THE CORONATION PROCEEDINGS WILL BE MADE QUITE BRIEF

ness in London.

CEREMONY MAY BE DEFERRED

Various Explanations of the King's Condition Offered-One Is Recrudescence of Malady.

London, July 29-1 a.m.-Coronation seats cannot be sold, even at reduced prices, and there is a steadily increasing feeling of uneasiness respecting the King's condition. Outwardly there is every indication that the coronation will occur in a fortnight. The medical bulletins are favorable, the rehearsals are in progress, proclamations have been posted, the processes of the redecoration of the approaches to the abbey has been resumed and preparations are being made for the great naval review. Notwithstanding all these signs of optimism, there are persistent reports that the coronation will be deferred a second time.

THE QUEEN'S FEARS. There are, unfortunately, strong reasons for believing that the Queen, the Prince of Wales and other members of the royal family are dreading the necessity for a second postponement, and yet are not prepared to assume the responsibility of advising it, since they fear that the mental effect upon the patient will be serious. It cannot be doubted that the officials both of the court and the abbey are expecting abandonment of the ceremonial and are wondering how the surgeons will justify their cwn conduct in mis-leading the nation. Their apprehen-sions may not be well founded, but it will not be a startling surprise for the public if a second postponement be announced in the course of the week.

THE KING'S CONDITION. Various explanations of the King's conditions are offered. One is that there are symptoms of a recrudescence of the malady. Another is that the wound is not healing properly, and that blood-poisoning is feared. Another is that the King's physicians, having found it necessary to comply with the patient's wishes respecting an early date for the coronation, are now forced to admit that they have overrated his recuperative powers and yet are unwilling to disappoint him. A REDUCED CEREMONIAL The list of explanations involves the theory that the King will be crowned as a final resource, but with a greatly reduced ceremonial adapted to the requirements of an invalid incapable of enduring any prolonged strain, fatigue, or excitement. The King, according to this forecast, will not drive with the Queen from the palace to the abbey, but will join her from the Confessors' Chapel, and only remain in sight during a few passages of the ceremonial. Whatever may be the truth respecting the King's condition, the coronation is not accepted as a foregone conclusion. The most hopeful thing about it is the fact that there is a general impression that it will not occur and consequently that the unexpected is likely to happen.

AFTER CORONATION. Soon after the coronation, Aug. 9, their majesties will go to Balmoral Castle and remain there for a few The air there is expected weeks. greatly to assist the King to recuper-

Occasionally there are sudden slides of debris down this cone into the deep gorge of the Riviere Blanche. These slides produce great columns of brown dust, resemble smoke that rises in billows from the mountains, and give the look of an eruption. At night these slidings of red hot rocks make a glowing streak. The phenomenon is merely a superficial one. As at St. Vincent, the many mud spouts, steam jets and local craters that have been reported are all superficial, caused by rainwater draining into the beds of hot, dry

Mr. Barton, the Premier of the Commonwealth of Australia, in one of the many speeches he delivered in the course of the day, warned his hearers that the British Empire was large enough, and that Britons now ought Yankton, S. D., July 28.-An earth- to look to consolidation rather than to BALFOUR ON SHIPPING TRUST. The premier, A. J. Balfour, in the House of Commons, in reply to a question in reference to the Atlantic shipping trust, said it was improbable that the government would be in a position to formulate a statement of its atti-tude toward the trust before the recess of parliament on Aug. 8. If any agreement were to be made with the trust involving a financial arrangement. such agreement, necessarily, would be subject to the approval of the house.

MORE TENDERS. The Allans and the Elder-Dempster steamship companies, jointly, also the Furness Line and several others, have tendered for the proposed fast Atlantic service between Canada and Great Britain.

The Canadian Pacific Railway's offer would entail an outlay of twenty-five million dollars, each passenger steamer costing four million dollars. The freight vessels will cost on an average $900,000 each. Insurance circles regard the pro-posal as a mistake, owing to the danger encountered in navigating the St. Lawrence River. They think that the year round the Halifax service would have every chance of success.

A high Canadian Pacific official that should the Government demand a higher speed than twenty knots an hour, the St. Lawrence route would be abandoned. Sir Alfred L. Jones, president of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce and head of the firm of Elder-Dempster & Company, said that if the offer of the Canadian Pacific Company was accepted by the Government, the Liverpool lines of steamers would be exposed to competition, which would render it impossible for them to carry on a lucrative trade.

CABLE NOTES. It is said in Washington that renew-ed efforts are making for an understanding between the Colombian gov-ernment and the revolutionary junta in New York that will result in a termination of hostilities. It is rumored that the Anglo-Japanese alliance respecting Corea is creating uneasiness at Paris. It is feared that if the report be confirmed a grave international situation will be created. France and Russia already having guaranteed Corea's independence.

London, July 29.-In the House of Commons, John G. S. Mr. MacNeill maintained that the attitude of Lord Alverstone and Sir John Bigham toward the Jameson

The latter ex-presses grateful thanks and high appreciation of the honor, which he regards as another proof of the loyal feelings entertained towards mother country by the Freemasons of Canada, and requests that the same be transmitted to the Canadian lodge. Company Formed to Inaugurate Wireless Telegraphs.

MAS A CAPITAL OF $8,750,000

Armstrong-Orling System Adopted-Will Furnish Wireless 'Phones as Well-Ready in Six Months.

London, July 28.-The Westminster Gazette announces that a company has been formed with a nominal capital of £1,750,000, which has been privately subscribed, for the purpose of operating the Armstrong-Orling system of wireless telegraphy. The paper says it is informed that this company will begin operations on a large scale almost immediately. Two factories will be erected in Buckinghamshire, England, and in France at places which have already been selected. Everything in connection with the new scheme down to an illustrated catalogue and price list is ready. The Gazette says:

"A perusal of an advance proof of the catalogue suggests the possibility that everyone will be enabed within six months to buy for a moderate price a handy wireless telegraph and telephone apparatus for private installation and use. It will be the simplest matter to connect a house with the city. Patents have been taken out by the Armstrong-Orling people, whose sys-tem differs in many important respects from that of Signor Marconi. This development, it is said, is the outcome of experiments made at Hughenden in the autumn of 1901, when electrical impulses were sent through the ground without wires and without the high poles used by Mar-

Among the experiments was one on the steering gear of a torpedo lying at a distance of 500 yards in a ditch filled with water. The torpedo was moved at will to the right or left by pressing or releasing the lever of a small transmitter into which the elec trical current of a small battery had been conducted. In a similar manner an electric lamp raised on a high pole far out in the fields was lighted and extinguished.

In all cases the electric current was generated by an ordinary Bunsen car-bon and zinc battery and then led into the ground through a transmitter, which was kept in a case no larger than a good-sized cigar box. Thence the impulses speedily traveled to their destination where the receiver was

In both the transmitter and receiver are imbedded the secrets of Armstrong's and Orling's inventions. Last autumn one or two miles seemed to be the limits of telegraphing or tele-phoning through the ground. Since then Armstrong and Orling, with sleven Swedish assistants, have enormously increased the power of the transmitter and the sensitiveness of

The Gazette says it is informed in their behalf now that they can tele-graph or telephone fully five miles, and by the time the company is in working order they expect to be prepared to sell an apparatus with which every one will be able to telegraph or telephone anywhere within at least twenty miles. The ground is always used as a conductor. All that is needed is to connect the telephones in a room with the transmitter or receiver by means short wire with the nearest gas of water pipe, which will carry the current to and from the earth. The walls of houses do not form any ob-

When telegraphing at a greater distance than twenty miles the Armstrong-Orling Company is still forced to use the air as a conductor of the shooting electrical sparks from station to station. This requires high poles at both ends, but they say that these poles will be only one-tenth the height of those used by Signor Marconi in order to be effective for the same distance. They also say that they are able to send 100 letters in the same time that it takes Marconi to send six. They say their "relays," or an appli-ance used for catching or receiving the electrical impulse shot through the air from station to station, is far more sensitive than any ever previously invented, and is fifty times more sensitive than Thomson's syphon recorder. It is so sensitive that a dry battery consisting of a piece of zinc of microscopic size and an infinitesimal piece of earbon will work it. In a test with Marconi's Siemens "relay," the latter with eight volts recorded electrical impulses at 1,699 miles. The Armstrong-Orling people say that their with only one volt worked even at 1.299 miles. According to advance proofs of the price list the charge for transmitters for sending Morse signals short distances will be £10, and for long distances £15, in addition to a royalty of £1 per year. A complete telephone outfit for short distances will cost £4 nier, of St. Alphonsus' Church, Windper year and a royalty of £1. The prices of the relays are left blank for the present, but will be filled up later who hitherto has used a searchlight thirty-five centimetres in diameter, intends to construct another between 100 and 200 centimetres, expecting to speak forty kilometres, which would be a distance sufficient to cover a modern city. It is affirmed, transmitting orders at sea.

THE ANTHRACITE STRIKE

Miners Being Well Cared For, before Sept. 1. Says Secretary Wilson.

Stand Taken by the President of the Canadian Northern Railway.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 29 .- Secretary Wilson, of the miners, said today that the anthracite men are being well cared for, although the assessment of the bituminous miners is just beginning to come in. He does not expect the bulk of the first assessment until next week, because the majority of the miners are paid semi-monthly. The clerical force at headquarters has been increased to handle the funds. The miners are making an appeal to the members of the American Federation of Labor, which practically amounts to a direct appeal from the officers of the

THE C. N. R. SITUATION. Winnipeg, Man., July 29 .- At the request of the Canadian Northern Railway strikers an authorized committee of the Trades and Labor Council waited on the local government on Saturday to see if an amicable adjustment of the differences between the strikers and the railway could not be arrived at. Mr. Rogers, acting premier, said he would do all that lay in his power to bring the matter to a satisfactory settlement, and promised to interview William MacKenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway, who was to arrive in Winnipeg at 3 o'clock. After interviewing Mr. MacKenzie, Mr. Rogers notified the committee by telephone that Mr. MacKenzie refused to recognize the strikers. The Trades Council called a special meeting of the council for the evening, to consider the advisability of placing the Canadian Northern Railway under the ban of organized labor. STRIKE AVERTED. Bay City, Mich., July 28.-There will be no strike of Bay City's street railway employes. As a result of a conference between the receivers of the company and Chairman Dilworth, of the executive committee of the employers' association, the men secure slight increase. Previously the minimum wage was 14 cents an hour, with an increase every six months of a cent an hour. Under the new proposition the minimum wage is 15 cents an hour, and the men secure the maximum, 17 cents per hour, at the end of a year. The employes accepted the proposition for the time being, as it is understood that the receivership of the company is to be ended shortly, when the men may ask for a still further advance, with a better chance of setting it. WANT TO GO TO WORK. Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 28.-It is understood that the rock miners will petition the executive board of the Mine Workers Union for permission to return to work. It is said that the employment of this class of anthracite miners would not affect the situation.

The announcement by the officials of Oxford colliery that they will resume operations on Aug. 2 is being discussed here, but as yet there is no evidence that the Wyoming operators will take similar action. The opinion prevails throughout this region that there will be no attempt to break the strike

One million, two hundred thousand within a day's haul of New York. If this supply was brought here the coal presidents could break the $8 rate now prevailing to householders and bring anthracite down to the price it should sell for.

The trust openly boasts that it can end the miners' strike between suns, but it is discreetly silent on its ability to bring coal to the normal rate.
Counting on their chances of bringing the miners into thorough subjection by September 1, the operators have begun moving the supply of coal on hand nearer the shipping centers, so that they will have a clear way when they resume operations.

In the aggregate about 100,000 cars are run by all the companies in the trust. A considerable percentage of these are now loaded and standing in yards and sidings near the storage Each represents 30 tons of the trust's "hold back," and each is being quietly unloaded, its contents going to a "country dealer" who is supposed to have stock on hand all the time because he has no market for the coal he has bought. The "country dealer" is very popular with the middlemen in the coal trade just now, and he finds high favor with the agents for the re-tailers, who, in some mysterious way, ferret out the bumpkins who are enough to have coal on hand for all occasions. Anybody who is a day in the coal business learns that the trust, the "country dealer" and the agent who doles out supplies to the retailers, just as he is directed by the trust, are

Wounded at Hart's River-Comrades Thought They Buried Him.

Ottawa, July 28.-Farrier Sergt. Mc-Hugo, who has served with the C. M. R., and formerly with the Strathcona Horse in South Africa, is telling a rather good story on himself. He was badly wounded in the engagement at Hart's River, being shot through the right lung. In this condition he was taken to a Boer farmhouse with a comrade, who was also seriously injured. The wounded men were visited by an army surgeon, who left them with little hope that they would re-cover. McHugo's comrade died from his injuries, but it was reported at the camp that McHugo was the dead man His grave was accordingly dug, the usual wooden slab with thereon erected, and everything put in readiness for the burial. A blanket was drawn in which to wran the body and the funeral party proceeded to the man and buried it, under the impression that they were interring McHugo, and not until a Canadian who knew "Mac" happened along and identified the living man as the one supposed to be dead did the facts come to light.

GRAVES OF CANADIANS. Lieut.-Col. Evans' last diary, covering the latter part of the stay of the second C. M. R. in South Africa, states that stones had been placed over the graves of Corp. Knisely and Pte. Day. The graves of these two gallant fellows were found to have been neatly arranged and kept in good order by the Boers. The graves of the honored dead at Boschbult were also put in good order and stones erected over

Large sums are being spent to improve Montreal harbor, and it would be a serious thing if the port should be left stranded, as it were, by the competition of a new Atlantic service, utilizing another Canadian port. There is another way of looking at it. The harbor of Montreal is being improved, not for the special advantage of that eaty, but for the benefit of Canadian producers and shippers. Their interests are paramount. If they can profit by shipping from another port, so much the werse for Montreal and for the shipping companies which make it deliver the goods. their terminus. The great object is to get Canadian products to the European markets at the cheapest rates, and this trade will follow the lines of least resistance. But does it follow that Montreal will be sidetracked? It is the furthest inland seaport and has a great advantage over its rivals in the shorter rail haul. Moreover the volume of Canadian ocean-borne commerce is increasing by leaps and bounds. The development of the Northwest has already taxed the capacity of the railways to carry the exportable surplus to the seaboard, and the growing traffic on the canal people of Glasgow yesterday that too fast Canadian service there will be business enough for all the Canadian ports and all the steamship lines. lar Science Monthly, Prof. Thorndike, of Columbia University, undertakes to discuss "Marriage Among Eminent Men." This would hardly be thought a promising subject for scientific treatment, but Prof. Thorndike has been looking up the data, and draws some comforting conclusions. He remarks that the failure of the human race to. reproduce at the top has been the cause of frequent complaints by students of society. The common impression is that the top strata of society are constantly dying out, that gifted men and women marry much less, and later, and have fewer children than the thoughtless multitude. Prof. Thorndike tested two of these claims in the case of eminent men in the United States. The well-known publication, "Who's Who in America?" contains the names of 10,000 men, and out of these he selected 1.000 or more, as representative of the top hundredth of men of their age. Their attitude toward marriage, he says, will give an idea of the attitude of men who have shown superiority over at least 99 per cent of their fellow-men. The results of the examination are as follows: Of 286 eminent men, between 60 and 70 years old, 88 per cent are married. Of freeman at the mercy of a person who 347 eminent men between 50 and 60 Of 342 eminent men between 40 and 50 years old, 88 per cent are married. Of 243 eminent men between 30 and 40 years old, 85 per cent are married. dian Affairs is a highly useful manual, ried before the age of 25, 43.3 per cent per cent between 35 and 45. Even the slight differences observable might vanish if the statis-Aics were freed from the tendency to report the date of a second rather than

In Prof. Thorndike's estimation, the facts concerning the marriage of gifted men in America disprove another common dogma-that the age at marthe case of professional men because of the increasing amount of preparation required for success in professional life under modern conditions. The age of marriage for gifted men has months in a half-century. "These facts," the writer says, "witness to the fundamental conservatism of human nature. human ways; he fancies that some force in the environment is making or marring our customs. But the inborn make-up of men is always a factor, and one that remains unaltered through many half-centuries."

Vertical Writing.

A controversy over vertical writing is raging in the Hamilton papers. The question is an old one here. Four or five years ago vertical writing was made optional in the public schools, and the teachers have given it a fair trial with the authorized copybooks. The Atlantic shipping lines, running Apparently it has not taken hold, as the examination papers of the pupils are written with very few exceptions in the Spencerian or slanting style. The teachers note that pupils in the first class, who have been printing their letters, show a tendency to vertical writing because it resembles the printed form. As soon as the children acquire facility they invariably change to the Spencerian style in their ordinary writing, no matter what the papers are written hurriedly as a rule, and the presumption is that the pupils find the slanting method more rapid and flowing. In one city-Kingston, we think-they have compromised by teaching the vertical system in the first form, and the Spencerian in the others. It makes no difference whether writing is straight or slanting, so long as it is well done, but if a pupil has a natural tendency to write one way, and is obliged to practice another way, his penmanship may be spoiled. For that reason it is better to leave the matter optional.

The figures are $18,000,000 for the Kondike and $20,-000,000 for British Columbia. There is some excuse for the local prejudice which inspired that rugged quatrain:

General indignation has been aroused by the case of Editor Macadams of the Sandon, B. Mr. Macadams committed a serious offense and apologized for it, but the judges felt their wounded dignity required his imprisonment. Every effort, even to the offering of a reward of 50 guineas, was vainly made to discover the author. All that ever transpired was that the poem, in a fair clerk's hand, was found near a skeleton of remarkable beauty of form and color in the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, Lincoln's Inn, London, and that the curator of the museum had sent it to Mr. Perry, editor and proprietor of the Morning Chronicle:

Behold this ruin; 'twas a skull Once of ethereal spirit full. This narrow cell was life's retreat, This space was thought's mysterious seat. What beauteous visions filled this spot, What dreams of pleasure long forgot, Nor hope, nor love, nor joy, nor fear, Have left one trace of record here.

Beneath this moldering canopy
Once shone the bright and busy eye,
But start not at the dismal void—
If social love that eye employed,
If with no lawless fire it gleamed,
But through the dews of kindness
beamed,
That eye shall be forever bright
When stars and suns are sunk in night.

Within this hollow cavern hung
The ready, swift and tuneful tongue.
If falsehood's honey it disdained.
And when it could not praise was

Yet gentle concord never broke.
This stient tongue shall plead for thee
When Time unveils eternity. Say! did these fingers delve the mine? Or with its envied rubles shine? To hew the rock or wear the gem Can little now avail in them: But if the page of truth they sought, Or comfort to the mourner brought.

Avails it, whether bare or shod,
These feet the paths of duty trod?
If from the bowers of ease they fled
To seek affliction's humble shed.
If grandeur's guilty bribe they spurned
And home to virtue's cot returned—

De Windt Fails to Cross Bering Straits on Ice.

LOOKING UP A RAILWAY ROUTE

Rough Experience 600 Miles Over Frozen Surface With Short Food Supply.

Victoria, B. C., July 29.—Harry De Windt has failed for the third time in his attempt to cross Bering Straits on the ice, but he has had an interesting trip, which, a Dawson paper says, has trip, which, a Dawson paper says, has been partly undertaken for the purpose of an investigation as to the feasibility of a railway to Bering Straits in opposition to the Lebel scheme. He says it is a practicable scheme, but withholds details. De Windt and his party left Skaguay on Thursday. Thursday. He gave an interview at Dawson which has arrived in advance of him. He left Paris on Dec. 19 and went direct to Irkutsk, on the Trans-Siberian Railway. This place was reached Jan. 12. Horses were immediately obtained, and a journey of 2,000 miles, occupying 23 days, was made to Yakutsk, one of the last of the exile settlements in Siberia. Reindeer were obtained there to reach Vernoy-ski, 800 miles north. This journey was completed in 14 days. A change of reindeer and the party was off to Nijinsko-byinsk, 1,000 miles away, on the Arctic coast, the last outpost of the czar. FOOD SUPPLY SHORT.

Here a famine was found to exist, and the natives were dying of kora, similar to smallpox. Dog teams were obtained, but the supply of food was limited. Had it hot been for the carnyl, a sort of permission, the party would have suffered hunger. It became their solvetion on their next. came their salvation on their next journey of 1,650 miles to East Cape, f Bering Straits. Six hundred miles of this journey was on ice of the Arctic and on the rough shore, where they found but little driftwood. An ordinary tent was used, and the cold food told heavily upon them. The last journey occupied 45 days. They were badly used up when on May 16 they struck East Cape and met friendly Indians, who had some good food, limited in variety, but most valuable to the travelers. Previous arrangements had made with the Thetis to meet the De Windt expedition. It was not until June 18 that the Thetis hove in sight. Capt. Healy said he was searching for the Portland and the Jeannie, but would take them across to the American coast. He could not make shore, but set the travelers on the ice about five miles from land. RESCUED BY INDIANS. Indians from Cape Prince of Wales came out and rescued them. In a few days the ice cleared and the steamer Sadie picked them up and took them to St. Michael's.

Mr. De Windt heard of fabulously rich placer mines being found on the Lena River. He has as company Vicompte de Clinchamp Bellegarde, of Paris, George Harding, an Englishman, who has always accompanied him on his travels, and Stephen Rastorguyeff, Russian from Yakutsk, Siberia, whom the Government directed to accompany De Windt as an assistant through the wilds of that country.

London on the Thames, in Ontario, & prosperous city of 40,000 population, and one of the most important railroad cen-ters in Canada, has one of the very best propositions for seekers of conservative nvestments to be found anywhere. I

LONDON STREFT RAILWAY STOCK. an 8 per cent dividend payer, listed on both the Toronto and Montreal Stock both the Toronto and Montreal Stock Exchanges. A few facts in connection with the investment may be of interest. The London Street Railway charter runs 50 years from 1875, the franchises running the same length of time, that is, until 1925. The total authorized bond issue is $750,000, 5 per cents, but only $20,000 per mile can be issued, and not to exceed the amount of capital stock subscribed. At the present time the total amount of bonds outstanding is $400,000, the greater portion of which are closely held in England, being listed on the London Stock Exchange. Exchange.

The authorized capital and the amount issued is identical with the bond issue, so that there is now outstanding $400,000, on which dividends at the rate of 8 per cent per annum are paid in semi-annual installments, 4 per cent each in January and July.

The Company owns the exclusive Street The Company owns the exclusive street Railway rights in London, ratified by the Ontario Legislature, so that no other company can operate in London nor parallel their line, which is a decided advantage over the franchises of an American city. The city requires the Company to increase its mileage by one mile for every 2,000 increase in the city's population. It has been customary for the Company to carry an overdraft at a bank, occasioned by extensions and improvements, to an amount sufficiently esting study. You large to warrant an increase in the capital stock issue of not less than $50,000 at a time, and then disposing of $50,000 of bonds for the next expenditure when the same total again reaches $50,000. The right to subscribe to the new issue of stock at par is a privilege enjoyed by the stockholders.

The shares are $40 each at par, but quotations are based on $100 shares. For instance, the stock is at present quoted at 165, yielding approximately

5 PER CENT NET INCOME.

When a sale is referred to at 165, it really means $66 per share. Eight per cent on $40 is $3 20 per year, $66 invested so as to receive $3 20 per year, is yielding 4.88 per cent income on the investment, or practically 5 per cent. For a highgrade safe investment, such as London Street Railway unquestionably is, the present quoted price of the stock, considering the fact that there is no water in the stock issue, is too low. Any special demand for the shares would bring about a about a RISE IN THE SHARES. of 35 points. It is my candid conviction that the stock is easily worth 200, at which price the income yield would be 4 per cent. The Company is now earning 12 per cent on its stock issue, and paying 8 per cent dividends with the stock quoted at 165. Montreal Street is earning 12 per cent, paying 10 per cent dividends, and the stock is quoted at 275, at which price the investment nets 3.63 per cent.

The capitalization, including both bonds and stock, is go extremely conservative us to be below the average, as is proven by the following table giving capitalization per mile of various City Street Railways in Canada:

Vancouver Winnipeg Toronto

EARNINGS.

Earnings were $141,845 59, compared to $119,109 42 for the previous year, an increase of $22,736 17, or 19.9 per cent. Operating expenses were $84,556 95, compared to $78,501 22, an increase of $6,055 73, or 7.71 per cent. to $78,501 22, an increase of $0,000 15, or 7.71 per cent.

The Manager, Mr. Carr, estimates the earnings for 1902 at $160,000, and the operating expenses at $90,000. After deducting $20,000 for Bond interest, the surplus remaining applicable to dividends would be equivalent to over 12 per cent on the outstanding capital.

COMPOUNDING INCREASED

EARNINGS. The remarkable increase in Street Railway earnings all over the country is more remarkable in that each recurring annual increase is compounding over pre-vious years. We all know to what wious years. We all know to what heights compound interest will climb, at current interest rates; but when doubled and quadrupled, as in Street Railway earnings, the result in a decade is marvelous. Street Railway earnings are showing compound increases of from 10 to 30 per cent per year. The increase in Gross Receipts of the London Street Railway

Receipts of the London Street Railway last year was practically 20 per cent over 1900. No well managed Street Railway in any locality is showing less than 10 per cent increase in gross receipts per annum. This has been going on steadily every year since the innovation of electrically propelled roads.

The possible earning capacity for the future is surprising when one figures it out. Take for instance the earning stateout. Take for instance the earning state-ment of the London Company for the year 1901. Assume that the gross earnings will only show an average annual increase of 10 per cent, which is a minimum basis. Allow at the outside 60 per cent for operating expenses, and note from the following table how the earn-Gross Earn- Expenses, Net Earnings.$141,845 59 171,633 15

Year. 93,618 08 102,979 89 113,277 87 124,605 66 137,066 22 228,443 71 251,288 08 276,416 88 304,058 56

The above estimate furnishes an interesting study. You can figure out for yourself if the stock now selling on a 5 per cent basis around 165, it should be worth on the same basis in 10 years 635. It should be remembered that up to the present time the London Street Railway has never operated cars on Sunday. It is only reasonable to assume that it will not be a great while before their cars will run on Sundays, and consequently add materially to the earnings. In fact, the earnings would increase from 15 per cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

cent to 20 per cent by the addition of Sunday receipts.

The object of this market letter is to call the attention of investors to a security of unusual merit. The opportunity to buy Franchise Corporation securities in which there is absolutely no inflation, but where the proceeds from the sale of the Company's Stocks and Bonds have actually gone into the construction and actually gone into the construction and building up of the property, is not al-ways to be found. Again, the Franchise of the London Street Railway is one of the most desirable of any Company on the Continent. It runs for 23 years longer, at the expiration of which time the city has the right to buy the properthe city has the right to buy the proper-ty, the value of which is to be fixed by arbitration. The property has been in successful operation for many years, suf-ficient to establish it firmly as to its per-manency and unquestionable earning power.

Capitalists and investors of both large and small amounts are satisfied to put and small amounts are satisfied to put their money in safe quarters, where the income derived is 3 to 4 per cent. They can, of course, invest so as to yield 5 and 6 per cent, and even higher; but to buy a 5 per cent income where there is no element of risk is always inviting, particularly so when to this condition is added the practical assurance of future increased value.

London Street Railway Stock has sold as high as 180. The majority of the capital stock has until recently been owned by the Everett-Moore Syndicate, of Cleveland, Ohio. In conformity with their policy of reducing their holdings in the various companies in which they are interested, a block of the syndicate stock has come on the market and is being taken by Canadian investors at the present level of quotations, which is a decided improvement over previous efforts to buy the stock at reasonable figures. There's just one method of cure for this terrible condition—plenty of food, but mind, food properly digested. That's the difficulty—the digestive power of the stomach must be improved. HUDSON'S DRY SOAP is the original powdered soap.

It was in its maturity before modern washing powders were ever heard of.

For sixty years it has been in constant use in Great Britain, and is well and favorably known throughout this country. It has been tested and tried in every way, shape and form by three generations of housewives.

Age alone doesn't necessarily imply merit, yet no article could stand daily tests for considerably over half-a-century unless it was doing all that was claimed for it.

CHAPTER XXI. have often pondered whether the Marble Eride was marble all through; whether that astonished bridegroom where belrothil in the tennis court was to unguardedly brought about took sufficient pains to thaw the stone-cold lady who was good enough to chill his uncomfortable couch. Is he the only gallant who has placed a ring on the finger of an image-aye, and found the finger curve itself inflexibly that the ring would never come off again? And should he net have endeavored more diligently to penetrate the outward insensibility that resisted him, and to discover the living, loving woman, warm within that seem-ing statue bride? I don't think that Ada Latimer was flint to the very center. I have my doubts that the outer mistrusted hugely and so misrepresented the inner woman, and I am not satisfied in my own mind that people usually take infinite pains to avoid those who are indifferent to them. Truth to tell, Ada's self-imposed penance began to grow very integer. some. It was one thing to resolve that there could be nothing in common between herself and this dangerous fascination, and another to resign altogether even the merit of resisting its influence. While she knew he was watching for her at every turn, and thinking of her every hour in the day, it was neither difficult nor altogether without a morbid gratification of its own to disappoint and torment him, and glory in the firmness and good sense that could thus triumph over temptation; but when he was gone out of town and far away, when he was surrounded by scenes and people with whom she had nothing to do; when it was his turn to be rational and strong-minded, and alive to his own interests, how would it be then? Ada began to think that prudence might be carried too far, that It was one thing to resolve that prudence might be carried too far that she had willfully ill-used one from whom she had experienced unvarying deference and consideration; that she had been selfish, unjust, unkind. So surely e got to this last word, the tears rose to her eyes, and she thought how weak, how foolish and how unhappy she

We have no English exponent for an uncomfortable feeling which our neigh-bors call "pitie de soi-meme." It is an enervating and deleterious sentiment, but by no means rare in either sex when under the influence of each other's at-tractions. Ada suffered from it intensetractions. Ada suffered from it intensely. It seemed so hard that she must work, work all her days and never be happy. She felt so wasted in her lonely, loveless life; she who knew her own powers so well—as all do if they only would confess it; she who could have made such a heme for one she loved, and been so happy in it herself, and it was not to be! She must not even have the ideal pleasure of worshiping a sentiment, a dream, a myth; for, after all, this Mr. Orme had been but trifling with her and wakening her interest under false pre-Orme had been but trifling with her and awakening her interest under false pretenses. She had seen him herself only last night at the opera, in that dark, bold-looking woman's box, apparently engrossed completely by his entertainer, and the face she was beginning to know so well rose up before her, and the kind eyes were looking into her own once more, till it seemed impossible he could be so false and unfeeling. And yet what had he to do there the whole evening, never once looking at the stage-for she had witched him narrowly, be sure—and talking all the time with such absorbing interest. If he were indeed so utterly unworthy, she ought to hate him, she would hate him! No, she would hate herself for loving him through it all.

Then she reflected this was worse and worse. Virtually, was he not even now another's? Miss Lores had said. Then she reflected this was worse and worse. Virtually, was he not even now another's? Miss Jones had said he was engaged to marry his cousin; she had herself seen the note to "Dearest Gertrude." He could not but be devoted to such a girl as that thought poor Mrs. Latimer; so handsome, so clever, so fluent—above all, so high-bred. It would indeed he his saying to make such a indeed be his saving to make such a marriage. It could not but turn out well, and no one would be more rejoiced to hear of his welfare than herself. Yes, night and morning she would pray on her knees for his happiness. Such an interest, at least, was allowable! there could be no harm in that!

So, having arrived at this conclusion.
Ada bethought herself it was her bounden duty to recommence her music lessons in Belgrave Square forthwith She would in Belgrave Square forthwith. She would take a double interest in Lady Gertrude now: and if it should so chance that the bridegroom-elect came in while the instruction was going on, why it was a proper punishment to undergo for the dreams she had permitted herself, and it would, besides, be an excellent test by which she might prove the puritive her. which she might prove the purity of her own feelings and the firmness of her resolutions. Also she deserved some indulgence for her late self-denial, and she could not but admit that she would like to see him, if only once more, for the last time. If this desire was weak and wrong she alone would have to pay the penalty; no one else could imagine what it would cost her. Surely if she what it would cost her. Surely if she chose to purchase the gratification at so high a price, she was entitled to do so; and then, it was to be positively for the last time.

All those last times are years fold. Ah, those last times are very fatal. It is not the "first step" that costs so much; it is the "once again," the addi-tional stone imposed that breaks down the whole fabric. A gambler wins such a sum of money as his highest hopes have scarcely calculated on, but he can-not leave the table without one more not leave the table without one more throw; he must try "just once again." Fortune shakes her head and he loses so he goes on to retrieve that single false step, to regain the status ante, which nobody ever did yet or ever will, and little by little his winnings disappear, and he rises from the table in far worse plight than he sat down. A tumbler repeats the arduous somersault for which he is celebrated in the profession, to the admiration of applauding hundreds in wondreus succession. Breathless and exhausted, but fired by the loud encores, he tempts to sawdust "once again." and breaks his neck. It was by going "once again" to the well that the hapless pitcher became a proverb. It is by listening "once again" to the two whispered at that resort, that the village maiden's heart shares the same fate, Depend upon it. Don Quixote was right. When he had tried the strength of his pasteboard helmet by cleaving it in twain with one stroke of his good sword, he mended the hattered headpless carefully. with one stroke of his good sword he mended the battered headniege carefully and deliberately enough, but he abstained from proving it "once again." and deliberately enough, but he abstained from proving it "once again."

So Mrs. Latimer resolved to write to Lady Gertrude and tell her the cold was better, and appoint a future time for the recommencement of the lessons; and to this she was the more disposed from the fact of her having an engagement to sing at the last morning concert of the season. Of course, if she could undertake the latter, she was bound to fulfill the former duty; and if truth must be told she had rather set her heart upon this public display for more reasons than one. It was the day after her visit to the opera (a rare amusement for Ada, and we have seen how she enjoyed it!)—it would probably be crowded by those admirers of music who could not obtain such another indulgence of their taste till next year. She ought not to neglect such an opportunity, for the favor of the musical world, she thought rather bitterly, was the very bread she ate. Also, she was to ging a certain song of which I have already spoken, and it was just possible Gilbert Orme might be there to hear it. You see how successfully Mrs. Latimer's self-discipline went on. You see how easy it is to warn the tide of human feelings.—'Thus far shalt thou go, and no farther.' How it is only necessary to say to yourself "I will cease to care," to become completely indifferent. What a ductive instrument is this human heart of ours, which responds so harmoniously to our better judgment and our will; from which we can evoke whatseever from which we can evoke whatsoever tones we desire, and which we can tune as we would a plane or a harp, and never fear that a chord may be strung to too high a pitch, and so break once for all! Oh! it is a goodly life, this inner life, when we strive to regulate for ourselves. So calm, so independent, so ignorant of misgivings and remorse, so full of self-reliance and self-content! If you cannot reliance and self-content! If you cannot rule your voice, Mrs. Latimer, more deftly than your feelings, there will be no small discord in the tune you have set yourself to sing. If your notes are to be no steadier than your nerves, you had better make your excuses at once, and sit down in silence before it is too late.

Facts to Tickle

the Fans' Fancy

The very latest wrinkle in coaxing ball players to jump has been discovered by President Hart, of Chicago, If that gentleman speaks seriously, says the Detroit Free Press. It has developed that the agent who was after Crawford and Beckley, of Cincinnati, for the purpose of turning them over to an American League club, said to be Detroit, also endeavored to induce | ing words: Joe Tinker, of Chicago National League, to jump his contract. Tinker was offered $1,500, it is asserted, as a bonus for quitting Selee's team. Hart asserts, without a smile, that the agent offered to add $5 for every base hit made by the player.

BALTIMORE AFFAIRS. Baltimore, Md., July 28.—The troubles of the Baltimore American Baseball Club are to be aired in the courts. Yesterday the Baltimore Baseball and Athletic Company, by their attorney, yellow cat and place it in a sack, first filed a bill in Circuit Court No. 2, asking that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the American League grounds, and also asking that Presiwhile the mixture is effervescing, re- dent Byron B. The bill was filed against Byron B. Johnson, defendant, and upon it Judge Henry D. Harian signed an order requiring cause to be shown by July 31 next why the receiver should not be appointed as prayed. The bill states that in January the club became a member of the American League, and leased the present grounds on the York road. This lease, the bill declares, was assigned to President Ban Johnson in March last as trustee. Besides the appointment of a receiver, the bill asks that the assignment of the lease from the Baltimore Baseball Club to Ban Johnson be declared void, and that Johnson be required to render an accounting for the profits on the games received by him. An injunction is also prayed to prevent the president of the American League from disposing of the club's assets and property at the baseball grounds. Columbus, O., July 28 .- The Grand Circuit meeting opened here yesterday with all conditions favorable for a suc cessful week of trotting and pacing. The weather was warm and delightful until a hard storm blew up and drenched the track so thoroughly that the 2:09 pace, in which three heats had been decided, had to be postponed until tomorrow. Before the storm the track was lightning fast, and every heat winner lowered his mark. Directum Spier, Henri Schmulback's fouryear-old stallion, was placed to win the 2:30 trot, selling in the auctions at $50 to $16 for the field of three. Th field price was reduced to seven after the first heat, and many of the pools were sold at that figure. The son of Directum justified the confidence of his backers by leading from wire to wire in both heats, reducing his record in the second from 2:131/2, made in his first start at Cleveland last week, to 2:114. Darwin fought him out in each heat, but was always a length behind at the finish. The 2:09 pace was postafter Fred Wedgewood had taken the first two heats and Capt. Sphinx the third. Dan R. and Daphne Dallas sold equal favorites before the race, each bringing $50 in a pool of $125. Dan R. could not catch Wedgewood in the first heat and Daphne Dallas was unable to land the second or third, for both of which she was driven hard. The 2:18 pace was a gift to Miss Leach, the favorite, at $20 to $25, for a field of three.

That applause was the outpouring of that feeling of sym-pathy for the afflicted which is ever present in the American breast. He deserved the applause he

> Dan Patch is still unbeaten, and to the average student of racing form it looks as though it would take a horse fast enough to beat 2:04 by quite a margin to get first money away from the son of Joe Patchen. At Detroit he let Searchlight lead him to the half in about one minute, and then he stepped around that horse as handily as can be imagined and won as he pleased. True, his fastest mile was in 2:05, but it is quite certain that he to 1 and 5 to 1, 1; Pearl Finder, 99 could have paced in 2:03 had the occa-(Redfern), 3 to 1 and 4 to 5, 2; Leonid, sion demanded. Just now it looks as 94 (J. Martin), 9 to 10 and 2 to 3, 3. could have paced in 2:03 had the occasion demanded. Just now it looks as Patchen will be about as prominent in the 2.04 class this year as he was in the slow class last season, says the Horse World.

> > "Quartermark," the traveling cor-respondent of the Horse World, recently visited London, and the last issue of the Horse World contains the following gossip of local horsemen from his pen: Several of the Londoners were also taking in the big Detroit meeting, among them our good friends George McCormick and John J. Cox; the latter, however, returned before I left town. London will have no racing this season except at the big fall fair.

Mr. Wm. Collins, of the Collins House, a gentleman that for years has owned and dealt more or less in horses, and who is devoting some attention to carriage pairs, showed me his pet, a sweet little bay pacing mare, four years old, by Adrian Wilkes, dam by Baron Wilkes, that Mr. Collins has driven a mile in 2:22 and timed a half in 1:09. She is a game one, and a 2:10 prospect. He also owns the celebrated old thoroughbred stallion Cortez, the sire of Sim W., the fastest runner ever bred in Canada, and in his early days Cortez himself won many a hardfought race. He is a 15.3-hand chestnut, foaled in 1886, but he is a vigorous, young-looking horse, and is getting a fine lot of colts with good size, bone and style.

Johnson Bros. have a couple of good young prospects, being educated by Fred Horne. One is a fine 16-hand, four-year-old brown pacing gelding, that he is shifting to the trot and that is going well at that gait. He is son of Ravolo, son of Anteeo, dam by Superior, second dam by Highland. The other is a five-year-old chestnut pacing gelding, that with eight or nine weeks work went a mile and repeat in 2:23. He is by Five Points, 2:19, dam by Albion, second dam by Royal Revenge.

Friend Cox, who is landlord of the Dominion Hotel, one of the best in the city, and adjoining the railway stame he is looking for a good roadster. He don't care so much for speed but wants something toppy and with stylish action.

W. J. Thompson, the big carriage manufacturer and dealer, a gentleman that for years has been more or less identified with horse interests of London, dealing, breeding and racing just a little, tells me that he is pretty well cleaned out of horseflesh, but has one that he would like to mate up. It is a 15.3-hand dark chestnut, wighing about 1,150, two white hind feet, six years old, and a mate would have to be able to go a 2:30 clip. .

My old friend R. H. Reid, proprietor of the hotel of that name down near the fair grounds, has got a new one that he thinks pretty well of, since my last visit. He is a big 1614-hand, sixyear-old bay pacing gelding, sired by Wildbrino, dam by Major Stanton. He is a speedy fellow, and if he can be steadied down a little, promises to make a racehorse. Mr. Wm. Robinson takes a lot of pleasure driving his good 15.3-hand bay mare, and had lots of sport beating the cracks on the snow last winter with her. She will probably be started in the gentlemen's road races this fall. Ada B. is by Diplomat. He also has a broken, that he thinks a lot of.

THE GHOST

Of our boyhood resolved itself to an old tree when we had courage to examine it. Manhood has its ghosts, which, to the man who has courage to confront them, prove to be as harmless as the ghosts of boyhood. One of the ghosts which scare a great many people is the ghost of lung disease. But experience shows this ghost to be very harmless. In cases almost innumerable "weak" lungs have been made strong, obstinate coughs stopped, and bronchial affections cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. And these cures have been wrought in many cases after the doctor had said-"There is no help for you." Don't give in to the superstition of a past age. Give the "Golden Medical Discovery" a fair and faithful trial. It always helps. It almost always cures.

always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I commenced taking your medicine eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs. Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better; then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' which I did. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets,' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

The old pacer Hal B. (2:041/2), in the string of W. L. Snow, has a mascot this year in the shape of a very complacent old hen. She came into his stall at Syracuse one day this past spring and laid an egg. Since then she has been a member of the outfit and the constant comparison of the pacer when he is not on the track and she not on her nest. When he is cooling out after his work she perches on his back and rides there as long as he walks the ring. Snow has provided a swing for her in Hal B.'s stall, and there she spends the night, well up to the rafters and out of the way of the migratory agents who would appreciate her more in a pot-pie.

JIMMY SMITH WINS ONE. Buffalo, N. Y., July 29.-The fight between Kid Carter, of Brooklyn, and Jimmy Handles, of Jersey City, was stopped in the second round here last night with Handler on the floor and all but knocked out. Handler was very slow. Carter hammered him all over the ring, while Handler did not land one clean blow. After Carter had sent him to the floor with a right to the jaw, and while Handler was making a feeble attempt to get up, Referee Mc-Bride stopped the fight, amid hisses and cries of "He's drunk." The bout caused much complaint against the club by the spectators. In the preliminary Jimmy Smith, champion feather-weight of Canada, knocked out Henry Smith, of this city, in the fourth round. Smith was almost out in the first round. Less than 500 people witnessed the bouts.

THE SPRINGBANK SHOW. This week's bill at Springbank is a good one, though not altogether new to ondoners. The programme opens with the Rexos, who were seen two years ago at the fair. They give a graceful and pleasing exhibition of fancy roller skating, while the male member of the team does the cleverest turn at hoop-rolling yet seen here this season. The second number is that furnished by Miss Killingbeck, who sings, in rather a foggy voice, a song which is a mixture of suggestion and inanity. She follows it up, however, with some good dancing and clubswinging. The song might well be left time, but the song would be more appreciated if it was cut out. The management have mercifully omitted the llustrated songs this week, and the public should evidence their approval by liberal patronage. Illustrated songs are a relic of the dark ages, and should

A further source of benefit to them has been the visits of a lady resident of London and her friends, who are paying a summer visit in the neighborhood of Gordon Bay.
On Sunday last that lady organized a Sunday school service, assisted by

Dr. Bowles, of Ottawa, and was greatly appreciated by a large number of shantymen forming the camp. It is indeed a happy and good thing enjoyment for themselves among the beautiful surroundings of Muskoka, to exercise thought and desire to benefit those so far removed from the means of spending the Sabbath as a sacred

Many instances could be mentioned of services being voluntarily conducted by ministers and gentlemen in the various hotels and summer resorts, upon the Muskoka Lakes, and the sound of sacred song and praise is frequently heard floating upon the breeze by those who are passing to and iro n the lakes.

Significance of More Familiar Appellations.

Names of Historic Mention-The Glorious Deeds of British Arms Perpetuated.

The names of the streets in any city are to a certain extent an index to its history. Unlike the gentlemen who had the naming of Oliver Twist, the authorities upon whom devolves the duty of christening new thoroughfares don't keep an alphabetical list, from which they might choose with machinelike regularity, as quickly as new streets spring into existence, and consequently are forced to fall back for inspiration upon their knowledge of history, of nature, of local events or individuals. In the stress of lent for queen was used, and now everybody in that part of the city can tell without thinking twice what the Latin word for queen is. York and a brain-racking search for a name, these same authorities have even been known to allow their own names to be added to the street nomenclature of the city. Blushing modesty has been put to rout by stern necessity, and many ways and byways exist as monuments to the aldermen and others who humbled their pride and suffered severe shocks to their shy natures in order that a new-born street might not go nameless. There are quite a few examples of these thoroughfares. Had it not been for such heroic public spirit, this city would have been minus its Dreaney avenue, its Carrothers avenue, its Douglass avenue, its Wilson, and its Wyatt streets; even Ormsby street would not have had the distinguished god-father that it has, Self-abnegation of this kind is discovered only rarely, and unfortunately it is not every street that can bear testimony to the same sacrificing spirit in

Nervousness is very sommon among women. This condition is due to anemic nerve centers. The nerve centers. ters are the reservoirs of nervous vitality. These centers become bloodless for want of proper nutrition. This is especially true in the warm season. Every summer a host of invalids are produced as the direct result of weak

This could be easily obviated by the use of Peruna. Peruna strikes at the root of the difficulty by correcting the digestion. Digestion furnishes nutrition for the nerve centers. Properly digested food furnishes these reservoirs of life with vitality, which lead to strong, steady nerves, and thus nourishes life.

Peruna is in great favor among wo-men, especially those who have vocations that are trying to the nervous system. Peruna furnishes the lasting invigoration for the nerves that such people so much need. Thousands of testimonials from women in all parts surely proves that Peruna is without an equal as a nerve tonic and vital
