Ottawa."

"To the president and members of St. George's Society, St. John, N. B., greetings from the officers and members of St. George's Society, Hamilton."

"Fraternal greetings from St. George's Society, London, Canada."

"Greetings loyal and fraternal from the brotherhood of Halifax. The old lion still protects the dragon's tail. Hurray for St. George and Merrie England, God Save the King."

From Quebec: "Englishmen in the old rock city send loyal greetings to their brothers in St. John. May we always honor the day."

From Montreal: "St. George's, Montreal, send hearty fraternal greetings with earnest hope all classes and creeds of Dominion will loyally cooperate to promote well being of Canada, based on British principles of justice. None for party but all for the state. God Save the King, St. George for Merrie England."

From Toronto: "St. George's Society of Toronto join hands with you and all true Englishmen the world over in honoring our patron saint. God Save the King."

From Winnipeg: "Kindly convey greetings from Royal Society, Saint George, Winnipeg. Englishmen have proven their faith in the heritage by more than the word of mouth."

From Vancouver: "The most western branch of the Empire greets you. Holding banquet, Lieutenant Governor guest of honor."

From New York: "The members of St. George's Society of New York send hearty greetings for St. George's Day. Let our watchword be 'United we stand.'"

From Hon. W. F. Roberts, Fredericton: "Recruit very much inability to present St. George's dinner tonight owing pressing duties of Legislature. St. George, London, England: 'Record dinner, chairman to Richard King, Celtic divinity and magnitude strengthening home rule for England. No hierarchy, Confound their politics, frustrate their knavish tricks.'"

The following despatches had been sent to the societies in Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Boston, New York, London, and Vancouver: "St. George's Society, St. John, dining in honor of the great patron saint of our island, England, and celebrating England's Day and our hundred and nineteenth anniversary reunion with a son and all brother Englishmen. God Save the King."

The following cablegram had been sent to the Royal Society of St. George, London, England: "Loyal greetings England's Day."

The toast of "His Excellency the Governor General" was proposed by the first vice-president, Charles Musters, and responded to by the singing of "O Canada."

The United States
"The President of the United States" was proposed by Vice-President Dr. Manning who said that all present knew what each had been through in dark days of the Spring of '17. Then it was after days of doubt and bitter heart beatings that the weight of the great republic to the south of us had been thrown into the struggle, and with the movement of added force of two million men, a mighty host was lifted from the hearts of all.

History will never forget them as responsible for lifting that load. In ascending to drink to the toast he asked the company to remember that kindly and courteous gentleman at the head of the United States Republic.

The United States Consul, Mr. Culer, in response to the toast said that he wished to congratulate St. George's Society on the restoration of their annual dinner after the lapse of six years caused by the world war. He conveyed in writing his appreciation to the society for the way in which they had responded to the toast "The President of the United States."

If the company would pardon the digression, he continued, he would like to speak of the interval since their last banquet. In the one common cause, the war, had progress been made, or had it been a case of the lowering of the standards of humanity? To judge from the surface events, the speaker said, advancement has not been made.

If the world would advance, justice and right must prevail through international co-operation. It would seem that in the war a great misfortune had overtaken the people, but looking deeper, the hand of He who controlled the Universe might be seen uniting on the field of Flanders, the sons of every race, of every color, and of every creed, in the one common cause, the good of humanity.

The nations must now choose between the selfishness of nationalism, the unselfishness of internationalism, if the peace of the world is to be conserved. The League of Nations must be endorsed by the peoples of every nation. The advancement of every nation was not to be judged by commercial progress but rather by international co-operation and charity. Service to all mankind was the watch word of the new era.

"Day We Celebrate"
The next toast, "The Day We Celebrate" was proposed by president, Judge Gimmner. Before proposing the toast the judge took occasion to thank the previous speaker for his admirable address.

He was happy, he said, to be able after six years to meet at the Society's board and celebrate one more of the glorious ideals and traditions of Anglo-sons.

He did not propose to make a long address, all present were aware of the noble ideals of the Society, which with the exception of the Great War they had never failed to celebrate at their annual dinners. He took great pleasure in introducing the orator of the evening.

Major, the Rev. Mr. Hooper, in responding to the toast, said he wished to call the attention of the Society to the banner representing St. George killing the dragon. All knew that St. George had been a soldier in the Valley of Sharon and that it was this valley famed for its roses that England owed her national flower. St. George had been a soldier, he lived a Christian and died a martyr.

It was many years after his death that the red cross of St. George on a field of white was adopted by the soldiers and sailors of "Little England." That symbol, the grandest in the world, it was the Society's duty to see that loyalty to England and England's throne was perpetuated in this fair Canada of ours.

It was not necessary to repeat what the Dominion owed England. Canada's part in the Great War was but a mark of her gratitude.

TROUBLED WITH ITCHY ECZEMA Said That American Buyers Are Picking up All "Spuds" in Sight.

Montreal, April 23.—"Are Americans buying Canadian potatoes in droves to buy up every potato that can be discovered? The assertion that they are doing so is made by local dealers who give this as the greatest reason for the high prices now being paid here by the housewives for the family supplies."

Here is the way a dealer sums up the situation:
"It is almost impossible to get potatoes anywhere in the provinces of Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island now. The Americans have sent swarms of buyers into the Dominion and there are four or five men bidding for every thing that is available. One United States buyer told us he had got five carloads at $5.75 per bag f.o.b. in Prince Edward Island; another claimed he had found eighty cars for Pittsburgh at the same rate. I tried to get two cars for Montreal in Prince Edward Island. After a long time I got them at $4.75 f.o.b. there for a bag of 50 lbs. It costs about 75 cents per bag to bring them to Montreal, making the cost here about $5.50. But the real reason why Montrealeers are paying such enormous prices now is that the supply has been swept clean of the crop by the Americans and so it has passed over the border."

Took a Chance.
"Why did that pretty young girl marry that rich old miser?"
"Because she would die for her, and she took the chance."

"A Mass of Sores
—No Sleep—
Unhappy Days"
writes Mrs. Orange Harvey of Danville, N.C.: "I was afflicted with a mass of sores on my face and neck. I tried all the best doctors but they did me no good. I got a bottle of D. D. D. and after using it a few days I was cured. I can't say enough for it. It is the best medicine I ever used."

City of St. John
"The City of St. John" was proposed by P. E. Hamlington. He said that he felt that the motto of the evening had been well named. No man with a drop of English blood in his veins could have listened to such an address as Major Hooper's and not been stirred. He took great pleasure in proposing "the loyal old City of St. John."

His Worship Mayor Hayes in responding said that he was not aware that he was to be called upon to respond to the toast but as he had always been in the front line of national co-operation and charity, Service to all mankind was the watch word of the new era.

The City of St. John continued was founded on the same principle as the Society of St. George, Loyalty to Church and Crown. If the citizens of the city today perpetuate the grand ideals of its early founders, they may look forward to the best desire, a greater and larger St. John.

Closing Address.
Following the final toast, the president of the Society, Justice Gimmner said he wished as president of the Society to express his gratification at the success of the evening. He congratulated the Society on having been able to meet after a long absence at such large numbers at the banquet board.

Black's Orchestra furnished the musical programme of the evening and vocal solos were sung by De Witt, Mrs. Lawrence Manning and Herbert Maye. The choir, singing and marching, sang a duet "Laudate Watch. D. Arnold Fox accompanied the vocalists.

No Surprise.
He was the little brother. Sister's young gentleman was waiting patiently in the drawing room, and Tommy opened fire with:
"Are you going to propose to my sister tonight?"
"Why, I—er—er—what do you mean?"
"Oh, nothing! Only if you were you ain't a-going to surprise her. As I'll be a-going to propose to her, she'll be a-going to propose to me."

Tuxis National Athletic Contest

Boys from Nine Churches Competed—Hampton Won Highest General Average—Malcolm of St. David's Individual Leader—The Names and Total Points.

The Tuxis National Athletic Contest for boys from fifteen to nineteen years of age was run off in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Thursday evening.

There were nine teams entered in the competition comprising eight squares from the local churches, and the square of the Hampton Methodist church. The numbers of entrants varied for each square. St. Andrew's having the largest number, fifteen while Central Baptist had but five.

As the meet was decided by the highest general average scored by each team, Hampton won with an average of 382 points. To have trusted the city teams speaks remarkably well for the suburbanites owing to the limited opportunities they had for training. With equipment equal to that of other teams they did little doubt but they would have been amongst the individual standing as well.

The events completed in included the 60 yard and 100 yard potato race, the standing high jump, the running high jump, and the shot put.

The leaders in the individual standing were: 1st, Malcolm, St. David's, 500 points; 2nd, Rockwell, St. Andrew's, 465 points; 3rd, Jones, Central, 469 points; 4th, Holden, Trinity, 457 points.

Malcolm of St. David's starred in most of the events, and in several scored near records. He led the shot put with 46 feet, went over the bar in the high jump at 6 feet 2 inches, with Wilson a close second at 5 feet 1 inch. What Is Behind the "Outlaw" Rail Strike?

Every phase of the great strike that has extended across the country during the past two weeks is covered in the leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for April 24th. In the opinion of the Jersey Journal (Jersey City) "the outlaw strike is trying either to put union labor out of business or to put the country out of business," and the Evening Post (Chicago) declares that it is "a test of organized labor's ability to control its own affairs. If unionism can not control its forces and can not prove its value as a respectable cooperating factor in the great task of doing the country's work and producing the country's wealth, the verdict will go against it." While Attorney-General Palmer affirms that the strike was the result of I. W. W. leadership, and of the working out of an international Communist program, Samuel Gompers, head of the American Federation of Labor, blames "men like Senator Cummins and Governor Allen, of Kansas, with their legislation to deny a man the right to quit work to enforce a legitimate claim or redress an injury" for the "wave of uncontrollable resentment" which found expression in this strike. The Evening Public Ledger (Philadelphia) declares that "the pressure that greed and stupid opportunism have put upon all wage-earners is almost intolerable. To be promised relief, yet to see the cost of necessities rising steadily about twice as fast as your wages, to see a day approaching when shoes and shelter may be matters of doubt, is to be ready material in the hands of blind agitators."

Read THE DIGEST this week if you would get the news of this great strike as drawn from all available sources.

"The Digest's" Poll of 11,000,000 Voters

The Most Impressive Indication of the People's Choice for the Presidency Ever Given Outside of a Presidential Election.

When it is recalled that the total vote cast in the last presidential election was about eighteen and one-half millions and that in the present poll THE DIGEST is taking, eleven million voters are being asked to name their choices for the presidency, it will be seen that the results of this poll will give a very accurate idea of the man that the American public want for president. The second week's returns are published in THE DIGEST for April 24th. Every section of the country is being canvassed by mail in this poll, and many thousands of votes are being received daily. From now on up to the presidential conventions in June the DIGEST will print a weekly tabulation of this monster vote and it is not much to say that it will be carefully and eagerly scanned by the public, and in all likelihood will have a considerable influence upon the selection of the candidates at the conventions of the two great parties.

All the World-News of the Week in "The Digest"

Besides the two feature articles, before mentioned this week's DIGEST is particularly interesting. There is a wide variety of news-articles covering International Politics, The War Situation in Europe, Science and Invention, Religion and Social Service, Literature, Drama, Music and Education, while the lighter side of life is reflected in the form of humorous cartoons and other illustrations.

JAY GOULD, RACQUETS CHAMPION, IS IN CLASS ALL BY HIMSELF

Has Held American Honors for Five Years and is Still Regarded as Peer of All Exponents—Has Defeated Best Amateurs Repeatedly and Best American "Pro" Also Failed to Vanquish Him.

Who is the greatest champion in the realm of sport? Which man shows the widest margin of superiority over his fellows in a given line of sport?

These questions were asked of a group comprising some of the most complete men in American sport, and representing a wide variety of branches of athletics for the first time five years ago. Again they were propounded a few weeks ago at the Racquet Club, during the progress of the match for the open court tennis championship of America.

Remarkable as it may seem, on both occasions the choice fell upon the same champion, and the reasons that led to the selection of the man five years ago now are applicable again with even greater reason.

The champion chosen as the most overwhelming figure was title holder in sport was Jay Gould, of the Racquet Club, and Lakewood, holder of the amateur court tennis championship of the world, of the open championship of America, and the last winner of the open championship of the world, the latter title having been relinquished by him on a technicality when he refused to defend his honor during the war.

In the group that made the original selection were such famous athletes and judges of sport as Harry Payne Whitney, horseman and leader of America's international polo forces; Foxhall Keene, one of America's greatest all-round athletes, a horseman, high-handicap polo player, shooter, football and baseball star, and motor race driver; George Peering of Boston, the greatest all-round athlete in the world, a man who held championships in court tennis and racquets, was a Harvard football and baseball star, a noisemaker, aeronaut, motor and sail boat expert and college jumper; James Potter of this city, former racquet and court tennis star, and college football and baseball star, and a host of other sportsmen.

All the time they gathered at Payne Whitney's home at Manhasset, L. I., where he was opening his wonderful new court tennis building, on an estate that contains a golf course and other athletic necessities, making it as complete as any club in America.

During the progress of the match between Gould and Walter Kinsola for the American open championship recently, virtually all the men who had named Gould five years ago, were among those who again pinned their faith in him as the greatest of all champions.

And here was the basis of their choice, their selection of a court tennis champion from among all of the champions in every line of athletics: Gould won the American amateur championship in 1916, at the age of 18 years. Since that time he never has lost his title, never has been beaten by either an amateur or professional in a scratch match, has added to his honors the British amateur championship, the open championship of America and the open championship of the world.

All of this means that Gould never has met his match among amateurs or professionals in this or any other country throughout his career. What other champion can boast such a career, and what other champion has lasted so long at the top of the profession, without signs of weakening?

Many other names were considered when the original list was made, and so also were many under consideration recently when the field of sportsmen was canvassed. But the verdict was virtually unanimous for Gould. Football players, tennis stars, golfers, boxers, baseball men and college all-around stars were included in the discussion, but it was not felt that in any case that the champion so clearly outshone his fellows either for a year or a period as does Gould.

Some Dog News For Kennel People

New Brunswick Dogs Going to Montreal Show—James Latimer Possessor of Large and Fine Litter.

The Ladies' Kennel Club of Montreal will donate two specials for dogs from the Province of New Brunswick—one cup for the best dog, any breed, and one for the best bitch, any breed; one medal for the second best dog, and one medal for second best bitch. The judge is Charles Hopkin, St. John's, one of the best all-around dog judges in the United States. It is understood that a total of ten dogs will attend this Dog Show from the Province of New Brunswick. In addition, the New Brunswick Kennel Club, at a recent meeting voted the sum of ten dollars for prize at this show. Full details will appear later, and as there is plenty of time for the St. John dog fanciers to get their dogs ready, a very strong number should go from here to compete with the Upper Canadians, as St. John excels in English Setters, Irish Setters, Cocker Spaniels, Fox Hounds, Pointers, Beagles and other breeds like Wire Fox Terriers and Irish Terriers, Collies and French Bull dogs.

Has Fine Litter.

James Latimer, of this city, is the proud possessor of an exceptionally large and well bred litter of English Setter puppies, presented to him a short time ago by his well known winning bitch Britannia's Pride, never yet beaten in the show ring. The sire of the litter is Dr. Gordon Sanctor's Racket, a dog that won first open and winners for the last three years in succession. The sire of Racket was Stoughton Ben, owned by James McGouey. This dog in his life time was never beaten by a setter. Ben's sire was the sensational young American dog (imported from England and never beaten) Malwyd Dick, and his sire was the great bitch Runney Racket's Lass, considered at one time to be the greatest English Setter bitch in America. Racket's sire was Charles Perkins' Molly, also a consistent winner. Considering the breeding of these puppies and the fact that both sire and dam are fine field dogs, as well as show specimens, Mr. Latimer has just reason to be proud of the litter.

Professional Ball Remains Dead Here

The proposition for professional baseball in St. John seems to be dead, according to reports made to the Commercial Club last evening. The Athletic Committee reported that the New England League had so far not held a meeting, and it was

NO CHANCE OF JACK JOHNSON GETTING BOUT WITH DEMPSEY

Los Angeles, Cal., April 19.—If Jack Johnson is returning to the United States for the express purpose of fighting Jack Dempsey in the heavyweight championship, he might as well remain in Mexico. These were the words of Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, when interviewed on this subject recently.

Johnson hasn't a chance in the world of getting a fight with the present champion, and if he is broke and coming home to make a clean-up to fight his case in the United States courts, he is going to be sadly disappointed as far as doing business with the champion.

He can have a fight, says Kearns, but it will be with Bill Tasa, colored sparring partner of Dempsey. There will be little or no demand by the supporters of boxing to see Johnson in action, and just what the Government intends doing with the former champion remains to be seen. He jumped his bail once and it may be possible that he will be unable to be released on bail.

Johnson is an old man, according to Kearns' way of thinking and would not be any match for his protegee. Johnson has had his day in boxing circles in the United States, and when he had his opportunity he did all he could to give the game a black eye. His conduct outside the squared circle met with disapproval everywhere and ultimately resulted in his jumping his bail and becoming a fugitive from justice.

Johnson will undoubtedly have his troubles in keeping out of Leavenworth, and if he does go there, when he gets out he will have no chance at all of getting a match, as the promoter who would try and feature him as a card would be severely censured by fans and critics all over the country.

Dempsey will be through making his pictures next month and after that Kearns said the champion is going to fight. Just who he will do the gloves with it is unknown at this time. In all probability he will take on a couple of soft ones until he feels himself cured and then he will gradually prepare himself for the Carpenter match.

Kearns stated today that the people wanted the Carpenter match, and that is the one they are looking forward to. He is going ahead and laying his plans accordingly, no matter where the fight is to be held.

The manager of Carpenter is too shrewd to match him with Fulton or other heavyweight in this country before the Dempsey bout. They are all going to get the big dough and this is the fight that will bring it.

Carpenter is slated to arrive here in a short time to appear in pictures. In talking with Kearns today he stated that the Pathe people, who are making Dempsey pictures, of which Dempsey himself has a half interest, bought a picture of the French champion over in France very cheap, and that they are going to release it in this country about the same time Dempsey's serial is released. If such is the case, the picture company that has signed up had better be careful, as their picture scheme might fall flat with another picture of Carpenter already on the market.

There is still considerable agitation against Dempsey in this country, but some clever manipulating some place has hushed Mrs. Dempsey. Kearns sent a representative to Nevada to see her, so the story goes, and Kearns has just returned from San Francisco, where the former wife of the champion is supposed to be. The result is that Mrs. Dempsey has denied all the stories she is credited with having given out.

There was a story circulated here that the Pathe picture people were seriously considering stopping the picture if things grew worse, and that is one of the reasons Kearns got busy and took steps to knock the rumors being circulated regarding Dempsey's war record.

Sentiment out in the country is with the champion. There are some who still think he is a slacker, but the majority of the people care little now that the war is over what his is. That was up to the draft board, they claim.

Weights Named For The Boxing Tourney

Entries are coming in for the Maritime Boxing Championships, which will be held at the Mayflower rink, Halifax, April 28 and 29, and there will probably be a record number of competitors in the tourney. W. P. Martin, secretary of the Mayflowers, who is receiving the entries announces that entries will be received for the following classes:

Bantamweight ... 108 lbs. and under Featherweight ... 125 lbs. and under Special ... 135 lbs. and under Welterweight ... 145 lbs. and under Middleweight ... 158 lbs. and under Light-heavyweight ... 175 lbs. and under Heavyweight ... 175 lbs. and over

Entries for all events will close on April 23, and those intending to take part in the championships should send in their entries as soon as possible.

Halifax boxers are losing no time in entering, and secretary Martin reports that he has received a large number of local entries.

The tourney will be conducted along lines that will be bound to meet with the approval of all competitors, and men who know the game will be in charge of the meet. Last year the trials and championships were run off in one night, which brought protests from outside boxers, but this year the preliminaries will be on the first night, and the finals the following night, which will give the boxers a chance to rest up.

To see that he went to war, and if he didn't then they should explain why he didn't.

The "bubbe" about the big fight being held at the Juma has "burst". That story looks like it was a nice story staged affair to get a good publicity story over for the gang at the Juma. It worked well, just before the big opening and now there is nothing more said about it.

Kearns said there wasn't a chance of Dempsey fighting there, Carpenter or anybody else.

doubtful if the league would operate this summer. This would mean that professional ball would remain dead for the season, so far as St. John is concerned.

However, the Commercial Club will offer a cup to be contested for by amateur base ball teams in the city. The reports showed that the city was at last to take steps to develop an athletic field on the Allison grounds and A. M. Belding again solicited the support of the Club for the improvement League which are doing something to encourage athletics.

Arrangements will be made for a trap shooting match with Halifax during the tournament here this summer, and the matter of a baseball next winter is under consideration.

ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1920.

THE MINISTER OF PUBLIC HEALTH.

The announcement that Hon. Dr. Roberts, the Minister of Public Health, is in future to receive the same salary as other Ministers, was not unexpected, as it had been removed for some little time that legislation to provide for this would be put before the House this session. Dr. Roberts is the head of a recognized Department, and if there is any real need for the Health Department to be a separate and distinct Department, there is no reason why the Minister of Health should not receive the same treatment as other Ministers.

The meeting of the office of Minister of Health a salaried position will cause Dr. Roberts to vacate his seat and seek re-election. There are more unlikely things than that the bright idea may occur to the Government that they can make a deal under which the vacant seat in Carleton will be left to the Opposition unopposed in return for allowing Dr. Roberts to retain his seat. It would be a great scheme, but to use a common expression, there will be "nothing doing." Had the vacancy in Carleton been a recent happening, some such arrangement might perhaps have been vouchered, but to suggest it at this time of day would only be adding insult to the injury Carleton has suffered under for four sessions. Not that this would count for anything with the Foster Government, though.

THE FUTURE OF THE PULP INDUSTRY.

While there will inevitably be a large development of the pulp and paper industry in the Rocky Mountain states and a great increase of existing developments in the Pacific Northwest, including particularly Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia, pulpwood supplies in Eastern Canada and the Eastern states will always have the material advantage of higher value owing to proximity to the great centres of population, with consequent saving in freight rates upon the manufactured products. "Conservation" points out.

Authorities in Canada are already alarmed at the increasing difficulty of securing, in the eastern provinces, adequate supplies of pulpwood. Already in too many cases, pulpwood placed in the water for driving does not reach the mill until the second year after cutting. This adds to the cost of transportation and to loss by shrinkage en route, and is inevitably reflected in higher prices to the consumer.

Great areas of the most accessible pulpwood lands have been so denuded by wasteful methods of logging and by fire, that they are now in an absolute or relative condition of unproductiveness. This is exactly the reason why the pulpwood supplies of the eastern states are so near exhaustion that they are largely dependent upon imports from privately owned timber lands in Canada. This heavy exportation from private lands in Canada of course correspondingly decreases the supplies that would otherwise be available for manufacture in Canadian mills.

It is obviously of the greatest importance to Eastern Canada that its great pulp and paper industries shall be permanent, rather than transitory, as is proving to be the case in the eastern states. To accomplish this end, however, it is necessary to make fully effective the view point that the forest is a crop, which, can, with proper care, be produced time after time upon the same land. This means the practice of forestry.

OLEOMARGARINE.

That useful alien, Ole O. Margarine, admitted to Canada to help win the war, is to be further allowed on a temporary basis until March, 1921, provided Hon. S. F. Tolmie's resolution in the House of Commons succeeds. Canada is said to have been the last country in the world to remove the regulations against the manufacture, importation and sale of this commodity. Yet the present consumption in the Dominion has been estimated at a million pounds monthly. The chief, if not the only, opposition to its presence on the Canadian market comes from the dairy interests, though it will be noted that the resolution to extend the legal life of the traffic comes from the Minister of Agriculture.

It is not to be supposed that the estimated monthly consumption of oleo takes the place of a million pounds of butter. Briefly, there isn't enough fat in it. Nevertheless, it has achieved a wide kitchen popularity. The best of it can be purchased for 20 to 25 cents a pound less than even dairy butter, and some people think it a fair substitute for the real thing, on a substitute go. Furthermore, it was good enough for Canadian troops in France during the war years, and in England as well.

While impartiality has been allowed in a war measure, the interesting part of it is that sales have held up in volume since the war. The product has to conform to a Government standard, and is made under Government supervision, which is more than can be said of dairy butter. As a matter of fact, of course, there is no comparison between oleomargarine and even fairly good Canadian butter, as to taste, cooking value or the more important matter of nutrition. But if the article is here to stay, why the temporary extension of Parliamentary approval? Only two Canadian packing firms made oleomargarine, on account of the uncertainty as to its future. The remainder of the amount consumed comes from the United States. If we must have the stuff, why not make it all at home?

THE JOYS OF PROHIBITION.

Americans, deprived of liquor, have taken to eating quantities of sweets. There is a sound physiological reason for this. The body, deprived of its customary drug, whether it be alcohol or tobacco, craves for a substitute and is afflicted by malaise till it secures one. But this little truth has also its social and commercial side. Unquestionably much of the money which normally is spent on liquor would under prohibition be devoted to other commodities, and, by inference, those who have other commodities to sell might reasonably hope to benefit by prohibition or by a system of local option. As soon as the fact is thoroughly grasped in England there will be a great accession to the ranks of those who advocate either of those systems, says the Manchester Guardian, which explains, "It has already been found in this country, when a plebiscite was held on the estates of a private trust to discover whether the tenants did or did not desire the admission of liquor licenses, that the small tradesman was sufficiently wide-awake to be a local prohibitionist, and it will be astonishing if a similar phenomenon does not play an important part in the Scottish local option pollings that are to take place later in this year. Meanwhile those fortunate enough to be deprived of alcohol may be envied their discovery of sweets. Like St. Augustine and Tolstoy, who enjoyed the pleasures successively of sin and holiness, they have the best of both worlds. The poor teetotaler, alas! has nothing better to look forward to than the cloying satisfaction of eating more sweets and yet more, which, physiologically, may not be good for him.

A BIT OF VERSE.

THE SHIPS OF GREY ST. JOHN. (Bliss Carman.) Smile, you inland hills and rivers; Flush, you mountains, in the dawn; But my loving heart follows With the ships of grey St. John. Fair the land lies, full of August. Meads, the dew, the shining bar, Open bars and breezy twilight, Peace and the mild evening star. Gently now this gentlest country The old habitude takes on; But my wintry heart is outbound With the great ships of St. John. Once in your wide arms you held me Till the man-child was a man, Canada, great nurse and mother Of the young sea-roving clan. Always your bright face above me Through the dreams of boyhood shone; Now far alien countries call me With the ships of grey St. John. Swing you tides, up out of Fundy; Blow, you white fogs, in from sea, I was born to be your fellow sailor, You were bred to pilot me. At the touch of your strong fingers Doubt, the dew, the shining bar, Sane and glad I cheer the headland, With the white ships of St. John. Loyalties, my fathers, builded This grey port of the grey sea, When the duty to ideals Could not let well-being be. When the breath of scarlet hunting Puts the wreath of maple on, I march to the drum, my comrades With the ships of grey St. John. Peerlesshearted port of heroes, Be a word to lift the world, Till the few once more unfurled, Of the sea once more unfurled. Past the night-house, past the mumbury, Past the crimson rising sun, There are dreams go down the harbor With the tall ships of St. John. In the morning I am with them As they clear the Island bar— Fate till speak by speak the midday Has forgotten where they are. But I sight a vaster sea-line, Wider leeway, longer run, Whose discoverers return not With the ships of grey St. John.

Quick Sale of Floor Covering at Everett's

Means a Saving of Nearly 25 p. c.

Freight congestion and slow movement of orders from the manufacturing centres have created a situation extremely favorable to the people of St. John at this time.

We mean as regards floor covering sold in this store.

On top of an already overstocked warehouse comes an extra large order of floor covering and, frankly, we haven't the space to accommodate.

So we are going to offer certain patterns at a reduction to help the abnormal condition—and we know it will help.

The material affected is SANOLIN, guaranteed to wear equal to any cork linoleum but with many advantages over the old fashioned canvas backed linoleum.

For instance, it will lie flat on the floor without tacking—no curling up at the edges, and it is absolutely waterproof.

This latter feature will at once suggest the fact that Sanolin will not rot at the edges or fray out despite the amount of scrubbing.

Sanolin ordinarily sells at $1.50 per yard and would here, now, except for the absolute lack of space, and this last situation causes us to offer it at $1.15 a square yard, cut only in two-yard widths.

Coming at this time of year when floor covering is in so much demand the price will mean a big saving—hence a quick purchase will be in order to secure your share.

OBITUARY.

John McKenzie,
Sherbrooke, N. B., April 22.—John McKenzie, one of the oldest citizens of Kings County—in fact, in the province—died on Wednesday afternoon, the 22nd, at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. James Feeney, Peter street. The deceased was born at Salt Springs, K. C., in May 1819, and had he lived until next month would have reached the very advanced age of 101.

years. He was a well known stone mason and worked at that trade until about 25 years ago.

Mr. McKenzie is survived by three sons, James in New Jersey, Fred in Providence, R. I., William in Springfield, Mass.; and daughters, Mrs. Lydia O'Dell, St. John, Mrs. Weyman, Philadelphia, Mrs. Wm. Smith, Boston, Mass., Mrs. Jas. P. Feeney, Sussex, and Miss Georgie McKenzie, Philadelphia.

The deceased retained all his faculties to the day of his death. He could read without spectacles and had a very retentive memory. He was an enthusiastic member of the Orange order, and in politics an ardent Conservative.

James McNeil.

Edwin H. McNeil received sad news yesterday morning, the sudden death of his brother, James McNeil in Montreal. He was formerly with T. Rankine & Sons for some years. He was sixty-five years of age, and is survived by his wife, two sisters and one brother, Edwin H. McNeil of this city. The late W. G. McNeil, jeweler, of German street, was a brother. Mr. McNeil has many friends here who will regret to learn of his death.

WEDDINGS.

Flewelling-Osborne.
St. Martins, N. B., April 22.—On Wednesday last, Holy Trinity Church, St. Martins, was the scene of a very pleasant ceremony, when Harold Stanley Flewelling of River Glade, and Annie Irene Osborne, of St. Martins, were united in marriage by the Rev. F. J. Hervey. Although the ceremony took place at the unusual early hour of 7:30 a. m., a large number of people were present.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Ernest Osborne, and was accompanied by her sister, Miss Belle Osborne, while the bridegroom was supported by Mr. Errol Miller. The wedding march was played by the organist.

The newly married couple left immediately after the ceremony for St. John, on their way to Boston, where the honeymoon will be spent. Both the bride and bridegroom are very well known here. Miss Osborne has for many years been an enthusiastic worker in the church, and the bridegroom only a few months ago returned from overseas, where he served for nearly three years. On their return they will settle in St. Martins. The bride received many handsome presents from her relatives and numerous friends.

Mawhinney-Bain.

A wedding of much interest to relatives and friends of the contracting parties was solemnized on Thursday evening, April 22nd, at the residence of the groom's brother, H. J. Mawhinney, 224 Harding street, Fairville, N. B., when Percy Earl Mawhinney was united in marriage to Miss Mary White Bain, of Edinburgh, Scotland. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion with hanging cut flowers, etc. Rev. A. S. Bishop officiated at the ceremony, and at the conclusion R. J. Mawhinney sang "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," after which a tastefully arranged supper was served. The bride looked superb in a gown of white silk chasuble, and carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink sweet peas. She was escorted by H. J. Mawhinney.

The groom served four years in the Government service. His bride, who was a passenger on the last trip of the S. S. Metagama, was employed on the office staff of the firm of Traill & Fletcher, of Edinburgh, from whom she received a beautiful remembrance in silver.

Many other useful and handsome gifts of silver, cut glass, etc., were received, testifying to the popularity of the bride in her own home, as well as here, where she has made many friends. The groom's gift to the bride was an amethyst brooch.

After a short visit to the groom's parents at Chance Harbor, Mr. and Mrs. Mawhinney will reside for the present at 224 Harding street, Fairville.

Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

TELLS SAFE, SIMPLE WAY TO TREAT AND RELIEVE AT HOME.

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises, caused by catarrh, of it glem drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Farnist (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 14 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell, taste, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which suggest the presence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this treatment. It is most. It is said that nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and this must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

Court Finding Given Yesterday

Court Finds Captain of Steamer and Pilot on Howard D. Troop Were in Error and Cautioned Both.

The court finding of the loss of the pilot boat Howard D. Troop was given yesterday afternoon as follows: After the court having reviewed the evidence adduced the court found that the steamer "Canadian Voyager" was for the moment, after the pilot boarding, unable to proceed under the orders from the bridge owing to the engines being choked, and not responding as quickly as the occasion demanded, and when, after about five minutes delay, she was prepared, the ships had come together, the pilot vessel plying alongside near the quarter, and those on board the schooner requested that the engines be not moved, apparently for fear of fouling the steamer's propeller.

The court is of opinion that the master should not have left his bridge without a competent officer in charge. He ignored his speaking tube at a time when it was of vital importance that he should remain on the bridge and make signals to the pilot boat that his vessel was temporarily out of control.

The court is further of opinion that those in charge of the pilot vessel "Howard D. Troop" did not make sufficient allowance for the lee drift of the steamer, taking into consideration the conditions of the wind, trim of the steamer and schooner's position when she lay to according to the ordinary practice of seamen.

The court finds that Captain McKelvey adopted a wrong manoeuvre in putting his auxiliary engine full speed ahead instead of astern, away from danger, at a critical time; also that the man who attends the engine of the schooner was away on the small boat, and that Captain McKelvey did leave the wheel to operate the engine of the schooner almost at this time.

The court is of opinion that everything was done in the engine room of the steamer that the occasion required and that the evidence of the chief engineer, W. G. Beaver, was given in a clear, straightforward manner.

The court finds that both Captain J. D. MacKenzie, of the steamer "Canadian Voyager" and Captain Fenwick McKelvey of the St. John pilot schooner "Howard D. Troop," committed similar errors, namely, in leaving their decks when their duties were to overcome the accident.

The court further finds that for the above mentioned reasons both parties contributed to the collision.

The court cautions both Captain MacKenzie and Captain McKelvey with respect to leaving their bridges, even temporarily, without a competent person in charge.

Read in open court at St. John, N. B., this 23rd day of April, 1920.

Commissioner.

ENDORSES MADE IN CANADA MOVEMENT

Writing in the Made in Canada number of "The New Democracy," Mr. H. J. Halford, Vice-President of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, says: "The recent decline in the value of the Canadian dollar has brought home to most of us the urgent need for protecting home industry, of developing our own resources, and of developing our own manufacturing processes to a point where Canada will be in a future to a larger extent, self-supporting than she has been in the past." Provided that they are not used as a pretext for uncharitable attacks on the goods of other countries with notable success.

Mr. Halford continues: "No patriotic citizen of this Dominion can find fault with the various campaigns which are being conducted for the purpose of inducing the rank and file of the Canadian people to purchase the products of Canadian mills. Similar campaigns have been conducted in other countries with notable success."

ST. STEPHEN WILL BE IN THE SWIM

That St. Stephen will not be left out of the sheep market, being promoted by Col. Morison is broadly hinted by the St. Croix Courier, which says: "With his ear always to the ground in the interests of St. Stephen, the editor of the Courier ventures the assertion that 'the little old town' will not be entirely outside this big merger when it is consummated. Pledges to secrecy prohibit any further reference just at present. And 'prohibition' always counts with an editor."

MOVING DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Man Who Refused to Pay Increased Rent Has Had His Troubles—Has Secured Another House But Holds the Key.

A week from today, and moving on a Saturday! To the majority of those fortunate beings who are privileged to take up new and cheery quarters on the 1st of May, the thought does not conjure up such happy thoughts as one might think, but for the dark outlook of one individual at least, some allowance may be made.

He had his eyes out for something better than early, very early in the season, and he located just what he wanted. It was already occupied and the landlord had warned the occupant that the rent was going up. The tenant thought the amount asked exorbitant, and tried to call the bluff—he refused to pay. Thereupon the landlord's offer was accepted, and renewing the lease for another year. But, oh, horrors! the early bird had the lease.

Naturally the tenant felt somewhat aggrieved. He has managed to get new quarters of a sort, and moves in next week, but revenge is sweet. He absolutely refuses to allow the early bird the key to the house until the 1st of May at twelve noon, and that is on a Saturday. How in the dark outlook of friend early bird.

POLICE COURT CASES YESTERDAY

Three Separate Charges Made Against Thomas Young—Two Men Charged With Fighting Were Given Their Liberty.

Three separate charges were preferred against Thomas Young in the police court yesterday morning. He was charged with assaulting Alfred Surette, with threatening to cut the throat of Pearl Cummings, and with using abusive language to Ernest Doucet.

The defendant denied the charges made by the complainants, who stated that they were together on Erin Street at 8:30 Thursday evening, the accused in passing spoke to the girl who did not answer thereupon he caught her by the arm, and wanted to fight her companions. The defendant claimed that the complainants blocked his way and would not let him pass. The story they told, he averred, was a put-up job.

John V. Lynch and Joseph Fitzgerald charged with fighting on Healey Wharf were allowed their liberty. John Coyle and John Flynn charged with being members of a disorderly gang in Main street were fined $3 each or two months in jail.

Commercial Club Regular Meeting

Many Matters of Great Interest Were Discussed at Session Held Last Evening—Reports on Railway and Steamship Matters.

The unsatisfactory passenger service of the C. N. R. out of St. John, trade with the West Indies, and the effects of the disagreement between the D. A. R. and the Halifax and Southwestern upon St. John's trade with the South Shore of Nova Scotia were among the matters dealt with at the meeting of the Commercial Club last evening with C. H. Peters Vice-President in the chair.

Mr. McLellan reported a committee of the Club had interviewed Mr. McLusca in regard to the unsatisfactory C. N. R. passenger services. St. John had no direct connection with the Ocean Liners, the most important trade in the city, and no Sunday train to Moncton, although the Ocean Limited ran every day. The train from Springfield, N. S. did not make connections with the Moncton to St. John train, so that business men from that part of Nova Scotia could not get to St. John in one day to do business.

Another matter they had complained of was the unsatisfactory sleeping car service between St. John and Campbellton. Nearly all the berths were occupied by through passengers and business men bound for Campbellton and points on the North Shore usually had to set up till 3.30 a.m. This was an important matter, because Campbellton was the change point for travel on the Gaspe Coast, with which St. John did a great deal of business. It could be remedied.

One motion of A. M. Belding it was resolved to put a notice in the paper urging everybody to vote at the elections on Monday.

J. N. Forbes resigned because he is moving to Winnipeg, and W. H. Shaw, Austin Hill, Frank White and A. P. Ryan were elected to membership.

Secretary McLellan reported that efforts were being made by the C. P. R. to secure a boat to take the place of the Empress when she lays up for repairs. Granville No. 4 was not obtainable, having been sold to a Labrador expedition, but the C. P. R. would probably put on the Northumberland if they could get her. The Empress would be off 7 or 10 days. The Club was keeping in touch with developments, and Mr. Elkin was sending telegrams about the matter.

Mr. McLellan read the report of the Executive. It said that Thomas Nagle thought the Canada Steamship Lines would not be able to accomplish anything this year regarding the project for a steamship and hotel service on the St. John River. R. H. Bruce resigned the chairmanship of the Publicity Committee, and W. H. Golding was elected to his place. A. P. Patterson resigned the chairmanship of the Board of Trade and appointed a sub-committee. Mr. Allison said the St. John merchants would be affected by the abolition of the freight agreement between the D. A. R. and the Halifax and Southwestern Ry. Merchants do business with the South Shore of Nova Scotia would have to ship via Halifax or pay two freight bills if they shipped by Digby.

Chairman Peters said there was to be a meeting of business men to consider this matter, and the Commercial Club would be represented.

Garrison Sergeants Entertained Friends

Enjoyable Smoking Concert in the Mess Last Evening—S.S. Metagama Troupe Took Part in Programme.

The Garrison Sergeants entertained their friends at a very enjoyable smoking concert in the "Mess" at the Armories last evening. Several local artists, as well as "Uncle" Charlie Olden and company from the Metagama, took part in the varied and pleasing programme. The different numbers were heartily applauded and were accurate were necessary for practically every one. During the interval while the "smokes" were being passed around, a collection was taken up for Major Hooper's Fund for comrades still in hospital, and the sum of $16.10 was realized. During the past fortnight $13.60 was collected from voluntary subscriptions in the mess, making a total of $30.20 collected since this worthy project was inaugurated five weeks ago. Already $40.50 has been forwarded to Major Hooper.

At 8.30 Elliott acted as chairman last evening, and before opening the programme he remarked on the fitness of the day for a celebration and an expression of good cheer. First of all, it was St. George's Day, patron saint of England, inspiration of many a deed of valor; April 23rd was associated with the glorious history of the Canadian army, as it was the day on which the second battle of Ypres culminated, and, lastly, on this day two years ago the British navy performed one of the most glorious deeds in history; the raid on Zeebrugge.

The programme was as follows: Part I. Pianoforte overture—K. A. Jones. Pianoforte and saxophone duet—Messrs. Jones, Jr. and Sr. Song, The Coaster—J. Hodgson. Song, humorous—Sgt. G. Seagrott. Song, selection—Messrs. Gregory, Song, The Admiral's Broom—Q.M.S. Simons. Song, humorous—A. Dean. Banjo duet—Messrs. Collins and Allen. Musical quartette—Messrs. Semple, Bridgdon, Ferguson and Jones. Song, entertainment—Uglio Charlie Olden. Song, selected—T. P. Cartney. Back and wing dance—B. Alward. Song, selection—Messrs. Simon. Banjo solo—J. Collins. Song, humorous—A. Dean. Society entertainment—Uncle Charlie Olden. God Save the King.

Provincial Gov't And Harbor Question

Member of Commercial Club Thinks it Should be Represented on Delegation to Ottawa, Urging Development of Winter Port.

At the meeting of the Commercial Club last evening W. R. Brown called attention to the action of the Hon. Dr. Robertson and Mr. Potts in moving a resolution to have the Legislature send a delegation to Ottawa to urge prompt measures for the development of the facilities of the Winter Port. Mr. Brown's motion was carried and he brought the matter of harbor development to a head, and should be represented on any delegation going to Ottawa to discuss the question with the Federal Ministers. He thought an executive should see that a delegation from the Club assisted the delegation from the House.

T. E. Simpson said he could not understand why the Provincial Government should take up the harbor question. A number of returns have been delayed owing to some of the regular subscribers being out of town, and others giving further consideration to the matter. River Wharves Not Taken Over Reported Last Night at Commercial Club Meeting That Gov't Had No Money to Spare for the Work.

In spite of Hon. Mr. Veniot's efforts the Federal Government have not taken over the wharves on the St. John River and have no present intention of doing so, according to statements made at the meeting of the Commercial Club last evening.

"What about the River Wharves?" asked R. D. Patterson of Mr. Veniot recently, and he made the positive statement that the wharves had been disposed of.

Mr. McLellan said they had received a letter from Mr. Elkin who said the Minister of Public Works had told him that the reason the Federal Government was not taking over the wharves was that their repairs would involve heavy expenses, and at present the authorities had no money to spare. Mr. McLellan added that he had seen the local official who told him some time ago that the Federal authorities would take over the wharves, and now the official said he was afraid they would not do so.

HOW THE GARY. Course, Vee gives me all the credit. Perfectly right, too. That's the way we have our train. But, as a matter of fact, it was the little lady herself who pushed the starter button in this affair with the Garveys. If she hadn't I don't see where it would ever have got going.

"Let's see, it must have been early in November. Anyway, it was some mousy afternoon, with a young snow flurry that had finally concluded to turn to rain, and as I drop off the 11:15 I was glad enough to see the little rascals backed up with the other cars and Vee waiting inside behind the side door.

"Good work!" says I, glancing down the platform where a large and elegant lady is pacing up and down incessantly. "Looks like somebody has got left." At which Vee takes a peep. "I believe it's that Mrs. Garvey," says she. "Oh," says I, sliding behind the wheel and throwing it into the gear. "On the rumba!" says I. "Let's ask if we can't take her home?" "We can leave the lamp until tomorrow," says Vee. "Come on."

"So I cut a short circle and pull up opposite this important party in the big but and the ruffled milk coat. She lets on not to notice until Vee leans out and asks: "Mrs. Garvey, isn't it?" "All the reply she gives is a stiff nod and I notice her face is pinked up like she was peevish at something. "If your car isn't here can't we take you home?" asks Vee. "She acts sort of stunned for a second, and then, after another look up the road through the sheets of rain she steps up beatifically. "I suppose my stupid chauffeur forgot I'd gone to town," says she. "And as all the taxis have been taken I— But you haven't room."

"Oh, lots!" says Vee. "We'll leave this ridiculous package in the express office and squeeze up a bit. You simply can't walk, you know." "Well," says she. "So I tug the lamp back and the sheet of us wedges ourselves into the rear seat. Believe me, with a party of the third part, it was a tight fit. From the way Vee looks at me, you'd think it was some merry lark we was indulging in."

"This is what I call a gipsy car," says she, "for we can't get out but one other person at a time. But it's heaps better than having no car at all. And it's so fortunate we happened to see you."

"Being more or less busy trying to shift gears without hindering Mrs. Garvey's knees, and tampering without accident into the gears, I didn't notice for a while that Vee was conducting a perfectly good monologue. That's what it was, though. Hardly a word out of our ears. She says: "She's as stiff as she was created, starchy cold and stony straight ahead, and the peevish look on her face, on her cheekbones. Why, you'd think we had her under arrest instead of don't her a favor. And when I finally pull her into the Garvey driveway and pulls up under the good coochers, she untangles herself from the brake lever and crawls out."

"Thank you," says she, crisp, adjusted her clothes and then she says that I am obliged to depend on—on stewagers." And while Vee still has her mouth open, sort of gasping from the slam, the lady has marched up the steps and disappeared. "Now, I guess you know where you got off, eh, Vee?" says I cheekily. "You will miss up your new neighbors, won't you?" But then— "How absurd of her!" says Vee. "Why, I never dreamed that I had offended her by not calling."

Loggieville

Loggieville, N. B., April 19—The clouds have been consigning their treasures to the fields. One writer has said that every drop of rain that falls bears into the bosom of the earth a quantity of beautiful fertility. If this is the case there will be exceptional richness in the soil this year. The snow has gone, only here and there, where it has been protected from the sun and rain, can patches of it be seen. The sidewalks are bare. The roads are extremely muddy, which condition is due to the continuous rains of the past ten days.

On Thursday evening of last week the citizens of the town were given the privilege of a rare treat, when Mr. Walter McRaye, a returned soldier, and one of Canada's eminent orators, conducted an entertainment in the Temperance Hall. The affair was under the auspices of Knox Church choir. The stage was tastefully arranged as a cosy room and with its draperies and potted plants looked neat and pretty. The audience was a large and appreciative one. The speaker had all the fire of a born orator. His address on "Ideals of the Empire" was one of the best. His half hour on Drummond's selections was exceptionally good. At the close of the entire treatment lunch was served. The proceeds of the evening's doings were in the vicinity of $72.

New York, April 23.—Judge Kapper of the Supreme Court here has decided that to assault the mother of one's wife does not constitute legal ground for separation. Mrs. Abraham Horowitz brought suit for separation and alimony against her husband. Her counsel told the court that Horowitz had assaulted his mother-in-law "that is not ground for the wife to obtain separation," the Judge ruled.

Each member of the cast took their part well, and the Shakespearean lines were for the most part rendered with ease and clear enunciation. It is difficult to particularize, for as previously stated, every member gave a good interpretation of the character represented. The general gambol and frolic of Buck, the mischievous sprite that loved to play pranks, were the source of much merriment and mirth, the reverse, caused considerable amusement. These, the Duke of Athens, with his Queen, Hippolyta, were stately and dignified and took their part well. The scenes portraying the confusion and cross purposes of the lovers—Hermia and Lysander, Helen and Demetrius—were very interesting and at times amusing. When the cross purposes ceased, a charming love scene was presented.

The word scenes were particularly effective, the dancing of the fairies presenting a very pretty sight. The caprices of the King and Queen of the fairies were very amusing, especially the scene where Titania, under the influence of the juice sprinkled upon her eyelids, dozes upon Bottom, the weaver, who is wearing the head of an ass, placed upon him by mischievous Puck whilst asleep.

The delightful music, which was accompanied by the Ladies' College Orchestra, added much to the effectiveness of the affair.

A Very Sleepy Story

It was all Puck's fault.

Puck, you know, is page to Titania, the Fairy Queen, and he is always in mischief.

One summer evening, as the fairies were resting after a dance in the park, Titania suddenly said:

"What a splendid idea!" said all the fairies at once, and the youngest one clapped her hands and danced for joy.

The fairies wrote the invitations on daisy petals, and Puck was sent to take them to the Brownies in the wood on the hillside.

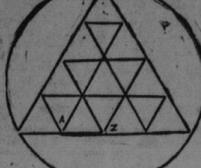

The Brownies said they would be delighted to come. They were not often asked to a party, so they felt very much excited.

Red Cross Takes Up Peace Time Work

Meeting of N. B. Division Held Yesterday Afternoon

Dr. Farris Asks for Help for Tubercular Patients of No Man's Land—Committees Appointed.

An address by Dr. H. L. Farris and reports of the committees appointed in connection with the organization of the Peace Time programme were important matters considered at a meeting of the executive of the N. B. Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society at the first Cross Depot, Chipman Place.

There were present Major Hayes, who presided, Mrs. John McAvity, Mrs. H. Lawrence, Miss Ryan, of Moncton, Mrs. G. A. Kuhring, Mrs. E. T. Sturdee, Miss Ethel Hazen Jarvis, Colonel Murray MacLaren, H. A. Powell, C. B. Allan.

Dr. Farris brought before the Red Cross a suggestion that the Society should care for patients who have no settled place of residence and who apply for admission to East St. John County Hospital. He stated that a patient's county is responsible for their maintenance at the Hospital but that in the past it had been necessary to refuse admission to several patients because they had not been residents for two years and so no county or municipality could be made responsible for them. He cited cases where Patriotic organizations had come to the rescue and paid the cost of such patients but felt that it would come within the scope of the Peace-time policy of the Red Cross in their health work to look after these homeless people.

There would not be more than an average of two a year at a cost of $1,000 each. Dr. Farris said that the utmost care would be taken to see that the interest of the Red Cross was safeguarded and every particular of the cases given before assistance would be asked. Dr. Farris told a sad story of a girl who was at the Hospital and was taken back to her own county to be boarded out at $3 a week because the county did not wish to stand the expense of the Hospital treatment.

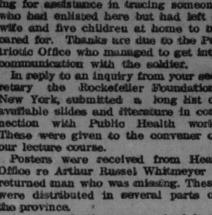

H. A. Powell stated that the whole Diner Settlement Law should be changed to deal with such situations. Dr. Farris also outlined a scheme for a home for chronic cases who were not in need of hospital treatment but still were not fit to work. Sick patients could be sent to East St. John, recover, go home and work, get a relapse and return to the institution. If they could be cared for in a home it would solve many difficulties.

After some discussion a motion was passed moved by Dr. MacLaren, seconded by C. B. Allan that such cases be referred, with all particulars, to the Red Cross for consideration. H. A. Powell was asked to get further information regarding the matter.

Miss Jarvis read her report for the month as follows: In all the larger centres the Branches are very much alive and carrying on the Peace Policy. In a letter received from Newcastle they told of caring for the children of a family whose mother had to go to the Miramichi Hospital, from Woodstock comes word that they are at work for the Russian Red Cross Refugees. BRITISH ARE ADVISED TO TRADE IMPERIALLY

Former Premier of South Australia Advises Empire Trading.

London, April 23.—The Hon. J. C. Jenkins, former Premier of South Australia, in a lecture at the Caxton Hall at a meeting of the National party on "International Trade and Commerce," dealt with what he designated as Britain's three principal competitors: the United States, Germany and Japan. Before the war, he said, Germany was the most active and clever trading nation in the world. German manufacturing industries had been united in one body called the German Industrial Council, whose plan was to bring about close co-operation with different organizations in the recovery of the German lost foreign trade. They must not labor under any delusion about Germany now being active, or heed their whining about starvation and poverty. The larger manufacturing interests in America, he said, were specially instructing men in relation to foreign trade. American banks were extending their operations, and colleges and universities were forming foreign commercial classes.

Japan, for many years, had recognized the necessity for increasing her foreign trade, and she had done so by the development of her banks and shipping, and generally interesting herself in foreign trade. For the advancement of British trade, he advocated trading imperially, and said the Empire had, in the colonies, all the raw material necessary for the country's manufacturing purposes.

Likes Sing Sing. New York, April 23.—Andrew Wasser received the usual proceedings the other day when he broke into Sing Sing penitentiary. He had escaped from the insane Asylum in Poughkeepsie. "I like this place better," he told the Sing Sing guards who found him.

One Thankful Smith. A public gathering in a country town was interrupted by the entrance of one who made his way to the platform and whispered excitedly to the chairman.

"Is Mr. Smith in the audience?" broke forth the presiding officer. "I am informed that his house is afire." Forty gentlemen sprang to their feet.

"It is the house of Mr. John Smith," added the chairman.

"Thank God!" fervently exclaimed one man, resuming his seat.—Everybody's Magazine.

CLOSING OF THE MID-WEEK MEETINGS

Philathea Class of German Street Baptist Church Held Banquet Last Evening—About Seventy Members Present.

The closing of mid-week meetings of the Philathea Class of the German Street Baptist Church took place last evening the affair taking the form of a banquet held in the banquet hall of the Church at which about seventy members were present. The supper was the outcome of an attendance contest the losing side entertaining the winners. Miss Wm. Fred Dunbrook, leader of the winning side presided. Miss Mabel Lewis is President of the Class. An interesting contest was held during the evening which consisted of a description of an aerial trip, clever accounts of the journey being given by different members in rhyme. Among the guests were three lady missionaries, Miss August, Miss McMillan, and Miss York who are on their way to Africa. They have been studying in Boston and are going to Africa under the auspices of the American Baptist Women's Missionary Union. They are to sail from St. John shortly. These young ladies spoke on Missions and gave their reasons for taking up work among the heathen in the Dark Continent. The Philathea Class will continue to meet on Sundays, but last night's affair marks the close of instructive and amusing programs having been held and funds having been raised for Missions and Church purposes.

Little Breezy

Little Breezy Eason, four years old and veteran cinema actor, was engaged by his father to play a part in "The Rattler's Hiss," a recent Universal western drama. The script demanded that young Eason fall into a lake, and after the incident was faithfully recorded by the camera the child was hastily bundled into blankets. "Aren't you afraid you'll take cold?" asked an interested spectator. "No'm," the reply. "Daddy says the water was filtered."

Quite Suitable

The lady was buying a gun for her little boy as a present. "I want a really nice one, please," she said to the shopkeeper. "Yes, madam," he answered; "how will this one do?" "What do you put in it?" asked the customer. "Just ordinary caps, or I have another one here that shoots slugs." The lady looked delighted. "Oh, I'll take that one," she exclaimed. "That will be quite suitable. We have a large garden and there are lots of slugs in it."—Birmingham Scotsman.

Sussex

Sussex, N. B., April 20.—Sometime during Easter Monday night the drug store of B. J. Sharp was broken into and entered by burglars, who robbed the cash register of its contents, about $35, and carried away seven cases of liquor. As a result of clever detective work by Chief of Police W. G. Ashbell, a large portion of the stolen goods has been located and the parties guilty of the theft will probably be brought to justice.

Five cases of whiskey and brandy were located by the Chief in a cunningly constructed hiding place in the Opera House building, the marks on which identify them as being Mr. Sharp's property. George Anthony, who is wanted on suspicion of being connected with the robbery, and for whose arrest a warrant had been issued, has disappeared and his whereabouts is unknown. Anthony has for some time been operator of the moving picture machine at the Opera House.

THE AMERICAN LESSON TO ENGLAND.

To The Editor of the Times,

Sir:—I should be very glad to have an opportunity to discuss through your columns the appalling disaster which has overtaken the United States of America and eight of the nine provinces of Canada in the form of prohibition. I use the word "appalling disaster" without exaggeration. What has happened is appalling, and it is a disaster. It is proven so by the statistics which it has occasioned, ready to national character and social life.

It is most important that people in England should understand the meaning of prohibition in America. There is every indication that a crusade of the same kind is to be organized against the British Isles, financed by the same fanatical philanthropy and inspired by the same brutal and intolerant fanaticism.

In America the facts are these. The whole of the United States is now "bone dry." No man may buy or sell, import, export, or transport intoxicating liquor. A citizen may have "liquor" in his home provided that it was there before July 1, 1919; otherwise not. This is the Federal law under the 18th amendment to the Constitution. Added to this is the State law of each State. In many States, as in Illinois and Kansas, this prohibits even the possession of "liquor." In those States the prohibitionist has achieved the goal of his efforts. He now enters into the kingdom of his enjoyment, the joy of persecuting his fellow men. Herein lies the main inspiration of the prohibition crusade: it represents the age-long passion of a certain section of mankind for imposing force upon its fellows the full rigor of its own particular creed of conduct. This is not to say that there are not in Canada and the United States a great many active workers in the cause of prohibition who are inspired by the truest motives of morality. Personally I have never known any. Yet I am sure that among 110 million people there must be quite a number of them. But the typical active worker for prohibition is either a relentless fanatic inspired by bigotry or a self-interested hypocrite.

Let it be noted that the people of the United States and Canada have never ratified prohibition by a general vote, nor ever been offered an opportunity to reject it. The prohibitionists took care of that. The policy was adopted in the United States by a vote of the "politicians" of Congress and the 48 State Legislatures. This means a total of only a few thousand persons. Under the theory of representative government these people speak for the nation. Under the facts of representative government they did nothing of the sort. They spoke only for the vociferous, fanatical minority—organized, hysterical and threatening. These are the voices that the "politician" hears. To others he is deaf. Where the people were silent the politicians would not speak. No one wanted to be conspicuous in opposing a movement which professed to be a campaign of religion and patriotism. Each left to his neighbor the defence of common sense and common right. And the cause went undefended.

The same thing will happen in England unless people of plain, authority, influence, and brains will speak out fearlessly and emphatically—their opinions. It does not do to say that in England all the decent people are opposed to prohibition. So they were in the United States. There is no doubt that the vast majority of the decent people, all the gentlemen, if one may dare whisper the word nowadays, were and are against the movement. But their opposition now leaves only a vain regret for what they might have done and a new understanding of the workings of democracy.

What the "bone dry" regime means in practice needs to be seen to be understood. Social life and hospitality are reduced to the level of a Sunday school feast. A dinner party becomes a "gorge," followed by somnolence. A banquet is as a feast of comarades, followed by public lectures in place of after-dinner speeches. A deadly seriousness pervades all ranks, rendering work and recreation all of a piece and indistinguishable.

Not the least feature of the new regime is the loss of police, detectives, spies and informers turned loose against society. In the United States the Federal Government has set up all over the country a special police to enforce the prohibition law. The "commissioners" of this body on January 16, when the fatal amendment came into force, issued their instructions to what they would allow. They would permit no carrying of flasks; they would allow no "present" of "liquor" as between friends; a man might give to a bona fide friend in his own bona fide house a drink of "alcohol," if it had been in his bona fide possession since July 1, 1919, but this only if the friend did, bona fide, then and there drink it, and not carry it away outside of himself.

and in dry Canada a new terminology has sprung up. The prohibitionist does not speak of "ale" and "porter," and "whisky and soda." If he did he would lose his case. He speaks of "alcohol" and alcoholic "liquor"; who ever wanted any of these? But let him state plainly that in the United States Bone's ale is a crime; that if any man tries to make it, or buy it, or sell it, he goes to the penitentiary—and common sense revolts against this folly of it.

But the Federal police are only a part of the system: added to these are a whole cohort of hired spies and informers in the shape of the salaried officers of alliances and societies, of "temperance" unions and the sort; men who draw pay from hypocritical supplies of hysterical women to do the treacherous part of the secret informer which has excited in all ages the just contempt of honorable men.

In regard to these creatures there is just one sound piece of advice to give to the young men of England: if they come among you pick them up and throw them into the sea, and throw them good and far. The argument is advanced that prohibition is destined to render the United States a formidable industrial competitor. It is deplorable to note that this reasoning has recently been voiced in no less a place than the House of Commons. There is nothing in it. The United States is a formidable industrial competitor in any case. The fact arises from its vast territory and resources, the energy of its people, and from its economic relation to the Great War. It was not rendered to industrial greatness on the milk-pap of prohibition. The Puritans drank rum. George Washington took his wine, and the iron and steel industry grew up on the beer of St. Louis and Milwaukee. The industrial greatness of America did not wait for January 16, 1920. Indeed the contrary is true. Under prohibition the workers are restless and discontented. They have been robbed of the simplest comforts of life at the dictate of a fanatical minority. Prohibition plays straight into the hands of the agitator and the Bolshevik.

The most serious warning is needed for decent British people of any class who think of migrating to the United States and to the dry provinces of Canada. They will reap nothing but bitter regret. Let them come instead to the spacious and hospitable province of Quebec.

If this letter appears in The Times, as I hope it will, I know by experience that a large number of letters of denunciation will be addressed to me in care of the editor. I shall be greatly obliged if such communications can be thrown down the sink.

Very sincerely,
STEPHEN LEACOCK,

CO-OPERATIVE STORES ARE TRIED IN EGYPT

Carlo, April 20.—The present high cost of living may indeed be accounted a blessing, if as a result a genuine co-operative movement is established in the country. Many years ago the Government made great efforts to start agricultural co-operative societies, but out of some fifty only four or five are at all successful and most of the balance have been deserted.

Obviously the people were not yet educated up to this ideal of mutual service, but the war with its results has been a stiffer schoolmaster and signs are not lacking that the movement stands a very much better chance of success today. One of the first practical developments along this line came from the Egyptian State Railways whose employees have for some months past been able to obtain necessities from a co-operative society of their own, organized upon capitalist principles. Further, a leading Nationalist, Amin Bey Ghazal, has shown most commendable zeal in floating a co-operative society with a capital of £10,000 subscribed by local capitalists for the purpose of supplying the poor of Demietta with cheap foodstuffs. "This," as he says, "is only an experiment, and if successful, but a first step toward extending the benefits of co-operation to other parts of Egypt."

The Government appears to be giving him and his society every assistance and encouragement, a help which he gratefully acknowledges. He starts with a splendid opportunity of proving his title to nationhood and every one sincerely interested in Egypt's welfare will wish him all success.

Poisoned By Gas While In A Well
FRANK CARLSON FOUND RELIEF IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Saskatchewan Man Who Suffered All Summer Claims That His New Lease of Health is Due to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Laveling, Sask., April 23.—(Special)—Most enthusiastic about the benefit he has received from using Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mr. Frank Carlson, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place.

"I was gassed in a well on my farm 25 feet deep," Mr. Carlson says, "I was nearly dead. I was treated for a whole summer for my trouble, but did not get better. Then I read in a little almanac about Dodd's Kidney Pills. I had no idea they might benefit me, but was willing to try anything. To my surprise the improvement in my general health was so great, and my kidneys were so much better, that I feel like advising everybody to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. I would not be without them."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys and enable them to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the sovereign remedy for sick kidneys.

REFERENDUM RESOLUTION IS DEFEATED

By An Amendment Which Puts it Off Until Prohibition is Voted on.

NON-PARTY MATTER

In Which the "Yeas" and
"Nays" Were Each About
Equally Divided Between
Both Sides of the House.

Speaking in the resolution Mr. Tweeddale said: In moving this resolution, I want it to be distinctly understood that it is not a Government nor in any sense a party measure. I am simply exercising my right and privilege as a representative of the people, and a member of this House. Every honorable member will have an opportunity of expressing his vote in accordance with his conscientious convictions, taking to himself a personal and individual responsibility, without in any way affecting his political allegiance.

It may not be necessary for me to give to the House the necessity or reason for introducing the resolution, as that was fully explained in the speeches delivered by His Lordship, Bishop Richardson, and the other reverend gentlemen representing the different religious denominations of the province, when they addressed the hon. members of this House last week. During the period of the war, almost all civilized countries either embargoed, restricted or prohibited the use or sale of intoxicating liquor. The Federal Government as a war measure, prohibited inter-provincial traffic in intoxicating liquors and since the cessation of distilleries, have reelected the order, but along with it have made provision by a statutory regulation, giving the people in the respective provinces an opportunity of making known to the Federal Government their wishes in respect to inter-provincial traffic in spirituous and intoxicating liquors. This is a recognition of the broad principles of democracy and takes away from the government the responsibilities of imposing what to some might seem to be an arbitrary law upon the respective provinces.

In the Federal Statutes providing for referendum it is necessary to have a resolution similar to this passed by the Legislature before the Federal Government will hold a plebiscite. If this resolution was not moved in the House this session, a plebiscite could not be held on or after the next election. Attorney-General Daniels, of the Nova Scotia Government, gave notice of the resolution in the Legislature in that province as a government measure, on the 16th instant.

I am not going to undertake to use either argument or powers of persuasion. Every honorable member will be free to exercise his own judgment on the issue, and will be recorded by Hansard according as he votes for or against the issue.

In my judgment, provincial prohibition is practically impossible of enforcement with inter-provincial traffic in spirituous and intoxicating liquors permissible.

Mr. Peck, in seconding the resolution, said that it had been proposed by the New Brunswick branch of the Temperance Alliance and was cordially approved by a large number of clergymen and business men of the province. He considered it one of the most important questions at present agitating the public mind, and he had much pleasure in seconding the resolution, the object of which was to give the people an opportunity to express their opinion.

An Amendment

Mr. Michaud agreed with the mover of the resolution that all hon. members had the right to exercise their individual opinion on the question. He considered the matter an important one, not only for New Brunswick, but for Canada. Personally he had always been a temperance man and had worked for the cause prior to the passage of the intoxicating liquor Act. Since that he had taken no part either for or against temperance, and had not even appeared in court in connection with liquor cases. He was opposed to the resolution because it meant interference by the Federal Government in provincial affairs. Another reason for his being opposed to it was that he felt it would neutralize the effect of the plebiscite to be taken on the intoxicating liquor Act. Prior to the election in 1917 he had refused to commit himself on the question of prohibition, but had agreed to do nothing to minimize its effects until such time as the people had pronounced upon the question. No appeal had yet been made to the people on the question, and he did not think that the result of the last election was a proper interpretation of the Intoxicating Liquor Act. He believed the people should have a chance to say whether or not they wanted prohibition before they were asked to say whether liquor was to be imported or not. He would move, seconded by Mr. Campbell, the following:

"That all the words after the word 'that' in the resolution now before the House be struck out, and the following words substituted, therefore:
Whereas, The Legislative Assembly of this Province has passed the Act known as the Intoxicating Liquor Act, 1914,
And whereas the said Act provided that after the declaration of peace the Lieutenant Governor in Council may appoint a day for the holding of an election for or against the retention of the said Act;
And whereas the Government of this Province has promised that an election as aforesaid shall be held in the near future;
Be it therefore resolved that in the opinion of this House it is not advisable that the people of this Province should express their opinion on the question of inter-provincial trade in liquors until they have pronounced themselves in favor of the retention of the prohibition law as now in force in New Brunswick."

Mr Campbell Seconds

Mr. Campbell, in seconding the amendment said that he had endeavored to look at the question from a constitutional and legal aspect. He had always been a temperance man in the best and truest sense of the term. As legislators they were not discussing total abstinence or the use of intoxicating liquors, but were to decide which way they were to vote on the resolution before the House. He noted by the Dominion Hansard that when the question was before Parliament strong and able opposition was made against the passage of the Act. The controversy had been lengthy and numerous points had been raised but he would only take time to refer to a few of them. It should be remembered that the Act looked forward to prohibition of inter-provincial trade and only applied to provinces where the sale of liquor was prohibited. New Brunswick was one of those provinces and was about to decide the question by a plebiscite.

Elections were always uncertain and supposing the Act was defeated, where would the province be if in the meantime the electors had voted to prohibit inter-provincial trade. To use a common expression it would be a case of putting the cart before the horse. It must be remembered that the plebiscite provided for by the Dominion Act would have to be taken in electoral districts that meant for instance that a vote could not be taken in the counties of York and Sunbury, but in the constituency of York-Sunbury. He could not see how the representatives of Sunbury county could on the resolution before the House give expression to the views of the people of York county. He was hopeful that the points he had raised against the resolution would commend themselves to hon. members.

Amendment Carried

The question being put on the amendment the House divided as follows:
Yeas—Hon. Mr. Foster, Hon. Mr. Smith, Hon. Mr. Veniot, Hon. Mr. Dugal, Mr. Tilley, Mr. Taylor, Mr. Campbell, Mr. Cannon, Mr. Magee, Mr. McGrath, Mr. Dysart, Mr. LeBlanc, Mr. Michaud, Mr. Lerger, (Gloucester), Mr. Meserveau, Mr. Smith (Sunbury), Mr. Melanson, Mr. Boninger, Mr. Robichaud, Mr. Lager (West), Mr. Sweeney, Mr. Crockett—22.
Nays—Hon. Mr. Byrne, Hon. Mr. Murray, Hon. Mr. Tweeddale, Hon. Mr. Roberts, Mr. Barchild, Mr. King, Mr. Young, Mr. Baxter, Mr. Potts, Mr. Peck, Mr. Smith (Albert), Mr. Pindar, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. Gessner, Mr. Smith (Charlotte), Mr. Jones, Mr. Dickson, Mr. Hunter—18.

The Question of Pairs

Hon. Mr. Robinson said that he had not voted on the amendment because he was paired with Mr. Murray (King) for the remainder of the session. Possibly that did not interfere with his right to vote, but as he did not know what attitude Mr. Murray would have taken on the question he thought it only fair that he should refrain from voting.
Hon. Mr. Veniot said that the fact that an hon. member was paired did not interfere with his right to vote on a private question.
Mr. Potts said that it had always been customary for hon. members when paired to refrain from voting on any question. He was not inclined to accept the opinion of the hon. Minister of Public Works on the question, but would like a ruling from the chair.
Hon. Mr. Veniot said that when two hon. members paired, it only meant that they were to abstain from voting on questions which concerned the government. It was absurd to say that they did not have the right to vote on other matters.

Mr. Baxter said that when hon. members on opposite sides were paired it meant that they would abstain from voting on questions which involved the downfall of the ministry. If the agreement were extended to private questions it would be impossible for a member to cast a vote on a private bill. He thought the Minister of Public Works was absolutely correct.
Hon. Mr. Speaker said that the hon. member for St. John county had expressed his (the Speaker's) views much better than he could have done himself.

Mr. Sweeney rose to a question of privilege. He said the hon. member for St. John no doubt had reference to him when he questioned the right of those who were paired to vote on the prohibition resolution. He (Sweeney) was paired with Mr. Guptill and he did not want the indignation thrown across the floor that he was taking advantage of Mr. Guptill by voting in his absence. He had attempted to make an explanation when the matter was under discussion but had been ruled out of order.
Hon. Mr. Speaker said that the hon. member had been ruled out of order for the time being because the chairman of the Corporations Committee had the floor.
Mr. Potts said that the hon. member

CIVIC ELECTIONS IN CAMPBELLTON

Dr. Murray Re-Elected Mayor
by a Large Majority—Two
New Aldermen in Ward
One.

Campbellton, N. B., April 21.—A large measure of public interest was manifested this year in the town elections, which took place on Tuesday, 20th instant.

Dr. Murray, who was elected Mayor last year by acclamation and had filled that office for several terms in former years, was re-elected in this election by Mr. W. H. Wallace, but was again elected by the largest majority ever recorded in a mayoralty contest in this town.

Of the eight aldermen who sat on the Council board last year, seven offered for re-election and six were elected. The two new aldermen are H. Z. Currie and A. C. Bellefleur.

The Town Council for the ensuing year will be constituted as follows:—Mayor—Dr. Daniel Murray.
Aldermen—Largé—John Doreman and C. Homer Mathews.
Aldermen for Ward 1—Henry J. Currie and Alphonse S. Bellefleur.
Aldermen for Ward 2—Alphonse H. Ingram and Thos. N. Dickie.
Aldermen for Ward 3—John H. Bisset and Sydney H. Jamieson.
Notwithstanding the fact that all sorts of silly and absolutely false canvasses were used, both personally and in the columns of one of the newspapers, in an effort to defeat the present Mayor and several of the aldermen, the verdict of the electors in sufficient evidence of public confidence in the personnel of last year's Council.

DRESS WARM AND KEEP FEET DRY

Tells Rheumatism Sufferers to Take Salts and Get Rid of Uric Acid.

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. It not the most dangerous of human afflictions it is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat less meat, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and, above all, drink lots of pure water.
Rheumatism is caused by uric acid which is generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this acid from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed thus forcing the kidneys to do double work, they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this uric acid which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles causing stiffness, soreness and pain called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is said to eliminate uric acid by stimulating the kidneys to normal action, thus ridding the blood of these impurities.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which overcomes uric acid and is beneficial to your kidneys as well.
