A GOOD newspaper is the grandest temporal blessing that God has given to the people of this country. In the first place all the people read the newspapers, and the newspapers furnish the greatest proportion of reading to the people. A large majority do not read books. The old people look for deaths, the young look for marriages, the business men read the business and financial columns and all read the want column. THE coronation of a king is not an event of annual occurrence nor one, that is apt to occur more than once or twice in the lifetime of the average man or woman. LOVERS of flowers will regret to learn that the hyacinth is in trouble. The public gardeners at Boston charge the flower with poisonous properties. They say that those who handle the bulbs have an affection of the hands which is very troublesome and is often communicated to the skin of the face. It is not a serious poison, but sufficient to give annoyance It is also charged that the bulbs poison the soil and make it unfit for their successor of the late season. Thus beauty has its sting.

Ir is stated that the Director of Fall irs is experimenting with a roulette eel in his office, Provincial Parliament buildings, to learn just how it is done among country fairs. The word is passed out that any agricultural society having these roulette wheels, or gambling devices of any kind, will lose their grant from the Government. Heretofore this clause has oftentimes not been adhered to, but this season it will be strictly enforced. After awhile there won't be any fun going to a fall fair.

THE trade territory of a town is not all dependent upon the distance to neighbor-ing trading points. The trade territory depends upon the enterprise of the mer-chants and the residents of the town. If a town does not reach after the trade, it will come only as fast as it has to, and will grow as it is forced to. But if the merchants go after business in the sur-rounding country, advertising in every possible way, and making good every word in their advertising, trade will come from an ever increasing radius, the town will gain a reputation for being awake, and it will keep to the front. It is the men in the town and not the men-living within a certain number of miles from it that make the town good or bad for busi-

Some have already responded, and we thank them for their prompt attention to the subscription of the su tention to the matter. There are others, however, who put off the time of paying, thinking that the newspaper can wait for the money a little longer. We probably could if there was only one who delayed paying. But when hundreds do the same thing, then the newspaper man lacks cash. And we must pay cash for help, paper, type, ink, etc. So we kindly ask early attention to the matter.

versely on the question of going in with Middlesex and making an arrangement whereby Lambton patients could be accommodated at the Middlesex institution. The council reappointed the committee, however, with instructions to report at the next meeting upon the cost of a site, buildings and maintenance. It is not probable that any action will be taken for a year, in order to allow public sentiment to crystalize. The plan for a tuber-culosis sanitarium for Lambton County is strong in the minds of many of the councillors, the argument being that one of the great benefits of the fresh air treat ment of tuberculosis in Lambton would be the spread of education on the methods of cure, which would result from such an institution located in the county.

The mail carrier from Forest to Rayetswood had an accident last week on his way back to Forest, caused by his horse shying at an auto. It would seem that autos have no more respect for His Majesty's servants than ordinary

Mrs. Joseph Nichol, Plympton, aged 29, jumped into a cistern on Monday night and was not discovered until next morning. She had been in poor health for some time. She retired apparently as usual the previous evening, and while her husband and little family of tour children were sleeping she slipped noiselessly from her bed, crept into the outer room, where she tied a weight about her waist, and seems then to have gone directly to the cistern, into the cold waters of which she plunged.

The people of Petrolea were considerably stirred last Wednesday afternoon upon learning that David Miller, a painter of that town had been tound dead in er of that town had been tound dead in the loft of Young & Young's stable. Chief Ferguson and the coroner, Dr. Calder, were notified, the latter viewing the body and deciding that death was due to alcoholism and that an inquest was unnecessary. The deceased had not been seen since Sunday night and Dr. Calder's opinion is, judging from the badly decomposed condition of the body that he went up into the loft Sunday night to sleep and died the same night.

Mrs. H. G. Cline died on Monday.

Mrs. H. G. Cline died on Monday morning last at the family residence, Metcalfe street, Strathroy, after an illness of two years duration from a complication of diseases. Deceased, whose maiden name was Ellen J. Watkinson, was born in Cornwall. England a was born in Cornwall, Eugland, a daughter of the late John and Catharine Watkinson. She married Mr. Cline 18 years ago. She leaves one son, Percy, She also leaves one sist Mrs. J. Sickles, and one brother, Fred J., both of Strathroy. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon to the Strathroy cemetery.

A very sad accident occurred at Petrolea on Friday afternoon, when Arthur, the little 6 year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Stevenson, was drowned in a cistern just outside the parent's home, one tern just outside the parent's home, one mile west of the town. The little fellow was missed from the home for an hour or more, and it was only after a diligent search by the parents and neighbors that the body was finally discovered in the cistern. The hd on the cistern was closed, and it is supposed that the little chap had lifted it to look in and overbalanced, the lid closing after him. The family are grief stricken over the unfortunate affair, and have the sympathy of the entire community. the entire community.

The Closing Days.

A Toronto Daily last week contained a despatch from a neighboring aged 101 years had gone to the County Industrial Home, there to end his days, and he is said to have gone at his own request. But how the report startles us, that a man after fighting the battle of life for over 100 years has to end his days in a poorhouse! The despatch further stated that the old gentleman had a son of seventy-five and two grandsons of over fifty living in the same County. Naturalty, the reader would think it strange that so sad a course could have been necessary. But if the inner history were known it would probably be revealed that the son and grandsons are in almost as bad a plight as the old man, and that he preferred to go to the poorhouse rather than to add to their burdens. The case is a pathetic one, but it is not uniqueyou hear of such every day-and the whole story emphasizes how terrible is an old age of penury, and how important it is that we should regard youth "as the springtime which soon departeth, and wherein we ought to plant and sow all provision for a long' and happy life." If the old gentleman had been in receipt of a Canadian Government Annuity of only $200 his presence in home of the son or grandson would have been a boon rather than a burden, and the cozy-corner would. no doubt, have been kept for him. He may have been a sober and industrious youth, but he had no system of investment which was absolutely safe, and which would yield him a bountiful return for the amounts which he might from time to time save; and so his money was spent or lost as fast as it was earned. But there is no such excuse for the boys or girls, men or vomen, of Canada to-day, for by the Canadian Government Annuities Act they are provided with a system by which their savings will be taken care of and invested by the Government, and under which they will receive a return larger than it would be possible to secure from any other safe investment because when the Annuity begins each payment absorbs a portion of the purchase money as well as of the interest thereon, and "bitters," made of if the Annuitant lives the average bad whiskey and bitters herbs—but number of years he may be expected THE spring tonic, the tonic that to live he will get back all that he "tones" and that doesn't make you has paid in with accumulated interest at 4%. One cannot help but feel sorry for John D. Rockefeller, for, after chas ing the dollar through a long life-time, he must finally come to a realizing sense that there are other things in this world much more while. By a mixture of genius and single-minded purpose, Rockefeller has been able to accumulate what is probably the largest fortune ever held by a single individual. But to "Permit me to write you a few words concerning Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I suffered from dyspepsia and indigestion for five years. I suffered so much that I could hardly attend to my work. I was weak and lost all courage. I enjoyed no rest until I decided to follow your treatment after having read your advertisement in the paper. To my great surprise I immediately began to feel better. I am now using the second box and I feel so well that I want to tell you that I owe this great change to your famous pills. I recommend them to every person who is suffering from dyspepsia. #### Tiresome For the King.

From the Manchester Guardian. Anyone who glances through the Coronation service will see that the King has to wear the Crown for a long time. The Crown weighs between four and five pounds, a very heavy burden, so heavy that King Edward had to retire several times during his Coronation to the sacristy to rest. According to the "Figaro, during one of these pauses he observed: "People often speak of the burden of a crown; but all the philosophers and poets who have written of it do not know how heavy it can weigh." It seems customary for crowns to be intolerably weighty. When Charles VII. was crowned Holy Roman Emperor in 1742 at Frankfurt he was ill, and a chronicler recorded that he almost collapsed under the weight of the crown. The unfortunate Emperors had to wear their crowns at the Coronation banquet, and Charles VII.'s suite, looking at his deathly white face and the sweat pouring down from his brow, expected him to faint at any

Cutler-Campbell.

Cutler—Campbell.

On June 6th, 1911, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell, N.E.R., Warwick, Lambton Co., when Miss Margaret Gertrude Campbell was united in marriage to Mr. Garnet Homer Cutler, B.S.A., of Macdonald College, St. Anne, Que., Rev. R. I. Hosking, of Leamington, officiated. At 3,30 p.m., the bridal march "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Flossie Patterson when Miss Margaret Gertrude was given away by her father, Mr. Robert Campbell. The bride wore white embroidered Swiss lawn with Irish lace and orange blossoms and carried a bequet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The bride was affended by Miss Alberta Patterson, of Arkona, who was gowned in white Swiss lawn and carried a boquet of American beauty roses. The duties of best man were performed by Mr. R. B. Cooley, B.S.A., of Macdonald College, St. Anne, Que. After a sumptuons repast the bride and groom left by boat for Sault Ste. Marie and Duluth. They will reside at Macdonald College and will be at home September 1st. The popularity of the bride and groom was evidenced by the large number of handsome presents. Seventy-five guests were present, some of whom were: Dr. and Mrs. Harper, of the large number of handsome presents. ### Bryce-Culbert.

The marriage of Miss Sarah Frances Culbert to James Walter Bryce, London, took place on June 1st, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. E. J. Bannister, "Hillside Farm" Plympton. Rev. J. S. Leckie performed the ceremony, which took place on the lawn, the immediate relatives being present. The bride who is one of the very popular young ladies of Plympton looked charming, dressed in white silk and carrying a bridal boquet. The groom, who was unattended, is one of the bright young citizens of the gardencity. After a sumptuous wedding supper the party motored to Forest and took the 9.05 train for Western points. Mr. and Mrs. Bryce will be at home, 54 Askin street, London south, after July 1st.

FOR TEETHING BABIES

There is only one medicine for teething babies—that is one that will make teething easy and at the same time can be given with absolute safety. That medicine is Baby's Own Tablets—every box of which is sold under the guarantee of a government analyst to be free from all those injurious opiates and narcotics which make "soothing" stuffs so harmful. Concerning the Tablets, Mrs. George Leblauc, St. Pampbile, Que, says: "I used Baby's Own Tablets for my baby when he was teething and constipated and found them an excellent remedy. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. There is only one medicine for teething Brockville, Ont.

AERIAL WAR CRAFT.

Germany Leads the Nations With a

Fleet of Fourteen. From a return just issued it appears that there were at the beginning of 1911 forty airships in existence belonging to the nations of the world and intended for use in warfare. Germany comes first with fourteen aerial battleships and cruisers as against France's twelve. Britain posesses six, and of the remaining eight Italy and Austria own two each, while. one apiece is possessed by Russia, Belgium, Spain and the United States.

These figures include airships completed ready for delivery, but not yet handed over, as, for example, the huge semirigid Morning Post, England's biggest dirigible. She holds when fully inflated 350,000 cubic feet of gas as against the 245,000 feet contained inside the envelope of Clement-Bayard II., England's next largest. Even these monsters, however, are quite small by comparison with some of the latest German aerial Dreadnoughts. For example, Zeppelin IIL and Zeppelin IV. have a gas capacity of 525,000 feet and 665,000 feet respectively. To Germany also belongs the distinction of dwning the biggest airship in the world, the Schutte, which is of 682,500 feet capacity and is driven by four motors, each of 125 horsepow-

The United States has achieved a record in the other direction by build-ing the smallest aerial cruiser now in existence. This is the Baldwin, which has a capacity of 20,000 feet only.

This is 4,000 less than the little Willows, which created such a sensation last August by appearing unexpectedly over London, having flown from Car-diff during the night.—Pearson's Week-

Mr. Doolittle writes: 'Some time after the completion of a shaft 1,200 feet deep, during the act of putting down a cable to the mine level, a workman fell from a point about 700 feet from the bottom of the shaft and landed in the sump, or a point a few feet below the mine level. "When his body was picked up and brought to the surface it was found that his boots were off, and these were later picked up and brought to the surface also. In talking this matter over with the engineer in charge he said that several such cases had been brought to his notice.

"Just why the boots come off the feet is beyond my comprehension, but in this case, which came under my personal notice, it was a fact, and my friend the engineer stated it as usu-ally being the case."

At a French inn a guest was greatly disturbed one night by a series of incessant jumps and bumpings that appeared to proceed from the room directly overhead. In the morning he complained to the hotel manager, and asked to have the mystery cleared up. A little later the manager brought a foreign-looking individual, and introduced him to the gentleman. "This is Baron von Kotchem Sloschen," explained the manager, "who occupies the room above yours. Perhaps you can tell us, sir, what was that noise occupies the room above yours. # SOUR RISINGS FROM STOMACH ness and Pain After Meals, Stomach Disorders, and Indigestion, Should Read Below.

"When I was working around the farm last winter I had an attack of inflammation," writes Mr. E. P. Dawkins, of Port Richmond. "I was weak for a long time, but well enough to work until spring. But something went wrong with my bowels, for I had to use salts or physic all the time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating—there was pain and time. My stomach kept sour, and always after eating—there was pain and fulness, and all the symptoms of intestinal indigestion. Nothing helped me until I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Instead of hurting, like, other pills, they acted very mildly, and seemed to heal the bowels. I did not require large doses to get results with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and feel so glad that I have found a, mild yet certain remedy. Today I am well—no pain, no sour stomach, a good appetite, able to digest anything. This is a whole lot of good for one medicine to do, and I can say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the best pills, and my letter, I am sure, proves it." and my letter, I am sure, proves it."

LITTLE ALICE

She Afforded a Grown Man Delightful Entertainment

By LLOYD WILLIAMS Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

~~~~~~~ Bixby was one of those fellows who think that the young men of America should take an interest in politics. He was a shrewd man-we all think ourselves shrewd-and could "see through a millstone" as well as any one. He believed in the Machiavelian type of diplomacy and prided himself upon being able to conceal his meaning by his words as well as the great diplomat himself. He was ambitious, and ambitious men are liable to overtax their strength. At any rate, Bixby overtaxed his and was ordered to go away by himself into the country and live the simple life of a domestic animal. That is, he was to eat and sleep and

He chose a farmhouse. The season was not propitious, for the summer and part of autumn had passed, and the days were short. Bixby received the morning papers from the city by 11 o'clock, and between breakfast and their receipt he walked. It was all very well for his doctor to tell him that he must do nothing. Everybody knows that Satan provides work for idle hands to do. So long as he was busy he lived as innocent a life as any man of his acquaintance. Just as soon as he ceased to work he got into mischief.

Chance furnished an opportunity. One morning he started out for his constitutional. It was a cold, lowering day and spitting snow. Nevertheless Bixby craved exercise and enjoyed stepping out at a brisk pace. He had not gone far before he saw a girl coming in the opposite direction. When she passed him he knew at once that.

like himself, she was not country born and bred. Her dress coming only to the tops of her boots left Bixby in doubt whether she had yet emerged from young girlhood or whether she had adopted a short skirt for walking In passing Bixby she lowered her eyes with that modesty one expects to find either in young girls or in eminently correct ladies.

The next morning Bixby took his constitutional at the same hour and on the same road. He had no idea of meeting the girl he had met the day before. Indeed, he had quite forgotten her. Passing over a crest and looking ahead, he saw a farmhouse. and at the same moment a door was opened and a woman came out and took the road toward Bixby. She had not come very far before he recognized the girl he had met the day before. She was now carrying some books under her arm.

"Schoolgirl," remarked Bixby to him-

Bixby had just turned thirty-five, and if his thoughts the day before had inclined to a possible relief from the tedium of his exile with this girl the discovery that she was a schoolgirl put the idea quite out of his head. He permitted his eyes to dwell upon her for the moment during which he was passing her, and she, as before, lowered hers.

The next afternoon Bixby was out rambling-indeed, he had nothing to do but ramble-when it occurred to him that he would like a glass of milk. At the moment he espied in the distance the house from which he had seen the schoolgirl emerge the day before. The natural consequence of wanting the milk and seeing the house at the same time was a thought that he might see the girl. In telling the sto-ry he never speaks of this last thought, leaving one to suppose that the two first contingencies alone resulted in his going there.

On reaching the place he opened the gate, went deliberately up the walk and rapped on the door. A woman opened it, and Bixby asked if might beg a glass of milk. His re quest was granted, and he was invit ed into the living room to wait while the woman brought the milk. At a table, with books-presumably school-books-before her, was the girl.

Bixby took a seat. The girl did not lock up, but kept on with what she was doing, evidently studying. The woman was some time bringing the milk, and, since it was embarrassing to sit in the same room with a person without speaking, Bixby concluded to make a remark.

"Are there good schools near here?" he asked.

"No, not very good schools, I believe. But I don't know anything about them. I don't go to school here."

Bixby was too well bred to ask where she did go to school. He remarked upon the beautiful country round about and how he enjoyed walk

The girl told him that walking cold weather was her delight, but she couldn't take as long walks as she would like because it was not considered safe for her to go alone. Then Bixby told her why he had come to the country, that he had nothing to do all day and if her father and mother would permit her to go with him it would give him great pleasure. To this she replied that her father and mother were not there and there was no one to prevent her doing what she liked. Bixby considered this tantamount to accepting his invitation and said he would probably be coming past the farmhouse the next morning! If he did so he would stop and take her To this she replied that she would walk his way and they might meet on the road. About this time the woman came in with the milk, set it down on the table and went out. Bixby drank it, conversing with the girl the while. He gave her every opportunity to explain why she was there and tell him all about herself, but, whether she did not understand his hints or was singularly reticent for one so young, anyway she failed to enlighten him. When he took his leave she arose from her seat, and Bixby noticed that she was pretty nearly as tall as he was. But Bixby was not a large man, and the girl seemed to be large for her age. Some girls get their growth by fourteen, and Bixby concluded this was one of that kind. The next morning was delightful, not a cloud in the sky and the air dry and cold. Bixby started for his walk and felt as if he would rather run. There was ice in the little ditches beside the road, and, being fresh frozen and glassy, it afforded especially good slides for boys and girls. Looking ahead, he saw the girl he was to meet sliding on one of these stretches of ice. Indeed, she slid on every one she came to. When Bixby came up to her her cheeks were aglow. She looked very pretty. "She'll make a stunner," remarked Bixty to himself, "when she is a few years older."

After the greetings Bixby told her that if they were to walk together they must know each other's names. He said he was Mr. Bixby, and she said her name was Alice. He asked her Alice what?" and she said Alice Mid-

"Well, Alice," he said, "what do you study at school?"

"What do I study? Why, I studyoh, don't let's talk about school work! Let's talk about the hills and the valleys and the trees. It must be very beautiful here in summer. I can pic ture it as it will be in April, when the leaves are budding and on the fores trees is that delicate pale shade of green that we see only about ten days in the whole year. And I can fancy the melodious piping of some bird away up in the highest branches as if it came down from heaven. Do you remember how beautifully Coleridge describes the sounds in his 'Ancient Mariner?

"Around, around flew each sweet sound Then darted to the sun. Slowly the sounds came back again, Now mixed, now one by one.

"Sometimes, a-dropping from the sky, I heard the skylark sing. Sometimes all little birds that are— How they seem to fill the sea and air With their sweet jargoning!

"And now 'twas like all instruments.

Now like a lonely flute,
And now it is an angel's song
That makes the heavens be mute."

"Good gracious," exclaimed Bixby, where did you learn that?"

"Where did I learn it?" she hesitated, then added, "Why in our English literature course, to be sure!" "You have a high poetic sense."

"You mean a musical sense." She began to imitate a bird with a voice that astonished Bixby, and when an echo came back from a neighboring hill it seemed to him that she had really been answered by a nightingale Bixby stopped stock still with a look of astonishment on his face. The girl burst into a laugh.

There were neither miles nor hours in that walk-at least not for Bixby He had been bored by women-highly educated women, too—and here was a girl scarcely in her teens whose gift of appreciation enabled her to keep holding up before him pictures, giving each the peculiar coloring of her own individual vision. Finally they came to the farmhouse.

"Will you walk with me tomorrow?" sked Bixby. I'm sorry I can't; I go away in the morning."

"What!"

Bixby spoke the word as if some one had told him that he would be shot at daylight.

"Give me your full name and address in the city," she added; "there's something I wish to send you." "When?"

"After your return."

Bixby gave her his card with his address on it, and she ran into the

The next morning the weather changed for Bixby. The country seemed uninhabitable. He stood it for two days longer, then went back to town. A few days after his return he received tickets to an opera. There was on that he l send him complimentary tickets, and he supposed these had been sent through mistake. He concluded to use one of them What was his astonishment to see in the prima donna the "little girl" Alice, though this was not her stage name. She looked about twenty-two years old. She saw Bixby, gave him a smile and sent him an invitation to visit her between the acts. When he saw her she explained that she had been resting away from everybody preparatory to a long engagement. It was not her fault that he had taken her for a schoolgirl. She wore her dresses short for convenience in tramping and had permitted him to remain Bixby has given up business and is following an opera troupe. It is needless to say that little Alice is the attraction for him. Although it is not yet a year since he first met her in the country, it seems to him that she has grown to be ten years older than she was then. She tells him she's not a year older and, considering the age he then took her to be, must grow for four or five years before she will be marriageable. He says he will follow her if necessary till she reaches her second childhood.

STARVED NERVES

The Cause of Neuralgia—It Must. be Treated Through the Blood.

Neuralgia is the cry of the nerves for more and better blood. It literally means that the nerves are being starved. Like every other part of the body, the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. There is therefore no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure the worst cases of neuralgia. They actually worst cases of neuralgia. They actually to the worst cases of neuralgia. They actually to the worst cases of neuralgia. They actually to the worst cases of neuralgia they need, think you Pousette? every other part of the body, the nerves receive their nourishment through the blood. There is therefore no doubt that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure the worst cases of neuralgia. They actually make new, rich blood, carrying to the starved nerves the elements they need, thus driving away the sharp, torturing pains which nearly drive the sufferer wild. So many cases of neuralgia have yielded to treatment through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that every sufferer from this dreaded trouble should lose no time in giving the Pills a fair trial. Mrs. Sophia H. Johnson, Mozan, Sesk., says: "For upwards of ten years I was a periodical sufferer from neuralgia. It located in the side of my face and in the jaw which would actually click every time I opened or closed my mouth. At times the pains would almost be unendurable, and as time went on, my whole nervous system seemed to be affected. I was constantly doctoring, but the doctor did not seem to be able to give me permanent relief, and at last I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got half a dozen boxes, and before they were half gone I felt much better, and by the time I had used them all every symptom of the trouble had gohe, and I was enjoying a used them all every symptom of the trouble had gohe, and I was enjoying a comfort I had not known for years. I have since remained in the best of health, and can only say I owe the joy of living without pain to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Council adjourned to meet June 24th at 10 a.m. to again consider the Williamson drain, report and general business.

His Honor D. F. Macwatt has reduced Stewert's assessment $163.85. It was $377.60 therefore it stands at $213.75. This $163.85 His Honor adds to the Assessment of the Township making it $574.75 but as the $50 damages paid stewart in 1910 and the $25 costs there with were charged to the Township, the Township's Assessment is actually $649.75. His Honor makes a proviso if this is not satisfactory he will call another Court and hear evidence where this $163.85 should be placed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To Whom It May Concern. To the Editor of the Guide:

May I use a small space in your valuable paper to give the citizens of our town a slight idea of the arrangement in general of the new street lighting contract?

Being in a position to know the details of the contract I feel it a duty to the citizens to give them an idea of what the council purpose doing in the matter of street lighting for the next five years to come.

I am of the firm impression that the public in general and the merchants in particular will be much disappointed with the new lights on Main St.

Although our Main St, is fairly well lighted now, it is by no means overdone. What then will it look like with less that half the light? The new contract for five years says half the light must do our main business street. On the whole arrangement (not Main St. alone, but on the entire system) the corporation will effect a saving of simply $140.00. How does it look to you? Less than half the light in our town to save $140.00.

Less than half the light in our town to save $140.00.

If the new arrangement would effect the operating expenses of the town and lower your taxes and mine to the extent of a dish of ice cream or a glass of—say lemonade, it wouldn't be so bad. I do not wish to convey the idea to any one that I am registering a "kick" or in any way finding fault with the good efforts of the present council, but Mr. Editor, thanking you for your kindness in this matter, I can't but think the new arrangement for Main St. is somewhat of an error."

The mills have been grinding. What think you Pousette?
Reeve Stapleford brought this matter (referred to in previous issues of the Guide) to the attention of the County Council at its recent session. He put forth a manly plea for humanities' sake and had our County Fathers support him almost to a man. One County Father said he had not lived in Warwick for 19 years. Oh! William! William! Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Charities, appeared on the scene and ordered that this one of Lambton's wards should be removed from jail and kindly treated at the Retuge, remarking that it was evident that the officials wished to "hand pick" the inmates.

the inmates.

All honor to the Reeve of Watford!

It is refreshing to know that we have arrived at such a stage of civilization that the community at large will not tolerate such treatment as has been handed out to

and have had plenty of rain."

F. Burton Kenward, D.D.S., of San Francis, Cal., writes:—"I am sending my substitution, with many apologies for delay, the paper is read with pleasure, not only by ourselves, but by Mrs. Kenward's grandmother, who is 92 years old. I must say that I notice an improvement in paper lately and think the merchants ought to back up, a paper that stands by them as your paper has been doing lately. I notice you have been having some real hot weather back there already. It has been quite a cool spring here, no real warm weather yet."

While working in his planing mill Thursday afternoon, W. J. Travis, lumiber dealer, Wyoming, aged about 65 years, met with a paintul accident. While engaged in sawing a board, his right hand came in contact with the buzzsaw, severing the index finger and lacerating the second finger. The wound lacerating the second finger. The wound was dressed by Drs. Reid and Kidd, and Travis is doing as well as can be expected, although weak from loss of blood.
