Confirms the Reports of the Treatment Practiced by Bartolot.

He Was Murdered While Beating a Woman—A Native Boy Tortured to Death.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Times this morning publishes a column signed Stanley, who writes of the treatment practiced by Bartolot.

Stanley writes that Bartolot's brother forced the disclosure of the painful story. He says that only a few of the police were present at the trial.

VALUABLE SUGGESTIONS

We have received by the last English mail, the following letter, which contains suggestions of the utmost value to the canners and growers of fruit in British Columbia:

To Mr. Greer, Editor:—We are per- vious notes in your issue, that fruit can be profitably grown in Southern British Columbia. If your growers con- clude to go into the fruit packing trade, they should insert more fruit and less sugar than is done by the Cali- fornia, and the fruit should be care- fully selected, unspotted, unbruised, and to the necessary precise maturity, yellowness, nothing more, nothing less.

Seeing that this plate will be cheaper in Canada than in the States, it might be profitable to pack the fruit in wooden cases, via. 1 lb. tins and 2 1/2 lb. tins.

We shall be glad to give any re- quired information to any of your corre- spondents on the subject.

Yours truly,
"Saxton, Ross & Co.,
Canned Fruit and Salmon Importers,
46 Stanley street,
Liverpool, Oct. 25, 1890."

This is one of the many indications that the resources and capabilities of British Columbia are beginning to be known and appreciated, both in Great Britain and Eastern Canada. It is to be hoped that fruit canning and fruit growing will receive that attention in this province which its importance demands.

THE BYE-ELECTION.

The result of the election in the West- minster District has not been a surprise to anyone. It was believed from the out- set that the contest would be between Mr. Sword and Mr. Laidner, and that the chances were in favor of Mr. Sword. As the contest was between three independ- ent and one Opposition it was very sin- gular, indeed, that the Opposition can- didate was so signally defeated.

The District at the general election of 1886 returned two Opposition candidates. It might be expected that the Opposition would have sufficient strength left in the constituency to return their man when there were three Independents contending against him. An active and a united minority could not ask for a better chance than was afforded the Opposition in the Westminster contest. It had only one man in the field, while the Independ- ents, pledged to give the Government a fair support, had three. By concentrating their strength on one candidate, even though they were in a minority, they stood an excellent chance of electing him. But so much have the Opposition lost in the District, and so com- pletely demoralized are they, that they did not even make an attempt to contest the election. Their candidate, as we have said, had no party support at all. It is more than probable that the sixty votes which Mr. Greer polled were given him on personal rather than party considerations. It is very significant that the two avowed Opposition candidates who presented themselves for election in what was four years ago the New West- minster District, polled so few votes that they forfeited their deposit money. Mr. Orr and Mr. Greer were completely an- nounced under the Opposition banner.

We see that the News-Advertiser speaks of the result as "a great victory." A victory over whom? Over poor Mr. Greer? That was not much to boast of. It could be seen from the first that Mr. Greer was not in a position to make much of a fight. There was a victory over the Opposition certainly, but the News- Advertiser appeared at one time as if it intended to throw in its lot with the Opposition. It is quite evident that its sympathies are in that direction and that, if it does not join Mr. Beaven's corporal's guard, it is because its editor is ambitious to be a leader and not a follower. If the victory there is a great one it is a victory for the Irreconcilables who are determined to place themselves in opposition to the Government, whether its policy is wise or unwise, whether it does right or does wrong. If we read the signs aright the editor of the News-Advertiser belongs to this faction and hopes to be its leader. That Mr. Sword has no idea of joining the Irreconcilables, whether headed by Mr. Beaven or Mr. Cotton his declarations during the canvass abundantly show. At one of the meetings he said that:

"He would support Mr. Holborn and his Government in all the good measures which would be submitted to the Assem- bly. It was folly for anyone to say that he was opposed to the present Govern- ment, for that meant, no matter how im- portant or beneficial its measures were to the country, it must be opposed."

From this we conclude that Mr. Sword will be opposed to the Irrecon- cilables, by whatever name they may be called, and that he will give the Govern- ment his support in all measures which he considers advantageous to the pro- vince. As all the candidates, who obtained any votes worth mentioning, found it necessary to make similar declarations, it is fair to presume that the constituency, which chose the Hon.

Mr. Robson for its representative, would not select a man who declared him- self as "Mr. Greer's bid," irrevocably opposed to the Government of which he is the leader. The "Independent Party," of which the Advertiser boasts so loftily and so frequently, has as yet no existence. When it is organized it may have a policy, and not before. To talk about the policy of a party which has neither head, body, nor tail, is to give utterance to the most unmitigated nonsense.

A LAME EXCUSE.

The News-Advertiser finding that in condemning the sea route between Victoria and Vancouver it condemned Van- couver as an ocean port, tries to get out of the hole into which it has deliberately inserted itself, by saying that recom- mendation of the Nanaimo route to Vic- toria was nothing but a trap to catch THE COLONIST. This is the lamest excuse for a grossly stupid blunder we ever re- member to have seen. In order that our readers may see for themselves the kind of traps which the News-Advertiser sets either at home or in any of the colonies, we will quote on the subject of changing the route between Vancouver and Vic- toria. In its issue of Thursday last, in a leading article under the head of "What it (the fog) has shown," the editor of the News-Advertiser said:

"The fog which has hung so heavily along this coast for hundreds of miles during the last week or ten days, has shown one thing very conclusively—that the most reliable route for regular and frequent communication between Vic- toria and the Mainland is that via Na- namo. During the whole of that time the mail steamer between Vancouver and Nanaimo arrived and departed on time, not a single trip being missed, while the service between Vancouver and Vic- toria was badly demoralized. If it was a long distance, and only traversed at infre- quent intervals, the election in New- westminster has convinced it that the cause of the Opposition is hopeless. It cannot understand why the Independents do not make common cause with the Opposition. It fears that the men who have been returned, free of party man- ners, will after all elect to work with the Government rather than with the Opposi- tion, and it is this ill defined prospect that makes it so sorrowful. If the organ had ever so much as hinted that the utterly dis- credited Opposition would ever be raised to a position of respectability by the independent members it has good reason to feel disappointed. For our part we are surprised that it ever entertained a dependence would be so inconsistent as to throw in their lot with an Opposition whose most prominent characteristic was its imbecility. What, we should like to know, is there either in the principles or the policy of the Opposition that could induce any self-respecting man to join it? If it had principles it kept them closely out of sight, and its only policy was feebly to oppose the Government on matters that were really too trifling to engage the attention of sensible men. It had no reason for its existence as an Opposition. This the Independent members see, and they know that the most effectual way to bring themselves into utterly insignificant.

The organ is extremely solicitous with respect to the future of the Independ- ents and their relation to the Govern- ment. It predicts that the Government will not consent to efface itself as the bidding of the Independents, and that it seems to think that, unless it concludes to do so, the Independents, as a body, will soon dissolve and melt into nothingness. We do not take much stock in the organ's predictions. It cannot see into the future, and its guesses are not at all ingenious. Would not our con- temporary safe itself a great deal of trouble and much needless anxiety if it took a calm view of things as they are. The Government has inaugurated a policy which has reason for its existence, and which means that, unless it concludes to do so, the Independents, as a body, will soon dissolve and melt into nothingness. We do not take much stock in the organ's predictions. It cannot see into the future, and its guesses are not at all ingenious. Would not our con- temporary safe itself a great deal of trouble and much needless anxiety if it took a calm view of things as they are.

A WIDE DIFFERENCE.

The latest accounts confirm the report that the Democrats have won a sweeping victory in the United States. The Democratic majority will constitute com- siderably more than two-thirds of the House of Representatives. This is an almost unexampled majority. In the Forty-third Congress, under General Grant, the Republicans had a majority of 100, a little more than two-thirds. In the Forty-fourth and Forty-eighth Con- gress, the Democrats had a majority of 77 and 74 respectively, but they never had so complete a command of the House as they will have after the 4th of March next.

Although the people of the United States have expressed their wishes so forcibly, their will cannot be carried into effect. The members just elected have no more power than the same number of private citizens. Not only will there be no change in the administration con- sequent upon the election that has just been held, but the House which this country has condemned so generally will have another session, and it has the power to pass laws which are opposed to the will of the people, and all that the majority and their representatives can do is to look helplessly on. They have not even the satisfaction of knowing that they can, when they are allowed to legislate, repeal the laws which the discredited House may pass. By means of such legislation which Congress may pass at its next session, the new House cannot undo what it has done, for the Republican Senate, and the Re- publican President, have the power to set aside every law they may enact. The people of the United States have, in short, invested a few men with power, which is, for a time, far greater than their own.

ENCOURAGEMENT AND ADVICE.

The London Times of the 18th October contains an article on Canada and the McKinley tariff. It shows that it has a fair understanding of the commercial po- sition of Canada with regard to the United States. It sees that the trade of the Dominion will be seriously affected by the exclusion from the United States markets of its agricultural produce, but it does not believe that Canada will be en- gaged by the selfishness of its nearest neighbor. It knows that country is not the richest of resources. It takes a hopeful view of the situation. This is what it says:

"But, if American ports are closed to Canada, and if American Customs officers on the frontier lines forbid the entry of her goods, there are other countries to which she will turn. She is making short-sighted policy elsewhere. We shall watch with interest the result of her new trade negotiations. Her trade experience, and the checkered record of her trade far beyond her own borders, will be a lesson to her. When, in 1888, the reciprocity treaty between the two countries was denounced the foreign trade of Canada suffered seriously for a time. The figures for the next year show a falling off of more than $20,000,000, but in three years time she had managed to do almost as well as she had done in 1888, and in another three years had raised the volume of her trade far beyond her ex- ceedings. She had reached in 1896 a point which she is now endeavoring to do—she had found new and profitable markets, and her trade with the United States had made the best of a bad bargain, and she had a new and better prospect of the future. She had a better prospect now than she has had at any time since she was a free country. Her communications are fairly complete, her harbor on both coasts to the East and West is open, and she has her own pro- ducers, and she will, to judge of the Australian colonies and to ourselves, and find an ample equivalent for the loss which she is now threatening."

A DIFFICULT QUESTION.

The New York Herald has been asking a number of prominent men and women a question, which a good many would consider an absurd one, while others will admit that it is, at first sight, a difficult one to answer. This is the question: Can a politician be a Christian?

There are many who will at once say, "No," very decidedly. They believe it to be impossible for a conscientious man, who has deep convictions in all his forms, and who is determined to be true and just in all his dealings, to be a politician. The idea is that a politician is, by nature, a man who believes what he says, and that he is never ready to perform what he promises. The great question with him, is it right? Falsehood and double-dealing are popu- larly considered the greater part of a politician's stock in trade, and, if he does not know how to use them skilfully and unscrupulously, he will never succeed as a politician. It is believed, too, that the politician is ready to do almost anything to gain place and power, that there is nothing too mean for him to do in order to ingratiate himself with the men who vote—that he has no spirit and no sense of honor.

This estimate of the politician's char- acter has been formed by observing the acts of a certain class, and not a pro- portion of politics. But they show that a very small proportion of the men who take an active part in the politics of countries having constitutional govern- ments, are chosen by the people to manage the public affairs of the nation are men who, on the whole, possess a greater share of intelligence and energy than the average citizen. They are from a moral and religious point of view good, bad and indifferent. When the electors select a good man for any position in public life it is not reasonable to suppose that he suddenly loses all the virtues which caused him to be considered a Christian and an estimable member of society. It will be admitted that his position as a politician will have little or no effect upon his be- liefs, and that he will retain his moral and religious principles. Political influence does not weaken a man's faith in the truths of Christianity. Politics will not make a skeptic, an infidel or an agnostic. The speculative religion of the politician is as safe as that of the business man, and safer than that of the student. It is his practical religion that is in danger, from the nature of the pursuits in which he is engaged and the influence of those with whom he must necessarily come in contact. We do not, for our part, see that the politician is in greater danger of losing his reverence for what is really good or of acting in a way contrary to the principles than the merchant or the lawyer or the physician. A man who is honest and truthful by nature, by prin- ciple and by habit, does not readily succumb to temptation. Whatever his business is he will retain his integrity. He will refuse to be false to or hypocri- tical or dishonorable in any way; there are politicians whose word in all matters is as good as their bond. They have not one rule for business and another for politics. They find that in public life as well as in private life honesty is the best policy. There are politicians—and every one who has had any experience of life has known them—who are as honest as the sun and as true as steel, men who, though all the temptations and trials of a public career have lived Christian lives. John Bright, for instance, was a politician and an orator. And there are hundreds of men in public life of the stamp of John Bright.

A BURNING QUESTION.

The Business Portion of Trucks, California, Burned During a Snow Storm.

The Fire Started by Incendiaries. The Work of Rebuilding at Once Commenced.

TRUCKEE, Cal., Nov. 6.—A most disastrous fire broke out here, shortly after midnight, as the wind was blowing a hard gale, the flames were soon beyond control. The fire started in the rear of Stall's brewery by an incendiary. The man was seen running away from the place soon after the flames broke out.

The brewery and half a dozen other buildings were soon burning, and the fire was momentarily expected to reach the roofs and porches of other houses a block distant. Citizens fought the flames with great determination, and the fire train arrived from Siskiyou and gave assistance, but the efforts were of no avail.

East Main street was soon in ashes, and all frame buildings on Front street were burning. Nearly forty buildings, including the cattle business portion of the town, had been destroyed by 2 o'clock this morning, and the residence located, also, seconded. A light snow was falling, but it had no effect on the flames. The wind shifted about 3 o'clock, and the fire, which threatened to completely wipe out the town, seemed to be under control. All buildings east of Hill's hall will probably be saved.

Finally the shifting of the wind drove the flames back upon the burning portion of the town and gave the citizens an opportunity to get out the fire at the skating rink, the Sherret house, Harrison & Stevens's livery house and other places. When the fire reached the skating rink, the citizens, and to their heroic efforts the saving of the entire town succeeded.

All the buildings are a total loss as far east as the Old Fellow hall on Front street and Andrew Johnson's residence on east Main street. Three fire trains helped to quench the conflagration, and a great deal of loss in baggage in removing goods and from water. The place is literally covered with furniture and other goods. The lumber for rebuilding the burnt district began to arrive on the ground at daylight, and as soon as the fire was extinguished the work of rebuilding commenced. The total loss is about $100,000; insurance about $20,000.

MR. ROBT. WARD EXPLAINS.

Did the Board of Trade Address the Department?

To the Editor of The Empire.

Sir.—The following appears in your issue of the morning under the heading of "The Board of Trade." It is a letter from Ottawa, C. B. Grievance. In a recent letter to the Minister of Public Works, the president of the British Columbia board of trade detailed a number of alleged grievances under which the Pacific province has been suffering from a departmental action. One point mentioned was the continuous disregard by the Marine department of requests from the board to provide lights, beacons and buoys on the coast of Vancouver.

It is apparent from the foregoing that the bill will be spending money in the department are not kept as they ought to be. One gets quite accustomed to having in respect of the marine department, but the only person who had made a suggestion on the point was Mr. Gordon, M.P. An explanation from the British Columbia board is now in order.

THE IRISH LOYALISTS

Prepared with a Well Drilled Force of Eighty Irish Volunteers to Resist Home Rule.

THE IRISH LOYALISTS.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The so-called Irish loyalists are getting into a feverish condition over the prospect of Irish home rule, and a liberal victory at the next general election is considered by them to be almost a foregone conclusion. At a meeting of North of Ireland loyalists at Londonderry, a series of resolutions were adopted, and the protest of British rule, and with the solemn understanding that the supremacy of Great Britain would always be maintained. They have been in possession of their arms since the rebellion of 1798, which was suppressed by the British army of Great Britain, and their descendants, protest against a policy which, if adopted, will inevitably result in a conflict even more sanguinary, for we are resolved we shall be at all times prepared with all the resources at our command to resist.

THE U. S. ELECTIONS.

How They are Regarded by a Resident Elector—No Significance is to be.

A well-known American resident, who has strong Republican convictions, yesterday expressed his opinions upon the recent election at considerable length, the following being the substance of the conversation. His party predictions are pretty well confirmed in his answers to the questions which were put to him.

Does the election mean that the Democrats will control Congress?

No, they will only control the House. Congress is made up of the Senate and

A DREAMFUL CHILD.

Asleep It's All Right, but Awake It Becomes a Kitten.

A Strange Tale Reported from Columbia County, N. Y.—It May Be True, but Not by any Means.

An elderly tale, worthy of the darkest and palest days of the middle ages, comes from the little hamlet of Pompeopolis, in Columbia County, where a child is said to have been born of late which defies competition, although, fortunately, it does not have a ludicrous incident would have out President Harrison out of his wife, Thaddeus Conant, the candidate who got left in the race for the hand of Miss Caroline Scott, and it all came about in this way.

In the country just back of Cincinnati there used to be a school for boys kept by a father named Scott, who had a number of about sixty years, but for a ludicrous incident would have out President Harrison out of his wife, Thaddeus Conant, the candidate who got left in the race for the hand of Miss Caroline Scott, and it all came about in this way.

Very little. It went into effect October 6th, and the Democrats misrepresented its purpose and effect, and the Republicans have scarcely been exposed all these misrepresentations, and it was not a potential factor in the contest. In Wisconsin, the public school question predominated, and the McKinley bill was hardly thought of. In Pennsylvania, the result is the so-called bosses, and so on through the list of states. Local causes, mainly, wrought out the result.

Will the McKinley bill be repealed? Not within several years, at least. If the new House, when it meets, a year, should vote to repeal or modify it, the Senate would kill the new bill, or, if vetoed, there is no way by which the law can be changed inside of five or six years.

In the meantime, every faculty respecting it will be extended and carried out. I think, by no prosperous party, a vast majority of the American people will be content with the McKinley bill, and no other cause contributed to the result of last Tuesday. They were the Federal Election Bill, and the rulings of Speaker Reed. The Election Bill was formulated and considered by the House of Representatives, and the mistaken counsels prevailed and it was put to the next session. There was a fatal error in the bill, and the only person who had made a suggestion on the point was Mr. Gordon, M.P. An explanation from the British Columbia board is now in order.

ROUTED BY GRASSHOPPERS.

A Flock of Turkeys Put to Flight by the Voracious Insects.

Farmer James C. Fairchild, of the Upper Paupack region, asserted to a Scranton, Pa., correspondent of the New York Sun that he had never known grasshoppers to be as thick in this place as they were during August.

Three Members of Congress Mystify a New Capitalist.

There are three members of the House of Representatives who are so-called "mystifiers" in the eyes of a new capitalist. This trio walked up to the Capitol together the other morning, writes a Washington correspondent, and at the door of the rotunda were met by a new capitalist who wanted to show them the sights of the building. The three Congressmen consented, and were taken into stately halls to hear the echoes. "Now you stand right here," said the guide, placing the trio on the well-known stone. "And listen. I will move back fifty-five feet and whisper to you, and you will hear my voice as if I were at your side." All this was done, and finally shouted, but no word did either of the trio hear. Thinking that probably he had made a mistake and put his victims against the wall and moved them toward the wall and said to them: "This is the whispering gallery. You stand here and I will go across the room and whisper against the wall. You will hear me as if I were at your ear." Again the guide whispered, but met with no response. Then he gradually raised his voice to a shout, but the trio of Congressmen kept their ears against the wall and made no sign. Rejoicing his customers, the guide explained that for some reason, probably on account of the humidity in the atmosphere, the echoes were not working well to-day, and invited his guests to take a look at the House of Representatives. Arriving at the main entrance, the Congressman started to walk in, when the guide seized their arms and told them they couldn't go in there— "but we can," said Mr. Lawler, and flipping the astonished guide one dollar the joking trio disappeared within.

WHAT A VOICE CAUSED.

The True Story of How President Harrison Edited the River Column of a Daily in a Flourishing Kentucky City on the Banks of the Ohio in a Period of Unpopularity of about Sixty Years, but for a Luminous Incident would have out President Harrison out of his wife, Thaddeus Conant, the candidate who got left in the race for the hand of Miss Caroline Scott, and it all came about in this way.

THE REASON WHY.
The Times cannot understand why The Colonist only contemplates the return of Mr. Seward, and asks why it "condemns its animadversions to the only man of the quartette who was frank enough to go before the electors on a platform of his own—namely to the Hon. John Robson?" This question is not hard to answer. Antipathy to the Hon. John Robson is, we gather, the principal plank in the Opposition platform. The thunder of the Times has, for the last two years and more, been directed almost altogether against Mr. Robson. It has declared time and again, directly and indirectly, that Mr. Robson is the Government. Mr. Greer was, therefore, in a peculiar sense, the Times' candidate. It had the same political creed and the same object of view. In fact, Mr. Greer was in principle and by profession a true representative of the Opposition. Knowing this, we felt more than ordinary interest in the reception which the Opposition's candidate would get in the same political crowd and the same object of view. In fact, Mr. Greer was in principle and by profession a true representative of the Opposition. Knowing this, we felt more than ordinary interest in the reception which the Opposition's candidate would get in the same political crowd and the same object of view.

BOSS RULE.
Men of both parties in California rejoice in one of the results of the late election. That election has killed Buckleyism and Bossism generally, at least for a time. The Democrats are glad to be rid of the inebriate Buckley and the Republicans are proud that they have thrown off the ignominious yoke of the Boss. It is surprising that the citizens of San Francisco have tolerated Buckley and his vile gang so long. They hated his rule and were ashamed of it, and yet they submitted to it for years. They know that it is corrupt, that politicians and office-seekers who tolerate such disgraceful mismanagement, is when one comes to think of it, amazing.

A DOCTOR'S CONFESION.
He Doesn't Take Much Medicine and Admits the Reporter Not.
"Humbly? Of course it is. The so-called science of medicine is a humbug and a snare. In the time of Hippocrates it was the belief of the ignorant that the life of the most inordinate liar and treacherous, cold-blooded murderer that ever disgraced any community, written by himself. The autobiography, no doubt, is a tissue of mischievous lies, written for the express purpose of creating sympathy for the thousands of men, and the members of the Presbytery, like all sensible men, know that its circulation will have a demoralizing tendency."

THE PAIN OVEL.
New York, Nov. 11.—The money panic has reached a point where it is feared that the situation is becoming serious. The gold market is in a state of confusion, and the banks are unable to meet their obligations. The situation is becoming serious, and the banks are unable to meet their obligations.

A NOTEWORTHY FACT.
We hope that our neighbors who talk so unreasonably about "Bering's sealers" in Behring's Sea, will note that the seal is the largest part of the seal captured by the British Columbia sealers were not taken in Behring's Sea at all. The 35,000 seal skins of this port brought home 39,547 seal skins. Of these 21,302 were killed off the coast of British Columbia, or in the open sea south of Behring's Sea. The balance, 18,165, were taken in that part of the Pacific Ocean which now goes by the name of Behring's Sea. But the seals were not killed in United States waters. They were hunted on the high seas, at a very long distance from land. We have never yet seen that any British Columbia vessel was even accused of killing seals in United States waters.

THE STOCK PANIC.
The Situation in London Improved Owing to Gold Receipts from the Continent.
Three Large Banks in New York Narrowly Escape Suspension of Payment.
Jay Gould Credited with Bringing About the Demoralization on Wall Street.
London, Nov. 11.—The stock market opened feverish, nearly everybody buying. Orders for both money and securities were abundant. The market was much improved owing to an advance of 1/2 per cent. Canadian Pacific 1/4, Erie 3/4, Illinois Central 4/8, New York Central 1/2.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS.
We are not surprised to see that the Toronto Presbytery is disgusted with the way in which some of the Toronto newspapers are handling the Bering's Seal case. We see that "The Presbytery condemned the purchase by the Mail of Bering's autobiography, and wound up by condemning the entire press of Toronto for the attention they had paid, and for selling paying, to the matter. It might be expected that these clergymen, who promise the close to be quiet and favorable, the recovery in American railroads ranged from 1/2 to 1/4 per cent. The Canadian Pacific had advanced 1/2 per cent. The Erie Central 3/4, and the Pennsylvania 1/2.

LOSS OF H.M.S. SERPENT.
Driven on the Rocks During a Gale, and Two Hundred and Forty-Seven Men Perish.
Only Three of the Crew Escape to Relate the Awful Tale of Death.
News of the Disaster Causes the Utmost Grief in London—Pitiful Scenes at Plymouth.
London, Nov. 12.—H.M.S. Serpent was wrecked on Monday night twenty miles north of Cape Finisterre, and two hundred and forty-seven men were drowned. Only three escaped, and they were driven on the rocks during a severe storm on the Spanish coast. A heavy storm prevailed at the time and it was impossible to obtain assistance from shore. The vessel remained in her position until she was driven on the rocks, and the crew were washed overboard in groups by the remorseless waves and drowned or frozen. News of the disaster was conveyed to Corunna, a distance of 60 miles over the mountains, and when it was known that the vessel was lost, the British Government immediately sent a relief expedition to the scene of the disaster. The vessel was driven on the rocks on the night of the 24th of June, 1880, for service on the African station.
