Republican Dissensions.

Politics are in an interesting condition in the United States. The great Republican party which came into being in 1856, and has controlled the Federal Government for the past twenty-one years, seems to be on the verge of breaking up. There have been serious differences of opinion among its adherents respecting the distributing of offices as the reward for party services, rotation in office, the interference of Federal officials with State politics &c., &c. These differences have at length broken out into open strife in the two largest States in the Union, New York and Pennsylvania. In the latter State the Republican party has for many years been absolutely controlled by Simon Cameron, who up to four or five years ago had been United States Senator with little intermission for fifteen or twenty years, and his son, Donald, who has been Senator since his father's resignation. These two "bosses" have maintained themselves in power by the unscrupulous use of Federal and State patronage, by the assent of officials, and as it is charged by bribes in its worst forms. The passions raised by the war, however, rendered a possible Democratic rule so hateful to Republican voters that they have preferred to put up with such gross violations of the principles of good government rather than admit their opponents to power. But the better elements of the party have gradually been taking courage. Last year in an election for State Treasurer, Mr. Wolf, a distinguished Republican member of the State House of Representatives, ran in opposition to the regular candidate of the party and polled a vote of 50,000. This year, when a Judge of the Supreme Court and the full Executive of the State, with the exception of the Treasurer, are to be elected, Independent Republicans, as they call themselves, have put into the field a full ticket headed by State Senator, Stewart, as candidate for Governor, in opposition to the Cameronian ticket headed by General Beaver. Last year's independent vote was at least doubled, and as the Democrats have nominated a very popular and able ticket headed by a Mr. Pattison, at present Controller of Philadelphia, the probabilities are that this year Pennsylvania will take its place among the Democratic States. And whether the factions of the Republican party unite again or not, it is tolerably clear that the reign of the house of Cameron is virtually at an end.

In the State of New York, in place of Regular and Independent Republicans we have Statewide Half-Breeds, the latter representing the reform element of the party. Between these factions there exists a feud more bitter than that in Pennsylvania. Three years ago Senator Conkling, who was then Boss of New York and a great typical Stalwart, got Alonzo Cornell, son of the founder of Cornell University, nominated for Governor in the face of the fiercest opposition in the Convention. In the election which followed, 40,000 of the Half-Breeds refused to vote for Cornell who was, however, elected by a small majority through the aid of Democratic votes. Though up to that time he had been merely a politician of the baser sort, chiefly famous as being Mr. Conkling's devoted henchman, he most agreeably disappointed his opponents by being out one of the best governors New York has ever had. The Half-Breeds in consequence handsomely attested the sincerity of their zeal for good government by going over to his side and advocating his nomination for a second term. And with well established party usage which thus rewards those who have satisfactorily lifted the gubernatorial chair. But, so curiously does the whirlwind of time bring in its revenges, in the mean time Cornell had become objectionable to Conkling. When the latter published a threat to resign his seat in the Senate in consequence of a misunderstanding with President Garfield, and wished to have his course approved by re-election, the Governor said that this was impossible and had the courage to tell him so. Then, again, last spring Cornell vetoed a bill remitting certain taxes to one of the elevated railroads in New York city, although Conkling, acting as the paid attorney of Jay Gould, who virtually owned the railroad, exerted himself to the utmost both by argument and persuasion to secure the Governor's signature. Mr. Conkling thereon set himself to work to defeat the re-nomination of his quondam admirer. In this he was aided by President Arthur, his warm personal friend, who threw in the scale the influence of his distinguished ability, who had more than once been Secretary of the Treasury, and who had been Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New York State. While the Half-Breeds had the highest respect for Secretary Folger, they resented his being thrust upon them by the Federal administration and worked all the harder for Cornell. Now when a political contest is pending in a State Convention it is of great importance to have control of the State Committee, for on it substantially depends the organization of the Convention and the skillful management of the organization often determines the victory. The Half-Breeds were confident that the majority of the Committee would be on their side. But two of their men went over to the other side, and two more who were absent were represented by men who obtained admission to the Committee on the strength of telegraphic proxies from the absentees which afterwards proved to be forgeries. The Stalwarts accordingly got control of the Convention, admitting their own friends, often without any show of justice, in cases where there were contested delegations, and triumphantly carried through Folger's nomination. The result has been startling. The larger and better portion of the Republican press is denouncing the ticket. Conspicuous and life-long Republicans, such as Henry Ward Beecher, George William Curtis, Rev. Dr. Cuyler, District Attorney Woodford, the State Woods and Senator Foster, say they will not support it. And as the Democrats with unwonted wisdom have put into the field an admirable candidate in the person of Mayor Cleveland of Buffalo, the chances are that in the November election New York will go Democratic by a tremendous majority. On the whole it seems plain that the better class of Republicans have made up their minds to reform the party or ruin it. We wish them success.

The Fall Exhibition.

Warm sunny weather on Tuesday made the day very agreeable for the show. The attendance of farmers and visitors was large, and the interest in the affair seemed undiminished. There were the usual number of entries (about 700) and usual number of competitors (100). The show was in some respects gratifying and others disappointing. Its differences from former exhibitions are evidences of the radical changes undergoing in the industrial and business operations of the people. Quantities of flannel and woolen goods of domestic make used to fill up the tables, but it now seems as if house wives have recognized that they are driven out of the field by steam factories.

Farmers have not been slow to benefit by the lesson read them by Prof. Sheldon and others, that young cattle fattened up and sold off bring better prices in the market and are more profitable than those longer kept, tho' fatter. Consequently, this Exhibition was marked by a striking absence of heavy fat cattle. The huge levitians of flesh formerly the pride of local shows have now become a thing of the past.

IN THE BUILDING.

The exhibit of roots were inferior to former years both in quality and quantity, excepting, perhaps, in the article of potatoes. These were good. There was nothing beyond the usual array of dairy produce or grains. The huge levitians of flesh formerly the pride of local shows have now become a thing of the past.

spring; 2nd, adjustable so that the sections can be set into the gears as far as necessary; 3rd, shorter crank by which more power is gained. In horse flesh, there was an improvement in some lines and an improvement backward in others. Draught horses shown were fair enough per se, but not up to the times as exhibition horses. There were several carriage horses, 5 four-year-old roadsters, 7 three-year-olds, 7 two-year-olds, and 6 one-year-olds. Mr. O. Fawcett carried first place in carriage horses. Mr. J. L. Black's yearling colt from the Kentucky horse, "J. P. Morris," imported by John Reid, is a very compact well-built animal and carried the honors followed closely by a handsome colt owned by Mr. Hazen Chapman, Pt. de Bute, sired by "Beacon," Mr. Lamy's horse. The general verdict is that another horse exhibition is unnecessary until and Senator Foster's improvement in blood, especially in draft horses. The following is the PRIZE LIST.

Commercial Notes.

—The catch of British Columbia salmon this season is two hundred and twenty thousand cases, valued at $1,200,000.

—British Columbia is enjoying a season of great prosperity, the exports for the quarter ending the 30th of September, amounting in value to the large sum of $900,000, the greatest amount ever reached in one quarter.

—The revenue of the Dominion of Canada for the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1882, was $33,381,381. This includes $1,744,456 from the salt of 1882, the expenditure was $27,155,902, so that the surplus is over six millions of dollars.

—The Examiner, of Charlottetown, says on the potato crop of P. E. Island, estimates this year's crop at 3,000,000 bushels, of which 2,000,000 bushels will be for sale. It thinks the farmer will receive at his home about 25 cents per bushel, all around, and that it costs 7 to 8 cents per bushel to raise potatoes, leaving a net profit, say, of 17 cents per bushel. It believes that Island shippers, who pay 25 cents, will only realize a small margin on prices now current in the Boston market.

—The Madawaska Election has resulted in the withdrawal of Messrs. Theriault and Lybott from the contest, and the election of Mr. Nadeau without opposition. This result is hailed by the Government papers as a great victory, and by the Opposition as a great piece of rascality. They declare that Theriault was bought off, and that Nadeau will support the Government if Theriault gets an appointment to the Legislative Council.

—The Historical and Natural History Societies, of St. John, have joined interests in an attempt to commemorate the Loyalists Centennial by the erection of a Memorial Hall, to contain a museum, public library, &c., &c.

If Nearly Dead
after taking some highly puffed up stuff, with long testimonials, turn to Hop Bitters, and have your feet and nerves cured. Try Troubles, Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Urinary Complaint. These diseases cannot resist the curative power of Hop Bitters; besides it is the best family medicine on earth.

—The Norwegian bark "Bollegod," of Grimsstad, Captain Hans T. Ugeland, from London, G. B., bound to New York with a cargo of chalk, and empty kerosene barrels, was totally wrecked on the north-east bar of Salt Island, during a gale of wind, on the morning of the 19th of August.

Personal and Political.

—Oscar Wilde is to treat Halifax with a second lecture.

—Prof. Foster is working in temperance campaign, attended a temperance campaign, attended a fox hunt on Saturday, at Victoria, B. C., distanced all others in the race, and came in first at the finish.

—Prof. G. T. Kennedy, late of Acadia College, Wolfville, has accepted the chair of Professor of Chemistry and Geology at King's College.

—On Saturday, the Chief Justice of Manitoba, Mr. Wood, died suddenly in Winnipeg of paralysis, with which he was smitten that day on the judgment seat.

—A deputation from Hon. Mr. Mackenzie's late constituents in Lambton waited on him Monday evening and presented him with an address and a cheque for $5,500.

—The Hon. Mr. Thompson, A. B., late of Mt. Allison, is studying civil engineering at McGill. He passed his matriculation at the head of his class, winning a valuable prize.

—Mr. Henry Blatch, Chief Clerk of the County Court of Queen's Co., P. E. I., was arrested on Saturday, charged with robbing Carvell Bros' premises of $800 on the 14th Sept.

—The Bishop of Huron has been pleased to appoint Rev. Mr. Mackie, formerly Rector of Sackville, to the parish of Kirkwood, Ont., to be incumbent of Chesley and adjacent parts of the county of Bruce.

—The corporation of the city of London has decided to present a congratulatory address to General Wolseley and a sword of honour and the freedom of the city to Admiral Seymour. General Wolseley has already received the freedom of the city.

—Mrs. Mary F. Henderson, of St. Louis, offered in April last, a prize of $100 to the author of a paper on the subject of "Common-Sense about Women." The essays were sent in without names, and Mrs. Henderson was the judge. The girl who won the prize proved to be a Cherokee Indian, who has since emigrated and gone home to the territory to live.

—Mr. Sancel, who has just returned from his European trip, has succeeded in getting French capitalists to extend the North Shore Railway to Tadoussac, with the view of making that the winter port of Canada. It is also said that a company will put on a new line of direct steamers from Havre to run in connection with the railroad, and that the French Government has promised a subsidy.

—The latest bit of legal sensation at now in the Senate of Parliament has been asked to go out to Egypt to defend Arabi Pasha. As the learned Sergeant is now in his sixtieth year he will certainly exhibit great enterprise if he went to the land of the Sphinx to plead on behalf of the Egyptian leader. It will be remembered that some years ago this distinguished English barrister went out to India to defend the Governor of Baroda, and received on that occasion an enormous fee for his services, a large portion of his way he dropped at Morocco on his way home.

—Jay Gould is one of the most prominent figures in the American society to-day. Half of the political and commercial strokes are attributed to him. Yet in 1826 he was a humble clerk in the office of a lawyer, a history of Delaware county, N. Y., every copy of which is now worth twenty-five dollars. But to-day that impecunious author and school teacher of twenty-six years ago is so burdened by wealth that when his bonds and securities and such like collateral are to be transported from one spot to another for any purpose, he is compelled to hire a number of draymen for the work. Recently, when a question was raised on Wall street as to his solvency, he exhibited some twenty million dollars worth of his sort of paper. It was understood at the time that if this display was not sufficient to settle the question, the draymen would be sent to fetch other paper representing about double that sum in stocks of railroads, express companies, telegraphs, and all the rest of it. It is not less than one hundred millions.

Marsh Improvement at Amherst.

Some thousands of acres of bog, moss and submerged marsh situated above the highway abridges, Amherst, have only needed the tide to become very valuable marsh land, of exactly the same character as exists at and that has enriched the farmers of Upper Sackville. It is the result of observations on the tide placed half a century ago, have remained intact, notwithstanding common sense and the common interests of the community demanded their removal. Efforts have been made intermittently to take out the obstructions and allow the tides free course, but such is the obstinate spirit existing in even an enterprising community that it has only been within a few months, the measure has been determined on. Preliminary to this work dikes have to be constructed and the Bayview shoals removed. Commissioners have been appointed for the former, viz: Capt. R. Lowenior, Col. Stewart and Hon. H. Black. Sir Charles Tupper has taken out the Railway abridges and replaced it by an iron and stone bridge. An extensive system of drainage was commenced many years ago by the late Hon. J. S. Morse and continued by Judge Morse and others who are to be congratulated on the near prospective success of their scheme.

"The Leaves Shall be for the Healing of the Nations."

The leaf of the Wild Strawberry has verified the Scriptural quotation, Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the marvel of healing in all varieties of Summer Complaints, and Fluency, Cholera, Morbus, Cholera Infantum and every form of Bowel Complaints of Children or adults promptly yields to its power of healing.
